NEPHEW OF CHIEF OF ALLEN CLAN CAUGHT BY VIRGINIA POSSE

Arrests of Other Members of Gang Are Expected at Hillsville.

Whole Countryside Is in Ecstasy of Fear and Excitement.

Courthouse Scene Re-enacted for Benefit of Picture Producers.

Hillsville, Va., March 22.—Sidna Edwards, nephew of Sidna Allen and one of the Allen gang which took to the mountains after the courthouse assassinations here, was arrested today at Lambsburg, Va., without resistance, by a posse of detectives.

Edwards is being brought here. His capture leads to the belief that others of the mountaineers will be in custody soon.

Sidna Edwards is the younger of the two Edwards brothers, and the more venturesome. It was reported several days ago that he had made a sortie from the hiding place of the outlaws and had been seen by several persons.

Edwards easily was recognized by his limp, resulting from a burn received recently in a distillery. He is a nephew of Sidna Allen, leader of the clan.

Governor Is Determined.

This community awoke today in a state of excited expectancy over Governor Mann's announcement that steps were being taken which he believed would result in the capture of the Allen gang before the latter part of this week or the first of next week. No inkling of the nature of the proposed coup has been given out, a grim silence having taken the place of the early confident talkativeness of the state officials. Fear that information as to the plans of the searchers will leak to the fugitives has even resulted in an attempt to censor press dispatches.

According to stories reaching here, Sidna Allen and his nephews not only have been in this vicinity since they

JUROR IN PACKERS' TRIAL TAKEN SICK

Closing Arguments Are Postponed on Account of His Condition.

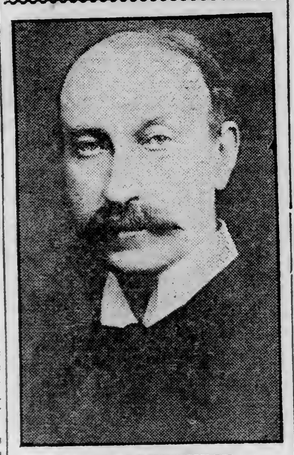
Chicago, March 22.—The closing arguments in the trial of the ten Chicago meat packers were halted today by the sickness of H. I. Bucklin, one of the jurors.

A physician was summoned to attend the sick juror before court convened, and reported to Judge Carpenter that it would be inadvisable to have him in the jury box this morning. Court was then adjourned until 2 o'clock.

The condition of Juror Bucklin showed no improvement through the morning, and shortly after noon the physician declared that pleurisy had developed.

Judge Carpenter decided that it would not be safe to resume the trial today and the hearing was continued until tomorrow morning.

GETS JOB SOUGHT BY HUSBANDS OF AMERICANS



LORD SANDHURST,
Chamberlain to King George.

London, March 22.—Lord Sandhurst has been appointed chamberlain to the king, the position which was coveted by Lord Granard and one or two other Englishmen who are married to American wives. It is said of Americans who marry Englishmen that they become ultra-English, throw off all their old associations and cry "God save the king" louder than the loudest. But there was a feeling in court circles that the American wife of an English lord chamberlain might be criticized either as showing too much consideration for her American friends or too little. So Lord Sandhurst, who has no close American associations, was chosen. He is a man of 56. He was formerly governor of Bombay. He acted as civil attache to John Hays Hammond at the time of the coronation of King George.

FIERCE FIGHTING IN PARAGUAY

Some Battalions Have Been Decimated in Battle in Civil Struggle.

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, March 28.—A fierce battle between the revolutionaries and the government forces in Paraguay has been going on for some time and still is raging, according to telegrams received here from Asuncion today.

Many changes have occurred in the positions of the two forces, entrenched points having been taken and retaken several times. Some of the battalions engaged have been decimated, according to the report.

ROOSEVELT WILL SPEAK IN DETROIT MARCH 30.

Washington, March 22.—Announcement was made at Rooseveit headquarters today that Col. Roosevelt would speak in Detroit Saturday evening, March 30 on the return from the Western trip he is to make. The contemplated address at Grand Rapids, Mich., has been abandoned. A ten-minute speech will be made by Roosevelt at Fort Wayne, Ind., Wednesday, March 27.

FATHER AND SON HEROES

Pennsylvanians Defy Death to Save Aged Neighbor From Being Killed.

Man Nearly Drowns and Boy's Arms Are Fractured in Fight With Fate.

Uniontown, Pa., March 22.—William H. McDowell, an aged mountaineer, who lives alone near here, owes his life to the heroism of Charles Hardy, a neighbor, and John Hardy, the 19-year-old son of the latter.

Awakened early today by cries for help, the elder Hardy went to the door of his mountain home, which stands near the shore of Devil's creek, and saw McDowell's cabin floating down stream. The creek, owing to recent rains and the melting of the snows in the hills farther back, is a raging torrent. Overflowing its banks, it swept McDowell's cabin away as the old man lay asleep in bed.

A short distance below the Hardy home is a waterfall, 300 feet deep. At the bottom of this are sharp, jagged rocks. The current of Devil's creek

BIG HOME FOR CONSUMPTIVES

Protestant Churches Are Back of $1,000,000 Project in Denver.

Denver, Colo., March 22.—The largest institution in the world for the care of tubercular patients is planned for Denver. Articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state today for the institution, which will be supported by nearly all of the Protestant churches of the city.

The institution will involve the investment of at least $1,000,000 and an active campaign to raise funds is under way.

GEORGIAN SLAPS NEGRO, IS KILLED

Resenting of Insult to Woman Leads to Murder.

Atlanta, Ga., March 22.—Resentment of a negro's insult to a woman cost A. Morris, a barber, his life here last night. Morris was sitting on a porch at his home when he heard a woman's cry and rushed to the street, where he was met by Mrs. A. Cohen, who said a negro had just grabbed her hand and proceeded down the street. Morris overtook the black and slapped him. The negro, unidentified, stabbed Morris to death and escaped.

ON DIRECT PRIMARIES

Daily Challenges of Senator Dixon Making the People Think.

Are Futile in Effect Upon the Contest Now Progressing.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, March 22. — (Special to The Herald.) — Amid the thunder of the managers of headquarters and the shouting of the press agents of various candidates there is little left for the unbiased correspondent here in Washington to write about presidential politics just now. Every candidate known to fame has his press bureau actively at work and it is not for the unattached to supplement their work. When I mention that there have been some scores of people employed in the Roosevelt headquarters until within a day or two; that the Clark boom, promising as it may seem, needs five stars and an indefinite number of satellites to keep it going; that Oscar Underwood has a United States senator to lead his forces—as for that matter has Roosevelt—while Clark has two ex-senators, it is made clear that mere dis-

VENEZUELAN GLAD HAND FOR KNOX

Caracas Is Decorated With Flags and Holiday Is Proclaimed.

Caracas, Venezuela, March 22.—The city is splendidly decorated in honor of Secretary of State Knox's arrival today. A large triumphal arch has been erected and flags are flying everywhere. The Venezuela government has issued a decree making today and tomorrow official holidays.

Party in Good Health.

On board the United States cruiser Washington, by wireless, via Santiago de Los Caballeros, San Domingo, March 22.—Secretary of State Knox expects to arrive at La Guaira, Venezuela, today, and will immediately proceed to Caracas. The voyage has been without incident and the members of the party are all in good health.

GOVERNOR WILSON ON VISIT TO WISCONSIN.

Trenton, N. J., March 22.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, accompanied by Dudley Field Malone of New York and Walter Measday, his personal secretary, left Trenton today for Wisconsin. The governor expects to be back in Trenton next Monday morning.

Before leaving, Governor Wilson said he was going away primarily for a rest from the arduous work of the week. During his absence he will visit Milwaukee and said that while there he would probably make a speech.

TURNS DOWN LABOR PARTY

Asquith Refuses to Set Precedent of Government Wage Dictation.

Starvation Confronts Families of Idle British Working Classes.

London, March 22.—Premier Asquith in the house of commons this afternoon refused to accept the miners' amendment to the minimum wage bill, providing a minimum of $1.25 and 50 cents as the daily wage for men and boys respectively.

Enoch Edwards, labor member of parliament and president of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, at once announced that the premier's rejection of the miners' amendment closed the door to an immediate settlement of the strike.

The bill which the government introduced into parliament to put a stop to one of the greatest calamities that ever has overtaken this country, and which was read a second time in the house of commons last night, still has to run the gauntlet of the committee stage. It is here that the miners' representatives in parliament endeavored to procure the acceptance of amendments fixing minimum wage.

"Other Measures" May Follow.

If the miners refuse to return to work, the government must face the

BOMB STORY MAY BE IDLE BRAGGING

Florida Officers Doubt Confession of Attack on Rosalsky.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 22.—Fred Newsome, alias Fred Price, the man who claims to have sent the bomb which exploded in the home of Judge Rosalsky in New York, evidently is either demented or a notoriety-seeker. Such is the opinion of the police here today after another long siege of questioning, during which further conflicting statements were found in Newsome's story.

Nevertheless, the prisoner's familiarity with the Folke E. Brandt case gives a color of creditability to his story. He claims to have known Brandt when the former Schiff valet was steward on a Norwegian ship which sailed from a port in Chile. His friendship for the young man began then, he says and was further cemented by aid given him by Brandt when out of work in New York.

OHIO RIVER FLOOD NOT AS BAD AS WAS FEARED.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 22.—The crest of the flood in the Ohio river, caused by the rapid rising of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, was reached here today when the stage was 38.1 feet, almost two feet less than the weather bureau predicted.

Many small streams throughout Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio are flooded and much damage has been done, but relief from unusual conditions is expected before the day is over.

MEET TO DETERMINE WHETHER BITUMINOUS MINERS SHALL QUIT

Representatives of Men and of Operators Renew Conference.

Both Sides Say They Desire to Avoid Any Suspension of Work.

Exodus From Anthracite Fields at Wilkesbarre Begins.

Cleveland, O., March 22.—Whether 200,000 miners in the bituminous coal fields will strike or merely suspend operations after April 1 depends largely on the deliberations today of a subcommittee composed of two miners and two operators each from western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

The sub-committee, with John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, as the chief delegate of the miners, may continue its sessions several days in an effort to effect a compromise agreement following the flat refusal of the operators to grant the miners' demands for a 10 per cent increase in pay and shorter working hours.

Although a shutdown of all the union bituminous coal mines in the country is said by President White to be certain, both sides declare they are anxious to prevent a strike or even a suspension of long duration.

Slavonians Leave for Home.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 22.—The exodus of miners from the anthracite coal fields in anticipation of a suspension of work, began today when one hundred Slavonians who were employed in the mines in the Nanticoke region left here over the Lackawanna railroad for New York. They will sail tomorrow for Austria. Members of the party said they did not know whether there would be a strike, but they thought this would be a good time to visit their native lands. The men say they will return in July.

CHARLES H. DUELL.

New York, March 22.—Charles H. Duell, who has been made chairman of the Roosevelt city committee of New York, has taken charge of the headquarters of the committee in the Metropolitan Life building. He expects to be on the job till the end of the fight.

ATTACKS THE GRAIN RATES

Chicago Board of Trade Complains Minneapolis Is Being Favored.

Claims Wheat Tariffs Should at Least Be Low as on Flour.

Washington, March 22.—An effort was begun today by the Chicago Board of Trade before the interstate commerce commission to compel the Chicago & Alton and other railways operating in the West and Northwest to reduce their rates on wheat destined to Chicago from Minneapolis or points beyond.

Flour produced from wheat milled in transit at Minneapolis is alleged to be transported to Chicago, under the reconsignment privilege, at a lower rate than the wheat itself. The demand of the board of trade is that the wheat shall take no higher rate than the flour.

Grain dealers, grain shippers and millers of Indianapolis, through the Indianapolis freight bureau, today assailed before the commission the rates, regulations and restrictions on grain and on grain product shipments from Indianapolis to all states south of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi rivers.

They urge that they are being discriminated against by the railroads on grain originating in Illinois and other states west which is milled in transit at Indianapolis and reconsigned to the southeastern territory, in favor of Ohio river transfer cities.

TEDDY, JR., GOES EAST.

Will Take Up Brokerage Instead of Carpet Business.

San Francisco, Cal., March 22.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., left for New York today to take up his duties with a brokerage firm there with which he now is associated. For the last two years he has been in the carpet business here. A farewell dinner was given in his honor last night by friends. Charles S. Wheeler, a leader in the Roosevelt movement in California presided. Young Roosevelt decided to return to New York City at the time of his recent visit to his father, and came West again only to close up his affairs.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

Labor committee heard advocates of Hughes-Borah industrial commission bill.

Considered resolution calling on secretary of war for the number of Apache Indians held prisoners at Fort Sill, Okla.

Representative Palmer of Pennsylvania made an unsuccessful attempt to discharge the Indian affairs committee from further information on the Apache Indians.

Adjourned out of respect to the memory of Representative Foster of Vermont, at 1 o'clock, until noon Monday.

TAFT: "I THOUGHT I KILLED THAT!"

BROKEN RAIL SENDS FIVE COACHES OVER HIGH BANK

Fourteen Seriously Hurt on Canadian Pacific at Jackfish, Ont.

Part of Settlers' Train Goes Down Thirty-Foot Embankment.

Winnipeg, Man., March 22.—Twelve men and two women were seriously injured, three critically, when today five coaches of a settlers' train on the Canadian Pacific, drawn by two locotives, from Toronto bound for Winnipeg, left the rails and plunged over a 30-foot embankment at Jackfish, east of Port Arthur. The coaches were loaded to capacity. No one was killed.

Among the injured are:
Mr. Cooey, Proton station, Ont.
Harry Lemon, Owen Sound.
H. D. Hollinger, Granville, Ohio.
Alexander Quinn, Frankville, Ont.
Harry Smith, Lake Francis, Ont.
Charles Taylor, Ripley, Ont.
C. J. Murphy, Toronto.
Mr. Watt, Port Hope, Ont.
Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Week, Detroit, Mich.
Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, Brantford.
K. Webber, Acton, Ont.

Fourteen passengers were so badly hurt that they are now in the hospital at Port Arthur. The train was running slowly, and coming to a broken rail, the front part passed over without difficulty, but five coaches in the middle broke loose and rolled over.

DR. MARY WALKER HAS "BAD NIGHT"

Refuses to Receive Attention From Anybody But Friend and Servant.

New York, March 22.—Dr. Mary Walker's steadfast refusal to have any physician attend her during her serious illness here brought forth a statement today from Mrs. Nellie B. Van Slingerland, secretary of the Race Betterment league, who has been almost constantly at the bedside. The statement says that Dr. Walker spent a "very bad night," and continued:

"As I am nearly collapsed myself with the six sleepless nights and anxious, busy days, I have written two of Dr. Walker's women relatives that some one must come to share the responsibility. Dr. Mary refuses to let anyone but myself and a Japanese servant do anything for her.

"Dr. Walker's mind is as keen and alert as ever and she is watching her own progress with intelligence and with professional discrimination."

New Zealand Premier.

Wellington, N. Z., March 22.—Thomas MacKenzie, minister of agriculture and commerce, was today elected prime minister of New Zealand by 72 votes to 9. Sir Joseph George Ward, the present premier, will defer his resignation until Mr. MacKenzie has definitely formed his cabinet.

LOOT SAFE DEPOSIT VAULT THROUGH OFFICE OF JUDGE

Burglars Get $8,000 in Cash and Jewelry at Berea, Ohio.

Leave Inner Safe Holding $35,000 in Cash Partly Drilled.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 22.—Robbers broke into the Bank of Berea, a private institution, at Berea, Ohio, twelve miles west of here, during the night, and penetrating the outer vault, looted 100 safety deposit boxes, obtaining $8,000 in cash and jewelry.

It is believed the robbers were frightened away, as they left the inner safe, containing $35,000 in cash, partially drilled. No clews are obtainable.

Entrance first was effected in to the office of Justice of the Peace T. P. Poole, next door. Working behind a partition, the robbers then drilled through Poole's wall and the wall of the bank, directly into the vault. It was necessary to penetrate thirty-five inches of brick and mortar.

Poole discovered the robbery when he opened his office this morning.

BRYAN WILL NOT VOTE FOR HARMON

Will Not Be Delegate to Baltimore With Such Instructions.

Kearney, Neb., March 22.—In his speech at a Democratic banquet here last night, W. J. Bryan said if the preferential vote at the coming primary in Nebraska is for Governor Harmon and he (Bryan) is elected as one of the delegates at large, he will file his resignation at once. He said he would not go to the national convention at Baltimore to vote for Harmon, who he charged was backed by the Morgan and Hill interests. Mr. Bryan praised La Follette and criticized Taft and Roosevelt.

MERCURY IS BELOW ZERO IN LA CROSSE.

La Crosse, Wis., March 22.—The temperature today fell to one below zero, being the lowest temperature ever reached at this station in the last half of March.

FROZEN IN MONTANA.

Body of Storm Victim Brought to Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of William Hespe, who was frozen to death near Dodson, Mont., has been brought here by his mother. There are bruises on the head which arouse suspicion of local officers but Mrs. Hespe says death was caused by freezing. The only marks of violence are about the head, the rest of the body bearing no marks. Hespe was 23 years old and the family formerly resided in Grand Forks.

READ THE MARKET BASKET ADS TONIGHT

FOUR DULUTH HUSBANDS ARE CAUGHT IN THE ACT

This is a hypothetical question:

Suppose that a stranger wandered into Duluth to visit a friend of his youth; that the friend of his youth collected together three other friends of the stranger's and his own youth; that the four separately and individually called up their several and individual wives that they were detained, separately and individually, at the office and would not be home until late; that the five repaired to a popular cafe and there partook of refreshment of both solid and liquid order; that the partaking of liquid refreshment continued long after the hour of dinner; that at 11 a. m. the wives of the four jointly and collectively walked into the same cafe and sat down at a table without apparently noticing the four husbands convivially gathered around another table with the stranger from out of the city—

Supposing all that to be true, how would you feel if you were one of the husbands?

It was a dramatic and tragic moment. The musicians had just finished playing a popular air, the bright lights were shining with unwonted brilliance, the soft-footed and hard-handed waiters were flittering between the tables bearing trays laden with sparkling liquors of all colors and degrees of potency, each of the four was certain that his wife was home worrying about the unwonted efforts he was putting forth to earn wherewithal for the Easter suit and each was blissful in the forbidden joy of a "night with the boys."

When four fashionably tailored young women walked into the cafe, four convivial young husbands immediately shook off the exhilaration that goes with alcoholic indulgence. Four convivial young husbands instantly signed to the waiter that they wanted that lunch in a hurry as they had to get home.

"Just dropped in for a lunch, you know, before going home, and met some of the boys," they each told their respective wives afterwards.

Any woman with a grain of knowledge of human nature knows a breath like they had isn't acquired in a few moments. The story wouldn't go. The crowd went home unusually early. They had intended to make a night of it, at least until 12 o'clock. But wives aren't the most desirable members of a convivial party. There were anxious moments at home; a few tears; a promise of "never again," and the incident was forgiven, if not forgotten.

It all happened in Duluth and it comes of wives comparing notes.

COUPLE RECEIVE SHOCKING NEWS

Learn at Grand Forks of Son Perishing in Iowa Car Fire.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Associated Press dispatch in Thursday's Herald telling of Walter Wall losing his life at Chester, Iowa, when his horses and household effects in an Illinois Central car were burned brought sorrow to Mr. and Mrs. John Wald, his parents, who arrived here yesterday ahead of their son to locate upon their newly bought farm in Polk county, Minn. When they registered at a local hotel last night on their arrival from Pontiac, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. John Wald were handed a telegram telling them that their son, Walter, had been burned to death in a wreck on the Illinois Central railroad, and that their other son, George, was in a Charles City, Iowa, hospital, seriously injured. Mrs. Wald fell in a swoon and less than two hours afterwards her husband had boarded another train carrying him back to the scene of the accident.

The Wald family has purchased farming land in Polk county, Minn., and the sons were bringing the carload of household furniture and horses.

OBITUARY

Henry Spencer, once famous as a jockey, died at Oakland, Cal., March 21, of tuberculosis.

William Holt, aged 87, thought to be the oldest Mason in the United States in the point of membership, and a resident of Minneapolis since 1865, is dead at his home. He was a member of the Portland lodge, No. 1, joining the organization in the 50's.

Prof. Ralph Stockman Tarr of Cornell university died suddenly in Ithaca, N. Y., March 21, of hemorrhage of the brain. Prof. Tarr was a widely known instructor in geology. He had traveled extensively, his last trip being undertaken last year when he made an investigation of the glaciers in Alaska.

David J. Foster, representative from Vermont, died in Washington, D. C., March 21, after an illness of three weeks. Mr. Foster's illness developed into pneumonia, which terminated fatally in a few hours. He was 54 years old.

Mrs. Eunice C. Johnson, mother of B. B. Jonhson of Chicago, president of the American Baseball league and member of the National baseball commission, died at her home in Cincinnati, Ohio, March 22. She was 83 years old and was a native of Wooster, Ohio. Besides Ban Johnson, she is survived by one other son, William Johnson of Cincinnati.

"THIRD DEGREE" METHODS USED

Is Claim of Young Sperry in Denying Alleged Confession.

Fargo, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Testifying in his own behalf in a manslaughter case Young Sperry denounced his alleged confession as lies forced from him by "third degree" methods of the state's attorney, the sheriff and the father of the victim. The three men had taken him into the rear of a butcher shop belonging to the father of the dead boy and "sweated" him, he says. Sperry's testimony along the allbi lines was good but his general impression is less favorable.

New shipment of silk waists just received. Specially priced for tomorrow at $1.95. Luery & Co., 17 East Superior street.

WEATHER— Generally cloudy and warmer tonight and Saturday; lowest temperature tonight 10 deg. to 20 deg. above zero; moderate winds, mostly south.

is so rapid that a man must be a swift runner to keep pace with it.

Praying for Deliverance.

Hardy saw McDowell kneeling in the doorway of his floating cabin, praying for deliverance. There was not an instant to be lost. The falls were below—and instant death.

Not waiting to don his clothing, Hardy raced along the bank of the creek until he had passed the cabin. Then he plunged into the icy water.

It was a desperate chance. Not one swimmer in fifty could have reached the cabin, to say nothing of returning to shore with the helpless old man as a burden. But Hardy accomplished the feat. Then, with an arm about his neighbor, he sprang again into the water and struck out for shore.

Chilled, all but exhausted, he fought for his and his neighbor's lives. In his ears was the roar of the falls. The racing torrent bore him momentarily nearer to them, despite his powerful full breast strokes. It seemed certain that he and the man he had risked his life to save must be carried down stream to certain death.

Both Saved By Boy.

When he was nearly ready to give up, a rope swished through the air and fell within reach. It had been thrown to the imperiled men by John Hardy, the 10-year-old son, who had come racing along the bank of the creek.

The elder Hardy grasped the rope and slipped it about his shoulders, but the current was so swift the boy could not haul them in. The sweep of the current dragged the boy along until the two men in the water were within a few yards of the falls, and the rope cut cruelly into the boy's hands. Then he came to a tree and around this he took a hitch of the rope.

It was none too soon. The cabin went over the falls and was dashed to pieces on the rocks below.

The boy's arms had been fractured, his hands lacerated, and his body was bruised and bleeding as a result of the fight among the rocks and brush to haul his parent to shore. When the elder Hardy and the aged recluse at last had climbed up the steep bank, the boy fainted.

shot up the Carroll county circuit court a week ago yesterday, but Sidna, weakened by wounds, actually had slept two nights at his own handsome home. It I. said that the mountaineers have constantly watched their pursuers through field glasses and have used successfully a rifle shot code system.

Statement by Prisoner.

Floyd Allen, the old man whose sentence to a year in jail for interfering with an officer, precipitated the killing of judge, prosecutor, sheriff, a juror and an innocent young girl, has given out an interview from the Roanoke jail. Hardy and the aged recluse at last had carefully censored by his attorney. No reference to the tragedy itself was made by the prisoner.

He gave a sketch of his life and an account of the events leading up to his indictment for interfering with an officer, and denied emphatically that he had ever made "moonshine" whisky. His son Victor, also a prisoner, said that he took no part in the courthouse shooting; that he went to Hillsville unarmed to take a witness for his father, and after the tragedy made no effort to get away, because he was innocent.

Tragedy Is Re-enacted.

Another tragedy was enacted in the old Carroll county courthouse yesterday. Another troop of mountain outlaws rode in, shot the judge down off his bench and duplicated the grewsome assassination of a week ago, but this time it was only for the moving pictures. The actors did more firing and made more racket and caused almost as much fuss as the real outlaws did, and Hillsville almost had as much excitement. The only real fighting was between the moving picture men.

Hillsville's Rialto, which extends from the courthouse to the blacksmith shop, produced but few amateur thespians who wanted to take a part in the scene, and competition for their services was brisk. The pictures were finally made after much rehearsing, while the camera men clicked off the reels and the stage manager's megaphone made echoes in the nearby hills.

Whole District Fear-Stricken.

The country-side is on tip-toe of fear and excitement. Women do not venture out after dark and children are kept away from school.

Andrew P. Howlett, who was shot in the back during the affray at the courthouse, still is very low and no hope of his recovery is entertained.

EIGHTY-FOUR DEAD FOUND

Only Seven Men Not Accounted for in Oklahoma Mine.

Sixty-Five Widows and 250 Fatherless Children at McCurtain.

McCurtain, Okla., March 22.—Twenty-nine corpses found late last night were removed today from the mine of the Sans Bois coal company and efforts were renewed to locate seven other miners. When the fate of these seven is ascertained the entire 116 men will have been accounted for. Twenty-five were taken out alive and the bodies of eighty-four have been recovered.

A small army of men this morning began digging graves for the blast victims. Among those at work in the cemetery with pick and shovel are men from all walks of life, for there was not enough common labor available to meet the demand.

Wednesday's disaster has left 65 widows and 250 fatherless children.

Civil Engineer Dead.

The body of D. W. Roper, civil engineer in the employ of the mining company, who, with two companions was making a survey of the workings of the mine at the time of the explosion, was found under a mass of wreckage in the main slope, over which the rescue parties have trampled since the mine was first entered. Roper's head was almost severed and his body was mutilated.

Ralph Kenney, 16 years old, son of a local minister, a member of Roper's party, was one of those rescued alive. Semi-conscious at first, he soon regained his faculties, and smiled as he told of the night in the small hump room where he and fourteen choking men fought for gasps of fresh air from the pipes. While Kenney was speaking a pallor overspread his face, he tottered, and before he could be helped he sank to the floor dead, a victim of the mine gases.

After-damp is retarding the work of the rescuers and only those equipped with oxygen helmets are permitted to enter the mine. Peter Hamratin, mayor of McAlester, who led one of the rescue parties, was overcome. It was several hours before he recovered.

necessity of taking "other and different measures" foreshadowed by the premier yesterday, and which are believed to mean adequate protection for those men desiring to return to work.

Ramsay MacDonald, the leader of the labor party, bitterly accused the government of banging the door in their faces. He then for the first time announced that the miners were willing to waive the inclusion of their schedule rates in the bill if the minimum rate of $1.25 and 50 cents were inserted.

William Brace, labor member for Glamorgan, declared that unless the $1.25 and 50 cents rates were conceded the miners would remain idle until the matter was settled in every coal field in the kingdom.

Negatived Without Division.

The amendment was negatived without a division, but it is understood that the question will be raised again during the report stage of the bill when in view of Ramsay MacDonald's announcement some form of compromise provision may be inserted.

The house had just entered on the committee stage of the minimum wage bill when the miners' amendment was moved and Premier Asquith's pronounceent, the gravity of which was immediately recognized because it is practically certain to bring about another deadlock, caused a sensation among the members.

In opposing the miners' amendment the premier said he was inclined to think the figures reasonable, but that it was most undesirable to insert in the bill any specific minimum wage or to establish the precedent of fixing the rate of wages by act of parliament.

"Bad for the Men."

It would, he pointed out, be peculiarly dangerous to the men themselves, because if parliament once expressed its judgment that $1.25 was a fair minimum wage that sum would be bound to be treated as the maximum.

Enoch Edwards, the miners' leader, declared the decision announced by the premier had shattered his hopes that the final form of the bill would commend itself to the good sense of both sides. The refusal of the amendment meant the closure of the door which yesterday appeared open to a settlement.

Andrew Bonar Law, the official leader of the opposition, sided with the government, which, he said, could not have taken any other course.

Many Resuming Work.

Despite the decisions of the unions, there is already, particularly in Scotland, a steady trickling of the miners back to the pits. Even with a general resumption, however, the mines will not be in working order again before Easter, and some of the smaller ones which have been flooded will never be reopened.

Some of the larger mine owners, too, declare that it will be impossible to work their pits if the minimum wages are granted.

In the meantime, starvation stares the industrial population of the country in the face. The funds of the trades unions are running low, and in some places this week's payment of out-of-work benefit will be the last.

At Burslem, in Staffordshire, one of the centers of the potteries district, 40,000 meals have been served in eleven days by the vicar of the church for a small charge. Now the people of the district are unable to bear the burden of paying even a penny for the meal and are compelled to fall back on charity.

There is scarcely a mining village in Scotland where the children are not being fed by the public authorities. In the English coal fields the people are better off, as the trades union funds are greater.

Lost $26,408,850 Wages.

It is estimated the miners thus far have lost in wages $26,408,850 besides the depletion of the union funds.

Factories and works of all kinds all over the country continue to close down and all the railroads are reducing their services to the minimum. The food supplies from abroad also are threatened.

News comes today that one of the South American governments is commandeering the stock of coal on hand in its ports for naval purposes, which will prevent the shipment of meat to England.

In political circles it is thought the return of Mr. Balfour to the leadership of the Unionist party in the house of commons is more than a temporary one, and that in the big debates he will take the actual, if not the titular, leadership of the opposition.

LOWER THAN ESTIMATE

Woodland Residents Will Get Sewer Work Done Cheaply.

Big Contract Is Likely to Go to Hugh Steele.

The board of public works has not completed the figures of the many bids which were submitted this morning for the construction of the Woodland sanitary trunk sewer and the official figures will probably not be available until some time late this afternoon.

Unofficial figures, however, give the job to Hugh Steele, whose bid was approximately $35,000, or about $10,000 less than the estimated cost, and about $3,000 less than his nearest competitor. The contract will likely be awarded to him at the Monday meeting, subject to the approval of the council.

Steele is the contractor who came into considerable prominence last year when he initiated the so-called paving investigation, alleging that certain contracts had not been fulfilled in accordance with the specifications and that certain city officials had discriminated against him.

The board today also opened bids for the lumber and miscellaneous supplies for the coming year but the successful bidders have not been determined. The crowd which attended the hearing not only filed the board room but strung out into the hall. A number of outside contractors submitted bids but they did not submit figures as low as those of the Duluth men.

The statement that the board of public works will hold another hearing on the condemnation for the Fairmont park addition is incorrect. The board will hold no hearing and will not be at the city hall. The board will view the land embraced in the proposed condemnation to aid them in reaching conclusions as to damages which should be awarded. There will be a final hearing but this will not be held for some time, the date to be announced later by the board.

AMERICANS CALL HALT

Make Chinese at Swatow Put Stop to Looting and Burning.

New Republic Extends Equal Suffrage to Men and Women.

Hongkong, March 22.—Trouble is brewing between the various sections of the population in the province of Kwang Si, and an outbreak may occur at any moment, according to reports received here.

During the fighting at Swatow the Standard Oil tanks and warehouses were struck frequently by stray bullets. The Standard Oil company, which has its headquarters here, has put in a claim for 1,000,000 taels (about $700,000) for damages done to its property during the course of the fighting at Hankow.

The commander of the United States monitor Monterey, when it was reported to him that American property had been damaged at Swatow, landed a party of men. He informed the leaders of the Chinese troops that he did not wish to dictate to them where they should fight battles between themselves in their own country, but informed them that he was prepared to protect American property. The Chinese promised him that they would put a stop to the burning and looting.

Guerilla fighting still is proceeding at Canton and in the vicinity, but vessels can now proceed along the back reaches of the river in comparative safety.

Prof. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, who is here, is proceeding to Canton, Pekin and Hankow.

Premier at Pekin.

Shanghai, March 22. — Premier Tang Shao Yi arrived here today from Pekin and was met on the quay by a guard of honor of Chinese troops. He was escorted to his hotel by detachments of French and British police. The premier probably will leave for Nanking tomorrow.

No official announcement concerning the constitution of the cabinet will be made prior to its submission for approval of the national assembly at Nanking.

Tang Shao Yi is decidedly optimistic about the situation in China. He says that all questions concerning loans and the organization of the republican government will be solved satisfactorily within the shortest possible time.

Give Women Ballot.

San Francisco, Cal., March 22.—Equal suffrage has been granted to the women of China by the parliament at Nanking, according to a cablegram received here. The law will become effective at once. Women voters will be subjected to the same restrictions as men, must be able to read and write, be property owners and at least 20 years of age.

Yik Yug Ying, who has been called the Mrs. Pankhurst of China, was elected a member of the parliament from Canton province. She is a college graduate.

NO SUCCESSOR TO WILEY FOR WEEKS

Taft Has Not Yet Decided Whom to Name as Pure Food Chief.

Washington, March 22.—President Taft probably will not appoint a successor to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley of the bureau of chemistry for several weeks.

Suggestions as to pure food experts whom he might secure are reaching the White House daily. Two names suggested today were those of Dr. H. E. Barnard, food commissioner of Indiana, and Dr. Paul Gaspard Freer, director of the bureau of science at Manila.

The day Dr. Wiley resigned Mr. Taft sent telegrams to most of the universities and colleges of the country asking for suggestions as to a successor. He told a visitor today that until he had heard from these telegrams he probably would not make a selection.

WOMAN SAVED; NEAR GALLOWS THREE TIMES.

New York, March 22.—Three times in the shadow of the gallows, erected in the jail yard at Hackensack, N. J., to carry out the mandate of the law that she be hanged, Mrs. Antonette Tolla today stepped from a train in the Pennsylvania station here a free woman.

Her life was saved through agitation that became countrywide and finally resulted in its being demonstrated that she murdered Joseph Sontarea because he had tried to debauch her and win her from her husband. The woman spent six years in prison. Today Mrs. Tolla said that she wanted to devote the remainder of her life to caring for her husband, Giovanni Tolla, and their two children.

NO COMBINE OF DEALERS

Retail Coal Merchants Say There Is No Local Trust.

Were Afraid That Two Harbors Bills Would Not Be Met.

Duluth coal dealers strenuously deny the existence of a local coal trust and deny any knowledge of any agreement to fix and regulate the price of coal at the Head of the Lakes.

Duluth coal men, replying to the charges that have been lodged by Charles Esse of Two Harbors, state that coal is practically the same in price in all parts of the country, with the difference of freight rates governing the price, and that the price of anthracite has been raised only 25 cents within the past ten years.

In New York and Boston, according to the statement today of one of the local dealers, coal has recently been raised $1 a ton by the local dealers, simply because there would be a heavy profit in the increase in the price.

"We might raise the price of coal here 50 cents a ton and double our present profits," said one of the local dealers today, "but no such move is contemplated and the price of coal in Duluth has been kept at a figure where there is not a great deal of profit in it for the local dealers.

"Coal is a staple commodity and as such there is a price regulation all over the country. If there was a local trust, or a trust at the Head of the Lakes, it might combine for the raising of the price above that in other cities. But coal in Duluth is not higher than it is in other cities and there is the case of New York and Boston, where the local dealers entered a combination to raise the price."

Credit Not Good.

According to several of the Duluth dealers the Two Harbors citizens had the plan formed to buy coal on the municipal ownership plan, but in arranging the plan, neglected to provide for the guarantee of the payment of the bills that would have been contracted in the purchase of coal from the Duluth dealers.

According to one of the local dealers, when it was discovered that some technical point might prevent the collecting of coal bills, it was decided not to sell coal to those behind the Two Harbors municipal plan.

Here is the version of the Head of the Lakes coal trust by another dealer: "Naturally the price of coal is the same at all of the Duluth coal offices. If some dealer started to cut the price of coal, even five cents a ton, there would be a war. It is the same way with passenger rates in the same territory. Coal costs all of the local dealers the same amount to get it here, and as a staple commodity the same price is paid for it. There are many articles besides coal that are regulated in price by the demand and general conditions rather than by the local dealers."

One Duluth man stated that there were often differences in the prices of soft coal, arising generally from the different conditions governing the mining of it. But as to the existence of a trust at the Head of the Lakes or the entering into an agreement for the restraint of trade, there was no dealer in the city that would admit that the charges emanating from Two Harbors had the least basis of fact to sustain them.

SPRING HAS BEEN SIDETRACKED

Mercury Registers 8 Deg. Above Zero Mark on March 22.

The calendar says that today is March 22 and the almanac informs one that March 22 is the second day of spring.

The official thermometer at the United States weather bureau on the hill registered 8 deg. this morning.

The second day of spring this year is spring-like only in the label.

The Oldest Inhabitant, who tries to put over any stories of a winter colder than that of 1912, will be promptly placed in the unpopular club for which Theodore Roosevelt furnished a characteristic name.

The records of the weather bureau run back for forty-two years and never in all that time has a winter equaled, for continued severity, the one which is still with us. The mercury dropped below zero on Dec. 31 and has been above the freezing point on only one or two days since. There has been no appreciable break. The January thaw and the February thaw were shunted on a side-track and left there.

Now spring has been side-tracked, but it should be brought on the main line again in a few days. The weather man promises slightly warmer weather tonight and tomorrow and there are no more severe cold waves in sight.

SAYS RAILROADS PACKED MEETING

Hopeless Division Exists in the Iowa State Tax Conference.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 22.—Charges that the railroads packed the state tax conference to block all efforts made by the temporary commission to revise tax legislation in Iowa have been made on the floor of the conference. Chairman Cohen said the railroads organized to control the conference because "they fear the commission will urge terminal tax legislation and the lumping of all railroad taxes into the state treasury in its report."

It was charged that Robert Hains, a local lawyer, who headed the faction that opposed a permanent tax commission and practically every other movement, is employed by the railroads to control the conference. Trembling with excitement and shouting loudly, J. H. McConogue, a member of the commission, pointed to Mr. Hains and declared "all the corporations of the country cannot prevent the commission from reporting its tax reforms to the next legislature."

The only resolution adopted was one approving the investigations of the commission. The convention is hopelessly divided.

MISSISSIPPI IS LOW THESE DAYS

Intake Pipe of Brainerd's Water System Has Been Exposed.

Brainerd, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—At no time in the history of Brainerd has the water in the Mississippi river been as low as today. On Sunday one of the intakes was out of water and the city's pump at times sucks air. A committee of the council and Fire Chief McGinn visited the pump house recently and their report was submitted to the council which instructed Alderman James M. Elder to telephone C. I. McNair of the paper company at Cloquet, asking him to open the east gate at the dam and to allow more water to flow down.

Pay Day at Railway Shops.

Brainerd, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was disbursed on pay day by the Northern Pacific railway shops the sum of $47,000 in the mechanical department and about $5,000 in the store department. These figures do not include the wages drawn by the engineers, firemen, switchmen and trainmen, making Brainerd their home. The big pay day, when Brainerd will draw full time, occurs April 20, and on that date the figures are expected to be at least $12,000 larger than for March.

FRECKLES

March Worst Month for This Trouble —How to Remove Easily.

There's a reason why nearly everybody freckles in March, but happily there is also a cure for these ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get one ounce of othine, double strength, from Boyce Drug Store and apply a little of it at night, and in the morning you will see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they will stay all Summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Your money back if othine fails.

GOING INTO COURT.

Ashland Attorney to Appeal From Ruling of Police Board.

Ashland, Wis., March 22.—Attorney Haagenson for the protestants against the retention of Chief of Police Blair, is preparing to bring proceedings in the court to test the legality of the police and fire commission which refused to remove the police head. He will attack the commission on the ground it is made up of more Republicans than the law permits. Counsel for Blair are not worrying, claiming they feel Blair will eventually be upheld by the courts.

SAY REPUBLICANS LAID TRAP FOR BRIBE TAKERS.

Santa Fe., N. M., March 22. — Republican State Chairman Venceslo Jaramillo and Prosecuting Witness Elfago Baca were witnesses last night before the house committee which is investigating the bribery scandal. The cross-examination was spirited and elicited that it was the Republican state executive committee that had arranged the decoy to trap the four accused Republican legislators in order that the Republican party might be purged of any taint that might arise from the alleged acts of the defendants.

S.S.S. NATURE'S TONIC

The very great majority of persons need a tonic in the Spring or early Summer. The system undergoes a change at this season and the entire physical machinery is disturbed. The general bodily weakness, a tired, worn-out feeling, fickle appetite, poor digestion, a half sick feeling and a general run-down condition of the system, show that the blood is weak or anaemic, and a blood purifying tonic is needed to build up the deranged system and enrich the blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the long, hot Summer. Many people have put off using a tonic until the system became so weakened and depleted it could not successfully throw off disease germs, and have paid for the neglect with a spell of fever, malaria or some other debilitating sickness. S. S. S. is Nature's ideal tonic. It is a composition of the extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks which science and experience have proven are best fitted for a tonic to the human system. It contains no minerals of any kind and is therefore perfectly safe for persons of any age. S. S. S. tones up the stomach and digestion, rids the system of that tired, worn-out feeling, and imparts vigor and strength to every part of the body. It purifies and enriches the blood, stimulates the secreting and excreting members to better action, quiets the over-strained nerves, and makes one feel better in every way.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

ROOSEVELT MEN LOSE IN COURT

Positions of Names on Ballots Not Changed as They Asked.

Albany, N. Y., March 22.—The names of candidates for delegates and alternates to the national conventions to be voted for at the primaries next Tuesday, are to be placed at the bottom of the ballot, according to a decision by the court of appeals. The decision is against the Roosevelt committee of New York city, which attempted to have the names placed at the top of the ballot.

Neither Side Pleased.

Washington, March 22.—The resolution given out by Senator Gore in Des Moines, claiming to voice the demand of some of the Democrats in Nebraska that Speaker Clark withdraw in favor of Woodrow Wilson in that state so that Governor Judson Harmon might be prevented from capturing the Nebraska delegation to the national convention, provoked criticism and attack from the national managers of both the Clark and Harmon headquarters here.

"According to the resolution," said Former Representative Hobert B. Gordon, manager of the Harmon headquarters, "the Wilson men in Nebraska denounce a conspiracy in which Clark is alleged to be a party, and then seek to form a conspiracy against Harmon, with Clark as a welcome participant."

Managers of the Clark headquarters here declared that the resolution given out by Senator Gore did not represent the desires of the progressive or "Bryan" Democrats of Nebraska.

Boost Teddy in Kansas.

Topeka, Kan., March 22.—An organization for directing the Roosevelt campaign in Kansas has been formed here. Henry J. Allen of Wichita was named as manager and a platform drawn by William Allen White was adopted.

NORWEGIANS CAN GET NO DAMAGES

Nobody Held Responsible for Explosion That Destroyed Ship.

New York, March 23.—The owners of the Norwegian ship Ingrid, which was blown almost to bits in the disastrous Communipaw dynamite explosion early last year, cannot make the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the Du Pont d'Nemours Powder company, or the owner of the lighter Catherine W., on which the explosion occurred, pay for their lost vessel, Judge Holt in the United States district court here has decided. The explosion, which cost several lives and caused damage of hundreds of thousands of dollars, occurred in the Jersey Central yards, from some cause never definitely determined.

"It is undoubtedly a hard case for the libellants, whose ship was completely wrecked while lying at a pier in a harbor, without any fault on the part of its officers or crew," says Judge Holt. "But it appears to be the case of an accident, the cause of which cannot be ascertained, and therefore for which none of the respondents can be held responsible in this suit."

BELIEVE THAT OUTLAW MURDERED OFFICERS.

Aberdeen, Wash., March 22.—A posse has left here to bring back the bodies of Sheriff Colin McKenzie and A. Volmer, found dead near Matlock at the camp believed to have been occupied by John Turnow, charged with the murder of his twin nephews. The deputies were in pursuit of Turnow and are believed to have been shot from ambush.

A desperate fight is expected when Turnow is located. He is heavily armed and is a crack shot. The search for him began immediately after the murder of his nephews last fall. Hunters reported a camp in the hills two weeks ago and the deputies started for it. After the searching party that followed reached the camp the grave in which the bodies had been hidden was discovered by accident. Their rifles were missing.

$5.95 now buys regular $12.50 silk or serge dresses at Luery's, 17 East Superior street.

CITY OF DES MOINES WINS IN WATER CASE.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, March 22.—Judges Walter I. Smith of the United States court of appeals and Smith McPherson and W. H. Munger of the United States district court denied the injunction asked for by the Des Moines Water company against the board of appraisers in the condemnation proceedings by which the city of Des Moines is trying to secure possession of the waterworks. The court held that the law under which the city is proceeding is constitutional.

MAN WHO WIEGHED 417 POUNDS DIES IN ILLINOIS.

Rock Island, Ill., March 22.—William Bieswenger, 45 years old, who weighed 417 pounds, is dead here. He had traveled with shows for many years. It will be necessary to remove part of the front of his residence to permit the coffin to be carried out. There will be sixteen pall bearers.

BAN IS PUT ON PUBLIC DRINKING CUP IN KANSAS.

Topeka, Kan., March 22.—To prevent the spread of epidemic diseases, the state board of health has issued an order that public drinking cups must be removed from all the cities of Kansas. City officials were notified that the order must be enforced rigidly, and business men were requested to remove common drinking cups from their places of business.

KATY ROAD APPEALS BIG LAND GRANT CASE.

Washington, March 22.—The Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway company has taken steps to continue its big land grant contest with the government by appealing from the decision of the court of claims to the supreme court of the United States. The railway claims $61,000,000 from the government as the value of the land it failed to procure along its right of way. The court of claims decided against the company.

Insists Wife Shot Him.

Atlanta, Ga., March 22.—When shown a statement accredited to his wife in Philadelphia that "my husband knows who shot him and will vindicate me at the trial," Eugene H. Grace said:

"Yes, I do know who shot me; it was my wife."

EFFICIENCY IN CHURCH

Two Notable Conventions Have Made a Study of This Quality.

Frank Challenge of Things as They Are—Vital Action Due.

New York, March 22.—Last week two notable gatherings of leaders and experts in the work of the Protestant churches of North America were in session. The Religious Education association held a meeting in St. Louis, and the nine commissions of the Christian conservation congress of the men and religion movement were in session in this city. Both have been studying into the condition of the religious life and efficiency of the present day.

These meetings are symptomatic. A strange stirring is abroad in the churches this winter, a spirit of self-questioning and dissatisfaction that betoken vital action. Probably the activities of the men and religion movement which have frankly challenged, in many cases, "things as they are," have been an important factor in this new state of mind. The present mood of pessimism is really a fresh fronting in new fearlessness of facts that have existed for a long time past. These two meetings undertake to point a way out.

Pessimistic Figures.

In many places there is creeping into print an analysis of church reports that is shocking to the self-complacent. One of the general assembly committee of the Northern Presbyterian church met in Atlantic City recently, and the stated clerk of the body reported that about 36 per cent of the congregations in the demonination had not added a single member by confession of faith in 1911. He also stood sponsor for the statement that within the last five years his demonination has lost 245,000 members by backsliding, as the Methodists would say. Not all of the denominations have this sort of showing to make—or at least not all are making it openly—but few are doing any crowing. Even over seas, the churches of Great Britain are alarmed by their own statistics. Especially in Wales, owing to the reaction from the famous revival, there has been a net decrease in the membership of the four leading free church bodies.

Heavy Pull.

The signs seem to indicate that in her principal primary work, that of making converts, the church is having hard sledding these days. It is comparatively easy to get money for modern methods and equipment, and for such tangible enterprises as Y. M. C. A. buildings and national movements like the men and religion movement and the laymen's missionary movement. The Y. M. C. A. now has an income of more than $8,000,000 a year, and a special campaign is under way to raise $4,000,000 for the young men's and young women's associations in New York city alone. It is also easy, apparently, to get the laymen of the churches out for the big conventions and local banquets. There has been a marked improvement all up and down the line in the matter of benevolent gifts. But when it comes to getting men to do distinctly religious work, that seems to be another matter.

The state of mind of the churches was voiced by a leading Chicago pastor the other day, who said: "If this men and religion movement which is coming to Chicago doesn't succeed in getting my men interested in actual work in the church, I do not know what else will. I shall be ready to give up." This very note of anxiety is a fundamental factor in insuring an enormous attendance at such a gathering as the men and religion congress in New York next month.

Religion and Education.

As the meeting of the Religious Education association in St. Louis has shown, there is no lack of expert consideration of the church's problems. There never were so many doctors at work on a case as now, yet the doctors have not the power to impart the vital fire which is most needed. The R. E. A. has doubtless been a factor in the rousing of the churches, especially with respect to education, but in the min it is seldom heard of except at the time of its annual convention.

Its influence may be traced in the recent development of activity on the part of the denominations in behalf of college students. The various boards of education of the Protestant churches have lately been together and have formed themselves into an organization for co-operative work. The attention of specialists is being given to the matter of religion in the colleges, and this may bear great fruit in the future.

Survey of the Nation.

More comprehensive than anything yet attempted is the plan of these nine commissions which have been sitting in New York city. They number all together, about seventy-five religious leaders — bishops, clergymen, secretaries and laymen. They are investigating such subjects as social service, missions, boys' work, evangelism, Bible study, Christian unity, the rural church, religion and publicity and the permanence of the men and religion message.

The ambitious aim of these commissions, whose reports will be the basis of the discussions in the Christian Conservation congress of the men and religion movement, is to afford a thorough survey of the nation from a religious viewpoint. Each commission will issue its findings in a 30,000-word volume which will be in the hands of the delegates to the congress. Later, the revised reports will be issued by the movement. All the facts that have been gathered by the United States government, by the federated, philanthropic and religious organizations, and by the city campaigns of the men and religion movement, will be utilized in the preparation of these reports. With these in hand, any man should be able to speak intelligently and authoritatively concerning religious conditions and outlook.

Getting the Nation's Ear.

The unprecedented deliverances of these commissions will have value only as they take hold of the public. They afford an unequaled opportunity for self-examination by the Protestant churches. What changes they portend in organization and methods and message no man can yet say. Some of the utterances will be radical, if not revolutionary.

"Now the leaders of the men and religion movement are engaged in directing attention of the whole continent to this congress. They are resolved that it shall not go the way of most conventions. Because it is unique and epochal and representative of the most advanced thought of the churches, they are determined that the country shall take cognizance of the convention's deliverances. Many new methods have been used to focus public attention upon the meeting, ranging from bill boards on Broadway to display advertising in the religious and secular press. An extraordinary body of leading laymen throughout the country have formally pledged themselves to help make this a real national congress and to conserve its message. The existing committees of 100 in the cities where the Men and Religion movement has gone are a powerful agency in insuring the attendance of the foremost laymen of the country.

What will come out of it all remains to be seen. The two meetings of the last week will be gathered into the findings of the congress on April 19 to 24, and every interested person in the land, whether newspaper editor, preacher or layman, can get hold of an expert study of present-day Protestant Christianity.

DRAGGED BY TRAIN, HANGS ON TO CHEW SANDWICH.

Reno, Nev., March 22.—When train No. 10, the east bound fast mail, stopped in Reno a morning or two ago an elderly stranger alighted and hurrying to a lunch counter secured a cheese sandwich and a cup of coffee, paying for the same the sum of 15 cents, 10 cents less than he could have procured the food and drink for on the diner.

As he was munching his sandwich the train whistled and the stranger ran to grab the car. He was a little late but managed to grasp a handle. He lost his grasp and managed to grip the steps on the car.

He clung to the step until he was dragged 200 yards when the emergency was pulled and the train stopped.

The stranger was badly bruised and lacerated but he still retained his grip on the sandwich and coolly took another bite.

NEW RACE OF PIGMIES.

Diminutive People Are Seen in Dutch New Guinea.

London, March 22.—Fresh and interesting information regarding the habits and conditions of life of a curious pigmy race will be sought by the new expedition to Dutch New Guinea, which is now being planned in London. This strange race of people were first seen by white men when the recent expedition under Capt. C. G. Rawling penetrated into the heart of the island.

Rawling's expedition comprised six Englishmen and was sent out by the British Ornithologists' union. Their objective was a long range of snowy mountains, called the Nassau range, but between them and it lay sixty miles of absolutely unexplored country, and of the most difficult kind to negotiate. Dense forest covered most of it, intersected with rivers which for one-half of the year were torrents and the other half nearly dried up riverbeds.

The pigmies were first discovered near the Kapare river, one of the immense streams which, rising in the Nassau mountains, make their way down to the sea. The Japanese soldiers who accompanied Rawling as bearers spied a couple of the little people one day in the hills. The pigmies bolted at once, and an exciting chase took place, which ended in their being captured, and two days later more were surprised and surrounded. They proved to be sturdy men averaging about four feet eight inches high, and much better developed than the tribes encountered in the plains. They were also industrious and decidedly more intelligent. They had neatly constructed huts, and after some time it was discovered that they had words in their language to denote numerals up to ten, words entirely lacking from the language of the plainsmen. Although the most strenuous search was made, only solitary huts could be found. Strangely enough, no children and only one woman, who was being escorted to her new home from her wedding, were seen.

WILL LOCATE IN CANADA

Party of 200 English Immigrants Bound for Regina, Sask.

All Have Money and Many Have Purchased Farms in Northwest.

About 200 English immigrants, bound for the Canadian Northwest, passed through Duluth today. They were met here by Gay W. Norman, traveling passenger agent for the Grand Trunk Railroad system, who will have charge of them for the remainder of the journey.

The immigrants were landed at Portland, Me., a few days ago off a Cunard line steamer and they are now being "personally conducted" to Regina, Sask., where most of them have already purchased land.

The immigrants occupied two special cars. They are all English and are going to Canada to become farmers. They all have money and are considered the best class of immigrants.

Every man in the party has from $300 to $1,000 after paying the way of his family from England to their destination. They all come from near the same point in England and the greater part of them will locate in one settlement, although a few of them will scatter to different points in Canada.

The party came as far as Duluth over the Northwestern line and under the management of another railroad man, who was relieved at Duluth by Mr. Norman, who came from Kansas City, Mo., to meet the travelers in Duluth and stay with them until they have reached their destination.

WANTS CASH BALM FOR A BEATING

Henry C. Eischen Sues Leon St. Germain for $1,000 Damages.

Henry C. Eichen, a local florist, thinks that it is worth $1,000 to be insulted, beaten and bruised by a collector and today in district court before Judge Martin Hughes and a jury he is sueing Leon St. Germain, who, he claims, assaulted him Dec. 16 last.

From Elschen's testimony, the assault claimed to have been made by St. Germain grew out of a dispute over a bill which St. Germain presented. The men, it appeared, met on the street and engaged in an altercation which finally developed into a fist fight.

Immediately after the alleged assault, Elschen secured a warrant for St. Germain's arrest. In municipal court, St. Germain pleaded guilty and was given a nominal fine. In his answer, the defendant admits the arrest and plea of guilty, but explains that the plea was not a confession of guilt and was only to avoid the annoyance and bother of a trial.

Elschen also names St. Germain Bros. as one of the defendants in the action. On the witness stand, Thomas J. St. Germain, who owns the glass manufacturing business conducted under the name of St. Germain Bros., stated that Leon St. Germain had no interest in the firm, was not its authorized collector and had simply been employed as a shop foreman.

The case will probably go to the jury today; William B. Phelps is attorney for Elschen and A. E. McManus is defending.

BRUEGGER LEADS FOR COMMITTEE

Probably Will Represent North Dakota at Democratic Council Table

Grand Forks, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Bruegger of Williston has been elected Democratic national committeeman from North Dakota, unless there is a radical change in the figures from twenty counties which have not yet reported. A majority of the counties are in so-called Bruegger territory and give him more than an even break with his next nearest opponent, George Duis of Grand Forks.

Twenty-nine counties out of forty-nine, reporting practically complete returns, there being only about fifty precincts in the entire number missing, give the following count: John Bruegger, Williston, 1,765; George E. Duis, Grand Forks, 1,513; D. W. McLean, Fargo, 410; H. P. Perry, Ellendale, 1,131; Frank A. Willson, Bathgate, 1,153; B. G. Whitehead, 558.

Of the twenty counties still to report, Williams, McKenzie, Towner, Oliver, Burleigh, Burke, Benson and Billings very probably will go for Bruegger, while Duis probably will capture Traill, Cavalier, Ransom and Benson.

The vote in the other seven counties is very light and probably will not be over 200 for all six candidates.

Serge and silk dresses specially priced for tomorrow at $5.95 and $6.95. Regular $12.50 and $14.50 values. At 17 East Superior street.

RAILROADS

AGREE TO COMPROMISE TO GET BETTER RAILS.

New York, March 22.—Railroad presidents and steel manufacturers in conference for the third time on the question of improving the quality of steel rails to prevent breakage, frequently resulting in railroad accidents, appointed a joint sub-committee of six to bring in final recommendations at a future meeting.

This was announced by Judge E. H. Gary of the United States Steel corporation, representing the steel manufacturers, and Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, representing the railroad men, in a joint statement in which it was conceded that "improvements can and ought to be made on both sides."

The names of the six officials appointed will be announced later.

SWITCHING CHARGE TO BE INQUIRED INTO.

Washington, March 22.—A proposed charge of 1 cent a hundred pounds for the switching of carload freight between St. Mary's transfer, Michigan, and the Algoma Central & Hudson Bay Railway company's transfer, Ontario, Can., has been suspended by the interstate commerce commission pending an inquiry into its reasonableness. The present switching charge is $2.50 a car irrespective of weight. At 1 cent a hundred pounds, the switching charge would be increased from 50 cents to $2.50 a car. Several northwestern railroads are made defendants of the proposed advance, which was suspended July 19, 1911.

NORTHERN PACIFIC WORKING FOR SAFETY.

Fargo, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the hope of preventing wrecks, the Northern Pacific is holding a series of meetings along its main line. One is in progress here today and is attended by superintendents, heads of road and bridge and mechanical departments. Road bed conditions, signal lights, broken rail problems and other features are under discussion.

Cement Rates Suspended.

Washington, March 22.—A suspension of proposed advances of freight rates on cement, made by western railroads, has been made by the interstate commerce commission from March 30 until Sept. 30. The commission found itself unable finally to determine the reasonableness of the proposed increases by March 30. The advances made by the railroads average approximately 15 per cent and involve an enormous tonnage of freight.

SOLID WHEAT TRAIN.

Sixty-Two Cars From Canada Pass Through Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large and increasing quantity of Canadian wheat is being shipped over the Northern Pacific railway into Superior. The wheat takes a roundabout route from Winnipeg to Grand Forks and thence through Brainerd. Although the haulage is longer, the freight charges per car are said to be less than by taking a more direct route to Superior. Train No. 624 went through Brainerd recently, a solid wheat train of sixty-two cars.

Railroad Personals.

Irvine M. Keller, traveling passenger agent for the Missouri Pacific Iron Mountain railroad, was in the city today.

Thomas J. Randall, traveling agent for the New York Central lines, is in the city calling on local railroad men. Mr. Randall's home is at Winnipeg.

Woman's Realm

Talks on penal and reformatory institutions were given at an interesting session of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of West Duluth held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. R. Keyes. About fifty members were present at this meeting and received information on the topic of the meeting from Mrs. C. H. Smith who read an interesting paper on the penal and reformatory departments of the state. Miss Jean Poirier spoke of local conditions, making an appeal to the women to interest themselves in bettering the conditions of the city jail. Mrs. F. W. Palmer also spoke of the state schools, their work and their methods.

Mrs. H. H. Phelps, chairman of the committee in charge of the girls' and boys' clubs which are being backed by the W. C. T. U. in West Duluth, gave a report of the progress made. A board of managers to stand back of the business end of running the club house was appointed, with the following officers: Mrs. C. R. Keyes, president; Mrs. H. H. Phelps, vice president; Harry House, principal of the Ely school, treasurer, and E. G. Kreidler, secretary. The other members of the board are: Mrs. W. F. Bailey, Mrs. G. W. Smith, Mrs. Ruth Merritt and Mrs. H. Bevier of the W. C. T. U.; Scott A. Foster, principal of the Irving school; Rev. E. B. Collier, pastor of the Holy Apostle's Episcopal church, and representatives of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A., who will be appointed later.

The members of the union present adopted resolutions of sympathy to be extended to Mrs. Alfred Jaques who has recently lost both parents and a sister.

After the business session Mrs. George King gave a delightful piano solo and Mrs. David Adams and Miss Eva Adams were heard with pleasure in a vocal duet.

FREE LECTURE.

Will Talk on "Modern Drama."

Such dramatists as William Vaughn Moody, Howard, Klein, Eugene Walters and notable women dramatists from writers of prose poetry in drama, like Josephine Preston Peabody, to writers of farce-comedy such as Margaret Mayo and Mary Roberts Rinehart, will be discussed by Miss Mary D. McFadden in her talk this evening on "Modern American Plays and Playwrights" at the library club room.

The talk will begin at 8 o'clock sharp and is open to all who are interested. No admission will be charged as this is one of the regular course of lectures on modern drama being given under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club this winter.

MASQUERADE.

Little Folks to Close Term of Dancing.

The young people in Prof. Leo's Saturday evening dancing class will have a masquerade tomorrow evening at the hall in the old Masonic temple. The parents of the young people are busy this week getting the costumes ready and the evening promises to be an interesting one. A program of fancy dances has been arranged by Prof. Leo and several group figures and solo dances will be given. This event marks the close of the second term of dancing for this winter and parents and members of the class alike are all interested.

MATINEE RECITAL.

Spring and Opera Music at Hotel Tea.

Music from some of the most beautiful light operas will form a large part of the program at the Matinee recital tomorrow afternoon at the regular Saturday afternoon tea at the Spalding hotel. Miss Alice Mae Brown will be the soloist for the afternoon, her selection being "Indian Love Lyrics," by Amy W. Finden. The program for the afternoon as arranged follows:

"Prince of Tonight".....Howard
"Gypsy Love".....Lehar
"Spring, Beautiful Spring".....Lincke Vocal solo—"Indian Love Lyrics".....
.....Amy W. Finden
Alice Mae Brown.
"Bright Eyes".....Hoschna
"Pastel Minuet".....Paradis
"The Chocolate Soldier".....Strauss

Five Hundred Party.

Mrs. W. H. Watson of Hunter's Park was a five hundred hostess yesterday afternoon. The game was played at five tables and prizes were won by Mrs. H. J. Jeronimus and Mrs. George D. Hilton. Mrs. J. C. Nafe sang "Haven of Love," and Mrs. Jeronimus also gave a vocal selection. Pink and white sweet peas and pink tulips made pretty decorations for the rooms.

Tea for Visitor.

Mrs. Henry A. Smith and Mrs. Harrison Simons were joint hostesses at an afternoon tea yesterday at the home of the former, 151 East Superior street. Mrs. Van Ness of Chicago, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Grannis, was the guest of honor. Bowls of pink tulips and pink carnations were effectively arranged about the rooms, and twenty-eight guests enjoyed an informal program of songs by Mrs. M. McDonald and readings by Mrs. R Edward Sayles. Mrs. McDonald sang "The Garden of My Heart" and "Silver Threads Among the Gold," with Miss Reynolds accompanying, and Mrs. Sayles read "The Road to Mandalay" and other Kipling selections.

Prizes Awarded.

Praiseworthy efforts of junior and senior girls of the normal school, Central high school and the Industrial high school in the essay contest conducted by the Association of Collegiate Alumnae on the subject "Why Should a Girl Go to College?" have been considered and the prizes awarded.

Miss Leila M. Stickles, 20 years of age, a senior at the normal school won first prize, $10, for her essay, which was excellently written. Miss Grace Buckbee, a junior at the Industrial high school in West Duluth, who is 16 years of age won the second prize, $5, and Miss Dorothy Bateman, 21 years of age, a normal school junior was given honorable mention on her work which did not meet the requirements of the contest, being less than the number of words required so that it could not be considered for a prize.

This essay contest will be an annual feature of the work of the association.

Absorption Process Makes Faces Young

(From the Home Maker)

Success has at last come to scientists who for years have sought some method of removing the outer facial skin in cases of unsightly complexions, which would be both painless and non-injurious. The new process is so simple, so inexpensive, the wonder is no one had discovered it long ago.

It has been amply demonstrated that common mercolized wax (buy an ounce at any drug store) entirely removes, by gentle absorption, the withered, lifeless cuticle, showing the youthful, roselike skin beneath. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and washed off in the morning. The absorption also cleanses clogged pores, increasing the skin's breathing capacity and capillary circulation, preserving tone, color and natural beauty of the new skin.

WINTER BRIDE AT THE CAPITAL

MRS. ARTHUR L. BLISS.

One of the interesting society brides of Washington this winter is Mrs. Arthur Loraine Bliss. She is a New York girl and was formerly Marguerite Storm. Popular in New York society, she met, through her school chum, Miss Hazel Young Bliss, her cousin, Arthur. It was a case of love at first sight. Mr. Bliss is a son of Alonzo O. Bliss. He lives with his parents at their beautiful home, 1218 Sixteenth street, N. W.

THE EVENING STORY

THE REVERSE SIDE OF A VACATION

By Alice Louise Lee.

The August outing was decided on in May. "Think of it, Anne," cried Rebecca the day the question was settled, "I have never been inside a big hotel. Think of staying in one whole month."

Rebecca's father puckered his brows. "Yes," returned he, with a humorous twinkle in his eyes, "and to think of the bills a big hotel is capable of sending in. You girls must get enough enjoyment out of it to pay costs."

"Indeed we shall. We shall!" responded Rebecca, enthusiastically. Anne's eyes shone, but she said nothing. "And be sure," added Rebecca's father, "not to bother sister or make Tom too much trouble." The girls were accompanying Rebecca's aunt, whose son Tom, a Cornell senior, had promised them his aid in a "jolly good time."

"You see," Rebecca had explained to Anne, "some of the Cornell sophomores are at the hotel, and Tom will introduce them all. Oh, what fun we'll have. But I dread getting ready to go—all the sewing—don't you?" At that Anne's eyes lost their sparkle, for into the prospective fun her father had reluctantly interjected a certain if to her mother. "We can afford to let Anne go if there are no extra demands for clothes. Business is dull this year."

"NO," returned Anne's mother, "just a substantial walking suit and a few shirt waists, which I shall make myself." And the matter was settled. Across the street she reported to the Browns on the dress question, and Mr. Brown smiled his relief. "That's good. Neither can I afford to tog Becky here out to any extent; anyway, you're nothing but girls. You don't need many dresses," Rebecca and her mother exchanged glances; for Rebecca the matter was not settled.

"I can manage, I think," Mrs. Brown said, with a worried air, after the head of the house had gone. "Of course you must go well dressed. We will do the sewing ourselves and begin right away. Your father will not notice what is going on if I ask him for a little money now and then." Anne wriggled uneasily and coughed loudly, that she might not hear, but Rebecca clapped her hands joyfully.

"Summer clothes are not expensive," she cried eagerly, "and we can make them look beautiful by putting plenty of work on them." Then she looked commiseratingly at the uncomfortable Anne. "You know there are all Tom's friends. Couldn't you get a little money at a time out of your father?" Rebecca was as honest and sensible as her training would allow her to be. Anne rose. There was an indignant ring in her tone, but all she said was, "It's lovely of father to give me the month's outing without the new clothes." Then she turned to Rebecca impulsively frank. "Anyway Becky, I'm not so becoming to pretty dresses as you are, so it's easier to go without."

"O Anne," protested Rebecca, weakly. Rebecca was undeniably handsome and knew it, while Anne labored under the impression that she was "almost sallow." At least, Hilda always spoke of her younger sister's complexion in that dubious way, and Anne, having great faith in Hilda's judgment, accepted the verdict. A few days later Anne met Rebecca hurrying home with her hands full of thread and insertion.

"Oh, Anne," she cried, "mother and I are making the sweetest dimity for August. Not expensive, you know, but we are going to make it look lovely by putting lots of work on it." They did, and it proved as lovely as Rebecca represented it. Anne ran across the street to view it a week later. She tried the front door, but it was locked. She rang the bell, but only a distant and curious rumble answered her. The back door yielded to her push, and the rumble became more distinct. "They've taken the sewing machine upstairs," thought Anne, "where callers can't disturb them." Tucking her tennis racket under her arm she climbed the stairs, and came on two workers putting the last bit of lace on the dimity. "It's a beauty," declared Anne.

"Isn't it?" Rebecca's tone was rapturous. She whirled Anne round, facing the big mirror, and held the dainty waist up in front of her."

"Why," ejaculated Anne in surprise, "it's becoming to me." Owing to her being "almost sallow," Anne was always surprised to find that dainty clothes looked well on her. 'How I wish—" she cried, and paused abruptly.

"Can't you?" asked Rebecca, understandingly. "I know your father would—"

Anne turned from the glass, interrupting gaily," yes, to the extent of a walking suit and shirt waists." Rebecca drew a long breath of satisfaction as she looked about the room.

"This," she explained, indicating a white fabric on the bed, "is organdy that we're going to put over that old blue taffeta of mine. Yes, it's got to be all made over, but won't the combination be sweet? And this is linen for a suit. And this is dotted mull for a little afternoon gown. We can't have too many thin things, you know."

"Yes," said Anne, soberly.

She sighed as she crossed the street; but ten minutes later she recrossed it excitedly, the cause of the sigh forgotten, and burst into the room.

"Becky," she cried. "Will Dunmore says we're going to have two boat clubs and races, and the girls can belong. He wants us on his side."

"A boat club," returned Rebecca, promptly. "O dear, no, Anne. With all this sewing I can't waste any time boating. Mother has just decided that I must have a cream-colored mohair for mornings, in addition to the other things."

Anne twisted the knob of the door and hesitated. "But Becky, what about tennis? We play the first game this afternoon—" Rebecca interrupted with a firm shake of the head. "You know, Anne, we'll get all that at the lakes, rowing and tennis and golf. Now I can't spend the time; I must sew."

As the weeks passed that expression, "I must sew," became the only reply Rebecca gave, because the cream-colored mohair proved but the first of a number of additions to her pretty wardrobe. Tennis, croquet, boating, afternoon walks, evenings with her friends were all given up. "I must sew," said Rebecca; and one by one the dainty, filmy garments were hung away fresh and unworn for August and the big hotel. "I must sew," said Rebecca; and her cheeks grew hollow while dark circles came under her eyes, for summer was also overworking that year, July heat prevailing in June and August sultriness in July. It was one hot afternoon in the middle of July that Rebecca threw open the wardrobe in the sewing room for Anne's inspection, saying, in a tone weary but full of satisfaction, "only see, Anne, all the pretty things I have to wear."

"Indeed, they are pretty," assented Anne, heartily. Then her eyes traveled thoughtfully from the contents of the wardrobe to Rebecca's thin cheeks, and on to Mrs. Brown, bending over a shirtwaist, on which she was laying insertion. Mrs. Brown's hands trembled nervously as she worked, and occasionally she paused to press her hand over her eyes. During one of these pauses she asked listlessly, "Have you begun to get your new things, Anne?" Anne still looked thoughtful. "You know all I'm to have is a walking suit and shirtwaists. Mother is working on a shirtwaist."

Mrs. Brown sent a compassionate gaze on her, while Rebecca murmured: "I supposed, Anne, that when you came to think hard about going you'd have—" She paused. Rebecca had a habit of implying the end of a sentence by a glance or a tone.

"No," replied Anne simply. She walked across the street slowly, and came on her mother also putting insertion in the front of a shirtwaist, and her mother looked warm and tired. "Mother," said Anne decidedly, "there's enough trimming on that waist now." Abruptly she took the insertion out of her mother's hands, adding anxiously, "It's nice now out on the porch." Then irrelevantly, "you just ought to see Mrs. Brown."

Mrs. Tupper looked up inquiringly. "Mrs. Brown? Why, really I've scarcely caught a glimpse of her all summer. But I suppose she will let her friends see her again after you and Becky go."

They started the first of August. Mrs. Tupper went down to the station with Anne. They were preceded by an express wagon in which a little flat topped one-story trunk rattled round inconspicuously behind its heavy three-story, iron bound neighbor. Just as the train drew into the station Rebecca entered alone, bearing an umbrella and two hat boxes. "Mother has a headache," she explained listlessly, "and so have I."

During the journey the owner of the three-story trunk lay back in her seat, a wet handkerchief across her eyes, while Anne, her fresh, eager face in the open window, kept her informed of the varied outside attractions. Several days later a wail from the Twin Lakes arrived by mail. It was directed to Mrs. Brown, but Mrs. Brown was in no condition to read it. She lay in a darkened room, suffering with inflamed nerves and inflamed eyes. Mrs. Tupper was caring for her, and it was Mrs. Tupper who raised the curtain a trifle and read the wail aloud.

"I haven't written much before," wrote Rebecca, "because I'm so tired I can't write or do anything else except watch the others have a good time—Anne especially. She has the best muscle of any girl here, and Tom's friends all want her on their side in tennis matches and boating and that sort of thing. She looks so well and happy and active that I hear people say they like to see her around. O dear, I'm so tired I can write just this one thing more. If I go away next summer, I won't kill myself getting ready. I'm glad, though, that you are well. I was afraid when I came away that you were going to be sick.

There was a restless movement in the darkest corner of the room. "I didn't write Becky that I am sick because I didn't want to spoil her good time," sighed her mother.

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mme. D'MILLE

Enlarged pores, dark and discolored patches and similar blemishes of the complexion disappear in a week or ten days if a solution made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel is rubbed on the face, neck and arms each morning. This is a true complexion beautifier and should be used regularly instead of powder or other cosmetic. It preserves youthful charms and keeps the skin soft, smooth and white.

Dry shampooing keeps the hair soft, wavy and richly lustrous. Too much water streaks and fades the hair and makes it dry and brittle. To make a shampoo powder, put a cupful of cornmeal in a fruit jar and mix with it a small original package of therox. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush it out thoroughly. The powder comes out easily and takes all dirt, dandruff and excess oil with it.

To remove superfluous hairs from face or forearms simply apply delatone paste. Mix enough powdered delatone with water to cover the hairs; apply and after two or three minutes wipe off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone. This treatment is safe, speedy and sure.

Colds, catarrh and [illegible] of sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck and asthma yield quickly to applications of Mother's Salve, rubbed in well before retiring. The world never saw its equal as a household remedy. It gives almost instant relief from aches, pains and sores.

LEADER OF "EXPERTS" TALKS AT HIGH SCHOOL

"Clean Manhood" Subject of Address to Students By J. A. Whitmore.

"Sky Pilot" Frank Higgins Coming—Boys' Conference Opens.

J. A. WHITMORE.

This morning J. A. Whitmore, leader of the team of experts now in Duluth for the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign, addressed the pupils of the Central high school during the chapel hour on "Clean Manhood."

"There are three things that the young fellows going to school must cultivate," said Mr. Whitmore. "You must keep entirely away from cigarette smoking. You must cultivate common honesty. You must enjoy clean recreation, cultivate self control and have the ability to do things.

"You young people must assume responsibility rather than to shirk. There are a great many questions you have to solve for yourself. You must meet them openly and squarely. You won't make mistakes if you follow what your conscience tells you to do."

The meeting of the ministers with the members of the team of experts, which was to have taken place this morning was postponed and will be merged with another meeting of like nature to be held later.

This noon shop meetings were conducted at the Marshall-Wells Hardware company and at the Baxter Planing mill. Both meetings were very successful.

A luncheon and a conference were also held this noon at the Commercial club. Dr. Lansing was the speaker. Later this afternoon Dr. Lansing met with those interested in social work in the city.

This evening Dr. Lansing and Rev. J. A. McGaughey will visit the Trades and Labor assembly, where Dr. Lansing will deliver an address.

Sky Pilot Coming.

Word was received last night from Frank Higgins, known in every lumber camp in Minnesota as the "sky pilot," that he will be in Duluth and take part in the campaign Saturday and Sunday at the meetings in the different parts of the city now being arranged.

The Sunday school committee met this noon at the Y. M. C. A.

Advices to the members of the team of experts, received today, announce that the Men and Religion Forward movement is now organized in England, Australia, Africa and Japan. The original motive, which was to make the campaign world-wide, is being realized, say the experts.

The biggest and most important session to be held will be that of tomorrow afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. assembly hall.

This will be the inter-church conference with the entire membership of the team of experts as speakers. The experts will at that time lay out the campaign for future work in the city.

Each expert represents some one distinct department of the work and during the stay in the city each man has studied his own particular field. Each one will make recommendations and local people will probably plan campaigns for the accomplishment of each purpose.

This will be the most important meeting of the week and a large attendance is desired. The meeting is planned for 3:30 so that the greater portion of business men can attend.

This evening there will be the institutes at the various churches as held during the week. The program for Sunday has not been fully decided upon as yet. There will be some variation from the original program.

Evening Meetings.

Raymond P. Gorbold will speak on "Missions" tonight at the First Methodist church; I. J. Lansing will speak on "Social Service" at the Pilgrim Congregational church; Charles R. Drum and D. G. Latshaw will speak on "Community Extension" at St. Paul's, and W. C. Pearce will speak on "Bible Study" at the First Presbyterian church.

A feature of tomorrow's program will be a picture lecture to be given in the evening at the First Methodist church by W. C. Pearce, who will show a lumberjack's Bible class, a cowboy Bible class, a midnight Bible class, a battleship Bible class and other classes formulated in unusual groups.

David Latshaw will be the speaker at a meeting to be held tomorrow evening at the Columbia hall in the West end.

The older boys' conference began this afternoon with the registration of delegates at the First Presbyterian church. This church will be headquarters for the conference while it lasts, Saturday and Sunday.

After the registration of delegates and the election of officers this afternoon the boys will go to the Y. M. C. A. where they will attend the conference dinner. Rev. M. S. Rice will be the toastmaster.

Dr. I. J. Lansing addressed the social service institute last evening at the First M. E. church on the subject: "The Church and Municipal Efficiency." This evening at the same place at 6:45 p. m. he will summarize, and suggest some of the steps that should be taken to form the men of all the churches in the city, into a federation to work in behalf of the forward movement.

"In order to promote municipal efficiency, all must share the responsibility," he said, "All who are endowed with the franchise, must vote; honest men must be selected for judges of election. The best and most capable men must be willing to accept municipal office, as they are in Germany and England. The men of the churches must stand by the municipal officers and support them in all proper actions. There are always a great many bad men who try in all ways to corrupt such men in order to secure what they ought not to have. The men's federation must make its influence felt by the municipal officer of doubtful character."

Speaking of Duluth, Dr. Lansing said he would speak first of perhaps its worst problem, prostitution.

"Many people are engaged in securing inmates for brothels, and these prey very largely upon the very young, and the very ignorant," he said. "These procurers are servants of Mammon, and do this work for the money to be made.

"The city must meet the needs of youth, and provide places under proper supervision, where the young of both sexes may meet. The churches and schoolhouses are none too good to provide such meeting places in those buildings, and save the young from the necessity of meeting in the streets.

"The men of the churches must protect innocent girls from danger.

"The saloons must be attacked in every possible way. They attract many men by supplying convenicenes in time of necessity. The city should supply public comfort stations.

"Men must have meeting places where they may enjoy conversation and public discussions, and the school houses are none too good for them, and a room in a church would not be desecrated by such use.

"Gambling must be opposed. Apply the law.

"The Duluth jail is in a vile condition—horrible, inhumand and frightful. Young criminals must be kept separate from older ones. Criminals are manufactured by placing them together. The inter-church committee to be composed of a number of men from each of the churches in Duluth can take hold of this jail matter.

"Work farms are needed. Close confinement with nothing to do is horrible.

"Of the physical problems, housing is important, and all must co-operate in solving it.

"The Associated Charities needs the friendship of us all. The Men's federation must co-operate with the Woman's Council and other bodies."

Bring Along A Pianist—

Tell that pianist friend of yours, "I want an opinion", and bring him or her down to hear the Apollo Player Piano.

We'll foretell the result. Music teachers—master musicians—people who have never before been known to endorse a player piano have heard the Apollo play and become enthusiasts. Why shouldn't they? They love music and the Apollo renders true music—the kind of music that any concert pianist would be proud to render.

When your pianist friend hears the Apollo first accent the melody then omit it entirely—when the downward, human-like touch is producing the fullest tones of the piano itself—when the Tempograph Device demonstrates its ability to interpret time with the fire and spirit of a master—then—if your friend doesn't say, "The Apollo is the only player piano I have heard that plays like a human being", we will be very much mistaken.

And your pianist friend knows. The very thing he or she has spent a lifetime acquiring and learning to appreciate, the Apollo does for you. And when you consider the strong, basic patents that protect the various Apollo features, you'll understand why other player pianos can not produce true music.

We are here to demonstrate the Apollo. Come in and hear it. Bring along your friends. If you tell them they're going to a musicale they won't be disappointed when they hear the Apollo. The sooner you drop in the better.

VINCENT DRAWN INTO MERCY CASE

Chicago, March 22.—Miss Esther Mercy, the former student at the University of Chicago, who is suing Miss Marion Talbot, dean of women at the university, for $100,000 damages for alleged aspersion of her character, resumed the witness stand today and continued her version of the events which preceded her expulsion from the university.

The young woman declared she sought Dean Vincent, then a member of the University of Chicago faculty and now president of the University of Minnesota, and asked him to aid her.

"He told me he had left the entire affair in Miss Talbot's hands," said Miss Mercy.

Pointed at Vincent.

She pointed her finger at President Vincent, who was in the courtroom, and exclaimed in a shaking voice:

"Dean Vincent knows it is the truth and he can't look me in the eyes."

President Vincent remained unmoved by the outburst and the examination proceeded

Miss Mercy declared Dean Talbot had used words to her directly attacking her character.

"She told me that the sooner I left the university the better it would be for me," she said.

FRIEDMAN SUITS ARE DIFFERENT

Every garment that leaves our store has that distinction and character for which our suits are most noted. The styles, qualities of materials, linings and tailoring are superior to any shown elsewhere, even at much higher prices.

NEW ARRIVALS IN SUITS
At $15, $19.50, $22.50 and $25

More than sixty different models, at prices ranging from $15 to $25, are arranged for easy and satisfactory choosing for women who have placed a price limit anywhere within these two figures. Every conceit of the season is embodied in these suits. The coats are in straight and cutaway styles, and even in the lowest priced suits there are silk or satin covered shields to match the lining—a point worthy of note because it shows the extreme care given the smallest detail. All are handsomely lined, higher priced suits naturally in a better grade. Skirts are mostly plain tailored, with panel effects, some show a fancy side effect. The tailoring is exceptional and we have reason to believe excels, by far, that usually found in moderately priced suits. And remember, please, that many fit so perfectly that there is no need of a single alteration.

Exclusive Modes at $27.50, $35, $45 and up to $75

This range of new models includes the choicest modified Parisian styles, in the new materials and colorings. It's a display worth coming to see.

BABIES FOR BACHELORS.

Dr. Wynekoop of Chicago Urges Adoptions According to Salary.

St. Louis, Mo., March 22.—"Every unmarried man or woman who earns $20 a week or more should adopt a baby. If he or she earns $40 a week two babies should be adopted," said Dr. Lindsey Wynekoop of Chicago, in speaking to the National Congress of Mothers, in session here today.

"Taking care of a child is not a burden," continued Dr. Wynekoop, as she explained to the delegates that although she had three of her own she had adpoted a girl.

"It does more to build up the character of a man than anything else. It makes him responsible for a human being and it probably will save a life.

"The death rate of babies placed in institutions is higher than that of the babies placed in private homes. One out of two babies placed in institutions dies, and we must stop this waste."

Dr. Wynekoop's remarks were made in her report on "Child Hygiene in Illinois." William Hard of New York made a plea for equal rights of fathers and mothers in the guardianship of children.

DISCUSS THE MEXICAN WAR

Members of Taft's Cabinet Consider Transportation of Supplies.

Orozco Issues Decree Condemning Madero to Death If Captured.

Washington, March 22.—President Taft and his cabinet today considered the question whether food, clothing and dynamite are munitions of war within the meaning of the president's proclamation prohibiting the exportation of all war materials to Mexico.

The puzzling question regarding food and clothing was raised by customs officials along the Southern border and by merchants in El Paso and other border towns. The army has held up about 90,000 pounds of dynamite intended for smelting concerns in Mexico and this government is being appealed to not to interfere with transit of explosives intended for industries.

Would Kill Madero.

San Antonio, Tex., March 22.—A decree by Gen. Orozco, the rebel leader, declaring President Madero of Mexico subject to execution if captured, has been brought here and published by Melchor Camacho, special envoy of Orozco to Emilio Vasquez Gomez.

Another decree warns Americans that contracts they make with the Madero government will be void if the present revolution triumphs. Both decrees are dated Chihuahua, March 13.

Defeating Zepata Forces.

City of Mexico, March 22.—The government's campaign against Emiliano Zepata and his followers in Southern Mexico is progressing satisfactorily, according to advices from Gen. Juvenico Robles whose army is operating in Morelos and adjoining states. Robles is destroying every place of habitation regarded as a rebel refuge, after the women and children are sent to the towns guarded by federals.

Villages have been burned by the federal troops all along the line of march. There have been no important encounters.

Rio Grande and Sombrererte in the state of Zacatecas, have passed into rebel control in the last two days.

The council of the administration of the Society of the American colony has prepared a resolution for presentation to Minister Calero of the foreign office, offering the assistance of that organization in prosecuting authors of untruthful and damaging reports of conditions in the capital, sent to the United States.

EPIDEMIC OF LAND FEVER

Winnipeggers All Engaged in Some Form of Real Estate Speculation.

"Newsboys, porters, owners of peanut wagons, and even the chambermaids in the hotels, have the land fever in Winnipeg," said Thomas J. Randall, traveling passenger agent of the New York Central lines, with headquarters in Winnipeg. Mr. Randall is in Duluth today, accompanied by Irvine M. Keller of the Missouri Pacific Iron Mountain line, a brother railroad man and friend. Mr. Keller has headquarters in Chicago.

"Everybody is gambling on real estate and land in Canada. They have been predicting that the country was riding to a hard fall, but it hasn't come yet. Values are undoubtedly high, but as long as the tide of immigration keeps up the country is bound to boom. It is certainly booming now."

LA FOLLETTE MAY SPEAK IN DULUTH

Supporters of Wisconsin Senator Organize and Will Invite Him Here.

Senator Robert M. La Follette may come to Duluth during the campaign preceding the election of delegates to the Republican national convention.

The La Follette club, an off-shoot of the Progressive league, was organized at a luncheon at the Spalding today. The officers are: President, I. K. Lewis; vice president, Elmer F. Blue; secretary, Frank T. McNally; treasurer, Felix Seligman. Executive committee, I. K. Lewis, Elmer F. Blue, Frank T. McNally, Felix Seligman, L. U. Young and A. G. McKnight.

The Progressive league was originally organized as a La Follette organization, but when the Roosevelt organization was formed this week, the president and secretary of the Progressive league were absorbed into the Roosevelt organization.

The La Follette men in the Progressive league immediately called today's meeting and formed an organization of their own. They intend to work for a state convention delegation for La Follette from St. Louis county. They hope to induce the Wisconsin senator to visit Duluth and they will also bring other speakers during the campaign.

Celebrate Anniversary.

Norway's independence day, May 17, will be celebrated on its anniversary this year by an entertainment to be given by the members of the Sons of Norway lodge. Arrangements are now being made for a celebration and festival, one of the features of which is to be a series of songs by the Norden Singing society.

Ice Rinks Cost $400.

The maintenance and establishment of the free ice rinks in each ward has cost the city almost $400 since the beginning of winter. Each ward has been provided with a free rink. They have been in charge of the firemen of that ward.

Delegates Open Campaign.

T. H. Ryan of Merrill and John R. Walsh of Washburn, candidates for election as delegates to the national Democratic convention from this district, nominated as supporters of Woodrow Wilson for president, will open their campaign in Superior, Tuesday evening. The two men are planning on a campaign to cover the entire district which they wish to represent.

Admitted in Drama League.

The Black Domino Society of the Superior high school, which is to produce "A Scrap of Paper," at the high school auditorium next Thursday evening, has been admitted to the Junior Drama League of America through the activity of Mrs. R. M. Seymour of Duluth. Notice to this effect was received by the society yesterday.

Nominees Address Club.

Three nominees, Joseph Konkel, C. N. O'Hare and Fred Tomlinson, addressed a gathering of the French-American club at the St. Louis hall last evening. Next Thursday evening the remaining three candidates, Fred Van Buren, H. A. Johnson and J. P. Jensen, will speak before the members.

TEN PER CENT ADVANCE IN WAGES ACCEPTED.

Fall River, Mass., March 22.—An advance of 10 per cent in wages March 25 was offered to the operatives' union by the Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' association this afternoon, and assurances have been given that the increase will be accepted. There will be no general strike next Monday. The advance will affect about 30,000 operatives.

MINORITY FRAMES NEW WOOL BILL

Reclassifies Grades and Is Based on Tariff Board's Report.

Washington, March 22.—Republican members of the ways and means committee today introduced a minority bill revising the woolen schedule of the present tariff law in accordance with their interpretation of the report of the tariff board.

The bill would reduce the duties on wool and manufactures of wool about 40 per cent. It would reclassify the grades of wool, according to the recommendation of the tariff board, and duties would be specific, as in the present Payne-Aldrich act.

The bill was introduced by Representative Payne of New York, former Republican leader of the house, after it had been offered in a meeting of the ways and means committee as a substitute for the Democratic bill introduced yesterday, which would place an ad valorem duty of 20 per cent on raw wool. The committee, by a strict party vote, ordered the Underwood bill favorably reported.

Under the Payne bill the equivalent ad valorem would be about 35 per cent on raw wool as compared with 20 per cent in the Underwood bill.

LETTERS ON SUGAR DEAL ADMITTED

Government Wins Important Point in Trial at New York.

New York, March 22.—The famous "Cousin David" letters that passed between Washington B. Thomas, head of the "sugar trust," and his cousin, David S. Stetson, containing confidential information gained by Stetson from Adolph Segal about the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, have become part of the record in the trial of Thomas, John E. Parsons and other officials of the American Sugar Refining company for alleged violation of the Sherman law.

Judge Hand's decision to admit the letters, originally made public at the congressional sugar investigation, which counsel for the defense endeavored to keep out, was hailed as a point for the government in support of its contention that the "trust" conspired to close its rivals' plants.

The letters were introduced after Attorney Samuel Untermeyer had told how the "trust" refused to allow the Pennsylvania plant to run until Segal paid Gustave Kissel's $1,250,000 loan of what is alleged to have been the "trust's" money to him; how the plant went into the hands of a receiver, and how the "trust" had compromised for $2,000,000 a suit for damages brought by the company's minority stockholders.

GREEK PRIEST KILLED; CANADIAN IS ARRESTED.

Melville, Sask., March 22.—The body of a man found cut to pieces on the Grand Trunk Pacific tracks near here was identified today as that of Rev. Joseph Czerkowsky, priest of the Greek Catholic church. J. A. Uzischuk, a farmer near Goodeve, was arrested charged with having murdered the priest and placed the corpse on the track.

STEAMER CONESTOGA IS SAFE IN PORT.

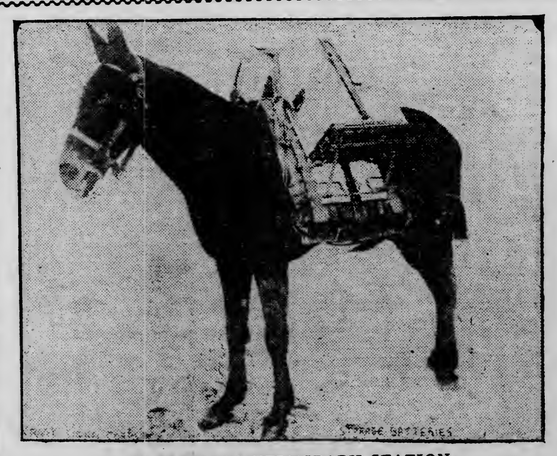
Milwaukee, Wis., March 22.—The steamer Conestoga of the Crosby Transportation company, which was driven upon the beach about 1,000 feet off Donges bay when carried off its course Wednesday night, was released late last evening and arrived in port at midnight. The boat is but little damaged.

Three tugs did their best to release the stranded steamer in the afternoon, but being unable to do so, secured a scow to lighter the cargo.

Boundary Conference April 16.

St. Paul, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A conference of the Minnesota commission appointed at the last session of the legislature to arbitrate with a similar commission from Wisconsin the boundary line dispute in the St. Louis river, will be held in Minneapolis April 15. On April 16, the two commissions will get together.

WIRELESS IN MOST CONDENSED FORM



SIGNAL CORPS TELEGRAPH STATION.

The United States army signal corps perfected some time ago a field equipment of wireless telegraphy which could be carried on the backs of mules. ON DIRECT PRIMARIES cussion of presidential nominees is futile. Just at present I prefer to let it pass, feeling sure that the press agents will supply the country and the newspapers with more than they can digest.

Making People Think.

But there are by-products to the fight for the nominations that are worth considering now. As for example the emphasis that is being laid upon the need for direct presidential primaries. The daily challenges of Senator Dixon to Congressman McKinley for a nation-wide presidential primary are futile enough so far as any effect upon the contest now progressing is concerned, but they are making the public think. Probably this will be the last presidential year in which a majority of the delegates to either or both conventions will be chosen by the old methods. Probably, too, it will be the last year in which the unit rule and the two-thirds rule will continue in the Democratic national convention.

How great the final advantage of these inevitable changes in political methods will be is yet to be determined. Direct primary nominations sounds well as a phrase. It seems to be putting the selection of candidates more closely up to the people. But in certain states I know, California for example, it has had the effect of driving out of public life men who could not afford the expense of two state wide campaigns—one for the nomination and a second for the election. It will doubtless work out better in overwhelmingly partisan states like—for example—the Carolinas and the Dakotas. There a nomination is equivalent to an election, and the expense of the primary fight is final. And, of course, in all states the selection of delegates to first of the party conventions by direct primaries cannot be criticized and will probably be adopted by all of the states within a few years—but too late to help Mr. Roosevelt.

Ballots Fourteen Feet Long.

Apropos of reforms in electoral methods that sometimes go wrong, nearly everybody can recall the time when we were all shouting for the Australian ballot. We got it. Now it has developed to such an extent that the official ballot in certain New York city districts next month will be fourteen feet long. As a result the cry is now for "the little ballot" which may take us back to the days of "vest pocket voting." All of which may be taken as a suggestion that change is not always either reform or progress.

President Taft shows true courage in his utterances about the direct primary system. It is easy enough to sneer at his attitude of doubt bordering on hostility, and to assert that he antagonizes the system because direct primaries would assure the election of Roosevelt delegates in several states which the federal machine will turn over to Taft. The latter statement is the merest assumption. Nothing thus far in the reception of the colonel's candidacy has indicated any wild outpouring of popular enthusiasm in his behalf. La Follette has swept the primaries in North Dakota, but the result there must be construed with knowledge of the conditions existing in that state.

It is an absolutely anti-Taft state because the farmers believe that his reciprocity plan would be hurtful to them. They cannot argue that proposition successfully, but in a broad and general way they believe that the Taft policy has been disadvantageous.

Bryan Democrats Help La Follette.

When La Follette began his fight there he had the enormous advantage of the Bryan following. Everybody knows that in Wisconsin the dominating force which has kept La Follette in the senate has been Bryanitic. Wisconsin enjoys the blessing of direct primaries and the Bryan Democrats have for some time past voted for the La Follette program. This was good plain political sense on their part, for there was no chance in that state to elect a straight out Democratic candidate. So they took a near-Democrat and have never complained of the result.

In every state west of Ohio and Illinois we will find the Democrats voting in the primaries with the man who gives the greatest promise of splitting the Republican party in twain. Consequently it is La Follette in North Dakota. In California they may swing to Roosevelt as against Taft. But the end of it all will go to show that the primaries will not be the court of last resort, and that finally the two conventions will pass upon the nominees, with less domination from state conventions than since 1896.

FOUR MURDERERS GO TO PRISON AT JOLIET.

Chicago, March 22. — The four convicted slayers of Mrs. Hattie Kaufman, George Rabenau, John Stacey, Frederick Boneham and William R. Channell, were taken to the state prison at Joliet yesterday. Rabenau was sentenced to life imprisonment and the other three men to twenty-five years each.

SOUTH SENDS VEGETABLES

Products of Southern Gardens Are Arriving on the Local Market.

Potatoes Go Still Higher—Poultry and Meats Are Up in Price.

Garden vegetables are beginning to arrive from the South in somewhat larger quantities and there are more varieties of them. They are behind time, because spring has been backward, in the South as well as in the North.

California cauliflower, which was selling at $5 per crate, has dropped to $3.75. Endive has declined from $6.50 to $5.50 per barrel.

California asparagus has just come. It is bringing $5 a case. This is a very high price but it will soon cheapen.

New potatoes from Florida have just been received. These are ruling at $3.50 per bushel hamper.

Spinach is here from Louisiana. It is bringing 85 cents per dozen bunches. This is not high for this time of the year.

Pieplant is arriving from California. Heretofore the only pieplant for sale on the Duluth market this year has been the hot house product from Illinois. The price of the California is $2 for a 40-pound box. This is somewhat cheaper than the hot house rhubarb.

Strawberries are coming from California in larger volume than at any previous time this year. The wholesale price is 65 cents a quart.

All of these Southern garden products are luxuries, which are served only on the tables of the very well-to-do. People of moderate means must go without them until the season is much farther advanced.

A remarkable feature of the Duluth produce market is the very high price of last fall's potatoes. The Southern demand is tremendous, for the last crop of Southern potatoes was very short. Southern farmers are buying large quantities of them for seeding. A week ago the price was $1.10 a bushel at wholesale, and that was considered very high, but now the price runs from $1.15 to $1.25 a bushel.

There has been a largely increased demand for horse-radish root during the last few days, but the price has not gone up. The demand is due to the fact that the Hebrew people are soon to celebrate the Feast of the Passover and in this they always use considerable quantities of horse radish. The vegetable is eaten at this time by reason of its bitterness, emblematic of the bitterness of the experience of the children of Israel under the yoke of the Pharaohs of Egypt.

Eggs are a little higher than they were a week ago. The cold weather has caused some decrease in the production of eggs, and the bad country roads have prevented farmers from hauling them to market.

Cheese is considerably higher than it was a week ago, the increase on most makes being about a cent and a half a pound. There is quite a shortage of cheese. The trade is beginning to realize that the supply is running quite low. Most of the cheese making done in this country occurs late in May and in June and July, when cream is cheapest and most plentiful.

Butter is a little higher than it was a week ago. It appears that there are not very abundant supplies on the Eastern markets, and prices there have been ruling very strong, imparting their strength to prices of butter in all parts of the country.

Poultry is quite strong and prices are generally a little higher than they were a week ago. There is still plenty of frozen stock in storage for the trade, but scarcely any fowls are being brought in from the farms. About the first of the year the farmers had marketed about all the chickens they cared to sell. The hens are in the midst of the laying season now and farmers do not like to sell them. In May or June, when the laying becomes much slower, large numbers of hens will undoubtedly be brought to market.

Pork, mutton, lamb and other meats have gone up in price two to three cents a pound. This is because southern farmers have not been bringing their animals to the markets. There have been some spells of bad weather south of Chicago, and shipments of sheep and hogs have fallen off on that account. Moreover, southern farmers have been busy with their spring farm work and have not had the time that they did have to market their animals. The meat supply from a large part of the country being curtailed, the prices all over the country have risen.

won't bring success unless systematically directed and accompanied by sane thinking.

Calm, clear brain-work—the kind that not only sees but comprehends; not only plans but executes — that's what wins "first prizes."

Brains work best only when properly fed.

Grape-Nuts

made of whole wheat and barley, contains also the phosphate of potash (grown in the grains) used by Nature in rebuilding brain and nerve cells used up by everyday work—and worry.

Stop worrying, eat Grape-Nuts regularly and the hustle comes naturally and it is followed with successful work.

TUBERCULOSIS SUNDAY IS POSTPONED UNTIL AUTUMN

Tuberculosis Sunday Will Not Be Observed on April 28.

Announcement is made by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis that the date for tuberculosis Sunday, originally planned for April 28, has been postponed until some time in the fall, owing to the selection of that date by the Men and Religion Forward Movement for conservation Sunday.

The Minnesota Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis has just issued its report for 1911. Among other interesting figures about the campaign in this state, it is mentioned that not less than 5,000 news items and articles on tuberculosis have appeared in the state press in the past four years.

The state association is planning a state-wide membership campaign at this time, the aim being to add 2,500 new $1 members. The coming year will be one of especial activity for the association in view of the urgent need for creating sufficient sentiment to pass a state appropriation bill next winter in aid of county tuberculosis hospitals and the state association will give most of its attention to this legislative publicity campaign from now on until the legislature convenes. It will be the object of this campaign to inform every legislator, county official and voter as to why state aided tuberculosis hospitals are needed. A number of the members of the last legislature have already come out with pledges to support such legislation. The tuberculosis commission appointed by the governor last summer to draft such legislation will soon make a report, embodying proposed bills, copies of which will be scattered broadcast over the state by the state association.

CONVICT KILLS GUARD; IS LYNCHED BY MOB.

Cochran, Ga., March 22.—A negro convict, Homer Howell, was lynched yesterday afternoon after he had killed Guard Joseph Coody and attempted to shoot down two other guards in the convict camp a mile from here.

Bush killed Coody with a shovel, and seizing the revolver from the dead guard, opened fire on the two other guards. Neither was injured and both returned the fire. Bush fell to the ground wounded. None of the other convicts attempted to escape.

Bush, guarded by deputy sheriffs, was being taken to Hawkinsville, ten miles from here, when a mob of fifty armed men took the prisoner. The negro was quickly strung up to a telephone pole and his body riddled with bullets.

SAYS HE MAILED INFERNAL MACHINE

Friend of Brandt Admits Making Attack on Judge Rosalsky.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 22.—Jim Newsom, arrested here as a vagrant this afternoon, told Chief of Detectives Crawford that he sent the infernal machine to Judge of General Sessions Rosalsky of New York that came so near ending the jurist's life.

The police are inclined to attach some credence to his story because he confessed to having robbed several homes here. Search of places where Newsom said loot would be found has resulted in recovery of some of the stolen goods.

Newsom says he is a great friend of Folke E Brandt, whom Judge Rosalsky sentenced to thirty years in a New York prison and whose case recently has attracted attention. He says the package containing the infernal machine was handed to him by a person whose identity he refuses to divulge, and that it already was addressed when he received it. He says he mailed it from Brunswick, Ga. Newsom also is known by the name of Fred Price.

TESTS SUSPECTED BOMB BY BLOW WITH HAMMER.

Chicago, March 22.—Bryce Millar, engineer on a city fire tug, struck a bomb with a sledge hammer to determine whether it contained explosives. Physicians say Millar and two companions, Henry Newbert and Maurice Murphy, will be out of the hospital in about a week. Terrence Kelly, a fireman, was able to go home after being treated by a physician. Millar found the bomb on a cake of ice in the river.

STAR WITNESS IN OPIUM CASE OWNER OF DRUG?

Seattle, Wash., March 22.—The prosecution was startled in the trial of Dennis Gallagher, accused of opium smuggling, when the government's principal witness, Harry Avis, porter of the hotel in which $1,500 worth of opium alleged to have belonged to Gallagher, was seized, was accused by the defense of being the owner of the opium. Gallagher formerly was a fireman on the Oriental liner Minnesota. Two valises full of opium, said to be his, were seized on information given by Avis.

The Doctor's Advice
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Elwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Kit" writes: "I am far below normal weight. I suffer with headaches and am nervous to the point of exhaustion. If you can tell me something to help me I shall be very grateful."

Answer: I can prescribe nothing so effective as a thorough course of three grain hypo-nuciane tablets. These tablets will aid in extracting the nutrition from the food which will increase the red blood supply, overcome nervousness and you will become plump and healthy. This treatment should be continued for several months, as it takes time to change the tissues and cells of the body.

"Sarah" says: "Can anything be done for one who is bothered with rheumatism. If so, please reply."

Answer: You can be entirely cured of your rheumatism if you take the following: Mix by shaking well and take a teaspoonful at meal times and at bed time and you will soon be cured. Comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs.; wine of colchicum, one half oz.; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; iodide of potassium, 2 drams.

"Ray" writes: "Can a sufferer from bronchial trouble be relieved? Doctors do not seem to help me, what would you suggest?"

Answer: To cure chronic cold, sore throat and bronchitis, I would advise the use of concentrated essence of mentho-laxene. Purchase this at any drug store in 2½ oz. packages and mix according to directions given on bottle and you will very shortly be cured of all bronchial trouble. This will not only relieve, but will cure, and is very pleasant to take.

"Hulda" says: "I cannot eat without great distress after eating. I am sleepless and restless, nervous and irritable. Can you tell me anything that would cure me."

Answer: Your trouble is all due to your stomach, which causes the nervous, restless feeling. Take tablets triopeptine and you will soon be cured of all this trouble. These are packed in sealed cartons and pink, whit and blue tablets to be taken after meals. Take the pink tablet after breakfast, white after dinner and blue after supper. If this is continued the curative agencies will soon restore natural digestion.

"Miss M." writes: "I suffer greatly with my nerves, am almost on the point of nervous prostration, I cannot sleep and am hysterical at times. Can you help me?"

Answer: Many women, old and young, who have suffered as you do, have been cured by using the following tonic restorative treatment: Get from your druggist 1 oz. tincture cadomene (not cardamon) and 5 ozs. syrup of hypophosphites comp., mix, and take a teaspoonful before each meal. Always shake well before taking.

"Mary" writes: "In the last year I have been gaining weight so rapidly that I am uncomfortable and frequently embarrassed by slighting remarks. Diet does no good whatever. What shall I do?"

Answer: You can very easily reduce your weight by using the following: Aromatic elixir, 5 ozs., glycol arbolene, 1 oz. Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful after meals for three days, then double the dose and take for several weeks. This is harmless and I have had many people write that they lost a pound a day after the first week or so.

"Carpenter" writes: "My liver and kidneys are in a bad condition. I have dizzy spells and dark spots before my eyes. Also have twinges of rheumatism. Can I be helped?

Answer: To cure kidney and liver trouble use three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). These are packed in sealed tubes with full directions for taking. They act pleasantly and tone up the bowels and liver and purify the blood. They are convenient, effective and highly curative.

"Maud" writes: "I have suffered a great deal with catarrh. It gives me headaches, affects my eyes and my breath is awful. Can you prescribe something to cure it. Only my nostrils and throat are affected."

Answer: I have prescribed antiseptic veline powder and grateful letters from hundreds indicate that it is speedily curative, but must be used occasionally to prevent a recurrence. Get a two ounce original package of vilane powder; use a half teaspoonful to a pint of warm water. From the palm of the hand snuff the water through the nostrils until thoroughly cleansed, two or three times daily. Mix a level teaspoonful of vilane powder with an ounce of lard or vaseline and apply well up into the nostrils twice daily and your catarrh should soon be cured.

"Onda" writes: "I am troubled with itching scalp, dandruff and my hair is falling out. It is harsh and brittle."

Answer: Plain Yellow Minyol is the best remedy for itching scalp, falling hair and dandruff that I know of. It can be bought in 4 oz. jars and if used according to directions will cure all diseases of the hair and scalp. If the hair is harsh and brittle and you are bothered with those straggling locks, the use of minyol will restore that soft, fluffy appearance and bring back the intense natural color.

NOT TRYING TO SELL PROPERTY

Rumor of Consolidation of Episcopal Churches Is Denied.

Rumors that the trustees of Trinity pro-cathedral were considering a plan to sell the church property to the Duluth diocese of the Catholic church, were denied today by Bishop McGolrick.

It was reported that the two Episcopal churches were talking of combining. The new St. Paul's church is now being erected at Seventeenth avenue east and Superior street, just three blocks from the Trinity property at Twentieth avenue east and Superior street. The Trinity pro-cathedral is without a permanent pastor, Dr. Thomas McLean being temporarily in charge. He has been there since the departure of Rev. Arthur H. Wurtele.

These facts probably led to the report, but apparently it is not well founded.

"We hope ultimately to have a church in the East end," said Bishop McGolrick this morning, "but there are no plans for the immediate future. I know nothing of any such negotiations."

Bishop Morrison of the Episcopal diocese is out of the city and could not be reached this morning.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Travel Festival.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

The noted Norwegian writer and journalist, J. Jansen Fuhr from Christiana, Norway, will be at the Lyceum theater, tonight, Saturday and Sunday, March 22, 23 and 24 and give by way of moving pictures a trip through Norway, Sweden and Denmark as it is today. He has 13,000 feet film of recent manufacture and will show these famous countries fully up to date.

A trip to Norway, Sweden and Denmark visited by ex-president Roosevelt will also be seen. The program follows Friday, March 22, Norway lecture in Scandinavian language; Sunday, March 24 at 3 o'clock, Norway lecture in English language; Saturday, March 23, Sweden and Denmark lecture in Scandinavian language; Sunday, March 24, 8 p. m., Sweden and Denmark lecture in English language.

J. Jansen Fuhr comes here well recommended and his famous moving pictures which are absolutely new are highly praised wherever he goes.

Next week Duluth audiences will witness the latest work of Graham Moffatt, the famous Scotch playwright whose play, "Bunty Pulls The Strings" is the sensation of the present theatrical season. Following the success of his comedy, Mr. Moffatt was induced to write for vaudeville, and "The Concealed Bed" which will be the headline act on next week's Orpheum bill is the result.

Mr. Moffatt came to this country with a company of Scotch players selected for the purpose of presenting this playlet. The first performance was given last Sunday in St. Paul, and it scored one of the biggest hits any playlet ever seen on the Orpheum circuit. Mr. Moffatt remained in the Twin Cities several days, to witness the first few performances, and has returned to New York confident that the production will be successful.

"The Concealed Bed" is a playlet of Scotch life, and the plot is based upon the method of concealing a bed in a flat, which is adopted in Scotch apartment houses. Around this he has built a little Scotch wit and humor as "Bunty Pulls The Strings." The play and the playlet are the only two samples of the work of Mr. Moffatt being presented in America at the present time, but he is now arranging to offer a new play next fall, in which he will play one of the leading roles.

Three more performances of this week's bill will be given, tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. It is proving one of the most popular bills the Orpheum has had in weeks.

Commencing with Sunday's matinee, the patrons of the Empress will be offered another bill of vaudeville of exceptional merit. This bill has been breaking attendance records all over the Sullivan & Considine circuit and it is expected to meet with the same success during it's engagement in this city. Heading the bill are The Four Prevosts in their whirlwind acrobatic oddity, "Fun in a Turkish Bath." This is said to be one of the best laugh getting acrobatic acts in vaudeville. There is not a dull moment during the entire act and the members of the aggregations take some comedy falls which are said to be hair-raisers. The Capital City Quartet, dispensers of harmony, are expected to become great favorites during their coming engagement at the Empress. Not only are these boys excellent singers but they are comedians as well and during the course of their turn, they will offer little bits of comedy which are said to add greatly to the pleasing effect of this attraction. As a special sensational attraction, the booking agents of the circuit have secured Samoya, the Barcelonean wonder, who will present his death-defying cloud swing. This attraction is claimed to be one of the most sensational and thrilling acts before the public and nothing quite so nerve tingling has ever been presented in Duluth, even with the largest circuses. Major and McCarthy will present the comedy hit, "On Account of a Count." This playlet is said to be a great laugh getter and in the hands of Major & McCarthy, it should prove entertaining. George Lavender, singing and talking comedian, completes the list of atractions for next week.

TOM TAGGART ON COMMITTEE AGAIN

Declines Twice, But Accepts When Third Ballot Is Unanimous.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 22.—Thomas Taggart was re-elected Democratic national committeeman for Indiana. He announced his withdrawal from active politics and twice refused the honor, but accepted after a unanimous third ballot.

In adopting the report of the committee on organization, the state convention chose as delegates at large to the national convention, United States Senators John W. Kern and Benjamin F. Shively, Thomas Taggart and C. V. Menzies.

The platform adopted, in its leading plank denounces the "protective tariff system as inflicted on the country by the Payne-Aldrich act, which has, through the artificial prices it fosters, carried deprivation into millions of homes, and tended to produce conditions of unmerited opulence and undeserved poverty."

To correct tariff abuses, "application is demanded of the principle that custom house taxation shall be limited to the actual necessities of the government."

The action of the house of representatives in passing the Sherwood pension bill is indorsed.

The administration of Governor Marshall is praised and the Indiana Democrats to the national convention are instructed "to present his name to that body as the first and only choice of the Democracy of Indiana for the nomination of president."

PREPARE MOVE TO SAVE RICHESON FROM CHAIR.

Boston, Mass., March 22. — Efforts to save Clarence V. T. Richeson, the confessed murderer of Avis Linnell, from death in the electric chair, began when his counsel, William A. Morse, conferred with Governor Foss. The date set for the execution is May 19.

While Attorney Morse did not present a formal petition for commutation of sentence, he assured himself that such a petition would be received by the governor, and that it would probably be submitted to the pardon committee of the executive council for action. It is optional with the governor whether he shall submit such a petition.

Mr. Morse said that no petition for commutation would be sent to the governor for two weeks at least, and he further intimated that the matter would not be pressed until the date of the execution was less than a month away. Richeson's friends hope to obtain a life sentence for him.

CONTRACT GOES TO LOCAL MAN

George H. Lounsberry Will Erect New Telephone Building.

Contractor George Lounsberry was yesterday awarded the contract for the superstructure of the new three-story building to be erected by the Duluth Telephone company on First street between Third and Fourth avenues west. His bid was $44,800. Other bidders were: Marsh, Duluth, $45,000; McLeod & Smith, Duluth, $45,287; Skoglund, St. Paul, $48,800.

The foundation for the new building is being laid by Hoy & Elsey. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy about Sept. 1.

Washburn Near Wreck.

Washburn, Wis., March 22.—Several of the brakemen on an extra train running into this city late Wednesday afternoon narrowly escaped injury when the extra backed into a switch engine which was standing on the track. The men jumped just before the crash came, one being slightly hurt in falling upon the ice. The caboose and two cars were entirely demolished, and the switch engine was damaged.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Senate Changes Army Bill.

Washington, March 22.—The senate has frowned on the proposal to abolish about twenty-five army posts declared by the war department to be of no use, and when it reports the army appropriation bill, that and other provisions will be stricken out. The house proposition to cut the cavalry down to ten regiments, make all enlistments five years, and consolidate several bureaus in the war department, will be reported adversely. The senate military affairs committee added $275,000 for equipment of coast artillery companies.

To Amend Patent Laws.

Two bills amending patent laws and intended to meet the "legalized monopoly" decision of the supreme court, were introduced by Representative Hanna of North Dakota, Republican. They were referred to the patent committee.

Taft Takes Up Cadets' Case.

President Taft has promised four senators—Martin of Virginia, Bacon of Georgia, Fletcher of Florida and Du Pont of Delaware—to look into the cases of five cadets recently dismissed from West Point for drunkenness. The president once before refused to interfere in these cases, but now says he will examine the papers. He made it plain that he would hesitate to sign a bill reinstating them in the military academy.

Women's Bill Passed.

A bill protecting married women in rights acquired to public lands before marriage, passed the senate. The measure was championed by Senator Jones of Washington.

National Park in Oregon.

A bill creating a national park in Oregon, to be known as Saddle Mountain park, passed the senate. The measure has the approval of the department of the interior, but it has not passed the house.

Compensation on Rural Routes.

In a special recommendation to congress, Postmaster General Hitchcock urges immediate extension to rural letter carriers who may be injured in the line of duty the same privileges and compensation as now is provided by law for injured railway mail clerks.

Gen. Brush to Drop Work.

Brig. Gen. Daniel H. Brush, U. S. A., who now commands the Department of California, will be relieved on April 13. The change is made upon his own request, as he retires on account of age on May 9. No successor has been selected for Gen. Brush, who is a native of Illinois and a veteran of the Civil, Indian, Spanish and Philippine wars.

WE ARE VERY APPRECIATIVE OF THE KIND WORDS THAT HAVE COME TO US FROM FAR AND NEAR IN OUR DECISION TO CONTINUE IN THE JEWELRY BUSINESS IN DULUTH.

We had little idea of the wide interest taken in our affairs, and it's certainly pleasing to know that we have won the good will of so many people. Yesterday a well known Duluth lady told us it was the best news of the year, and she has spent hundreds of dollars with us in the last few years. Another lady, writing from Cloquet, expressed her pleasure that our jewelry store was to continue.

It was to be expected some one would be disappointed and it turns out to be one or two of our competitors.

They probably had selfish reasons to wish we would retire.

We were only going out of the retail business so that we could give our entire time to the developing of our wholesale, manufacturing and jobbing departments. We have no desire to leave Duluth, as we consider it the best city in America, and our efforts towards selling our store were made with a gentleman whom we thought would continue it with the same high standard as it enjoys today. We are pleased now that the deal was not closed and our every effort from now on will be to give Duluth the best jewelry and art store in all America.

SPEAK IT SOFTLY!

We trust the press of Minnesota will be merciful and considerate, and not announce too abruptly or too loudly the news that the governor of Wisconsin has called an extra session of the Wisconsin legislature.

So many governors are calling extra sessions for no better reason than that they are needed—an abominable practice based on an utterly unworthy reason—that it must be getting on the nerves of Fortunatus Eberhart, Ed Smith's Man of Destiny.

Besides, it might disturb his rapt and reverential contemplation of the daily renewed beauties and ever blazing glories of those all-pervading heavenly twins of omnipotent reform, those balms for every social hurt and panaceas for every social ill—Conservation of Resources and Consolidation of Rural Schools—Conservation and Consolidation—"Con" and "Con" for short.

And what a pity that would be!

President Madero telegraphed to Washington asking if it was true that there is a revolution in Virginia. Francisco evidently is some joker.

THE DANCE HALL ORDINANCE.

Pending before the council is a proposed ordinance rigidly regulating the conduct of public dance halls.

Though perhaps a necessary thing because people who do not "go in society," and who are not able to dance in their homes, must have places of amusement, the unregulated public dance hall, here and everywhere, is a mischievous institution full of potential harm to young people. The character of these perils is so plain that it needs no description.

The proper thing for a community to do is to permit public dance halls, but to surround them with every possible safeguard against corruption of youthful morals.

If an ordinance intended to serve this purpose is to err, it should err on the side of rigidity—never on the side of laxity.

An amendment is proposed to this ordinance which permits saloons to be located in the same building in which public dances are held. The adoption of that amendment would be the defeat of the spirit and purpose of the whole ordinance. That ought to be clear to everybody, because putting a dance hall over a saloon is inviting the worst of the perils the ordinance is intended to safeguard against.

The ordinance as it stands is not unreasonable, and the public opinion of the community ought to support it just as it stands. Therefore the public opinion of the community ought to be against the proposed amendment.

And The Herald hasn't the slightest doubt that it is very strongly against it.

Apparently it's about as hard to find a Taft voter in North Dakota as it is to get a Taft speaker for Duluth.

THE CHURCH AND THE CITY.

One interesting outcome of the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign in Duluth, announced yesterday, will be an inter-church committee, composed of six delegates from each church organization, to co-operate in community affairs.

The committee will have an executive committee which will consult with the mayor and the public welfare committee, offering its aid and support in worthy measures for the public good.

This will put back of the public welfare movement a body of strong and representative citizens who will bring to it a religious impulse and a public-spirited support that cannot fail to be of great value.

Col. Watterson has broken out again. Another thing that Governor Wilson has to be thankful for is that he is being opposed by William Alsorandolph Hearst.

WOULD THEY FIGHT? THEY WOULD.

Arthur Capper's Topeka Capital raises an interesting point. Suppose, it says, that the convention which framed the Federal Constitution had put the power of electing the president into the hands of congress, as it voted at one time to do. Suppose it were now proposed, by La Follette, Wilson or Roosevelt, that the power of electing the president be turned over to the people.

"Is there any doubt," asks the Capital, "that many sincere and highminded citizens constitutionally distrustful of the 'passions' of the 'mob' and the 'ill-informed' character of the people, would today be out stumping the country against so dangerous a departure from those constitutional 'restraints' which the people had so wisely placed against their own irresponsible and neurotic character?"

There isn't a particle of doubt about it. President Taft would be horrified, shocked and dismayed at this revolutionary proposal. Senator Lodge would have been indignant and turgidly patriotic—as he is now about the proposal to supplement representative government with closer popular control that will make government really representative. The whole Taft organization would be out actively fighting the proposed change, and abusing Wilson, La Follette and Roosevelt as anarchists and Socialists because they favored it.

It is well that the Tories have rallied to the defense of the Constitution. Their defense has led to an earnest inquiry into the spirit in which the Constitution was framed, and this has shown conclusively, as Dr. Weyl put it in his book "The New Democracy," that "the Constitution is not democratic. It was, in intention, and is, in essence, undemocratic. It was conceived in violent distrust of the common people, and was dedicated to the principle that the 'minority of the opulent' must be protected from American sans-culottes."

How true this is anybody may understand from a reading of Madison's faithful report of the proceedings of the constitutional convention. During all its deliberations there was but a single voice and vote in favor of the popular election of the president, and Gouverneur Morris raised that voice and cast that vote.

Franklin didn't believe the people could be trusted to elect a president. Hamilton, whose brilliant genius had as much to do with making the Constitution as any other man, frankly wanted a king, but was willing to compromise on a president elected for life by electors, and with an absolute veto over legislation. Many agreed with him. Hamilton also wanted the senate selected in the same way, and he greatly admired the British house of lords as a bulwark of property interests, though the people of Britain have just destroyed it. Morris was alone in trusting the people.

First the convention had it that congress should elect the president for seven years. Then the president was to be chosen by a college of electors, and if the college cast no majority, the senate was to elect. The final solution was the college of electors, the house to elect if the college failed.

The spirit of the time is shown in Colonel Mason's reply to Morris's proposal that the people elect the president: "It would be as unnatural to refer the choice of a proper character for chief magistrate to the people as it would to refer a trial of colors to a blind man." And that belief prevailed.

The Constitution tied the presidency up safely out of the reach of the people by the device of the electoral college. Yet today the people elect the president directly, and the electoral college is an empty form.

But suppose the convention had adhered to its first idea, and left the election of the president to congress, and suppose it were now proposed to turn it over to the people. The same spirit shown in Mason's reply to Morris, or the survival of it, would be animating a vigorous fight against this revolutionary proposal, and about the same people who oppose direct primaries, direct legislation and direct control of elected officials would be engaged in it.

And President Taft would be its chief spokesman.

One of those Chinese bandits says that if he can't whip the government he will open fire on the foreign quarters of Canton. There may be surer ways to start something, but it's hard to imagine what they would be.

COAL, THE LAW AND THE PEOPLE.

Two Minnesota towns have lately attempted a public service quite within their province, and one that promised to do a lot of good.

Two Harbors and Thief River Falls, the former first and the latter afterwards, conceived the idea of establishing municipal coal yards, the purpose being to buy coal at wholesale prices and sell it to the citizens at cost.

With coal at its present high price, the governments of these two communities thought they saw a chance to lessen in some degree the burden of the cost of living.

Two Harbors got a little coal, and then the dealer it had bought of refused to sell it any more. It turned to other dealers, and found that they wouldn't sell the city any coal, either. Thief River Falls hasn't been able to buy any coal at all.

So a resolution has been introduced in congress providing for an investigation, the purpose of which will be to find out why a city that wishes to do something practical for its citizens is thus blocked, and to find out if a combination between coal dealers exists of which the law should take notice.

That resolution ought to be adopted, and the investigation ought to be thorough. Coal is a necessity to life. Any conspiracy to exact exorbitant prices for coal, and to prevent any community from proceeding in a business-like way to reduce the cost of coal to its people, is an insufferable thing which the law should throttle promptly.

John Bull has launched a new monster battleship. Let us hope the miners will realize their duty to help support it, and go right back to work at whatever wages their employers condescend to pay them.

WHY NOT DULUTH?

Many cities are organizing garden clubs. Why not Duluth? Why would this not be a good thing for the new public welfare commission to take up when its members are appointed by Mayor McCuen?

The garden club is a very simple thing. First it gets owners of vacant lots to allow their use for gardening purposes. Then it arranges to have the lots cleared, cleaned, plowed and the soil prepared for tilling. Then it parcels garden plots out among people who need them, and who need the products they will yield. Sometimes the club furnishes the seeds, too.

The expense is borne in some places by taxation, in some places by public subscriptions, in others by assessments upon those who participate in the benefits. Usually, however, little of the cost is borne by the beneficiaries, who are usually poor people with little surplus money to spend in this or any other way.

The gain from this plan is large and well distributed. The owner of the lot gains because a lot that is cleaned and cleared and leveled and with growing things on it in orderly arrangement is sightlier and more salable than a lot covered with humps and weeds and holes and tomato cans.

There ought to be no trouble in getting the consent of lot-owners to this use of their property.

The people who are given garden plots to care for gain in cheap food and good exercise—mainly from the cheap and good food which their garden plots will yield.

The community gains by having its poor people given a chance to help themselves that is free from the stigma of charity, and by having unsightly vacant lots made sightly.

The Chicago Garden club plans on taking care of 400 families this year. Each garden measures an eighth of an acre, and is rented for a dollar and a half for the season, though payment is not required from families that are wholly destitute.

This is, of course, a growth from "Potato" Pingree's potato patch plan of caring for the poor. It has worked well wherever it was tried. It would work well in Duluth.

Why not try it here?

The chance that the packers' case will go to the jury on Friday is the most hopeful sign the public has yet seen in the trial.

PLANTING THRIFT.

The Herald's West Duluth columns report that the savings fund of the pupils in the Irving and Ely schools now amounts to about $700 for each school. And other schools in the city are doing about as well.

Thrift is best learned in childhood, and the teachers who have volunteered this useful public service are building well for the generation to come.

Boston society has a new scheme for getting partners at dinner parties. Each woman makes a print of her lips on a card; the men draw the cards and each man seeks the one of whose lips he holds the imprint. More interesting, perhaps, but less Bostonese, to have the prints made on the men's cheeks and let every man pick the partner whose impression pleased him the most.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THISTLES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you kindly tell me, as well as others I know, how to rid one's garden of the Russian thistle, or the Big Prickley thistle with a red flower which boys sometimes chew. I have two big lots for a nice garden, but this thistle is overrunning it and makes it impossible to plow or spade the ground. I would thank you many times if you would kindly publish this in the open court. Respectfully yours,

M. K. SMITH,

West Duluth, March 20.

(This letter has been turned over to The Herald's garden department, and Mr. Smith will find it answered in that department Monday. Anybody else with garden problems is invited to consult this department.—The Editor.)

COURT DECISIONS AND THE PEOPLE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In regard to "Court Decisions and the People" in your issue of March 20, involving the right of the court to declare a law unconstitutional, you say that the recall of decisions would be a simple and effective way of letting the people say what they meant by the language in the Constitution. Now, the Constitution is the fundamental law of the land. If a court finds that a law conflicts with it that court must declare that law unconstitutional and if the people want the law they must change the Constitution. Now to reverse the court's decision by recall does not change the Constitution.

The Constitution and the law are still then as before, and the next time the question comes up the same problem is there to grapple with and you can't force judges not to distinguish between things that are different.

WOODMEN'S RATES AGITATING CLOQUET.

To the Editor of The Herald:

John H. Norton, county attorney of St. Louis county, who is at present making a tour of portions of the state in the employ of the head officers of the Modern Woodmen of America, spoke to a large crowd of the local members of the order here Wednesday night. Mr. Norton was billed to appear here and to explain to the members the action of its delegates to the recent head camp held in Chicago. He brought along with him another gentleman, Mr. Goldblume of Minneapolis, who tortured the members present for more than an hour by spending the time reading the last issue of the official paper of the society which he no doubt spent hours typewriting in order to have it appear as a speech. But as the local members had studied that until they had it memorized, they naturally got a little indignant at the start, and were inclined to interrupt by asking some questions. They were promised a chance, however, to do this if they would only be patient until the gentleman had finished reading his story, but after dodging a couple of important questions, by leading off on some other line that had no bearing upon the question, and making several rank and false statements as to the cost of insurance as compared to the Modern Woodmen as well as of old line companies, the members had become thoroughly disgusted and were glad to have him sit down. Mr. Norton immediately got the floor and while it must be said of him that he prosecuted the insurgent element of the order as vigorously as he would a violator of one of St. Louis county's laws, he was fully as clever in dodging the real issue as was the other gentleman. He made no attempt to defend the action of the head camp delegates, admitting that they might be wrong, as it was only their opinion as against as many other members. But the Buffalo convention was in his opinion the most wonderful head camp in all the history of Woodcraft, but he left the members to figure out where the wonderful part of it came in. They decided, however, that it was because the delegates voted unanimously to adjourn and reconvene again in Chicago in January at an extra cost to the society of nearly $100,000. He expressed his sympathy for the old men whom the new rates would freeze out, but endeavored to console them with the fact that they might remain in the order as social members at a very small cost of $4 or $5 per year. When asked what he had to say concerning the methods used by the head officers to bring about their desired ends, he again sidestepped as upon every other question, and when told by one of the members that his manner of answering questions was not at all satisfactory, and that the member had reasons to doubt the correctness of some of his statements, Mr. Norton answered by saying that he didn't care whether they believed him or not, and that he would not walk across the street to get them to change their beliefs one way or the other, and before the members were aware of what was taking place the two gentlemen had taken their hats and coats and started for the door. They took their departure before any other chance was given to ask any more questions. The local boys are now trying to figure what they got out of their visit, more than a chance to pay a proportionate part of their expenses.

A CLOQUET MEMBER.

Cloquet, Minn., March 21.

Shirking Representatives.

Chicago Tribune: One of the curses of our representative legislative machinery is unnecessary inertia.

Do citizens realize how much energy, time, and money they expend yearly in overcoming this?

Tere are many bills plainly in the public interest which legislators seem to think they have a right to neglect unless committees of citizens, civic associations, or commercial clubs bombard them with petitions, employ lobbyists, make demonstrations at a great expense of time and transportation.

A representative is supposed to have a mind, and he is elected to use it. There are too many spineless individuals who seem to think that the only proper rule is "If you do nothing, you'll make no mistakes."

It is time to correct that theory. Representatives ought to be held to responsibility. If they do not work for good bills they should be made to realize that the account will be settled at election time.

Petitioning, booming, begging, coddling—there has been too much of all that. When a measure is not controversial, but is clearly in the general interest, legislators should not expect private citizens to carry it and their representatives over the legislative road to enactment. They should be taught to move under their own steam.

Hats in Politics.

Newark News: Mr. Wilson wanted to knock Mr. Bryan into a cocked hat.

Mr. Roosevelt's hat is in the ring. Not his Panama one, however.

Mr. Bryan's hat is lying innocently in the middle of the road to Baltimore, filled with bricks.

Mr. Clark's hat is being spoken of by admirers of the picturesque.

Mr. Taft's hat is being spoken through, it seems to us.

Mr. La Follette will eat his hat if he has withdrawn.

Mr. Harmon has a bee in his bonnet.

MINNESOTA AND PRESIDENCY.

Roosevelt's Support.

Princeton Union: Roosevelt is now an announced candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency. He will also have the support of the trimmers, man-pleasers and time-servers, not because they have any love for him or the policies he advocates, but because they believe he is a winner and they want to be on the winning. Unless the Democrats blunder Roosevelt's candidacy means victory for them, nationally, at the polls in November.

Peculiar Position.

Winona Independent: Mr. Roosevelt has put himself in a peculiar position with reference to Taft and La Follette. But for his insistence four years ago Taft would not have been the nominee, and now the same Roosevelt is trying to beat this same Taft for nomination. Only a few days ago at Columbus, Roosevelt virtually endorsed the work of La Follette, and now the very same bundle of inconsistences is trying to beat La Follette for the nomination. It is very, very difficult to account for some of Roosevelt's acts without concluding that he has an overweening desire for personal power.

For Wilson.

Aitkin Independent: Aitkin county Democrats seem to be unanimously for Woodrow Wilson, and cannot understand that other sections of the country do not consider his nomination a foregone conclusion. With Governor Wilson as their candidate they are firm in the belief that he will win by an overwhelming vote of the people. They believe that Taft will be the Republican nominee, but would be pleased to see the nomination go to Col. Roosevelt because they consider him an even easier opponent than Taft would be.

La Follette Courage.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The courage and loyalty of the La Follette supporters calls for unbounded admiration. A week ago the general impression was that he was hopelessly out of the race, and that Roosevelt would inherit the La Follette strength, and yet today the La Follette men are fighting harder than ever. Their nerve is only exceeded by that of the Taft managers, who are invading Wisconsin.

Has Dodged Tariff.

Princeton Union: For seven years Theodore Roosevelt dodged the tariff issue and then turned it over to President Taft, who has handled it in a businesslike way. But Rosevelt still evades the question—in his speeches he ignores it entirely. However, it will make very little difference whether he gives his opinon on this question or not—the people are disgusted with his slippery tactics and his nomination is consequently next to impossible.

And Presidents.

Litchfield Independent: Taft was elevated to the presidential chair four years ago by Roosevelt's endorsement. This year the same man proposes to relegate him to private life by taking the job himself. Times and persons do change.

Presidential Primary.

Buffalo Journal: The Republican state central committee of Minnesota, or several leading members thereof, when asked to endorse the presidential primary, stated there was no way in which it could be done. At that time Taft and La Follette were the only candidates. Then came Senator Cummins of Iowa into the field, and the same members said the primary might be arranged, and they had no objection to it. Now it looks like Taft and Roosevelt only, and the committee members are again in doubt as to the possibility of a presidential primary.

Chaos Reigns.

Cass Lake Times: For several months the old Republican organization has been ailing and now, at the beginning of the 1912 campaign the party is so completely disorganized and depleted that absolute death stares it in the face unless some powerful specific be administered. None have observed these moribund conditions more plainly than the leaders, and none of them but will admit that the G. O. P. is badly divided and sadly in need of some stimulant to bring it again into former life and activity. Taft, under whose leadership the old party has withered for the last three years cannot lead them again to victory and, as we have often predicted, will probably not be a candidate on convention day. The old leaders who have stood in the front ranks of the party for nearly a century are convinced that without the specific administered at once, the old party must give up the ghost. We have no doubt but they are right and that without some vigorous action is taken we shall have an opportunity to join the mourners for the old beast that has led the way to many victories. Roosevelt has become the specific and the country is wild over his return. He may save the party—no one else can.

FOUR VIEWS.

President Taft—"There are those of us who do not believe that all people are fitted for popular government. The fact is, we know they are not. Some of us do not dare say so, but I do."

Senator Penrose—"If the 90,000,000 people of this country were to be called together I do not believe they would be any better able to frame a Constitution than would the inhabitants of the Philippine islands."

Theodore Roosevelt—"With Lincoln, I hold that this country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it. • • Many eminent lawyers believe, and sometimes assert, that the American people are not fitted for popular government and that it is necessary to keep the judiciary independent of the majority or of all the people. I take absolute issue with all who hold such a position. I regard it as a complete negation of our whole system of government. • • • I believe with all my heart that the American people are fit for complete self-government."

Woodrow Wilson—"When I hear a popular vote spoken of as mob government, I feel like telling the man who utters that that he has no right to call himself an American. Do you see anything resembling a mob in that voting population of the country side—men tramping over the mountainside, men going to the general store at the village, men going into little, conversing groups to cast their ballots—is that your notion of a mob, or is that your picture of free, self-governing people? I am not afraid of the judgment so expressed, if you will give men time to think, because the deepest conviction and passion of my heart is that the common people, by which I mean all of us, are to be absolutely trusted."

Thoughts on Winter.

How soft and light the snowflakes are how silently they fall!
Spreading a spotless robe of white around and over all.
And see the merry children sport with Nature's bounteous store—
"A snowball's broke a window, sir,"
says Mary at the door.

How keen and bracing is the air, how crisp the air beneath!
Come out with me and let us walk across the frozen heath.
The wholesome breath of winter soon will health and strength restore—
"D'you know a cure for chilblains, sir?" says Mary at the door.

The languid heat of summer time made every worker groan,
But now to work is pleasant, there's but pity for the drone.
Now cheery greetings pass the lips that oft in August swore—
"The baker's slipped on our back step,"
says Mary at the door.

The winter evenings by the fire—how pleasantly they pass!
With book and pipe, or pipe and friend,
or friend and pipe and glass.
Pile on the fuel, let the flames leap up and blaze and roar—
"Oh, please! the coals is nearly done,"
says Mary at the door.

The cycle of the seasons is a symbol of
A time for warmth and leisure and a time for work and strife.
And when the winter's over we shall love the spring the more—
"Oh, please! the pipes is frozen 'ard!"
says Mary at the door.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

•••The house committee today completed the rivers and harbors bill for the next fiscal year. The appropriations aggregate $20,700,000. Duluth harbor gets $80,000; Grand Marais, $10,000; Two Harbors, $30,000. An appropriation of $2,840,000 is provided for a ship channel twenty-four and a half fet in depth in the connecting waters of the Great Lakes between Chicago, Duluth and Buffalo.

•••Mayor d'Autremont has received a letter from Acting Secretary Soby of the navy department stating that due consideration will be given to the request that one of the new United States cruisers be named Duluth.

•••M. H. Stanford, formerly of Midland, Mich., is in Duluth and will open a law office here.

•••Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Green are entertaining Miss Cochran of Grand Rapids.

•••Senator F. B. Daugherty is in St. Paul and will recommend to Governor Merriam the appointment of J. E. Cooley as a member of the state board of equalization.

•••T. W. Hugo is in Minneapolis looking over the mechanical plant of the street car company of that city. He is engaged as an expert in electrical machinery by Thomas Lowry.

•••The Chapin-Wells Hardware company is now comfortably settled in its new home at the foot of Fifth avenue west, which is built of brick and stone, is 100 fet square, contains six stories and a basement and has 70,000 square fet of floor space. The firm's first bow to the retail and wholesale public was as G. C. Greenwood & Co., and this was succeeded by A. B. Chapin & Co., and in 1889 the hardware department of the Wells-Stone company's business was consolidated with it under the corporate title of Chapin-Wells Hardware company, with a capital of $200,000, which has since been increased to $300,000. The officers are: President, A. B. Chapin; vice president, Benjamin E. Wells; secretary and treasurer, J. G. Macpherson; directors, the above and C. W. Wells and F. C. Stone. The business departments are under the following heads: Manager, Thomas McNaught; credit department, F. W. Parsons; buyer, Eldert Lott; head bookkeeper, C. S. Parsons; price clerk, Brewer Mattocks; chief of shipping department, E. S. Brush; manager of the Duluth retail department, Harry Annis; manager of West Superior branch, C. H. Thornton. There are also five traveling salesmen on the road and there are over sixty regular employes. The value of stock carried is at all times in excess of $250,000.

•••According to the United States signal office, seven inches of snow have fallen during today's storm.

•••D. V. Scott of Thomson was in Duluth today with some fine samples of ore from the outcropping three miles west of Carlton. Harvey Hawkins was also on change and corroborated the tales from that region. The ore is very like that from the best mines of the Mesaba range.

WHERE IN H-L IS NORTHOME?

Claude Atkinson in Northome Record: For the benefit of those who don't know "where in h—l is Northome," we will remark a few lines, to-wit:

In the very first place, Northome isn't in h-ll (the hyphen stands for an e).

No, indeed, it isn't.

It's a long way from Duluth, or Hibbing, either.

It's in God's country—a real country where it is all country, and not a base imitation loaded down with things artificial, unreal and unnatural and unhealthy as well.

The sky, the brightest and the bluest sky, fits down nicely all about Northome equally in all directions, and yet we don't claim to be the center of the universe—we don't claim anything that we can't produce, and there are few things that we can't produce.

Here, in our rural simplicity, we live from the products of the soil direct from the hand of the husbandman, and not out of tin cans and cold storage boxes.

Our fruits, our vegetables and green stuffs come to us direct from the soil, ripened by nature, sweet, juicy, wholesome and good—stuff to eat that has never stood about the front doors, the back doors and upon the floors of the commission houses, to wilt and rot and accumulate filth.

And such vegetables and fruits and green stuffs as we grow here!

The very smell of it is better and more nutritious than the whole of the food stuffs to be gained in the crowded communities where the benighted denizens know not what they are eating, and few of them have the time to investigate.

Our community is a small one and there is no class distinction, for the reason that we are all of the one class—the class of the pioneer who trusts his neighbor and is the happier for it. Ours is a community where doors are not locked o' nights, and where the neighbor's cook stove does not go sailing through the roof before breakfast because he happened to get into the wrong woodpile.

Then there are the grand big woods about us—the woods of maple, birches, oak, ash, bass, pine, spruce, tmararack, balsam, cedar, popple, plum, cherry, willow and sumac—woods that give all of the varied colors of the rainbow and send out the life-prolonging fragrance that is found nowhere else; woods that shelter the deer, moose and bear, the partridge and the rabbit, the veritable paradise of the sportsman; woods that surround the prettiest lakes that supply the gamiest fish that ever gave the nerve-tingling screech to the reel; woods that go to the nature-painting of a picture that is nowhere surpassed in the whole wide world.

Surely, Northome is rather in the flower garden of paradise.

Just think of it! Everything combines to the loveliness of the little hamlet we call our Northome. Here you can stand upon your own threshold anywhere in town and see Christmas trees—not the stunted, scrawny, ashamed-of-themselves kind you city folks know, but the real Christmas tree, with its fullness of long-reaching branches and feathery boughs. Is there anything more joyous than to see the Yuletide symbol all the year 'round?

Can you beat that?

Northome may not be quite so large as some other towns—in fact, we are quite sure it isn't—but it is just as near heaven and, while we are not in a position to verify the statement at this writing, we will give it as our honest opinion that the percentage of Northome people in the land of eternal happiness will show up about as strong as that of any other town, and stronger than some.

Here we live the simple life, teaching a lesson that the bigger town will not learn, because it can't. The simple life and the simple things are of the things that the city-bred folk can't comprehend, and in their ignorance they go through life in the belief that they have all that is worth having, while the stern reality of the matter is that they have nothing the country folk would take as a gift.

Northome is in the wilderness, to be sure, but it is happy, and if there is anything better in this life it has not yet appeared.

Never has anyone come to us, no matter for how short a visit, but that his soul yearns for the peaceful valleys and beautiful hills of the Koochiching.

Come you, lay down your burden of city life, and we will give you the rest and the joy that your tired soul never dreamed of short of that promised land beyond the skies.

Progress and the Constitution.

Kansas City, Star: And attend here, oh, ye historian—postmasters of the Third district! Said Mr. Jefferson in 1789:

"No society can make a perpetual constitution or even a perpetual law. The earth belongs always to the living generation. They may manage it then, and what proceeds from it, as they please during their usufruct. They are masters, too, of their own persons, and consequently may govern them as they please. Both persons and property make the sum of the objects of government. The constitution and laws of their predecessors extinguished then, in their natural course, with those whose will gave them being. This could preserve that being till it ceased to be itself, and no longer. Every constitution, then, and every law naturally expires at the end of nineteen years (the calculated length of a generation). If it be enforced longer it is an act of force and not of right."

Great Scandal's Ghost Reappears.

Los Angeles Tribune: The "discovery" has been made that the sugar trust, which cheated the government out of enormous customs duties by the use of false scales and the bribery of government employes, still owes Uncle Sam $700,000 of the settlement. If the trust doesn't pay up it will get a slap on the wrist. Uncle Sam will sue it in the courts.

In the test suit won by the government, the jury found for the sum of $134,116, the full amount asked. Mr. Stimson, now secretary of war, then prosecutor, told the circuit court later that the government could lawfully demand $65,000,000 from the trust for the cheating of only three years. The trust's counsel conceded it might be called on to pay $9,000,000.

The trust's cheating may have amounted to $30,000,000. It went on for years before detection. The thefts were figured on in issuing $90,000,000 stock on $6,500,000 of property. They paid the dividends. At the request of Senator Root the trust was permitted to settle for $2,000,000. Now it is found to be delinquent a full third of that sum.

When a petty cheat smuggles something in and is caught he is heavily fined and the goods are confiscated. The leniency shown to the sugar trust, the worst big business yet discovered, is one of the greatest scandals in government annals.

Proper Fire-Proof Construction.

F. W. Fitzpatrick in March Life and Health: The first great principle in fire-proof construction is to have nothing inflammable enter into the making of a building. Many materials, such as granite, marble, and other natural stones, generally supposed to be imperishable materials, while in themselves incombustible, are greatly damaged by intense heat and flames. Granite can be utterly destroyed by fire, and so with marble, and sandstone, and limestone, and a hundred other incombustible materials.

Let me give you my idea of a perfectly fire-proof building, which now has become a commonly accepted standard. I would build external walls of brick and terra-cott, the materials that are least damaged by fire. All windows and skylights would be of wire glass. Even some of the most expensive "fire-proof" buildings have their windows absolutely unprotected, just as if fire would refrain from that point of attack to spend its efforts on the solid walls. Nearly half of our fire loss is directly attributable to the lack of proper window protection. This protection can be put upon old buildings as well as new, and thus greatly diminish the fire hazard. The framing would be of steel, and every part of it would be protected by hollow fire-proofing tile. The floors and partitions would be of this same tile. It is light, inexpensive, fire-proof, and easily put in place.

All stairs and elevators would be enclosed with self-closing doors at every story. These great open stairways and elevators, ten, fifteen, twenty stories high, vertical shafts inducing terrific drafts, are wonderful spreaders and conductors of fire. Frequently you will find fire in the attic of a building a very few minutes after it has been discovered in the basement. It has traveled via the easy and rapid route afforded it by the elevator and stairs.

Not only would I close off these two vertical communications, but I would also divide up floor spaces into as small units as possible with fire walls just as frequently as the nature of the business would allow. The smaller each unit of space, the more confined will be any fire that originates there, and the easier it will be to handle it. If you close off each story of a six-story building, you virtually have six separate one-story buildings, and you know that it would be much easier to control fire that occurred in any one of six such buildings on the ground than it would be in a building that was all open six stories up.

Not only would I have frequent partitioned divisions of hollow fire-proofing tile, but in those partitions and throughout the building I would have hollow steel doors and steel-door trimmings. These are absolute shut-offs and stop a fire as effectually as a wall. These doors complete the perfect isolation of each room. To build without them is the most false of economies.

News and Views of Minnesota Politics

The Governor's Campaign.

"I will open no headquarters; I will write no platform; I will make no campaign," said Gov. A. O. Eberhart when he announced his candidacy for a renomination by the Republican party for governor of Minnesota.

The state capitol, in which the governor, Ralph W. Wheelock, Archie Hayes, J. A. O. Preus and other state officials are housed, is headquarters enough for any candidate.

In view of the outcome of the Brainerd promise, a platform written by or for the governor wouldn't count for much with the people.

As for the campaign, the activity of Sam Y. Gordon and William E. Lee will drive the governor out in the open. This morning's mail brought a circular reprinting from the Mankato Free Press a story of the indorsement of the governor by the old home folks. The circular is gotten up in true campaign style and indicates that there is an Eberhart press bureau on the job.

The people of Minnesota are in a mood to take matters political into their own hands this year. Governor Eberhart may depend upon the organization to carry him through, but if he thinks the people are to be ordered around, he has another think coming. If the governor has any positive arguments to advance for his renomination, he had better advance them, and in doing so get close to the people. The chances are it will do no good. Supporters of the governor are few and far between, the Mankato indorsement to the contrary. If the people get out to the caucuses and vote as they please, Governor Eberhart's term will come to an end at midnight, Dec. 31, 1912.

The committee of twelve, otherwise known as the Minnesota Progressive Republican league, is preparing to build on the North Dakota result in the hope of delivering Minnesota to La Follette at the Chicago convention.

A vigorous campaign for La Follette will make matters interesting in this state. Taft has the state, county and local organizations with him. Many sincere admirers of Col. Roosevelt are attempting to arouse the people to the necessity of attending the precinct caucuses and taking the control of the machinery of nomination into their own hands. The function of the La Follette workers will be similar, and unless signs fail, the caucus in many parts of Minnesota will be diverted from its time-honored purpose of perpetuating the power of the organization.

Unless signs fail, the Minnesota delegation to the Chicago convention will be badly split. The Taft and Roosevelt men both claim the delegates-at-large, while the La Follette supporters have slender hopes of controlling the convention that will name that part of the delegation. All districts are considered legitimate fighting ground between Taft and Roosevelt, with La Follette a factor in the Seventh and Ninth districts. Roosevelt is believed to have the best chance of getting the delegations from the First, Second and Third districts. Sydney Anderson is an ardent La Follette man, and his personal organization in the First district will work for the Wisconsin senator. On the other hand, James A. Tawney will make his influence felt on behalf of Taft.

The Fourth and Fifth districts are for Taft from an organization standpoint, but the Roosevelt men believe they have a fighting chance. The Sixth district is strong for Roosevelt, but the La Follette supporters have hope. The Seventh and Ninth districts lie between Lo Follette and Roosevelt, while the Eighth district will be a battle ground between the Taft and Roosevelt forces. Manifestly, Roosevelt has the advantage if the people use their power in caucuses to overthrow the organization.

At a celebration of the La Follette victory in North Dakota, held in Minneapolis last evening, Senator A. J. Gronna was the principal speaker. Addresses were also made by Warren Cushing, editor of the Fargo Courier-News, William E. Lee, State Senator O. A. Lende of Canby and D. L. Grannis of St. Paul.

Senator Gronna will probably take a hand in the Minnesota campaign. He did effective work in North Dakota.

Faulty Reasoning.

The political writer of the Minneapolis Journal professes to believe that the Republican state central committee will adopt the primary plan to be submitted by the Roosevelt men at the meeting of the committee April 2. The plan provides for an expression of the voters at the precinct caucuses. The probabilithy of the committee taking such action is based on the premise that Taft's nomination will be assured by the time the Minnesota primaries are held, and there will be a bandwagon movement to indorse the president.

The reasoning is faulty. Popular sentiment in Minnesota is against Taft. Roosevelt's support may have been damaged by the North Dakota result, but the feeling for La Follette has never been very strong in Minnesota, and the desertion of Roosevelt and assumption of Progressive leadership has consequently not engendered the feeling of enmity so noticeable in North Dakota. Taft's supporters are for Taft in this state, and the vote that went for La Follette on the "anybody but Roosevelt" theory in North Dakota would go to Taft in Minnesota. It is hard for one to see how the Taft men could hope to get anything for the president by putting his name up to the voters in this state. The chances are they will depend on the organization to deliver the delegation to the president.

No Chance for Tawney.

The Winona Independent says:

Most of Minnesota's political writers are bound and determined that James A. Tawney is still itching for a chance to get back his old job representing the First district in congress. They base their conclusions on Mr. Tawney's continued interest in politics, apparently believing that he could not maintain so much enthusiasm if he does not still entertain the hope of "coming back." There may, of course, be some foundation for these deductions, but it appears to the writer of these lines that Mr. Tawney's political judgment should, and probably does, show him that the progressive sentiment in this district is stronger instead of weaker than it was two years ago, and that consequently it would be a waste of effort for him to make a fight for either nomination or election.

THREE ALASKA COAL GROUPS CANCELLED.

Seattle, Wash., March 23.—Alaska coal land locations known as the Mackey, Dunn and Kelly groups, were cancelled yesterday by the land office at Juneau on the ground that the federal statute requiring that application for patent be made within three years of location has not been compiled with.

The Dunn group was located by William L. Dunn and Raymond Brown of Spokane, Wash., who were indicted in 1910 by the federal grand jury at Spokane for alleged fraud in the locations.

Action by the land office upon all other Alaska groups is expected soon.

APPEALS TO KNOX TO MAKE CANADA PAY HIM.

Winnipeg, Man., March 22.—Through United States Vice Consul Jones here, an appeal is being made to Secretary of State Philander C. Knox on account of an American citizen, John Edwards, a land seeker from Denver, Colo., who, it is said, was wrongfully arrested at Saskatoon, Sask., on Nov. 25, 1911, on the charge of receiving stolen goods, by order of Attorney General Turgeon of Saskatchewan. Speedy trial was ordered but Edwards remained more than four months in prison before being brought to trial, when he was promptly acquitted. A demand for compensation is made.

BULLET IN LEG IDENTIFIES MAN

Dead Convict Is William Murphy Who Was Shot Two Decades Ago.

Lincoln, Neb., March 22. — Charles Morley has been charged with murder for his part in the escaping of himself and two other convicts from the Nebraska prison. Morley is not hopeful of the outcome of his case, and intimated he expected the extreme penalty. The bodies of Taylor and Dowd still are in the mortuary room of the prison hospital. The positive identity of Taylor, who has generally gone under the name of "Shorty" Gray, has been learned. An autopsy on the remains revealed a bullet imbedded in his leg, received twenty-two years ago, and went to prove what has been suspected, that Taylor's right name is William Murphy.

For a considerable period about 1890, Murphy was employed by John Fitzgerald, former president of the Irish National League of America. Fitzgerald was a railroad contractor. Murphy's duty was to handle the explosives used in blasting work. He received the wound in the leg in a quarrel with one of the Fitzgerald employes. His identity was established by a man who acted as sub-contractor in railroad work and knew him well.

Governor Aldrich will recommend to the next legislature than an appropriation be made for the family of Roy Blunt, killed during the chase of the convicts Monday.

WOULD PENSION WIDOWS.

Plan to Care for the Children Proposed to Mothers' Congress.

St. Louis, Mo., March 22. — Pensioning of widowed and deserted mothers, rather than the placing of their children in charitable institutions, was urged by Miss Mary S. Garrett, chairman of the department of legislation, in an address before the Mothers' national congress. Miss Garrett, connected with the Probation Association of Philadelphia, spoke in favor of the bill for the establishment of a federal children's bureau. The measure has passed the United States senate.

Miss Garrett recommended that the Mothers' congress work for laws needed for the welfare of children in all states, saying every state should have a juvenile court and probation system. Laws regulating child labor, providing for medical inspection of factories and schools, and further legislation providing educational opportunities was declared necessary. That the nation as a whole is being steadily aroused to its sense of duty to the child was the optimistic statement of the speakers.

Preliminary steps for the admission of Missouri as an organization of more than 1,000 members to the national board of managers, Congress of Mothers, were taken at the business session.

IS WANTED BY RUSSIA

Sven Hedin, the Famous Explorer, Points Out Scandinavia's Menace.

Says the Slavs Desire Great Naval Base on Atlantic.

Helsingfors, March 22.—Dr. Sven Hedin, the famous explorer, has recently published at Stockholm a brochure, entitled "A Word of Warning," which throws valuable light upon Russia's foreign policy in general and upon the Russo-Finnish question in particular. The author pleads for an increase of Sweden's naval and military forces on the ground that Russia intends to attack Sweden and Norway with the object of acquiring a great naval base on the Atlantic, and is Russianizing Finland as a preliminary to that attack.

So long ago as 1876 Gen. Tschernajeff, the prominent Slavophil leader, is reported to have said that sooner or later Russia must procure a harbor on the Atlantic, and that, in order to fulfill this purpose, Finland must be "assimilated." The process of "assimilation" is going on before our eyes today. For a century, as Dr. Hedin points out, Finland served as a buffer state between Russia and Scandinavia, but with the imminent Russianization of the pilot service, the building of strategic railways, the increase of Russian troops in Finland, and a score of other aggressive measures, that state of things is already past history. The passage in which Dr. Hedin points out how close Russia already is to the Atlantic coast of Norway is as follows:

Would Reach the Ocean.

Our history teaches us that we must first and foremost, and always, keep our Eastern frontier clear. • • • Who is to prevent the great continental Power Russia from going her own ways while the other great powers are at war? No one. • • • For 200 years Russia has striven inflexibly to reach the ocean. Is not the Baltic enough for Russia's needs? No, it does not suffice, because Russia's Baltic harbors are closed by ice for a large part of the year. Moreover, they have powerful neighbors with strong fleets, which under certain circumstances might stop Russian shipping and prevent all Russian squadrons from forcing a way out through the narrow entrance to the Baltic. • • • Ever since Peter the Great's time the Russians have sought to penetrate to some coast on the open sea. • • • Never has this aim been pursued more deliberately and energetically than during the last ten years. No one has forgotten the marvellous efforts and fabulous sacrifices in men and money that were made for the sole purpose of penetrating to the coast in the Furthest East and depriving Japan of the control of the trade in the Pacific. But when Togo annihilated the Russian fleet, and the Russian garrison surrendered to the conquerors of Port Arthur, then the eastern way had been closed for the time being. Russia was compelled to give up, or at least to postpone, her plans in the Pacific.

New Line of Advance.

Russia is forcing a new line of advance toward the ocean. This time it is the Indian ocean. Within six years the Russians have changed their front from Japan to Persia. For a moment it has seemed as if England put no obstacles in the way of Russia's advance. We remember that the English government even advised Persia to submit to Russia's ultimatum. This acquiescence of England is only incidental and apparent. The moment Russian troops advance into that part of southern Persia which England of old called her sphere of interest, the signals in London will be altered. For then the British rule in India is threatened.

Where will Russia then direct her glances? • • • Has she not for 200 years pushed toward the Atlantic as deliberately, steadily and surely as toward the Pacific and Indian ocean? Has it been forgotten how Peter the Great fought to push aside all obstacles that kept him excluded from the Baltic • • • and founded the harbor on its coast, which was a prototype of the dreamed-of future harbor on the open sea? • • • That was the first step toward the Atlantic. The second was taken a hundred years ago, when Finland was cut off from us. Thanks to her comparatively free position in relation to her conqueror, Finland has for a century served as a buffer state between us and the true orthodox holy Russia.

Railroads Built for War.

The Finns are forced to build superstructures and bridges strong enough to support the heavy military trains. Lately the Finnish railway net has been directly connected with the Russian by means of the great iron bridge which spans the Neva at Petersburg. Troops can now be thrown at any moment from the heart of Russia straight to Tornea without a single change. (Tornea lies at the north of the Gulf of Bothnia on the frontier between Sweden and Finland.) The Finnish railways are not designed for trade and peaceful development; they are built for war. War with whom? • • • Have not new troops been moved time after time from central Russia to Finland during the last two years and gradually and quietly been pushed further toward the north? Is it not intended to put the Finnish pilot service, which has hitherto been purely Finnish, under Russian officials? Is not the power of the Russian police daily extended throughout Finland? Is not the Russian language being forced upon the Finns with all possible authority? This, too, is a step toward the west. It is not done to torment the Finns, but to wipe out the buffer state an dadvance the Cossack frontier into the midst of our own country. It is only a link in a chain. • • •

What Now Separates?

What is it that now separates Russia from the Atlantic? Look at an atlas and measure it with a compass. From Tornea, the terminus of the Finnish railways, to Lyngen is 258 miles as the crow flies, to Narvik 240 miles. But from the northwest point of the Russian frontier to the Lyngenfjord is only eighteen miles. From Vasa to Umea it is sixty-six miles (half way up the Gulf of Bothnia, on opposite shores), and from Aland to Grisselhamn twenty-four miles. A hundred years ago the Russians showed that a wal kover to Kvarken could be undertaken. (Kvarken is the narrow part of the Gulf of Bothnia between Vasa and Umea. It is often frozen in winter.) And what are these distances to a nation which has thrown the world's longest railway through forests, over wastes and morasses—and to an army accustomed to operate 800 miles from its own country?

TIRED LOOKING WOMEN

How to Avoid Appearing Old Before Your Time.

Some women always wear a worn, tired look. It is the outward sign of nervousness with its accompaniment of worry, headaches and sleeplessness.

It is useless to tell some women to rest. Circumstances will not permit. But it is always possible to build up the strength to meet the strain.

Overwork seldom kills. Worry often does. If you would keep the worn look from your face strengthen your system with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and do not worry. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blessing to women. They preserve the beauty that health alone can give, the youthful brightness of eye, the color in cheeks and lips that come alone from rich, red blood.

Mrs. John Utter, of Puyallup, Wash., says: "I suffered for eight years from all the pains and sickness that women of my age are subject to. I was able to work only part of the time and often could just drag around. Most people would have given up and gone to bed. I was so nervous that I could not get much sleep and was subject to headaches and dizzy spells. My stomach was out of order all of the time and I was troubled with gas forming on it. I would often have smothering spells when I could not raise myself up. I took a great many kinds of medicine but found no relief until I followed a friend's advice and tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They helped me right away. I could sleep better, was not so nervous and became stronger. I used the pills for some time and was entirely cured. Since then I have always had Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house. My husband had a severe case of inflammatory rheumatism which settled in his hands and feet. A few boxes of the pills cured him and he has never had a return of the disease."

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from your druggist today. Do not delay. Begin the treatment now. Write the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., and learn what the pills have accomplished in cases like your own. If you cannot get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills readily near home send fifty cents for one box or $2.50 for a half dozen, by mail, postpaid.

FIVE ARE INDICTED ON CHARGE OF LAND FRAUDS.

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 22.—S. S. Pearistine, secretary of the Cheyenne Industrial club, who is in Charleston, S. C., on his honeymoon; George W. Breemer of Egbert, Wyo., C. W. Barney of Denver, J. Lewis of Kisseemee, Fla., and J. H. Stroub of this city, were indicted yesterday on the charge of attempting to defraud the government out of public lands.

NO REHEARING FOR SHOE MACHINE MEN.

Boston, March 21.—Judge Putnam of the United States district court denied the petition of the five officers of the United Shoe Machinery company for a rehearing on the one count of the indictment charging a monopoly of the shoe machinery trade. This count is the only one of the five sustained by Judge Putnam in an opinion handed down by him on March 2 last. This action of the court means that the next step will be the trial of the case.

A Reasonable Plea For the Stomach

If Your Stomach Is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work?

Especially When It Costs Nothing to Try.

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach? Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives.

London, 9th Aug., 1905

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose), manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., 86 Clerkenwell Road, London, E. C., and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adaptable for the purpose for which they are intended.

(Signed)

John R. Brooke, F. I. C., F. C. S.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, as is shown by the recommendations of 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of the active principle in these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent box, or send to us direct for a free trial sample package and you will be surprised at the result. F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

CASS LAKE HAD SCARE

Creation of New Township Including Cass Lake Raises Novel Point.

Question Whether Pike Bay Assessor Can Assess Village Is Issue.

Cass Lake, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first election of officers in the newly organized township of Pike Bay was held here yesterday and resulted in the almost unanimous selection of the following officers, only a few dissenting votes being cast:

Supervisors, Chris Burns, Peter Bell and H. J. Seeley.
Town clerk, Ole Halverson.
Treasurer, Martin Anderson.
Assessor, Lars Hjelmstad.
Justices of the peace, N. E. Jondahl and Phil Partridge.
Constables, William Curtis and Ben McKinnon.

Raised Novel Question.

The organization of Pike Bay township, which the county commissioners recently authorized and which according to said authorizaties is to include Congressional Township 145, range 31, in which the incorporated village of Cass Lake, is situated, has raised a peculiar question. It became known yesterday that the new organization has many men who believe that the new township, on account of the wording of the petition, to include the entire congressional township, will have the right to elect an assessor, who will have the right to assess all the property in the township including that in the corporate limits of Cass Lake. There appears to be no precedent for such a case as this now presented. Ordinarily, when a country settles up, the township organization is the first one formed and it is a matter of subsequent work to incorporate the village, and detach from the township.

In this case, however, Cass Lake village was organized some ten or twelve years ago, in the heart of the government lands, which were withheld from settlement, through the offices of the forestry department, who had in mind incorporating these lands in the national forest reserve. It was for this reason that a fight lasting through a number of years, was made by the citizens of Cass Lake, to get these lands open to settlement. Naturally, with the incorporated village in the center of the township, and no settlers in the township outside of the village, a precedent was made.

County Attorney Rules.

County Attorney Funck has ruled that the township assessor will have no rights in the village, but the question may be taken higher up for adjudication. For a time yesterday it was thought that the contention of the Pike Bay people might be upheld and in that event, of course, residents of Cass Lake, would have been entitled to vote in the Pike Bay election on the theory, that there could be no taxation without representation. The voters of the village could easily have carried enough strength out to elect an assessor to their liking, if the ruling of the county attorney, had been in favor of the Pike Bay people.

FINE PROSPECTS FOR BROOKSTON

Are Discussed By Winners in Late Election at Banquet They Gave.

Brookston, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The successful candidates at the recent village election were hosts at a turkey supper at the Sherman house, Tuesday evening. Covers were laid for thirty, and the guests partook of an elaborate spread prepared by Mrs. M Brittany. President-elect Donley made a brief address to the gathering, thanking the people for the honor bestowed upon him and briefly outlining his policies for the ensuing year. Mr. Donley said he was for Brookston first, last and all the time, and that he hoped to have the hearty co-operation of all citizens in his efforts for the betterment of the village. Toasts were responded to by E. Keable, W. C. Garland, J. C. De Shaw, S. K. Duff, O. Lee Michaud and others. The speakers dwelt upon the prospects of the village, present and future, and all were of the opinion that harmony should be the watchword if Brookston is to prosper.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Brookston Townsite company was held at the secretary's office Wednesday afternoon. The annual report of the secretary was read and accepted, and directors for the ensuing year were elected unanimously, as follows: J. M. Dickey, E. S. Oakley, E. R. Smith, W. D Campbell, W. A. Epperson, J. A Wilson and Rowe McCamus These gentlemen will meet at a later date and select the officers of the corporation. The affairs of the company are in a prosperous condition, and a nice balance remains in the treasury. Outside members attending the stockholders' meeting were: W. D. Campbell of Superior; J. A Wilson and and A. M. Brunelle of Cloquet.

The homesteaders in this vicinity will finish their work in the woods this week after a most successful season. The fact that winter has hung on for three weeks longer than usual has been a great boon to settlers, and most of them have taken full advantage of these unusual weather conditions by getting out a large quantity of timber. The returns from the sale of the timber will tide them over the summer and assist them in the expense of clearing and cultivating their lands.

INJURED AT PLUMMER.

Two Men Making Repairs at Railway Tank Pump Hurt.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Hoppe and Iver Urvald of this city were seriously injured at Plummer last Tuesday. They were repairing the tank pump on the railway right-of-way when a large piece of machinery struck them, breaking Hoppe's leg and fracturing several ribs for Urvald. They were at once brought to Thief River for treatment.

Murderess On Probation.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 22.—Mrs. Anna Laabs, who pleaded guilty in municipal court to manslaughter in the fourth degree, in connection with the death of her son, Herbert, aged 5 years, on Sept. 26, when she gave him carbolic acid, was virtually placed on probation for one year by Judge Backus yesterday when she will be given into the custody of the sheriff for that period.

BUILDS SUMMER HOMES.

Little Wolf Lake, Near Cass Lake, Becoming Popular Resort.

Cass Lake, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.) — Robert Jarvis has completed the erection of three cottages on Little Wolf lake, two and one-half miles west of Cass Lake, which he has already rented for the summer season to tourists. Mr. Jarvis contemplates the erection of as many cottages on his one-quarter mile of lake front on that lake as he can get tenants for. Business men, generally, are much pleased with Mr. Jarvis' announced intention as heretofore one of the drawbacks to getting a larger number of tourists to come during the summer season, has been the dearth of cottages for rent.

George Hanson has completed the putting up of ice on Neshota beach, near the Indian mission, where a large number of cottages will be erected as soon as the snow is off the ground. The colony at Neshota beach will consist of a large number of Thief River Falls people, and people who live farther west in the Dakotas on the Soo Line.

CASS LAKE CHURCH EVENT.

Catholic Services in Polish and English to Be Held.

Cass Lake, Minn., March 22.—(Special to the Herald.) — Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Rev. Fathers Baczyk of Sturgeon Lake, Stahl of Park Rapids and Deshaies of Akeley will be here to assist the local pastor, Rev. John Kornbrust, of St. Charles' Catholic church in his pastoral work. There will be sermons in Polish and English on Tuesday and Wednesday and confessions will be heard for the different nationalitties in their own tongue.

Arrangements are being made for a lecture on the "Oberammergau Passion Play" at the Lyric theater in the very near future for the benefit of St. Charles' church.

FEDERAL DAM NOTES.

Fire Department Organized and Chemical to Be Purchased.

Federal Dam., Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.) — At a meeting held Tuesday evening a fire department was organized. It was decided to build a fire hall and to purchase a chemical engine.

J. J. Kane has the frame up for his new residence. Yesday he left for Minneapolis to look after the shipping of his household goods, which he expects to ship here.

J. G. Marvin is well started on the cutting of his 200,000 feet of oak logs up into "tie-sets" and lumber. The Scott-Graff people of Duluth will buy the lumber.

S. Siddell, conductor on the local, returned last Monday after spending the winter down in Florida.

Sheriff Delury of Walker was in town on Wednesday serving some legal papers.

Dr. Tanner has returned from St. Paul and is hard at work. While there he purchased a new line of office furniture and equipment.

Esther Putnam is fast recovering from her recent illness.

Oscar Ellingson, the contractor for the new hotel, is about ready to turn the building over to Mr. Toole, the lessee.

Are You Fat?

You know you can not stay fat, don't you? That is, you can not be fat and be in style. The day when a fat woman was tolerated is passed. Nowadays all women must be in proportion or be ridiculous. This does not mean you should become skinny, however. You should not get below the hard flesh line. All you ought to lose is the bulky fat. That done you will find yourself to be a well-formed and therefore handsome woman.

Now, how can this be done? By exercising and dieting? Yes, and no. These two means will bring some results, but not easily nor soon. One is very hard work; the other is torture. Besides, neither can be depended on to cause a uniform reduction. They may take off a fleshy shoulder, for example, and leave the double chin untouched. What you need, you see, is something pleasant to take that without injury to your health will take the fat off uniformly and quickly, say at the rate of a pound a day or so, until it is all gone where you want it to go.

For this purpose nothing is less expensive, safer or simpler than Marmola Prescription Tablets. Inexpensive because one large case, costing 75 cents only, will produce results; safe because they cause no wrinkles or stomach trouble, but rather improve the health and complexion, if anything; and simple, because they do all the work without asking thought or effort on the part of the taker. In short, they are the ANSWER if you are fat and wish to be thinner. If your druggist is of the better kind he will have them. If not, write the licensees, The Marmola Company, 491 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

IS NOW ORGANIZED.

South Dakota Development Association Ready for Business.

Aberdeen, S. D., March 22.—The South Dakota Development association was organized here yesterday, affiliated with the Northwest Development league, as the result of the two days' session of the South Dakota Builders' association, which closed last night.

The new association will take an active part in arranging for the Northwest Land Products show to be held in Minneapolis in November.

The new organiaztion consists of representatives of the South Dakota Federation of Commercial clubs, the State Bankers' association, the State Real Estate Dealers' association, State grange, the South Dakota Traveling Men's association and the South Dakota Press association.

In an address Lewis Penwell of Helena, president of the Northwest Development league, said that the new organization was the most practical of any in the states comprising the league, and declared that the other states might well copy the South Dakota idea.

M. P. Beebe of Ipswich is president of the association and John Deetz, state commissioner of agriculture, Pierre, S. D., secretary.

PAYS $1,250 FOR COW.

Thelma Glenwood, Record Buttermaker, Brings Fancy Price.

Oconomowoc, Wis., March 22.—Twelve hundred dollars, a record price for a Wisconsin cow, was paid by Charles D. Ettinger of Tinley Park, Ill., to M. H. Tichener for Thelma Glenwood, a national dairy show champion, at the second sale of the Westmorcland Guernsey farm, which was attended by 150 buyers from the north central states. Thelma Glenwood was a record of 750 pounds of butter in one year.

HEAD SHRINER HOME.

Imperial Potentate Returns to Fargo From South.

Fargo, N. D., March 22.—John Frank Treat, imperial potentate of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of North America, returned home Wednesday from what is perhaps the greatest trip that has ever been made on the North American continent by any of his predecessors in that office.

"I have enjoyed a big trip," he said, "and I'm pretty glad to get home again just to stay for a few weeks.

"From now on I will be in Fargo preparing my report for the year's work, which will be printed right here in Fargo. There are a number of other things I must attend to to clear up the work and duties of my administration before the Los Angeles meeting.

"I came here directly from Charleston, S. C. The reception here will be given on April 11 and the El Zagal ceremonial will follow the next night, April 12. Mrs. Treat will remain in Los Angeles until the convening of the imperial council and will return with me at that time."

BOY SHOOTS HIMSELF.

Is Accidentally Wounded Handling Rifle Near Cambridge.

Cambridge, Minn., March 22.—Willie Hanson, the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hanson of Bradford near here, accidentally shot himself with a rifle Tuesday morning at his home. The young man took the gun out of doors and when a few rods from the house the gun was discharged, the ball entering the left breast just over the heart and glanced to one side, coming out well back under the left arm. Mrs. Hanson saw her son fall and hastened to his side and with help carried him into the house. When the doctor reached the boy, the latter was very weak from loss of blood but it is thought he will recover. A son died last summer from pneumonia in the same family.

BOY SURRENDERS SELF

On Hearing He Is Wanted for Mora Murder.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 23—Learning that he was suspected of the murder of R. N. Winter, near Mora, Minn., a short time ago, Eugene Thomas of this city, aged 17, late yesterday surrendered to the police here and is held pending instructions from Mora.

According to information received here, a coroner's jury at Mora declared that Winter, an aged homesteader, came to his death from bullet wounds from a weapon in the hands of Thomas.

BUTTE REPUBLICANS DECLARE FOR TAFT.

Butte, Mont., March 22.—The Butte city Republican convention here nominated candidates for aldermen and indorsed Taft.

The indorsement of President Taft by Wednesday's convention in this city is the largest in Montana and the first of city conventions in this state to express a presidential choice, and is said to be a significant trend of sentiment predicted by the Taft forces and in opposition to the efforts of Senator John M. Dixon, Roosevelt's manager, to line up the Republicans in his own state for the colonel.

LOGGERS AROUND COUDERAY HAD SUCCESSFUL SEASON.

Couderay, Wis., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The loggers through this section are closing one of the most successful logging seasons for many years. Conditions were ideal most of the winter, and the cut is far above the average. Camps are closing up and everyday outgoing trains are filled full with homeward bound happy lumberjacks. About 5,000 men are employed in the woods in this section during the logging season.

Special Train For Concert.

Karlstad, Minn., March 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A special train will be run from Karlstad to Thief River Falls on March 29 for those who wish to attend the concert of the St. Paul Symphony orchestra, there in the afternoon and evening. The train leaves here at 11 o'clock a. m. and comes back in the evening.

South Dakotan Found Dead.

Bellefourche, S. D., March 22.—The body of Edward Cumsey, aged 47, a well known cattleman of South Dakota, of the early days, was found here yesterday. It is believed he committed suicide while temporarily insane.

Laurium — Final arrangements are being made for the appearance of the Mazeppa Greater United Shows of Chicago at the Laurium Driving park during the week of July 4. This compnay is one of the largest on the road and has over 200 attractions under its jurisdiction.

Hancock — The dairy of Battisti Vitton of Franklin, who supplies hundreds in Hancock, has been closed by order of Deputy Pure Food Inspector John T. Rowe. Barns and cows were said to be unspeakably filthy and Vitton was directed to sell no milk until the establishment was cleaned up and changes made to comply with the state laws.

Houghton — At the annual meeting of the director of the Copper Country Fair association the date of the annual Northern Michigan state fair was set for Sept. 24 to 28, inclusive. The fair will be held at the Amphidrome as usual.

Hancock — Charles McCafferty, a former Hancock baseball pitcher, is manager this season of the Butte club of the Union association, which has recently been incorporated with a capital of $15,000. McCafferty played here about seven years ago, when Hancock had a professional team in the Copper Country-Soo league.

Calumet—The Calumet Elks' bazaar opened at the Light Guard armory Monday evening and will continue up to and including Saturday evening.

Marquette — Miss Lillias Hall, manual training instructor at the normal school, has gone to Chicago to remain until the opening of the spring term. Miss Grace Spaulding, drawing teacher at the school, has also gone to Chicago.

Negaunee — The office of the superintendent and captains of the Negaunee mine, a frame structure erected about two years gao just west of the old shaft, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin this week. The mine and city fire departments responded to the alarm but the flames had made such headway the firemen could not check them. The loss will reach $5,000, fully covered by insurance.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Bismarck, N. D.—Curator H. C. Fish went to Sentinel Butte, Thursday, to give two addresses before the teachers' institute of Billings county. Mr. Fish will talk on the "campaign of 1863 and 1864 in North Dakota," and "Custer From the White and the Indian Standpoint."

Minot, N. D.—Bailey and Marsh, contractors, are making excellent progress with the Soo baggage and express depot. The walls on all sides are now up several feet and the orick work will be completed in a few days.

Fargo, N. D.—Delegates to the next annual conference of the United Norwegian Lutheran church of Amerika, which will be held in this city June 6 to 13, next, will be granted a rate of 2 cents per mile each direction by the Great Northern railroad.

Esmond, N. D.—Ibach, pronounced Edock, after the name of the farmer from whom the townsite was bought, will probably be the name of the new town on the Soo, in Pierce county, south of Rugby. Mr. Ortwein of Rugby has the distinction of hauling the first load of lumber to the townsite, and will erect a store building.

Fargo, N. D.—It is rumored that J. J. Jordan, candidate for mayor of Fargo in the election held Tuesday and defeated by Former Mayor Sweet by seven votes, will contest the election returns and that a recount of the votes will be made in the Seventh ward.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The Grand Forks Symphony orchestra will open their program at the auditorium next Wednesday night, March 27, with "The March of the Prients" from Athalia by Mendelssohn.

Hillsboro, N. D.—Rev. L. J. Anderson, Socialist, was elected mayor Tuesday by a majority of 30.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Eau Claire—Friends in the city have received engagement cards announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Etta E. Kosing, daughter of Mrs. Carrie Kosing, formerly of this city, to Herman Ira Homa, both of Minneapolis.

Racine—The court has ordered Mrs. Maggie Howe of Milwaukee to return to Mrs. Wilhelmina Inden of this city, Minerva Peters, aged 17, a niece of Mrs. Howe and granddaughter of Mrs. Inden. It is alleged that Mrs. Howe persuaded the girl to visit her in Milwaukee Monday and induced the girl to remain.

Appleton—Dormitories and school buildings at Lawrence college have been fumigated and classes were resumed Thursday morning following annual spring vacation which was advanced one week because of a slight epidemic of scarlet fever.

Madison—Junior civil engineers of the university will leave on their annual inspection trip April 1 and disband at Chicago on April 3. They will inspect big manufacturing plants in the Middle West.

Fond du Lac—Rev. Michael Clifford of Oshkosh has declared that he will pay no attention to the challenge hurled at him by Fond du Lac Socialists who want him to debate with Socialist orators on Socialism. They are incensed by an attack made by the priest in a recent address when he said Socialism was against Christianity.

Madison—Attorney General Bancroft has filed a brief supporting the constitutionality of the home rule law in the case brought against City Clerk Carl D. Thompson of Milwaukee. The case will be argued at the next term of the supreme court and a decision is expected in time for the legislature to act at the special session, April 30.

Milwaukee—Anton Milkolajzcak, a Pole, has a family so large that there was not room on the application blank for second citizenship papers to enumerate all the boys and girls. The naturalization papers provide spaces for the names of seven children and when Mikolajzcak wrote two names to a space and then had one name to spare he became so excited that he dropped his lighted cigar in his coat pocket.

Madison—A committee of the Wisconsin Pea Packers' association has been granted a hearing by the industrial commission to be held March 25, to ask for concessions relating to the enforcement of the law regulating hours of women labor. Unless the women are allowed to work overtime, they contend, much of the crop will spoil on their hands. The commission, it is said, is powerless to act.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Little Falls—In an exciting election held here Tuesday Simon Brick, for a number of years clerk of the district court, was elected mayor over J. W. Crossfield. Brick secured a majority of 97 out of about 987 votes cast.

St. Cloud—The Central Minnesota Poultry association will give its second show next December or January, according to a decision reached Tuesday. The same officers were selected to handle the next show, being as follows: President, W. B. Wiley; vice president, E. W. Mayman; secretary, L. R. Swift; treasurer, J. W. Dewey; superintendent, N. K. Hunt; directors, L. D. Staples, L. L. Baily Perham—The Johnston stock farm shipped a car of tamarack fence posts to Marion, N. D. It will be about the last car of fence posts that will be shipped from this part of the country.

Big Fork—McAfee's sawmill is turning out an abundance of good lumber. Harry Grove is at saw, Ole Olesen is in the engine room, A. R. Button is doing the dging toward the other saw and Harry Dering is acting coachman and rides in an open carriage.

Crookston—The Crookston Elks' Easter ball will be given in the new hall on Friday, April 12, the Friday following Easter. Walker's full orchestra has been secured.

Faribault—Monday noon Miss Mattie Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Bailey of this city, became the bride of Fred Gimblett of Fessenden, N. D. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the young people.

Crookston—Sylvester Peterson died of heart failure at Los Angeles Wednesday. He had lived for some time at Portland and leaves a wife and two sons. Mr. Peterson was for years a well known resident of Crookston and was prominent in politics. He was receiver of the United States land office in Crookston for a number of years.

Stillwater—City Attorney E. D. Buffington reported to the city council that the Omaha Railway company had agreed to give the city a right-of-way under its tracks for sewer construction and the council authorized the mayor and city clerk to execute the contract on behalf of the city.

Fergus Falls—A petition has been filed in the probate court in this city, asking for letters of administration on the estate of T. A. Thorson, who died suddenly while returning from Wendell to his home in Aastad, on Feb. 28. Mr. Thorson was one of the noted stock raisers of the county.

St. Cloud—W. S. Elliott returned Wednesday from Two Harbors, where he had been in company with Mrs. Elliott to see their daughter. Miss Jean, who teaches there and who has had typhoid fever. He reports that Miss Elliott is very much better and that as soon as possible she will return to St. Cloud with her mother.

Mankato—Patrick Coughlin, formerly of Mankato, who was born in Ireland, March 17, 1826, died in Milwaukee Sunday, the anniversary of his birth. He is said to have told a Catholic sister three weeks before his death he expected to die on St. Patrick's day.

Hinckley—The Hinckley Commercial club have called a meeting for March 26 to discuss the potato situation with the farmers of the surrounding country. They expect to have some one who will be thoroughly posted on the subject to talk and explain the situation.

Rochester—A seven weeks' summer school for Olmsted and adjoining counties will be conducted by the state in Rochester commencing about the middle of June. Supt. J. P. Silvernale of Red Wing will be the conductor, and the instructors will include Supt. C. L. Woodfield of Rochester, Supt. R. L. H. Lord of Chatfield, Mrs. E. K. Jacques of Minneapolis and Miss Margaret Howard of Minneapolis.

Worthington — The general store owned by the Dundee Co-Operative company at Dundee, was broken into Tuesday night. The robbers got away with $150 worth of rings, three gold watches, two silver watches and between $15 and $20 in cash. Only the best was taken.

MAN WHO DID DAWG SONG

Was From the Ozarks and Carried the Houn' With Him.

Song Was a Protest and Discouraged the Dog and Writer.

Denver, Colo., March 22.—The man that writ the houn' dawg song—or claims that he did—has escaped. He passed through Walsenburg, Colo., the other day, according to a veracious account from that place printed in the Denver News. The houn' dawg poet seems to have found life in Missouri a little too strenuous, both before and after he perpetrated the famous song which friends of Champ Clark are turning to political account at the forks of the creek. The author, it appears, couldn't make the boys quit kickin' his dawg aroun', and after fighting till he was tired, he hitched up and took the trail for the West. The Walsenburg story follows:

"I'm it—the original houn' dawg man. I writ it, and I'm runnin' away." Yelling like a Piute Indian on the war trail, Lige Spencer of Ozark county, Mo., swung his team of mules off the Santa Fe trail into the main street of Walsenburg on a recent afternoon and pulled up before the Greenlight saloon with the announcement that he was the poet of the Ozarks and the man who wrote the famous Dawg song. A piebald coon dog had ambled into town ahead of the procession and went to sleep in front of the mules almost as soon as they came to a stop.

"That Dawg," and Lige pointed at the sleeping hound, as he pulled up his six feet two of cadaverous body—"that dawg, gentlemen, was the inspiration of the most famous song that was ever writ, and further he is the best and onliest coon dawg that ever chased a ringtail into a scrub oak, and still further, I can lick, outrun or outjump or outwrestle any man who starts to kickin' him."

Squirrel Whisky Required.

A crowd quickly collected around Spencer and his outfit. One of the bystanders asked him how he came to write the dog song. Spencer looked in a tired way at his questioner. "Sah, there's just one thing that will make a man from the mountains of Missouri talk straight, and that is squirrel whisky, and inasmuch as I've not seen any around this holler, I fear that the story must remain untold."

Half a dozen drinks were quickly pressed upon Spencer, and he began the following story:

"Gentlemen, it is like this: Down in our country there is three things that a man is proud of, his family, his stummick for squirrel whisky and his coon dawgs. Well, me and 'dawg' thar, in the last few years have become the most famous individuals in Southern Missouri and Northern Arkansas. Every dance, coon hunt or feud pulled off in that neck of the woods for years has ended up with tales of how me and dawg there fit bars, coons and catamounts. After awhile everyone got jealous of us. Yes, sah, my old neighbors would hardly look at me, and when dawg came around they would just natcherly quit whittlin' and go off indoors.

"Dawg Is Sure Funny."

"Then one day last spring a feller of the name of Lem Andrews, who runs a store down at the county seat, became so jealous of me and dawg that he coaxed dawg into his store and just about kicked the life out of him. Now dawg is sure funny. He'll fight any varmint from a tree frog to a polar bear, but he just natcherly seems afraid, of humans when they begin gettin' rough. Won't fight or anything, just duck his tail between his legs and howl. No, sah, he'll not run away, but just lay there and bawl three times for any kick.

"Well, it was a month before I heard about Lem kicking my dawg around, and then I went down. That fight was a classic, gentlemen. From the time the sun stood straight above the courthouse until it was fadin' behind the trees it took me to convince Lem that he had to ask the dawg's pardon.

"But it wasn't no use. Everybody knowed about dawg's failin' after that and the poor fellow was kicked by every dawg owner in Ozark county. I fit every man that I could get to, averaging five a week, but it wasn't no use. Why, even dawg got discouraged and didn't want to hunt coons any more.

Both Got Discouraged.

"I finally writ to the governor about it; thought, maybe he could make 'em stop kickin' my dawg around. I was feeling kind of blue and the rhyming part of the letter just came natcheral. That's all of how the song came to be writ. But after that it was worse than ever. Everybody got to singin' about me and dawg. Then he got discouraged and so did I. About a month ago I just natcherly couldn't stand it any longer and I hitched up the mules, whistled to the dawg and struck out for Colorado. Told the wife and kids I'd locate, and then come back for 'em. Now, B'Gad, gentlemen, I'm goin' out and set down on a piece of Uncle Sam's land, and this kickin' about of dawg is going to stop."

Somebody in the crowd asked Spencer the name of his dog. "Just dawg," answered Spencer as he clucked to his mules. The piebald hound woke up, stretched one hind leg out behind him and ambled off, Spencer arose in his seat and announced to the crowd that as he had left one state because they were kickin' his dawg around that hereafter he expected to have his dawg respected, and, furthermore, he would scalp the first man he caught kickin' him. Spencer yelled to his mules and the wagon rattled out of Walsenburg in the direction of the Spanish peaks.

MOTOR-BOAT TRIP AROUND WORLD

Three Young Fellows of Ohio Plan to Start Next Fall.

Columbus, Ohio, March 22.—Some time about Sept. 1 three Columbus boys, D. G. Lower, Dewitt H. Wyatt and Avery A. Andrews, will leave Columbus on an extended trip around the world in a motor boat. The first leg of the journey will be down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers to the Gulf of Mexico, thence through the Panama canal, and from there to San Francisco, where the Columbus boys will take part in the exposition.

From San Francisco the trio will strike out for Japan, China, the Philippines, Australia, India, Africa and then home by the way of Europe. Neither of the young men seems to care just how long the trip lasts, and like Jack London, nothing will deter them but sickness. Although each traveler will have enough money, the expenses of the trip are to be paid by photography.

The idea of the trip originated in the minds of Lower and Wyatt, who took a trip down the Ohio and Mississipi last summer, paying their expenses by photography. Last summer's trip was made in a small launch, and the travelers returned to Columbus with their expense money and many extra dollars as profit.

The motor boat in which the trip around the world is to be made is now in course of construction. The designs for the boat were drawn by Lower and Wyatt. It will be forty-five feet over all, and will be of the bulldog cruiser type. Besides a powerful engine, the boat will carry a mainsail and jib. It will be electrically lighted, and will contain sleeping quarters, galley, toilet and a dark room for photography purposes.

The first part of the journey will be made on slow time, giving the boys an oportunity to work their profession. After leaving New Orleans, the boat will be headed for Key West, and from there to Yucatan.

It is the object of the Columbus boys to have their craft the first pleasure craft to pass through the completed Panama canal in July, 1915. From the canal a short side trip will be made along the west coast of South America, and from there to San Francisco. During the Panama exposition the boys will have their boat on exhibition, and will sell photographs of their trip.

All three of the young men have traveled extensively, and have already visited many foreign countries. A cook will be taken along so that the routine duties of living will not be a burden on the time wanted for photography. The boys have not yet decided what name they will give their craft. All three young men are college graduates.

OLD SHIP IN DEMAND FOR MOTION PICTURE PLAYS.

San Pedro, Cal., March 22.—Old ships that have gone down to the sea on their last voyage need not rest in the "boneyard" longer. They can be money-makers without the necessity of seeking a charter or the trouble of hunting a crew out of a dozen sailors' boarding houses; and they need not put to sea at all, or, if they do, only for a day's voyage on the Pacific main in the company of a tug.

The ancient bark Alden Besse has saved herself from the fate of being converted into a coal hulk or condemned to disuse forever. Today she is the most sought after ship in Southern waters. The motion picture concerns all want her.

Already the still stately old windjammer has borne the brunt of half a dozen "piratical" attacks by "sea rovers" of the most savage mien. Her decks have been the scene of sanguinary battles for lovely women and a half dozen "commanders" have bravely walked the plank and been quickly rescued by San Pedro boatmen with an eye to business.

Her owners say she never will be converted into a coal barge as long as her popularity with the film people lasts.

AFRAID OF THE NEW ERIE CANAL

Ontario Boards of Trade Are Seeking Government Action.

Toronto, Ont., March 22.—Commercial Ontario is "all het up" on the subject of water transportation. Boards of trade of the province have got together and are seeking government action toward protecting Ontario against the loss of its water-borne commerce. They fear the Erie canal They believe that the Welland and St. Lawrence canals, unless speedily improved, will not be able successfully to compete with the improved Erie. They have talked with engineers and have come to the conclusion that it is possible to hold the trade if the government will spend the necessary millions.

Hitherto the province has been divided into two camps on the canal question, Western and Central Ontario favoring the deepening of the Welland, and Northern and Eastern Ontario urging the construction of the Georgian bay canal.

A scheme is now proposed which to some extent combines these two projects and thus gathers support from Northern boards of trade. This idea is to proceed with the French river section of the Georgian bay canal and with the Welland improvements and use both as part of one big system feeding the St. Lawrence route. This would mean the canalization of the French river from Lake Nipissing to the Georgian bay.

The construction work would be easy and comparatively cheap. All that portion of Northern Ontario tributary to Lake Nipissing would thus get the benefit of water transportation and lower rates. Cargoes would go round by the Georgian bay and reach Lake Ontario via the new Welland. Another advantage claimed for the project is that the provincial railway and two, at least, of the company-owned roads would have lake ports and would be able to handle a share of the grain traffic from the West. The Welland itself would have to be deepened from fourteen feet, the present depth, to twenty or even thirty feet and probably provided with a new outlet. That done, it is proposed that the Eastern canals be also improved, thus providing at Ontario's front door a waterway able to take care of all the business likely to come for many years.

While these things are being done, the boards of trade would like the government to spend money on fixing up the harbors of the province. Even there the program does not end. The level of Lake Huron has been going down, due, it is alleged, to the enlarging of the outlets into Lake Erie and to the construction of the drainage canal at Chicago. The boards of trade want the government to keep the water from running out so fast, the remedy suggested being the construction of a dam at the foot of Lake Huron.

All these proposals, if carried out, will involve the expenditure of many millions of dollars, but the boards of trade are of the opinion that it would be money well spent. Some action in regard to the enlarging of the Welland is looked for this spring, a report from the superintendent in charge of the canal having been forwarded to the minister of railways and canals a day or two ago.

WILL APPLY PSYCHOLOGY TO TELEPHONE SERVICE.

Cambridge, Mass., March 22.—The local telephone company is to have a dose of psychology injected into its business conduct a la Munsterburg.

The management deplored the fact that its employes, after learning the rudimentary principle of the business, soon abandoned it for some other method of livelihood. They sought to remedy this conditon, and Prof. Hugh Munsterbury, head of the psychological department of Harvard, was brought into the situation.

The professor brought all the beginners together in the exchange and set them before tables upon which were newspapers spread out. In a given time the class had to go down the first column of a page and cross out over "A" that appeared. Then they did the same with the second and third columns, and so on.

The test showed that certain of the girls had got 90 per cent of the letters in the first column, fewer in the second, and so on. Others would improve as they continued. Some were very poor. They would cross out other letters than the "A" and sometimes skip the "A."

Each paper was signed by the girl who worked upon it, and were given to Prof. Munsterburg, who is to put them away for six months. At the expiration of that time they will be taken out and the percentage compared with the reports which the telephone company has to make of the girls. The idea is that girls who haven't power to concentrate their minds on crossing out a certain letter, and doing it with rapidity, will find it difficult to learn to manipulate the many cords on a switchboard.

The professor believes that psychology will play a great part in the employment of help in all sorts of positions at some future time.

How to be Certain of Curing Constipation

Prejudice is a hard thing to overcome, but where health is at stake and the opinion of thousands of reliable people differs from yours, prejudice then becomes your menace and you ought to lay it aside. This is said in the interest of people suffering from chronic constipation, and it is worthy of their attention.

In the opinion of legions of reliable American people the most stubborn constipation imaginable can be cured by a brief use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You may not have heard of it before, but do not doubt its merits on that account, or because it has not been blatantly advertised. It has sold very successfully on word of mouth recommendation. Parents are giving it to their children today who were given it by their parents, and it has been truthfully said that more druggists use it personally in their families than any other laxative.

Letters recently received from Mr. E. M. Connelly, Genoa Jct., Wis., and Mrs. E. Bolch, Hatfield, Wis., are but a few of thousands showing the esteem in which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is held. It is mild, gentle, non-griping—not violent, like salts or cathartics. It cures gradually and pleasantly so that in time nature again does its own work without outside aid. Constipated people owe it to themselves to use this grand bowel specific.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

ON THE IRON RANGES

ORGANIZING CHILDREN

Bands of Mercy Being Formed in All Range Towns.

Humane Society Now Has 749 Children Enlisted as Workers.

Miss Ellen Dahlen, assistant to R. D. McKercher, agent of the Duluth Humane society, is organizing "Bands of Mercy" among the school children of the range towns.

This week Miss Dahlen visited a number of the range town schools and already has organized twenty-three bands, which include a membership of 749 children.

The mercy bands are humanitarian organizations, through which children are encouraged to be kind to animals. Every member of the band signs a pledge to be considerate to dumb creatures.

At Chisholm Miss Dahlen organized fifteen bands in the various city schools. In all there were 490 children, attending from the third to the eighth grades, who joined. At Buhl four bands were organized with 128 children and at the locations of Alice and Brookline two bands were formed comprising 131 children.

Miss Dahlen next week expects to visit a number of the other range towns including Hibbing, Eveleth and Gilbert. She says that so far in her work of organizing the children the youngsters, especially in the lower grades, have shown considerable enthusiasm.

In the schools, the principal is president ex-officio of every band. In every room where there is a band, the teacher is usually selected as vice president and a secretary and treasurer are elected by the children.

COUNTY OFFICER IS UNDER ARREST

Lake County Commissioner Accused of Selling Liquor Without License.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Johnson, county commissioner from Beaver Bay, was arrested Tuesday by Sheriff Emil Nelson on a charge of selling liquor without a license. This is the second time Johnson has been arrested for the same offense.

Second Offense.

Last June the grand jury brought in an indictment against him and he was given a fine of $100 which was paid. The officials have been suspicious since that time but sufficient evidence could not be secured until recently. On Tuesday Sheriff Nelson and County Attorney Fowler went to Beaver Bay and brought Johnson back Wednesday night. Since this is the second offense within a few months the fine will doubtless be heavy.

WEBB MINER IS CAVEIN VICTIM

Erick Wilson Caught Under Falling Earth in Hibbing Property.

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Erick Wilson, single, a miner about 35 years old was killed in a cavein at the Webb mine shirtly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Several other miners had narrow escapes. The body was freed from the earth and ore within a short time, but life was extinct.

Wilson had been employed at the Webb for some time. He has a brother, John Wilson, living at the Pool location. The body was removed to an undertakers to be prepared for burial.

LIBRARY PATRONS.

1,000 Took Books From Two Harbors Institution in February.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The library report for February, submitted by Miss Borresen, showed that the library was open twenty-three days. The readers numbered 1,004 as against 1,341 for February, 1911. The number of registrations was 23. Books were circulated as follows: Adult fiction, 960, non-fiction, 178; juvenile fiction, 262; non-fiction, 230, making a total circulation of 1,630. Out of the total number of books circulated, 79 were Swedish, 26 Norwegian, and 6 French. An exchange of foreign books has been started among the libraries of Duluth, Virginia, Hibbing, Cloquet and Two Harbors. Two Harbors sent forty Swedish books to Virginia and received the same number from Duluth and sent twenty Norwegian books to Duluth and received seventeen in return. In making out union lists of all Swedish and Norwegian books in the five libraries it was found that Two Harbors and Duluth are the only two libraries in the group that have Norwegian books and that Duluth has only twenty-one titles not found here. Two Harbors and Virginia have 145 and 167 Swedish books, respectively. The librarian has prepared a reading list dealing with typhoid fever and the sewage problem; also the health reports of different states.

RAISE SALARIES AS INDUCEMENT

Ely School Adopts Practical Method of Retaining Teachers.

Ely, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.) — At the meeting of the school board the resignation of Prof. C. H. Barnes as superintendent of schools was accepted. After giving to this district three years of faithful service he resigns to accept a position of superintendent of schools at St. Cloud. Mr. Barnes' departure is regretted, not only by the school board, but by the community at large. Suitable resolutions were adopted by the board. The board also extended an invitation to each teacher to remain for another year in the schools of this city, and as an inducement raised the salaries of each.

Easter Cantata Characters.

The cast of characters as announced by the Epworth league for the Easter cantata is as follows: Mary, Beatrice Petherwick; the Angel, Ebba Swenson; Faith, Jennie Trezona; Hope, Florence Nankervis; Love, Mabel Prisk; Pleasure, Ivy Greene; Molly, Mrs. C. Mergenthaler; Gold, William Nicholls; Sin, C. Cardue; Fame, John Nankervis; Pride P. Schweickhard; the Prophet, Michael Prisk. Miss Cora Thomas has charge of the drilling, and Miss Beatrice Petherick is assisting in the drilling of the younger children.

The girls basket ball team, consisting of Mercedes James, Martha Trezona, Gustava Prisk, Ida Portlan, Mayme Johnson as regulars, and Anna Lindberg and Clara Hanberg as substitutes have left for the game tonight with Eveleth high school team. This game closes the season for the local team.

The extension of the waterworks system to the Pioneer school and location is finished. Owing to the rock upon which Ely is built the contractor has found it a difficult extension.

RAILROAD ROUTE IS NOT CHANGED

Chisholm Council Does Not Interfere With Traction Matter.

Chisholm, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.) — The proposed route of the Mesaba Electric railway along Lake street through Chisholm will not be changed to Chestnut, unless the village council changes its mind. The new council at its first meeting Wednesday heard requests for changing to Chestnut street, but the matter was laid on the table indefinitely. President Austin did not make any appointments and the council did not go into that matter, although there were quite a number of applicants on hand looking for appointments on the police force and other positions.

The council reviewed the work of the last meeting of the old council, and after passing on the liquor license of Lawrence Kovach, briefly discussed the cemetery proposition, the new equipment requested by the fire department, the police force, the voting precinct at the Glen, the sewage disposal tank, and then adjourned to Wednesday, March 27.

ANNUAL CHURCH MEETING.

Congregational Gathering of Virginia Presbyterians Is Held.

Virginia, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.) — The annual congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church was held last night. The Sunday school, the choir, the Christian Endeavor society, the trustees, the ladies' societies all reported growth during the year. The occasion was made a social one and many of the members and adherents of the church remained for the social features. There was a program with organ selections by J. R. Hande, orchestra music, duet by Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Forbes, reading by Mrs. Paul J. Gramness. Paul J. Gramness, missionary for the Virginia district, told of the progress of his work which was large, considering the elements to be contended with. Plans for the coming year were outlined and the church expects to broaden out greatly during the next twelve months.

FINISHED SHIPPING.

Martin Bros. End Pulp Work Shipments From Ridge.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Curry & White and Martin Bros., have finished making pulpwood shipments to this point from Ridge. The Finn farmers at Embarrass will clean up their shipments next week and Hill & Co., at Mile 63 will discontinue shipments soon.

Many False Alarms.

Ely, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.) — On Wednesday evening a false alarm was turned in to the fire department from the Chandler location and on Thursday evening about 10 o'clock another false alarm was turned in from the First National bank corner. Within two weeks four false alarms have been turned in. As each fireman is paid for each "run," these false alarms are costing the city a goodly sum.

Gilbert Wedding.

Gilbert, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Johnson and Miss Loff were married Wednesday night at the home of the bride, in the presence of a small group of friends. Mr. Johnson and Miss Loff are both popular young people in Gilbert.

GET READY FOR SEASON'S SPORTS

Athletes of Virginia High Have Organized for Contests During 1912.

Virginia, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The High School Athletic association has been organized for 1912, the officers being Samuel Cohen, president; Halvor Olson, vice president; Harlan Johnson, treasurer.

The baseball team will be directed by James Quayle, manager, and Arnold Hawkinson, assistant. Superintendent Bliss takes an active interest in athletics and states that the available material should make a winning team again this year. Last year the Virginia high school team was the champion of the range. All of the players have had indoor training all winter, and most of them have played on hockey and basket ball teams, so that all are in condition to go into a match at any time.

Senior Class Election.

The seniors have a full class organization and have adopted "Vincit Qui Laborat" (He conquers who labors) as the class motto and golden brown and ble de or as the class colors. A class pin has been adopted. The class officers are: Halvor C. Olson, president; Charles I. Pelto, secretary. Those named on committees are:

Class pin—Ward E. Becker, Esther V. Linham, John A. Grande, Lucy I. Pakkala, Charles I. Pelto.

Class motto—Hazel M. Reid, Angela E. Smith, Elvie Ternquist, Victor F. Larson, Samuel L. Cohen.

Class colors—Arnold Hawkinson, Morris L. Hooper, Harlan W. Johnson, Julia A. Larson, Irene K. Gauthier.

Class play—Demgen Hayes, James J. Quayle, Roger C. Williams, Elizabeth C. Rooney, Marie E. Fleming.

STRIPPING WORK SOON COMMENCES

Butler Brothers Preparing to Resume Operations at Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Butler Bros., who last year were among the most extensive stripping operators in the Buhl district have started a crew of men at work preliminary to removing the overburden from the Longyear. A pipe line for the water supply is now being laid and the timber for the trestle is now about all on the ground. It is expected they will begin operations in about two weeks with night and day shifts on two steamshovels. The Winston-Dear company are expected to start three shovels at the Buffalo-Susquehanna some time next week. The Drake & Stratton company have made no arrangements to begin stripping yet but probably will begin about the first of May..

"QUEENS OF KINGDOM."

Character Sketch to Be Presented at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A very pretty entertainment will be given at the Methodist church this evening by the Queen Esther Circle. It will be in the nature of a character sketch entitled "Queens in a Kingdom." Several pretty young women will dress and perform after manner of different nations.

The cast is as follows: Indian girl, Frances Penrod; Mormon girl, Emily Trebilcox; two slum children, Florence and Phillis Maxwell; Alaskan girl, Ila Farley; Negro girl, Alice Rutty; Chinese girl, Evelyn Morrow; Mexican girl, Florence Robb; Mountain white girl, Enda Hughes; Porto Rican girl, Marion Mettle; Spirit of the Press, Myrtle Mitchell; Queen Esther, Marion Rutty; Maid, Sygrid Anderson; Edith Williams, Mrs. William Eddy; Monica Farley, Alvira Chappel. Mrs. Richard Eddy will direct the performance. Refreshments will be served.

MANY BOYS WORK.

Many Virginia Youths Sustain Themselves During Vacations.

Virginia, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.) — It is said that there are more boys in the Virginia grade and high public schools who work and earn good wages during vacations than in any other city in the United States of like size.

Many of the boys obtain positions at the mines and with crews on construction work. In order to assist those who do not know so well just how to go about it, Supt. Bliss is co-operating with the boys who want to obtain jobs for vacation and has made his office, to an extent, an employment office. All boys who will be assisted are pledged to stay with the school work until the end of the term. Then as a reward for diligence they will be rendered any assistance possible and recommended as being capable and faithful in school work. Many boys are already making plans for being wage earners during the summer vacation period.

DIABETES

The probabilities under Fulton's Diabetic Compound seem to us to be about as follows:

In cases of sixty years and over reports have been so encouraging that it is our belief that recovery or control that prolongs life in reasonable comfort is possible in nearly nine-tenths of the cases.

While at fifty a majority of all cases appear to respond to the treatment below fifty and approaching forty the disease gets more stubborn, and between thirty and forty the percentage is not high and we cannot make strong claims.

Under thirty the percentage is very low and in children recoveries have been rare and most of those were obtained through the aid of skilled physicians keeping the liver active, promoting nutrition and giving alkalines when necessary to control acetones.

It does not conflict with physicians' prescriptions. But where patients require codeln we desire to submit something milder that contains no opium.

We desire every patient not improving the third week to write us. Always state age. Literature mailed free. John J. Fulton Company, 645 Battery Street, San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians who have obstinate cases.

ARE GOING AFTER SHEPARD'S SLAYER

Officer Leave for Canada in Hope of Taking Veteran's Murderer.

Eveleth, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief of Police Farley left here Thursday accompanied by a deputy sheriff from Virginia, bound for some point in Canada where they were informed that McClusky, the supposed murderer of Asa Shepard, was seen recently. There have been all sorts of rumors afloat as to McClusky's whereabouts but this appeared to be more plausible than the others.

CHARACTER READING.

Impersonation of "If I Were King" at Gilbert.

Gilbert, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The recital given Thursday evening by Miss Magdalen Feyereisen in the Gilbert high school as the final number of the Star course, was largely attended, a tremendous success, and considered to be the best number on the course. The work was an impersonation of "If I Were King," by Justin McCarthy and required the representation of a large number of characters as shown by the program which follows: Characters impersonated: Louis XI, king of France; Tristan l'Hermite, his servant and attendant; Oliver le'Dain, his henchman; Katherine de Vaucelles, the queen's kinswoman; Thibaut d'Aussigny, grand constable of France; Francois Villon, the vagabond poet, who becomes "a pearl of great price" to the king; Mother Villon, the poet's mother; Robin Turgis, the taverner, and other minor characters.

Scene I—The king in disguise finds a "pearl"—Villon's Romantic love tale—Katherine beseeches Villon to kill Thibaut—The fight in the tavern.

Music .....
High School Girls' Glee Club.

Scene II—Near palace—The voices of the stars—Villon is made grand constable of France—Garden love—The answer to Burgundy.

Ladies' trio—"Queen of Night".....
..... Helmund
Misses Angela Schumacher, Margaret Feyereisen, and Mila Trace.

Scene III—Rose garden—The great feeitval—Love scene "If I Were to Die Tomorrow"—A virgin's tears—The march against Burgundy.

Vocal solo.....
Miss Millie Johnson.

Scene IV—Near church—The return of the soldiers—The shadow of the gallows—"I have tried a man's heart and found it pure gold; a woman's soul and found it an angel."

Miss Feyereisen held the audience in fine control and gave evidence of great study and insight into human nature. She is a graduate of the Columbia School of Expression, and is a member of the Gilbert teaching corps.

PAPER FOR MIZPAH.

Former Gilbert Editor to Launch New Venture.

Northome, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Herbert B. Rosenbloom, late editor of the Gilbert Herald, put in the week completing arrangements for launching a newspaper at Mizpah, five miles north of here. Mr. Rosenbloom is a graduate of the Mesaba Ore office at Hibbing, and is a first-class printer. The new publication may appear next week.

The newly-elected village council was in session Wednesday evening. Frank Engelking was appointed village marshal and has entered upon his duties. Another meeting will soon be held when some needful inovations in village affairs will be inaugurated.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hanchett gave a sumptuous dinner on Tuesday night, which was partaken of by the out-going village officials. It was a neat way for the village servants to conclude a year's association, and there are none who could serve a better dinner than the good wife of the ex-president of the village. The old council was made up as follows: G. A. Hanchett, president; P. McLaughlin, L. D. Beach, Anton Lundberg, trustees; C. W. Field, recorder.

George A. Hanchett, the blacksmith, is hauling lumber and other material, and as soon as the frost is out of the ground he will commence the erection of a commodious dwelling at the corner of Fourth street and Lake avenue.

FARMERS FROM HAWKEYE STATE

New Settlers Arriving to Make Homes in the Stewart Country.

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first ten families of a colony of Iowa farmers who purchased St. Louis county cutover lands during the winter, have arrived at Stewart and are unloading their household goods and implements. All the new settlers are from the famous Cedar river valley in Iowa and were induced to come here by former neighbors who have been successful in farming near Stewart. They intend for the most part to go in for dairying and the success with which their efforts are attended will be watched with interest. Ten more families are expected to arrive within a short time.

EVELETH CURLING SEASON ABOUT OVER.

Eveleth, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Curling is almost at the end of a very successful season. This week green players have been competing for the four steins set up by B. O. Greening. The trophy was won last night by Pryor's rink. A. D. Pryor skip, Elmer Hill, Victor Mulligan and Will Pryor. This ring won four straight games, defeating Miller's rink, 10 to 6; Cooper's, 12 to 8; Ellsworth's, 9 to 8, and last night Trevarrow's, 14 to 10.

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

CLOUDY

Spring is now two days behind schedule. The mercury was down to 8 deg. this morning and a raw, March wind didn't add to the gaiety of Duluthians. The weather man predicts cloudy and somewhat warmer weather tonight and tomorrow.

Chilly spring weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 6:07 and it will set at 6 23 this evening, giving twelve hours and sixteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The high pressure overlying the Middle Missippi valley has caused much colder weather over the Ohio valley, Tennessee, Northern Louisiana and Eastern Texas. Temperatures have risen somewhat from Kansas and Colorado northward to Western Canada but freezing weather continues throughout Northern, Central and Southwestern districts. At the head of the Lakes milder weather may be expected during tonight and Saturday in connection with the easterly movement of the Saskatchewan low pressure area. During the last twenty-four hours snow or rain fell over the Lake region, North Atlantic states, the Ohio and Lower Mississippi valleys and Texas in connection with depressions now centered over Nova Scotia and off the South Atlantic coast."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 22.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Upper Michigan—Fair, warmer tonight; Saturday increasing cloudiness and warmer.

Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Saturday, becoming unsettled Saturday night; rising temperature.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; warmer tonight and in east portion Saturday.

Iowa—Fair and warmer tonight; Saturday unsettled and warmer.

North Dakota—Mostly cloudy tonight and Saturday.

South Dakota—Increasing cloudiness and warmer tonight; Saturday probably unsettled.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; not much change in temperature.

Shippers' forecast: Protect thirty-six-hour shipments of perishables against minimum temperatures 10 deg. to 25 deg. above zero in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

DIES IN ARKANSAS.

Northome Man Drops Dead at Health Resort.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 22.—J. B. Johnson, aged 40 years, a visitor from Northome, Minn., and formerly engaged in the saloon business in Minneapolis, was found lying dead on the sidewalk on upper Central avenue early Wednesday. Johnson came here last Saturday from his Minnesota home, and appeared to be highly nervous. He became a patient of Dr. J. W. McClendon and to that physician related the story of a railroad wreck last January in which his head was split open, wrecking his nervous system.

CAMP IS BROKEN.

Mining Timber Operations at Sturgeon River End.

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Sturgeon Timber company, which has been employing about eighty men in getting out mining timber, logs and lagging in the Sturgeon River country, has broken camp. A steam hauler has been used at its camp to take the logs to the railroad, where they were shipped to the Virginia mill. The recent thaws have put the logging roads in such condition that the apparatus could not be used and for this reason the camp was abandoned early, after a successful season's work.

TO REPEAT PROGRAM.

Hibbing Hibernians to Again Honor Memory of Patron Saint.

Hibbing, Minn., March 22. — (Special to The Herald.) — The St. Patrick's day program given by the local division of Hibernians, assisted by the ladies' auxiliary at the Power theater last Saturday night is to be repeated next Tuesday night. The principal address will be by Senator James Boyle of Eveleth.

OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Faded and Gray Hair—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

For generations Sage and Sulphur have been used for hair and scalp troubles. Almost everyone knows the value of such combination for keeping the hair a good even color, for curing dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, and for promoting the growth of the hair. Years ago the only way to get a Hair Tonic of this kind was to make it in the home, which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays, almost any up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully prepared in perfectly equipped laboratories.

An ideal preparation of this sort is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for scalp troubles and thin, weak hair that is losing its color or coming out. After using this remedy for a few days, you will notice the color gradually coming back, your scalp will feel better, the dandruff will soon be gone, and in less than a month's time there will be a wonderful difference in your hair.

Don't neglect your hair if it is full of dandruff, losing its color or coming out. Get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and see what a few days' treatment will do for you. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

REFUSES TO BE FIRED.

Secretary of Iowa Suffragettes Sticks to His Job.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 22.—Although H. G. Gue, secretary of the Political Equality club and manager of the Iowa suffrage campaign, was twice "fired" by the suffragists, he refused to see it that way, and spent the day barricaded behind locked doors at suffrage headquarters.

"But you have been discharged, Mr. Gue, why don't you leave?" argued angry suffragettes over the telephone after it is alleged, they were refused admittance to the office.

"Nothing less than a decision from the supreme court can cause me to leave the work I have so earnestly taken up in behalf of woman suffrage," returned Mr. Gue.

When a reporter suggested that the suffragists might attempt to remove him by force, Mr. Gue pointed to a shining revolver in the drawer of his desk.

Mr. Gue was discharged at a stormy session two weeks ago, and again Wednesday night. He claims the last meeting was "trumped-up" and that the action was unofficial.

It is announced that the campaign committee has dissolved.

Brainerd Pupils Give Play.

KEEPING THE ISSUE ALIVE

Reciprocity to the Front in a Western Canadian Election.

Big Program of Railway Construction in British Columbia Presented.

Ottawa, Ont., March 22.—Canada has had more than its share of general elections during the last twelve months. Nova Scotia first set the ball rolling when Premier Murray's Liberal government was returned with a somewhat reduced majority. Then came the general election for the Dominion parliament, which resulted in the defeat of the Laurier administration and the election of the Conservative party. The Liberal government of Prince Edward Island very soon afterward was overthrown and the Conservatives carried the province by an overwhelming majority. Then followed the Ontario general election when Premier Whitney was again returned to power with a slightly reduced majority.

On March 28 the British Columbia Conservatives, led by Premier McBride, will appeal to the people with a big program for railway construction and are pretty sure of re-election with a handsome majority. At present there are only one Liberal and two Socialists in the legislature, all the others being supporters of McBride. In a very short time, not later than June 9, the Liberals of Saskatchewan will appeal to the electors when the leading cry will be reciprocity with the United States. Of course, this does not mean that reciprocity can be obtained by the province, as the issue is really a Dominion question, but it is expected that in this way the question will be kept alive and forced again up to the Ottawa authorities; that is, if the provincial party under Mr. Scott, is sustained. The grain blockade is expected to operate in its favor, although the change of the government at Ottawa will do a good deal to counteract this.

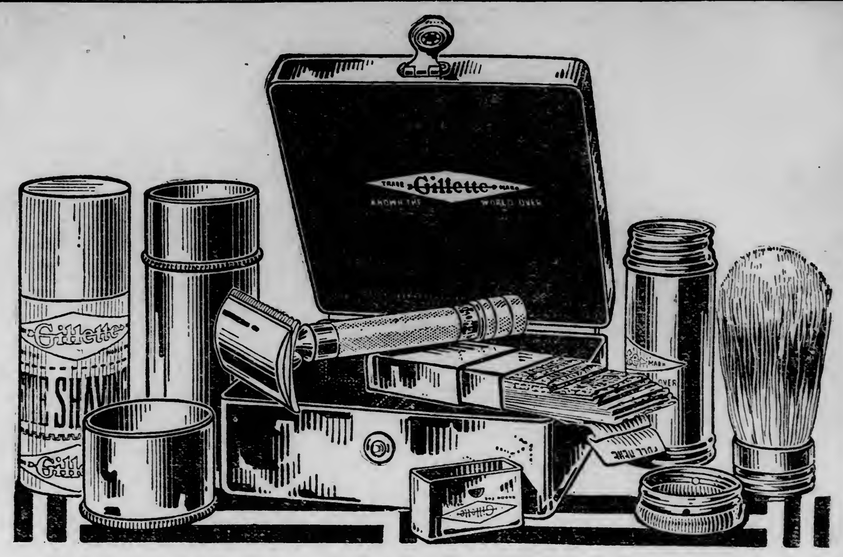
Meantime, the Saskatchewan Liberals are trying to make all the capital they possibly can from the fact that while Ontario is getting access to a port on Hudson Bay through the province of Manitoba, this is not so far granted to them. Telegrams have been passing between Acting Premier Calder and Premier Borden on the subject and the former is making an effort to show that Saskatchewan is being discriminated against. It does not look as if Saskatchewan really anticipated obtaining any such privilege, but the telegrams will be made to do duty in the coming campaign when people are expected to take their politics somewhat seriously.

The British Columbia Fight.

The political campaign in British Columbia is to be one of the shortest on record, as voting will take place on March 28. Some three years ago Premier McBride swept the province on a proposition by Mackenzie and Mann of the Canadian Northern to extend their transcontinental line from the Rockies, toward which they are now speeding, through British Columbia by way of Kamloops, on to New Westminster and Vancouver, crossing at the narrows to Victoria island and then straight to Victoria. This was a program so enticing that only one Liberal was elected by the opposition. A still more enticing program is being offered in the way of railway construction by Mr. McBride in the present contest, which is taking place one year ahead of time. Every part of the province is to be touched at some point by one or other of the proposed lines, which are to be aided in one shape or another by government guarantees or subsidies. There is nothing that Canadians seem to appreciate more about election time than the offer of heavy expenditures. Faith in their country is evidently so strong that they fear not any amount of public undertakings.

A Progressive Opposition.

A feature of this contest brings out strongly the growth of democracy and the advanced views of labor men on matters of government in the Canadian West. This in time will have its effect in showing a more careful husbanding of the taxes of the people. Because in the end it is the workmen who pay the shot, especially in a country that has protection for its policy. The opposition to the British Columbia government has, after meeting in conference for a couple of days at Vancouver, promulgated a policy which is by far the most radical and progressive ever presented to any portion of the Canadian people. Take in the first place the resolutions which go to make up its labor platform. This platform includes provision for a provincial department of labor with free government labor bureaus. There is to be thorough and frequent inspection of all industrial premises to insure health, safety and sanitation. Child labor in factories is to be strictly prohibited. The establishment by the government of a permanent industrial insurance commission is suggested. This commission would provide compensation to employes for injuries received during employment, without litigation, and employes would get the benefit of accident insurance at minimum cost. The scope of the workmen's compensation act ought to cover all hazardous employments. The proposed platform also provides for at least fortnightly payment of wages, with a minimum wage, eight-hour day and six-day week on all government-aided works.



American Men Must Have Time-Saving Devices

Three Minute Gillette Shave Another Indication of National Activity

"Quick action is the order of the day all over this country. It's too fast an age for slow-moving methods. Minutes count."

This is the way a student of American character explains the remarkable popularity of the Gillette Safety Razor.

And millions of Gillette users agree with him. They are alert, energetic men who push ahead.

They have no time to wait for the call of "next," or for stropping or honing or fussing with the ordinary razor.

They lather—then shave with the Gillette—simple, quick, clean, convenient.

What the Gillette Will Do for You

Whatever your shaving habits may be, no matter how tender your skin or tough and wiry your beard, the Gillette will give you a clean velvet shave.

It will give you a light shave or close shave (closer than a barber dare give you), with no roughness, no irritation.

It is not necessary that you know how to shave yourself. You do not need to be "tool-wise" or handy. There is no stropping, no honing.

You quickly get the knack of the Gillette and you will learn little individual shave-simplifying tricks every day you use it.

The wonder of the Gillette is its adaptability—the way it meets individual needs.

Every man's face is different. Your beard is individual in the way it grows and its shaving requirements.

The adjustment of the Gillette will suit your beard and your skin. The Gillette will save you time and money and it is safe.

Think of the comfort of it; the ability to shave in two or three minutes in the morning as regularly as you wash your face. The convenience and simplicity—no litter of strops and hones. No danger of bad cuts and scratches.

Don't Put It Off—Buy a Gillette To-day

Considering all the Gillette means in comfort and economy, it should be in the hands of every man in this city with a beard to shave.

Don't be without it another day.

Ask your dealer.

If you can't go now, go soon.

The very next time you see a Gillette in a store window go in and talk to the man about it.

Examine the razor—buy it—take it home.

Standard set, $5.00 everywhere.

Pocket editions, $5.00 to $7.50.

Travellers' and Tourists' sets, $6.00 to $50.00.

Gillette Blades, packets of six (12 shaving edges), 50 cents; nickel-plated box of twelve (24 shaving edges), $1.00.

For sale in 40,000 retail stores in every part of the habitable globe.

BIG GUN AT SANDY HOOK USELESS NOW

No Money to Build Carriage Appropriated By Congress.

Washington, March 22.—Useless, if an emergency should arsie for sudden defense of our coast, the most powerful gun ever constructed by any nation has lain idle at Sandy Hook for nine years for want of an appropriation by congress to build a carriage so that it could be brought into action. Brig. Gen. Crozier, chief of ordnance of the war department, made this statement:

"The gun is the largest evr made, a 16-inch bore, that shoots a projectile weighing 2,240 pounds," he said. "It has an effective range of ten miles and has been lying dismounted at Sandy Hook for nine years.

"The gun is fifty feet and eight inches in length and, using charge of 600 pounds of smokeless powder, will send a steel projectile sixteen inches in diameter, weighing more tha na ton, through the 12-inch armor of any battleship at a distance of 12,000 yards. The next sized gun in point of efficiency is the 14-inch, which would penertate the same armor at 9,000 yards.

"The original scheme of the Endicott board, established in 1886, called for a number of steel turrets for the mounting of coast defense guns similar to those used on a battleship. The cost of construction was heavy, and the members did not figure at the time on guns larger than twelve inches. The rapid development of the disappearing carriage, however, made the construction of larger guns possible.

"When it was found that a disappearing carriage of sufficient mechanical perfection could be constructed, work was started on the monster now at Sand Hook. After three years' work the gun was finished and was thoroughly tried at the proving ground there. It was found perfect in every way.

"But by this time large sums were being appropriated by congress for the defense of our insular possessions and the Panama canal, and it was impossible to obtain the money to build a suitable mounting for the big gun. To mount the gun properly in a fortification would cost about $250,000. The 16-inch gun will be used eventually for defense at the big ditch."

LET THE BABY LISP IN SCHOLARLY PHRASES.

Cambridge, Mass., March 22.—That baby talk is all wrong and that one can teach a child five syllable words as soon as he can talk is the contention of the Rev. A. A. Berle, professor at Tufts college.

"The most important period after you are once born," said Prof. Berle, "is early babyhood. Every one rubs the little body and pulls the limbs of a baby to make it grow physically, yet the minute you try to develop its brain people hold up their hands in horror. When you want a tree to grow you fertilize it. But you'd be surprised how many people leave their babies' minds to absorb whatever comes their way.

"And the instrument of thought is language. If you use baby talk to the child you are not only giving him a false notion of speech but of sound. If you take pains to use correct language to a child up to his sixth year, on the other hand, he will be so far ahead of the average child that they will never come in sight of one another.

"Why should a child say Choo-Choo when he can just as well say Lo-co-mo-tive. People shouldn't laugh when children use big words. On the other hand, they should encourage them.

"Children should be taught scientific principles at the age of three."

Why have the girls of Westminster college, out in Sharon, Pa., been wearing bangs? You would never guess. The girls have founded a new college newspaper called Bangs, and hit upon a novel way of advertising it.

THE CARDIFF GIANT IS HEARD FROM ONCE MORE.

Fitchburg, Mass., March 22.—The Cardiff Giant, a stone image purported to be a petrified human being of great stature, unearthed at Cardiff, N. Y., in 1864, and exploited by the late Calvin O. Bott until it was discovered to be a fake, will be brought into court in a short time to settle the litigation brought by Mrs. Frances Lawrence of this city.

Mrs. Lawrence, administratrix of the estate of her husband, Sumner Lawrence, claims $893 is due her for the storage and care of the giant. In her declaration she alleges the giant has been in the possession of the family since 1876 and that the owners agreed to pay for its care $40 per year. The statue, she claims, was taken away in 1901, and at that time $500 was paid on the account of $1,000 due. It was returned, according to Mrs. Lawrence, in 1908.

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

TOMMY BURNS coming back, eh? Have you stopped to think, Pal, as Mister Dave Cone has developed the happy habit of saying, that the comeback of Thomas would furnish us with a parallel without the terrible expense of some promoter putting up that stiff demand that Li'l Artha holds out for ere he will stick one of those big feet of his in the ring? The parallel would be Burns. If Tommy could come back and whip some of the promising hopes of the present time, why then it's one of those copper riveted cinches that the spade would win in a walk. The latest photo of the former chubby champ fell under our gaze the other day. He has taken on fat since the afternoon he stepped into the ring to do battle with Johnson. His waist line is not as delicately and deliciously curving; to be brutal, Thomas has lost his contour and his tout ensemble resembles muchly that of a hogshead of lager.

What a short and round little man he is. The only thing about him that would lead one to pick him as the man that made the world talk about him for some brief months, is his face and those wonderful long arms. Burns has a remarkably long pair of arms for any man, and this striking fact is accentuated by his short stature. Outside of the long arms he does not look the typical fighting machine. With Al Palzer and the rest of the yelping pack running out of the woods and baying their rapacious cries onto the night air of settled content, it might be an interesting experiment to set the chubby Burns on the trail of some of them and ascertain just how good Tommy is and how bad some of the hopes happen to be.

Every time two of those big hopeless hopes do battle in Noo York one is forcibly reminded of the burning of a cheese factory. Carl Morris and Jim Stewert are indeed lucky boys, for there are many ditches to dig and there are also many honest men out of work. But it is all in this dreary life of ours, Bill, as you have often said, for like Kid McCoy, some of the rest of us are coming to look on life with that soft blue philosophical tinge.

But, just for once, we would like to see Tommy go against some of the lumbering hopes. He met an English hope once upon a time in the person of Gunner Moir, and the result was nearly as painful as the happening at Bunker Hill.

ALEXIS JARVINEN, the young Finn who came from his native land in January, also in a ship, and who has been conquering various opponents since he landed in this country, is coming to Duluth, according to the tenor of a letter that his manager, Gust Frilund, has written to a friend in this city, some time next week. Jarvinen is on the trail of Karl Lehto and it is said that Karl has almost agreed to a match with the new arrival. But before the match with Lehto, Jarvinen is going to wrestle Charley Cutler and this test will be one of the greatest tests that the young Finn could be subjected to.

Cutler is one of the cleverest wrestlers before the public today. His work in this city won him a lot of friends. Cutler wrestles more like Gotch than any of the other Americans, and he also resembles the champion in general build. If Jarvinen can defeat the Chicago Nonpariel he will be classed as one of the greatest men in the country.

It is said that the newcomer is generally recognized in his own country as the greatest that Finland has ever turned out. As Lehto insists that he is the champion of all the Finns at the catch-as-catch-can style of wrestling, a meeting between the twain will at least be of sufficient interest to provoke a lot of speculation.

THE genial mayor yesterday announced that we are to have baseball. That's what they all say. But, speaking seriously and leaving the line of levity for the time being, it must be said that the doctor is willing to go more than half way in settling up the difficulties that exist between the Minny league, that laughable organization with its strolling musicians, and the home club. It looks as if genial Jawn Elliott is willing to settle the matter without hurling acrimonious bricks at the still white windows of peaceful resolve. When two such good men as McCuen and Elliott get together, surely rancor and the high nasal tone will be as completely and as absolutely absent as a minion of the law when trouble pokes its mottled nose in sight.

Seems they are playing the weather as the ace in the hole. Jim Ten Eyck says he figures that the ice will be out of the bay 'bout the first of June. Cheer up Julie, there are lots of nice places to walk around the city. Doc McCuen voices an echo when he opinines that there will be no fit and comfortable baseball weather before the last chilly day of May has ceased to be.

If it were not for the fact that it would be setting a precedent, someone might ask the weather man. But he has been a very naughty boy and should not be encouraged in the least.

Let's have some baseball, and for heaven's sweet and unsophisticated sake, let's get started sometime before it is time to get in early with the fall order for coal. Speaking about coal, let's drop the subject.

EMIL KLANK dropped in a letter yesterday telling in words of sadness of the hurried departure of the mourning Mahmout. The death of his brother, called the Bulgarian homeward, and there is also the rumor that there is some coin to be divided among the sad survivors. But Emil is sad, for he lost the Turk just at the time when he was on the way to make a bundle of that green stuff that has all the Louie the Quince and antique collections looking like copper stocks that have failed miserably to copper.

NOW that Kid McCoy has become an esthetic and has taken philosophy as his comforter and confidant, we may expect to hear that Jim Jeffries has taken up the study of the occult sciences. In the days of old, when John L. and rum were closer than the Siamese twins or the two orphans in the drama of that name that used to boost the laundries, through tear stained hankies and riveretted white shirt fronts, he used to make some awful breaks.

John went in for the higher thought, mystic impressions, and he was especially good at them; spiritualism, a deep and exhaustive study of the Koran, and other things besides. Finally he decided to become a burlesque actor. Thus do high and laudable ambitions become compromised with the sordid taint of the dear dollar.

Kid McCoy and his study of the higher thought and the reincarnation in the living, so to speak, remind one of the efforts of the three Cherry sisters to break into the lair of the drama and climb a little way up the trail that the divine Sarah blazed. The jimmy not being forthcoming the Cherrys remained behind the net that careful variety managers placed as an intervention and safeguard between cabbages and various vegetables and the human, or inhuman, countenance.

OUTLAW LEAGUE REPRESENTATIVES

The representatives of the new outlaw league have been meeting in New York. They are: William Witmann of Reading, president; Marshall Henderson of Pittsburg, A. W. Hussey of Brooklyn, Hugh McKinnon of Washington, Ernest Landgaf of Richmond, W. L. Murphy of Cleveland, and John J. Ryan of Cincinnati. They say that they do not intend to fight the old associations and that they will not try to take players from them. All they ask is that they be let alone.

CENTRAL IS THE WINNER

Northland College Defeated at Basket Ball By 47 to 24 Score.

Ashland Players Are Outclassed By High School's Speed and Accuracy.

Central had no difficulty last evening in defeating the Northland college of Ashland at basket ball, the score of the contest being 47 to 24. The contest was played in the high school gymnasium and brings to a close the successful season of the crack high school quint.

The high school players took the lead at the start and held it throughout the game. Northland registered but three field goals in the first half and but five baskets were thrown from fouls. At the end of the first half the score stood 24 to 11.

At the beginning of the second half the locals loafed and the result of the let-up in play was six field goals for the Ashlanditos. After this Central settled down to hard play and after that the game was comparatively easy for the hilltop youngsters.

Currie played a stellar game for Central, getting eight baskets, while Elder shot seven.

The lineup and summary:

Duluth.		Ashland.
Elder	f	J. Johnson
Stillman	f	Oksanen
Currie	c	Kron
St. Claire	g	O. Johnson
Harris	g	Tletz, Babb

THE TROUBLES OF THE SCOUTS

New York, March 22.—"Digging in the minors and little jerkwater towns for future diamond stars isn't what it is cracked up to be," says Arthur Irwin, the New York Yankees' veteran scout, who is soon to leave on another scouting tour. According to the man whom the Yankees depend upon for their star players, real good baseball players are at a premium these days.

"Scouting," comments Arthur, "isn't like it used to be. There was a time when a man could go through the bushes and pick up all kinds of men; but times have changed since then. The scout who is lucky enough to pick up one really good ball player during a season can congratulate himself and feel satisfied that he has earned his salary."

Scout Irwin declares that there never was such a slim market for ball players as at the present time. "Big clubs," says Irwin, "are not in the market to sell star players, naturally, and that's why it is so hard for any one club to gather a galaxy of stars. Every club owner wants to hold on to his best men, for they are the ones who bring success to his club. Money cannot buy them. The club owner must rely on the scout, for he is the one man behind the gun, so to speak. He is the man who unearths the stars.

"I remember the days when money could buy big men, but now clubs must develop them. Few of the leading batters today were purchased for large amounts, but, of course, there are exceptions. Take Detroit's case with Ty Cobb, for instance. The Tigers got him from a small bush league, but they had to develop him first before he was anything. Most every headliner on the diamond today, after being brought to the majors, had to be sent back to the minors for seasoning.

"There's Tris Speaker of Boston, for instance. When the Sox got him they sent him back to the minors to learn something. Jimmy Collins' case is another similar one. It took Pittsburg two years to develop Jack Miller, but after the Pirates got through with him they made a great second baseman out of him. Devore of New York didn't amount to much when the Giants got him. McGraw, however, saw a future for him and made him learn in the bushes. What was the result? The Giants developed a great little outfielder."

BOTH MANAGERS WERE SARCASTIC

Jones Had Hearty Laugh at Offer of $12,500 for Wolgast.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 22.—The official telegrams between Tom McCarey, manager of the Vernon A. C., and Tom Jones, manager of Champion Ad Wolgast, which caused the break between the two and the calling off of the Wolgast-Rivers fight, scheduled here for July 4, have been made public. They follow:

Seattle, Wash., March 18.

"T. J. McCarey, Los Angeles.

"Wolgast and whole family had big laugh at your joke. We are ready to talk business and will work July 4, but terms must be reasonable. You have first chance to land us, and have numerous propositions. Our previous terms stand. If not satisfactory will negotiate elsewhere.

"Tom Jones."

To this Manager McCarey replied:

"Tom Jones, Seattle.

"The wording of your telegram is an insult to a man of my standing. If you consider a $12,500 offer as a joke then you are not the man to be managing a world's champion. Keep on laughing at $12,500 offers and you'll be managing Billy Papke again. Wolgast will not be asked to box here again as long as he is managed or rather mismanaged by you. Have another 'laugh' with me.

"T. J. McCarey."

JENNINGS HAS MADE MISTAKES

Hughey Overlooked Chances to Develop Some Star Players for Tigers.

Detroit, Mich., March 22. — Jennings and McGuire had a long talk the other day on the scouting proposition. They discussed various players who have been tipped off to the Detroit club. Jim will be sent on the trail soon after the season starts.

Here is a list of the men Detroit had a chance to grab while they were in the minors. Pick two of the several big pitchers in the list and imagine what the Detroit club could do if these hurlers were on the Tigers' staff.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, pitcher, tipped off to Detroit while with Syracuse. Philadelphia secured him. He was the sensation of the National league last year.

George Chalmers, pitcher. He was recommended to Detroit while pitching for Hughie's home town, Scranton, Pa. He starred for Doolin's Phillies last year.

Buck O'Brien, pitcher. With Boston Red Sox. Tipped off to Detroit while in the New England league. Ty Cobb calls him the greatest recruit he ever batted against.

Russell Ford, New York Highlanders' spit ball star. Tipped off to Detroit while with Atlanta, Ga.

Salmon, pitcher, secured by the Athletics. Detroit was advised to take him while he was pitching for Princeton university.

Nap Rucker of Brooklyn. John J. McGraw last October called him the greatest pitcher of today, barring none. He was playing down in Georgia when Detroit was advised to take him.

Thoney, pitcher. He is playing for Frank Chance's Chicago Cubs. Thoney was with Winchester, Ky., when the Tigers heard of him.

Joe Jackson, outfielder, Cleveland Naps, was tipped off to Detroit while he was with Greenville, N. C., and before Connie Mack engaged him. Jackson, Cobb and Crawford would make a weak outfield. The Tigers could have had Joe.

Carey, letfielder of Pittsburg. Tipped off to Detroit while with South Bend in the Central league.

Pratt, outfielder, now the property of the Browns. Detroit was advised to land him while he was with Montgomery.

Burns, infielder, secured by the New York Giants. He was with Utica, N. Y., when Detroit was told to land him.

Larry Doyle, captain and second baseman of the Giants. Larry played for Springfield, Ill., when the Tigers were told about him.

Hi Cole, Cubs' pitching star of 1910. Tigers were tipped to drag him out of the South Michigan league.

Fred Merkle, first baseman, New York Giants. Also in South Michigan league. Detroit let him get away.

George Jackson, Boston Nationals' sensational outfielder. Played for Memphis when Detroit got word that he was bound to star.

Lennox, third sacker, formerly with Brooklyn and now with Chicago. Detroit could have gotten him out of the Tri-state league.

Those are some that escaped. There is no use crying over the fish that got away. The men behind the Detroit club are trying right now to strengthen the net to keep the fish that are cornered in the future.

McCUEN GOING TO SEE ELLIOTT

Duluth Magnate Will Attempt to Adjust Trouble With Minny.

Dr. J. A. McCuen indicated yesterday that there would be a speedy settlement of the existing misunderstanding between the Minny league officials and club owners and the officials of the local club. The doctor intimated that he was going to make it a point to have a personal conference with John A. Elliott, president of the league, when he hoped that matters would be satisfactorily straightened out.

Duluth owes the Minny league some money and it is to be presumed that this financial difficulty will have to be adjusted before the officials of the league will allow this town to go its way unhampered by the restrictions that are thrown around organized baseball.

The doctor further intimated that there might be something doing within the next few days. Maybe the baseball situation is getting warm. There is nothing definite that you can put your finger upon, but there are some glittering generalities that go to make up gossip until they sign "them papers."

And in the meantime with the weather forgetting all sense of decency, the mind of man runneth to the fur coat and furnace rather than to the airy subject of baseball.

TRAINING TRIP FOR WHITE SOX

Darby Tells of Prospects and Gives Schedule of Spring Dates.

Though we do not know exactly where we are in the baseball season, Darby O'Brien remains optimistic. The steady tread of the mailman brought an epistle from the Orator on blue paper and with an imposing letter head And through its lines there is breathed an air of easy confidence and fixed resolve.

"I certainly have some good men signed up for Duluth," says the Orator. "I have my lamps glued closely on all the good men let loose by all the clubs and have got some desirable candidates for the team. Johnson and Worman will be back this season. I expect to get the Cleveland baseball grounds for the training quarters and will have the team in grand condition before the start of the training trip."

Following is the training trip that the Orator has scheduled for the team that we hope we are to help support the present season:

April 13, 14, 15, 16—Fort Wayne, Ind.
April 17, 18, 19—Battle Creek, Mich.
April 20, 21, 22—Kalamazoo, Mich.
April 23, 24, 25, 26—Rockford, Ill.
April 27, 28, 29, 30—Madison, Wis.

WAGNER MADE FIELD LEADER OF PIRATES.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 22.—Honus Wagner will be field captain of the Pittsburg Nationals of 1912. Fred Clark, manager of the Pittsburg team, who declares he has permanently retired as a player, made this announcement yesterday:

The Pittsburg team arrived yesterday for spring practice. In a five-inning game yesterday afternoon, Groover, a recruit, pitching for the regulars, allowed only three hits.

Tomorrow the major league players here will be idle, local officials having announced that any baseball activity will be followed by prosecutions for violation of the Sunday law.

JARVINEN RANKED AS BEST FINN WRESTLER

Arrangements have been completed for the first appearance in Duluth of Alex Jarvinen, the young Finnish wrestler who has met with a string of unbroken victories since coming to the United States. The young giant will wrestle Charles Cutler at the Auditorium next Thursday evening and the Finnish people are planning to give Jarvinen one of the most impressive receptions that has ever been accorded a wrestler in the history of the game in this city.

Young Jarvinen has made a remarkable record both as an amateur and a professional. As an amateur he represented his country in the Olympic games and easily won from the best amateurs on the other side of the water. So eerily did he conquer his opponents in the amateur class that he was persuaded by his friends to enter the ranks of the professionals.

Jarvinen came to this country in January and since his advent among the professionals has not lost a single match. His defeat of the giant Romanoff at Ispheming the night before last, marks the youngster as a grappler of much more than ordinary ability, for the huge Russian Cossack is counted as one of the real tough men of the wrestling game.

Finnish followers of wrestling of this city say that Jarvinen is a greater wrestler than Tuomisto, the Finnish wrestler of Helsingfors, Finland, and that he is one of the greatest athletes that Finland has ever produced.

In addition to his wrestling ability the young Finnish giant is also a good all-round athlete and has done some very creditable performances with the weights in the track and field sports. Jarvinen is ranked with those two great athletes of Finland, Nicklander and Kohlemelnen, both of these friends of the young Finnish wrestler being slated for places on the Finnish athletic team that is to represent Finland at the international games at Stockholm.

Jarvinen has a large number of medals he won as an amateur. He is a giant in build, standing over six feet in height and weighing something like 220 pounds. One of the reasons for the American trip of Jarvinen is the desire to settle the question of the Finnish championship, the title at the present time being claimed by Karl Lehto, the former Duluth wrestler.

NAP LAJOIE RANKED AS WONDER OF GAME

Mobile, Ala., March 22. — Mobilians who watched Nap Lajoie in practice recently believe he has partaken of the elixir of youth and will continue to put up as great a game at the bat and in the field for as long a period as has Cy Young in the box.

"Doesn't seem a day older than he did in 1909, when he worked out here as manager. If anything, seems younger now that he has been relieved of the responsibilities of the managership," said Secretary Coulson. "I don't think I ever saw Larry's equal. Just think of a man who has starred as long as he has!

Greater Than "Old Cy."

"Of course, I acknowledge Cy Young is a wonderful pitcher, the seventh wonder of the age, in fact; but Cy has had to pitch but once a week, or possibly three times in two weeks, while Larry has been going on year after year, batting close up to .400, meeting star pitcher after star pitcher. He has seen many phenomenal pitchers come and go, and he gives the Coombses, Benders, Fords and Walshes of today the same argument he did the Youngs, Hoffers, Corbetts, Willises and Nicholses fifteen or sixteen years ago.

"To my way of thinking, Hans Wagner and Nap Lajoie are greater in every way than Cy Young. It is true Cy has been at it ever since 1890, but Nap and Hans have been batting heroes ever since 1897. They have been taking part in every game in which they were physically able to participate, while Cy had to work only now and then.

Good for Five Years More.

"And you cannot tell me that Larry is not going to play just as good ball for five years to come, barring accident of course."

Paul Sentelle, who used to be a National leaguer and who was with Chattonooga last season, was equally enthusiastic.

"I always was a Lajoie rooter," said Paul, "We Frechmen simply must stick together. But I want to say that his parents had a hunch when they named him Napoleon.

"But the game has shown us but one Lajoie, and it may never repeat. Collins may have a little on Larry when it comes to fielding, but not much. He may be a faster man on the paths, but if you ask me who was the greatest man the game ever produced, I would answer Nap Lajoie, the man who batted .365 in his fifteenth big league season, after having been seriously handicapped by injuries and after serving as a big league manager for several years. I sure do take my hat off to Nap Lajoie."

GOTCH WILL MEET POLE NEXT JULY

Portland, Or., March 22.—If plans tentatively arranged mature, Champion Frank Gotch and Stanislaus Zbyszko, the Polish wrestler, will meet in Portland next July. It is proposed to hold the match at the time of the national convention of Elks which meets here, July 8-13.

Zbyszko is here to wrestle John Berg, claimant of the light-heavyweight championship. Zbyszko consented to remain in this country until summer if a match with Gotch could be obtained. A telegram sent to Gotch brought a favorable reply. Contracts were drawn and forwarded to Gotch for his signature. Zbyszko has posted a forfeit of $1,000 to bind the match.

New Baseball Rule.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 22.—In one of two decisions made public yesterday by the National baseball commission, a new rule was adopted affecting players known as "free agents." The rule adopted declared that a free agent who signs a contract with a national agreement club and is transferred without his consent to another club, or is released without a trial shall be declared a free agent if the club to which he is released does not assume the salary his original contract calls for.

Ulrich Has Match.

Curley Ulrich writes from Barnesville, Okla., where he is matched to fight Art Magirl before the Oklahoma Athletic club. Curley says he is in the best of shape, as he has been training for over a month, and that he will show the Westerners some fighting that will open their eyes.

CATHEDRAL QUINT TO PLAY NORTHLAND COLLEGE.

Northland college basket ball team and the Cathedral high school quint will meet this evening at the Catholic Athletic club gymnasium. The Cathedral five has been practicing hard for this game for the past week and the contest should be one of the best played at the Catholic club during the present season. Yell masters have been appointed and it is expected that there will be a large crowd of rooters out to witness the contest.

PRACTICE GAMES OF THE BALL TEAMS

Birmingham, Ala., March 22.—Birmingham and the Chicago Nationals played ten innings here yesterday to a score of 4 to 4. Manager Chance disposed of two of his young pitchers, Jim Nagle will go to Montgomery, and Clarence Marshall is turned back to Rockford, Ill.

Montgomery, Ala., March 22.—The Montgomery Southern leaguers were defeated yesterday afternoon, 17 to 7, by the St. Louis Americans.

New Orleans, La., March 22.—New Orleans won from the Cleveland Americans yesterday, 4 to 2.

Atlanta, Ga., March 22.—The Cincinnati Nationals defeated the Atlanta team of the Southern league yesterday, 9 to 3.

Beaumont, Texas, March 22.—The second team of the Philadelphia Americans yesterday defeated the Beaumont, Texas, league team, 5 to 4.

St. Louis, Mo., March 22.—The opening game of the series of games between the St. Louis American league and National league teams, which was scheduled for Saturday, was postponed yesterday until March 30. Cold weather and the frozen baseball grounds caused the postponement. The teams will continue to condition in the South for another week.

"Iceman" Spencer Dead.

Oakland, Cal., March 22.—Henry, better known as "Iceman" Spencer, famous as a jockey when Tod Sloan, "Skeets" Martin and Clem Jenkins were at their best, died here yesterday of tuberculosis. He was in comfortable circumstances, having saved much of the fortune which he accumulated when riding for big fees. In later years after trying his hand at bookmaking without much success, Spencer found employment around Eastern race tracks in minor positions. He returned to his home here in frail health several months ago, attended by his aged mother.

Miller Gets Decision.

St Paul, Minn., March 22.—Walter Miller of St. Paul, claimant of the world's middleweight wrestling championship, was last night awarded the decision over Mike Yokel of Salt Lake City, after two and one-half hours of wrestling, neither man gaining a fall.

Moha Beats Burke.

New York, March 22.—Bob Moha of Milwaukee had the better of every round except the first of a 10-round bout with Sailor Burke of Brooklyn here last night. Moha weighed 166½ pounds and Burke, 169½.

MUST BE CITIZEN ON JUNE 27 TO VOTE

Those who expect to take out their citizenship papers in United States court in time to vote on Nov. 5, will have to do so before June 27, as the state law provides that to vote a man must be a citizen for at least three months prior to the date of election.

The date of the first registration comes seven weeks prior to the election proper. To register the man must be a qualified voter.

As there has been a good deal of inquiry of Clerk Pressnell of the United States States district court during the past few days as to when it would be necessary to take out the papers, Mr. Pressnell figured the matter for the benefit of those unable to seek the information personally.

June 27 will be the last day on which the papers can be taken out to do the would-be voter any good on election day.

Editors and Printers Sentenced.

London, March 22.—Three editors and printers of the Communist paper, the Syndicatist, who were arrested for issuing inflammatory publications shortly before the arrest of Tom Mann, the labor leader, were sentenced at the Old Bailey sessions today to terms ranging from six to nine months' imprisonment at hard labor.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Deputy game wardens have wild goose chases as well as other officials whose duties oblige them to invoke the police powers conferred upon them by the state.

Frequently these take them long distances into the woods, and they are obliged to undergo hardships which would make any one but a woodsman hesitate twice before starting out. But not all of them are of this nature, and once in a while they have endings which are as humorous as they are unexpected.

Such an instance was related by Deputy Warden August Tabor of Two Harbors when he was in the city recently. It was not only out of the ordinary, but it also serves to show the conception, or misconception, which some people have of the common fishing appliances.

"I was quite a ways out in the country last summer," said Deputy Tabor, "when I met a farmer driving along. I happened to know him, and he stopped me with the remark that he was very glad that he had run across me. He declared that he had a 'tip' for me, explaining that he had seen a fellow some distance down the stream fishing with a net. He gave me a fair description of him and of the place he had last seen him, about a mile and a half away.

"To take no chances of missing the man who was netting the trout I started down the stream instead of following the road. I did not know whether he would be going up or down. On the double-quick I pushed my way through bushes, over logs and stones and some of the time waded the stream. It was one of the hot, sultry days but I did not lose any time.

"I had traveled two miles and the perspiration was running from me in rivulets when I caught sight of the man for whom I was looking. Slacking down I approached him with as little noise as possible so as not to attract his attention. That probably would not have been necessary as he was so intent upon his fishing that I do not think that he would have heard me anyhow.

"I had my eyes peeled for the net he was supposed to be using. He had the net all right, but what do you suppose it was? One of those small landing nets that so many trout fishermen use."

"For a minute I was so sore, that I felt like cussing that farmer's ignorance. But the funny side of it struck me and when I told the fisherman about it we had a good laugh together."

John Link, the policeman who was taken to St. Mary's hospital Wednesday afternoon, was operated upon yesterday, a part of his foot being removed, blood poisoning having set in as a result of having frozen it. He is in good shape and is expected to be out in a short time.

Speaking of John Link calls to mind a story which has been told on John a good many times. It has been written before, but it shows one of his characteristics so well that it is repeated.

"The Father of Lake Avenue" received reports that wood was being stolen at intervals from a pile in one of the backyards along his beat. So he made it a point to lay for the thief and inside of a week caught him red-handed helping himself to fuel.

When the man saw that he was in the hands of a minion of the law he broke down and cried. He told the policeman of the hard circumstances in which he found himself and that he had to steal wood to keep his family from freezing.

The tale appealed to the patrolman, who figured that he was telling the truth. "That's all right, that's all right," he is reported to have told the trembling man, "but don't make so d—— much noise about it."

Dan Benton, better known as "Dopey Dan" because of his addiction to cocaine, came to Duluth yesterday from Superior and was sent to the county jail for thirty days on an old charge. Dan was arrested some time ago for stealing a quantity of clothes. He pleaded guilty but was given a chance to leave town, with a sentence of thirty days hanging over his head. Dan swore that he would never return. But he did not keep his word and now he is over the hill to serve his time. A bottle of "snow" was taken from his pockets when he was searched at headquarters.

The jury which heard the suit of Edward Mattala against Albert J. Gould for $400 damages alleged to be due because of a beating Mattala claimed to have received at the hands of Gould, brought in an unusual verdict this morning. The jury found for the plaintiff, but fixed his damages at nothing. This is the first time a verdict of this kind is known to have been brought in at the municipal court, and perhaps in the district court. Mattala claimed that Gould had punished him severely without justification. This Gould denied absolutely. He said that he would have "licked" Mattala for calling him bad names, but that Mattala was too good a runner, taking to his heels when he started over a table for him.

John Lessard, accused of having burglarized McEwen's grocery store at Proctor last Monday night, was bound over to the grand jury after a preliminary hearing in police court yesterday. Some of the stuff taken from him was identified as having been part of stock in the store. Lessard was arrested Wednesday morning with his clothes wet through, the result of having fallen through an air hole in the bay while attempting to cross to Superior on the ice. Ed Peterson, who was arrested with him, was bound over on a charge of having received stolen property. A loaded revolver, which he said was given to him by Lessard, was found in his pocket.

Alton C. Pierce, a salesman, pleaded not guilty in police court this morning when he was arraigned on a warrant sworn out by Lena E. Pierce charging him with having failed to support their 4-year-old son. His trial was set for Monday morning. It is stated that Mrs. Pierce was successful in the district court recently in a divorce action against the defendant.

SPEAKERS ARE HEARD FROM

Program for West Duluth Commercial Club Banquet Nearly Completed.

Every speaker for the tenth annual banquet of the West Duluth Commercial club, to be given April 11 at Wade's hall, has been heard from by the invitation and speakers' committee of the club, with the exception of Alfred H. Bright of Minneapolis, general counsel of the Soo road and head of the company's legal department, and Capt. John H. Heasding, assistant general manager of the Oliver Mining company of Duluth and president of the St. Louis County club. It is probable that the two men will be heard from within a few days, when the entire program of speakers will be complete.

Mr. Bright of Minneapolis is well known throughout the Northwest and has figured very prominently in this part of the state during the building of the Soo extension to Duluth from the Twin Cities. Capt. Hearding is at the head of the St. Louis County club, which is an affiliation of all the commercial clubs, farmers' societies and improvement clubs in St. Louis county.

A large sale of tickets is reported and the 400 seats are expected to be sold before the banquet night arrives. A large number of East End residents are planning to attend the banquet, as are also several out-of-town residents. A program for the evening, which will include a series of musical numbers and addresses, will be announced some time next week by the committee in charge.

One of the interesting features of the banquet will be a grand electrical display to be arranged by the Duluth-Edison company. It is planned to have the entire hall decorated with small electric lights, with a large display in the center of the banquet table. The various features of the banquet will be announced this evening by the following sub-committees through W. B. Getchell, general chairman of the banquet:

Speakers and program: L. A. Barnes, Andrew Myles, P. H. Martin, J. Allyn Scott and Charles Kauppi; tickets and printing, Thomas Olafson, M. J. Murray, M. J. Filltrault, L. R. Clark and J. J. Frey; hall, A. H. Merriman, Chas. G. Futter, Edward Dormedy, T. F. Wieland and A. Fieldman; supper, David Sang, J. E. Foubister, D. A. Fitspatrick, Emil J. Zauft and W. B. Getchell.

CLEARING SPACE FOR NEW BUILDING

Two-Story Fireproof Structure Will Be Completed By July 1.

Workmen this morning began to move the old frame building on the corner of Fifty-seventh avenue west and Grand, preparatory to excavating for the new Ramstad building on the northwest corner of the block. The building will have a 75-foot frontage on fifty feet of which the foundation has already been built. Operations on the remaining twenty-five feet will start immediately after the frame building is removed.

The new structure will cost about $25,000 when finished. It will face on Grand avenue and will run eighty-five feet to the alley on Fifty-seventh avenue. The first floor will be arranged for stores, and the second floor for offices and flats. The building will have a steel frame and will be entirely fireproof, the first of its kind in this end of the city. The foundation will be built to support three stories, only two of which will be built for the present.

Louis Ramstad of 5506 West Sixth street, who is building the structure, said this morning that it will probably be finished by July 1. A number of business men have already applied for space in the building, he said.

Moves to East End.

F. C. Harris, superintendent of the Zenith Furniture company, has moved with his family from West Duluth to his new home at 330 North Sixteenth avenue east. Mr. Harris returned this week from Chicago, where he met several of the officials of the company and discussed the plans for the next few months.

Minstrel Show.

The choir of the Proctor M. E. church will present a minstrel show April 17, at the Odd Fellows' hall in Proctor. A large number of local young people will take part in the program, which will be under the direction of Mrs. C. B. Gilbert. The first rehearsal will be held tomorrow evening, when the cast for the play will be chosen and the various features announced.

WADE AND CLARK WIN IN FINALS

Successful Season at Western Club Rink Brought to Close.

Following the closing of the curling season last evening at the Western Curling rink, the members received an invitation to send five rinks to Superior for a bonspiel tomorrow evening. The Superior club will entertain the rinks at a dinner at the Superior Commercial club, following which the bonspiel will begin about 8 o'clock.

The Superior club has also invited all the members of the Western rink to skate at the Superior club as the latter's guests. The following skips will go to Superior tomorrow evening: Evered, Iltis, Method, Scott and Olson. The banquet will begin at 6:30 o'clock.

Last evening Wade won the Burns Lumber company trophy by defeating Olson, 13 to 9, in the finals. Clark won the Hndrickson Jewelry trophy by winning from Evered, 11 to 10, in the finals. These two games closed the regular curling season for the club, although a number of practice games will be played until the ice is unfit for curling. This evening two rinks from the New Duluth Curling club will play with two of the West Duluth rinks.

FARGO MAY HAVE TWO MAYORS FOR A WHILE.

Fargo, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of the failure of the new law requiring municipal elections on presidential primary day to repeal the old municipal law, Fargo may have a double-header mayor system for three weeks.

Mayor Lovele was elected under a law which said his duties began and expired April 20. Under the new law, the mayor must qualify and assume his duties within ten days, which would be March 29, leaving two mayors from that date to April 20. Attorneys are investigating the situation. Mayor Lovele was elected before the new law was enacted.

LEADERS SCRAP ABOUT TEXAS

Taft and Roosevelt Committees Make Counter-Charges as to Work There.

Washington, March 22.—Counter-charges that efforts had been made to coerce the federal officeholders of Texas are made by the Taft and Roosevelt national headquarters in Washington in statements given out here.

The Roosevelt managers declare that the Taft managers were making an open and "unblushing attempt to coerce the Republicans of Texas into selecting Taft delegates to the Chicago convention by means of the patronage club."

In a counter-statement the Taft bureau declares that Cecil Lyon, Republican national committeeman for Texas, has been making efforts to force federal officeholders into line for the Roosevelt candidacy, and that attempts have been made to collect funds from the officeholders for Roosevelt campaign purposes.

Goldsborough for Primaries.

Annapolis, Md., March 22.—In order to make his position on the presidential primary question plain to Former President Roosevelt, Governor Goldsborough has written a letter to the former president, which he gave out today. He says he heartily indorses state-wide presidential primaries, and informs the colonel that he transmitted a message to the general assembly recommending the adoption of a state-wide primary bill.

WINDSOR STORY EXCITES HIBBING

Rumored That Jack Redmond Is Dead From Pal Brown's Hammering.

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local fight fans are considerably worked up here today over a report, the origin of which cannot be traced, that Jack Redmond, who went down before Pal Brown of Hibbing in eight rounds at Windsor, Ont., Wednesday night, had since died, and that Brown is in jail. An effort is being made to have the report confirmed or denied by wiring to Windsor, as Brown has many friends here and they are considerably worried.

CUT IS ONLY TEMPORARY

Low Prices for Ore Not Expected to Last Through Season.

Rising Iron Market Will Carry Ore Prices With It.

One of the most prominent independent mine owners of Duluth today gave his opinion of the cutting of the price of ore by the United States Steel corporation.

"There has been some persistent cutting of the price of ore upon the part of some independent owners, a slight underbidding of the market," he said, "and the present move of the steel company is, in my opinion, a move calculated to give these people all they want of their own game.

"The price of finished iron products is increasing. We are facing a rising market and I do not believe that the prices fixed by the Steel corporation will remain throughout the entire season. In my opinion there will be a limited amount of ore placed upon the market at the recently quoted prices, and then there will be a remaking of prices later in the season.

"Ore has already been sold at the figures quoted from Cleveland. But in the face of the increase in the price of the finished product, it does not seem logical that the cut will remain in effect during the entire season."

According to the opision of the Duluth independent holder there will be very little ore of the independents sold at the figures recently quoted. He says that it will be a losing proposition for the independent shippers, as the cost of puting the ore on the docks at Cleveland will in some cases be approximately what the new ore figures are.

"Development, in my opinion, will go on in most of the well organized mines with the hope that the price of ore will advance during the middle of the season," he said.

McINTOSH IS TO BE TRANSFERRED

"Incompatibility of Temper" Causes Trouble in State Dairy Work.

St. Paul, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following numerous embarrassing situations which have arisen in the state dairy and food department, Fred W. McIntosh, secretary, is to be retired and either transferred to another department or dismissed from the service. A conference in the governor's office this afternoon was expected to determine the action.

Ralph W. Wheelock, the governor's private secretary, said this morning that until the conference is held nothing definite could be stated as to where Mr. McIntosh would be placed, if at all.

"Incompatibility of temper," is the reason assigned.

That affairs in the dairy and food department have not been running smoothly has been common gossip at the capitol. Friction between McIntosh and Commissioner Winkler and between him and John McCabe, assistant commissioner, has frequently been reported.

George D. Swift, appointed by Mayor J. A. McCuen as a member of the board of water and light commissioners to succeed L. B. Manley, took his seat on the board at the regular meeting yesterday. Only routine business was transacted.

Verdict for $325.
Bernard Sundquist will recover $325 from the Bowe-Burke company for injuries received while employed by the firm at the construction of the county courthouse at Grand Marias last December. Sundquist sued for $3,575 and was given a verdict for $325 by a jury yesterday afternoon in district court. Sundquist claimed that he fell from a scaffold and badly injured his right foot.

Log Company Wins.
A verdict for the defendant was returned yesterday by a jury which tried the case brought in district court by James C. Smith against the Duluth Log company and Abner Smith, in which the plaintiff sought to recover about $3,000 for hospital tickets which he claimed to have sold in the lumber camps at the request of the logging company.

Sues to Collect Rent.
David Christopher is suing the Pabst Brewing company for two months' rent on a saloon building at 228 Lake avenue south. The case is being heard in district court before Judge Cant and a jury today. Christopher claims that the brewers took a two years' lease on the structure and are in default for the rent for December, 1911, and January, 1912, and asks for a judgment of $300.

The brewing company claims that its tenants moved out, being unable to get a license, and that they served notice of this on Christopher before abandoning the property. Spencer & Marshall are attorneys for Christopher and John Jenswold, Jr., is defending.

Land Sewer Contract.
The Pastoret-Lawrence company, local contractors, were low bidders in St. Paul over a large number of competitors bidding on the Thomas Van Buren sewer system. The job is a big one. The local firm's bid was approximately $43,000. About five miles of pipe will be laid.

FOURTEEN BOYS; MORE AT HOME

Kansas Man Pays $30 Per Day for Hotel Rooms in Denver.

Denver, Colo., March 22.—Fourteen boys, ranging in age from 6 to 16 years, entered the lobby of a hotel here today. Behind them trudged a stout, smiling faced man of middle age.

"All mine," the man told the clerk as he waved his hand toward the lads.

He wrote "Nathan Alexander, Goodland, Kan.," on the register. "I have a few more at home," Mr. Alexander confided to the astonished clerk.

"How many rooms do you want, sir?" the latter managed at length to inquire.

"Fifteen," the father of the boys replied. "I've never doubled 'em up yet, and I don't propose to do so now."

"That will be $30 a day," he was informed.

"That's all right. These are fine boys. Give 'em the best you have."

WANT TO EXTEND THE SCOPE OF ERDMAN ACT.

Washington, March 22.—President Taft today was asked by several Pennsylvania members of the house to lend his influence to the effort now being made in congress to have the Erdman act extended to the mining industry so as to be of value in coal strikes. At present the Erdman act applies only to interstate railroads, providing government mediation may be offered if both parties to the strike agree to it.

Argue Switching Charges.
St. Paul, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Final arguments of the Chicago Great Western railroad for privilege of increasing its switching charges from South St. Paul to the packing houses on the west side are being made before the state railroad and warehouse commission today.

INVENTED THE MAIL BOX.
National Magazine: A little more than half a century ago the letter box was unknown. The inventor was Joseph William Briggs, nephew of a former governor of Massachusetts.

As head clerk in the Cleveland post office he studied the needs of patrons, and after corresponding with Postmaster-General Dennison upon the subject Mr. Briggs took a train for Washington, bearing a pasteboard model of the letter box under his arm.

The Postmaster-General saw the merits of the plan and appointed Mr. Briggs as special agent to establish the letter box and letter carrier system.

The first letter box was attached by clamps to a lamp post that stood in front of a Cleveland drug store, and not a year had passed before fifty-two different cities had adopted the system.

At the time people were accustomed to write letters on large foolscap sheets, which they took to the postoffice to mail. The sender was asked whether the letter consisted of one or two sheets, and if two, the postage was doubled, regardless of weight.

The Thrifty

buy their groceries at wholesale from Barthe-Martin Co. Are you one of the thrifty ones? No retailer can regularly and consistently sell groceries at our wholesale prices.

Buy Right

It is just as important for a family to buy groceries right as for a merchant. Many families know but little about buying. We are experienced buyers of groceries and will gladly explain to you how to buy this and that and save money. We are merchants, not storekeepers.

We go direct to the manufacturer for our goods and you should come direct to us to buy. We save you money on 1,700 different kinds of groceries, not a cut price on five or six different articles, but everything at wholesale prices.

The Journal of Commerce of New York prints in one of its issues this week that the consumer in many instances is paying 25 to 50 per cent more for short-weight package goods of today than he did for same a few years back. They say the consumer is partly to blame for the high cost of living—that he can buy more economically if so disposed. Try buying

By Our Method

Do not buy groceries put up in small size bottles, cans, packages, etc.; you are paying for these small packages, plus the labor in putting up the goods. We have the self same, identical goods, put up in larger and more inexpensive packages and we will gladly tell you, when you come into our store how we can save you many dimes and quarters.

NAPOLEON FLOUR

Every sack is sold under a "satisfaction-or-money-back" guarantee. It's "the flour without a fault." Tell the grocer "NAPOLEON"—no other.

For instance, in renting rooms the answers will be better and more numerous if you tell the size, price, direction, locality, accessible car lines, etc., than if you merely give the street address. Tell the whole story, and readers will be interested. Think before you write. Word your ad carefully.

RECEIPTS OF WHEAT LESS

Closes on the Whole Are Rather Bullish on the American Markets.

Flaxseed Is Lower By Reason of Bearish News and Larger Offers.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 22.—The closing figures on wheat today on the leading American markets were on the whole bullish, especially on the May option. Winnipeg, however, closed a little off, in sympathy with the weakness at Liverpool, with which the Winnipeg market is in close touch. The bulge on the American markets was due in the main to the falling off of primary receipts, the receipts from the country today showing a decrease in comparison with those of a week ago and also in comparison with those of a year ago. Duluth May wheat closed unchanged from the closing figure yesterday but July closed ¼c up. Cash wheat as usual on the Duluth market closed ½c over the May price. Oats closed ⅝c up. Durum, rye and barley were unchanged. Duluth March and May wheat closed ¼c higher, but July closed unchanged.

Wheat on the markets of North America today again failed to make uniform movements. Duluth was conservative. At noon today, May wheat stood just where it did at the close yesterday. Chicago showed quite a bulge. Minneapolis was a shade higher and Winnipeg was a little lower. Primary receipts on the American markets were behind those of a year ago. Foreign news was bearish.

Buenos Ayres wheat, which closed last night at ¼c to ½c off, opened this morning unchanged to ¼c lower. Large shipments of Argentine wheat, the bearish Argentine quotations, the expectation of larger world's shipments, increasing Plata offers and larger Argentine stocks all had the effect of putting down wheat on the Liverpool market, which closed ⅜d to ⅝d lower. As the Liverpool market is closely in touch with that at Winnipeg, this news exercised quite a bearish influence on the Winnipeg figures.

Flaxseed Goes Lower.

A bearish influence was exercised on Duluth flaxseed by the lower foreign quotations. Winnipeg May at noon today was 1½c down at $1.81½. Buenos Ayres April flaxseed closed last night at $1.75⅝, being 1¾c lower, and today it opened ⅝c off. At Duluth there was scarcely any demand and offers from the country were better than usual, though there were no cars on the track for inspection. Both the May and July options were 1¼c off at noon today.

MARKET GOSSIP

There is some disposition among the grain men of Duluth, especially those engaged in the elevator business, to look with skepticism upon the statement that the railroads of Western Canada have laid an embargo on shipments of grain to the elevators of Duluth and Superior on account of a scarcity of cars. Some discredit the embargo report altogether, notwithstanding the fact that it was announced by the Associated Press.

Duluth and Superior elevator men indignantly deny that any of the Canadian cars have been kept any longer than was absolutely necessary for the unloading of the grain.

"We have always made it a practice to return the cars promptly," remarked a local elevator manager, today, who did not care to be quoted by name. "The Canadian cars have been returned empty with all possible speed. I do not think the Canadian railroads have stopped the grain shipments for any such reason as that.

"It may be that shipments have been stopped, because the Canadian railroads are anxious to get all of the carrying trade they can out of that Western Canadian grain. When the congestion is relieved, it will pay them far better to run the cars over the Canadian lines north of the Great Lakes to the Atlantic seaboard, than to let so much of this haul to the ocean ports be done by American railroads. I believe there has already been a great deal of relief of the Canadian grain situation by the shipment of the millions of bushels of bonded grain to the elevators of Duluth and Superior.

"Again, I should not be surprised, if the Western Canadian railroad men were becoming somewhat anxious about the capacity of the Duluth and Superior elevators to take care of much more of the bonded grain of Duluth and Superior. Some of our people seem to think that we could take care of 10,000,000 bushels more than we have at present. I cannot see it in that way. As nearly as I can make out, with all the grading that must be done with the Canadian grains, for they require much more grading than the American grains do, we could take care of about 5,000,000 bushels more, if none should be shipped out.

"Those who say that the elevators' storage capacity of Duluth and Superior is about 32,000,000 bushels, should remember that that was the capacity before the recent fires, which destroyed elevators on both sides of the bay. I estimate the present storage capacity of Duluth and Superior elevators at 27,000,000 bushels.

"I suppose we shall keep on shipping bonded grain out of Duluth and Superior for the East, but I wish to say that there is danger of this shipping being cut off at any time for want of cars. We often have a great deal of difficulty getting the cars.

"If, as the Associated Press dispatch said yesterday, there are 4,000 cars of Canadian grain headed this way we elevator men of Duluth and Superior are well enough pleased to have the heading of cars for the American Head of the Lakes stopped for a while. Four thousand cars will mean about 5,000,000 bushels of grain, for it should not be forgotten that a carload of oats often amounts to 2,000 bushels and therefore more than 1,000 bushels to a car should be assumed. Those 5,000,000 bushels of Canadian grain will about fill up our elevator capacity, unless we do a great deal of shipping by rail, and it is very doubtful whether we do or not.

"In regard to the statement that a great deal of Canadian grain is likely to be destroyed in Western Canada because of its dampness, if it is not shipped to the Duluth and Superior elevators, I wish to say that I do not think it is in any less danger of spoiling on our side of the line than on the other. To be sure, we have facilities for drying it, but we can dry only about 30,000 bushels a day, or perhaps a million bushels a month. If western Canada has millions of bushels of damp grain we cannot save it all.

"I do not believe there will be any shipment of bonded grain to speak of by rail out of the Duluth and Superior elevators after the first of next month. The opening of navigation will be looked forward to and as shipment by water is so much cheaper, it is not likely that many owners of the Canadian bonded grain will care to rush the shipments by rail. That is another reason for fear-the fear that the stocks of the Duluth and Superior elevators for bonded grain will all be taken up.

"In short, we doubt whether there is an embargo, and if there is one for a time, we do not care a great deal. At all events, it is not because we have been making any unfair use of Canadian cars, for we have not."

It is much warmer in Western Canada, and holders of damp grain in that country are probably becoming much alarmed. This morning the temperatures over the Canadian Northwest ranged from 12 to 34 deg. above, while those of the American Northwest were 6 to 20 above.

The Modern Miller, St. Louis, says: "Damage by winter killing continues to be reported from a large area of the soft winter wheat territory, where the crop is late-sown, but the outlook is seasonable for the early-sown wheat. In the Southwest the crop is coming along favorably."

The Chicago Paint and Varnish Record says:

"There seems to be a sort of conviction settling upon the trade that there is not going to be any particular scarcity of flaxseed in this country during the current year. This belief may or may not prove to be true, but it is certain that it has a greater number of adherents at the present time than it had a month ago, especially so since the free movement of Canadian seed to Winnipeg after the early restricted receipts at that point. Minneapolis and Duluth already have passed the 13,000,-000-bu mark in point of receipts, showing an increase of some 5,000,000 bu over arrivals for the corresponding period last year, and in spite of winter railroad difficulties caused by snow and cold weather, there has been no absolute cessation of the movement of seed to Minneapolis and Duluth since the opening of the crop season. Stock at the two points is far in excess of what it was a year ago, and with the influx of Canadian seed in bond and otherwise, it is probable that there will be a rapidly increasing amount of seed in store at the Lake Superior market, the accumulation continuing up to the opening of navigation, which may be delayed somewhat this year, because of the extremely cold weather."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Decline on Week's World Shipment Forecasts.

Chicago, March 22.—Forecasts of larger world's shipments this week other than from America sent wheat prices today to a lower level. Cash demand here was slow, and the export trade at the seaboard did not seem to promise a continuance. Moreover, the weather and crop developments in this country appeared generally favorable to the bears' side. Pit traders sold freely taking a special cue from a sharp decline at Budapest. The opening was ⅛@⅜c to ¼@½c lower. May started at $1.01½ to $1.01¾, the same change from last night as the market taken altogether, dropped to $1.01⅜, and reacted to $1.01⅝@1.01¾.

Reported damage to late seeded soft winter wheat throughout a large area brought about afterward an additional upturn. The close was firm, with May ⅛c net higher at $1.02@1.02⅛.

Dealers in corn gave evidence of having been well supplied, and were not taking any more. Commission houses were almost unanimously trying to sell. May opened ⅜@½c down at 70⅝c to 70⅞c, touched 10⅝c and rallied to 71c.

Subsequently buying on southwestern orders caused a material advance. The close was steady at 71⅝@71¾c for May, ½@⅝c higher than last night.

A few good sized orders to purchase served to lift oats. No general trade, however, developed. May started unchanged to ⅛c off at 52⅝c to 52¾c and rose to 53@53⅛c.

Stockyards provisioners sold provisions freely, and stopped an advance, which looked probable on account of the hog market having climbed up $1 inside of a week. Initial transactions ranged from 5c lower to 2½c higher with July delivery $16.70 to $16.75 for pork, $9.75 for ard and $9.35 to $9.37½ for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is in Narrow Range and Trading Is Professional.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 22.—Wheat today was in extremely narrow range, range the continued narrowness did not tend to arouse any outside interest. Trading was of small volume and professional. May closed ¼c higher than yesterday, July unchanged to ⅛c higher and September ¼c higher. Local elevator stocks decreased 250,000 bushels for the week.

Carlot wheat receipts: Minneapolis today, 160; week ago, 232; year ago, 192. Duluth today, 17; week ago, 26; year ago, 11. Winnipeg today, 347; week ago, 498; year ago, 207.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 2,096 tons. Bran continued in fair to good demand. Other feed slow sales. Prices unchanged.

Wheat—May opened, $1.06⅜; high, $1.06¾; low, $1.06¼@1.06⅜; closed, $1.06⅜. July opened, $1.08; high, $1.08¼; low, $1.07⅞; closed, $1.08⅛@ 1.08¼. September opened, $1.00½; high $1.00⅞; low, $1.00½; closed, $1.00⅞.

Closing cash: No. 1 hard, $1.08¾; No. 1 northern, $1.07¾@1.08¼; to arrive, $1.07¾; No. 2 northern, $1.05¾@ 1.06¼; to arrive, $1.05¾; No. 3 wheat, $1.03¾@1.04¼; No. 3 yellow corn, 69@ 70c; No. 3 white oats, 52@52½c; No. 2 rye, 88@89c; bran in 100-pound sacks, $25.00@25.50.

Flour—Minneapolis mills booked fair sales so far this week. One day orders were in excess of output. Shipping directions continued active and prices were unchanged. Shipments, 56,806 bbl. First patents, $5.00@5.30; second patents, $4.65@4.90; first clears, $3.40@3.75; second clears, $2.80@2.70.

Flax: Receipts, 11 cars; year ago, 5; shipments, 5. Demand good for choice flax only. Both spot and to arrive o.o. 1 seed sold for the even Duluth May price. Closing prices: Spot, $2.09; to arrive, $2.09.

Barley — Receipts, 4 cars; year ago, 28; shipments, 24. Barley unchanged. Light receipts made market almost nominal. Keen demand for all malting grades. Closing range, 70c@$1.26.

Liverpool Grain.

Liverpool, March 22.—Close: Wheat—Spot nominal; futures easy; March, 8s 2⅛d; May, 7s 8d; July, 7s 6¼d.

Corn—Spot steady; American mixed new, 6s 3d; American mixed old, 6s 11d; American mixed new, kiln dried, 6s 7½d. Futures easy; May, 6s 3⅞d; September, 5s 2⅞d.

London Stocks.

London, March 22.—American securities were quiet and featureless during the early trading today. Prices showed irregular changes ranging from ¾ above to ¼ below yesterday's New York closing.

GAINS ARE NULLIFIED

Stocks Have Good Advance Early on a Very Active Market.

Selling of Speculative Leaders Causes Reaction in Last Hour.

New York, March 22.—Special stocks were the feature at the opening of the market today. New York, Ontario & Western and American Sugar made material initial gains, soon increasing their advantage to a point or more each. The copper stocks also were prominent, Amalgamated rising a point and American Smelting increasing its fractional opening gain to a point and a quarter. Dealings in the coal shares were at slight advances. Of the other active stocks United States Steel recorded a slight decline.

The early demand was soon exhausted and prices receded generally, the only notable exceptions being in such issues as American Smelting and National Lead. Dealings again fell off in marked fashion and the market began to show further signs of congestion. Subsequently the enormous absorption of the copper stocks created a more cheerful tone and the whole market hardened anew. Railroad stocks moved within narrow limits, outside of the coal group, which reflected less concern over the labor problem. American Sugar rose to 128⅞ and American Smelting and National Lead gained 2 points. Manhattan Elevated was the feature of the second hour, advancing to 170¾ on heavy dealings. Lehigh Valley sold above yesterday's best, and Reading, too, was strong. The demand broadened, embracing many of the equipment issues with a further strengthening of copper and kindred stocks. Amalgamated Copper established a new high record for the movement, as also did National Lead and American Smelting. The rise in the latter is said to have been at the expense of a large short interest. International Harvester, Western Union and Westinghouse electric also rose. A score of stocks were up from 1 to almost 3 points before noon. Bonds were steady.

Low priced stocks were heavily bought during the latter part of the day when the rise in the usual leaders seemed to be suspended for the time being. Sentiment was very cheerful and increasing breadth of the market encouraged both factions to bid up many stocks that had not shared proportionately in the current advance.

Activity and higher prices also prevailed to a large extent on the "curb" market where enormous purchases of the tobacco issues were a feature.

The market closed heavy. Concentrated selling of the speculative leaders in the last hour nullified a large part of the early advance. United States Steel sold under yesterday's closing and Union Pacific and Reading on a parity. Elsewhere prices yielded less, but the market's undertone became irregular and more uncertain than at any previous part of the session.

Cotton Market.

New York, March 22.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 2 points which if anything were a shade lower than due on the cables owing to the failure of the early weather map to show as much rain in the South as had been suggested by the official forecast of yesterday.

Offerings were not aggressive, however, and following the publication of this morning's forecast which indicated continued rain and lower temperature the market firmed up on covering of shorts and renewed bull support with prices during the middle of the morning about 5 to 6 points net higher.

Spot closed quiet, unchanged; middling uplands, 10.55; middling gulf, 10.80. Sales, 1,134 bales.

SOLEMN RITES HELD FOR MEN WHO DIED IN BATTLESHIP MAINE

Unidentified Remains of Thirty-four Men Laid in Last Resting Place.

Chaplain of Destroyed Warship Takes Part in the Ceremonies.

President Taft Heads Mourners in Imposing Military Funeral.

Washington, March 23.—With all the pomp and solemnity that a mighty nation can pay its heroes of war, the last of the dead of the Maine were laid away today in Arlington cemetery.

Side by side with the bodies of those brought back from Havana harbor after the war with Spain, they were consigned to the earth of the Old Dominion, while a nation paid its last measure of honor to the "unidentified" of that great catastrophe that brought on a war, changed the map of the world and extended the empire of the United States into the corners of the earth.

High Tribute Paid.

Seldom in the history of this country had there been planned a higher tribute to the memory of any man or men than that for the sixty-four dead of the Maine. Government business in Washington was practically suspended by executive order. President Taft, most of the members of his cabinet, the highest officers of the army, the navy and the marine corps, officials of the departments and the representatives of many foreign powers participated in the exercises. Over the government buildings flags hung at half mast, while congress adjourned for the day. The booming of minute guns and the tramp of soldiery added the touch of military pomp and circumstance.

Elaborate preparations had been made for the ceremonies. Beginning with the removal of the dead from the United States cruiser, Birmingham, which brought them up from FATHER JOHN CHADWICK, Who Was Chaplain of the Maine When She Was Blown Up in Havana Harbor, and Who Took Part in the Burial Exercises at Arlington National Cemetery Today.

BAPTIZE CONVICT IN JAIL BATHTUB

Sheriff Fears Condemned Man Might Drown Himself in Baptistry.

Maryville, Mo., March 23. — Hez Rasco, who will be hanged here next Tuesday morning, was baptized today into the faith of the Baptist church. Fearing that the prisoner might attempt to drown himself if permitted to get into deep water, the sheriff put his foot down on the proposition to have a large steel tank brought into the jail for the immersion. As a result Rasco was baptized in the jail bathtub, located in the women's quarters. Rev. Lee Harrell, pastor of the First Baptist church officiated. Hez Rasco yesterday issued a written statement in which he again protested his innocence and expressed a feeling of forgiveness towards those whom he accuses of having hounded him into the death cell.

TONG WAR OFF FOR LACK OF GUN MEN

Chinese Societies in San Francisco Sign Peace Agreement.

San Francisco, March 23—Because they could not obtain gun men to fight their battles, the Gom Yorn Lee Sor and Bing Kong tongs have called off their feud. In view of the fact that five members of the Gom Yorn Lee Sor were killed Thursday night by Bing Kong assassins and that no reprisals have been made by the rival tong, this peace agreement is regarded as one of the most remarkable in the history of tong wars in this country.

The other militant tongs have hired all available gun men.

Representatives of the Gom Yorn Lee Sor met Mah Ling, president of the Bing Kong tong at the headquarters of the San Francisco Six Companies, and concluded a treaty. Mah Ling agreed to pay the Gom Yorn Lee Sor a money indemnity for the murder of their five members.

FOUND GUILTY OF MURDERING HIS WIFE.

Chicago, March 23.—Frank R. Backer was found guilty of the murder of his wife and his punishment was fixed at fifteen years in the penitentiary. Backer was accused of having visited his wife after a disagreement and having shot her while he sat on her lap and caressed her, pleading with her to come back to him.

The unwritten law was suggested in the trial. Backer on the stand declared that he could not remember any of the happenings of the day he shot his wife.

MURDER PLOT LAID BARE?

Floyd Allen Is Said to Have Made a Complete Confession.

No More Arrests Made of Virginia Mountaineer Gang.

Richmond, Va., March 23.—Governor Mann refuses to affirm or deny a report from Roanoke that Floyd Allen has made a full confession to detectives.

No More Arrests.

Hillsville, Va., March 23.—No further captures had been reported early today by the posse endeavoring to round up the Allen fugitives on the North Carolina border. The arrest of young Sidna Edwards yesterday left four of the wanted men at large—Sidna Allen, the clan leader, who is supposed to have fired the shot that killed judge Massie, and his nephews, Wesley Edwards and Friel and Claude Allen.

The massing of 100 or more searchers about the hills south of this place indicates that the officers believe the outlaws still are secreted in that vicinity.

Sidna Edwards, who was found alone, unarmed and hungry in a deserted mountain house, insists that he has not seen his uncles or cousins since the day of the courthouse tragedy. He says he had no part in the shooting; that he went to the courthouse and later took to the mountains only because he heard the posses intended to shoot any members of his family on sight.

Worn by hunger, fatigue and the pain of a scalded foot, Edwards slept last night in the jail here with two men standing guard. He will be taken to Roanoke today.

There is much talk of the reported offer of Sidna Allen and his nephews to surrender on condition that they be allowed to plead guilty to murder in the second degree in a court outside of Carroll county. Governor Mann says if such a proposition has been made to the detectives he knows nothing of it.

VENEZUELANS WELCOME KNOX

Strenuous Day of Entertainment Is Prepared for the Secretary.

Caracas, March 23.—Secretary of State Knox, accompanied by President Gomez, today paid a visit to the military academy. The party then proceeded to Washington square, where wreaths were placed on the statue of George Washington, whose memory is held in equal esteem with that of Simon Bolivar, the great liberator, on whose statue in the National Pantheon a wreath was today placed by the secretary of state. Other visits were paid to the national museum, to Bolivar square, where there is another statue of Bolivar, and to many of the public buildings.

A lunch in honor of Mr. Knox is to be given at the American legation today, and in the afternoon a reception at the ministry of foreign affairs.

The visit to Venezuela promises to be a very strenuous one. The reception accorded to the secretary of state was remarkable for the spontaneity of the popular welcome. The program for Secretary Knox's visit is a most elaborate one, consisting of receptions, luncheons, dinners, drives and sporting events.

The papers appear enthusiastic over the secretary of state's visit and most of them publish pictures of Washington, Lincoln, Knox, Gomez and Bolivar.

BIG CROWDS CHEER TEDDY

Boston, Exeter and Durham People Turn Out to See Him.

Students at Two Latter Places Give Him Rousing Welcome.

Boston, March 23.—An hour's delay in Connecticut made Col. Theodore Roosevelt's trip through Boston today, on his way to Portland, a hurried but a noisy one.

He had planned to breakfast leisurely with several of his political lieutenants, including Medill McCormick of Chicago and Matthew Hale of Boston. Instead, he pushed his way through a throng at the South station that both in size and enthusiasm equalled that which greeted President Taft on Monday. He jumped into an automobile, was cheered frequently on his way across the city and was given another ovation at the North station by a large crowd. He had his breakfast in his private car on the train which left for Portland at 8:55.

"Like Football Victory."

Exeter, N. H., March 23.—Practically the entire student body of Phillips-Exeter academy was at the railroad station this forenoon to cheer Col. Theodore Roosevelt when the train on which he was journeying from Boston to Portland stopped here for a moment or two. The former president smiled appreciably at the greeting, and going to the platform of his car he remarked:

"This sounds like a football victory."

The stop was so brief that there was no opportunity for a speech.

Wished Them Luck.

Durham, N. H., March 23.—The students of the New Hampshire State college cheered Theodore Roosevelt as he passed through here on his way to Portland, Me., today. Col. Roosevelt appeared on the steps of his private car, and as the train moved out of the station, said:

"I am very glad to see so many young people. Good-bye, and good luck to you."

GREAT NORTHERN MAN REARRESTED

Master Mechanic Smith Again Accused By Crookston Union Men.

Crookston, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Master Mechanic W. J. Smith of the Great Northern, arrested last week on a charge of violating the state law in having discharged employes who refused to give up membership in the Carmen's union, and later released on a writ of habeas corpus, has been rearrested on another statement of a similar charge. It is expected that he will petition for another writ, and in case it is granted the complainants will appeal to the supreme court.

STARVATION HAUNTS HOMES OF WORKMEN THROUGHOUT BRITAIN

Island Is Beneath Pall of Gloom Owing to Industrial Troubles.

More Mills Close, Trains Are Stopped and Naval Work Threatened.

London, England, March 23.—England is spending one of the gloomiest weekends in her history. In every town, village and hamlet throughout the country where skilled workmen are usually engaged in the great industries, unemployment is on the increase and the families of the workers who have been rendered idle by the strike of the million coal miners who quit work on March 1 are in many cases facing starvation.

Residents of the cities who usually spend the Saturday afternoon and Sunday in the country are unable today to leave town, as the railways, pleading a shortage of coal, have cancelled trains by the hundreds. The railroads have decided also not to run special race trains for the opening of the flat racing season next week.

More Mills Close.

The cotton mills at Nelson, Bolton and other centers in Lancashire are closing rapidly, while most of the factories in Leeds have either stopped entirely or are running on half time. Foundries everywhere have drawn their fires and this week-end a large number of factories and shops in the southern counties of England, which heretofore have not been affected, have paid off their men.

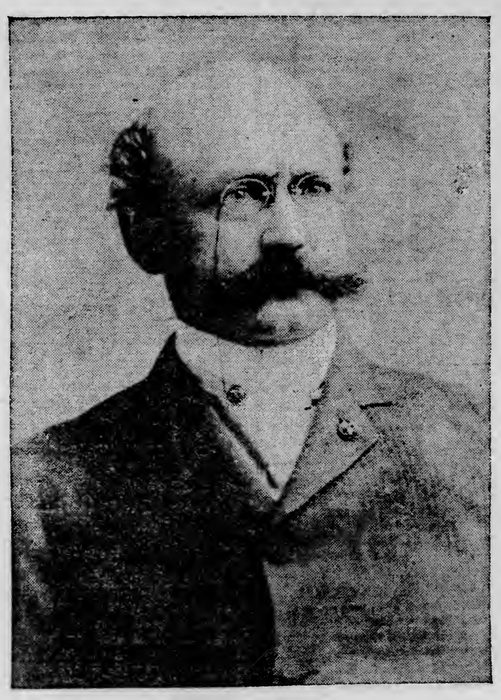
The navy, too, is beginning to feel the effects of the strike. Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, in answer to a question in the house of commons, announced that the strike unquestionably would retard the progress of the work on new ships building for the navy and on the naval bases under construction.

VICIOUS KICK KILLS DOCTOR

Larimore, N. D. Veterinarian's Throat Cut by Beast He Examined.

Larimore, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. J. D. Campbell of Larimore was killed by a kick from a horse, dying at 5:30 this morning, several hours after he had been injured. Dr. Campbell, who was a prominent veterinary and a member of the state board of veterinarians, was examining several horses when one became fractious, giving him a blow in the throat, severing his windpipe and otherwise lacerating him. He had lived at Larimore twenty-five years.

"HANDSOME HARRY," AN OF THE HOUSE AT WASHINGTON, IS DEAD



GEN. HENRY H. BINGHAM.

Philadelphia, March 23.—Gen. Henry H. Bingham, member of congress from the First Pennsylvania district and "Father of the House," died at his home here at 5:45 o'clock this morning. He had been a member of the house continously since March 4, 1879. He was 71 years old.

Gen. Bingham had been ill for a long time from a complication of diseases.

KAISER IS GUEST OF AUSTRIAN EMPEROR.

Vienna, Austria, March 23.—Emperor William, accompanied by Prince and Princess Augusta William and Princess Victoria Louise, have arrived here and will spend the day with Emperor Francis Joseph at Schoenbrunn castle. Afterwards the party will proceed to Venice on a visit to King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, and will then continue their journey to Corfu, where the emporer is to spend his usual summer vacation.

WHAT DULUTH MUST D TO BE SAVED IS OUTLINED IN REPORT

Twenty-One Much Needed Reforms Suggested By Social Worker.

Housing Law, Milk Inspection, House of Detention and Better Jail.

Urges Relentless War on Gambling, Social Evil and the Saloons.

Social Service Recommendations.

To the Citizens of Duluth Interested, as All Should Be, in the Common Welfare We Earnestly Recommend:

1. A perfect and thoroughly enforced housing law, both as to tenements and rooming houses.

2. Detailed inspection and care of milk and all food supplies, bakeries, restaurants, markets and dairies.

3. Inquiry into the cost of living in the interests of people of small income.

4. Recreation and playgrounds, school centers and social centers, with supervision.

5. More generous support of hospitals, increase in the staff of visiting nurses.

6. Generous increase in support of orphanages and frequent medical inspection of children.

7. Total separation of juvenile delinquents from older prisoners.

8. A house of detention for those who should not go to prison.

9. Inquiry into and reform of very bad prison conditions, including advance in cleanliness, in occupation for prisoners and homes for youthful misdemeanants.

10. A municipal lodging house.

11. War on loan sharks.

12. Farther unification and co-ordination of charitable organizations under the Associated Charities.

13. Vocational school instruction and vacation schools.

14. Rigid censorship of picture shows, theaters, post cards and papers.

15. Protection for newsboys, telegraph boys and messenger boys.

16. Enforcement of laws as to dance halls and creating substitutes for the same under careful supervision.

17. Public comfort stations.

18. Steady assault on the saloon as the enemy of all social virtue.

19. Immediate repression and ultimate extinction of the "red light" district and all forms of prostitution.

20. Strenuous enforcement of the anti-gambling laws.

21. Strong representatives to the city government in the interest of appointing men of the highest character and ability on the public welfare commission and to all civic positions.

Twenty-one reforms that are claimed to be urgently needed were suggested for Duluth by Dr. I. J. Lansing, the social service expert, at the interchurch conference with the experts this afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. This conference was the climax of the entire Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign.

Dr. Lansing in sizing up the city after a week's careful study, makes twenty-one recommendations among them being the wiping out of the red light district, war on the loan shark, Miners and Bituminous Operators Interrupt Conference at Cleveland.

Men Reject Compromise Proposals—Meet Again on Tuesday.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 23—Although the conference of operators and miners called to settle the wage dispute in the bituminous coal fields has adjourned over until next Tuesday, officials of the United Mine Workers of America continued to hold sessions here today. The union's policy committee, which has power to make arrangements for referendum voting by the union, will convene here Monday to consider the demands of the miners in the anthracite fields, recently denied by the operators.

John P. White, president of the union, said he still was hopeful that a suspension on April 1, when the present wage scales expire, might be avoided.

May Reach Settlement.

CRACKSMEN BLOW SAFE TO PIECES

Scare Staten Island People Into Believing It Is Earthquake.

New York, March 23.—Cracksmen set off so much dynamite under a safe in the office of a Staten Island manufacturing company early today that the explosion was heard for miles and many persons thought there was an earthquake.

The safe blowers fled after an exchange of shots with watchmen. The safe was blown to pieces and some of its contents destroyed. There is no clew to the cracksmen.

KENTUCKY GIRL KILLS INTRUDER AT DOOR.

Paducah, Ky., March 23.—Alarmed by a noise at her door early today, Miss Bulah Landrum looked out of a window, saw an intruder, grasped a gun and fatally shot him. He was Gabe Chapel, 28 years old.

FEAR MASSACRE IN SWATOW, CHINA

Business Halts and People Flee From the City By Thousands.

Swatow, China, March 23.—Business of all kinds has been suspended in this city and people are fleeing in thousands owing to fears of a massacre.

Severe fighting has occurred between a body of Cantonese troops and a force of local soldiery at Chao-Chow-Fu, about twenty-five miles north of this city. The local soldiers were defeated with heavy loss. Further troops are being sent here from Canton.

Minor Outbreaks Increasing.

Shanghai, March 23.—An increasing number of minor disturbances is reported from various districts in the Southern provinces, but the officials of the republican government continue to assert that there is absolutely no reason for uneasiness.

Premier Tang Shao Yi today conferred with a number of leading Chinese merchants and officials, and it is believed in well informed quarters that he is endeavoring to arrange a purely domestic loan of 100,000,000 taels (approximately $70,000,000). The premier says that the delay in making the final arrangements for a loan from the foreign financial syndicates is fatal to the success of a foreign loan.

TWO RUSSIAN ARMY AVIATORS ARE KILLED.

Sebastopol, Russia, March 23.—A double aeroplane fatality occurred here today. Sub-Lieut. Albokrinoff and his assistant, an engineer, were making a flight in a Farman biplane at the flying ground attached to the military aviation school, when the areoplane was seized by a sudden gust of wind which overturned it and hurled it to the ground. The two aviators were killed instantly and the aeroplane was destroyed.

CLOSING SPERRY CASE.

Arguments to Jury in Fargo Trial Being Made.

Fargo, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The answering arguments in the Sperry manslaughter case began this afternoon, the testimony all being in just before noon adjournment. Young Sperry, with another boy, is charged with having poured oil over the clothing of young McKenzie of Aneta and setting his body on fire, which caused injuries that resulted in his death. At the first trial in Nelson county the jury disagreed.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

"The Adventures of the Diamond Ring" would be quite an appropriate title for the interesting little story connected with the $1,000 jewel which was stolen by Harry L. Thorpe, the would-be deaf-mute arrested in West Duluth a week ago today. The stone was taken from his mother, together with other jewelry valued at $500.

Harry L. Thorpe.

When Thorpe was taken to the county jail he had the diamond in his pocket. He passed it over to his pal, Dave Harris, who was also sent to that institution to serve a sentence of sixty days for vagrancy, instructing him to raise $100 on it. Harris could do nothing while behind the bars, so he passed it on to Charles Lowe, awaiting trial on a charge of having burglarized the tailor shop of John Erickson at West Duluth. The police state that Lowe turned the stone over to his wife, instructing her to take it to Superior and raise $100 on it.

David Harris.

Detective Terry, who aided Mike Neary of Minneapolis on the case, said this morning that they found the stone in the pawnshop of Siegel Bros. across the bay, and that he had loaned $100 on it. Tracing back from there it appears that Lowe turned over $71.50 to Harris, telling him that that was the sum raised on the diamond. Harris is then said to have peeled a $20 bill from the roll and to have handed the balance, $51.50, to Thorpe, with the statement that that sum represented all that could be raised on the stone. Later it is claimed that Harris worked Thorpe for another $10 bill. Thorpe is said to have known of Lowe's services and to have given him $5 for his trouble. The police say that Harris performed a similar service for Lowe.

So all that Thorpe raised on the $1,000 stone was $46.50. The detectives took the diamond to one of the best-posted jewelers in this city and he told them that he would give them $750 for it, which established the value of the stone beyond much question. The balance of the $100 was split up in several directions, apparently.

Thorpe was taken back to Minneapolis last night by Detective Leary to face the grand larceny charge. After aiding the police to recover the $1,000 ring he also stated that he would help them to get the other jewelry, which he claimed to have disposed of in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

If nothing is done with Thorpe in Minneapolis he will be brought back here to complete serving his sixty-day sentence in the county jail.

Herman Hermanson was arrested this morning on a charge of grand larceny, being accused of stealing $31 from Gust Anttila. He will not be arraigned in police court until Monday.

Anttila asserts that he and Hermanson were drinking together in the saloon at 21 Sutphin street, across the street from Hermanson's boarding house. It is claimed that the boarding house boss saw the money and told Anttila to give it to him for safe keeping. After much persuasion he states that he did so.

Yesterday he went to Hermanson to get the money. Hermanson denied that Anttila had given it to him. At the police station he said that he must have lost it. Since getting the money the authorities say that he has been drinking considerably and they believe that it is likely that he has spent the cash across the bar. It is said that three other men saw Anttila hand the money to Hermanson.

Chester Curry, one of eleven men who were arrested while sleeping on the floor of the place at 18 North Sixth avenue west several nights ago, did not keep his word and get out of town or go to work. Consequently, he was arrested last night and today was sent over the hill to serve the sentence of thirty days which was left hanging over his head.

John Schultz, Charles Koske and Joe Risko are claimed to have inveigled Sam Mllack into a poker game last evening, and after trimming him of $10, took $9 away from him when he wanted to quit. Sam went for a policeman and the trio were placed behind the bars. They were convicted of gambling when tried in police court this morning and given $10 and costs or ten days in the county jail. They had enough money to pay their fines.

Peter Sand admitted this morning that he had stolen $14 from John Johnson in a lodging house on the Bowery. He was sent over the hill for thirty days in lieu of a fine of $40 and costs. Johnson claimed that Sand had given him "knock-out drops" when he put him to bed and robbed him through his pockets.

E. A. Towle, arrested in Chicago on a charge of having obtained thirteen horses from Hagstrom Bros., under false pretenses, was bound over to await the action of the next grand jury after a preliminary examination in police court today. It is alleged that Towle represented himself as a large land owner in North Dakota and was going to take the horses to his farm. Instead, it is claimed that he shipped them to Chicago to be sold at auction.

FORTY ACRES, A CABIN AND COW APIECE FOR WORKMEN

Salvation Army Proposes to Colonize Fifty Twin City Families.

Business Men Are Interested In Plan—Needs $10,000

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—To colonize fifty poor families in the Twin Cities on 40-acre farms in Northern Minnesota, provide homes for them and give them a "start" at farming, is a move started by the Salvation Army. Business men interested in the project will meet in the office of H. J. Maxfield, state immigration commissioner, in the capitol next Friday afternoon and endeavor to outline definite plans for the start.

On the theory that there are many honest men digging in the streets, driving dump wagons and performing menial labor, and on their meager earnings supporting families in poverty, and that these men will welcome the opportunity to get out in the open and get started on little farms of their own, the men interested in the movement are planning to lend assistance.

Benefit Both Ways.

They believe that these poor of the cities may be converted into taxpayers, the number of dependents of charitable institutions be lessened, and that they in turn, from their labor on the farms, will be able to send garden products to the cities for those who still remain toiling in the streets.

The Salvation Army started such a colony in Ohio a number of years ago and all the families "made good." This was followed by another colony in California, and the men sent to it "made good." They started co-operative stores, worked hard and eventually became independent. With the large amount of valuable untilled soil in Minnesota and with the great possibilities in undeveloped lands, it is believed there are hundreds of families here who will welcome the chance of going to the forty-acre tracts it is proposed to provide.

Tract in Aitkin County.

"We have one tract of land containing 4,000 acres in view in Aitkin county," said H. L. Hollister, employed in the state treasurer's office, who is interested in the movement. "About $10,000 will be needed to make the start. As the money, for the greater part, is to be invested in land, and there will be little chance of losing it, I do not believe we will have much trouble getting the funds we need. Between ten and a dozen business men of St. Paul and Minneapolis already have signified their willingness to help, and we hope to get at least fifty families located this year. Later on more will be taken.

"Very probably, all would have to be quartered in a sort of community home at first, but eventually all will have their own homes on their 'forties.' There is plenty of timber with which to build cabins.

Cow for Every Farmer.

It is the intention to give each farmer a cow and thus lay the nucleus for a co-operative creamery."

Aitkin county has been selected as a most feasible point at which to start the colony because of the potato crops grown there, the yield in some instances running as high as 400 bushels to the acre. If the deal goes through as planned, appeal will be made to the Soo railway, on whose line the colony will be located, to send one of its great stump-pulling machines to the land to help clear it.

RAILROADS

RAILROADS TO REFUSE ENGINEERS' DEMANDS?

New York, March 23. — The conference committee appointed some time ago to represent the forty-eight Eastern railroads involved in the demands of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for increased pay, has drafted its reply, which will be submitted to the union representatives Monday. Although the reply has not been made public it is generally understood that it refused to meet the advance requested. Presidents McCrea of the Pennsylvania, Truesdale of the Lackawanna and Baer of the Reading were among those who attended the meeting.

NEW ROAD ORGANIZED.

Sioux City, Mitchell & Pierre Incorporated at Mitchell.

Mitchell, S. D., March 23. — The Sioux City, Mitchell & Pierre Railway company was organized here yesterday with a capital stock of $3,000,000. It is proposed to construct a railroad from Mitchell to Pierre. The promoters are capitalists residing along the line of the proposed line, fifty of whom met here yesterday. The following directors were elected.

Theodore Quale, Blount, S. D.; J. B. Rose, Miller; T. S. Hall, Gann Valley; A. E. Hitchcock, Mitchell; D. B. Miller, Mitchell; D. J. Jekyl, Highmore; H. B. Wells, Wesington Springs; A. V. Ewart and C. E. Crow, Pierre.

INVITE CITY OFFICIALS

Commercial Club Members Want to Know Stand on New Duluth Road.

Good Highway Necessary Improvement—Campaign for Cleaner City.

West Duluth is determined to secure its promised highway to New Duluth and to that end the members of the Commercial club last evening decided to hold an open meeting next Friday evening, when the city officials will attend and announce their stand on the subject and what assistance they will give to the Commercial club in its campaign.

Invitations will be sent early next week to Mayor McCuen, the city engineer, the city attorney, members of the board of public works and the members of the streets and alleys committee of the city council. The city officials will be asked for their co-operation.

The residents in this end of the city are anxious to have the road to New Duluth made a certainty this spring. Petitions are to be circulated in West Duluth requesting the city council and board of public works to authorize the completion of a road to New Duluth by way of Grand avenue within the next two months.

One of the features of the weekly meeting of the Commercial club last evening was the announcement of a new campaign to be started within a few days for a cleaner West Duluth. J. J. Frey introduced a resolution asking the city council to clean up Grand avenue before the final assessment is made for its pavement. Clean streets throughout this end of the city, is to be the aim of the club for the next few months.

Announcement was also made last evening to the effect that a petition is being circulated among the property owners on Ramsey street for the paving and improving of that street from Central avenue to Grand avenue. The petition will be submitted to the council Monday evening.

REVIVAL AT ASBURY CHURCH

Rev. W. H. Farrell Will Conduct Series of Evangelistic Meetings.

Rev. W. H. Farrell of the Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, will begin a series of revival meetings with the regular services tomorrow evening. The series will continue for two weeks, terminating with the Easter services, Sunday morning, April 7. Rev. Mr. Farrell will be assisted by several prominent pastors and laymen of Duluth and Superior during the evangelistic campaign.

The plan of the series of revival meetings is to follow up the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign, which has been in operation during this week. The features brought out by the experts during this week will all be discussed by Rev. Mr. Farrell and his associates. Rev. Mr. Farrell is familiar with evangelistic movements, having conducted several of them in different parts of the country.

The meetings will be held each evening at 7:30 o'clock and the church choir will furnish the music. Several local church soloists will also assist.

At the regular morning services tomorrow Rev. Mr. Farrell will preach on "My Question," and in the evening on "Who Cares?" The Epworth league will meet at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Charity Ball.

The West Duluth Ladies' Sewing circle will give a charity ball Easter Monday, April 8, at Dormedy's hall, corner Central avenue and Ramsey street, to secure sufficient funds for the circle in conducting its campaign among the poor people of this end of the city. The members of the circle sew clothes for the poorer people and the annual ball is given for the purpose of securing money needed for the people dependent on the society.

WOMEN REPEAT MINSTREL SHOW

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street, repeated their successful minstrel show last evening at the Foresters' hall. A large audience was present and a number of new songs were introduced. Another performance of "The Black Bell Minstrels" will be presented Tuesday evening at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. The cast which appeared last evening will repeat the performance Tuesday.

The following songs were introduced last evening:

"The Blackville Belles."
"Nellie Darling."
"Goblin Song."
"Plantation Lullaby."
"Doan' Yo' Cry Ma Honey."
"Mammy's Angel Chile."

NEW DULUTH CURLERS WIN AT WEST DULUTH.

New Duluth curlers sent two of their star rinks for a practice match with two of the Western Curling club's rinks last evening, and the former won the honors by the close score of 19 to 17. Ittis of the Western Curling rink defeated Anderson of New Duluth, 9 to 8, and Dash of New Duluth won from Holland by the score of 11 to 8. In totalling up the score the New Duluth rinks came out the victors.

This evening the following five skips with their rinks will go to the Superior club for an honorary banquet and bonspiel: Walter Evered, Charles Ittis, Melvin Olson, J. A. Scott and Victor Method. The banquet will start at 6:30 o'clock and the curling will begin at 8 o'clock. The members of the local club have been invited to skate at the Superior club this evening.

OLD and RELIABLE

Every once in a while you see spring up new doctors in Duluth, who advertise themselves as specialists for all kinds of diseases for men, and for women as well. How many of them have lasted? Say only ONE YEAR? NOT ONE LASTED MORE THAN A HALF A YEAR, unless these newcoming specialists for men and women show the others preceding them, they will last only a few months, incorporated or not. Of all the Specializing doctors who ever came to the Head of the Lakes, THERE IS ONLY ONE OFFICE IN DULUTH, AND THAT IS HERE FOR OVER TWENTY YEARS, that office is the PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, AT NO. 1 WEST SUPERIOR STREET. This is only due to the fact that these Doctors know their business and are strictly honest and reliable. The man who comes to them now will find them here as well in twenty years from now. Any newcoming office will have to be more than good in order to exist and compete with the old and reliable Progressive Medical Association.

MEN'S SPECIALISTS ONLY

Don't ever think that a doctor can know diseases of men and women as well and be successful in their cure.

It takes a builder three or four years to learn his trade thoroughly. How long would it take him to learn all trades?

The doctor who spends four years at a Medical College is incapable of treating with success all the countless diseases of men, women and children. He knows a little of everything, but nothing thoroughly. We cure diseases and weaknesses peculiar to men. This is our sole field. The true specialist never attempts to do more than he can do WELL. His persistent study, diligent research, and scientific investigations are all on the line of a few diseases. A SINGLE CLASS OF THEM, on which all his efforts are concentrated, and to which his entire practice is strictly limited.

We do not pretend to know all about diseases, in fact, our knowledge is very limited and extends to only this one class—DISEASES OF MEN. If you are afflicted with any disease that is peculiar to men, STOMACH TROUBLE, SKIN DISEASES, BLOOD POISON, NERVOUS DEBILITY, RHEUMATISM, OR ANY OTHER DISEASE OF A CHRONIC OR NEWLY CONTRACTED NATURE, we invite you to consult us and promise you a cure. Twenty-six years of hard and constant effort here have given us the means, methods and remedies to effect PERMANENT CURES. We assist every afflicted man to clear up and out of his body all poisons. We free him from his bad habits, we cure his maladies and return him to perfect health.

We publish no names though we have the testimony of hundreds of men, many of whom had been given up as hopeless. Our principles are HONESTY AND INTEGRITY. We have no schemes to offer you, no "Trial treatments," no cheap bargain-cures, but we DO offer you the advantage of our strict professional honesty, our superior ability and our successful experience.

MEN, BEWARE OF TRAVELING DOCTORS

If you are sick, go to the ones you have known to be good Specialists for more than twenty years, we guarantee your cure and you don't have to fear that, while your cure is but half finished, that you may not find us here the next morning. All Consultations free. All day long, you will not meet a lady in our office, for men are only patients. Sundays our hours are from 10 to 1 only.

"As Drowning Men Grasp at Straws,"

I seized upon Hood's Sarsaparilla when I was so lame with rheumatism that I could not go across the room without help. The agony from sciatic rheumatism was so terrible it did not seem that I could bear the pain. Several physicians did not do me any good, but I could see good results soon after beginning with Hood's Sarsaparilla. When I had taken four bottles I could go about easily, free from all lameness. I am full of thanks for what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me, and I take it occasionally now to prevent return of my trouble, and to keep me in good condition. I tell everyone who has rheumatism to take Hood's." Albert B. Blackey, Centre Harbor, N. H.

The most prominent, active and effective ingredients of Hood's Sarsaparilla are roots, barks and herbs that are great specifics and the very remedies that successful physicians prescribe for diseases of the blood, stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and for low or run-down conditions of the system. Indeed, there are physicians who recommend and use Hood's Sarsaparilla in their practice, knowing that these ingredients are so combined and proportioned in this great medicine as to be raised to their highest efficiency. Hood's Sarsaparilla is carefully prepared by a regularly and thoroughly educated pharmacist, under the personal supervision of Mr. Hood, its originator, and has extraordinary merit, medicinally and pharmaceutically.

BARE SCANDAL AT TRIAL OF WOMAN

Defense in Annie Crawford's Case Begins Presentation of Evidence.

New Orleans, La., March 23.—Attorneys defending Annie Crawford on the charge of murdering her sister, Elsie, with poison, opened their side of the case, apparently intending to delve into Elsie Crawford's past life.

About six years ago Elsie became a mother, this fact being brought yesterday in the testimony of a relative. The questions by the defense indicated that an attempt might be made to show that Elsie was morose and despondent because of this dark chapter in her life, and took poison.

It generally is conceded that the weakest point made by the state is the motive attributed the accused for taking the life of her sister—that of insurance, only $44.08 of which was Annie's share, barely enough to pay funeral expenses.

The defense has summoned two doctors, two druggists, a married sister and several acquaintances of the accused.

LUMBERJACK FATALLY INJURED AT CASS LAKE.

Cass Lake, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.) — Frank Carren, a lumberjack, lies unconscious in a hotel as the result of a fall on the cement sidewalk last night, striking the back of his head, fracturing his skull.

Dr. Dumas, who attended him, has no hopes for his recovery, his life being a matter of only hours. His parents are both dead but his sister resides in the East.

NEAL 3-DAY DRINK HABIT CURE

HAS THE ENDORSEMENT AND CO-OPERATION OF

and all other professional and business men, public officials and all those who have investigated its merits and the wonderful results accomplished. We print a few only of hundreds of written endorsements received from prominent members of the clergy and others. The original letters may be seen by any one interested.

CONVINCING EVIDENCE

REV. J. F. NUGENT, of Iowa, the well-known priest and platform lecturer, sent a man who had drank excessively for 20 years to take the Neal Treatment. Noting the wonderful change in three days he declared: "The Neal is the marvel of the world — the greatest thing since raising Lazarus from the dead."

REV. FATHER MULVIHILL, of Iowa, says: "The Neal Cure is a saving grace for the poor fellow who is a slave to drink. It reclaims the body and strengthens the mind in three days, making the former drinker a new man."

"IOWA'S GRAND OLD MAN," "FATHER" COFFIN, of Iowa, says: "I personally know of scores of men restored to a dignified manhood by the Neal Cure. The results accomplished border on the realm of the miraculous."

BISHOP A. F. SCHINNER of Wisconsin, says: "I have no hesitancy in giving the Neal Cure my endorsement, for it takes away all inclination to drink, all desire, appetite and craving for liquor, in three days. It is a God-send to any man bound by the chains of strong drink."

RT. REV. MONSIGNOR FLAVIN, of Iowa, says: "The Neal Three-Day Drink-Habit Cure is a grand, good work and a great benefit to humanity."

FRED B. SHARON, Editor of the Catholic Messenger of Iowa, says: "I have personally investigated the results of the Neal Cure and the highly beneficial results cannot be too strongly commended."

"IOWA'S RICHEST MAN," HON. F. M. HUBBELL, of Des Moines, Iowa, has sent several persons to the Neal Cure. He says: "It is the greatest wonder of the age."

BOYS' CONFERENCE OPENS— BANQUET AND CONVENTION

The boys' conference in connection with the Men and Religion Forward Movement opened last evening at the First Presbyterian church. The total registration of delegates was 174. There were representatives from all the churches of the city. Delegates were also present from Eveleth, Biwabik, Two Harbors and Ashland. At 6:30 last night there was a banquet at the boys' building.

Dr. M. S. Rice acted as toastmaster, and Rex St. Clair, who was elected president of the conference, gave the address of welcome, which was responded to by Charles Little for the church boys, Caldwell Harris for the high school, Julius Nolte for the boys' department, Earl Brokes for the West Duluth Boys' club, Sam Owens for the Eveleth delegation, Archie Peglow for the Two Harbors delegation, Percy Funk from Ashland, and Sherman Millbrook, Biwabik. N. D. McLeod spoke on "Why the Conference?" J. A. Whitmore, the boys' work expert, made the address of the evening. He spoke of a boys' religion and what it meant for a boy to be a real, live Christian.

The conference was in session again this morning at the First Presbyterian church. The following papers were given: Palmer Bevis, "Should an Older Teach a Younger Boys' Bible Class;" "Why Don't Older Boys Attend Church?" Julius Nolte; "How to Increase the Attendance at Sunday School," Einar Jacobson; "Interchurch Activities," J. R. Batchelor. Mr. Drum conducted the discussion that followed. Addresses were made by C. R. Drum of New York and W. C. Pearce of Chicago. The afternoon program will be recreational. At 8 o'clock tonight the conference will meet again, and Russell McLean will speak on the topic, "A United Campaign." The committee on addresses will make their report, and W. L. Smithles, chairman of the committee of 100, will speak on "The Boys' Part in the Men and Religion Movement." J. A. Whitmore will also make an address.

The closing session of the conference will be held at the First Presbyterian church Sunday at 4 o'clock, with a big mass meeting for older boys, to be addressed by Mr. Whitmore. Every older boy in the city is invited. It is expected that this will be the largest meeting of older boys ever held in the city. At 3 o'clock there will be a meeting at the boys' department for boys under 15 and over 12, to be addressed by David G. Latshaw, Dayton, Ohio.

WHAT DULUTH MUST DO TO BE SAVED IS OUTLINED IN REPORT

a housing law, inquiry into the cost of living, improvement of prison conditions, more rigid censorship of picture shows, better protection for messengers and newsboys, enforcement of dance-hall ordinances, enforcement of gambling laws and an increase in the number of visiting nurses.

The recommendations were made late this afternoon.

Dr. Lansing has inquired carefully into Duluth's social conditions. He has visited the different institutions and bases his suggestions on what he has learned for himself and the conditions as told him by those who are devoting all their time to work of this nature.

Dr. Lansing has been identified with many moves for the improvement of social conditions in other cities and while he states that Duluth is not as bad as some cities of a like population, the conditions here can be greatly improved.

At the meeting this afternoon he explained each one of his recommendations and told the men how to proceed to bring about the reforms. He has made the suggestions and partially, at least, mapped out the campaign for the local men. They will, as soon as the present campaign is over, have several meetings and try to put some of the visitor's suggestions to practical use.

At the conference this afternoon the team of experts presented a complete report of the work that is needed for Duluth, in all the lines covered by the Men and Religion Forward Movement and mapped out a campaign to be followed in each department. The report follows:

Woman's Greatest Trouble

Big Sandy, Tenn.—Mrs. Lucy Cantrell, of this place, says: "Every two weeks, I had to go to bed and stay there several days. I suffered untold misery. Nothing seemed to help me, until I tried Cardui, the woman's tonic. Although I had been afflicted with womanly weaknesses for seven years, Cardui helped me more than anything else ever did. It is surely the best tonic for women on earth." Weakness is woman's greatest trouble. Cardui is woman's greatest medicine, because it overcomes that weakness and brings back strength. In the past 50 years, Cardui helped over a million women. Try it for your troubles, today.

4. A Program of Prayer for Missions.
5. Systematic Missionary Education.
6. An Every Member Canvass for
7. Weekly Contributions for Home and Foreign Missions.

II. The Missionary Committee—For the realization of this ideal we urge the necessity of the Missionary Committee in whose organization are correlated the various missionary activities of the Church.

III. Missionary Education—An important service of this Missionary Committee is so to foster the study of missionary life and literature that it shall become an integral part of religious education within the church.

IV. Missionary Finance—We urge upon the Missionary Committee its important function of leading the church to the realization of an adequate financial policy relative to Home and Foreign Missions. The plan of the Every Member Canvass for weekly contributions to Home and Foreign Missions is everywhere commended and by all denominations, as the best method of meeting the financial obligations of the church and as productive of great good other than financial.

V. A Simultaneous Canvass—We recommend that there be held in the near future a month's simultaneous missionary campaign in the churches of Duluth. The first two weeks should be devoted in as large measure as practicable in the regular services of the several churches to missionary education by sermons on Missions, Home and Foreign, and kindred subjects such as Christian Stewardship. The third week to be devoted to men's suppers for a more adequate presentation of the message and methods. The fourth week should be devoted to a simultaneous Every Member Canvass for benevolences in each of the churches.

Evangelism.

I. Train and use more groups of men and older boys in individual evangelism.

II. Secure signatures of all laymen possible to following covenant: "Relying upon the Holy Spirit's aid and co-operation, I covenant with God to pray daily for and strive to lead at least one soul to Christ, and into readiness for church membership."

III. Continue covenant plan in six-week period during the year. The supreme business of the church is the winning and training of men and boys.

IV. Every church activity should be used to win people to Christ. Create an atmosphere of hope and expectancy, and give weekly opportunities for decision and confession.

V. Ought we to limit God by fixing times and seasons in which to manifest His saving grace? Is His arm shortened that He cannot save in one month as well as another? Church practice in many quarters indicates a short winter period as the almost exclusive time for the work of salvation. Is it possible that by centering prayer, hope, and expectation on a brief time, the church has failed in faith at other times?

VI. Laymen's evangelistic bands are most desirable. We advise their promotion and use.

Community Extension.

VII. Strong churches can render splendid service to the weak churches in town and country by loaning pastors or able laymen to assist in gospel meetings.

VIII. While every pastor should train his people in service and develop them in Christian culture, he should also be an evangelist.

IX. In addition to the general city parish each church should know and work thoroughly a small section, contiguous to the church, if possible.

I. Establish a permanent inter-church committee on community extension.

II. More direct responsibility placed on the local church under supervision of this committee. (a) In relation to particular shops. (b) In securing speakers, leaders and musicians. (c) Formation of shop and home Bible classes.

III. An annual day of each church when the story of community extension shall be told and the needs of the field presented.

IV. Co-operation with and use of evangelistic bands as suggested by evangelism committee, in rural centers, weak churches, out-door work, etc.

V. A policy of education and evangelization dealing with the foreign groups in Duluth.

VI. Co-operation of the Inter-Church committee with the agencies already at work in the mining communities around Duluth. Re-inforcement of weak points and establishment of new centers where needed.

VII. The training of laymen in extension work.

VIII. The shop meetings opened during the campaign made permanent.

IX. The opening of new shop centers as fast as is practicable.

X. A definite program for out-door work during the summer.

XI. An executive secretary whose duty it shall be to build up and extend this work.

WANT ROUTE KEPT OPEN

Duluthians Eager for Canadian Grain Movement to Be Permanent.

Hopeful That Regular Tariff Will Be Established By Western Roads.

Duluth grain men and commercial interests are hopeful that tariff quoting regular rates on grain from Western Canada to the Duluth gateway will come out of the enforced movement of Canadian wheat to Duluth on account of the congestion in the elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur.

Canadian railroads have heretofore refused to make rates on grain from Western Canada to Duluth, holding out for the longer haul and the advantage given the Canadian steamship lines by transporting the grain to Port Arthur and Fort William. Only when the congestion became so great at the Canadian ports that some outlet had to be provided was the channel to Duluth and Superior opened. The local port was then put on the same rato basis as Port Arthur and Fort William for the period during which the wheat movement here was imperative.

The advantages offered by the Duluth port and market are being shown. The lower grades of wheat, of which the greater part of the movement consists, are holding at 1c here in cash prices over the wheat of the same grades in store at Port Arthur and Fort William. In addition, better elevator service is being given here and the great storage capacity is a great advantage in the fact that congestion such as exists at the Canadian ports is almost impossible. Some of the grain is going forward in carlots, while the remainder will move quickly as soon as the season of navigation opens. The loading facilities here are such that there will be little delay in shipment.

It is believed here that sentiment will be created in Western Canada that will compel the Canadian railroad companies to keep the channel to the Duluth market open. If, under normal conditions, a good Canadian wheat movement can be assured here, it will be of great commercial importance to Duluth.

The embargo placed on Canadian wheat shipments this week was due to a shortage of cars and delays on the part of railroads on this side of the border in returning Canadian cars to their owners. That condition will be straightened out shortly, it is believed, and the movement will resume the proportions it held for weeks.

OLD TIMER IS GRATEFUL

Sends Letter of Thanks to Electro Medical Doctors. Got Relief From Rheumatism, Sciatica in One Treatment.

Poisons Which Cause the Troubles Yield Easily to Electro Medical Treatments.

In former years it has taken people considerable time to get rid of the pains and aches there are in the course of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Kidney Trouble and those inflammatory diseases of the joints. Today, these are among the easiest to cure, and often a patient is relieved by just one treatment, which breaks up the complex poisons, makes them soluble so that they can be carried off by the circulation or through the skin as was the case with Mr. Berglund. He says in his letter of March 13:

"I certainly can certify that the treatment of the Electro Medical Doctors has done me more good for my old Rheumatism than any other treatment ever did. I have taken gallons of medicine before, and almost could make a book of the prescriptions I had filled; some helped a little and some made it worse, but I must say that in all my life I never got such relief as I did when that powerful Electric machine sent its hair-raising current through my stiff and aching back. I certainly believe now that people can be made younger when they are treated with these wonderful machines. Ever since I have been taking that treatment, I have slept well and was free from pain.

"EMIL BERGLUND,
"513 North Fifty-third Avenue,
"West Duluth."

"We have had a great many people who have taken all kinds of treatments for Rheumatism without getting any permanent benefit," said the doctors. "The reason why our system does away permanently with disease is that we neutralize the poisonous substances which cause the troubles. In the case of Rheumatism, Gout, Sciatia, Inflammatory Rheumatism, as well as in Arthritis deformans, we know that the poisonous substances have crystalized in the muscles and nerves. Like any foreign substance, those crystals also cause irritation and pain to the nerves and muscles."

Medical scientists have been looking for remedies to cure this class of diseases, and it is not long ago that a cure was found. It is a commonly known fact that any remedy will penetrate the skin and go to the deeper structures of the body by means of Electricity, and that is what the Electro Medical Doctors have been doing with greatest success. With a similar process they have cured diseased organs, the bladder, the kidneys, the liver and pancreas. It is a well known fact that many, if not most of diseases are caused by accumulation of poisonous matter which 'rritates the bloodvessels and other structures—causes them to swell at first and later germs find in these weak spots the best hotbeds for their breeding. This is true of catarrh, which invites consumption, of stomach trouble which invites ulceration of the stomach wall. So, for instance, do all cancers start from an irritation which invite the Y shaped bacillus of Hirschberg, the germ which starts all cancers. All these diseases and many others are curable Electro Medically. So are diseases of the heart, prostatic stricture, Bright's disease and Asthma, as well as Blood Poison, Female Troubles and Weakness. Most of skin diseases and eczemas are nothing but manifestations of poisons in the blood. These and all chronic diseases are curable electro medically. The doctors are permanently located at No. 26 West Superior street, till the corporation will see conditions fit to build their sanitarium in Duluth, which, it is said, will be one of the largest in the country.

MAY DECLARE SEAT VACANT

City Council to Determine Status of Alderman Joseph Shartel.

Mayor J. A. McCuen Will Announce Appointments to Welfare Board.

The council Monday night will probably take some action towards declaring the seat of Alderman Joseph Shartel of the Fourth ward vacant.

It is claimed that Alderman Shartel has permanently located in Canada and is engaged in the hotel business. It is stated that this establishes his residence there, thus causing a vacancy in the council.

If the council declares the seat vacant, a two-thirds vote is necessary and some interesting situations may arise. But what they will be cannot be stated at this time. Those who are interested in the matter will not state what they expect to do, further than that they will probably bring the matter before the council at the next meeting.

Mayor John A. McCuen will announce the personnel of the board of welfare, provision for which was made by the passage of the charter amendments at the last city election. The names of those who will compose the board will not be made public until read to the council. The five members will be chosen from the leading business men and citizens of Duluth. Those named Monday will hold office for one, two, three, four and five years, respectively. In the future one member will be named each year. The purpose of the board is to have general charge of all correctional institutions in the city. These may be a work farm, work house, juvenile detention home, refuge home and other similar places.

Bids will be opened for the $50,000 issue of park bonds recently authorized by the council. It is expected that several bids will be received. The bonds bear interest at 4½ per cent. They are issued for the acquisition of lands for the park system.

It is believed that a large gathering will attend the Monday meeting and that considerable routine business will be transacted in addition to the matters mentioned.

HAPPENINGS AT THE DULUTH BUSINESS UNIVERSITY.

Located at 118-120 Fourth Avenue West, Christie Building.

The demand for Duluth Business university graduates has never been better than it is this spring. Verdict of $152.

A verdict of $152 was returned by the jury in district court which tried the action brought by David Christopher against the Pabst Brewing company yesterday. Christopher sued for $300 as rent for two months on a building which he had leased to the brewing company.

Loggers Prospering.

That logging conditions have been so good during the past winter in the timbered regions of Minnesota, that many lumbering companies which had for years been playing a losing game were enabled to get on their feet again, was a statement made today by C. M. Erskine of Grand Rapids, who is connected with the Erskine Stackhouse company. Mr. Erskine said there was still plenty of snow in the woods, which gave everybody a good chance to get the cut logs to the landing, after which there would be no trouble in making deliveries. He said that for several years early spring weather had often made the skidding of logs through the woods impossible, and many lumber companies had lost heavily by reason of not being able to make their deliveries.

Enjoy Oyster Supper.

Company C of the Third Minnesota National Guard sat down to an oyster supper and musical and literary entertainment at the armory last evening. The entertainers were the members of the Second platoon of the company, as that platoon was the loser in a recent contest for new members. Among those who spoke or rendered musical numbers were: Messrs. McInnis, Frink, Hawkinson, Suave, Leath, Parsons, Mitchell, H. Clark and Thorstad. At this gathering the company decided on arrangements for the regular monthly dance, which will take place next Wednesday evening.

No Damages for Beating.

Henry C. Elschen, who sued Leon St. Germain for $1,000 for damages following a beating which he claims to have received at the hands of St. Germain on Superior street last December, lost his case in district court yesterday. A jury which tried the action found for the defendant, returning a verdict about 9:30 o'clock last evening.

FROM HYMNS TO RAGTIME

Jury Sings "Nearer My God To Thee" and "Oh You Beautiful Doll" and Then Acquits Prisoner of Burglary Charge.

JURORS BREAK FORTH INTO SONG.

Tired after a long night of talking, persuading and balloting, a jury which was trying the burglary case before Judge Dancer resorted to music this morning.

And when the chorus burst forth, it forced a smile on the face of His Honor and there was some tittering among the court attaches.

The jury had a good repertoire. It started off with "Nearer My God to Thee" and finally wound up with "Oh You Beautiful Doll."

The program was not interrupted by the court which was hearing a special term case of a civil nature.

The music evidenly turned the trick, for less than an hour later the jury agreed upon its verdict of "not guilty" and returned it to the court.

Although acquitted by a jury which tried the burglary charge brought against him, Charles Lowe, accused of stealing from a West Duluth tailor shop on Feb. 17 last, did not walk out of court a free man this morning.

Lowe is wanted in his home town, Superior, on a charge of arson and also has another warrant, charging larceny, staring him in the face. He is held at the county jail for the Wisconsin authorities.

When Lowe was arrested in Superior for County Attorney Norton, he fought extradition and it was necessary to go through the usual long process of securing extradition papers in order to bring him to Duluth for trial under a grand jury indictment. It is not known as yet if Lowe will refuse to return to Superior without extradition papers.

Charge of Arson.

In Superior, Lowe will be obliged to face a charge of having burned his own home at 1313 North Fifth street several months ago. The warrant for his arrest was issued by Deputy State Fire Warden Charles Good as a result of an investigation into the circumstances connected with the fire made by the insurance company in which Lowe had insured his house.

Lowe is also wanted for a job at Ashland, the authorities there having a warrant charging him with larceny. He is accused of having stolen a quantity of goods from Ashland people and to have sold them in Superior. It is understood that he will be tried first on the arson charge.

The jury which tried the burglary charge against Lowe in district court here, took the case yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. The members spent most of the night deliberating on the case and after practically little or no sleep resumed consideration this morning.

Judge Dancer was called upon for instructions twice by the jurymen, some of whom were not clear as to the points of law involved. For a time, indications were that the jury would disagree, but at 11 o'clock the verdict was returned.

Lowe was accused by a grand jury indictment of having burglarized the tailor shop of John H. Erickson, 307 Central avenue, west Duluth, on the evening of Feb. 17, some time between the hours of 9:30 and 11:30 o'clock. The place had been broken into and several suit patterns taken.

Lowe's defense was an alibi. Witnesses for the defense testified that Lowe on the evening of the supposed burglary was visiting with his wife at a neighbor's home in Superior, and that he was there until about 9:30 o'clock.

George Deitrich of Superior, Lowe's attorney, argued that it was a physical impossibility for Lowe to have gone to West Duluth from Superior at that hour and to have turned the saloon of Social Smith, Superior, by 11:30 o'clock, when Lowe is claimed by the state to have appeared at the saloon and offered the goods for sale.

Mrs. Pearl Lowe, wife of the accused man, went on the stand on his behalf. The state put several witnesses on to prove that the goods were found in Lowe's possession about 11:30 o'clock on the same evening that the burglary occurred.

GERMANY AND THE NEXT WAR

Gen. von Bernhardi Discusses International Politics With Rare Openness in New Book Now in Press.

Berlin, March 23.—"Germany and the Next War" is the title of a new book now in press by Gen. Friedrich von Bernhardi, the celebrated German military writer who is this year to visit the United States. In it the writer, who once dropped a literary bomb into the military camps of Europe by revealing the possibility for Germany, in a future war with France, to outflank the French line of fortresses and invade France by violating the neutrality of Belgium, discusses international politics with rare openness and frankly suggests ways and means of provoking a war with France and England without bringing in Russia or disturbing the delicate relations between Austro-Hungary and Italy in the triple alliance.

Discussing the political preparations for Germany's next war, Gen. von Bernhardi shows that while Germany in the opinion of the world's military experts, can rely on the simple combination of a war on two fronts with France and Russia, with Italy and Austro-Hungary as faithful allies either "keeping the ring" or taking an active part in the hostilities, German strategists are now in a far more unfavorable situation. An attack by England, involving the landing of a British army either in North Germany or in Belgium to co-operate with the French forces, seems almost a certainty and the Austro-Italian rivalry renders it doubtful if Austria, forced to look after its own military interests on the Italian border, will be able to hold Russia in check with the whole weight of its army. Russia's rebuilt fleet must also be considered.

Such a war against overwhelming odds offers few chances of success and Gen. von Bernhardi, to avoid it, throws upon German diplomacy the task of bringing about a situation giving the possibility, as in the days of Frederick the Great, of overthrowing its adversaries one after the other in detail. Assuming that the Franco-Russian alliance is purely defensive and becomes effective only in case of German aggression and that Russia would possibly remain neutral in case of a French aggressive war against Germany, Gen. von Bernhardi boldly suggests the adoption of a policy which without attacking France would affect English or French interests so severely as to provoke the two states to attack Germany. Possibilities for such a policy, he suggests, are present in Europe and particularly in Africa, his references to the latter continent gaining piquancy from the course of events during the Moroccan crisis last summer.

Though the general is most highly regarded in Germany as one of the foremost cavalry tacticians and a writer of international reputation, his outspokenness on the coming war will awaken anything but enthusiasm in diplomatic chancelleries, now trying to arrange an Anglo-German understanding and patch up the peace of Europe.

AEROPLANE CONTEST IN JUNE

Each Aviator Expected to Make About 120 Miles a Day, With One Passenger—Open Only to German Aviators.

Berlin, March 23.—An aeroplane contest in which each aviator will be expected to make about 120 miles a day with one passenger, will start from Bremen in the first week in June. The undertaking will be supported by both the Prussian and the imperial governments. The Prussian minister of the interior has authorized a lottery—a characteristic German method of supporting almost every variety of project—to raise funds for carrying on the proposed contest, and the ministry of war has established a money prize for the winner and also promised to buy for not less than $5,000 apiece the best two aeroplanes, which must be equipped with German motors. The contest is open only to German aviators and not more than fifteen may enter. Each competitor must take as a passenger an officer from the aviation corps of the army. These officers will be directed, moreover, to require specified strategic evolutions from the aviators, which will be carried out with reference to the garrisons to be passed on the flight.

The first stage of the contest will be from Bremen to Munster, the second from Munster through Hanover to Brunswick, and the third from Brunswick through Lubeck to Hamburg. Each stage must be covered in a day and the following day will be a day of rest. One stop is provided for each flying day, respectively at Osnabruck, Hanover and Lubeck.

Two other aviation contests of importance are planned for the coming summer. One is to be a reliability flight on the Upper Rhine, the other a flight through South Germany, covering, among other cities, Munich, Stuttgart and Nuremberg. The first named will be a novel undertaking, in that it will be carried out independently of any and all manufacturers or promoters of flying machines. Outside of military aviators, only owners of machines who are not connected with any factories will be permitted to take part. The prizes will be paid directly to the aviators. The war ministry has already entered a number of aeroplanes, which will be guided by army officers.

SUPERIOR

Union Must Pay.

Mrs. Della Skinner, plaintiff in a suit against the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, received a verdict of $1,000 yesterday in the superior court as the principal of a life insurance policy taken out by her son, John Nichols, who, she claimed, was killed last year in a Kansas wreck.

Miss Mueller Wins Contest.

Miss Hermia Mueller won first place and Miss Stella Seligman was awarded second place in the annual declamatory contest for girls at the Superior high school last evening. Their readings were taken from Irving's "Rip Van Winkle." Miss Mueller will represent the Superior high school at the Western division contest for girls at Washburn, April 19. The contest for boys will be held at Iron River, April 26.

Woodmen Insurgents to Meet.

W. J. Paterson of Superior, chairman of the state committee of the Woodmen are nearly all opposed to the raising of the present insurance rates and two of the five Superior camps have already donated to the national fund for the insurgent assembly.

New Labor Bureau Home.

With three suitable locations in view, the advisory committee to the officials of the free labor bureau will probably secure a site for the new home within a few days. The committee met last evening with E. W. Phelps, newly appointed superintendent, in attendance. Mr. Phelps will take charge of the bureau Monday morning, with Miss Florence Perrin as his assistant. Miss Perrin will have charge of the women's department.

Contest Plans Arranged.

The executive committee of the development association was last evening authorized by the main body to follow up plans already suggested for the corn and potato contest, which will probably be held in September, during the county fair week. Placards and bills will be posted throughout the county in the schools and public buildings. Rules and regulations governing the contest will be set forth, together with a list of prizes to be distributed to the winners. Anyone in Douglas county, under 18 years of age, is eligible to compete in the contest.

Oxford and Cambridge Tie in Annual Athletic Meet.

London, March 23. — Oxford and Cambridge universities tied today in the annual athletic sports with five events each.

Three Rhodes scholars from the United States were among the representatives of Oxford in the annual athletic competition between that university and Cambridge today at Queens club, Kensington. They were R. L. Lange of Oklahoma, W. A. Ziegler of Iowa, and E. P. Hubble of Chicago. The meeting took place under wretched conditions, rain falling in a deluge.

Lange was only able to obtain third place in the 100-yard dash, which was won by the Cambridge crack, Duncan MacMillan, in 10 seconds flat.

The weight throwing was won by Ziegler with a throw of 40 feet, 10 inches, E. P. Hubble being tied for third with 35 feet, 9 inches.

W. A. Ziegler won the hammer throwing event with a throw of 139 feet, 4 inches.

Annual Marathon.

St. Louis, March 23. — The annual Marathon of the Missouri Athletic club, which this year will be the Western tryout for the Olympic candidates will be held May 4, according to announcement today. The old course from Freeburg, Ill., to St. Louis will be abandoned, owing to the dust in dry weather and mud in the rainy season and this year the race will be started from some point in St. Louis county. The new course will be over oiled roads.

KLAUS FAVORITE OVER JACK DILLON.

San Francisco, Cal., March 23—When Frank Klaus of Pittsburg and Jack Dillon of Indianapolis meet today in their 20-round bout one of the most important matches of the elimination race for the middleweight championship will be under way. Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, according to fight followers, would be the only claimant standing between the winner and the title left by the late Stanley Ketchel.

The Pittsburger today was a 10 to 7 favorite.

Tickets for Women.

St. Louis, March 23.—Mrs. Helen H. Britton of Cleveland, owner of the St. Louis National League baseball team, is here today consulting with President Edward Steininger and Manager Roger Bresnahan, in order that women may buy baseball tickets in the business center, Mrs. Britton arranged for the sale of tickets at a drug store instead of in a saloon, as has been the practice.

ADMITS CUTTING GIRL WITH HATCHET

Milwaukee, Wis., March 23.—Arthur Koehler, wanted in connection with the attempted murder of Miss Anna Miller, 1718 Wright street, on Thursday last, when the girl was fatally injured by blows from a hatchet, was arrested today and confessed his crime to the police.

Koehler is a cousin of Miss Miller. He was found hiding in an attic on Fourth street.

Miss Miller is at the emergency hospital and her death is expected momentarily.

STATE GAME PRESERVE

G. G. Hartley Wants Five Northern Townships Set Aside for Park.

Says Wolves Are Killing Large Number of Deer This Year.

G. G. Hartley, who has returned from a ten days' trip through the country north of Coleraine and Bovey, heartily indorses the proposal of James A. Ferguson to have townships 59-24, 59-25, 58-25, 59-26 and 58-26, except small parts of the last two, transformed into a state game and forest reserve. He will lend his support to those who intend to bring the matter before the next legislature.

Mr. Hartley explains that the ground is unsuited for farming, being hilly and generally rocky, with the timber cut off and the slashings burned away. He says that fine growth of young pine is coming up and that forest rangers, who would also be sworn in as deputy game wardens, could guard them against destruction by fire.

The country also abounds in fish and game common to Northern Minnesota. These could be protected by the same set of men. Mr. Hartley states that many deer are being killed by wolves in the upper part of the state. He advoctes raising the bounty to $30. He also makes the excellent suggestion that poison be placed in the offal of deer killed by hunters. This would help cut down the number as the wolves consume these entrails after the hunters have left the woods.

Mr. Hartley believes that a small appropriation would handle the proposition and that most of the land could be acquired at a maximum price of $2 to $2.50. Several settlers have holdings there, but their presence would not seriously interfere with the plan. Mr. Hartley asserts that it would not make any material difference if any of the holders declined to part with their holdings.

TO BUILD PAPER MILL.

Backus-Brooks Company Reaches Agreement With Fort Frances.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 23.—W. F. Brooks of the Minnesota & Ontario Power company yesterday confirmed a report that the long controversy between the citizens of Fort Frances, Ont., and the power company had been settled by an agreement between the city council and E. W. Backus of the power company. The agreement provides for the construction in Fort Frances, Ont., of a pulp mill having a capacity of 100 tons of news print paper a day.

The mill will provide continuous employment for at least 200 persons. Under the provisions of the agreement the mill is to be built within fourteen months. The city will recommend to the department of lands, forests and mines the granting to the company of the right to acquire dock properties.

VIRTUOSO, GROWING DEAF, KILLS HIMSELF.

New York, March 23.—Consciousness of a growing deafness that threatened to cut short Arthur Thomason's career as violin maker and deprive him of the pleasure of hearing his favorite instrument, is believed by his neighbors to account for his suicide last night.

The aging artisan, who bore a considerable reputation as both violin maker and virtuoso, was found dead from gas asphyxiation in his little shop, his hands clasping one of his favorite violins.

CANADIANS WILL MAKE PROTEST

Will Go to Washington to Object to Chicago's Water Proposal.

Montreal, March 23.—On Monday the Canadian representatives will leave for Washington to present to Secretary of War Stimson objections to the proposed diversion of Great Lakes waters by the Chicago drainage canal, which it is proposed to increase to a diversion of 10,000 cubic feet per second. A special hearing on these objections will be held March 27. Business associations from Toronto to St. John have drawn up memorials which the delegates will present.

The objection is that the proposed diversion will be so serious as to threaten the levels in the canals and the St. Lawrence route and so constitute a grave menace to shipping interests. In the visiting delegation will be representatives of the Montreal harbor commission, the board of trade, the shipping federation, the Dominion Marine association, various power companies and the marine fish department.

A delegation of Chicago representatives, it is learned, will be represented at the hearing and will reply to the objection of the Canadian representatives.

KNOX'S TRIP TO SOUTH SUCCEEDS

Secretary Sends Wireless Message Saying Purpose Was Accomplished.

Washington, March 23.—Secretary Knox, by wireless from the cruiser Washington, has advised the state department that the results which it was hoped would come from his tour of Latin America had been attained.

World-wide importance attaches to the secretary's trip, and while the full significance probably has never been officially announced, its prime purpose is said to have been to lay the foundation for closer relations between the United States and Latin America to anticipate any possible European aggression in commerce or diplomacy.

HETTY GREEN GOES BACK.

Prefers Hoboken Flat to Fine House in New York.

New York, March 23.—After giving New York what she considered a fair trial, Mrs. Hetty Green has found the metropolis too "dull" and has moved back to a flat to Hoboken, N. J. The richest woman in the world, whose self-accumulated fortune is generally estimated at $75,000,000, made her home for years in Hoboken, in a flat costing $19 a month. She enjoyed the friendship of a large number of neighbors whom she missed greatly after coming to New York to live in a big house near Central Park. She has now left the city house to her son, Sol. Edward Green, and moved to a $40 flat in Hoboken, which she has fitted up simply but expensively. Col. Green said:

"Mother never wanted to live in the city. I got her to come with me in the uptown house last August and at first she seemed happy. But she soon grew lonesome for the old friends in Hoboken.

"There is nothing in New York life to interest my mother. She never cared for the theater, nor would she ever invade society circles. She prefers the simplicity of her apartment and loves the old neighbors around in the evening to sit and chat in the good old-fashioned way."

BRYAN ATTACKS HARMON AGAIN

Declares Him Reactionary and the Choice of Wall Street.

Lincoln, Neb., March 23.—Declaring that Governor Harmon is a reactionary and the choice of Wall Street, William J. Bryan has given out a statement attacking the candidacy of the Ohio governor. Mr. Bryan comments on the attitude taken by Senator Hitchcock favoring Governor Harmon, and adds:

"Governor Harmon cannot be nominated without the active aid of Wall Street, and Mr. Bryan has worked too hard and too long for Progressive Democratic principles to become instrumental in surrendering the party into the control of the predatory interests. If Nebraska's Democracy instructs for Harmon, Mr. Bryan will refuse to serve as a delegate (in case he is elected), but will, instead, go to Baltimore as an individual, and as an individual do what he can to secure the nomination of a Progressive Democrat."

TOWNE'S HOUSE ROBBED AGAIN

Is Pillaged for the Second Time in Three Months.

New York, March 23.—Former United States Senator Charles A. Towne of Minnesota, who last summer bought a Flatbush house at 1160 Ocean avenue, threatens to move from that neighborhood because the police protection is so bad his house had been robbed twice in the last three months. Mr. Towne calls the police system in the section a joke.

The second robbery occurred Thursday night, and Mrs. Towne has become so unnerved at the frequent robberies she says she cannot live in Flatbush any longer.

The first time thieves entered the Towne house they were frightened by the ringing of the telephone bell, but managed to procure about $700 worth of silverware and jewelry.

Thursday night, however, the burglars made a clean sweep. The house was entered through a rear window which was jimmied open. The former senator and his wife had gone to the home of his parents in Manhattan for dinner. Their colored maid had gone out to visit some friends, and on returning to the house about 10:20 p. m. found everything in confusion. She immediately telephoned to the police. Mr. and Mrs. Towne arrived about fifteen minutes later.

About $1,500 worth of property was taken, including many trinkets and relics which were held priceless by the Townes.

Jap Explorers Return.

Wellington, N. Z., March 23.—The Japanese Antarctic expedition returned here today. They report having seen nothing of the British polar expedition under Capt. Robert E. Scott. The Japanese reported all on board the Kainan Maru well. They were engaged chiefly in coastal exploring on King Edward land.

TRADE MORE ACTIVE; DISTRIBUTION WIDER

New York, March 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade today says: The tendency in the industries and trade is toward a broader distribution. The increased activity is in spite of the slow breaking up of a winter of unusual severity, of pending controversies at home and abroad, including as they do the still unsettled coal strike in England and the disagreement between coal operators and miners in this country.

Other labor troubles, however, are less disturbing. The Lawrence strike is virtually over, while advances of wages of 5 to 10 per cent in the cotton goods trade indicate the betterment in that direction. It is significant that the reports from the West now reflect the improved business sentiment and this, notwithstanding that weather conditions are still generally unfavorable for distribution of merchandise.

Efforts to advance prices of iron and steel are meeting with some success. Shipping is some firmer and there is strengthening in steel bars, plates and shapes. With the approach of spring and the resumption of building, structural material is more active and fabricating shops are fairly busy.

Prospective business foots up to over $400,000 and the erection of the new terminal at Detroit will call for a large tonnage. The steel car plants could handle more business and railroads' orders are still disappointing. Bessemer pig iron is firmer. Demand for tin plates has broadened moderately, but sheets are shaded and new business is much less than capacity.

The drygoods market continues very firm and with a broadening trade, prices generally displaying an advancing tendency. Prints and print cloths continue very active and standard prints are to be advanced to 5 cents per yard while regular print cloths are now quoted at 3¾ cents. Ginghams are in brisk request and some lines of these and Canton flannels are held at value on future delivery. In woolens, some of the best selling lines are being eagerly sought but mills are unable to increase their deliveries. Advances in some lines of men's fall wear have been made by some factories and one large producer has advanced all staple and semi-staple worsteds 5 cents a yard. The large staple dress goods mills have abundance of orders and jobbers are doing a better house trade. Cotton yarns are very firm. There is a moderate business moving in silks for spring. Leather is very strong and higher. Hides are firm.

WHAT IS A COLLEGE GRADUATE WORTH?

Chicago, March 23.—College men graduated from western institutions, in the opinion of President Charles F. Thwing of Western Reserve university, are worth at least $15 a week.

"An educator in the East recently placed the value of Eastern graduates at $6 a week," said President Thwing today. "My experience is the Western graduates can command at least $9 more than that."

START CAMPAIGN IN BAY STATE FOR WILSON.

Boston, March 23. — Nomination papers for Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey as a candidate for president have been taken out at the office of the secretary of state. Supporters of Speaker Champ Clark and Governor Foss have already begun securing names to insure the appearance of their respective candidates' names on the ballot at the presidential preference primary in this state on April 30. Governor Foss has declared the use of his name to be unsanctioned.

RARE JAPANESE ART COLLECTION PRESENTED.

Kansas City, Mo., March 23.—A collection of 1,000 rare Japanese prints valued at $50,000 has been presented to the local art institute by Mrs. W. H. Thayer of this city. The collection, which forms a complete history of the Japanese wood block engraving extending over a period of 400 years, is said to be one of the finest of its kind in this country.

Chinese Women Smash Windows.

London, March 23.—Chinese suffragettes at Nanking, dissatisfied with the national assembly's academic resolution favoring woman suffrage, according to adviced received here, forced an entry to the assembly, and after knocking down the police on guard, smashed the windows of the building.

Increase in Wages.

Norwich, Conn., March 23.—The Ponemah mills, which employ 1,500 hands, has posted notices that after April 1 there will be a general increase in wages. The increase is not stated.

Taft Going to New York.

Washington, March 23.—President Taft has accepted an invitation to dine at the New York Union League club on April 11, and on the same evening he will look in on the dinner of the Yale alumni of '88, of which the president is a member.

New Swedish Minister.

Stockholm, Sweden, March 23.—W. A. F. Ekengren, at present counselor of legation and charge d'affaires at the Swedish legation in Washington, has been promoted to the rank of minister at Washington, in succession to Count Albert Ehrensvaard.

News and Views of Minnesota Politics

The Republican Committee.

Despite the fact that the committee is dominated by E. E. Smith and all he stands for, some fireworks may be produced at the meeting of the Republican state central committee April 2.

The few Roosevelt men in camp will make a fight for the presidential primary plan, but unless there is an astounding change of heart on the part of the chairman and the majority of the members of the committee, any plan for submitting the names of presidential candidates to the voters will be turned down without ceremony.

The principal contest in prospect now is on the question of representation in the state conventions. The plan heretofore has been to give each county five delegates at large, which gives the country districts overwhelming voting strength over the cities. Cutting down the number of delegates at large would be an advantage to the Taft supporters in the first convention and would also serve Governor Eberhart well in thenomination convention.

Although Ed Smith denies that any such deal is contemplated, a member of the governor's official family has given out that an attempt may be made to cut the number of delegates at large from each county to four. The powers that be would like to get the number down to two, but evidently do not dare to attempt a greater cut than one. The country members will enter a protest to that. Any seeming advantage given the cities is vigorously fought by the country members and there will be some fireworks if the Taft-Smith-Eberhart forces attempt to put through a change in the plan of representation.

The state committee may find that it has not authority to dictate district convention dates and restrictions in as many districts as it was at first thought. Reports have come in that the Second, Fourth, Eighth and Ninth districts have regularly named congressional committees, and others may declare themselves later. The point is not of special significance, for regularly named congressional committees may be expected to follow the lead of the state committee, as their authority comes from the same source. What was most feared by James A. Tawney and others was that the personal committees of the congressmen would have charge of the district conventions, which might be embarrassing to the Taft cause in view of the fact that the majority of the congressmen from Minnesota are opposed to President Taft. Personal committees of congressmen might start presidential primaries or something like that in certain districts and James A. Tawney, Ed Smith, et al, have no patience with such proceedings.

The Republican state central committee consists of thirty-nine members. Eleven are members at large, nine represent the congressional districts and nineteen represent the judicial districts. The committee is much smaller than the Democratic committee, which is made up of members at large and representatives of the congressional districts and the counties.

The executive committee of the Republican committee consists of: Chairman, E. E. Smith, Minneapolis; secretary, J. A. O. Preus, St. Paul; treasurer, George J. Bradley, Norwood; S. B. Wilson, Mankato, and E. J. Jones, Morris.

The committee is made up of the following:

At large—Joseph Chapman, Jr., Minneapolis; W. B. Parsons, Winona; A. D. Stephens, Crookston; E. J. Jones, Morris; H. W. Goetzinger, St. Paul; John R. Morley, Owatonna; Andrew E. Fritz, St. Cloud; Frank Berry, Duluth; Alexander Janes, Pipestone; K. O. Sandum, Bricelyn; George F. Dix, St. Paul.

Congressional districts—First, John C. Crabb, Rochester; Second, Thomas C. Collins, Windom; Third, George J. Bradley, Norwood; Fourth, George H. Sullivan, Stillwater; Fifth, E. E. Smith, Minneapolis; Sixth, Frank M. Eddy, Sauk Center; Seventh, S. W. Frazier, Wheaton; Eighth, Charles S. Mitchell, Duluth; Ninth, George H. Mattson, Roseau.

Judicial districts—First, C. W. Gross, Cannon Falls; Second, Kay Todd, St. Paul; Third, W. A. Munger, Wabasha; Fourth, Simon Michelet, Minneapolis; Fifth, Charles F. Ebel, Faribault; Sixth, S. B. Wilson, Mankota; Seventh, Fred Sherman, Grey Eagle; Eighth, H. J. Heneman, Lester Prairie; Ninth, James A. Larson, Walnut Grove; Tenth, C. L. Foss, Rushford; Eleventh, F. B. Organized for Campaign.

The contest for the control of the St. Louis county Republican convention promises to be a warm one. With the organization of a La Follette club yesterday, the supporters of all three candidates are now organized in Duluth and they are all busy endeavoring to line up speakers to present the claims of their respective candidates.

Congressman Irvine L. Lenroot of Superior will be home in a few days and will come to Duluth to speak under the auspices of the La Follette club. There was reported to be some friction between the Superior congressman and La Follette, but friends of both deny that there has been any break and Congressman Lenroot is said to be still an ardent supporter of the Wisconsin senator for the presidency. James A. Peterson of Minneapolis, one of the leaders of the Minnesota Progressive league and prospective candidate for the senate against Knute Nelson, will the senate against Knute Nelson, will also come to Duluth soon to speak for La Follette. Senator La Follette will come West again in the course of a few weeks and the members of the La Follette club are hopeful that he will visit Duluth.

The Roosevelt club is in communication with Roosevelt headquarters at Washington, Chicago and St. Paul and the officers hope to have arrangements made soon for the visit of several campaigners. Governor Stubbs of Kansas, Governor Hadley of Missouri and Gifford Pinchot are among the probabilities.

The demand for Taft talent continues so great that the Duluth Taft club has not yet been able to obtain a speaker for its proposed banquet. The banquet will be held at some later date and officers of the club hope to have a speaker of national prominence on the program.

Democratic Harmony.

The Ada Herald says:

National politics from a Democratic standpoint promise to be more or less of a love-feast this year. This will be true of the proceedings at the national convention at Baltimore as well as of the various contests for the state delegations. In this state the Democrats seem to have buried the hatchet and got together in a pretty finely organized family. A short time ago T. T. Hudson of Duluth was mentioned as a candidate for national committeeman to succeed F. B. Lynch. Mr. Hudson has made the statement that he is not an active candidate for the place and that he and his friends will be perfectly satisfied with Mr. Lynch, who succeeded Mr. Hudson in that capacity. Both are capable and fair-minded men and the affairs of the party should be left in safe hands should either one be selected for the place. Mr. Lynch has given the best of satisfaction as national committeeman and the same may be said of Mr. Hudson.

Justice Brown Is Improved.

It is announced that Justice P. E. Brown, whose resignation from the supreme bench was expected, is improved and will probably retain his seat. Friends of Homer B. Dibell of Duluth were prepared to urge the governor to appoint him, but it is said the governor had already decided to appoint Judge J. H. Quinn of Fairmont if Justice Brown resigned. Friends of Judge Dibell were hopeful that the governor could be induced to change his mind, as no appointment could be more satisfactory to everybody than that of Judge Dibell.

Havana, and ending with the firing of three volleys of musketry over the new-made graves, the exercises were designed to show all honor and respect to the martyrs of the battleship.

Chaplain Chadwick a Speaker.

The escort for the slow march through the streets of the capital from the Birmingham to the state, war and navy building, was picked from the Birmingham and other vessels now in Washington. The speakers who faced the crowd in the plaza behind the navy building were only three—President Taft and Father John Chadwick, chaplain of the Maine when the explosion of Feb. 15, 1898, sent her to the bottom and Chaplain Bayard, U. S. N. The Marine band, the show band of Washington, was chosen to give the solemn music for the dead, and an army battery stationed near the Washington monument was selected to fire the 21-gun salue as the ceremonies at the Navy building ended and the quiet march to Arlington was begun.

Conspicious among the officials for whom reservations had been made just behind President Taft on the steps of the big granite building were Rear Admiral Charles D. Sigsbee, who commanded the Maine at the time of the explosion, Rear Admiral Richard Wainwright, Lieut. Boyd and Medical Director T. G. Henceberger, officers under him at the time. For Admiral Dewey and Lieut.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, the ranking officers of the navy and the army special places had been set aside.

Tolled "Paul Revere" Bell.

During the memorial exercises the committee had arranged for the tolling of the "Paul Revere" bell of All Souls' Unitarian church, which has been tolled at the funerals of presidents, admirals, generals and other prominent men.

Windin" slowly out from behind the navy building into broad Pennsylvania avenue, the funeral procession found its way through the older part of Washington, across the Aqueduct bridge over the Potomac river and up Gray road to Arlington.

To Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fisk had been assigned command of the parade, and behind him were placed first an escort of police, a detachment of troops from Fort Myer, the Marine band, a squadron of cavalry and the First battalion of engineers.

The naval escort comprised a battalion of marines, two battalions of seamen, the naval band and the District of Columbia naval militia. Just ahead of the thirty-four army caissons bearing the leaden caskets were placed Chaplain Bayard and Father Chadwick, and just behind the flag-draped coffins the pallbearers from the navy, the honorary pallbearers from the United Spanish war veterans and forty-eight body bearers.

Mourners Headed by President.

The place at the head of the mourners was given to President Taft. In the White house automobile his secretary, C. H. Hillis, and his naval aide, Lieut. Timmons, also had seats. The president's personal escort was a troop of cavalry, and the line behind his automobile included the secretary of war, secretary of the navy, assistant secrtary of the navy, officers of the Maine, aides to secretary of the navy, chiefs of bureaus of the navy department and the major general commandant of the marine corps. Just behind these officials place had been left for the distinguished persons, the United Spanish war veterans, ladies' auxiliary of the veterans, societies and citizens.

Over the graves in Arlington the simple exercises included burial service by Chaplain Bayard and Father Chadwick. With the firing of three volleys of musketry by a company of marines, a national salute of twenty-one guns from an army battery in the cemetery, and the sounding of the plaintive call of "taps," the dead were given to the earth.

Wisconsin County Protests.

Rhinelander, Wis., March 23.—The Oneida county board has adopted resolutions protesting against the purchase of land by the state and the exemption of this land from taxation. It is claimed that settlers in the towns affected should be reimbursed by the state as they are cut off from schools, churches and markets by government land, and the taxable property in the towns is materially reduced. The purchase of 62,468 acres of land in Oneida county is the cause of the protest.

Nearly Smothered

Chandler, N. C.—Mrs. Augusta Lomax, of this place, writes: "I had smothering spells every day, so bad that I expected death at any time. I could not sit up in bed. I suffered from womanly troubles. My nerves were unstrung. I had almost given up all hope of ever being better. I tried Cardui, and it did me more good than anything I had ever taken. I am better now than I ever expected to be." Thousands of ladies have written similar letters, telling of the merits of Cardui. It relieved their headache, backache and misery, just as it will relieve yours, if you will let it. Try.

SOLDIERS OF FORTUNE

Many Americans in Mexican Armies, Says New Orleans Man.

Revolution Often Started in Cafes of the Southern City.

J. Horace Ranier of New Orleans, a guest for the day of the Lenox and who hails from New Orleans, is of the opinion that there are a number of adventurous Americans with the rebel army in Mexico.

"New Orleans is the nesting place for a horde of adventurous spirits who are constantly moving to the scene of battle," said Mr. Ranier. "We have representatives of the petty little governments of South America in our midst and every time there is a revolution in one of those comic opera countries you are sure to find a number of Americans who love to roam and fight in the midst of the mix-up.

"There were a number of Americans in the ranks of Madero's army and I have been told that before the recent outbreak in Mexico that there were agents in New Orleans recruiting the best of the professional fighting force.

"Some of these men are something like the professional strikebreaker, in that they care not where they fight, just so long as the pay is forthcoming. There are others who really fight because they are romantic souls and love the wandering and the excitement. There are those who really believe in the cause they are fighting for, though they are not of the nationality of the other participants.

"Some of the revolutionary plots of the little countries of South and Central America are hatched in the foreign cafes of our city. From what I have learned of the mode of procedure, the people of the countries that are the scene of the revolutions are not always to blame for the overturning of governments."

MAY AVERT COAL STRIKE

ences next week indicates the possibility of a settlement, but he knew of no present plan to resume negotiations with the operators for an adjustment of the differences of the anthracite miners.

All of the thirty-two bituminous coal operators left for their homes last night, but they announced they would return Tuesday.

The miners in the full conference voted down every offer of a compromise from the operators. These were that the present wage and working contracts be continued for two years longer, and that the miners agree not to quit work on April 1. John P. White, president of the union, said the miners certainly would quit if no agreement was reached. He said not only the 200,000 miners in the four states involved, but 150,000 other miners of bituminous coal would quit.

A plea for more time was presented by the four chairmen of the state operators' associations. They declared a suspension of business of uncertain duration would have the effect on industry of a strike.

No Progress Made.

Mr. White says when the conference convenes Tuesday it will be where it was when negotiations were started three days ago. Only five days will then remain before the expiration of the present wage agreement.

Whatever result comes from next week's conference will be referred to the union's policy committee and then to a referendum vote of the union.

President White told the committee: "Conditions are such that the coal miners of this country cannot, with their present pay, live as they ought to live. They are not on a par with other labor and we will not continue to work after April 1 with our present pay and long working hours. If our demands are granted we will go right on without a suspension; if they are denied or modified we will suspend."

The eight operators replied that the demands altogether would cause a 20 per cent increase in the payroll and that this increase was not warranted by the presetn earning power of the mines.

MILL CITY MAN HELD FOR MURDER

Settler Near Pelican Lake Is Found Beaten to Death.

Brainerd, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.) — George C. Douglas, aged 55, bacheior and farmer, living six miles east of Pequot near Pelican lake, where he owned considerable property, was found murdered in his home, his body badly beaten, the head fractured and the brain exposed. A Minneapolis man named Pearson, who has been living a mile from Douglas, came to Pequot and gave himself up, saying he had trouble with Douglas and that the old man was dead. Pearson, who is in custody at Pequot, today denied the crime.

Pearson is about 44 years old and came to Pequot last November. It is alleged Pearson and Douglas had trouble before this. Douglas' only known relative is a sister.

Accused in Brainerd Jail.

William Pearson was brought to Brainerd at noon and lodged in jail.

The prisoner had a heavy growth of whiskers and wore a cap and looked like a lumberjack. He gave his Minneapolis address as 240 Ninth avenue north and in talking with Constable Chris Knudson of Pequot claimed he had fought an hour with Douglas. The dead man, it is said by some, was of an eccentric nature.

Cheaper Than Gas:
and TWICE as much light. That's the claim we have always made for electtic lighting. It's a claim the TRUTH of which you can prove in your own home to your own profit!

Try the Mazda-Tungsten in competition with any gas-burner made!—It will give you MORE light at LESS cost, but that is not all—It will give you a PURE white light, a safe light, a light that will not bleach things, and that is easy to turn on and off.

But don't weigh the old style carbon incandescent against the new style gas-burner!—it isn't a fair test. People HAVE done just that, and then have told us that they found gas cheaper than electricity, volume of light considered! Weigh the new against the new!

NEVER ANY FALLING HAIR OR DANDRUFF IF YOU TRY THIS

Your hair looks soft, fluffy, lustrous and abundant after a Danderine hair cleanse.

Immediate?—Yes. Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Try as you will, you cannot find any dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will never itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair sprouting all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

THREE CHILDREN PERISH IN FIRE

Flames Destroy Buildings on Ziemer Farm Near Shawano, Wis.

Shawano, Wis., March 23. — Three little children of Fred Ziemer of the town of Richmond, were burned to death in a fire which swept through the dry timber and wiped out the Zeiem farm house last evening, according to word received here today.

The children were left alone while the mother went for the mail a mile away. The origin of the fire, which enveloped the house and outbuildings, is unknown.

DULUTHIANS PRESENTED TO PRESIDENT TAFT.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, March 23.—Judge W. D. Edson and wife and Andrew Volk, wife and son of Duluth were presented to the president today by Representative Miller. Other visitors in Washington from Duluth are Mrs. Frederick Lee Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Hawkes and Mrs. A. W. Frick.

BLACK DIAMOND SALESMAN OPTIMIST ON BUSINESS.

William Perre, one of the most prominent of the Duluth agents for black diamonds, returned yesterday from a business trip to New York. According to Mr. Perre, business is better in the East and the business men are inclined to believe that the country is facing one of the best years since the prosperous period of 1906.

Mr. Perre states that buying along all lines is better at the present time than it was two months ago and also ahead of the sales recorded at this time a year ago.

CONSTIPATION, BILIOUSNESS, COATED TONGUE, HEADACHE OR BAD STOMACH

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated and never know a miserable moment. SAY TYPHOID IS CHECKED

Two Harbors Health Officers Believe Crisis in Epidemic Is Passed.

Question of Future Water Supply Is Uppermost in Public Mind.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although the typhoid epidemic has been checked and there seems to be little danger of its further spread, according to the health authorities, the question of the future water supply of this city is a serious one. The people feel it behooves the city to take steps for safeguarding against such an epidemic. There are several plans suggested to meet this end.

One is to extend the present water intake pipe; another to pump the sewage now flowing into Burlington bay into the sewers emptying into Agate bay; another to move the pumping station to Fisherman's Point, between Burlington and Flood bays; another to abandon the waters of Lake Superior as a source of supply except in case of fire and go to the north and west of the city and either dig wells or tap springs for the drinking supply of the city.

May Bring Desired Relief.

Almost any one of the plans involving the use of lake water would probably offer the desired relief for all ordinary occasions, but there is no surety that such a condition as has existed would not be repeated. It is maintained that there is quite a strong current near the north shore of Lake Superior. It is also claimed that the sewage will not settle below a given number of feet in the water. It is stated that although the intake pipe extends 820 feet out into the lake and is fifty-five feet below the surface, nevertheless some of the sewage entered the pipe.

The typhoid patients are all getting along quite well. With the exception of Miss Ellen Anderson none is dangerously ill. Dr. Chesely of the state board of health again warns the people of the danger of those recovering from typhoid giving the germs to others. From now on there should be no new cases from primary infection, and anyone who contracts the disease hereafter will be on account of someone being careless.

CHISHOLM MAN IS KILLED BY CARS

Companion Badly Injured as Passenger Train Struck Them at Crossing.

Chisholm, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tony Pingatory is dead and Dominik Brazeretto is seriously injured from being struck by the 8 o'clock Great Northern passenger at a crossing near the Shenango school last night.

Pingatory received a fracture at the base of the skull and died on his way to the hospital.

The two men are Italians and had engaged an Austrian drayman to move some household goods and in crossing the track the rig was struck.

The driver is thought to have escaped unhurt, but disappeared immediately and has not been located.

CALLED TO MILWAUKEE.

Eveleth's Postmaster and Wife Are Summoned By Relative's Death.

Eveleth, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. R. Ellsworth, assistant postmaster, has returned from Milwaukee, where he and Mrs. Ellsworth were called by the death of the latter's sister, Miss Irene Lucas. Mrs. Ellsworth will remain in Milwaukee for a fortnight.

Abe Feldman, who recently took the state bar examinations at St. Paul, has received notice of his admission. He will practice in Eveleth, associated with Boyle & Boyle.

Will Ellsworth, a student at Hamline university, spent a portion of the week in Eveleth with relatives and friends.

George Ecklund, a linotype operator at Duluth, spent this week here with his mother. The family is preparing to remove to Duluth.

Miss Flossie Noel, a student at the Winona normal, spent a short vacation at her home here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Whitman returned Thursday morning, having taken a month's trip to Florida and Cuba.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church announce that on April 4 they will hold a sale of potted plants, fancy articles and home cooking.

Mrs. Thomas Lee went to St. Paul Friday to visit her husband, who is ill at a private sanitarium.

Sol Sax returned Friday from Bessemer, Mich., where he spent a week.

UNCLE SAM ARRESTS HIBBING CHINAMAN

Wah Bing, Long Under Suspicion, Must Show His Right to Remain Here.

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wah Bing, who has resided here for a number of years, has been arrested here by Immigration Inspector Daly, charged with being illegally in the country.

Wah Bing has successfully dodged the immigration officers for several years. He is said to be the last one of a gang of Chinese who were smuggled across the line from Canada. Once when hotly pursued he hid for three days in the cellar of the residence of Chief of Police Wring, without Mr. Wring's knowledge.

Once Left Town.

Again he suspected an immigration officer who came in the laundry where he was working and walked out the back door, not to return for months, living in abandoned lumber camps and subsisting by hunting and fishing. Yesterday when Mr. Daly entered the laundry Wah started to walk out the back door, where he met Chief of Police Wring. He was very angry when he discovered that he had been trapped. There is said to be little doubt that Wah Bing is the man for whom the immigration inspectors are looking and he will probably be deported to China.

SUMMON JURORS FOR VIRGINIA

KATURE NOT YET TAKEN.

Keewatin Man Alleged to Have Stabbed Companion Still Out.

Keewatin, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.) — The miner named Kature who stabbed Steve Sapin during a card game last Sunday in a log hut, where the pair lived, near the Bray mine, is still at large, while his victim is reported getting along nicely in a Hibbing hosptal.

The men lived in one of the log huts not far from the Bray mine and had been "batching" together for some time. On the evening of the trouble several other miners of their nationality, Montenegrins, came over to play cards and it was in a dispute over a play that was made that the quarrel arose. Most of the wounds were not serious, but one that was inflicted in the back is quite serious.

MARBLE GIRLS ENTERTAIN.

Give Leap Year Party at M. E. Church for Boys.

Marble, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A pleasing event took place at the Methodist church last evening, the occasion being a leap year party given by Miss Avery's class of twenty-five girls, in honor of the regulars—a class of fifteen boys taught by Rev. O. Suver, the pastor. The church was beautifully decorated. After the luncheon was served Rev. O. Suver in his usual pleasing manner praised the boys and girls for their loyalty to the Sunday school, and also pointed out to them their high privilege and bounden duty to be more loyal in their attendance to the church services. Many of the young folks pledged themselves to attend the church services more regular.

The regulars pronounced the girls capital entertainers and promised to return the compliment at the next monthly meeting.

STARTS BIWABIK CONTEST.

Virginia, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Faber, Sr., who was defeated by two votes for supervisor in Biwabik by William Groves, has filed a contest in the district court here, alleging errors in the canvass that, if rectified, would give him the office. He claims there were more votes cast than counted and that if all were properly counted he would have a majority of twenty. The election judges announced that Faber received 131 votes and Groves 133.

WANT CAR LINE ON MAIN STREET

Eveleth Council Asked to Take Matter Up With New Traction Company.

Eveleth, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the request of a number of property owners who appeared before the city council last night, that body instructed City Clerk McIntyre to communicate with the Mesaba Traction company to change its route through the city from Adams avenue to Grant avenue.

The latter is the main business street, and the petitioners feel that the car line should run along the business center.

Fred Columbo, proprietor of the saloon in the Tower hotel, on Grant avenue, was refused the renewal of his liquor license. The city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for four drinking fountains to be placed on Grant avenue, also for the removal of garbage, and a site for library, and other municipal purposes, size to be not less than 100 by 120 feet. The city engineer was instructed to prepare an estimate of the cost of a trunk line water main through the Adams' location.

Want City Pound.

The committee on public property was instructed to inquire into the matter of securing a tract of land near the city suitable for the confinement of the cows of the city at night time. The plan of the council for keeping cows from running at large, as in years past, is to furnish the cow owners a correll for the cows at night, and require them to hire the stock herded outside the city limits during the day. Any cow owner not complying with this plan and who has his cows run at large will be prosecuted under the provisions of the city ordinance.

MINERAL TRACES AROUSE FARMERS

Settlers in Bear River Valley Worked Up Over Mineral Evidences.

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to Hibbing people who have returned from the Bear River valley, north of here there is a good deal of interest among the settlers regarding mineral deposits in that section, where are located some of the most peculiar surface formations in Northern Minnesota.

Practically every settler believes he has mineral of some kind on his place covering everything from gold and iron to cement. One farmer has a large tract of ground where a sort of natural cement is found, which is believed to have a commercial value. A company is to be formed to exploit it. There are indications of iron ore all through that section, but little exploration work has been done and it is impossible to determine whether there are iron measures sufficient to warrant exploitation or not. New settlers are coming into the valley of the Bear at a great rate and a good deal of land will be placed under cultivation there this year in addition to the fine farms that have already been developed.

UNMUZZLED DOGS WILL BE KILLED

Drastic Order Issued by Virginia's Mayor Because of Mad Dog Scare.

Virginia, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Virginia has a mad dog scare. Mayor Hawkinson has issued an order, effective Monday, that every canine not securely tied up on his master's premises or wearing a regulation muzzle shall be summarily shot. The order will be executed by police officers and Poundmaster Ole Johnson.

Within the last few days a horse was bitten by a mad dog at the Lily mine. The dog was killed and the horse is being watched to see if it will develop hydrophobia. Another dog which was shot is known to have bitten several other dogs. Others which were developing the disease have been shot. Heads of the dogs were sent to St. Paul to be tested, and it was reported that the dogs had hydrophobia. Recently George White, a teamster, employed by Andrew Grande, contractor, was bitten and he was sent to the Twin Cities for treatment. He came back only a few days ago. It is known that the disease has been prevalent among dogs here all winter and several owners have killed their animals, having noticed they were affected before they did any harm.

Poundmaster Kills Many.

Poundmaster Oleson has shot 187 dogs in the last six months. As there are apparently many canines running loose which apparently belong to no one, it is expected many dogs will meet untimely fates within the next week. The mayor is aroused and the people are alarmed. It is said to be unusual for animals to go mad during cold weather, but there have been so many cases here recently that parents are keeping their children within doors, fearing they may be attracted and become infected with the dread disease. Many people own valuable animals and they are being warned the order is general.

Motherhood

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes. Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

OBJECT TO NEW RULE.

McIntosh High School Boys Go Out on Strike.

McIntosh, Minn., March 23.—Objecting to the new rule locking the doors of the schoolhouse between noon and 1 on school days, the high school boys walked out this week. It is claimed the school was locked during the noon recess to keep the lower grades from damaging property. The new order fell heavily upon many of the high school boys who come from the country and have no other place to spend the noon recess than in the school. It is expected the matter will be adjusted and the boys will return to school next week.

JUROR NOT CITIZEN,

So Hancock Man Convicted of Murder Seeks New Trial.

Hancock, Mich., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney Formatti Hendrickson, now serving a life sentence at Marquette for the murder of Mrs. Ida Kaarela, last November, announces he will file a petition for a retrial on the ground that Con Bedell of Hancock, one of the jurors, is not a citizen.

DEER IN LEETONIA.

Carcass of Fawn Found in Bottom of Hibbing Mine.

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The carcass of a fawn was found yesterday morning at the bottom of a timber shaft in the Leetonia mine, where it had fallen, presumably during the night while chased by wolves. What to do with the dead animal puzzled the men at the mine for some time, but finally Game Warden Wood was called up and took charge of it. It was sold to a local resident and the money will go to the state. Deer are still numerous in this vicinity and frequently come into the city limits. This is the first time in the history of the town that one has ever fallen into any of the numerous mine shafts about the city.

WILL MAKE INSPECTIONS.

Hibbing Official to Look Over Dairies and Herds.

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. B. S. Adams, health officer, has appointed Dr. F. G. Mason, V. S., dairy and meat inspector. Dr. Mason will inspect the local dairies and the tuberculin test will be applied to all the herds. All the meat slaughtered and sold in the city will also be inspected from this time on. Hibbing's health department is now one of the best organized and most efficient on the range.

KELLOGG MINE AT BIWABIK TO RESUME.

Biwabik, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Kellogg mine, operated by the New York State Steel company, will resume operations Monday morning.

The Kellogg is the largest employer of labor in this locality and has been idle since last October. Capt. McBride is getting a crew together, and while all the old employes will be given the preference, a number of new men will be employed. The mine will start in with about 200 men.

AUGUSTUS WARREN DIES IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Herbert Warren, general manager for the Duluth Street Railway company, and Mrs. Warren are in Minneapolis, where they were called on account of the death of the former's father, Augustus Warren. Mr. Warren Sr., was 77 years old. He was one of the pioneer residents of Minneapolis. His death occurred Wednesday and the funeral was held yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Warren are expected to return home today.

HARD TO DROP
But Many Drop It.

A young Calif. wife talks about coffee:

"It was hard to drop Mocha and Java and give Postum a trial, but my nerves were so shattered that I was a nervous wreck and of course that means all kinds of ills. (Tea contains caffeine—the same drug found in coffee and is equally harmful.)

"At first I though bicycle riding caused it and I gave it up, but my condition remained unchanged. I did not want to acknowledge coffee caused the trouble for I was very fond of it.

"About that time a friend came to live with us, and I noticed that after he had been with us a week he would not drink his coffee any more. I asked him the reason. He replied, 'I have not had a headache since I left off drinking coffee, some months ago, till last week, when I began again, here at your table. I don't see how anyone can like coffee, anyway, after drinking Postum'!

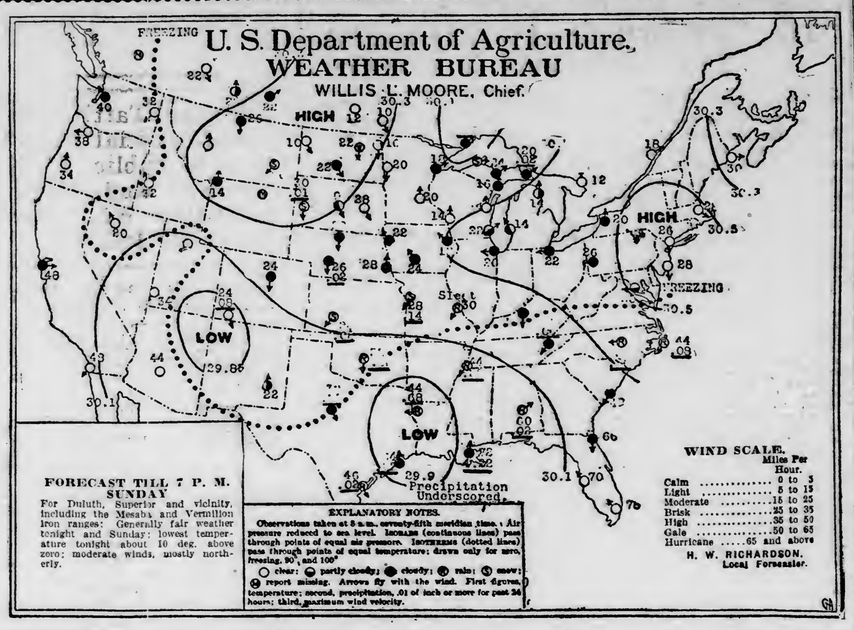
"I said nothing, but at once ordered a package of Postum. That was five months ago, and we have drank no coffee since, except on two occasions when we had company, and the result each time was that my husband could not sleep, but lay awake and tossed and talked half the night. We were convinced that coffee caused his suffering, so he has returned to Postum, convinced that the coffee was an enemy, instead of a friend, and he is troubled no more by insomnia.

"I myself, have gained 8 pounds in weight, and my nerves have ceased to quiver. It seems so easy now to quit the old coffee that caused our aches and ails and take up Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



FAIR

Conditions more nearly resembling spring are prevailing today, but the weather is far from ideal. A brisk March wind held sway last night and this morning, with a low temperature of about 10 degrees tomorrow morning. Fair, frosty weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 6:05 and it will set at 6:24 this evening, giving twelve hours and nineteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours snow fell over Lake Superior, Southeastern Montana, Western South Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas and Missouri, and rain over Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama and the Carolinas, New Orleans reporting 4.22 inches. Somewhat warmer weather prevails in the western lake region and the Mississippi and Missouri valleys. At the Head of the Lakes the temperature is now expected to change materially during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 23.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; colder tonight in north portion.

Wisconsin—Cloudy and unsettled tonight and probably Sunday; not much change in temperature.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; colder in west portion tonight.

Iowa—Unsettled weather with probably snow tonight or Sunday.

North Dakota and Montana—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; not much change in temperature.

South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; colder tonight.

Shippers' Forecast—Protect thirty-six-hour shipments of perishables against minimum temperatures 10 deg. to 20 deg. above zero in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

SIX IN INFIRMARY KILLED BY GAS

Seven Others Are Asphyxiated But Survive the Experience.

Norwalk, Ohio, March 23.—Six inmates of the Huron county infirmary are dead as a result of asphyxiation last night. Seven others were overcome but are recovering.

It is supposed that fires in gas stoves went out as a result of gas failure and that later the supply came on again.

REAL ESTATE MEN IN FATAL QUARREL

Employment of Sister of One as Housekeeper for Rival Is Cause.

New York, March 23.—Henry Lavelle, a real etsate operator, died today as the result of pistol wounds received in a shooting affray at midnight with Benjamin F. Jackson, a fellow real estate broker in the Bronx. The shooting occurred at Jackson's home, where Lavelle's sister was employed as a housekeeper. Lavelle objected to his sister's being employed by Jackson, and in a quarrel which followed Lavelle was shot. Jackson said he fired in self-defense.

WARNINGS SENT OUT.

"Pure Food" Ladd Notifies North Dakota Millers.

Fargo, N. D., March 23. — A large force of clerks has finished mailing out several hundred warnings sent by Prof. T. F. Ladd, state pure food commissioner, to the millers and dealers of the state.

Prof. Ladd has won his first battle for the enforcement of the state pure food laws, and has mustered his forces for a second engagement with law violators. Thursday night he issued his second ultimatum. The first engagement was with the packers, Armour & Co., being the defendants in the case in which they were charged with violation of the law by failing properly to label their lard-containers. A decision handed down by Judge Pollock in district court ended the case favorably for Prof. Ladd and his assistants.

BIG MANKATO MEETING.

Expected April 2 to Organize Southern Minnesota D. A.

Mankato, Minn., March 23.—The program for the meeting to be held here April 2, to organize a Southern Minnesota Development association, will include some well-known men. There is every prospect of a large attendance and the deep interest that is being taken in the project is shown by the numerous letters received by the committee that has issued the call for the convention, of which E. F. Searing, secretary of the Mankato Commercial club, is chairman. This committee has invited seventy commercial clubs in the southern part of the state to be represented, and the bankers of the city have sent a circular letter to the 420 banks in the southern part of the state.

GRAND JURY TO TAKE UP MARYLAND BRIBE CASE.

Annapolis, Md., March 23.—That the charge that State Auditor-Elect John F. O'Malley offered Delegate William R. Smallwood of Prince George's county $2,500 to vote against the state-wide local option bill in the house of delegates has been substantiated to such an extent as to call for action by the grand jury of Anne Arundel county, is the substance of a unanimous report to the house by the committee appointed to investigate the charges.

LAKE COUNTY FARMERS' ANNUAL CLUB MEETING.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Lake County Farmers' club is being held here this afternoon with many of the members in attendance. Officers will be elected and reports heard as to the past year's achievements. Secretary L. D. Rose, has offers from two powder concerns signifying their willingness to furnish the club with dynamite by the carload, and carrying the club on open account until such time as the club is in position to pay them. By buying dynamite in such quantities a saving of approximately $50 can be made, and at the meeting tomorrow the members may decide to take advantage of the opportunity.

The question of one or more standard variety of potatoes to be grown by everybody in this vicinity will also be acted upon.

Capt. Wilson Recovering.

Eveleth, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Public.)—Capt. Joseph S. Wilson of the Spruce mine, who was shot March 15 by Carmeno Marinone, is now believed to be out of danger and making a satisfactory recovery, but will not be able to resume his duties at the mine inside of a couple of months. He is at the More hospital, where he was taken directly after the shooting.

Mr. Wilson denies the rumor that he had had trouble with the man the day before or at any time before, and he is wholly unable to find a reason for the attack.

Marinone was held for trial without bail.

Lake County Gets Trout Fry.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A carload of trout fry will be received from the state fish hatchery at St. Paul next week by Deputy Game Warden August Tabor. Dr. J. D. Budd will also receive his usual quota and these, with what will be received from the government, will more than double the number that has been planted in any one year in the trout streams. The distribution of the fry is being arranged for by the Two Harbors Rod & Gun club.

RAISING MONEY FOR WAREHOUSE

Proctor Expects to Have $2,000 for New Building By Monday.

Proctor, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people are responding liberally to the call for subscriptions toward the fund of $2,000 needed to build the proposed potato warehouse here. Nearly the required sum is already pledged and it is expected the balance will have been subscribed by the time the meeting is held in the village hall next Monday evening to form the co-operative warehouse association that will build and manage the affair.

At a special meeting of the Commercial club a committee was appointed to go over the property north of the town and estimate about how much work would have to be done in order to connect the Hermantown road with First avenue, which is extended to the town limits in Maple Grove park.

Rehearsing for Minstrels.

The rehearsals of the minstrel show which is to be put on under the auspices of the Methodist church choir are progressing in fine shape and those who have the specialty parts, of which there will be six or eight, are working hard to make their parts pronounced hits.

Thomas H. Emerson returned Thursday from the Isle of Pines, where he spent the winter looking after his interests there.

The ladies of the Episcopal guild will meet at the home of Mrs. Moore on Friday, March 26. Rev. Collier will preside.

Mrs. Hopkins, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Carl Gilbert, left Tuesday for her home at Silver City.

The Y. M. C. A. glee club is progressing rapidly and expect to give an exhibition of their vocal accomplishments.

D. T. Latchaw, international secretary of the Y. M. C. A., of New York, and community extension expert in the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign, spoke in the Y. M. C. A. car to shop men and others, who were interested, Friday.

Mrs. W. C. Spornitz entertained twenty little people in honor of her son Robert's 4th birthday anniversary at her home Thursday afternoon.

The following are the M. E. church announcement: Morning service, 11 a. m.; Sunday school, 12 m.; evening service, 7:30 p. m. Services at Odd Fellows' hall. Special music has been provided for both the morning and evening services. At the evening service Mrs. Carl Gilbert will sing a solo.

The ladies' aid society will be entertained by Mrs. H. G. Gilderman at her home on next Thursday afternoon.

Episcopal services will be held on Sunday, March 24, by the Rev. Mr. Collier of West Duluth at the Odd Fellows' hall.

A play is soon to be given in the Odd Fellows' hall by the young people of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Duluth.

If You Like Good Beer drink Fitger's Beer

It's Good For You

THERE are few people who deny the healthfulness of good beer. Say what you will, the fact remains that good beer is a delicious refreshment, a fine builder of good blood and a gentle pacifier of overworked nerves. (9)

When you are tired and crave something other than solid foods, there's nothing so satisfying as a cool glass of Fitger's Beer. With meals it is very enjoyable, making simple food taste like a feast.

Try it—That's the real test.

MAIN WORKING SHAFT OF ANACONDA TO BE BELMONT

With Underground Electric Haulage Will Mean an Enormous Saving.

Railroad to Radersburg District to Be in Operation Sept. 1.

Butte, Mont., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The work of connecting the St. Lawrence mine with the Anaconda on the lowest levels and connecting the Anaconda mines with the Belmont is proceeding with as much speed as possible with a view of ultimately providing a hoisting shaft through the Belmont for all the Anaconda group. The new Belmont shaft is of four compartments and is one of the largest and most substantial in the entire Western country. It is to be connected with the Anaconda mine at the 2,400-foot level. The collar of the Belmont shaft is about 275 feet lower than that of the Anaconda mine and there will be about that difference in the levels. For some time connections have been made with the Anaconda on the 1,400, 1,600 and other levels of the Belmont. It is the intention to make the Belmont the main working shaft for the Anaconda and other mines on the hill. With a thorough system of underground electric haulage this will mean an enormous saving of cost. Supplies are now hauled up the hill more than a mile and then hauling ore down again which was mined in the vicinity of the Belmont shaft and trammed a mile north to the old Anaconda shaft has entailed a heavy expense which will be entirely cut out in the near future. The underground electric system is nearing completion and within the past few days several motors have been lowered into the mines. When this work is all completed and the Belmont is finally made the main working shaft for all the Anaconda hill properties the cost in production is going to be considerably reduced. Inside of another six months at least one-half the shafts where ore was formerly hoisted will be out of commission except for ventilating purposes.

Storage Battery Cars.

The storage battery system of electric cars which has been in use in the Berkely mine for some time has proved a complete success and the cars run along with the same smoothness and regularity as under the overhead system. Whether the Anaconda company will use the storage battery in preference to the other system in the future is yet a question which has not been decided.

Railroad to Radersberg.

The railroad to be constructed to the Radersberg district is to be known as the Three Forks, Helena & Madison Valley and is to run between Three Forks and Helena via Radersburg. It is understood that it is to connect with the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound road at Three Forks and bring ore into this city over that road. According to advices work is to be commenced at once and the line is to be in operation by Sept. 1. Contracts have been let for material and men are being got together to commence construction work. The building of a line to the district is going to mean a great deal to mines now in operation and there is no doubt the ore shipments will be at least doubled after the road is ready for business.

February Production.

The total production for this district in February was in the vicinity of 28,950,000 pounds of copper of which the Anaconda company is credited with 27,450,000 pounds, compared with 26,350,000 pounds in January. The East Butte company turned out about 1,250,000 pounds and other independent companies about 300,000 pounds. During the present month it is believed that the production will reach to 30,000,000 pounds and of this amount the Anaconda company will run over 28,000,000 pounds. The Washoe smelter is having its capacity fully taxed in caring for the ore being shipped, while the Great Falls smelter is in about the same position.

Barnes-King.

The Barnes-King company is having one or two properties in Idaho examined with a view to investing the greater part of the treasury surplus of $250,000 in a property which some day may bring in a return for the money invested. The annual meeting of the company was held at Kendall, the place where the mine is located, a few days ago and directors were elected, all of whom hail from this city. After the meeting the directors who were present inspected the North Moccasin mine which adjoins the Barnes-King with the object in view of making an effort to secure an interest in the property, but the overtures made were not favorably entertained. The North Moccasin is a good paying proposition. The directors who are serving without pay are unanimous in the opinion that same property should be purchased and an effort made to place the company in a position where in time some return may be secured on the money invested.

Butte-Ballaklava.

The Butte-Ballaklava company has encountered a vein of four feet of commercial ore on the 1,000 foot level, and Superintendent Newton is confident that a fine body of shipping ore will be developed in the near future.

Dispute Settled.

It looks as if the dispute between the county authorities and the La France Copper company over the assessment on the Basin Reduction works will be satisfactorily adjusted. An arrangement has been reached between the parties whereby it is provided that if the mining company says $17,500 by May 1, a receipt will be given for all taxes due. Assurances have been given that the La France company will pay the amount before the time stipulated.

Bradley Extraction Process.

The elaborate plant of the Copper Extraction Process company, built at the Washoe smelter by A. C. Burrage and his associates, for the application of the Bradley process in the extraction of copper, gold and silver from the slimes of the Washoe concentrator is one of the most important in new methods of copper recovery from so-called wastes. There are millions of tons of these slimes near the Washoe smelter, and the pile is constantly added to, although the Anaconda company itself is treating some of the stuff by briquetting it as it comes from the concentrator and treating it in the furnaces.

However, the furnaces cannot keep up with the output of the concentrator. The slimes carry about 2¼ per cent of copper, and one and a half cents of gold and silver value to each pound of copper. By the Bradley process it is expected to recover practically all of the copper in the slimes. The Copper Extraction Process company has a contract with the Anaconda company by which it pays a stated sum per ton of slimes used. Another system of recovering the metals from the slimes, known as the Feck centrifugal process, is also being tested at the Washoe.

The Bradley plant has been built at a cost of about $250,000 and has a capacity for treating 250 tons of material each twenty-four hours.

CONTROL OF THE OSCEOLA

Real Object of the Injunction Suit By Charles M. Turner.

Rich Copper Rock Disclosed in No. 3 Lode of the Wyandot.

Houghton, Mich., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The managements of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company and the Osceola Consolidated Mining company are made defendants in a suit brought by Charles M. Turner, et al, in the circuit court in Ingham county, in which application is made by the complainant for an injunction to restrain these managements from taking further steps in what he believes has for its ultimate the consolidation of the two properties. The court has issued a restraining order returnable March 28, at which time the several managements will be required to show cause why a permanent injunction should not issue. In the bill of complaint filed in this case the charge is made among a number that the Osceola property has been mismanaged and so manipulated as to make it appear that the property had greatly depreciated in value, to more easily acquire it for purpose of consolidation on terms greatly to the advantage of the Calumet & Hecla company. The fight, which is practically for the control of the Osceola company, is sai dto have the personal backing of G. M. Hyams, formerly in control.

New Arcadian

The New Arcadian appears to have located a promising mineral belt after a persistent search of more than one year and is now prospecting copper ground at two points quite two miles apart with some degree of success. The new No. 24 drill hole is sinking on section 9 and about 800 feet southeast of the No. 22 drill hole which recently developed a rich amygdaloidal bed at a depth of 1,000 feet. Hole No. 24 will tap this bed at somewhat shallower depth than did No. 22 and will furnish the desired data concerning strike and dip of this formation. A further good showing is yielded by drill hole No. 23 on section 30 and in the approximate horizon of the Baltic lode. This hole is down around 800 feet in most interesting ground lying between conglomerate lodes Nos. 2 and 3.

Centennial.

The Centennial is gradually increasing its working forces and incidentally getting out a larger tonnage of rock. Shipments to the mill now average around 600 tons daily having practically doubled over a few months past. Activity continues centered in ground tributary to the No. 2 shaft in which drift extensions below the 25th level generally disclose excellent rock. The south, or No. 1 shaft is practically idle and altogether without much encouragement. Both shafts remain temporarily bottomed at about the 31st level.

Indiana.

The Indiana continues actively engaged in exploratory work on the felsite bed in which lateral work is about to [illegible] be extended in the four directions. The first lateral on the 600-foot level has reached a length of about 50 feet in the direction of the No. 9 drill hole which at about this depth developed a copper deposit of some promise. The shaft is sinking steadily and has attained a depth of about 700 feet. It is expected to intersect what is considered to be the most promising of the several Indiana lodes at a depth of about 1,100 feet.

Houghton.

The Houghton is drifting at four points on the 615-foot level and with more encouragement than was had at the beginning. The main crosscut on this level has been stopped in a well formed amygdaloid lying approximately 250 feet south of the shaft. This lode is identical with the Superior West lode in which the Superior company is opening copper rock of unusual richness in the territory next adjoining Houghton acreage. The activity of the Houghton company is confined to the Superior main vein and to one other vein known as the East lode. Both where opened have encouraged disclosed copper rock of excellent quality. The East lode has been opened for a distance of about 200 feet and the Main vein for about one-half that distance though with better results.

Wyandot.

The Wyandot reports a disclosure of rich copper rock in what is designated as the No. 3 lode. The mineral is said to occur in small masses in more than the usual proportions. Drift extensions on another lode known as No 8 show further copper rock of commercial grade in a vein of a most kindly sort. The crosscut through which these lodes are opened on this level has attained a length of 2,160 feet and will continue until the eastern limits of the property have been reached.

Adventure.

The Adventure, which is centering activity in the extension of the crosscut designed to open the No. 2 lode on the 1,500-foot level, is now into ground of a character that would seem to indicate that this lode lies only a few feet away. The crosscut has reached a length of 440 feet. A good showing in the No. 2 lode is generally anticipated. Exploratory work on the No. 1 lode opened in the shaft and by a short crosscut in the opposite direction from the one now driving gave little encouragement and was ceased some months ago. A third lode lying nearly 500 feet east of the No. 2 lode will be opened later by a further extension of the crosscut now seeking No. 2 lode on the 1,500-foot level.

MEN WHO HAVE LEFT THE BENCH FOR THE HEAT OF POLITICS

President Taft Not the Only "Judicial Mind" Now in Public Life—Senators and Representatives Who Were Formerly Judges.

Written for the Herald by E. J. Edwards ("Holland").

(Copyright, 1912, by E. J. Edwards.)

MUCH is being said just now of the judicial temperament in politics and government administration. Neither the opponents nor the supporters of President Taft's candidacy for renomination are allowing the fact to be forgotten that he was a judge before he was an administrator of government and the leader of a party. From this fact Taft men and anti-Taft men deduce arguments to suit their particular points of view with regard to his candidacy, and the impression has been made that as an administrator and a political leader he has maintained much of the judicial attitude of mind.

It is known that Mr. Taft's aspirations were for a career on the bench, that as far as his personal inclinations were concerned he would rather have remained a judge of the United States circuit court in Ohio than to have accepted the presidency of the Philippine commission in 1900; and it has been said with authority that the office of chief justice of the supreme court of the United States appealed to him more than did the presidency when, shortly before the national campaign of four years ago, he was compelled to make a choice. It is indeed a curious circumstance that a man whose aspirations and ambitions have been so strong toward a judicial career should become one of the chief figures in one of the biggest preconvention fights within the memory of most persons living.

While Mr. Taft is the most eminent, he is only one of a considerable number of men of today who have doffed the judicial robes to enter the arena of politics. The bench has, in fact, furnished a noteworthy group of men who are now prominent in executive or legislative office, and are conspicuous figures in the present national campaign.

Former Judges Who Have Presidential Booms.

There are several men who have held judicial office, and one who is now a judge, who are mentioned as possible nominees for the presidency this year. Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio is the one of these who is most frequently named, probably, by the political prognosticators when they figure on the outcome of the Democratic national convention.

Although he is now serving his second term as governor, he is still referred to on informal occasions by those who know him as "the judge," so strongly has his judicial career colored their impression of him. He was only 32 years of age when he began his ten years of service on the bench as judge of the superior court of Cincinnati, and it is nearly twenty-five years since he resigned that office to plunge into active affairs. It was when he entered the second cabinet of President Cleveland as attorney general of the United States that he became a figure of national prominence.

Governor Harmon deliberately quitted the judicial career while still a young man for one of greater strenuosity. In this respect the career of Governor Simeon E. Baldwin of Connecticut presents a marked contrast to his.

Governor Baldwin retired as chief justice of the supreme court of errors of Connecticut in February, 1910, because he had reached the age limit, 70 years. He had been sitting as a judge of Connecticut's highest court for seventeen years, during the last three as chief justice. But at 70 years Governor Baldwin was young. Indeed he hardly looked within twenty years of his age, and was as vigorous in body as he was keen of mind. He had no idea of dropping into desuetude, so, being too old to be a judge, he plunged into politics. The Democrats had had their eyes on him as a likely candidate for governor, and when he retired from the bench he told them he would run. He made a fine campaign, and succeeded in overturning a normal Republican plurality of 20,000, winning by a plurality of nearly 4,000. He ran ahead of his ticket, the rest of which went down to defeat.

Since 1910, naturally, Governor Baldwin has been the Democratic favorite son of Connecticut, and the fourteen votes of that state in the Democratic national convention at Baltimore are to be cast for his nomination for the presidency.

The Connecticut governorship is an office of more prestige than actual power. The governor's veto has only a moral force, since it can be overruled by a majority of the two houses of the legislature. With a Republican legislature to work with, Governor Baldwin has not been able to effect everything in the way of reform that he desired, but unquestionably through his personality he has made an impress on the government of the state. The dignity of the judge hedges him about almost as much as it did when he was on the bench, yet he has entered very strenuously into the duties of his position, and has not neglected the social side of it.

It was not thought when he assumed the office of governor that he would accept many invitations, but to the surprise of many who knew him well, he has done just that, and has gone about the state speaking at dinners, opening armories and attending ceremonies and functions to an extent that would prove exhausting to many a man years his junior. But he does not seem to mind it.

At the same time he has continued regularly his weekly lectures on constitutional law at Yale, which he has been delivering for the past forty years. Unlike Governor Harmon, who in height and weight matches George Washington's six feet and over and 220 pounds, Governor Baldwin is not a man of large physique, but rather slender and wiry in build. He carries himself very erect and his gait is at once vigorous and elastic.

A "Dark Horse" Who Was Long a Judge.

Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York is mentioned as a possible "dark horse" on the Democratic side, and there are those who believe that he will loom as a very large figure to the delegates to the Baltimore convention. When Mayor Gaynor resigned in 1909 from the bench to accept the Democratic nomination for mayor of New York, he had been a justice of the New York supreme court, for sixteen years, and had twelve years more of the second term for which he had been elected to serve. Before he was elevated to the bench he had made a national reputation as the fighting leader in corruption in Brooklyn, N. Y., and his breaking up of the John Y. Kane ring in that city. For many years he was one of the most prominent jurists in the country.

Many persons were really surprised when Judge Gaynor accepted the nomination for mayor of New York. It had become quite the customary thing for men to go from the bench for executive office, and the belief was widely held that he could not be prevailed upon to quit the bench and go into a political campaign. The Democrats tried to get him to run for mayor of Brooklyn a few years after he had been elected judge. He refused. Twice they offered him the nomination for governor, and he declined it. On several occasions they talked about him as a candidate, but did not venture to offer him a nomination, feeling assured that he would say them nay. Four years ago there was talk of Judge Gaynor for the vice presidency.

Justice Hughes.

One of the men who is regarded as a presidential possibility is on the bench today. That man is Associate Justice Charles E. Hughes of the United States supreme court. Justice Hughes is not a candidate for the nomination that is to be made at Chicago. He has let it be understood that he will not be a candidate so long as President Taft is in the race. At the same time it is recognized that a contingency may arise at the Republican convention that will make Justice Hughes available. If neither Taft nor Roosevelt should have a majority, and a deadlock should ensue, Hughes might be taken as a compromise candidate.

When Justice Hughes resigned as governor of New York three years ago to accept appointment to the supreme court, it was said that he looked forward to a career on the bench with delight, and had put presidential ambitions aside without regret. It would be a strange development if his judicial experience should prove to be but an episode in his career, and his path should turn again toward the White House, where a few years ago it was believed to be leading.

Justice Hughes had never held judicial office when he was appointed to the supreme court, and his elevation to the bench occurred so recently and he enjoyed such a wide reputation before that event, that he is not thought of today solely as a judge. When the Democrats nominated Alton B. Parker for president eight years ago, they chose as their candidate a man who had spent the greater part of his mature life on the bench and who was known only as a holder of high judicial office. Judge Parker had been on the bench for nearly twenty years when he resigned the highest judicial office in New York state, that of chief justice of the court of appeals, to accept the nomination for the presidency.

Wyoming's Governor a Former Judge.

While two governors who have sat on the bench are candidates for the presidency, another is very prominent just now in the business of president making. Joseph M. Carey, the progressive governor of Wyoming, who is one of the governors who sent a round-robin to Col. Roosevelt urging him to consent to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency, is the man.

At almost the beginning of his career in Wyoming, when that state was still a territory, Governor Carey was appointed a justice of the supreme court of the territory, and served in that office for four years, and was chairman of the Tammany committee of his election district. But during his nearly twenty years on the bench, devoting himself strictly to his judicial duties, he had no opportunity to make his name known outside his own state, and at the time of his election to the senate few of the members of congress from the South or West had heard of him.

Representative Henry M. Goldfogle, the other ex-judge representing New York in congress, had been on the municipal court bench in New York city for twelve years when in 1900 he was first elected to the house.

The Kentucky Judge Who Became a Senator.

There are two ex-judges in congress from the border states. Senator Thomas H. Paynter of Kentucky was a judge of the court of appeals of his state for twelve years up to August, 1906, when he resigned to enter the contest for the senatorship, and representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee resigned as circuit judge in 1906 to run for congress.

The middle states east of the Mississippi have not quite so many exjudges in congress as New England, Ohio has none. Indiana has one, Representative E. D. Crumpacker, who has been in the house since 1897, and has made a national reputation as a legislator. For several years he was judge of the appellate court of Indiana. Representative James R. Mann of Illinois, the present minority leader of the house, has held semi-judicial positions, during the four years prior to his first election to congress he was master of chancery of the superior court of Cook county. Representative Adolph J. Sabath, also of Chicago, was for a good many years a police magistrate, and Representative Charles E. Fuller of Belvidere, Ill., retired as a circuit court judge in 1903 to go to congress.

The middle states west of the Mississippi are seemingly not prone at present to take men from the bench to represent them in congress. There are no ex-judges in the congressional delegations from Kansas, Nebraska or the Dakotas, but there are four from Iowa. Horace Mann Towner of Corning, Iowa, served as judge of the Third judicial district of his state for twenty years up to last year when he was elected to the house. For ten years, incidentally, he was lecturer on constitutional law at the state university of Wisconsin. Representative Solomon F. Prouty of Des Moines served a number of years as an Iowa district judge, and William R. Green of Audubon, Iowa, had been on the bench for more than fifteen years as a district judge when he resigned last year to go to congress. Finally, the junior senator from Iowa, William S. Kenyon, is an ex-judge. He served one term on the district court bench in his state.

Of the Rock mountain states, Montana and Colorado have ex-judges in congress. Each has one. Senator Henry L. Myers of Montana was formerly a district judge, and Representative A. W. Rucker of Colorado has been on the bench.

There are two ex-judges from Pacific coast states in the United States senate. Senator John D. Works of California, whose election occurred a year ago, is one. He served for some time as judge of the superior court of San Diego. The other is Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington, also a new member of the senate, who served for four years as judge of the superior court of Washington. He retired from the bench in 1908 to become a member of the house of representatives.

Former Judges as Roosevelt's Opponents.

Hardly any of the men who are charged with the management of either of the two great parties—the Republican and Democratic national committeemen—have been on the bench. The Republican national committeeman from Kentucky, Anthony M. Burnam, however, is an ex-judge. From 1897 to 1903 he was an associate justice of the Kentucky court of appeals and was subsequently for a time chief justice of that court. After retiring from the bench, Judge Burnam was elected a member of the Kentucky state senate. Martin J. Wade, who represents Iowa in the Democratic national committee, was for nearly ten years a district judge in that state. He retired from the bench in 1902 to go to congress.

It is a curious fact that Col. Roosevelt as a candidate has generally been opposed by an ex-judge. In the present preconvention campaign the contest is between him and an ex-judge, and in the national campaign of 1902, his Democratic opponent, Judge Parker, had just retired from the bench. His Democratic opponent when he ran for president in 1900 was Adlai E. Stevenson, who had held quasi-judicial office as a master in chancery. In the New York state campaign of 1898, when Roosevelt was elected governor his Democratic opponent was Augustus Van Wyck, who resigned from the supreme court bench of the state to enter the gubernatorial contest.

SNOWSTORM MILL SOON TO OPERATE

Leo Greenough Declares Dividends Will Be Paid in August.

Spokane, Wash., March 23.—"We feel confident that the Snowstorm mine should start at least $15,000 in monthly dividends as early as August, and that this should be a permanent dividend, in addition to building up a substantial surplus," said Leo Greenough of the Greenough Investment company of Spokane, who represents the Greenough estate in the management of the Snowstorm Mining company in the Coeur d'Alenes, on returning from an inspection of the property. Continuing Mr. Greenough said:

"There is every indication that the mine will become one of the best producers in the district. Two hundred thousand tons of ore is blocked out between the No. 2 and No. 3 tunnel. This has been sampled and runs 3½ per cent copper and six ounces in silver, with some gold values. This ore is a sulphide that can be treated by the new mill on the property, of which the first unit of 100-ton daily capacity will be operating in May, and will be followed by the completion of the second unit ninety days later. Carbonate ore, of which there is 45,000 tons, is being shipped constantly and netting $10,000 monthly.

"Robert N. Bell, state mine inspector of Idaho, in a recent report, places a gross value of $4,000,000 on the ore above the No. 3 tunnel. Some time ago a shaft was sunk eighty feet from the No. 3 tunnel and a cross-cut driven which proved the ore vein to be forty feet in width. This has encouraged the management to believe that ore may eventually be encountered in the lower workings, and it is planned to start an upraise from the No. 4 tunnel in a short time. It seems possible the vein has reversed its dip and the hanging wall become the foot wall, in which case the No. 4 tunnel does not go far enough north to reach it. In the event that the ore does go below the No. 3 level the mine may become a long-lived one."

UNUSUAL STRIKE IN BRIGGS SHAFT

High Grade Oxide Ore Encountered in Calumet & Arizona.

Bisbee, Ariz., March 23.—In the last week there was an unusual strike made by the Calumet & Arizona at the Briggs working. Here cross-cutting of the high grade sulphides was continued last week, and this was continued. In this cross-cut after proceeding ten or fifteen feet a deposit of high grade oxide ore was encountered. This oxide body has now been cut fifteen feet, and, like the sulphide deposit, is of exceptional richness.

While it is not unusual to encounter oxides in connection with sulphide ore, it is unusual to break from a deposit of such richness as the working were in right into a very rich oxide deposit. Just what it means has not been determined, but exploration work is being continued.

The Calumet & Arizona company continues taking out approximately the same tonnage and its smelter output in pounds is remaining practically stationary. Beyond the developments mentioned at the Briggs shaft, there was no occurence in the workings which the management deemed especially worthy of comment.

Shattuck Reports Are Good.

At the Shattuck, cross-cuttting on the 400-foot level at cross-cuts 9 and 10 continues. Cross-cut 10 is where the rich copper glance was encountered. In this deposit, on the far side, there has now been further crosscutting of forty feet done, the rich ore continuing. It is here, in this rich copper glance where the hard formation ocurs, and not in cross-cut 9 as has been stated. Cross-cut 9 is being pushed on. At the bottom of this drift occurs the rich formation which has been termed the second strike of the past month. The upper part of the drift is in schica, so that it is evident that this second deposit is below second working, at least at the time being, and the cross-cut has been brought in above the ore body. The ore at the bottom of the drift continues of the same rich character that has been previously mentioned.

Big G For 30 Years the Standard Remedy for Diseases of Mucous Membranes

Experienced pharmacists will tell you Big G is the accepted standard remedy for diseases of mucous membranes—discharges from the nose, throat and urinary organs. Avoid substitutes. To experiment is dangerous. Big G, used everywhere since 1880, has proved safe and reliable. Non-poisonous, antiseptic and tonic in its properties, containing no silver nitrate, zinc sulphate, alcohol, cocaine, or any narcotic, it may be used full strength without fear. Why not cure yourself? Sold by druggists; or we skip express prepaid, upon receipt of $1. Full particulars enclosed with each bottle or mailed sealed in plain envelope on request.

BALTIMORE MINE YIELDS RICH ORE

Immense Body Developed in Montana Property, Long Idle.

Helena, Mont., March 23.—An immense body of ore has been developed in the Baltimore mine near Boulder, which Charles Whitcomb of this city recently took over. The ore averages in the neighborhood of $50 a ton. The mine has been idle some years.

Present indications lead to the belief that operations will soon be resumed on the property of the Corbin-Copper King Mining company at Corbin, recently taken over in the adjustment of the affairs of the Montana Corbin Copper company.

The new mill at the Gold Coin mining property in the Rochester district will be started next week. Norman Blye has been appointed manager by the San Francisco owners and has arrived. The Gold Coin is considered one of the best properties in the district.

The company operating the Bedford mine near Laurin in Madison county will erect a 100-ton daily capacity concentrating plant this spring.

The Grand View Mining & Development company is operating a group of nine claims in Goodrich gulch, twenty miles south of Whitehall. The company is backed by Montana men and the Clodius Bros., bankers of Ritzville, Wash.

The Montana Mines company, a recently incorporated concern, composed of W. C. Hoskins of Missoula, W. H. Nichols of Butte, and others, has taken over a group of gold mining claims on Eight-Mile creek, six miles east of Florence in the Bitter Root valley.

W. H. Graham of San Francisco has taken a lease and bond on the Mountain View group of claims near the boundary line between Sanders and Lincoln counties.

A new lead has been tapped in the Trilby mine in the Georgetown district west of Anaconda, and great things are expected from the property.

The recent strike in the Oro Fino mine is reported to be larger and better than at first reported.

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

WALTER WILLOUGHBY'S manager called the writer up over the long distance telephone yesterday afternoon, getting the voice sights from Mellen, Wis., and then yelling general defiance at either Walter Miller or Hank Gehring. Willoughby wants to come here and wrestle either Miller or Yokel and says he can beat either of them. He also offers to make the middleweight limit for these wrestlers, and adds that he has but little fear of the result of the outcome of a match with either of the two men. J. Fitzgerald, a newspaper man of Mellen, speaking for Willoughby, stated that the little wrestler had journeyed to Cleveland with the purpose of getting a match with either Yokel or Gehring and then had been refused a match by these claimants of the middleweight championship after the long trip and the gleaming tips spread into the ebony hands of the men that work the Pullman cars under the protection of the porter's garb.

In the opinion of the writer a match between Willoughby and Miller, or Yokel, for that matter, would be one of the greatest contests ever wrestled in this country. Willoughby is one of the grandest little wrestlers in the world and has beaten most of the good men of his poundage. Whether either Miller or Yokel will give the doughty Chicago man a chance at the undisputed claim at the middleweight title, is something that conjecture can nibble at, and the telegraph wires answer.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙ ⊙

WHILE on the subject of wrestling it might not be amiss to say a few words at this time on the matches that have been conducted here the present winter. Wrestling has never been so popular in Duluth as it is the present season. The best business men of the city have attended the matches and they have been entirely free from anything even approaching muckerism. All of which goes to show that the public likes its sport in orderly and well organized manner, and that clean sport will generally find a response upon the part of the public.

YOU don't take seriously this bunk about Jim Jeffries coming back, do you? If he ever starts in to bunk the public, which gave him his dirty money, some one ought to hop on him and show just what kind of a guy this alleged grizzly bear is. Jeffries hasn't as much chance of coming back as William J. Bryan, and you know, Hortense, that the Nebraska man has even worn his own confidence to shreds.

For several years before the fight with Johnson this Jeffries sat around a large and luxurious saloon in Los Angeles and gazed at the bottom of the glasses. He looked upon the wine when it was red and did several other things that the scriptures advise against. Then he went broke and some wise heads, with beans that possessed higher brain power than the former champion of the world possessed, hatched the scheme to make the former champion the real champion.

Jeffries wouldn't fight Johnson back in the days before he thought of going out of the fight game. Johnson always wanted to mix with Jeffries, to give the Devil that small mite that some people are in the habit of claiming he should have. Jeff never did cares for the form shown by the big black and never would have made the match with Johnson had he not believed to the very last that the fight was to be fixed.

Now we hear an occasional whisper from the Los Angeles path that Jeff is training with the idea of fighting his way to the top of the heap. Physically the greatest exponent of fighting that the game ever produced in the long history of fistcuffs, James J. Jeffries possesses one of the poorest fighting hearts that any fighter was ever handicapped with. Did Jeffries possess the heart that beats valiantly under the poor old battle scarred breast of Battling Nelson, there would have been no man in the world who would have had the least chance with the big grizzly.

No, Pal, there is not the least chance that this Jeffries can come back. The public wants no more of the Jeffries game. Let him stay out there in his saloon and think over the deal he tried to put across. As some one has said in the past, this Jeffries person is a thick neck and a low brow, but there are times when the fact that he quit with Johnson at Reno gets under his skin. But the time for more fights for Jeffries has long past and there is not the slightest chance that the public would express any sentiment but pity were it possible for the burlesque to be repeated.

WITH the approach of the baseball season it might be hurtling the feelings of the person who respects precedent and holds custom closely to his breast, not to mention the fact that Cy Young will be a member of the Boston Nationals the coming season. For the past twenty-two years writers in various parts of the country have been chronicling the getaway of Cyrus in the big show. It has been estimated that baseball statisticians will go hungry when Cy quits the game.

The farmer of Ohio states that his arm is as sound as one of the golden roots of evil that are matured in the various processes of the government mint. Extravagance and a sore arm are two things quite foreign to the simple nature of Uncle Cy. The one-horse chaise, the little brook that Alf Tennyson wotted of and Uncle Cy Young, along with Hetty Green's memory for fractions and compound interest, are some of the long distance records that have only been surpassed by the unbroken drouth in North Dakota.

As long as Uncle Cy continues to prance kitten-like around the diamond, some of the other veterans should feel young and sprightly. When Time does finally whisper the baseball good-bye in the red ear of the old-young Young, some of the other old ones will feel lonesome and will look anxiously for the inevitable hand-writing on the wall.

JUST whether we are going to have baseball this season or not—well as the men interested in the game have not the least definite idea. It is perhaps early to give the answer. If the people of the village care they will show their coffeern; and on the other hand if the inhabitants of the community care not, then let us drop the subject, as the cook did the soup on the parson's pate.

We are due for some good baseball or none at all. When the Greater Duluth club gets to stirring things up, as some of the good cits have been assured this civic organization is going to do, it might tell some of the good people of the town that a first-class team in a first-class league would be one of the best advertisements the community could have.

A good baseball park and a good team with the league in the bill of consideration would do much to add in the necessary letters in the sign metropolitan. Let's cast aside the swaddling clothes as soon as possible and get a hammerlock on some of the big stuff. If we are going to have baseball let's go into it right and file in behind the men who are in the game. Let them show that they are right and are out to do the best circumstances will allow, and then it will be up to the citizens, those who want to help in making this a good live city, to do their share in giving this town a good team.

NORTHLAND TEAM DEFEATS THE C. H. S.

Last evening the Cathedral high school basket ball team was defeated by the Northland College quint by the score of 25 to 12. The game was played on the floor of the Catholic Athletic club and proved one of the biggest athletic attractions of the season.

Superior team work on the part of the Ashland team won the victory for the visitors.

In the curtain raiser the C. B. C. five won from the Shamrocks by the score of 27 to 8.

WOLEBIN THE WINNER.

All-Round Competition Completed With Pole Vaulting Event.

K. Wolebin is the winner of the all-round athletic competition that has been in competition at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium during the winter. The events were brought to a close last night with the pole vault, Wolebin winning this event with a mark of 9:4. The final standing of the various contestants in the all-round competition gives Wolebin 1,388 points, Martin 1,214 and Cannon, 1,105.

Following is the result of the closing event:

Wolebin, 9:4; Cannon, 8 feet; Ballgard, 7; Baker, 6; Beck, 6; Olson, 6; Conning, 5 feet 4 inches; Hegstrom, 5 feet 4 inches.

Bowling Congress Ends.

Chicago, March 23.—Final games of the twelfth annual tournament of the American Bowling congress were rolled today. Chicago entered the majority of the men in the two events, the doubles and the singles, although a few from other Illinois cities competed. Secretary Langtry of the A. B. C. announced that the prize list for the doubles, single and all events, which totals close to $20,000, would be announced tonight.

HOW IT FEELS TO BE A BIG LEAGUE LEMON

Rube Marquard Tells of His Experiences in the Majors Before He Became a Real Star.

By Richard Marquard.

They called me a big league failure, and I suppose I was. I know I tried hard enough and worried enough about my record, but I failed for all that, and the memory of that experience is still with me a good deal like a disagreeable dream.

Baseball is not a game for failures. There is no room in its ranks for the man who can't make good, and so it is harder to be a big league failure than it is to fail in almost any other profession.

The public always pays to see a winner. They expect and demand to see winners. They have no patience with a man who can't make good, and it doesn't make any difference to them how hard he may be trying so long as he doesn't succeed.

For two years or more I was called the great $11,000 "lemon." The spectators used to shout it at me from the bleachers; the press used to print it in big headlines; I saw or heard it everywhere.

If I had made a different entrance into the big league company, I believe my experience would have been different, too. As it was, the press was far too flattering in the beginning. They gave me a remarkably good send-off, but they over-rated my abilities, and the public grew to expect a great deal more than I was able to give them. But no experience they say is lost, and I suppose the experience I have had, though it has been unpleasant enough, will be of some use to me now that I seem to have made a fair start.

I played baseball ever since I can remember. It was always the only game for me, and it is the only game now. There is no other like it. The only training I ever had was on the sand lots of my native city of Cleveland. The wonderful system of amateur ball clubs, which the city of Cleveland has developed, gives the boys of that city an excellent chance at baseball practice.

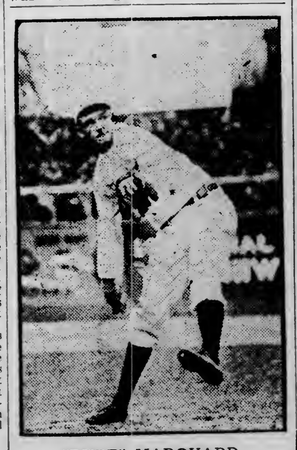
I did not feel discouraged, as I was young and had plenty of time, and the fact that my work had attracted the notice of one major league owner was pretty fair proof that I might expect more notice later on. It came all right in the shape of a contract from Indianapolis, and it was in the American association that my professional league baseball experience began.

In Good Form.

That season I was in fine form. I won fourteen victories straight, and from that time scouts from all the big league circuits were looking me over. The press began to take notice, too, and all kinds of flattering comments appeared from time to time. If there had not been so many of them, it would have been much better all around.

I do not know that the club especially respected my feelings, but things moved rapidly after that time, and it was not long before I found myself the property of the New York Giants at the record price of $11,000.

This seemed to be a fortunate climax to a good summer's work, but instead it proved the beginning of two years of very deep disappointment. The papers devoted a great deal of space to the episode; they dwelt on the price that was paid for me and drew vivid pictures of what my career with a major league club should be. All this was well enough if it were meant as a boost to a young player, but it was entirely overdone. It set a standard for me that I could not possibly attain; it roused the expectations of the "fans" to a high pitch, and when these expectations failed to be realized, the public was naturally disappointed.



"RUBE" MARQUARD.

I shall never forget my first game in big league company. It is still so vivid in my mind that I cannot look back on it now with any degree of comfort. We were playing Cincinnati. The people turned out in great crowds to see the new "phenom" pitch. The records said there were 30,000 people present, but when I entered the pitcher's box with my knees knocking together and looked up into the stands, I could see at least double that number. I was only eighteen at the time, and extremely anxious to make good, but I had small hopes of living up to the high expectations of my work which the crowd seemed to entertain, and I was extremely nervous. The mere fact that I was so anxious to make good made it impossible for me to do myself justice. I could not bear to think what the crowd would say if I should hit a batter in my nervousness, and in an effort to avoid this I was extremely wild. Then when I tried to gain control by putting them over the plate, I had to depend solely on a straight ball, which I was not able to handle with my ordinary good luck. Then the balls started coming for me like rifle shots and went as safe hits. It was a slaughter and I blew up completely.

That was the only game I took part in that season, but it was enough. I was so badly rattled that I did not get over it all winter. The opening of the next season found me in fully as bad condition, or worse.

Lost Confidence.

I lost confidence completely, and the knocks which the press and the spectators gave me did not help matters any. When I was pitching, the moment I failed to put them over, there would be a series of calls, "Take him out," and various comments on the $11,000 "lemon." Criticism of this kind is very unnerving to a young player new to the game. It gets the nerve of the old-timers, too, to some extent, but they are more used to it and can stand it better. Still, where many thousands of voices are shouting at once, "Take him out," the pitcher is likely to grow discouraged, and I do not believe any man can do his best under such circumstances.

I know I was hot-headed at times, and on one or two occasions I went beyond bounds when I was goaded by some of those cartoons on $11,000 "lemons." It is not pleasant to be the goat of the whole league, but when references are made to mere personal matters, that is going beyond what I will stand for. I know one day at St. Louis I spoiled a hat and a necktie for one of the press writers who had abused me beyond reason, and was fined $25 for it by the umpire. However, it was worth it to me, and I didn't complain, though I cannot say about the sporting writer.

This thing went on for more than two years, until last spring I made up my mind I would either make good or get out of the game. I resolved to pay no attention whatever to any remarks made to me by the "fans" or the press, but to put them over regardless of what might happen. I started on this resolve on the spring training trip down South, depending solely on speed. I remember I was pitching to Meyers, and the first one got away from him, it was going so fast, but it was the beginning. I stuck to fast straight ones to get back my control. I knew control had never bothered me at Indianapolis. In fact, when I first went there I did not know what the word meant. I heard them talking about control and wondered what it was. This time I knew. I had control once, and I made up my mind I could get it again.

Gets His Chance.

Last season the first big game I pitched that made any impression on anyone was in that game where the Giants scored thirteen runs in the first inning against St. Louis. McGraw saw his chance. He did not thing that even I could lose the game then, so he sent me in, and it was my chance, too. Here was the opportunity I was looking for. I had nothing to lose. The game was already won. There was nothing at stake and nothing special was expected of me. My nervousness passed away completely, and I pitched as I had never pitched before. In the eight innings which followed I struck out fourteen men. That was the true beginning of my big league experience. I cannot help but contrast it with my first game with the Cincinnati club where big things were expected of me and my own nervousness and lack of confidence in myself lost out.

Here no one expected anything of me. I had nothing to lose. I was merely the great $11,000 "lemon" and I could do myself full justice. From that moment my old-time confidence was restored. I went back to my curves. I used full speed. I pitched as I had done in the old days with Indianapolis, and the result of my last season's work was a pretty fair indication that I made good.

No one can say what will happen in the next season, but I have this much to say: I have been the great $11,000 "lemon." I have been a big league failure, if you wish to call it that, but I am not one now, and I shall not be again. I have a number of years left, if nothing happens, for work in the major league circles. I have just signed a three years' contract with the Giants, and they are going to get my very best work.

I owe it to Mr. Brush, a prince among magnates, and Mr. McGraw, an equal prince among managers, for their patience in dealing with me in that long season when I was not making them any adequate return. But I shall endeavor, to the best of my ability, in the seasons which are coming, to give them a return for their great faith in me which has made my present success and future prospects possible.—Courtesy Baseball Magazine.

BANTER CAUSED CROUCHING START

Tommy Lee Hit Upon Present Form of Leaving Mark By Accident.

New York, March 23.—No feature of modern athletics has been so consistently discussed for the past quarter of a century as the crouching start with both hands on the ground, as it is used by sprinters, nor have there been so many claimants for any one wrinkle in track sport. For the past ten years or so there has been a quarter of the globe, where amateur sport has taken a hold, but runners could be found who claimed to be the original inventors of the crouch, but when their credentials were investigated they were found to be worthless. For a while it was thought to be the work of a professional and at other times it was mentioned as originally having come from Australia, where a sprinter then took it from the peculiar position of the kangaroo and his method of getting into motion. The West, too, got some credit out of the crouch, which was said to have been suggested to a sprinter among the tall timbers from the crouching springs of the wildcat.

The Real Inventor.

During all these years of discussion it was singular that the real inventor of the wrinkle has never been mentioned, and he can never get the credit for it now, for he passed to the happy hunting ground many years ago. The sprinter responsible for the introduction of the crouch was the late Tommy Lee of the New York Athletic club, and he dropped on it more by accident than by effort to unearth something new. In the latter part of 1887, when the Mercury Foot sprinters used to practice on the old Mott Haven ground in summer time, there were always a few on hand who did nothing else during the dog days and who were ever on the lookout for a novelty. This day there happened to be none of the cracks about, and Lee, in order to make a sort of a contest, told the mediocre men there that he would start crouching while they could assume a standing position. It was agreed to, and Lee's opponents were surprised that he should beat them off the mark every time. At the same time it dawned on Lee himself that the crouching style beat all others for steadiness and that a man using it would hardly ever incur the penalty for breaking.

He tried it again and again until he so improved that he found no difference from the upright position in the matter of speed in getting away. Then he decided to use the crouch in open competition and at first it met with nothing but ridicule from the general run of crack sprinters. They tried the crouch and condemned it and so did the Sheffield professionals, but the trouble was that neither the crack amateurs nor the Sheffielders stuck to the crouch long enough to learn it properly or to accustom themselves to its best points. This apparent failure did not deter Lee from using the crouch, but in a competitive way he did not win any of the big titles till 1894, when he annexed the 100 and 220 yard championships.

When John Owen, jr., of the Detroit A. C. came East in 1889 he won the 100 yards to the great surprise of the Eastern critics. He did not use the crouch and neither did he in 1890 when he won the hundred again at Washington and succeeded in coming home in 9 4-5 seconds, something not previously done by an amateur, and the Detroit man will ever be remembered as the first amateur to beat "even time." After Owen came Harry Jewett in 1891 and he used a sort of a half crouch. He stood on his mark sideways with the right hand on the ground and the left lifted above his head, and when the gun went off he plunged forward, getting into top speed very soon after leaving the mark.

Slow of Adoption.

In 1887, when the crouch was first talked of, Charles H. Sherrill of Yale university, then the reigning college sprinter, tried it by putting one hand on the ground, but it did not impress him enough to use it often in open competition, and it was notable when he beat Luther Carey of Princton in 1889 Sherrill started in an upright position. The Yale man did 10 seconds, and he breasted the tape a full two yards in front of the Tiger. Amateurs in the old world did not begin to use the crouch till about 1895, for when the London A. C. team came for the international match with the New York A. C. the sprinters and hurdlers started from the upright position. After that the crouch became the real way of starting in England.

OLYMPIAD HAS VARIED PROGRAM

The official program of the Olympic games is at hand, giving in detail the various sports that will make up the long list of events comprising the program. While the general public is most familiar with only the chief athletic features of the program, a perusal of the program shows a bicycle road race, fencing, football, gymnastics, horse riding competition, lawn tennis, modern pentathlon, rowing, shooting, deer shooting, swimming, wrestling, yacht racing, game shooting and mountain ascents, in addition to a multitude of other events that the general public has never heard of.

It is said that many people from Duluth are going to attend the Olympic games, and that the Olympiad of this summer will be more largely attended by Americans and Scandinavians of this country than any of the other games that have been held since the revival of the famous old contests. ...

NEW LEAGUE PLANNED.

Move Is on Foot to Revive the Old Northern League.

A dispatch from Winnipeg today says there is a move on to form a baseball league, composed of Winnipeg, Duluth, Superior, Hibbing, Virginia, Grand Forks, Fargo and Brandon. The telegram says that all of the men negotiated with have signified their willingness to come into the proposed league, and that it is believed that some definite arrangements will be made within the next week or so. Fargo and Grand Forks are both anxious to get into the proposed league.

Fight Was a Draw.

Madison, Wis., March 23.—Gene McGovern and Willie Driscoll, both of Milwaukee, fought ten rounds to a draw here. They fought at 122 pounds. In the semi-windup Jim Herrick of Chicago knocked out Ray Richmond, negro, of Madison, in the seventh of a scheduled 10-round bout.

"OLD HOSS" RADBOURNE WAS ONE OF BASEBALL'S GREATEST PLAYERS

Famous Old Pitcher Once Defeated Team Composed of Seven Ringers and Won Game That Was Framed Against Him.

(By Ted Sullivan.)

Chicago, March 23.—About the last of the '70's and early '80's there was a great practice among the smaller cities of the Northwest and surrounding villages to "ring in" outside players from Chicago and other cities. There were two cities in Upper Iowa that were bitter rivals in baseball, namely, Decorah and Cresco. The habit of one of these cities was to bring the players to their towns, give them jobs temporarily and then bet on their club against the rival city.

Chicago was the market for this supply of "ringer players." During this particular summer Decorah made a match with Cresco for a certain date. The Decorah manager went to Chicago immediately and secured five Chicago city players and gave them ten-day jobs in various places in the city, with the pretensions of making them regular residents. Cresco was honest in its intentions and expected to give battle with its regular team. They had no idea of the trick of their sister city to collect outside players to beat them.

Heavy Betting on Games.

At that time the whole country went stark mad in betting on baseball. All kinds of bets were offered on Decorah by those on the "inside" who knew of the five "imports" who had fake jobs in Decorah. The great game finally came off — and poor Cresco caught it good and hard on the betting exchange, which came near bankrupting some of the Cresco farmers.

The whole plot was revealed after the game. Revenge was planned to get even with Decorah, and revenge it should be and no mistake. The farmers around Cresco and citizens of that town said Decorah should suffer for this gigantic cheat. A traveling man from Dubuque, Iowa, was one of the chief victims, and this scheme of Decorah was to be offset and he would do the whole planning.

Revenge he did have doubly and trebly. As a return match was arranged a deep plot was laid by this astute traveling man from Dubuque. Cresco said nothing to Decorah about her counterfeit players, as she was to do some "ringing" herself, and a ring that would be heard all over the state. On the other hand, Decorah was not satisfied to retain the five original Chicago players, but reinforced them by two more from the prairies of that city —making in total, seven.

Cresco, however, with the traveling salesman as manager, went deep and ingeniously into the scheme to get square with Decorah. The Dubuque team of 1879, of which the writer was the organizer and manager, was resting on their oars after winning the championship of the Northwest. The Dubuque team composed Tom Sullivan of St. Louis, Radbourne, Lapham, Loftus, Comiskey, the two Gleason brothers, Billy Taylor and Reis.

The great Radbourne was on the threshold of his greatness. This was the year before he joined the National league, and he was ready for any scheme where there was fun and a little pay. Billy Taylor, who died some years ago in Florida, was one of the most natural ball players that ever donned a uniform. He demonstrated it afterward in Pittsburg by pitching one day and catching the next. Those two were the battery the traveling man engaged.

Rad was ever in his element when it came to the task of making pretenders lay down their bats. At that time he could give fifty strikes to a Chicago City league player, and he wouldn't touch the ball. All arrangements were made for Taylor and Radbourne to go to Cresco and live on a farm near that city, and remain there until the day of the match. Their line of business was to watch the other farm hands toss hay, etc., and partake of the cream of the farm.

Sleuths Thrown Off.

They were treated on that farm like kings, and all Cresco was chuckling to itself on the cards it had up its sleeve for Decorah. Here was the position of the two cities, one week before the match. Decorah had seven Chicago players, with the addition of two or three of her own. Cresco had her two stalwart farm hands, to be added to seven of her own men. Decorah put watch on Cresco to see if they were getting any new men, but no new faces were seen on the team while Cresco was practicing for the great match.

Radbourne and Taylor never appeared with the Cresco team while they were practicing. There was an air of mystery about the latter city that Decorah could not understand. Cresco held its secret well, as its traveling man closed all leaks. The game was the talk of that section of the country, and Cresco took every bet that Decorah could muster. The town had all and every confidence in Radbourne and Taylor. They knew they were robbed by Decorah in the last game and they were boiling hot to get even.

Decorah had detectives in Cresco up to the afternoon of the game, but no new faces were seen. What could this mean? Cresco was backing its club and never spoke of any new players. The traveling man had arranged for the novel appearance of Radbourne and Taylor on the day of the game. The great day of the match opened up bright and clear. From early morn to noon wagons were pouring into Cresco loaded with people from the surrounding country to see the game, which was the topic of conversation for three weeks. Excursions on the railroads came up from Decorah with people who were eager to bet on their invincible team.

The Chicago contingent of players urged their friends to take all kinds of bets, as they were going to make a holy show of the Cresco "yaps." It was a free ground, where no admission was charged, but the playing field was protected by a rope.

Dress Parade.

The Decorah team was cheered by its friends when it arrived. They commenced their practice and a beautiful dress parade one it was. They caught the ball in all fantastic shapes, which set their adherents wild with delight, and correspondingly depressed the followers of the Cresco club. The artistic display of picking balls up with one finger bewildered the countrymen. Bets were called out by the friends of the Decorah club, but Cresco was on hand to take them.

Any practical baseball man knows what a dress parade means before a country audience. It is to scare the opposing club. After those boys of the Chicago prairies and city left the diamond, the awkward and ungainly oaks of Cresco appeared, but they were minus their battery. They threw the ball around a while, but the contrast between their dress parade and the visitors' was decidedly in favor of Decorah. But there was one thing those Cresco boys could do—they could hit a little.

The original battery of the Cresco club had not yet appeared, but their absence was explained by their manager, that they could not get off from their work until a certain time in the day, but they would be on hand in plenty of time to begin the game. About this time a farmer appeared with a load of hay whose top was covered with about twenty farm hands who came along to witness the game. The farmer insisted on driving near the ropes, but they drove him back and his team drew up on the right side of the diamond. The traveling man was there for Cresco piloting the whole business. A cry was set up by the whole crowd for the game to start, but Cresco said it could not commence the game until its two players arrived (it was not intended they would appear), but they would be there soon, and as one of them was their pitcher they would rather let the game go by default than begin without him.

There was an immense crowd surrounding the field, which was composed of wagons, horses and pedestrians. Cry after cry was set up by the impatient crowd for the game to commence. Cresco claimed it could not commence the game with seven men, as it was waiting for the regular two men to come up from the city.

Finally this old farmer, who drove in with a load of hay covered with his farm hands, called out: "Say, boys, I can loan you two of my men to help you out until your two men arrive." This remark of Farmer Jinkins was cheered by the crowd. The traveling man who was directing the affairs of Cresco said, "No, we will wait for our regular two men or there will be no game."

The Decorah manager told the Cresco manager that he could put these two men in and take them out when the two regular men appeared. He replied that he would see. The crowd heard this and demanded that Farmer Jenkins' two men be put in the game until the others arrived. There was an immense amount of money and horses bet on the game, and the Cresco people said it was an awful shame that Decorah should have such a soft thing. Finally the Cresco manager called out, "Send down your two men, Mr. Jenkins, from that load of hay. I'll put them in the game anyway."

Radbourne Takes the Job.

At this call Rad and Taylor toppled down from the load of hay, and powerful looking men they were at that time of their life. All eyes were now riveted on them. The number of Cresco people "that were in on the play" cheered and cheered Rad and Taylor. Those two men had on overalls, but before going to the field they divested themselves of their outer heavy shirts. The Chicago players commenced to laugh as they saw them descend from the load of hay. They might have heard of Radbourne and Taylor, but they never saw them.

The Crescos took the field and as "Rad" went toward the box that sullen, dogged and indifferent appearance which was ever characteristic of him, somewhat impressed the Chicago players. As big Taylor donned the mask Farmer Jenkins called out, "Don't hurt yourselves, boys; you know we commence thrashing tomorrow."

As Radbourne faced the first Chicago hitter he smiled with that defiant air which always lit up the countenances of two men in their different professions. One was John L. Sullivan's as he looked across the ring at his opponent, and one was Charles Radbourne when he first faced a batter. You can call it hypnotism, magnetism or some other "ism;" it was there just the same. Radbourne showed it in the many years that he was in the National league. Sullivan demonstrated it in the twelve years that he was champion of the world.

Rad opened up this game by calling out to Taylor, "Hold up your hands, Billy! Belt high over the plate; I want to shoot three or four balls over it on that cigarette box batter." Talk about being on the double track of the Baltimore & Ohio, between Baltimore and Washington, and your train standing still waiting for the New York lightning express to pass, which she does with a "zip," then you'll have a faint idea how Rad sent the first ball over the plate on this Chicago City league batter. Rad and Taylor threw all their ardor and jolity into this game.

This batter fanned out and was glad to leave the plate. When Taylor called out, "Come on here, you mosquito batters from the prairie grass of Chicago, I want some of the atmosphere fanned away from here." Holy Moses, their hearts failed. They knew they were up against the real thing, where they came from or how they got there they knew not. Radbourne looked at them; he shot them high and he shot them low with curves and jumps that made them seasick while they were at the plate. He retired the side on strikes.

Cheer upon cheer went up from all Cresco when they saw the doom of their bitter opponents. As Decorah went to the field Taylor made it worse by telling them to go out now and show the people how to pick up a ball with one finger. The Chicago players realized now what they were against, and it affected their entire playing. Taylor, the first batter up for Cresco, drove a ball high and dry over the wagons in center field into a small creek. The Cresco players now took heart when they saw they had a sure thing on their tricky opponents and commenced to bat. The Decorahs who were catching balls on their fingers before the game were now catching them on their shins and bounding them out into the field.

Radbourne, who was always a good batter, drove liners and grounders through their "lace-curtain" infield. Everything was going against the Decorahs helter skelter. The first inning netted Cresco seven runs. All through Rad kept striking the Chicago crowd out, and Taylor with his kidding kept telling them the kind of balls that were coming. Decorah's crowd saw they were outjobbed and outwitted and commenced to leave the field. The game finally ended with a score of 22 to 0. When the game ended the Cresco people went stark mad. They took Rad and Taylor off the field on their shoulders. They pulled Farmer Jenkins off his hay, they took the hay as a souvenir and lit it as a bonfire by his orders to commemorate the victory.

Ray and Taylor were brought into the city and made heroes. They paid those two men very well. They kept them up in that country for a while before they let them go, but it settled forever any "ringing" of outside players in that part of the country.

BROOKLYN HAS PROMISING FIND

ALLEN.

Manager Dahlen of the Brooklyn Superbas is predicting great things for his recruit pitcher, Allen. Allen, by his work this spring, is easily the pick of the pitching recruits and looms up as a sure enough star. The Brooklyn team has left Hot Springs and started on the return trip, playing exhibition games at a number of cities.

FINNS PLAN OVATION FOR ALEX JARVINEN

With the receipt of a telegram from Gust Friland, manager of Alex Jarvinen, the great Finnish wrestler, that the foreign star would reach Duluth Tuesday from Chicago, plans were started yesterday for the holding of a reception for the young wrestler by some of the most prominent of his countrymen of Duluth.

With the receipt of the telegram from the manager of Jarvinen came a wire from Charley Cutler, stating that the Nonpariel was in the very best of condition and stating that he would arrive here Wednesday morning.

Negotiations are on at the present time for a finish match between Jarvinen and Lehto for the much disputed title of champion of the Finns, and with the arrival of Jarvinen and his manager the negotiations between Friland and Lehto's representative will be continued with the hope that a definite date may be set for the much discussed meeting.

Ever since he has landed in the United States, Jarvinen has been after a match with Lehto. The young Finn has proven his right to seek a meeting with Lehto by beating every man he has met since landing in this country.

To cap the climax of his victories he defeated the Russian Cossack giant, Romanoff at Ishpeming. Jarvinen's greatest test will come in his match with Cutler.

Jarvinen is a giant in physique and as an amateur wrestler made the greatest record that has ever been made by a simon pure on the other side of the water. Several times on the other side of the big pond Jarvinen won what would be equal to the A. A. U. championships of this country. The young Finn won this honor several years in succession and held several belts until the time he decided to enter the field of the professionals. The contest against Cutler will be the most important that Jarvinen has wrestled in the United States.

AMERICAN TEAM PICKED AS THE OLYMPIC WINNER

(By Erest W. Hjertberg.)

I believe America will score the greatest number of points at the Olympic games at Stockholm next June. America has the best material in the world, from the sprints to the 1,500-meter events. In the longer races Uncle Sam's entrants are almost equal to the best. As for the field events, barring the running, standing high jump and the pole vault, the Americans are not rated any better than the best the other countries will produce.

American sprinters are far superior to those of any other country. Uncle Sam has shown more men who can travel the 100 meters in 10 4-5 seconds than any other nation. Ralph Craig, Wyan Henry, Alvah Meyer and James Rosenberger are a quartet that can tear up the cinders for that distance in under 11 seconds. America should pin great faith in these boys scoring at the Olympic games.

Of the sprinters in Europe, R. Rau of Germany looms up the best. His performances at 100 meters class him with the best. He will bear a lot of watching.

The Americans also should not overlook nor underrate Stewart of Australia. He is a phenomenal sprinter for sixty yards. If he learns to run 100 meters with the same speed he shows in shorter events, he will be a terror. England has great confidence in S. Darry and D. McMillan in landing the honors in this competition. The former is an experienced sprinter, but not a dangerous one. The latter gained his reputation as a sprinter in the Yale-Harvard and Cambridge-Oxford dual meet, when he dashed 100 yards in 10 1-5 seconds. He has also been credited with 9 4-5 seconds. Sweden's best entry in this race will be K. Lindberg. He is yet slow for the first fifty yards. If he learns to get away from the mark faster than he does, he should reach the final in the 100.

May Sweep 200-Meter Run.

Every prize in the 200 meters should be pocketed by the wearers of the red, white and blue. None of the good runners, such as Ryan, Lindberg, Stewart, D'Arcy or R. Opie, of New Zealand, is capable to doing 22 seconds. McMillan of England alone of the foreigners can approach this time.

The 400-meter event also looks easy for the Yankees. Ira Davenport of the University of Chicago, Melvin W. Sheppard, Harry Gissing, James Rosenberger, H. Young and William Hayes should fight it out for the coveted medals and diplomas. Braun of Germany and Black of England have both done 49 4-5 seconds for the two furlongs. This is indeed fast time, but the Americans can travel faster. Opie, the New Zealander, appears to be the only one who may give the Americans a hard run.

Braun is the best foreigner in the 800-meter run. He has traveled the route in 1 minute and 55 seconds, which proves that he has an excellent chance to be among the leaders at the finish. Sweden will have E. Wide and Brojan in this race. Both of them have stepped the distance in 1 minute and 57 seconds. I hope to get them faster before the big show begins. With Sheppard, Gissing, Edmundson and probably John Paul Jones in this race, there is no doubt but that Uncle Sam will land the premier honors in this contest.

With Jones, Kiviat and Hedlund, the Americans should not worry about carrying off the honors in the 1,500-meter run. This trio is much faster than any combination the other countries can produce. D. F. McNichol of England and Wide are the only ones the Americans need fear. Each has done 4 minutes and 21 2-5 seconds.

The long distance events will not be so easy for the Americans as the shorter races. In the 5,000 and 10,000 meters, America will probably have Berns, Bonhag, Scott, Kramer and Collins. Although this is a fast bunch, they will not have an easy time winning. Bonin of France, Scott of England, Kohlmainen of Finland, and a few whom I have under my wing will give the Americans a tough battle.

The cross-country and Marathon runs do not favor the Americans much. Bonin of France and Neaves of England should fight it out for first place in the former event. My squad should land the team honors.

De Mar Best in Marathon.

De Mar of America is a good Marathoner, and his experience is in his favor. His victory is almost a certainty to me. Green of England and Jacobson of Sweden should be contenders in this classic.

Smithson, Eller and Chisholm, all Americans, are best in the hurdles. The walking event will be easy for Canada and England. The running high jump should be easy for the Americans. The Europeans look best in the running broad jump. Kilwin of Ireland and Passeman of Germany seem to have the call.

The Ahearn brothers, who will represent England, should find the hop, step and jump easy for them. The pole vault prizes belong to the Americans. Cook, Bellah, Babcock and Coyle are the best in the world. Passeman and E. Iggler, the latter of Sweden, both have vaulted 12 feet 1 inch.

Mott of France and Ray Ewry of America are the best for the standing broad jump. Ewry, Platt, Adams and Lawrence are the greatest standing high jumpers.

The javelin throwing contests with the best hand and both hands lies between the Swedes and Finns. Sheridan, Duncan and others will have much trouble especially with the Finns, in attempting to win the discus throwing with both hands. E. Niklander has thrown the steel saucer 140 feet with his best hand and with the other, 120 feet.

Lawrence, McDonald and Rose hold the shot putting contest with the best hand safe for the Americans, but with both hands they will have to beat Niklander, who can do about 90 feet.

Americans in Unique Event.

The decathon and penthalon, I figure, will be fought out for by the Swedes and Americans. The hammer throwing event will be among McGrath, Flanagan, Walsh and Ryan. The latter three will probably represent England.

I cannot say so much for my own team at present, but if they continue to come along as well this year I am in hopes of landing second to America. That fact that the Ahearn brothers, Walshe, Ryan and Flanagan will compete for England will make it harder for us to land the runner-up position. These men are such sure point winners that it makes quite a handicap to overcome.

BASEBALL GOSSIP.

"Dixie" Walker of Washington has given up cigarettes and is smoking a pipe, a change which has tickled Manager Griffith. Furthermore, Walker insists that he will attend strictly to business this year, and that he proposes to make the best record of his career. Walker was an inveterate cigarette smoker heretofore, and there is no doubt that this interfered with his work. It has been nearly two months now since he smoked the weed in this form, and he looks all the better for it.

The Red pitchers should be fairly expert on the art of balking this season, for Hank O'Day is showing them a lot of tricks along the line of fooling both the batter and the umpire. "Ed Walsh," says Hank, "has the most deceptive ways of them all. He'll hold his hands high as if about to pitch, then lower them a foot or so, and the base-runner will start, whereupon Walsh turns and nails him. I called him for it in the Cub-White Sox series and made him cut it out. He acknowledged that it was a clear case of balk, but said that the American league umpires had been letting him get away with it for years."

Barney Dreyfuss paid John J. McCloskey $100 for Fred Clarke in 1894. "They come high these days, but we must have them," commented the Pirate owner recently when he looked back eighteen years on Fred Clarke, the juvenile beginner. "Fred came up from Savannah and played his first big league game against Philadelphia with old Augie Weyhing pitching. Louisville had seven hits off Gus that day, and of these Fred Clarke had five. Fred had brought his little red 'toothpick' bat with him from Savannah. Weyhing said that kid's five hits were all fluky accidents, but the next day Fred poled another one over the fence at Louisville for a home run."

NEWS FROM THE TRAINING CAMPS

Friel Makes a Change.

Columbus, Ohio, March 23.—Manager Friel of the Columbus A. A. club Thursday sampled the training advantages offered by the Ohio Wesleyan field and gymnasium at Delaware, bringing in six pitchers and two catchers for the test. It was so satisfactory that the entire squad will be moved in from Magnetic Springs today, although hotel quarters may be retained at the latter place, there is too much mud for practice.

Pitchers Cook, McQuillan, Packard, Cooper, Harper and Doak, with Catchers Bemis and Smith did the work at the college Thursday.

Snow Retards Kaws.

Kansas City, Mo., March 23.—Snow and sleet Thursday night "queered" any chance there may have been to play ball here Saturday and Sunday. Carr planned to send a team of youngsters here to meet the St. Joseph Western League club. Secretary Savage said today that the park will not be in condition for use before April 1. This is the latest date for spring opening that Kansas City has ever had. Barbeau, Powell, Corriden and Regan left Thursday night for Waco. Carr will keep his team there until time to start home for the games with Pittsburg, April 6, 7 and 8.

Milwaukee Team Idle.

Cairo, Ill., March 23.—A cold rain which fell all day kept the Brewers indoor, and but for a short workout in the local car barns, the Duffy-Bills were idle. Scott Fluherty, the New England league recruit, and Biddy Dolan reached camp Thursday night. The rain has put the local ball yard in bad shape and it is probable that the first exhibition game scheduled with the Minneapolis club here on Saturday will have to be postponed.

Cubs in Tie Game.

Birmingham, Ala., March 23.—The Cubs with Smith and Richter on the mound and Manager Chance on first base were played to a standstill by the Barons here Thursday in a ten-inning 4 to 4 tie. Infield batting and a wild heave by Catcher Cotter killed a possible victory.

Naps Take It Easy.

New Orleans, La., March 23.—The Naps rested today. Manager Davis going to Gulfport to arrange for next year's training quarters.

Jennings Weeding Out.

Monroe, La., March 23.—The axe fell in the Tiger camp today. Mike Maurer, recruit pitcher, was the first to feel its edge. Manager Jennings announced today that the squad would be divided into two teams Monday and start their journey northward playing a number of exhibition games.

Dodgers at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., March 23. — Bill Dahlen's Trolley Dodgers are scheduled to begin a four days' exhibition series here today. They will then go to Indianapolis, where they are to take on Jimmie Burke's American association outfit. The Dodgers worked out with the Louisville squad yesterday.

Callahan With "Rookies."

San Antonio, Tex., March 23.—Manager Callahan of the Sox is here today to "pipe" his youngsters in today's game with the local Texas leaguers. Ed Walsh will pilot the premiers to Austin Sunday.

Pirates Have a Hope.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 23.—The last of the Pirates' squad, Albert Kellogg of New York state, today is in camp. He's 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 208 pounds.

Wallace Shifts Players.

Montgomery, Ala., March 23.—By switching La Porte to the outfield and playing Pratt at second, Manager Wallace believes he has struck the best possible combination for a lineup of the Browns.

Reds Win a Game.

Atlanta, Ga., March 23.—The Cincinnati National league team defeated the Atlanta Southern leaguers 7 to 6 yesterday.

Mackmen Win.

CALL 500 TALESMEN FOR THE HYDE TRIAL.

New York, March 23.—A panel of 500 talesmen—the largest ever summoned for a trial here—has been called for the trial of Charles H. Hyde, former city chamberlain, accused of taking bribes and favoring certain banks in making city deposits. In the Molineaux and Thaw murder cases only about half that number were needed. The trial is set for April 1. Because of the wide publicity given the case and because of the great number of persons connected directly or indirectly with the banks concerned, it is expected it will take several weeks to obtain twelve men who can satisfy the attorneys of lack of prejudice.

Interstate Company Installs Upholstering Department—Tire Men Visiting in City.

"Len" McNamara Takes Long Chance on His Life and Demonstrator.

Supply Company Gets New Air Tank—Jackson Car —The Locomobile.

The three-ton Kissel Kar truck recently purchased from the Interstate Automobile company by the Knutson Fruit company is attracting a great deal of attention as it passes up and down Superior street and takes huge loads with ease up the steepest hills.

The truck is a powerful one and many people have watched it with interest as it hauled a full grown load up some of the city's tallest avenues.

During the past week hundreds of people have been interested in viewing the Kissel chassis, which has been on exhibition at the St. Louis hotel. The chassis was allowed show room in the lobby by the courtesy of Manager Hickey. The feature was novel. The Interstate company had a representative present to explain the workings of the car to those who visited the room.

The chassis will be removed to the garage the early part of the week and will be refinished, all in red. The body will be put on and the car turned over to Chief Randall of the fire department, for whom the city purchased the machine.

In addition to the painting department recently started by the Interstate management, an upholstering department has now been added so that a car may be fitted out completely, if the owner desires. This with the excellent repair shop makes the Interstate garage perhaps the most nearly complete in the city.

Victor Lamont of the Interstate company is on the range in the interests of the firm. He took with him a 40-horse power Kissel demonstrator.

P. H. Coffey has purchased a new Kissel Kar.

E. W. McCrerry and C. E. Dix, both of the Goodrich Rubber company of St. Paul and Minneapolis, are in the city today, calling on local automobile agents.

"Len" McNamara is still passing out Flanders and E. M. F. cars. "Len" doesn't do a whole lot of talking but he is on the job every minute. Yesterday he took a long chance on his life and his new 1912 demonstrator by allowing a newspaper reporter to try it out.

"Let 'er 'oot," said Len.

They were clipping off a forty-fiver every sixty minutes if the pace was maintained, and the timid reporter wondered what the car would do if he pressed his foot clear down on the throttle. The roads are rough at this time of year, and besides, the reporter thought of slow music in the vicinity of his home. So just what the car will do he doesn't know, although there was a lot of spare speed and the car took to hills like a Southern colored boy to watermelon.

The E. M. F. is "some car," bo.

The Duluth Auto Supply company has received a fine new stock of tires and many are calling and taking away some of the fresh stock. The local concern carries several lines of tires. A new air tank, several times larger than the old one, has been installed. The use of the air will be free, but it is necessary to call at the garage to obtain a key. Having done this, the autoist may drive up to the curb and help himself. This is a great convenience and is appreciated by motorists.

M. W. Turner, vehicle and automobile dealer, located at 218-220 East First street, is having quite a run on the Jackson car. Mr. Turner took the agency for this car last year because he firmly believes that it is the best medium priced car on the market. Many other Duluthians are now of the same opinion, having purchased Jacksons and having found them satisfactory. Next week several new cars will be received. The show room of the company will be a real miniature auto show, and the public is cordially invited to look over the new cars. There will be no admission.

The Locomobile and the Imperial are the types of cars being featured by the Electric Service & Repair company, located in the fine new garage on East Superior street.

The Imperial is a medium priced car and the Locomobile is for those who wish comfort, power and speed. Both cars are said to be leaders in their class. Several of the large Locos have been sold, and range people and some Duluthians have taken kindly to the Imperial.

The company is finely established in its new garage, and a thoroughly modern repair shop, with "Jimmy" James in charge is operated for the convenience of autoists.

WILL BUST TIRE TRUST

There's going to be "something doing" in tires.

It is but a rumor as yet, but a Duluth firm is said to be planning to get in the game in about two weeks with an anti-trust tire at a cost far below that asked by other manufacturers.

A storehouse will be filled with the tires all to be sold under a guarantee and they are to be peddled out to Duluth motorists as fast as they can be traded for the money.

Even the manufacturer hasn't made the announcement as yet, but he will at the same time that a few carefully selected agents throughout the country throw them on the market at a saving of about $12 to the customer.

This will be glad news to the autoist, whose biggest expense has been tires. The announcement will be made through the advertising colums of The Herald and the Duluth agent advises autoists to wait before purchasing their spring supply.

"No, it isn't a south sea bubble proposition," said the dealer, with a wise smile this morning, "it's a legitimate proposition. Just wait, that's all."

GROWTH HAS BEEN RAPID

Mutual Auto Company Now Covers Wide Field as Jobbing House.

Constantly Annexing New Territory and Employing More Sub-Agents.

To make Duluth a distributing point for automobiles and automobile accessories for the entire Northwest is the goal that E. J. Filiatrault has set for the Mutual Auto company of this city.

Already the influence of the firm is extending over a broad expanse of territory. A few years ago, when the firm was first organized, the organizers were content to work in the city of Duluth. That was eleven years ago. Since that time they have not only moved into the finest garage and automobile shop in the Northwest, but they have annexed much territory which has, up to about two years ago, been covered by Twin City firms.

At the present time the Mutual company has many sub-agents in points in Wisconsin, Northern Michigan, the ranges, a part of Canada, including Fort William and Port Arthur and places west of the Zenith City. Next year the firm hopes to cover a part of North Dakota with branch agencies for several different cars.

The success of the company has been almost phenomenal. E. J. and L. H. Filiatrault are among the pioneers of the automibile business in Duluth. They started with the agency for the old Rambler car several years ago. They now handle the product of several different factories and in spite of the fight they make to double the number of cars allowed them by the factories for this territory, they nearly always run short of cars and in many instances have had to hand back to the would-be purchaser his advance payment on a car because they were unable to furnish it, having sold their allotment.

Jobbing Center.

"I am interested in making Duluth a great jobbing center," said E. J. Filiatrault this morning. "The jobbing is what has built up St. Paul and Minneapolis. We can do it here in Duluth. It has been my idea from the first. You see what my firm has done in the line of jobbing. Others can do it too and finally we'll have a great, big city here at the Head of the Lakes, and it will be on a solid and ever-lasting basis, for who ever hear of a city that didn't make good with a foundation such as that?"

The Mutual Automobile company is agent for the Hudson, Thomas Flyer, Chalmers and Overland cars. They have contracted for 150 cars this year and already many of them have been sold and are on their way here for spring delivery.

The company now has some twenty sub-agents in the different parts of Wisconsin, Northern Michigan, Western points out of Duluth and the range. Cars are shipped directly to the agents from the factory and nearly all of them have their demonstrators for 1912.

The company has new models of the Chalmers Overland, Hudson and Thomas Flyers at the garage on West First street.

In addition to building up one of the most successful automobile jobbing houses at the Head of the Lakes, the Filatrault brothers have found time to put in a lot of hard work to better road conditions in and about Duluth.

SOME ADVICE FOR AUTO SALESMEN.

"There are a certain number of plain business facts, call them 'head lights' if you will, that govern successful automobile selling," says a well-known manufacturer.

"The man who sells motor cars must make up his mind to do a definite amount of business before he can hope to be successful.

"If a dealer actually undertakes to sell a certain car or a certain number of any model he can pretty nearly do it.

"The man who accomplishes the most is the one who undertakes the most.

"If the selling plan involves definite effort along definite lines it will succeed.

"If there is no plan except to do such business as it comes along, that is about as much business as will be done.

"A great, big, brilliant plan is not required. Determination, going out after something definite and keeping at it is the plan that succeeds.

"Sinking a decision and sticking to it is what counts. The shifty scheme never gets anywhere.

"Conviction carries conviction with it, but hustling is necessary.

"Business hunted is business found. Waiting for business only brings on more waiting.

"Any bright man can look after details. The big man dumps the details and lights on the job that counts.

"Making the prospect see the thing in the light of the salesman is salesmanship. That is easy if there is confidence and if the job is filled early in the morning and all day long."

WANTS TROPHY RETAINED BY A. A. A.

Believing that a serious mistake has been made by the American Automobile association in subrogating the Glidden trophy to a minor place in the National Reliability contest, Benjamin Briscoe, president of the United States Motor company, has asked the A. A. A. and the Manufacturing Contest association to retain the Glidden trophy as the chief prize in American reliability competition.

Mr. Briscoe declares that it will be ruinous to nullify the good work and prestige which eight years of hard work have built up, merely because a few persons are opposed to perpetuating the name of an individual. In every branch of sport, he declares, there are trophies offered by individuals and known by the names of individuals.

"No other trophy could compel public interest in motoring to the same extent as the Glidden trophy," said Mr. Briscoe. "The trophy should be retained for all time. It is the classic of automobile competition and represents more hard work on the part of American automobile manufacturers than any other trophy or contest, not even excepting those trophies which are offered for racing.

"Racing is giving way to touring contests which prove the desired reliability in motor cars. Tours like the last Glidden contest from New York to Jacksonville, Fla., also furnish an incentive for the individual to compete.

"The Glidden trophy was donated by a sportsman purely in an altruistic spirit. He is a world-renowned motorist and retired capitalist, having no interest whatsoever in the automobile trade beyond the encouragement of touring by private owners and the demonstration of comparative reliability."

FINDS MOTORCYCLING A PLEASURE

MRS. HERBERT G. PAUER.

Motorcycle fishing jaunts, sight-seeing trips and motorcycle picnic parties are some of the things which make motorcycling one of the finest pleasures for women, according to Mrs. Herbert G. Pauer of Buffalo, N. Y. And she is such a motorcycle "booster" that she believes a motorcycle club for women will be organized in the lake city in the near future.

Although she likes to ride fast and spin along the road with her powerful machine she says this fun cannot compare with the great week-end trips she takes traveling as much as three hundred miles. "Every Saturday noon in the summer," she says, "I put on my motorcycle togs and start anywhere for a pleasant ride. One never tires of such trips because of the variety and the difference in scenery."

Sometimes she matches the speed of her motorcycle with that of the camera. Recently a friend snapped her as she passed him going at a mile a minute clip. Seven trials were made and then one was taken while she rested on her motorcycle and the latter was the only good photo. "The camera was not fast enough to get the motorcycle traveling at such speed," she says.

She is a student of the motorcycle, too. "Why is a motor," she asks and then answers, "A study of it will be found very interesting, and it will show girls that it does not require a mechanic to operate it.

"I firmly believe that the future will see many girl motorcyclists," she says and adds, "why not when there is so much pleasure in riding. Girls should be enabled to enjoy these trips in the country just the same as men do, and the motorcycle is one of the best means of enjoying out-of-doors. Here in Buffalo motorcycling is so much of a favorite among girls that we are thinking of organizing an exclusive motorcycle club."

The motorcyclist believes that the costume for women riders may be very simple. She says her's consists of a divided skirt, which she buttons up when not riding her machine, a Norfolk jacket, white shirtwaist, black corduroy hat and leggings and gloves to match.

The Jeffery Truck.

While no public announcement has yet been made, it is known that the Thomas B. Jeffery company is now making extensive tests of the one and a half ton truck, which was exhibited at the Chicago motor truck show, preparatory to marketing a service truck of this type.

In describing this truck, one of the motor trade papers says: "If there is anything in a name—and there is—the new Jeffery truck, the first vehicle of its kind to be manufactured by the Thomas B. Jeffery company, surely is not lacking in that aid to a good start. Behind it is the experience of many years devoted to the production of the Rambler pleasure cars, and while pleasure cars are not trucks, it is unquestionable that the familiarity with the handling of materials, the knowledge of their limitations and the engineering experience gained in building thousands of passenger vehicles, must be of inestimable value in bringing out a light truck, such as the new Jeffery."

Auto Notes.

The Chalmers Motor company has announced the resignation of C. C. Hildebrand as assistant general manager and sales manager. His successor as assistant general manager is H. W. Ford, who has been secretary and advertising manager of the company for the past two years. The new sales manager is Percy Owen, who for some time has been eastern sales manager for the Chalmers company. Both Mr. Ford and Mr. Owen are well known to the automobile industry.

FREE USE OF NEW JERSEY ROADS

An announcement of the greatest interest to automobilists is contained in the statement authorized by Former Governor J. Franklin Murphy of New Jersey, to the effect that he has withdrawn his opposition to the Stickel bill now pending in the senate, which will grant fifteen days' free use of Jersey roads by residents of other states. This bill has already passed the lower house by a decided majority.

Governor Murphy's statement follows:

"I am in favor of reciprocity. I have modified my views on the subject. I would like to see house bill 22, or some other measure providing for reasonable reciprocity, passed by the legislature and inscribed on the statute book.

"It is repugnant to my ideas as an American citizen that an automobile pleasure car or truck should be halted at the border of any state by action of law, while other varieties of vehicles may pass over without question.

"Even if an appropriation of several hundred thousand dollars is necessary to take the place of the license fees lost by reason of a reciprocal law, in order to maintain the roads of New Jersey at their present high level of perfection, I am in favor of the passage of such a law.

"I am an automobile owner and have sold off my horses, realizing the wonderful development that has been brought about in the art, but the reason for my changed attitude is that I have given the matter much patient thought as a citizen of New Jersey and the right and equity of reciprocity have come home to me."

Motorcycle Notes.

This boat defeated all comers in the 25-horsepower class race at West Duluth, Aug. 27, 1911, winning the trophy cup for the 25-horsepower class. All other boats in this race had more power than the "Gee Whiz," yet she defeated the 25-horsepower outfit by four minutes in a 17-mile race, and had a minute and nine seconds to spare over her nearest competitor.

The "Gee Whiz" is not a racing outfit, but a family runabout that has no trouble defeating so-called racers. If you want a regular automobile on water, let us show you our line of Capitol engines and Dingle Hulls.

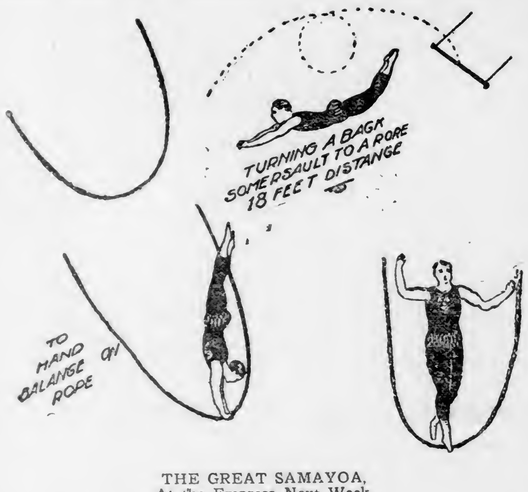
PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Some Promises Made by the Press Agents for Coming Attractions

AT THE EMPRESS

Although some most excellent bills of vaudeville have been presented at the Empress during the past season, the bill which comes to the popular Sullivan & Considine playhouse commencing Sunday is heralded as one of the best vaudeville shows that have ever toured the circuit.

It is composed of five picked attractions which are said to be headliners in their respective lines. Featuring this bill will be the Four Prevosts in their acrobatic absurdity, "Fun in a Turkish Bath." If the title is suggestive of anything, there is certainly fun in store for the Empress audiences next week. This attraction has been for years recognized as one of the greatest acrobatic offerings in the show business, and is one of the very few gymnastic attractions which can really headline a good vaudeville bill. The Four Prevosts are said to be not only wonderful gymnasts, but are equally as good comedians, and they have framed up an act which gets away from the threadbare conventional acrobatic act. The scene is laid in a Turkish bath, which is certainly a suitable setting for something funny, and the Four Prevosts are said to provide fun in large quantities. Their laughable antics and eccentric acrobatics keep the audience in an uproar and have made this attraction famous---a sure cure for the "blues." Not only do the Four Prevosts present some very clever comedy acrobatics, but they also indulge in some sensational feats which are said to be thrillers of the highest order. Many of their feats are original with them and have never been presented in this city even by the largest acrobatic troupes with some of the country's leading circuses. The Four Prevosts have been a tremendous hit wherever they have appeared on the Sullivan & Considine circuit, and it is an almost certain prediction that they will make a decided hit with the visitors at the Empress during their coming engagement. The Milwaukee Sentinel said of them: "Easily the hit of the bill which opened for a week's engagement at the Empress yesterday were the Four Prevosts in an acrobatic oddity, 'Fun in a Turkish Bath.' This attraction is one of the best comedy acrobatic turns ever presented at the Empress, and the audience was quick to realize the fact. They work with wonderful speed and take some comedy falls which would lead one to believe that the members of the troupe were constructed of india rubber. The fun is fast and furious during the time they are working, and they brought the bill to a fitting close."



THE GREAT SAMAYOA,
At the Empress Next Week.

The Capital City Quartet, dispensers of harmony, are expected to be well up among the leaders in the race for popularity next week. This quartet is one of the leading singing organizations in vaudeville and is composed of four well trained singers who have made their mark in musical comedy. Not only are they vocalists of ability but they are comedians as well and throughout their turn, they introduce little bits of comedy which are said to add greatly to the pleasing effects of their turn. Their program includes some of the latest popular song hits which they render in a most pleasing manner and as a whole, this attraction is claimed to be one of the most pleasing of its kind in vaudeville.

"On Account of a Count," is the title of the vehicle chosen by McCarthy & Major in which to display their talents. "On Account of a Count" is said to be one of the most pleasing and logical comedy playlets presented in the past few years. It possesses a well defined plot, about which is woven a clever fabric of comedy. The situations are developed naturally and are said to produce a laugh a minute. McCarthy & Major have long been identified with the country's leading stock and legitimate organizations and have created an enviable reputation for themselves in the leading roles of some of the biggest productions staged on Broadway. Since their entrance into vaudeville, they have appeared in several pieces but "On Account of a Count," is said to be the best in which they have appeared and their success in this playlet has been phenomenal.

George Lavender, the man who drives away dull care, will bring to the Empress a grist of witty sayings and a budget of up-to-the-minute songs and parodies. There is nothing blue about Lavender, not even his name, and as a laugh extractor he is said to be among the best in vaudeville. Lavender writes all of his own material, consequently, it is right up to date and he bears the reputation of being one of the wittiest comedians before the footlights. His songs are new and he knows how to put them across. In addition to being a brilliant comedian and a sweet singer, Lavender is a clever dancer and during the course of his act, will introduce some pleasing dancing. There is nothing pretentious about his offering, but it is said to be just one of those entertaining bits which always make a hit with vaudeville audiences.

As a special sensational attraction, the booking managers of the circuit have secured Saymoyoa, the Barcelonean wonder, who will be seen in his death-defying cloud swing. This attraction is the only one of its kind in vaudeville and has never been seen in Duluth, not even with the largest circuses. It is heralded as a hair-raiser and lovers of the sensational all over the country have branded it the most sensational and blood-curdling attraction of its kind. Working away up over the heads of the audience, Saymoyoa attempts and accomplishes feats which quicken the pulses of the coolest in the audience and everywhere he has proven a sensation. Saymoyoa appeared at the New York Hippodrome, which is known the world over as the hot-bed of sensational attractions and the managers of the Hippodrome declared that never had they seen an attraction of such a highly sensational nature. It is a thriller from start to finish and at the close of his turn, this plucky aerialist is always greeted with thunderous applause.

The motion pictures, as usual, will be the best and brightest subjects obtainable and will be projected by the Rothapfel De Luxe Daylight system. Matinee is given daily at 2:45, when all seats are 10 cents except Sundays and holidays. Night performances, 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved one week in advance by either 'phone. Special attention is paid to the comfort and entertainment of ladies and children at all times.

AT THE ORPHEUM

"Bunty Pulls the Strings," the Scotch comedy by Graham Moffatt, has been one of the sensational successes of the present theatrical season. It played to record-breaking business in New York, and is now in Chicago enjoying a long run, in a season when theatrical successes have been very few and far between.

Mr. Moffatt has been induced to prepare a vaudeville playlet, by Martin Beck, the managing director of the Orpheum circuit, and it will be the headline feature of next week's bill in the Duluth theater.

The name of the playlet is "The Concealed Bed," and it is a comedy of Scotch life, the scene being laid in Glasgow. It was written but recently, and Duluth will see it during its second week on the circuit. It opened in St. Paul this week, and Mr. Moffatt was in the Saintly City rehearsing the company for the production. From Duluth it will return to Minneapolis and then go west over the Orpheum circuit.

The playlet was very well received in St. Paul on its opening week, and is expected to be one of the most successful comedies the Orpheum circuit has produced. There are five people in the company presenting it—all of them Scotch. The cast is composed of Miss Helen MacDonald, Miss Janet Gardner, Miss Bessie MacDonald, Andrew Clyde and Stuart Black. The scene is in the parlor of the top flat at 15 Woodbine Terrace, Glasgow, and the plot is said to be a very amusing story of the farce type, full of Scotch wit and humor. This is Mr. Moffatt's first real attempt at writing for the vaudeville field, and the sketch will be watched with interest owing to the name he has made with his play, "Bunty Pulls the Strings."

Another comedy playlet of which much is expected will be presented by Albert F. Hawthorne and Frank A. Burt. It is called "The New Recruit," and is said to offer a very lively quarter of an hour's entertainment. Hawthorne plays the role of Capt. Fish, and Burt that of a German who has recently joined the army. The action takes place at West Point in the fall of the year, and it is said to be an uproariously funny farce.

The Maxini brothers are two acrobats who have not only perfected themselves in a number of difficult acrobatic feats, but have also succeeded in training a little fox terrier to be a third performer in their act. The fox terrier, Bobby, is perhaps the most interesting member of the trio. He is said to be an accomplished dog acrobat and also something of a comedian and these qualities, together with the work of the brothers themselves, have made the act a very popular one around the circuit, and have enabled it to work its way close to the headline class.

Alma Youlin, who will be seen next week, is a dramatic soprano who is said to be gifted with a voice of most remarkable range and timbre. She gained distinction as the prima donna of several important musical productions, winning success both because of her voice and of her personal attractiveness. For her tour of the Orpheum circuit, Miss Youlin has chosen a repertory of her best songs, ranging from the popular ballad to the semi-classical.

Dressed in the garb of wandering minstrels, two young men will offer a novelty in the musical line. They call themselves "The Strolling Players," and their costumes are those of the minstrels who enlivened the spare hours of the noblemen of a century ago. The two men play the violin and the mandolin, and one of them is also claimed to have a very sweet tenor voice. While not a pretentious act, this has been a most popular number in every Orpheum theater where it has appeared during the present season.

For the purpose of presenting their songs and stories, Josephine Poore and Louis J. Winsch have chosen a vehicle which they call "No Trespassing." They are said to have one of the brightest, snappiest and most up-to-date "team" acts on the circuit. Miss Poore has been heralded as one of the most attractive women on the Orpheum circuit, while her partner has been hailed as a real comedian, with the knack of 'getting a song over.' Their offering is in two scenes, and they carry a special stage setting for it. It contains an unobtrusive little plot, which merely serves to introduce the songs and stories.

The seventh act on the bill will be presented by the Juggling Burkes, who are manipulators of Indian clubs. Speed is the feature of their act, and is the quality which distinguishes it from the ordinary juggling turn.

The usual motion pictures will be shown, and the overture by the orchestra will complete the bill, which will continue all week with a daily matinee.

For the week of March 31 another big bill is promised. It will include the Six Kirksmith Sisters, Camille Ober, Knox Wilson, Una Clayton, Von Brunt and Moore, Bell and Caron, and one other act yet to be announced. The first four acts mentioned have all been headlined on the Orpheum circuit this season.

Harry Atkinson, who calls himself the "Australian Orpheus" sails for New York April 24 and on May 5 will begin his tour on the Orpheum circuit. Atkinson possesses the peculiar faculty of accurately imitating various musical instruments.

The two players to be seen in support of Mrs. Louis James, during her presentation on the Orpheum circuit of Arthur Hopkins' triangular comedy, "Holding a Husband," are Laurette Brown and Elwood Bostwick. Mrs. James is exceedingly happy in her present vehicle and has once again demonstrated herself "the mistress of comedy."

Another Orpheum circuit importation that is likely to create a mild sensation is the Elliott Savonas Family of eight instrumentalists. In a musical creation called "The Palace Orpheus," described as a prismatic creation of colors, they offer a decidedly worthy musical program with a vast amount of novelty.

Before sailing for England, Grace Cameron signed contracts for a return engagement on the Orpheum circuit. Her summer will be spent abroad in search of new material.

AT THE LYCEUM

The present theatrical season holds forth no more delightful promise than the coming of George M. Cohan's greatest comedy success, "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford." Its engagement at the Lyceum will be on April 5 and 6.

Almost everyone has read about J. Rufus Wallingford, the cleverest rogue in modern fiction, through the stories by George Randolph Chester, which have been appearing in the Saturday Evening Post and other magazines; and to have these stories put into dramatic form by no less an authority on the superficial life than George M. Cohan promises much for an evening's enjoyment.

Local theatergoers will soon have the opportunity of seeing "It Happened in Potsdam," in which Manager Sidney R. Ellis is starring Al. H. Wilson, the singing German dialect comedian. It is a three-act comedy adapted from the French by Cyril Reed and is said to be the best vehicle so far provided for this entertaining comedian.

At the Lyceum theater soon, the latest musical comedy in three acts, "Mutt and Jeff," will be the attraction. The production is under the direction of Gus Hill, the prominent New York manager. "Mutt and Jeff" are those two comics, the creation of Bud Fisher, the clever cartoonist. This is the first time that the pair have adorned the stage, and from all accounts they are adorning their new environment with flying colors.

Miss Elsie Janis celebrated her 21st birthday at her country home, El-Jan, Columbus, Ohio, last June. Persons adicted to discreet speculation will be inclined to wonder when they see her in "The Slim Princess" at the Lyceum theater soon how she has accomplished so much in so short a time. The answer is a cultivated, indefatigable and always present mamma.

Glorious girlhood, gorgeously gowned is an alliterative expression that justly applies to the bevy of beauties who will shortly appear here in the big 60½-people show, "The Newlyweds and Their Baby," at the Lyceum theater.

Discussing life on the stage, Lulu Glaser said: "In the library of an old bookworm I know, there is a skull with the inscription across the forehead, 'What for?' I am not a pessimist, but when I look at the picture of my home that hangs in my dressing room (a room I wouldn't put one of my garments in) I, too, think 'What for?'"

LEAP YEAR PARTY AT THE AUDITORIUM

There will be a leap year party at the Auditorium next Wednesday evening.

The rink will be turned over entirely to the gentler sex, and there will be women managers, women ushers, women instructors and women in charge of the floor. The men, of course, will be welcome to skate, but under the direction of the women.

Since the ice skating season has closed the roller skating has been increasing in popularity and the attendance at the Auditorium is growing every week.

Next week several special features will be on the program. Sunday will be a general skating night. Monday will be given over to moving pictures exclusively. Tuesday will be a big band night. Wednesday will be the leap year party. Thursday a wrestling match will hold the boards. Friday will be another band night and Saturday night the moving pictures will again be shown.

The management is planning to bring Joseph Munch, the speedy roller skater of Milwaukee, here for a series of races April 10 and 11.

DETECTIVE STORY AT PICTURE HOUSE

One of the most sensational motion pictures films ever seen in Duluth was "Zigomar," a very thrilling and elaborate detective story told through the medium of the moving picture machine. This film will be shown at the Sunbeam theater Sunday only. It is the story of a Paris detective who is trying to run to earth a band of daring robbers.

THE THEATER ORCHESTRA LEADER AND WHAT HE CONTENDS WITH

If you have become imbued with the delusion that you are the most patient, unappreciated creature in the world, just perish the thought and turn a pitying eye on Fred Bradbury, the director of the Orpheum orchestra.

Unless one can attend a Sunday morning rehearsal of a vaudeville show he might figure that the orchestra is merely an accessory to the regular course of events that occur weekly at the Orpheum. Rehearsal for the week is called at 10 a. m. every Sunday morning. Then more than at any other time is the leader of the orchestra apparently at the mercy of the whims and fancies, the beck and call, temperament and idosyncrasies of the vaudevillians.

Like phantoms the performers hover around the dimly lighted stage and await the coming of the members of the orchestra all anxious to be the first rehearsed as the first there is the first to be rehearsed. When a big dancing act is on the bill the member selected to rehearse sometimes hands Mr. Bradbury a package of music which was originally intended for an orchestra of twenty pieces. This Mr. Bradbury and his ten men are expected to serve in danceable style.

When inquiry was made of Manager Billings as to the requirement of an Orpheum orchestra he waxed enthusiastic and replied: "An orchestra can make or mar a vaudeville act. Every man selected to fill a position in an Orpheum orchestra must be an expert musician. The director must keep one eye on the music, while the other is watching every movement of the performers. Next in importance to the leader is the task of catching all the cues, such as falls, turns, runs, thunder, bells, bird calls and countless other mysterious sounds. Apart from watching his notes he must keep an eye on the stage to be able to catch his cue and be grabbing one thing after another in rapid succession. If he misses a cue even on the first performance, and he has never seen the act before he gets a frown from the artist and is very much disliked for a few seconds. And still he is supposed to keep good natured all the time.

"So you see," continued Mr. Billings, "to play in a vaudeville orchestra means things not apparent to the audience. The public thinks it a very easy way to make a good living. They do not realize that a man must have an excellent musical training, must be possessed of a quick eye, a true ear, a rapid thinking brain and be able to transpose any piece of music that is placed before him at a moment's notice. He must also be able to play grand opera, rag-time, dance music and everything else with equal facility.

FRED G. BRADBURY.

It has been repeatedly stated by performers who have played all over the United States that some of the best orchestras are to be found on the Orpheum circuit, particularly in the West and Northwest. The public demands good music and the Orpheum management caters to its demands. Mr. Bradbury has many compliments on the excellence of his orchestra, the members of which are: Mr. Colbentson, violin; Mr. Flaaten, cello; Mr. Sodahl, viola; Mr. Schein, piano; Mr. Hurt, bass viol; Mr. Wendt, clarinet; Mr. De Marco, flute; Mr. St. Pierre, trombone; Mr. Lange, cornet; and Mr. Kuselowsky, better known as "Casey," drummer.

CLEAN SUPERIOR STREET!

Isn't it pretty nearly time that Superior street, in the business section, were made clean and kept clean?

If only eight blocks of this single street were kept clean winter and summer, it would improve the looks of the community amazingly, and it would be a good advertisement. It doesn't look like an impossible task.

Between ourselves, and not to go outside, the present condition of the street is distressing, and that is a very bad advertisement.

Because it never has been done is no reason why it can't be done. Certainly it is no reason why it shouldn't be done.

Perhaps the new city administration can bring about this very much needed change. It is well worth trying, anyway, and we are sure that if Mayor McCuen succeeds it will be quite a feather in his cap, and that everybody, Duluth folks and visitors alike, will appreciate it.

While taking a step toward the initiative, referendum and recall, why not do a thorough job and vote on the commission form at the same time?

WHY WOMEN WORK.

Many women, wives and mothers, labor in the mills of Massachusetts.

It has been a favorite argument of the employers, when anybody protested against wage conditions that made it necessary for wives and mothers to labor, that most of these women were working only as a sort of pastime and to earn a little spare change.

The point is important, so the state looked into it. The Massachusetts Commission on Minimum Wage Boards has just reported.

The commission finds that the number of women in that state who are working merely to earn a little pin money is very small indeed, so small as to be insignificant. Most of them are working BECAUSE THEY HAVE TO.

"Women in general," says the commission in its report, "are working because of dire necessity, and in most cases the combined income of the family is not more than adequate to meet the family's cost of living."

The mills of Massachusetts do not pay wages large enough to permit the head of a family to support that family and rear his children in decency. In order to get enough money to keep the family alive, practically every member of it who is old enough to work must labor in the mills. And then the combined earnings of the family don't amount to as much as every single laborer in this rich country should be entitled to.

So the commission proposes a minimum wage law, and the employers are wringing their blood-stained hands in an agony of horror at the idea.

A Chicago man, finding what he suspected was a bomb, hit it with a sledge hammer in order to make sure. He had guessed right. There's no use in fiddling around with half-way measures when you can go right to the truth the first thing.

A VERY POOR ARGUMENT.

It is not surprising that those who dislike change and who would be satisfied if every condition in society remained always just as it is, do not believe that the people are intelligent enough to govern themselves.

They show that this belief is real by the arguments they use. Some of their reasoning wouldn't deceive the primer class in a home for the feeble-minded.

The other day a Virginia mountaineer, sentenced justly to imprisonment for crime, killed the judge and several of the court officers, and he and his relatives took to the mountains, where posses of officers pursued them.

And now some of the men and newspapers who oppose change and distrust the people are using that incident as an argument against the recall of judges!

There are plenty of arguments against the recall of judges, and good ones, too. In general, we believe that comparatively few people favor the present adoption of that plan.

But the use of this Virginia case, in which lawless mountaineer degenerates figure, is not one of those arguments.

"Old King Coal" has developed into a good deal of a tyrant, these days.

THE WOOL BILL.

The house Democrats have decided to put up to the senate, and to the president if the senate passes it, the wool bill passed and vetoed at the extra session.

When the wool bill was passed and vetoed, the tariff board had not reported, and President Taft's veto was accounted for by him on that score.

Now the tariff board has reported, and it has informed the country what the country already knew—that the duties of the Payne-Aldrich bill are wretchedly exorbitant, so much so in some cases as to injure the woolen industry itself.

The Underwood bill cuts these duties in two. There is nothing in the report to indicate that this is too deep a cut. In fact a deeper cut still would be justified by the report, but the Democrats are stayed from making it by the revenue needs of the country.

In so far as the Democrats have honored the tariff board's findings at all, they take the attitude that the report justifies the conclusions they reached when they drew up the Underwood bill.

What will Taft do with it? Veto it, probably, if the senate passes it.

Probably he would veto any tariff bill the Democrats might enact. He has vetoed all the tariff bills they have enacted so far, and very likely he will continue the practice.

For that he must assume the responsibility, along with the responsibility for the Payne-Aldrich bill, which he made possible by bringing about the re-election of Cannon as speaker and by playing golf when the bill was being framed, and which he indorsed in his Winona speech as "the best tariff law ever passed."

The Democrats are charged with "playing politics" with the tariff, and with enacting tariff bills that they are well assured Taft will veto.

If they are playing politics, they are playing the wisest and soundest and most patriotic kind of politics: THEY ARE DOING WHAT THE PEOPLE WANT DONE.

The Democrats came into power in the house armed with a commission from the people to go after the tariff with a sharp knife—a commission emphasized by the rebuke the people administered to the Republican organization for its failure to keep its revision promises of 1908.

If the Democrats had passed any tariff legislation of the sort that Taft would sign, they would not only have been traitors to their party principles, but they would have been traitors to the people who elected them to enact the very kind of tariff legislation that President Taft has consistently vetoed throughout his administration.

That English suffragette who tried to burn the general postoffice certainly had a grudge against everything in the mail line.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY.

"Blessed if I can see how anybody saves money! I can't."

This remark was overheard the other day. It is easily answered.

The way to save money is to save it. Another good way to save money is not to spend it.

Most people don't save any money because, like the young person who talked as above, they think they can't. They can't if they keep on thinking that way. They can if they make up their minds they can.

The only way is to make the savings deposit a fixed charge on your income like rent. Pay it as regularly as you pay your rent or your butcher bill. Establish a fixed minimum. Put aside more than that if you can—never less.

When it comes to sacrificing something you had thought of buying or sacrificing the weekly savings deposit, let the purchase go. That's the only way.

And the chief secret is GETTING A START.

It's like anything else. If you don't begin anything you never will do anything.

A start, no matter how modest, is the big first step.

As the account grows, your interest in it will grow, and it will be easier to add to it. It's like planting a seed. It's rather prosy work making a trench in the soil and putting in a homely little brown seed. It's fascinating when the tender seedling gets above the ground, and it is a constant pleasure to watch the growth of a beautiful thing you have planted and cultivated and promoted.

As the account grows, your self-respect and confidence will grow, too. You thought you couldn't save, but you find that you can. You find, too, that the unnoticed dimes and nickels and quarters that you put away have rolled up into dollars, and that the dollars have mounted into a fairly respectable little sum which is an incentive to make it larger still. It's a very comfy feeling, to have a growing balance in the savings bank. It lends a sense of security and independence you never knew before.

Some day you will look over the little bank balance, not so little now as it used to be, and you will realize that without missing a dollar of it, except sometimes when you were tempted to invest in needless luxuries and put the temptation away from you, you have got together more money than you could ever have hoped to have at one time when you were living in the old hand-to-mouth way, unless the heavens had opened and had rained dollars.

And about that time you will be thinking other things. Maybe you will be thinking about making that bank balance the nest-egg for a home. You will have enough to pay the first instalment on a lot, and presently enough to pay the first instalment on a house. Or you can take the money out of the savings bank, which has been your faithful friend and collaborator in the making of this little fortune and which has chipped in three dollars a year for each hundred you have saved, and invest it in something sensible like bonds or mortgages or solid dividend paying stocks. Or maybe you will make it the nucleus of a business of your own, or of a farm home for yourself and the wife and kiddies.

Only don't ever draw it out of the bank to "invest" it in glittering wildcat speculations that promise returns of a thousand for one, but that in more than nine hundred and ninety-nine times out of a thousand simply absorb your savings and return you nothing but sadness and experience.

But first, make your start. Do it now. Put a dollar in the savings bank the first thing Monday morning, and start a bank account. Then make it grow.

It wouldn't be such a bad idea to apply the principle of the recall to the present winter. Also the rule of reason.

THE PRESIDENTIAL TERM.

The Century magazine editorially advocates a six-year term for the president, with no re-election. This would do away with a president's need of spending most of his first term in an undignified scramble for a second, and so would add dignity to the office.

This argument is true, and the gain it proposes is so much to the good.

Many people will agree heartily with this plan, which is no new proposal. There is much to be said for it.

But there is something to be said on the other side—enough to raise a doubt whether it is wise to make the change. People want dignity in a president, but they want results from him, too.

In these days when the people are politically awake and have ceased their unquestioning delegation of political powers to professional politicians, a president who wishes a second term must consult the wishes, study the needs, and sympathize with the aspirations of the people.

The one-term man would be tempted to set his individual judgment against the judgment of the whole people.

Not many men are so divinely constituted that their judgments are superior to that of the majority of the people. We must confess that we know of no such man.

A condition that keeps a president's ears open to the call of the people is not one to be lightly thrown aside in favor of one which might close the ears of the president—once elected—to the bitter cry of the disinherited and the stern demand of the people for justice.

A Wisconsin theater manager "skipped out" without paying his employes. It is safe to conclude that if he ever comes back to that town he'll have a mighty poor show.

CONGRESS AND THE PEOPLE.

The New York World Sunday had an interesting symposium on the question whether the British parliament or the American congress better represents the people.

Congressman McCall and others thought parliament, especially now the house of lords has been trimmed into insignificance, is more truly representative of the British people than congress is of the American people. Others disagreed with them of course, but the weight of the evidence seems to lie with the McCall side of the controversy. When the character of the legislation that parliament has put forth in recent years is added to the evidence and compared with American legislative results, there is no longer room for doubt.

But this question is less interesting than the question whether congress is so constituted that it is likely to be representative of the people, except by accident or occasional compulsion. By way of a step from the World's question to the more important one, here is a table giving the occupations of the members of the house of commons and of both branches of congress:

Occupation—	House of Commons	Congress.
Professional men	216	299
Army and navy	60	0
Public officials	59	74
Labor	45	1
Industry	70	23
Commerce	97	51
Agriculture	15	31
Diplomats	8	0
Not stated	93	3
Totals	663	482

While labor has forty-five representatives in the British parliament, it has ONE representative in the American congress.

So much for the comparison.

But is a congress, constituted as this table shows the American congress to be, truly representative of the American people?

While thirty-three per cent of the members of the house of commons are professional men, sixty-two per cent of the members of the American congress are professional men. Twenty-three per cent of the members of the house of commons are lawyers, and fifty-six per cent of the members of congress are lawyers.

Here are too many lawyers, beyond any question. A dozen in each branch of congress would be plenty.

But that isn't the end of it. Professional men—mostly lawyers, public officials—mostly professional politicians, and representatives of commerce and industry, make up 450 of the 482 members of congress, or 93 per cent.

Representatives of the agricultural interests have thirty-one members, or six and one-half per cent of the whole.

Labor has one member, or something like two-tenths of one per cent of the whole.

The census of 1900—that of 1910 is not yet available as to these details—showed 30,000,000 persons gainfully employed in this country. They and their dependents, though probably 85 per cent of the whole population, have but one member of the American congress to represent them!

There are not enough labor members of congress, there are not enough farmer members of congress, there are too many lawyers and representatives of capital among the members of congress.

It is true that theoretically the lawyer, the banker, the merchant or the manufacturer who goes to congress represents all the people of his state or district. But he views public questions, as a rule, through spectacles colored by the selfish interest of his own class or industry. That is natural and inevitable.

The interests of labor are as much entitled to representation in congress as the interests of capital. Support of the present inequality of representation can be justified only on the old theory that prosperity must be sifted through a privileged class, the masses of the people getting what squeezes through a very fine mesh.

The new theory that prosperity should be distributed as widely as possible, and that the aim of government should be the direct well-being of the largest number possible, calls for a better distribution of the representation in congress.

President Taft has intimated that it may be several weeks before he names a successor to Dr. Wiley. By that time a good part of the work Dr. Wiley did will be undone and the new man can start business with a fresh field and a chance to make a great name for himself.

LOST PERILS OF THE DEEP.

The thought of going down to the sea in ships used to be associated with thoughts of deadly peril.

It conjured up pictures of shipwrecks, of burning ships at sea, of putting off in small boats to float about and perish of thirst and hunger, of drifting ashore on lonely islands.

That spice of danger is what kept sea stories in demand.

But the spice of danger is being pretty well eliminated. Last year the steam vessels reporting to the American government carried 413,531,305 passengers, and only seventy-four lives were lost, counting passengers and sailors.

That's a better showing than the railroads could make. The sailor who use to tremble for the safety of the folks on land is turning out to be about right.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

"BACK TO THE FARM" ENTHUSIAST REPLIES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Having read with much interest the article on farming by Mr. Robertson, your editorial, and Mr. Robertson's reply; also J. E. Diesen's article; I am forced to the conclusion that something more is required.

Mr. Diesen's returns are speculative and unreasonable and cannot be accomplished by one man in the time covered by Mr. Robertson's article. Both men make the same error, and it is made by hundreds of others in the vicinity of Duluth and Superior. The error of overstocking at the beginning, building useless buildings, exhausting their capital by wild and worthless expenditures. I will not write of intensive, exensive or systematic farming but will speak of what can be accomplished in the wake of desolation spoken of by Mr. Robertson.

The purchase price has no right to figure in the expenditure at the beginning as the purchase is for all time, and a large proportion of it may be covered by time.

The farm then is eighty acres, unimproved. What need has a man for a team of horses and rigging costing $600? Worse than worthless expenditure because they take up a part of the man's time in building stables and caring for them. They eat expensive hay and oats and do little to replace their cost. This item we strike from the long list and with it every other item including $1,000 for what in a short time would be useless buildings. Every item except the one for the cows and chickens, seeds and the cost of living must be stricken from the list. How then can I start on this unimproved piece of land and how can I succeed? Here is what you need and all you need, even if you have a few thousand. Lumber to build a flat roofed shanty 12 by 16 feet, proper windows and doors, partition off 10 by 12 for kitchen and dining room, the remainder will hold two beds. This with a walled tent, which could be used as a store-room and bedroom is all you require for a family of four. The shanty may be built of rough scantling and dressed matched lumber only one tier, for the first six months. Build your shanty on two good heavy timbers so that you can move it easily when you require it no longer to live in. It will make an excellent chicken house and you thus lose nothing. Build your shanty and move in just as soon as the snow is gone. Then start and clear up all the land you can, leaving the stumps. As soon as the weather is warm get your cow and chickens, one cow at $75 better than two at $100. The cow will require no building until fall and the chickens only a shelter to keep them dry. You need a good ax, grub hoe and light hoe for cultivating. You should be able to get five acres ready for potatoes and other vegetables by planting time. Then clean up five acres more, get it well harrowed, seed with oats and also seed it down with timothy and clover. Then devote your time to the care of your vegetables. About $400 should cover all expenses, for shanty, tent, cost of living for six months, chickens, cow, tools and a little hired team work. From four to six months from your start you should have $400 to $500 worth of vegetables for your returns. In the fall after harvest blow out the stumps on the five acres you had the vegetables on, and if you can get help blow them out of the ten acres. Leave them lying on the ground until spring when the earth can be easily removed. Then hire a team and a few men to haul the stumps that can not be used for wood together and burn them. You then have ten acres cleared properly. The second year you will have five acres of hay and vegetables. Keep on clearing as much as you can and seed down among the stumps. This should be the process for clearing. The third year you will have feed and pasture for a good team of mares to do your work. Raise a pair of colts, and add all the cows, pigs, and chickens you can care for. You are now on the way to success; but let us see what you have accomplished the first year. Your outlay was $400, your returns in six months $600. Your ten acres all cleared cost $50 per acre, original price $22 and $28 for clearing. This then, ready for crop, part under hay is worth $150 per acre the second spring. The first six months you were $200 better than when you started, at the end of the year by returns and increased value of land you are $1,200 better off except the cost of living the second six months. You worked hard and industriously for about eight months, the other four you have had a good rest. Keep this up from three to five years until you know your farm and what buildings you want; then build them and enjoy life. Do not let Mr. Robertson's expenditure deter you from going on a farm. Be self sustaining, independent, and you cannot be turned down in your old age and a young man put in your place, by a heartless company, after spending the best years of your life in their interest. Of course it is understood that the land when given a proper chance will do its part, the season also must be considered.

Thanking you for this space in your valued paper and hoping this will further the "Back to the soil" movement I am yours respectfully,

R. S. GROGAN.

Duluth, March 22.

ANOTHER STREET USED AS WAREHOUSE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

As supplementary to "A Business Man's" letter which appeared in Wednesday's Herald, I would like to say that he would only have to go along Superior street to First avenue west to see that avenue below First street pre-empted by a blacksmith shop with a full crop of dump carts, beer wagons and old delivery wagons on top of the manure that is on deposit there. The said shop is some years old and that is just the age of a full crop of street obstructions that seriously interfere with free traffic on the avenue, endangering public welfare, and might easily be the cause of a calamity if a fire should break out in that vicinity. First avenue west is one of the most traveled avenues in the city, and one of the only two avenues of comparatively easy grade up the hill.

I supposed any Duluth citizen would have more civic pride than to make First avenue west, in the very heart of the business part of the city, a dumping ground for broken down rigs, which, if continued, may result in the broken down horses being dumped there as a sample of what Duluth hills can produce in the shape of equine derelicts, and may cause our visitors to laugh at us as a city of high ideals, but of small practice. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am yours truly,

FIRST STREET.

Duluth, March 22.

HILLSIDE FIRE HALL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please let me know in the Open Court if we are going to have a new fire hall at Seventh avenue east and Ninth street?

CURIOUS.

Proctor, March 22, 1912.

The board of fire commissioners has directed the advertisement of bids for the construction of the above hall.

MORE ECHOES OF HARMONY.

Rhetorical Question.

Northfield News: "Frankly I do not know who is going to manage the Taft campaign in the state," said Chairman Smith. "I shall take part, of course, and do what I can for Taft, but I don't think I should be in charge of the campaign. I have other interests which must not be neglected." Will some member of the class please step up and tell us what these other "interests" are?

Ralph Is Sick.

Sauk Centre Herald: Ralph Wheelock, the Beau Brummel of the present administration, says right out loud that "we are getting sick of their antics," meaning the efforts of the Roosevelt supporters in trying to devise ways and means of providing for a presidential preference primary election in Minnesota. Of course, the administration crowd has mighty little use for any plan that gives the people a chance to express their preference. The administration prefers to have these details arranged by William Hamm, Ed Smith, Jim Hill and fellows like that. No wonder the exquisite Ralph is "sick." If the people get a straight whack at that administration gang this year, Ralph won't be worried any about it after January, 1913, for somebody else will then fill the chair that Frank Day used to hold down and which the well groomed Ralph has rattled around in for several months already.

Betting on Sure Thing.

Luverne Journal: Ralph Wheelock has gone to betting—but reserves his vigorous $500 flings at sure thing chances. He recently bet that amount that Governor Eberhart had not interfered in the work of the dairy and food commission. Of course, Eberhart didn't interfere. A man never interferes in anything unless he takes something akin to a positive stand about men and matters. No one ever accused Adolph of taking a positive stand on anything.

Worst Is Yet to Come.

Cambridge North Star: The St. Paul Dispatch quotes Secretary Wheelock as announcing that he is sick of the tactics of the Roosevelt management. Cheer up, Ralph; the worst is yet to come. It is altogether too early to get seasick—you haven't hit the real breakers yet.

Trouble at Home.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel: Governor Eberhart was hobnobbing with President Taft a few days ago and took occasion to renew his promise to deliver the state over to Taft. To an outsider it would look as though the governor would have his hands full to land the state for himself, let alone stirring up further strife.

No Eberhart Sentiment.

Redwood Falls Gazette: Here in Redwood Falls there is little positive Eberhart sentiment. All through this section of the county the progressive wave has washed the standpatter into the troubled deep, and the governor has apparently passed on with those "who were."

Discreet Smith.

Waseca Herald: Ralph Wheelock is mad because the dairymen accused Governor Eberhart with favoring the centralizers. Ed Smith, however, remains discreetly silent, as usual.

But Will They?

Minneota Mascot: Governor Eberhart has had the various secret orders to which he belongs listed and the list posted on the front page of the Minneapolis Journal. His various "brethren," "neighbors" and "comrades" should take due notice and during the coming campaign govern themselves accordingly.

The Whole Dawg Song.

Every time I come to town
The boys keep a-kickin' my dawg aroun';
Makes no difference if he is a houn'
They gotta quit kickin' my dawg aroun'.

Sambo, lay that banjo down
You good fur nothin' triflin' houn';
Makes no difference if he is a houn'
You gotta quit kickin' my dog aroun'.

Every time I go to school
The teacher lams me with the rule;
Makes no difference if I am a fool,
She's gotta quit lammin' me with a rule.

Sift the meal an' save the bran;
You can't grow taters in sandy lan';
Makes no difference if he is a houn.:
You gotta quit kickin' my dawg aroun'.

My dawg Drum is a good old houn'.
Trails the possum on the driest groun';
Makes no difference if he is a houn',
You gotta quit kickin' my dawg aroun'.

If We Had Parcels Post.

Farm and Fireside: For over 100 years Germany has had a parcels post, and since 1873 her present very effective and successful system. When I first came to Germany, I at once noticed the immense number of packages that were being loaded and unloaded at the railroad stations, and that special cars carrying nothing but these packages, and sometimes three and four such cars, were seen on every train. In the cities I frequently saw long lines of postoffice wagons, and I could not understand why it took so many wagons to haul the mail. Upon inquiry, I was told in a very disinterested way that they were the "paket post" wagons. Then it dawned upon me that this was parcels post, the thing that we have been beseeching congress to establish and the thing that the Grange and other farm organizations in the United States have been endorsing in their resolutions for years. I had come here to study European agriculture and here was my opportunity to see what parcels post actually means to the farmers, and I began to investigate.

At my boarding house in Central Germany I asked my landlady where she got her butter, which was of excellent quality. She told me it came from Holstein in the northwestern part of Germany, 200 miles away. I asked if it was not expensive to have it come so far. "Oh, no," she said, "we have it come by post and have gotten it every week for several years from the same man. You know we can send a package by post up to five kilograms (eleven pounds) to any place in Germany for 50 pfennigs (12 cents). I then understood why I had seen such quantities of packages in the railroad stations and so many parcels post wagons on the streets in the cities. I inquired about how commonly it was used for the marketing of farm products. Here in Halle, which is a city of about 200,000 population in the central part of Germany, I find that it is a very general practice for families to get their supply of butter, eggs and poultry sent to them every week through the parcels post, and they are delivered to their door just as a letter would be.

The Change.

Kansas City Star: You doubtless recall the Roosevelt editorial in the Outlook last autumn criticizing the policy of attempting to break up the trusts through lawsuits, and reiterating the policy of regulation by a board analogous to the interstate commerce commission? And you may also recall that somewhat to Mr. Roosevelt's surprise, the big interests of Wall Street rallied to his support on the strength of this editorial.

The significant thing about it is that this sudden conversion occurred at a time when these interests believed that the Sherman act had teeth and that the president and his attorney general would be ruthless prosecutors of all violators of the law.

It is no less significant that when these gentlemen became convinced that the court decisions did not actually punish; when they saw oil and tobacco stocks mounting in value after the trusts were formally dismembered, they took back all their hastily made opinions and became the most ardent supporters of the administration.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

After the Wreck.

That famous shipwreck in which the apostle Paul figured is described in minute detail in the book of Acts. A sea-faring man may follow all the steps by which the lumbering galley that had put out from Crete finally laid her bones on the island of Malta. Clark Russell himself could not have written the story more vividly. As we read the wonder grows that any of the ship's company escaped. That all did was hardly less than a miracle. Clinging to all sorts of wreckage they came through the surf: "Some on boards, some on broken pieces of the ship, and so it came to pass that they all escaped safe to land."

Here is a hint surely for any of the sons of men who meet shipwreck. They may often get out of their perilous situation on some scrap of wreckage that floats on the tide. On the waves of life when everything seems shattered to fragments let us remember that a single one of these poor bits may serve us as a plank of safety.

There are men for instance, who meet the difficult experience of a wreck of fortune. One loses his situation or finds the concern in which he has invested his means going down in bankruptcy. Neither the capitalist nor the ordinary wage earner is exempt from the possibility of a reverse like this. Nor is it to be wondered at that the blow adds years to the age and lines the face with care. The Bible adjures us to "take joyfully the spoiling of your goods," but most of us have not arrived yet at such a stage of moral exaltation.

When material fortune tumbles in a heap there are generally some bits of wreckage left that the resolute man will seize upon. The bankrupt will generally find some assets left to him; it may be his courage, his ingenuity, his reinforced determination. If these remain he will get to shore somehow. There is hardly a sublimer spectacle in literary history than Sir Walter Scott, engulfed in business disaster, gripping his pen anew in a determined and finally successful effort to pay off his obligations. And the same example is afforded by our own Mark Twain.

No man's fortunes are in hopeless ruin while the man himself survives. A resolute personality saved out of any wreck on land or sea is a creative force. When Capt. Sol Jacobs, the Gloucester mackerel king, lost a vessel, he was wont to telegraph for a new one from the first station he could reach. Disaster cannot overwhelm such men. They shall

Flourish in immortal youth
Unhurt amidst the war of elements
The wreck of matter, and the crash of worlds.

The loss of health is a more serious matter, but even in such a case it is possible to gather up the fragments that remain. One way to live to be 99 years of age is not to break down in your youth. A man then takes care of himself, husbands his strength and guards his slender physical possessions as a miser guards his gold. Helen Keller has preached a continual sermon to those of us who still have the use of our eyes and ears and tongues. In his fortieth year the late Joseph Pulitzer suffered a collapse from overwork resulting in the total loss of his sight. Utilizing the eyes of other's he remained till the day of his death a few months ago, the driving and guiding force behind his papers.

Let the man even whose reputation has gone by the board refuse to abandon hope. The distrust of one's friends is a profound calamity, especially if that distrust is justified by one's own misdemeanors. There is always a ray through the gloom, however, for one who really wants to do better. One may always reflect that, whatever his wrong doing, there was a depth of baseness to which he did not sink. He may remember that, as God forgives the honestly returning prodigal now, so men will also learn to forgive by and by. He may take heart from the little circle of friends who still believe in him.

It is astonishing from what a small start a great moral victory may be achieved. Whatever the wreck in which one finds himself engulfed he should not sink beneath the waves while a single bit of flotsam is at hand that may eventually bear him to terra firma.

THE PARSON.

An Object Lesson.

Buffalo Enquirer: The facts have been collected and recorded by the bureau of statistics:

The exportation of eggs last year was the largest in the country's history.

Last year this country shipped abroad 13,250,000 dozen. The highest record of any preceding year was 8,250,000 dozen, in 1907.

The importation of eggs in 1911 was less than 1,000,000 dozen.

These figures show a complete reversal of trade in eggs.

The imports of eggs in 1884, 1885 and 1886 exceeded 16,000,000 dozen. The exports of eggs in the same years averaged only about 250,000 dozen.

This reduction of the imports of eggs and increase in the exports began "immediately following the enactment of the tariff law of 1890, which placed a duty on that article of commerce." The bulletin summarizing the findings of the bureau of statistics says so in the quoted words.

Thus, while this country last year was paying famine prices for eggs, the egg dealers shipped 13,250,000 dozen to foreign markets, nearly double the highest preceding record.

Thus, famine prices for eggs have been maintained in the United States in two ways—

First—The tariff on eggs shut off the foreign supply.

Second—Egg dealers in the United States shipped abroad enough of the home supply (selling the exported eggs abroad cheaper than at home) to create a short supply in the American market.

The theory of protection is that shutting out the foreign competition will so stimulate the home industry that home competition will protect the consumer.

This is the way it works: With foreign competition shut off, monopolists corner the home market, ship their surplus abroad at low prices and compel home consumers to pay famine prices.

While the monopolists have been lying to the American people about a short supply of eggs, preaching that the increase in the production of eggs does not keep pace with the home demand, they have shipped 159,000,000 eggs in a year, last year, to other countries.

If egg consumers read these facts without raging, they have no capacity for righteous indignation.

Bear in mind that the facts recited are culled from an official government report

Bigness of a Nickel.

A nickel then was bigger than a million dollars now,
A nickel then could buy a world of happiness somehow;
A nickel then was all a lad could sometimes hope to get,
And, oh, how wide with human joy his little eyes were set!

A nickel back in those old times was bigger than a mint!
A nickel then was like a dream of riches, with its glint;
A nickel then was all a child expected at the best,
And, oh, how glad it made his heart beat in his little breast!

A nickel then was bigger than a fortune seems these days;
A nickel then could fill the mind with fancy's gilded maze;
A nickel then could buy the earth in childhood's dream, at least;
And, oh, that we could taste again that sense of childhood feast!

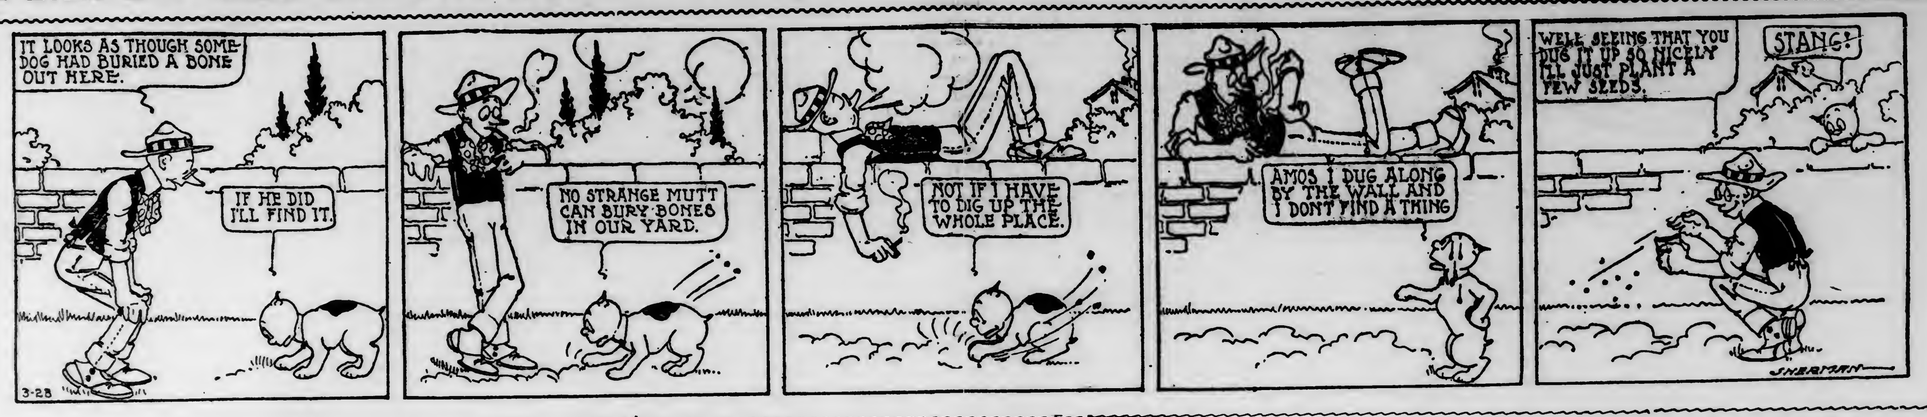
A NIFTY LABOR-SAVING DEVICE

By C. L. SHERMAN



TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

Daniel Cox, the fruit and commission man, has closed his business and retired from the trade. By this step Duluth loses one of its original wholesale men. The fruit business of the city owes its existence largely to his efforts and to concessions in freight and express rates gained by him. The house with which he has been identified began business in 1886. To Mr. Cox were consigned the first oranges brought direct from Florida, the first fruits from California and the first importations of lemons from New York.

The members of Company A, Third regiment, met last night in the city hall and began drill in the new tactics. A business meeting was also held at which Capt. Tear presided. Owing to F. H. Bidwell's promotion to a lieutenancy he resigned the office of secretary and Colin Thomson was unanimously elected his successor.

The Duluth, Mississippi & Northern Railway company was incorporated yesterday with a capital stock of $25,000. The company proposes to build a road from the Swan river northward. The incorporators are A. W. Wright of Alma, Mich., and C. W. Wells, F. C. Stone, C. H. Davis and W. T. Knowlton of Saginaw, Mich. The company's headquarters are at Duluth.

Col. Don A. Dodge met with a peculiar and painful accident while on his way to St. Paul two nights ago. He was passing from one car to another, when the car gave a sudden lurch and he caught the panel of the door for support. The door, closed by the jar, caught the third finger of the right hand, cutting it off as neatly as a surgeon's knife would have done.

Mrs. F. C. Stamm and daughter left West Duluth today for Pine City, Minn., where Mr. Stamm is now located.

Joe Beariault, formerly with George Brown, has bought the barber-shop of W. E. Angle at 215 West Superior street.

The feeling in Duluth today is not all hopeful regarding the outcome of the hearing before the board of army engineers at Detroit on the question of bridging the Duluth ship canal. Duluth was represented at the hearing by President Truelsen of the board of public works, Secretary Thompson of the chamber of commerce, and Harbormaster Miller. It is regarded as very doubtful if the consent of the board for the erection of the bridge can be gained. Secretary of War Elkins, who is the final judge in the matter, is said to favor the project, but it is hardly thought he would overrule the findings of the engineers' board.

It is expected Duluth will be conceded one of the district delegates to the Democratic national convention and that Thomas and John G Brown has no opposition here in his candidacy for that honor.

THE CANKER AT WORK

By SAVOYARD.

Faction is busy on both sides of the political hedge, though it is far more virulent in the Republican camp than in the Democratic, and it is impossible to conceal or disguise the fact that the G. O. P. is hopelessly sundered, the hand of every standpatter being against the hand of every Insurgent. It is possible, barely possible, that the nomination of Justice Hughes to head the ticket of 1912 would exorcise the devil of faction for a time, but it is exceedingly doubtful. The differences that separate Penrose and La Follette, Lodge and Bristow, Cannon and Murdock, are fundamental, and even if Hughes were elected president, the quarrel would remain to be fought out in both houses of congress.

The present plight of the Republican party is reminder of the situation the Whigs were in some three score and upwards years ago—just before that party died. At the North were "Conscience" Whigs and "Cotton" Whigs of the "insurgents" and "standpatters" of that epoch. The "Conscience" crowd held that it was immoral for New England to spin cotton produced in the Southern states by slave labor, while the "Cotton" Whigs were the Levites of the day, who passed by on the other side, and sought to rid themselves of the abolition question as an honest man would be quit of a knave.

Some of the "Cotton" Whigs were Daniel Webster, Rufus Choate, Edward Everett, Robert C. Winthrop and Benjamin R. Curtis. Some of the "Conscience" Whigs were Charles Sumner, Samuel Hoar, Charles Allen, Henry Wilson, Henry L. Davies and Charles Francis Adams. To these were joined certain "Freesoil" Democrats, such as George S. Boutwell, Nathaniel P. Banks, Robert Rantoul and others. The hatred these factions had for each other was venomous in the extreme, and Daniel Webster found the doors of Faneuil hall closed to him when he sought to defend himself from the assaults of his enemies for his "7th-of-March speech," though that "cradle of liberty" was builded of money old Peter Faneuil made in the African slave trade.

There is a most prodigiously prosperous anecdote of those times that is voluptuously pertinent to the Republican situation at this time. Perhaps there is excuse for trying to tell it here. At any rate I shall venture it.

Benjamin R. Curtis was a "Cotton" Whig and with Webster and Choate he was at the head of the New England bar and ranked with the leaders of the American bar. Subsequently he was an associate justice of the United States supreme court and rendered the dissenting opinion in the Dred Scott case, and it embraced all that was legal and nearly all that was respectable on the anti-slavery side of that momentous controversy. Later he was of counsel for Andrew Johnson in the impeachment proceedings and opened the case for the defense, and it is only truth to say that when he closed his speech the president was as good as acquitted then and there. So it cannot be challenged that Mr. Curtis was a great lawyer and a profound jurist.

In 1851, when the "Cotton" Whigs were overthrown in Massachusetts by reason of the adulterous combination of the "Conscience" Whigs, the "Free soil" Democrats and the Know-Nothings, Mr. Curtis wrote an elaborate, a learned, a powerful state paper in the guise of a legal opinion in which he advised that Charles Sumner, Henry Wilson, George S. Boutwell, and others be indicted as conspirators who made the wicked coalition of Whigs, Democrats and Know-Nothings by which the Whig party was driven from power in Massachusetts.

Isn't "litigation" like that in order now? This town is full of Republicans, some of them great lawyers, who will tell you that F. R. Coates' raid on an enterprise not only calculated to drive the Republican party from power but to destroy the organization itself. And we may be sure that the animosity that existed between the "Conscience" and the "Cotton" Whigs in New England, the middle of the last century, was mild, placid, soothing, compared with the malevolent hatred your "standpat" Republican has for your "Insurgent" Republican in 1912. What the harmony is to come from that will hold together the Chicago convention of June 18 this year, it is impossible to conjecture.

If Roosevelt is the demi-god all his admirers say he is he is greater than Hannibal himself, who, perhaps, was the greatest soldier and the greatest statesman of profane history. It was not the military power of Rome, not the military genius of Scipio, that overcame Hannibal; it was political faction in Carthage that destroyed the hero and ruined his country. Political faction here and now has Roosevelt for a mark, and how is he to escape utter political destruction, even annihilation, is something that is beyond imagination to conceive.

But the colonel is a man of vast and wonderful resource. His followers believe in him and he has sublime confidence in his star. He knows how to move and to use men, and perhaps this passage from Bolingbroke appeals to him: "It is a very easy thing to devise good laws. The difficulty is to make them effective. The great mistake is that of looking on men as virtuous, or thinking they can be made so by laws, and consequently the greatest art of the politician is to render vices serviceable to virtue."

Government is not an exact science. It is given to none to be perfect, and it is a truism, now become trite, that about everything good in human government is the fruit of intelligent selfishness. Right now there is more politics in this country than ever was before, here or elsewhere. And what is it? Just this and only this: Is it Mambrino's helmet, or a barber's basin? Don Quixto and Sancho Panza quarreled about it, just as our ancestors did, as we do, as our descendants will. Here is Roosevelt prancing around with the helmet of Mambrino on his head, the spear of Ithuriel in his hand. The standpatters say that it is a barber's basin on his head and a cornstalk in his hand. There is but one tribunal to which the quarrel can be appealed—the electorate—and Teddy wants to "leave to the crowd" the soundness or the unsoundness of adjudications of vital questions by the supreme court.

As I said there is faction on the Democratic side of the hedge, where the condition remains—Wilson against the field. It will be a miracle if Taft is not nominated by the regular convention at Chicago. That will suit Wall Street, and Roosevelt is Wall Street's second choice.

Then if Wall Street shall succeed in defeating Woodrow Wilson for the Democratic nomination at Baltimore we will see the conditions of 1904 repeated. That is what Wall Street wants and that is what Wall Street will get if the Democratic party is fool enough to agree to it and weak enough to lay down. I shall return to this phase of it soon.

SOCIALISTS AT WORK. By Robert Hunter, author of "Poverty," etc. New York: The Macmillan Company. 50 cents net.

This is the fourth reprinting, since its first publication four years ago, of this clear and comprehensive review of the Socialist movement the world over. Like all the work of this leader among the "intellectuals" in the Socialist movement, it is careful, thorough-going and vigorous.

"Almost unknown to the world outside of labor," says Mr. Hunter, "a movement wide as the universe grows and prospers materially is incredible, and its humanitarian ideals come to those who labor as drink to parched throats. Its creed and program call forth a passionate adherence, its converts serve it with a daily devotion that knows no limit of sacrifice, and in the face of persecution, misrepresentation and even martyrdom, they remain loyal and true.

"A political or economic creed that creates such religious zeal and loyalty is worth studying. If it is a true thing, it is fine and noble and the realization of its ideals a consummation devoutly to be wished. If it is a false thing, it is all the more dangerous because of its subtle appeal to the enthusiasm of the disinherited millions of the world.

This review of the progress of Socialism in the world, and the statement of the things on which Socialists, though often apparently inharmonious and jangling, are thoroughly agreed, and particularly valuable by those who wish to study this subject. And everybody should study it—to support it and prepare the way for it if it is good, to fight it and to offer a substitute for it if it is bad.

Mr. Hunter devotes chapters to Socialism in Germany, Italy, France, Belgium and Great Britain, with a supplementary chapter on Socialism in other countries. The program of Socialism takes a chapter, and there are chapters on Socialism and Social Reform, Socialism in the Parliaments, Socialism and Art and Literature, and on the International.

Much Socialistic history has been made since the book was written, but all of that is fresh in the minds of observers. As a survey of Socialistic principles and progress the volume is highly valuable.

This popular priced book is one of the first to be issued in the "Macmillan Standard Library," in which it is proposed to include only those books which have been put to the test of public opinion and have not been found wanting, and which is planned to cover all the fields of knowledge. S. H. B.

THE POSITION OF PEGGY. By Leonard Merrick, author of "Conrad in Search of His Youth," "The Man Who Understood Women," etc. New York: Mitchell Kennerley. $1.20 net.

This romance of London life perhaps has not quite the concentrated sparkle of Mr. Merrick's recent exquisite book of short stories, but the same sparkle is in it, only it is gently diffused. It has little more plot than a real story of a real career—but it has plenty to hold the interest from beginning to end, and the reader will find it all too short.

Christopher Tatham, a poor gentleman's son with a silly mother, goes up to London and becomes an actor. After hanging precariously on the fringe of the profession he is forced to enter the office of his uncle, who is "fancifully associated with hops." Before that, however, he had met Peggy Harper, a young actor who is thoroughly a good fellow, but wholly uninspired and completely mirthless. Through sympathy he kisses her one night, and presently they are engaged, though it is made clear that no real love is involved in the alliance—Peggy, indeed, is probably incapable of it.

Tatham takes to play-writing, and writes gentle and good comedies which he can't get produced, so the marriage is happily delayed. As a potboiler he writes a melodrama for the herd, for which he gets fifteen pounds and which makes a fortune for its producer. Theodosia Moore, a poor clergyman's daughter writing dramatic criticism for a provincial newspaper, pens a scorching roast of his play which loses her her place because it loses her employer the theater's advertising. This brings them together, and a romance, complicated by Tatham's sense of duty to Peggy, begins. Presently Peggy, however, brainless though she is, scores a West end hit, and prosperity makes her insufferable, as was to be expected. To relate the story further would be to deprive the reader of that for which he pays when he buys a book.

There is excellent character-drawing, pleasant humor, and a great deal of attractive reality in the book. It is well worth reading.

BUSINESS AND KINGDOM COME. By Rev. Frank Crane. Chicago: Forbes & Co. 75 cents.

Rev. Frank Crane of Chicago paid a visit to an Ohio manufacturing plant whose proprietors, he reports, look upon their workers as human beings and treat them accordingly. It led him to write this book, full of his piquant common sense and helpful optimism. There is a great deal in the book that it will benefit employers and employes alike to read. Mr. Crane says:

"Possibly this book may help the concern. It might even be used as an advertisement.

"But why apologize?

"Did Mr. Lloyd or Miss Tarbell apologize for attacking a certain business concern?

"Does any newspaper apologize for exposing fraud or wrongdoing on the part of any rich man?

"And, gentle reader, can you tell me why it is all right to attack a business, and a matter of suspicion to commend a business?"

The logic is unanswerable. In its spirit we tell what business concern this is whose kindness to its workers is thus celebrated. It is the National Cash Register Company of Dayton, Ohio.

LOVE IN A MASK. By Honore de Balzac. Chicago: Rand, McNally & Co. $1 net.

It is a little startling to find among the current novels a new story by one of the world's greatest novelists, who has been dead more than half a century. However, this light and pleasing tale comes well authenticated. The story of it is that Balzac, in gratitude to the duchess de Dino for her friendship and unfailing kindness, one day presented to her the manuscript of this story in his own handwriting. The duchess, who was one of the few French aristocrats who welcomed unentitled authors to their salons, placed Balzac's unpublished book on her library shelves by the side of unpublished poems by de Musset and stories by Sue and others. It was encased in a finely tooled binding of great richness and beauty. For more than half a century the manuscript remained where the duchess had placed it. Then her son gave it to his friend, Lucien Aubanel, who gave it in turn to M. Gillequin with the suggestion that it be published. It accordingly appeared in print for the first time in March, 1911, and is now translated into English.

THE MYSTERY QUEEN. By Fergus Hume. New York: G. W. Dillingham company. $1.25 net.

Mr. Hume is a writer of thrillers and he maintains his standard in "The Mystery Queen." The story has enough to suit the most ardent devotee of detective stories. The hero is an aviator, who loves the daughter of a millionaire nobleman. The nobleman is murdered and the aviator sets out to find the gang responsible. He has only a perfume and a fly, evidently the trademark of the gang, as clews. He goes through thrilling situations, and discovers the head of the gang to be a woman who is an amiable paralytic in the country and a fiend in London. He runs her down after an exciting aeroplane chase of 180 miles, is himself captured and imprisoned and escapes just in time to avoid being blown up by an explosion that wrecks the house and blows the gang into atoms. Mr. Hume entertains and thrills. He is right up to the minute in his use of the aeroplane as an aid to criminals and also to detectives.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT. By Victor P. Hammer, LL.M. New York: The Neale Publishing company. $1.25 net.

Mr. Hammer has produced a "blue book" of the United States government that is a valuable reference work in condensed form. It gives a brief history of the government and details of its branches, even to the salaries of the department heads and their chief subordinates. Complete lists are given of the men who have served as cabinet officers. The organization of each branch of the government and the powers and duties of each are set forth in concise form and a great mass of valuable information is brought into ready reference form.

THE MAN FROM JERICHO. By Edwin Carlile Litsey. New York: The Neale Publishing company. $1.50 postpaid.

A Kentucky story, to be a Kentucky story, should have a feud the while colonel broken in fortune, a race horse on which the family fortune depends, a beautiful daughter of the colonel, a designing suitor having designs on the daughter and the horse and a brave young man to save the horse from many perils and the daughter from distress. Mr. Litsey provides all the essentials and weaves them into an entertaining story, though it may not be entirely novel in plot. John Glenning, the hero of the story, is introduced to the reader when he saves the blooded stock of the Dudleys from the stable which has been set on fire at the instance of Devil Marston, the villainous rival horse owner. Dr. Glenning later contrives to save the horse from a shooting plot, whips Devil Marston in a fist fight, saves a prisoner who is sought by a mob, and otherwise shows his heroism, thereby proving his courage and winning the love of Julia Dudley, after he has proved that an affair with a married woman in Jericho was innocent of soul-staining consequences.

ISRAEL'S PROPHETS. By George L. Petrie, D. D. New York: The Neale Publishing company. $1.25 net.

The prophets of old were not only prophets but they were men. They lived the lives of men. They had personality. They had a great respect for God. They served Him not only when they were sent to prophesy but before and after. There is something to be found about each of them in the books of the Old Testament. In some cases, there is only a little. In other books, there is much. The student must look for it in order the better to appreciate what they did.

Mr. Petrie is a student of the Bible. His "Jacob's Sons" was a character study of men in order to have them understood better by others. His "Israel's Prophets" has the same purpose. The Bible student with the guidance of Mr. Petrie will find much in the Old Testament that he would not know existed there but for the intelligent direction and the understanding of the prophets which Mr. Petrie gives him.

THE LAUGHTER OF JESUS. By Elmer Willis Serl. New York: The Neale Publishing company. $1.00 net.

Mr. Serl finds in Jesus a man of smiles and kindliness to His fellow men as well as a Man of Sorrows. This little book is a sympathetic study of the life of the Galilean in the years before His passion. He does not, as have other writers, lay more stress on the passage "Jesus wept," than he does on the innumerable passages in which he finds that Jesus could and did smile. The book is not in flippant style, but it is a sincere effort to set Jesus in a new and more human light before His followers. Mr. Serl shows a deep knowledge of the life of Jesus and he puts it to a purpose that will be appreciated.

FIVE THOUSAND AN HOUR. By George Randolph Chester. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill company. $1.25.

As fascinating as was that prince of rascals, Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford, the author, George Randolph Chester, who is one of the most prolific writers of fiction in America, has gone him one better in his latest character, Johnny Gamble, hero of "Five Thousand an Hour." Between Wallingford and Johnny there is a similarity and a difference. Both have the idea of getting rich quick. Both have minds which are sharpened to an extremely fine point. Both do things which are unusually interesting; but where Wallingford was a crook, Johnny is an honest, shrewd young American—the most likable type to be found in fiction. Suppose you looked up and saw a girl and fell in love with her right like that. Suppose you found out that she was an heiress and would lose a million dollars if she married you. What would you do? Quit, make her lose the million, or what? It was a case of "or what" with Johnny Gamble. He decided, with that promptness for which he was famous, to marry the girl and have her on her wedding day another million to replace that she would lose. He had twenty-three working days in which to do it, $5,000 to make in every working hour. Of course she was not to lose the million if she married a certain other man whom she does not like, and of course that man, who doesn't relish the idea of seeing her fortune slip through his grasp, resorts to trickery of all sorts to prevent Johnny making the million. But of course Johnny does win, and the suspense which leads up to his final coup is what makes the story breathless in its intensity.

Among the Magazines.

The beginning of a new serial by John Fox, Jr., entitled "The Heart of the Hills," is the leading feature of Scribner's Magazine for April. This is Mr. Fox's third serial in Scribner's; the two others—"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," and "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine"—have become a part of the permanent literature of America, as it expresses itself in local fiction. This new serial will deepen the impression made by the preceding stories. In the people of the mountains are brought in contact with the people of the Blue Grass. It is a story of a recent decade; a picture of modern Kentucky. Elmer Roberts's "Panama Canal versus Red Socialism in Germany" is an illuminating exposition of what the recent elections in Germany really meant. Judge Grant in "The Convictions of a Grandfather," discusses the modern woman and her plea for suffrage, with sidelights on divorce and the modern husband. Madame Waddington gives a delightful impression of Cadenabbia and Lake Como, with many charming pictures by Peixotto.

There are 273 articles and 301 pictures in the April number of Popular Mechanics. Pages of illustrations show Eugene Coffyn's hydro-aeroplane views of New York harbor; the New York state militia's winter maneuvers; and the men of the New China clearly realize that the permanent prosperity and peace of their country depends in large measure upon the economic welfare of the people.

The present famine is a greater calamity than any that China has faced for scores of years. The estimates of a month ago, according to which 2,500,000 people were facing starvation, are now out of date. Appeals from new districts are coming in almost daily to the office of the Central China famine relief committee. Already in many districts the death rate is high and children are being sold in order to purchase food. In a district personally examined by the writer during the last week in January, fifty-five homes in a number of country villages in North Kiangsu were thoroughly examined. In only one home in eight was there any rice. The food everywhere found in preparation consisted of sweet potato leaves and carrot tops, while one family in three was eating elm bark. In these fifty-five homes four dead were found, and many others who could live only a few days at most. In this district at least two out of three are certain of death unless there is help from outside—and there are still four months before harvest. These conditions are typical of the whole North Kiangsu famine area, where missionaries who for many years have been thoroughly familiar with conditions estimate that 1,000,000 people are facing starvation.

Whenever there is any question as to the reality of famine conditions, test work is offered by the Central China famine relief committee at such a low wage that only those who are in great need will apply. This plan has been used in two places, and the great numbers who have come and remained at work indicate the severity of the conditions. As a general thing there is in China no possibility of question concerning the desperate need of the people in the famine districts.

To the sick and those incapacitated for work, relief is, of course, given outright. The committee aims to conserve the self respect of those able to work by giving help only in return for labor, and at the same time to build dykes and dig ditches which will prevent future famines, provide an object lesson in reclamation to the Chinese land-owners and officials, and give the people some hope of the future. A method which renders the present famine relief committee unique, is the attempt to secure the adoption of a policy of conservation by the Chinese government and thus to become the last foreign famine relief committee in China. C. D. Jameson, an engineer sent out by the American Red Cross society, has reported that the reclamation of the whole famine district in North Kiangsu is possible; and the secretary of the famine relief committee has devoted much effort to the attempt to interest the Chinese government in the immediate relief of famine conditions and the adoption of a comprehensive policy for the future.

From the beginning he has had in this the co-operation of a number of influential Chinese, such as their excellencies Wu Ting Fang, and Chang Chien, minister of agriculture and industry in the cabinet of President Sun Yat Sen. On Jan. 17 the latter communicated officially the intention of the government to do its work along lines of scientific charity advocated by the famine relief committee, and backed this declaration by a grant of $80,000 with which to begin work. On Jan. 25, President Sun Yat Sen in an interview stated to the secretary of the committee that as soon as the republican form of government was firmly established, it would take the necessary steps to prevent the recurrence of those frequent famines.

As this is being written, there is every probability that a few days will see the consummation of a foreign loan of $1,000,000 for famine relief. H. E. Yuan Shi Kai has telegraphed his approval and President Sun Yet Sen has sent a personal representative to express his willingness to co-operate. This means that the New China has taken the first steps toward the assumption of complete responsibility for the relief and prevention of famine conditions.

It must not be thought, however, that this will render help from abroad unnecessary this year. It is conservatively estimated that $5,000,000 will be necessary to deal in any way adequately with this famine. Contributions may be sent to the Red Cross society or to any foreign mission board.

NEW CHINA AND THE FAMINE

New Government to Prevent Famines By Conservation —Over 2,500,000 People Face Starvation— Children Sold to Buy Food.

By EARL H. CRESSY of Shanghai.

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau.)

Two great changes for the better in the attitude in China toward famine conditions have taken place which, in the midst of the rapid progress which China is making, are in danger of being overlooked. The first is the growth of the conviction that the time is past for pouring rice into the rathole of famine, and the other is the action of the new government in undertaking the responsibility for the relief of the present and the prevention of future famines.

Such conditions as those which exist at present have had much to do in bringing about the present revolution, and the men of the New China clearly realize that the permanent prosperity and peace of their country depends in large measure upon the economic welfare of the people.

SOCIETY

MONDAY—Annual meeting of the Twentieth Century club in afternoon at library. Matinee Musicale program at Y. W. C. A. building.

TUESDAY — Annual banquet at Young Women's Christian association in evening. Black Bell minstrel show at Columbia hall repeated by women of Merritt Memorial church.

WEDNESDAY—Round table meeting at Y. W. C. A., 7 o'clock. Company C dance at Armory. Last "Faust" lecture by Rev. George R. Gebauer. Tea at Spalding.

FRIDAY—Temple assembly dancing party at Masonic temple. Senior play at Central high school.

SATURDAY—Carleton College Glee club concert at Pilgrim Congregational church. Senior play repeated at high school. Steinway club dance. Regular meeting of Saturday club. Tea at Spalding.

Several events planned for next week will interest a large number of people. The annual banquet of the Y. W. C. A., which will be held Tuesday evening at the association building, will be perhaps the largest function of the week. An interesting program of toasts will be responded to by well known speakers, Rev. J. C. Faries acting as toastmaster.

The annual meeting of the Twentieth Century club will interest a large number of club women. This meeting will be held on Monday afternoon at the library clubroom. The Matinee Musicale program, which will also be held Monday afternoon, will be especially pleasing, a feature being the cantata, "The Bride of Avontown," under the direction of Mrs. J. N. McKindley with Miss Maude Matteson as soloist.

The younger people and the parents of the high school students are interested in the senior class play, which will be given Friday and Saturday evening at the high school assembly hall.

Rev. George R. Gebauer's "Faust" lecture on Wednesday evening will finish a course of six lectures which he has been giving at the Unitarian church.

THE PAST WEEK.

Above all other events of the last week the concert Tuesday evening by Alessandro Bonci, the great tenor stood out as a delightful musical treat for which music lovers of this city were truly grateful. Delightful in every detail his program was sung with marvelous ease and wonderful interpretation and he graciously responded to insistent encores. Music lovers will be glad to have him return.

Another event of special interest during the week was the tea Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. J. Atwood at which Mrs. Cobb of Brainerd read a masterly paper on Maeterlinck and his works, delighting the members of the Twentieth Century club who were the guests.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the St. Louis County Medical association, composed of the wives of the doctors of the city, met at the home of Mrs. Robert Graham Tuesday afternoon for a social session. Courtenay Dinwiddie, secretary of the Associated Charities, talked to the women on the ways in which the auxiliary might cooperate in their charitable work. "By keeping in touch with the visiting nurse, following up her work with friendly visiting and by independent friendly visiting, your society can do most to help in the charitable work of the city," he said.

Missionary meetings of the Duluth presbytery held Tuesday and Wednesday at the First Presbyterian church held the attention of many women, and interesting talks and transaction of business for the year combined to make a full program.

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Elsie June Prudden to Harry Albert Eaton of Worcester, Mass., which was made during the week, is of interest to a wide circle of people as Miss Prudden is well known and popular throughout the city.

The musicale teas at the Spalding are holding their place in the social life of the city. Miss Alice Mae Brown has been the soloist at the two teas this week.

The masquerade this evening which Prof. Leo is giving for the young people of his Saturday evening class as a close of their second term has been a cause for a good deal of pleasant anticipation on the part of both the young people and their parents. A program of group dancing figures and solo dances has been arranged, and after the unmasking the young people will enjoy a social hour. The hour set for the beginning of the masquerade is 7:30 o'clock.

FIVE GENERATIONS IN ONE FAMILY ARE REPRESENTED IN THIS PICTURE

In Duluth are living representatives of four generations of a family in which five generations are living.

The oldest living representative of this family, is Mrs. John B. Casza of Quebec, Can., who can boast of nearly 100 living descendants. She has two daughters living, twenty-two grand children, fifty-six great grand-children, and two great, great, grand-children.

One of the daughters of this aged Canadian woman is living in Duluth. She is Mrs. Frank Socier, who resides at 3731 West Oneota street, with her daughter, Mrs. J. B. St. Marie.

Mrs. St. Marie's son, Frank, has a baby girl, and there are five generations represented in this line of descent, but the line shown in the picture is another. Mrs. Charles Genia, shown in the picture, is another daughter of Mrs. Socier. She lives at Ludington, Mich., and her daughter is the mother of a baby boy, who is a great, great, grandchild of Mrs. Casza in Quebec.

Frank St. Marie lives at 3932 Halifax street.

While cases in which five generations of one family are living are rare, it is still more seldom that the fifth generation is represented by more than one child, Mrs. Gaszo boasts of two great, great, grandchildren.

DULUTH GIRL RETURNS FROM BERLIN TO RECOVER HEALTH BROKEN DOWN BY OVERSTUDY

ALICE SJOSELIUS.

MISS ALICE SJOSELIUS, who has just returned with her mother, Mrs. P. A. Sjoselius, from Berlin, will spend the spring and summer months at home resting and gaining strength and she will return to Europe in the late summer or fall to resume her studies in music.

Miss Sjoselius, who has always been one of Duluth's favorite singers, has been abroad for a year and a half, spending most of that time in the German capital studying. She expects to go into operatic work and was commencing work on her operas when she was taken severely ill and her mother joined her there. Since that time Miss Sjoselius has not gained strength enough to permit her to continue her studies so she came home for a rest.

She has been studying with Mme. Shoen-Rene during the winter months and the two summers she was gone she spent in Sweden. As soloist in the American church in Berlin, Miss Sjoselius gained experience and she appeared in concert programs in other cities in Germany a few times and was planning to do a good deal of this outside work besides her studying this last winter, but her illness also prevented it.

REPEAT MARRIAGE VOWS MADE FIFTY YEARS AGO

MR. AND MRS. JOHN ARMSTRONG AND LITTLE GRANDSON.

Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong of 3315 Travers street celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Monday evening at their home with a big reception.

In the presence of about fifty guests, fifteen of whom were relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong repeated their marriage vows, Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church officiating. Two of the guests, John Kline and Mrs. William McFarlane, were present at the first wedding. Golden gifts, over $100 in gold coins, and golden colored spring flowers, carried out the idea of the party and during the evening an informal program entertained the guests.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

J. A. Whitmore, international secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and leader of the team of experts on the Men and Religion Forward Movement now in this city, spoke to the students during the chapel period yesterday morning.

Mr. Whitmore is an expert on boys' work and he illustrated his address by recounting several incidents derived from his personal experiences and observations. The speech was greatly enjoyed by the students and was one of the treats of the year.

The high school musical society has charge of the music for the concert to be given tomorrow afternoon at the Masonic temple. The entire program will consist of numbers by the members of the society and will include several of Gilbert and Sullivan's operatic selections. The concert is free to all who care to attend and many of the students are expected to be present.

Miss Alice Scheidecher, the girls' athletic director, has made arrangements for a basket ball game between the Central girls' first team and the team representing Superior normal. The game is scheduled for next Thursday afternoon at the normal gymnasium. The personnel of the Central team is: Lilly Moe and Jessie Brown, forwards; Dorothy Pierce and Harriet Harrison, centers; Alice Holahan and Rona Hanson, guards. Preceding this game the Central second team will take on the seconds of the pedagogue institution in what promises to be a first-class game.

During the chapel period Monday morning the students celebrated the victories over Superior Central by the Duluth first and second teams. Principal Young announced the scores and stated that it was the first time that Superior Central had been defeated on her own floor by a team representing Duluth Central. Thomas Beatty, the football yell-king, led the students in several enthusiastic yells.

The members of the senior class hockey team were awarded jerseys bearing the class numerals, Monday afternoon. The 1912 team won the interclass hockey championship by defeating the junior and sophomore sevens. The following players were presented with the sweaters and insignia: Ward Brown, Earl Harris, Lucius Mullin, Mortimer Stanford, George Stillman, James Wharton, Whitney Wall, Hugo Freimuth, and Alex MacDonald.

The regular meeting and rehearsal of the musical society was held in the assembly hall Tuesday afternoon. All the members of the cast of the opera, "Trial By Jury," were present and under the direction of Prof. A. F. M. Custance the students rehearsed the musical numbers of the opera.

The high school orchestra has been secured to take part in the program given by the Matinee Musicale at the Y. W. C. A. next Tuesday afternoon.

During the teachers' convention held here last week the orchestra played the dance music and gave a program for the teachers. President George E. Vincent of Minnesota university paid a high compliment to the youthful musicians, declaring that the Central orchestra was one of the best high school organizations that he had ever heard.

President Robert Mars of the Athletic association has called a meeting of the board of control of that body for Monday afternoon.

In chapel Wednesday morning, Whitney Wall, Jr., delivered a very enthusiastic speech to the students in an effort to arouse interest in the game with Northland college of Ashland, Thursday evening. This was Mr. Wall's last appearance in behalf of the basket ball team as they have no more home games, and he certainly improved his opportunity, incidentally accomplishing his purpose.

The make-up examination in mediaeval history which was scheduled for this morning was postponed because of the sickness of two prospective entrants.

The tickets for the annual play of the senior class will be put on sale at the school Monday morning. The play, which is the comedy farce, "A Modern Ananias" will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings, March 29 and 30, and those in charge of the production anticipate a heavy advance sale of seats.

The regular monthly business session of the sophomore class was held Wednesday afternoon in the assembly hall. The question of the class hop was brought up for discussion and it was decided to hold the dance open for students of all the classes while the banquet will be for the 1914 members. The date for the affair was set for Saturday evening, April 13, and Pearl McCormack and Dan Brown were chosen to head the committee on arrangements. Those who were appointed to serve on the committee are: Lucille Biebermann; Susie McLean, Ivy McCrea, Beatrice Forsythe, Ruth Allen, William Craig, Harold Bradley, Ted Fleury, William Culkin and Paul Flynn. Miss Wilhelmina Case, the sophomore class adviser, spoke briefly on matters pertaining to the function and urged the students to extend their hearty support and co-operation to the members of the committee in charge.

Plans are being made for the formation of an inter-class roller hockey league. This new sport is rapidly becoming popular with the students and the class teams will be organized some time next week. The aspirants for honors on the teams are practicing every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 5 to 6 o'clock.

Miss Leila Stickles, a member of the senior class, has won the first prize of $10 for the best essay upon the subject: "Why Should a Girl Go to College?" This prize was offered by the Duluth branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae and its affiliated College club to the girl students of the junior and senior classes of the Duluth Central high school, the Irving Industrial school and the normal school. Among the large number submitted Miss Stickles's was the best and she was awarded the prize. Miss Dorothy Bateman, a junior, received honorable mention.

Miss Clara Renz, who was obliged to leave school last fall on account of her ill health, has returned to complete her studies as a senior.

Supt. Gilruth of the schools of Nashwauk and Keewatin, visited the training school Friday morning. He offered a position in the third grade of the Keewatin school to Miss May Ferguson and one in the fourth and fifth grades of one of the Nashwauk schools to Miss Louise Coe. Both positions were accepted.

President Bohannon, with two of his children, George and Betty, were guests on Wednesday evening at the weekly house meeting at Torrance hall. He read an interesting and instructive selection by Charles W. Eliot, on the subject of "Great Riches."

The next spelling examination will be given for seniors on Thursday, March 28. This is the last of the series. An examination for the juniors will be held on Wednesday, April 3.

Miss Burch returned Sunday from St. Paul, where she spent a week with friends.

Edward H. Elwood of Chicago visited the school Monday and again on Tuesday.

The class in school economy which has heretofore been in charge of President Bohannon will meet with Mr. Owens this term. On account of the large number who are taking this course the class has been made into two divisions.

Miss Emanuelson, President Bohannon's secretary, arrived Saturday evening from her home in Rush City.

The day for teacher's conference in the training department has been changed from Tuesday afternoon to Wednesday on account of the rehearsals for the senior play. This change will not affect the kindergarten and primary departments.

Miss Cornish of the faculty spent part of her vacation at her home in Oshkosh. Miss Jack and Miss Post were camping out near Poplar, Wis.

Mr. Van Cleef returned last Thursday from Chicago, where he visited for a week.

"VOTES FOR WOMEN" NOTES

BEATRICE HARRADEN, the celebrated author, has just finished a new novel, "The Trackless Way." Miss Harraden is a devoted suffragist, and has given a great deal of money to the cause, besides her personal service. She has sold suffrage papers on street corners, marched in processions, spoken at meetings, written and produced plays and sold suffrage literature at entertainments. Miss Harraden is small, delicate, soft voiced and extremely shy.

Mrs. L. M. Tague, a judge in Colorado, with a jury of women, will try the case of several men charged with "bootlegging." It is said that much anxiety is felt by the prisoners as to the outcome.

Mrs. Medill McCormick, daughter of the late Mark Hanna, is at the head of a movement in Illinois to secure a minimum wage for working women. Many girls in Chicago, according to Mrs. McCormick, receive but $4.50 a week, whereas, in her opinion, $10.60 should be the lowest living wage.

The countess of Warwick, when interviewed in New York last week, declared that the general demand of women for the ballot was for the right to exercise their God-given impulses, and added: "They are only trying to put themselves on a humane basis."

Mrs. Sampel Walters of Florin, Penn., for more than forty years has been carrying the mails between the postoffice and railroad station, and has never missed a train or a mail. She has had but one vacation in the forty years, when she took a two-day leave of absence.

Mrs. Marie Jenny Howe, an active member of the New York Woman Suffrage party, and wife of Hon. Frederick C. Howe, has established a stock company for the presentation of suffrage plays. There are twenty-five members, and all serve without pay, preferring to devote the money to the cause. The manager, Mrs. Charles Caffin, is the wife of the well known critic.

An Equal Suffrage league has just been formed by the young ladies of Western college, at Oxford, Ohio.

Bemidji Elks' Social.

Bemidji, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Bemidji lodge of Elks were hosts to the public last night at a largely-attended social session, which was one of the very best affairs of the kind ever given in Northern Minnesota. The social session was in charge of a committee composed of R. F. Murphy, J. O. Harris, A. A. Carter and A. G. Rutlege, who prepared a splendid program of vaudeville stunts, interspersed with story-telling and impromptu speeches, with a big lunch served by lodge members.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN WOMEN'S CLUBS AND MUSICAL CIRCLES

FOURTEENTH ANNIVERSARY.

Twentieth Century Club Finishes an Interesting Year's Work.

THE fourteenth annual meeting of the Twentieth Century club will be held in the clubrooms of the library on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at which time officers for the coming year will be elected.

The Twentieth Century club, in rounding out its fourteenth year of activity, is known as the largest woman's club in the city, and one of the largest in the state, it being a departmental club. Almost any woman can find the thing that interests her most in its varied line of study. It is a thoroughly democratic club, good character and intelligence being the only requisites, and many strangers coming to the city have found within its club life friends and an opportunity for usefulness. It was founded by Miss Mary B. Statham at a meeting held in the Spalding hotel in September, 1898, at which time all the other clubs of the city became a part of this large general club.

Mrs. J. H. Crowley, the present president, was chosen chairman of that first meeting and has continued an active worker through all these years.

Mrs. H. C. Marshall was also very actively associated with the club's early work and gave it the best of her ability during her residence in the city.

Among the others early identified with its beginning and growth, and who have since left the city, was Mrs. G. Hood Thompson, who made the motion naming it the Twentieth Century club, also Miss Elizabeth Anderson, who was tireless in her efforts for the upbuilding of the club, and many others who indorsed the early movement are still amongst its most active workers.

First Officers.

At the first election of officers, Mrs. J. D. Morrison was elected president, serving the year 1898; she was followed by Mrs. H. C. Marshall, 1899-1900; Mrs. J. H. Crowley, 1901-1902; Miss Mary Statham, 1903-1904-1905-1906; Mrs. F. L. Barrows, 1907-1908; Mrs. J. D. Morrison, 1909-1910; Mrs. J. H. Crowley, 1911 up to the present time.

In point of service one of the oldest officers is Mrs. C. H. Merritt, who has been recording secretary for the past nine years.

The first home of this club was in the Torrey building, where the members rented rooms until the completion of the library, which has since been the club's home. Many of the best civic improvements have originated in this club, and through its delegates to the Woman's Council, it has received the backing of that stronger body. At present its committee on civics is working on the new curfew ordinance.

The Neighborhood House, a splendid work in the western part of the city, is a product of this club, requiring a great deal of hard and efficient work. The club has brought many of the best lecturers to this city, and always stands ready to do any kind of uplift work.

Nor is the social side neglected. The club year always opens with a large reception; a Founder's day, in honor of Miss Statham, is recognized by the club; a monthly Monday afternoon social is held, besides many programs in both day and evening departments for the entertainment of guests.

This club joined the state federation in 1898.

MATINEE MUSICALE.

High School Orchestra to Play Cantata a Special Feature.

A DELIGHTFUL program has been arranged by Mrs. J. N. McKindley for the regular meeting of the Matinee musicale Monday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. assembly hall. The high school orchestra will appear for the first time before the club and a cantata, "The Rose of Avontown," by Mrs. Beach, will also be a feature of the afternoon. Members of the club under the able direction of Mrs. McKindley will sing this number in which the solo

WILL BE LEADERS.

America and England Rapidly Advancing in Dramatic Work.

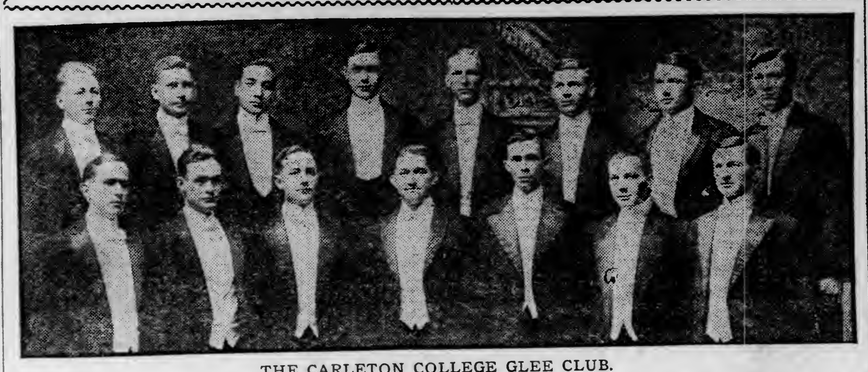
AMERICA and England will be leaders in a decade," said Miss Mary D. McFadden last evening in her talk on "Modern American Plays and Playwrights," at the library club room before an audience of members of the Twentieth Century club and their friends which filled the room. Her talk was clear-cut, concise and interesting.

"America is on the threshold of great achievement in drama," she said, "and the Middle West will be the first part of America to develop strong and characteristic drama because in our Middle West we are thrashing out the problems of the nation. The Far West may be more romantic and the East more psychological, but the Mississippi valley is more dramatic than either."

Miss McFadden gave various illustrations of the way American drama follows the problems of the day; as "The Boss" and "The County Chairman," politics; "The Pit," speculation; "The Melting Pot," immigration; "The Easiest Way," the problem of the underworld; "The Clansman" and "The Nigger," the race problem; "The Witching Hour," telepathy and new thought.

At the close of her talk she was asked to give a short talk on the subject of Woman's suffrage, the subject in which she is so deeply interested, and she put forth arguments in its favor which interested all whether supporters of the cause or not. She gave a vivid presentation of the reasons why a woman must not be an anti-suffragist, even though she is not fully convinced of the importance of suffrage.

SIXTEEN CARLETON COLLEGE STUDENTS WILL BE HEARD IN CONCERT IN DULUTH



THE CARLETON COLLEGE GLEE CLUB.

FOR many years the Carleton College Glee club has made an annual trip during the spring vacation, visiting different parts of Minnesota and adjoining states. Through several years the club consisted of but twelve members; but for the past five seasons it has been enlarged to sixteen, a number considered ideal for the singing of glees. Its reputation has increased as the years have passed, until it is now recognized as the representative club of the Northwest.

This year's club is striving to surpass all previous clubs, in the finish of its singing, and the bit of college life and good cheer, which they will bring with them to every city they visit.

The club will be heard at the Central high school next Friday and Saturday, March 29 and 30.

The offering this year is a three-act comedy by John A. Fraser, entitled "A Modern Ananias." It deals with the matrimonial aspirations of an impecunious young doctor, a widower with a stepdaughter twice his age and almost twice his weight. He appears in Newport when he falls in love with a young woman who is in reality a California heiress. He poses as a Mexican general, and succeeds in interesting the young woman. It develops that she is in reality the bride picked out for him by his eccentric old bachelor uncle, who is also in Newport. The doctor is led on from one fabrication to another, involving exceedingly funny situations, and finally succeeds in marrying off his elephatine step-daughter to his old uncle as a drastic cure for his numerous ailments. The comedy is clean and wholesome throughout, without coarseness or horseplay, and is marred by no mushy sentimentality. The cast is a strong one, and will doubtless keep up the high standard set by previous classes. The production will be, as in Religion Forward Movement meetings at the Y. M. C. A.

CLASS PLAY.

Seniors Will Present "A Modern Ananias" for This Year's Offering.

Meeting for Women.

A BIG mass meeting for the women of the city will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Young Women's Christian association at 3:30 o'clock to which all the women of the city are cordially invited. W. C. Pearce will be the speaker for the afternoon. Mr. Pearce, who is an expert in Bible study, is a member of the team here conducting the Men and

Y. W. C. A. BANQUET.

Annual Function Will Be One of Next Week's Important Events.

SEVERAL hundred guests are expected at the annual banquet of the Young Women's Christian association, which will be one of the chief events of next week. This will be the seventh annual event of this kind and the third to be held in the fine building which is now the home of the association.

REV. J. C. FARIES.

Rev. J. C. Faries has been chosen toastmaster for the evening and an interesting program has been arranged which will be responded to by prominent men known as interesting speakers.

E. M. Morgan will respond to the toast, "The Essentials of True Citizenship;" Elmer F. Blu will have as his subject. "The Wisdom of a Fool," and Watson S. Moore, "What Are We Here For?"

Presiding at the speaker's table will be Mrs. W. C. Agnew, honorary president of the association, and the other hostesses for the evening are:

Mesdames—

J. H. Hearding	W. C. Sherwood
L. W. Kline	J. H. McLean
Edward Florada	A. E. Walker
W. G. Hegardt	J. H. Dight
Ronald M. Hunter	F. L. Cowen
C. E. Spring	W. E. Richardson
H. H. Myers	J. H. Barnes
Millie Bunnell	E. E. Hunner
H. Bevier	F. D. Day
W. C. Ives	Calvin F. How, Sr.

Program Postponed.

The program planned by the Shakespeare department of the Twentieth Century club for Monday evening of next week has been postponed.

Theosophical Society.

A FEW special lectures for the public on the "Philosophy of the Wisdom Religion," explaining some of the essential problems of life, as well as the evolution of universes, have been arranged to be given Friday evenings at 8 o'clock in the Theosophical lodge rooms, No. 25 Winthrop block, commencing March 29, and each successive week. Every one is welcome. Regular inquirer's class, will also be open to the public. It meets every Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

A class for members meets Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, studying the Bible from an esoteric standpoint.

The regular meeting of the Duluth branch Theosophical society will be held Thursday evening. The lesson will be from "The Pedigree of Man," by Annie Besant. All meetings are held at room 28, Winthrop block, corner Fourth avenue west and First street.

Drama Class.

THE regular meeting of the afternoon class in modern drama of the Twentieth Century club will be held at the club room of the library, Tuesday, March 26 at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. W. J. Work will lead the reading of Maeterlinck's "Monna Vanna." Important business in connection with the work of this department for the coming club year will be transacted and all members of the class are urged to be present.

GREATEST OF ALL CONTRALTOS WILL BE HEARD IN DULUTH

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK.

THE greatest of all contraltos, Mme. Schumann-Heink, will be at the Lyceum a week from next Wednesday, when she will give one of her incomparable recitals with Mrs. Katharine Hoffmann at the piano. The sale of seats will open at the Lyceum on Thursday next, and in the meantime orders for seats can be telephoned to Horace W. Reyner and reservations made. This advance subscription will close on Tuesday night and all seats subscribed for will be mailed to subscribers on Wednesday.

Mme. Schumann-Heink's program is one of surpassing beauty. To begin with she will sing four grand arias, one by Max Bruch and three from Saint-Saen's "Samson and Delilah," a group of songs by Liszt and Wagner, then another group by Robert Schumann and closing with an English group—in all, a glorious evening's music.

Schumann-Heink is one of the world's most remarkable women. Wherever she goes, besides attracting musicians, voice students, and those musically inclined, she also attracts folks who have no special interest in music, but who admire her broad, humanitarian spirit. The only difference this season in Schumann-Heink is an added richness to a glorious voice that is growing mellower each year and a more highly perfected art. The sole difference in the audiences that gather to greet this artiste is the display of more affection, a greater appreciation for her marvelous gifts.

Her program for Duluth is:

Aria—"Der Andromache aus Achilleus" ..... Max Bruch
Three arias from the opera "Samson and Delilah" .....Saint-Saens
"Spring Song" .....
"Oh Love of Thy Might" .....
"My Heart at Thy Swet Voice." ...
"Es Muss ein Wunderbares Sein" ...
..... Franz Liszt
"Die Drei Zigeuner" ..... Frank Liszt
"Traume" ..... Richard Wagner
"Spinnerliedchen"..Reimann Collection
Intermission of ten minutes.
Songs from "Dichterliebe" .....
..... Robert Schumann
"Im Wunderschonen Monat Mai"...
"Aus Meinen Thranen Spriessen."...
"Die Rose, die Lillie." .....
"Ich Grolle Nicht." .....
"Ein Jungling Liebt ein Madchen."
"Mother o' Mine".....Charles F. Edson
"When the Roses Bloom" .....
..... Louise Reinchardt
"Kerry Dance" .....Malloy

BABY HAD ECZEMA WHEN 2 WEEKS OLD

Burned and Itched. Had to Keep Hands Covered So Could Not Scratch Face to Pieces. Started with Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In 8 Days Not a Sign of Trouble.

2729 La Salle St., St. Louis, Mo. — "Our baby's trouble began when he was two weeks old It started with little red pimples on his cheek and ear lobe and on his forehead. When the pimples were about twenty-four hours old they would fill with clear liquid like water. Baby would not sleep because it would burn and itch. He would scratch in his sleep. Our family doctor said the child had got eczema. When the baby was two months old, we had to keep his hands covered so that he could not scratch his face to pieces. I was giving up hope that there was any cure for our child.

"One evening my wife saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. When we started with Cuticura Soap and Ointment the sores were one hard crust. We followed the directions and in three days the crusts came off, and in eight days you could not see a sign of any trouble. Now his skin is as soft as velvet and as healthy as can be. We always give him his bath with Cuticura Soap." (Signed) H. W. Bundstein, July 7, 1911.

The regular use of Cuticura Soap, assisted when necessary by Cuticura Ointment, not only preserves, purifies and beautifies the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but tends to prevent clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, inflammation, irritation, redness and roughness, and other unwholesome conditions. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES

"The Saloon and Its Allies" will be the subject of the Christian Endeavor meetings on Sunday, March 24, and as the name implies, these will be temperance meetings. The lesson reference is Hab. ii, 1-17. The following meetings have been reported to the local press committee:

The First Presbyterian C. E. society meets at 6:45 p. m. in the lecture room. Mr. Ned Marvin is leader.

The Second Presbyterian society meeting will be held at 7 p. m. in the church. Mr. McManus will be the leader.

The Westminster Presbyterian society will meet at 6:45 p. m. in the church parlors. John L. Kerr will be in charge of the meeting.

The Union Church society meets in the K. of P. hall at 7 p. m. Mr. Wilber is leader of this week's meeting.

Regular Sunday afternoon services at the County Poor farm will be in charge of the Second Presbyterian society. Any other local Endeavorers or friends of the young people's work will be welcome. Next Sunday, March 31, the Union Church society will be in charge of the service.

The Westminster Presbyterian Christian Endeavorers have welcomed into their work a new and active member by the acquisition of their new pastor, Rev. W. L. Staub, who reached Duluth last week. Rev. Mr. Staub is a comparatively young man and has displayed a measure of hearty interest and sympathy in the young people and their organization, which has made them his staunch adherents. It is expected that under Mr. Staub's direction the Westminster society will flourish and make rapid headway on the lines of efficiency.

Latest reports from the various societies, relative to the approaching rally, show that interest is increasing and indications are that it will be the best of the year. The program will be announced in next week's report. The feature of the evening will be the race for the banner awarded for attendance.

Smithville society is reported to be coming 100 per cent strong to take home the flag, while Duluth Heights, represented by the Highland Presbyterian society, is reported to be coming in strength. The rally, which will be at the Pilgrim Congregational church, will be held Friday evening, March 29. The president of the union urges that Endeavorers from all over the city, whether active members or retired from the fighting line of the society, attend this rally, which will be the last general gathering of Christian Endeavorers in Duluth before the convention sessions in June.

will be held the farewell platform meeting and men from all other meetings are coming to meet the team of expert workers. Women will be seated in the galleries.

Rosaleen O'Connor, a sweet flower from an Irish hillside.....Louise Emerson
Lady Patrice, Rody's sister.....Rose McMahon
Shevaun Jack, a widow..Alice Kennedy
Peasants.....Arthur Schlitz, Earl Birmingham, Howard Kiley, Mae Nolan, Alice Lamb, Elizabeth Deyaney.
Soldiers.....E. Robinson, C. Carroll, J. Flynn.

BUILDING IS MORE ACTIVE

West End Will Witness Many Improvements This Spring.

Contract Let for Eight New Residences in Fairbanks Addition.

Contracts for the building of eight residences in the new Fairbanks addition in the West end have already been let, and work on the excavating of the lots will start as soon as the weather will permit.

H. T. Hughes, one of the men in the stock company, which bought the Fairbanks addition last fall, is in charge of the contracting and he said yesterday the entire tract will be improved this spring.

The property is located between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth avenues west and between Fifth and Seventh streets. It is understood that $20,000 was paid for the tract, which formerly belonged to Former Vice President Fairbanks.

The West end promises to undergo a number of changes during the next few months, on account of the many new buildings that will go up this spring. Building operations are being planned for nearly every block in this end of the city.

The foundation for the new two-story brick building at 1817 West Superior, which is being built by the Minneapolis Brewing company, is nearly finished and work on the superstructure is expected to begin next week. The structure has a frontage of fifty feet and will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000 when finished. The building is expected to be ready for occupancy by June 1.

Workmen ase now excavating for a cellar for a new residence at 2026 West Second street, to be built by David Adams, the veteran West end builder and contractor. The house will cost $4,000 and will be finished by June 1. This is the sixty-third house Mr. Adams has built in Duluth.

The new Woodmen hall at Twenty-first avenue west and First street, on which workmen have been working the entire winter, is expected to be finished by the middle of April. The members of the lodge are now planning on a dedication day the latter part of April, when National Consul A. R. Talbert will be the principal speaker. The building with the new furnishings will cost about $25,000.

During the past two weeks contracts have been let for the erection of two large brick buildings on Superior street. One of these, at 2022 and 2024 West Superior street, is to be built by A. H. Burg & Co., for the Mohaupt Brothers, proprietors of the 5 and 10-cent store at 2020 West Superior street. The building will start as soon as the present structure is removed and it is planned to have the building ready for occupancy by July 1. The other building is to be built on Superior street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues west, next to Emma Johnson's store. P. George Hanson & Son are in charge of the contracting for a Minneapolis man, who recently bought the site from Dr. L. O. Greeley. The building will cost $20,000, work on which will start within a few weeks.

Extensive repairs are to be made on the old Cody block at 1915 West Superior street, by P. George Hanson & Son, who recently purchased the building for several local business men. The entire front of the structure is to be changed and the interior remodeled.

The city council is planning to build a fire hall in the West end this year and the board of fire commissioners is now receiving offers of sites in the vicinity of Thirty-third avenue west and Fourth street. Only one offer was received several weeks ago at the first hearing and a large number are expected at the second meeting, to be held next week. It is planned to build the station with this year's appropriation and in a central location between the No. 2 hall at Eighteenth avenue west and No. 8 on Central avenue and Cody street.

What will probably be the largest building enterprise of the year for the West end is now being planned by the Swanstrom Brothers, who have ordered plans for a three-story brick building on the corner of Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $35,000 and, if present negotiations go through, work on the structure will begin in June. Several local Swedish societies are planning on a Swedish center for all the lodges and societies in Duluth and it is probable that they will choose this for their building. The building will have a frontage of 100 feet on Twenty-first avenue and will run about the same distance on First street.

RELIGIOUS CAMPAIGN IN THE WEST END

Every church in the West end will unite tomorrow evening with the other churches of the city in the final Men and Religion Forward Movement meeting to be held at the First Methodist church, Third avenue west and Third street. The meeting will begin at 9 o'clock and all the experts, who have been speaking here during the past week, will take part in the meeting, and address the men present.

The street railway company will furnish chartered cars for the West end residents who are planning to attend the meeting tomorrow evening. The cars will leave the corner of Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street at 8:45 o'clock.

In connection with the Men and Religion Forward Movement meetings that have been held in the West end during the past week, two extra sessions will be held here tomorrow evening. One of these at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, will be for women only, and the other at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, will be for men.

"Sky Pilot" Frank E. Higgins will be the speaker at the women's meeting and his subject will be "Lumber Camp Work." David G. Latshaw of Dayton, Ohio, one of the experts in the present campaign, will speak at the Mission church for the men. His subject will be "Wilt Thou Be Made Whole."

This evening a meeting will be held at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. David G. Latshaw will address the meeting.

College Chorus Coming.

The Wennerby Male chorus of Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill., will give a sacred concert Friday evening, April 5, at the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Superior street. The members of the chorus are all students at Augustana college and the concert to be given here is part of the annual Easter trip of the chorus.

West End Briefs.

Rev. Edwin Stromberg of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will return tomorrow morning from Crookston, Minn., where he has been conducting mission meetings for the past few days.

Rev. Edward Erickson of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, returned last evening from Ashland, Wis., where he spent the past two weeks conducting mission and revival meetings.

George A. Wilson of Spokane, Wash., left last evening for a short visit at St. Paul, after spending the past week with relatives in the West end.

Misses Ellen and Edith Carlberg of Maynard, Minn., left for their home last evening after visiting with relatives here for the past week.

Rev. C. G. Lagergren, D. D., of Morgan, Park, Ill., will speak at the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Miss Hulda Sandstrom of 612 Piedmont avenue is the guest of relatives in Minneapolis this week.

Regular services will be held in the West end churches tomorrow morning by the respective pastors.

George M. Jensen, proprietor of the West End Advertiser, is remodeling the building and constructing an additional floor to be used by himself and family.

PARTY FOR OLYMPIAD

Nearly 100 West Enders Will Visit Sweden in June.

Twenty-Eight Have Already Signified Intention of Taking Trip.

Swedish residents of the West End are planning to join in a party and take a trip to Stockholm this summer for the fifth Olympiad, to be held there from June 29 to July 2. Those behind the plan will leave Duluth on special coach over the Omaha road, sailing from New York on the Titanic.

Fred W. Erickson of 2029 West Third street is at the head of the plan to have Swedish residents of Duluth and its vicinity visit the old country during the first Olympiad ever held there. The party will leave Duluth May 9 and will leave Stockholm some time in August, after visiting various parts of the country following the Olympic meet. Mr. Erickson said yesterday that he expects about 100 Swedish residents here to join in the club and take the trip this summer. There are twenty-eight in the party already, he said.

Those who have already promised to take the trip are enthusiastic over the plan and it was learned yesterday also that Fred Edlund, leader of the West End Tramp orchestra, will take the trip and possibly arrange for several of his orchestra members to join the club. He already has eight musicians in this end of the city who have suggested their willingness to visit Sweden this summer. This will afford the party amusement during the trip and will advertise Duluth among the passengers of the ship.

The party will first visit Chicago and spend several hours at the stockyards. From there the train will go direct to Buffalo, where the tourists will visit at the Niagara Falls. The members of the party will then have the choice of taking the Titanic, which will leave New York May 13, or the Megantic, which will leave Montreal the same day. It is probable that the entire party will take the Titantic from New York.

Those who have already signified their intention of joining the club from Duluth are as follows: Fred W. Erickson, Fred Edlund, Miss Tillie Erickson, A. F. Tallquist, Mrs. William Oman, Mrs. J. Oman, Mrs. Axel Johnson, Victor Bjorklund, Miss Emma Longdahl, Carl Boreen, Mrs. M. McKey, Miss Esther Wik, Martin Stallhammer, Louis Olson, Axel Johnson of Tower, John Swanson, Andrew Nelson of Kelsey, Mrs. A. Anderson and two sons, August Erickson and brother of St. Hilaire, A. S. Anderson of St. Hilaire and Hans Haselin of Skarnel, Minn.

BASKET BALL PLAYERS COMPETE FOR PENANT.

Members of the Young Men's Sodality of St. Clement's Catholic church, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, have chosen four representatives basket ball teams from among their number to decide upon the championship five of the sodality. The teams will play one another with a regular schedule until May, when the best team will receive a pennant, with the names of the winners inscribed on it, as the first prize. The teams are to be known as the red, white, blue and black quintets.

Christian Citizenship.

At the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, Rev. J. A. McGaughey will preach tomorrow morning on "Christian Citizenship." Sunday school will be held at noon, when W. C. Pearce, one of the Men and Religion Forward Movement experts, will deliver a special address to the members of the Servo Adult Bible class. In the evening those who have been examined for church membership will be publicly received into the church. The Christian Endeavor society will meet at 7:45 o'clock in the evening.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Franklin of 14 North Eighteenth avenue west entertained at a card party last evening in honor of the twelfth anniversary of their wedding day. Mrs. C. T. Johnson and O. W. Perleburg won the prizes at cards and the following guests were entertained during the evening: Messrs. and Mesdames C. T. Johnson, Albert Honeysett, E. G. Moody, O. W. Perleburg, F. Parmerville; Mrs. Elizabeth Roderick; Misses Mabel Johnson, Gertrude Badeaux, Evelyn Perleburg, and the Messrs. William Badeaux, Arthur Johnson, E. Johnson, and Raymond Perleburg.

Club Will Entertain.

The Alpha Omega club of the West end will be entertained at a "stag" party next Friday evening, March 29, at the home of Messrs. Oscar K. and Bror A. Akerstrom, 2316 West Second street. The members of the club will render the program for the evening and the club orchestra will furnish the music.

Annual Mission.

Beginning tomorrow morning at 10:30 a two weeks' mission will be held at the St. Jean Baptiste church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. Father Croisier will be in charge of the services, which will be devoted to women next week and to men the week of March 31. The mission at St. Jean Baptiste church is an annual affair.

ANNUAL WEEK OF SELF DENIAL

The annual Week of Self Denial will be observed by the Salvation Army of Duluth, March 31 to April 7. Special services will be held and exercises of self-denial will be practiced by members of the army corps and urged upon those among whom the army works.

Funds raised during the week will be devoted to the extension of the army's field of endeavor. The army has entered new fields recently and is constantly extending the scope of its influence in the countries where it is already established. It receives support from people of all creeds and its work is non-sectarian in that it gives attention to the needy of all classes.

Adj. Clark, 428 West Fourth street, is in charge of the local corps and will direct the services of the Week of Self Denial. She will also be glad to receive donations to the army.

SCARED BY ARMED MEN.

Passengers on Train See Fight When Police Arrest Pair.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 23.—Two armed men who had terrorized passengers on Burlington train No. 43, from Kansas City, were captured by police officers Berenberg and O'Brien, after a battle in the chair car, as the train pulled into the union depot here last night. They gave their names as Don and John Ray, 22 and 19 years old respectively, and had tickets from Franklin, N. C., to Billings, Mont. Huge revolvers and a quantity of ammunition were taken from them.

Passengers on the train became nervous when the two were discovered examining their weapons just as the train drew in at Armour Junction, twenty-two miles from St. Joseph. The conductor wired the St. Joseph police and an officer boarded each end of the chair car as the train stopped, and suddenly opening the door, stepped in, weapon, in hand. Hand to hand conflicts, in which a few of the less timorous passengers took a hand, followed. The men were finally disarmed and overpowered.

WANT SPECIAL SESSION OF WASHINGTON SOLONS.

Tacoma, Wash., March 23.—Roosevelt workers, representing Roosevelt clubs in seven counties of the state have formed the Roosevelt Progressive League of Washington here to replace the similar organization disbanded in Seattle recently because of conflict of the two factions. It was decided that a demand should be made on Governor Hay for a special session of the legislature to consider preference primaries. State Senator Daniel Landon declared that the state Democratic central committee would join in this move.

CUT STANDARD OIL OFF NEW YORK CURB.

New York, March 23.—The listing committee has decided to discontinue quotations on the curb of all the subsidiary stocks of the Standard Oil company. The reason given is the difficulty in obtaining information as to the earnings, surplus and assets of the thirty-four companies into which the "oil trust" was broken. It is understood that brokers will continue to trade in these stocks because dealings in them have been on a large scale of late.

OFFERS $5,000 REWARD FOR RECOVERY OF SON.

Chicago, March 23.—Theodore K. King, a Chicago alderman, has offered a reward of $5,000 for the recovery of his son, Carson Long, who disappeared from North Yakima, Wash., March 5. The missing man is 25 years old, 6 feet and 2 inches in height; has dark hair and eyes and pale complexion. He accompanied his father to Bogalusa, La., last February, and a few days later returned to North Yakima, via Eau Claire, Wis., where he visited his fiancee, Miss Geraldine Shaw. On March 5, after taking some headache medicine, he left his lodgings, walking toward the Nachez river. He has not been seen by relatives since.

Mr. Long can assign no cause for his son's disappearance. He fears the medicine may have caused a mental aberration.

SAYS COLLEGE STUDENTS' KNOWLEDGE IS LIMITED.

Madison, Wis., March 23.—That the average college student knows next to nothing of common geography and that it is not unusual to find students who do not know that France is a republic; who think Portugal is a city, and cannot tell the difference between latitude and longitude and who know almost nothing about the chief industries of a great country, was the statement of Prof. R. H. Whitbeck in a magazine article just published.

Marquette Bids Opened.

Marquette, Mich., March 23.—United States Customs Collector Charles J. Byrns opened bids for the contract of repairing the federal building. The bids will be sent in to Washington with Mr. Byrns' recommendation, and his department will let the contract. The lowest bid was $1,126.38.

The bidders were: The Decorating company, $1,453.46; Lipsett & Sinclair, $1,500; Charles T. Geill, $1,126.38; Emil Grohne Contracting company of Joliet, Ill., $1,684.

Held For Setting Trap.

Ashland, Wis., March 23.—Andrew Engstrom of Ashland, who was accused of setting out exploding wolfbaits, the explosion of one of them near Madeline Island, causing the injury of George Wright, was bound over to the circuit court by Judge A. D. McDonald.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Would Abolish Senate.

Washington, March 23.—The abolition of the United States senate and the office of vice president with a reduction of the membership of the house to 300, is proposed in a resolution which Representative Lindbergh of Minnesota announced he would introduce next week. Mr. Lindbergh, as one of the advanced Republican progressives, forced the inquiry into the so-called Money trust.

Delays Lorimer Vote.

Absence of Senator Dillingham from the city to attend the funeral of the late Representative Foster of Vermont, will result in a postponement of the vote of the senate special committee on the Lorimer election. The vote was to have been taken Monday. Senator Dillingham is chairman of the committee.

Resolution on Wiley.

"The senate has learned with profound regret of the resignation of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, head of the pure food bureau of the United States government." Such was the first sentence of a resolution introduced by Senator Martine, Democrat, of New Jersey. He asked for immediate consideration, but Senator Gallinger objected and the resolution went over after being read.

Indorse Industrial Bill.

John Mitchell, Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor, and half score of others urged the passage of the Hughes - Borah industrial commission bill before the house committee on labor. The bill would provide a federal commission to study the industrial situation in the United States and other countries and within three years recommend legislation.

Aged Woman's Plea Granted.

Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Labor Cable has authorized the admission at San Francisco of Mary Geckie, 62 years old, who had been ordered deported by an immigration board of special inquiry at Angel Island, Cal. Notwithstanding that she possessed $730, the board was afraid she might become a public charge. The old lady declared she would work until she dropped dead before she would become a burden on the public.

To Prevent Floods.

The inland waterways commission has referred the Pittsburg flood commission's plan for preventing the annual overflows of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers to a commission to be composed of an engineer from the army and another from the geological survey, to report to the next session of congress. The flood commission proposes a system of reservoirs to take up the excess waters at spring and distribute them during the dry season.

Calls Apaches "Good Indians."

The house Indian affairs committee was directed to report within five days on the resolution which calls upon the secretary of war for certain information about the Apache Indians. A proposal has been made to transfer the remnants of Geronimo's band from Fort Sill, Okla., to Arizona.

Takes Rap at Stephenson.

To gain a parliamentary advantage in the final disposition of the Stephenson election case, Senator Jones has introduced a resolution declaring that Mr. Stephenson was "not duly and legally" elected to the senate. This was offered as a substitute for the Heyburn resolution, which declared that Senator Stephenson's election was valid. The advantage is that Senator Jones' substitute must be voted on before the committees resolution. Either resolution requires only a majority vote, though a resolution of expulsion from the senate would necessitate a two-thirds vote.

Chemical Bill Hearings Ended.

The senate finance committee has concluded its hearings on the house chemical tariff revision bill. The committee will meet on Wednesday to frame its adverse report. Hearings on the house free sugar bill will follow.

Tariff Board Lacks Funds.

The tariff board is puzzled as to its future course for the remainder of the current fiscal year. On account of the lack of money, the board probably will confie its work to compiling glossaries of the schedules of the tariff. The proposed steel inquiry has been abandoned. The leather investigation has barely started and the board is undecided whether to pursue it.

Senate Rejects Pension Limit.

By a vote of 19 to 17, the senate decided not to be bound by the rule of the committee on pensions fixing $50 per month as the limit to be granted in private pension bills.

Brandegee to Preside.

By unanimous vote of the senate, Senator Brandegee of Connecticut will preside during the absence of Vice President Sherman next week.

Two Harbors Woman Buried.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Alice Gatrell died at her home on South avenue shortly after midnight Thursday. She had been ill for the past year and her death was the result of a complication of diseases. Mrs. Gatrell was 45 years of age on Feb. 27 last and has resided in this city for the past eleven years. Besides her husband, she leaves one daughter, Miss Blanche. The funeral was held this afternoon from the home and was private.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

How Mrs. Reed of Peoria, Ill., Escaped The Surgeon's Knife.

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. For two years I suffered. The doctor said I had a tumor and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a well and healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sanative Wash relieved me. I am glad to tell anyone what your medicines have done for me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Mrs. Lynch Also Avoided Operation.

Jessup, Pa.—"After the birth of my fourth child, I had severe organic inflammation. I would have such terrible pains that it did not seem as though I could stand it. This kept up for three long months, until two doctors decided that an operation was needed.

"Then one of my friends recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after taking it for two months I was a well woman."—Mrs. JOSEPH A. LYNCH, Jessup, Pa.

Women who suffer from female ills should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one of the most successful remedies the world has ever known, before submitting to a surgical operation.

Develop Your Bust In 15 Days

A Full Firm Bust is Worth More to a Woman Than Beauty

I don't care how thin you are, how old you are, how fallen and flaccid are the lines of your figure or how flat your chest is, I can give you a full, firm, youthful bust quickly, that will be the envy of your fellow-women and will give you the allurements of a perfect womanhood that will be irresistible.

They say there is nothing new under the sun, but I have perfected a new treatment that I want to share with my sisters. What it did for me it can and will do for you, and I now offer it to you.

Others offer to build up your figure with drugs, greasy skin foods, creams, dieting, massage and expensive instruments and devices. I have done away with all these injurious methods and have given a legion of women a luxuriant natural development by a treatment never before offered the public. No massaging, nothing to take, nothing to wear.

I was skinny, scrawny, flat and unattractive to men. Now I claim to be the highest priced artist's model in the United States, and what I did for myself I can do for you.

I don't care what your age may be, I ask only that you be at least sixteen and not an invalid, and I will undertake to develop your bust in two weeks. All I ask is five or ten minutes of your time every day.

Write to Me Today

It will only cost you a penny for a post card and I will mail you complete information about this wonderful treatment in a plain cover so that no one will know your secret.

Don't let a false pride and a silly sense of shame keep you from enjoying to the full the charms you should have to be a perfect specimen of womanhood. Let me help you. Your communication shall be held in absolute confidence and secrecy. Write me today.

SUBSTANTIAL WHEAT BULGE

Primary Receipts Larger Than Last Year, Yet the Markets Advance.

Duluth May Wheat Goes Up Near Close—Trading a Little Heavier.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 23.—Following the lead of Chicago, the wheat markets of North America made strong closes today. The general news of the day was bearish. There were lower quotations from Liverpool and the American primary receipts were larger than they were a year ago. But there happened to be light offerings on the Chicago market, just when many of the shorts were anxious to rush to cover, and a flurry resulting, sending May wheat up a full cent on that market. There were also stronger closes at Duluth, Minneapolis and Winnipeg. Duluth May wheat closed ¾c up.

Duluth cash wheat closed ½c over May. Durum was 1½c up, oats ¾c up, and rye and barley unchanged.

The American primary receipts of wheat, 410,000 bu, were somewhat lower than those of a week ago, 435,000 bu, but much larger than those of a year ago, 350,000 bu.

News from across the ocean was bearish. Liverpool wheat closed ¾d lower on the pressure to sell La Plata cargoes, liberal American shipments, the expectation of large world's shipments and rather heavy profit-taking.

Duluth Flaxseed Higher.

Shortly before the close today there was a bulge in flaxseed. The plt was a scene of unwonted activity. More trades took place in a few minutes than had taken place for the last hour. The March option closed ¾c higher, the May option ⅜c higher and the July option ¼c lower. Some brokers were inclined to attribute the rapid rise to manlupation, for the general trend of the market had been quite bearish, as the demand was poor and foreign quotations were rather bearish. Winnipeg May flax was ½c down at $1.88⅛. Buenos Ayres last night closed at $1.77¾ for the April option, being 1½c lower than on the previous night, and this morning it showed a further decline of 1½c. It seems that some interest is watching the Duluth market and holding up the price merely by "muscle." High-priced flaxseed at Duluth makes a good basis for high-priced sales of linseed oil.

Duluth grain dealers, ever since the report came from Winnipeg, to the effect that the railroads of Western Canada had placed an embargo on shipments of grain to Duluth and Superior elevators, have had a growing conviction that the report was not true. This conviction was confirmed by the commercial and agricultural editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, Miss Cora E. Hind, who was a visitor on the Duluth Board of Trade this morning.

"If there is an embargo," said Miss Hand, "it must have been put on today, for there was none announced up to the time I left Winnipeg last night. I came to Duluth to see if there were any indications here of the probability of such an embargo being laid on these shipments. The report that an embargo had been declared was erroneous."

Duluth grain men are inclined to think that if an embargo should be declared, it would be done by the American rather than the Canadian railroads. Every day that a Canadian railroad car remains in the hands of an American railroad company, it costs the latter something, and unreasonable delay would easily eat up the hauling profits. If cars of Canadian wheat should be rushed across the border faster than the American roads could handle them, it would probably result in a nembargo being declared by the American roads. In doing this, they would have to give the Canadian roads twenty-four hours' notice.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Rumors of Export Business Tend to Make Wheat Strong.

Chicago, March 23.—Rumors of export business tended today to make the wheat market strong. The advance which resulted did not seem to be greatly hindered by statements that whatever amounts were being taken for ocean shipments must be at bargain prices and from discouraged holders. Predictions of cold and snow acted as additional incentives to the bulls. Opening prices were ⅛@¼c lower to ⅛@¾c up. May started at $1.01⅞@1.02¼, varying from ⅛@¼c off to a shade advance, and then rose to $1.02⅝.

There was no interruption to the ascent of the market. Closing figures were steady with May at $1.03⅛@1.03¼, an advance of 1¼c net.

Firm cables and the fact that rough weather was ahead gave a lift to corn. Offerings were slim. May opened 1-16c down to a like amount higher at 71⅝@71¾c, and climbed to 72c.

Throughout the session prices continued firm. The close was at 72c for May, ¼@⅜c above last night.

Oats slanted upward on account of the corn strength. There was a noticeable demand on the part of commission houses. May started unchanged to ⅛c dearer at 53⅜@53½c and seemed inclined to keep within that range.

Feeling in the provision crowd was about evenly divided, with the market just a little easier. Slowness at the yards formed a contrary influence to bullish tone of grain.

Price lower to 5c up, with July delivery $16.75 for pork, $9.72½ for lard and $9.35 for ribs.

Barley—Receipts 24 cars, year ago 306; shipments, 17. Barley steady. Demand keen for all malting grades. Prices unchanged. Closing range, 70c@$1.26.

Cotton Market.

New York, March 23.—Cotton opened firm at an advance of 7@10 points and sold about 10@13 points net higher during the middle of the morning on active covering by sellers of the earlier week who were influenced by the firm showing of the Liverpool cables bullish reports from the domestic dry goods trade and the continued unfavorable weather in the South.

There appeared to be little or no support from the leading bulls but only slight reactions occurred during the early trading as a result of realizing for over the week-end and the official forecast for further rains added to the strength of the market, although the buying was attributed chiefly to shorts.

Futures closed steady; bids: March, 10.38; April, 10.35; May, 10.46; June, 10.50; July, 10.56; August, 10.54; September, 10.56; October, 10.62; November, 10.64; December, 10.68; January, 10.63; February, 10.62.

ADVANCE IN STOCKS

United States Steel Within Fraction of Its Best This Year.

Metal Stocks Uniformly Strong and Trading on Extensive Scale.

New York, March 23.—The metal stocks were the features at the opening of the stock market today. Amalgamated Copper, American Smelting and Tennessee Copper were up from ½ to 1 point with fractional gains in other active issues including United States Steel, Union and Southern Pacific, Rock Island preferred and Lehigh Valley. Among the few fractional declines were Atchison and Missouri Pacific.

Interest continued to converge largely around the metal stocks, American Smelting toppin gits best price of last year on very large dealings with a further gain of over two points.

Coppers were uniformly strong, and the more prominent specialists included American Can preferred, which advanced to 103½. Standard shares, such as the Harrimans and United States Steel, held well, with substantial gains in Rock Island preferred, Great Northern ore certificates and many minor issues. Demand slackened before the end of the first hour, but the undertone remained decidedly strong.

The market closed buoyant. Trading in the last hour was on an extensive scale with further advances throughout the list. Coppers and American Smelting more than held their gain and the movement included a variety of specialties. United States Steel advanced to 69, within a fraction of its best of this year.

The New York stock quotations furnished by Gay & Sturgis, 326 West Superior street.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: The feature of today's market was the heavy arrivals of horses from the logging woods, which are being consigned in by logging concerns who have completed their operations in this state or finished their winter's cut. It has been a good winter in the woods, and most of the horses are in fair flesh and good condition. Dealers and railroad contractors should avail themselves of this opportunity to buy big rugged horses at the low price asked for them. There was a good retail demand for farm horses and matched draft pairs. Shipments being made to numerous Northwestern points. Values, while somewhat firmer, have made no market advance over recent quotations.

Drafters, extra	$190@250
Drafters, choice	120@190
Drafters, common to good	90@120
Farm mares and horses, extra	145@180
Farm mares and horses, choice	115@145

Delivery	120@210
Drivers and saddlers	110@200
Mules, according to size	150@240

London Stocks.

London, March 23.—Americans opened steady. First prices were about unchanged but later a part of the list advanced on light covering. The closing was steady with value ranging from unchanged to ⅜ higher than yesterday's New York closing.

New York Money.

New York, March 23.—Money on call nominal. Time loans, firm; sixty days and ninety days, 3¼@3½; six months, 3¾.

Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4@4½; sterling exchange weak with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.84.25 for sixty days and at $4.87.25 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.83½; Mexican dollars, 47c; government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, steady.

THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

The market is strong on fancy apples. There is a supply on hand, however, which will last quite a while.

No more Cuban tomatoes are being imported, because the Floridas, which are much better, are getting more and more plentiful.

The onion market is very strong. Supplies are running low. Onions are higher now than they have been at any time during the last ten years.

Egg plant is higher, because it is coming in larger sizes. The cost, according to actual quantity of food, is about the same.

Parsnips are a little higher. They are still frozen in the ground in the farms tributary to Duluth and cannot be dug.

North Dakota Supreme Court Ruling on Creation of New Counties.

Settlement of Ward and Mountrail Affairs Is Finally Passed On.

Minot, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under the decision by the supreme court, the settlement between Ward and Mountrail counties, as a result of the creation of Mountrail out of a part of Ward, must be based upon the ruling laid down by District Judge C. F. Templeton.

The decision is to the effect that public roads and bridges are now public improvements in the sense that they can be charged to a county in case of division. The Mountrail forces contended that they had a claim against Ward county on the road question, but the court rules otherwise.

Public Records Public Property.

Ward county also sought to evade the payment of a claim by Mountrail as to public records, but in that instance the Mountrail side is the winner, it being decided that public records are, as a matter of fact, public property, and can be indebted against Ward county in this instance.

Upon the settlement of this case also depended the settlement between Ward and two other counties, Renville and Burke, which formerly were a part of Ward county.

Favor Bond Issue.

Cavalier, N. D., March 23.—Pembina county voted favorably on the question of issuing $100,000 bonds for the construction of a new courthouse here, and as a result the new building will be erected during the coming summer. The fight against the bond issue was made by the opponents of the county division plan, which was only recently settled in favor of Cavalier.

Judge W. J. Kneeshaw of the district court is circulating petitions for nomination and is a candidate for re-election. For some time it was thought that he would be a candidate for the supreme court, but his decision to make another bid for his present position eliminates that possibility.

TWENTY-THREE ARE GIVEN DEGREES

Graduating Exercises of Crookston School of Agriculture Held.

Crookston, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twenty-three members of the senior class of the Crookston school of agriculture Thursday afternoon received their diplomas from State Superintendent of Public Instruction C. G. Schulz as a member of the board of university regents. Supt. C. G. Selvig in a few earnest words impressed upon the class that what they were to be and to do depended less upon what they had already accomplished than upon what they determined to do in the future, how they had determined to live and what service they planned to give their neighbor. Supt. Schulz told them that it was left with the individual for their future development and advancement. He urged them to bring their training to bear upon the problem and cause to be realized the highest possibilities of country life in Northwestern Minnesota. The list of graduates was as follows: Selma Anderson, McIntosh; Bertha C. Bjoin, Crookston; Lulu M. Casselman, Lockhart; Hannah S. Gulseth, Crookston; Dora C. Wurden, Fisher; Helga M. Lindfors, Foston; Minnie E. Malm, Argyle; Emma E. Osterloh, Angus; Grace C. Swanson, Argyle; Carl A. Berg, Fosston; William J. Cumming, Mallory; Edward N. Johnson, Hallock; Lenus M. Landby, Roseau; William L. Lindberg, Beltrami; Alfred J. Nelson, Gark; Hary L. Miller, Andover; Edward C. Osterloh, Angus; Edward W. Rud, Viking; Elmer R. Saterstrom, Lengby; Jay E. Wilder, Crookston and Ole Torvend, Fosston.

Edward Rud gave the class oration on "Better Farming and Better Homes," a very excellent effort, and Dean George F. James, University of Minnesota, delivered the address to the class, impressing upon them that the course of action through life which would give to others the greatest pleasure was the safe rule, as, in its best sense the most pleasant way was the best way.

LA FOLLETTE'S LEAD REDUCED

Badger Senator 9,519 Ahead of Roosevelt in North Dakota Count.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 23.—With returns from 350 of 1,800 precincts of the state lacking, Senator Robert M. La Follette's majority over Theodore Roosevelt in the presidential preferential primary has been cut to 9,519. The returns from the 350 precincts will not be known until the official count is made.

At present the count stands: La Follette, 28,620; Roosevelt, 19,101; Taft, 1,543. Total, 49,264.

SAYS BANKS HOLD TOO MUCH REALTY

Kelsey Chase Directs That They Unload—Account Records to Change.

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.) — Banks in Minnesota are holding too much real estate, according to Kelsey S. Chase, state superintendent, and a call has been issued requesting that they dispose of it. Referring to the statement recently issued from his office, showing condition of banks following the call of Feb. 20, 1912, in his communication to the bankers, said:

"The holding of real estate is too large, it being 8.2 per cent of the entire capital invested in banks. When one thinks that many of the banks have nothing in this account, it is apparent that some of the banks must be loaded up rather heavily. It is the duty of every bank to dispose of any real estate it has as soon as possible after required. Banks are not in business for the purpose of dealing in real estate nor for the purpose of holding real estate indefinitely for a prospective rise in selling price. I hope every bank will bend its energies to the reduction of this item.

"The account identified in the recent statement as 'other resources,' at $111,027.36, is far more than it should be, in fact, except with banks just starting in business, there should be no such account. I am planning on changing the description of this account on the published statement and using words which will tell the depositors that this account represents shortage in earnings which, of course, it does. I am sorry to say that some of the banks habitually draw their earnings down at each dividend period, so that for the first few months of the year they report 'other resources' as part of their assets. Those banks which are doing this will be required to change their methods."

SUGAR THEFT PLEA.

Lambos Admits Guilt, But Is Freed Under Bonds.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Lambos, the Greek charged with extensive sugar thefts in Grand Forks, entered a plea of guilty before Judge Templeton. New features in the case make it appear that Lambos was not the leader of the ring that was engaged in making wholesale raids upon the big sugar stock of Nash Bros. of this city, but that there were others implicated.

In the meantime Lambos will be given his freedom under bond, and if a settlement is made with the company for the sugar thefts, which total several thousand dollars, it is probable that there will be no further criminal prosecution. Criminal conspiracy was the charge to which he made the plea of guilty.

NEAR HINCKLEY FIRE.

Hotel Guest Nearly Fires Hotel With Lighted Cigarette.

Hinckley, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Phoenix hotel probably escaped destruction by fire one night this week when a guest went to sleep in a room with a lighted cigarette in his mouth, which set fire to the bedding and created great excitement. The coughing of the cigarette smoker aroused Marshall Newton, who rushed into the room and found the bedding on fire. Prompt work extinguished the fire and saved the life of the smoker.

L'ANSE WOMAN DIES.

Mrs. Andrew Wahl, Mother of Duluth Man, Is Called.

L'Anse, Mich., March 23.—Mrs. Andrew Wahl a pioneer resident of Baraga county, died Thursday, aged 61. Mrs. Wahl had lived in L'Anse for some twenty years, removing here from Pequaming. The husband and six children, Supt. Wahl of the county infirmary, Houghton; Andrew Jr., of Duluth, Mrs. Anna Bower of Lapeer, Mrs W. T. Menge of L'Anse, Mrs. A. B. Combee of L'Anse and Mrs. Margaret Ganson of L'Anse survive.

MEET NEXT AT MOTT.

Missouri Slope Educators Have Session at Dickinson, N. D.

Dickinson, N. D., March 23.—The third annual meeting of the Missouri Slope Educational association opened here Friday. Addresses were made by R. F. Kennedy of the North Dakota university, and State Supt. of Schools Taylor. Mott was selected as the next meeting place.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Miss Josephine Steake of Hettinger; vice president, Miss Mary Wagner of Adams; secretary, William Scott of Mott. The convention will close this afternoon.

WANTED FOR ROBBERY.

Youth Who Surrendered in Mill City Facing New Charge.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 23.—Eugene Thomas, aged 17, who surrendered to the police here when he heard that he was wanted on the charge of murdering R. N. Winters, a homesteaders near Mora, Minn., also is wanted on another charge, according to Otto Allman, sheriff of Kanabec county, who yesterday took Thomas back with him. According to Allman, Thomas is wanted on the charge of attempted highway robbery.

WANT BOND ELECTION.

Crookston School Board Asked for $200,000 Issue.

Crookston, Minn., March 23.—At a joint meeting of the commercial club directors, the school board and a number of leading citizens, a resolution was unanimously passed asking the school board to call a special election April 10 to vote on $200,000 bonds for the erection of a magnificent new Central school building to be erected at the earliest possible date.

PINE CONES FOR RUSSIA.

Large Shipment Is Sent From Park Rapids.

Park Rapids, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.) — There were shipped from this place this week 24,000 pounds of pine cones. These cones will be used in Russia for the purpose of reforesting the barren woods. Pine cones are an asset that is new to this country. The buyers have been paying $1 per 100 for the cones. They are so abundant that good wages were made by the pickers gathering them.

MARQUETTE THEATER MANAGER DISAPPEARS.

Marquette, Mich., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Ed Harris Thursday took over the management of the Bijou theater. John C. Eby, who has been conducting the playhouse for the past four months, principally on money advanced by Mrs. Harris, failed to make good and Wednesday night took his departure without paying the salary of the vaudeville team which closed its engagement at the house at that time.

EAR TORN OFF BALING HAY, IS SEWED BACK.

Marinette, Wis., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Caught in the gearing of a machine used for baling hay, Hilmar Anderson, a Peshtigo farmer, had his ear torn off, his teeth knocked out and his face severely bruised. He was taken to the Menominee River hospital where his ear was sewed on and his other injuries dressed.

Menominee—The municipal elections in Menominee this year promise to be the most exciting ever held in years. Republicans and Democrats both have full tickets in the field. Mayor Harry T. Emerson, Republican, is opposed for re-election by Frank Kartheiser, Democrat. There will be a spirited race for city treasurer between Edward W. Nowack, Republican, and Charles Guay, Democrat.

Marquette—Mrs. E. M. Thurlby passed away Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Freeman, 215 East Hewitt avenue, after a brief illness. She was 75 years of age. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Hancock—H. W. Hart has tendered his resignation as manager of the Hancock office of the Western Union Telegraph company. He is succeeded by Miss Emily Hackett, who held the office for seventeen years, when she resigned to become chief clerk of the Douglass house. Mr. Hart has been appointed upper peninsula agent of the Bankers' Llef Insurance company and takes hold of his new duties today.

Iron Mountain—The city council has voted to pay the judgment recently secured against the city by Matt Grimrod without further appeal. The amount is $7,000 with interest at 3 per cent since the date judgment was entered. The total cost of this suit to the tax-payers will exceed $9,000, it is stated. Mr. Grimord had his right leg injured at the knee cap by a fall caused by a defective sidewalk at the Harding house corner.

Negaunee—The sinking of a shaft at the Lucky Star property, about a mile east of Negaunee, has been commenced and it will not be long before Negaunee will be able to boast of another shipper on its list of mines. A number of men are at work on the shaft, and houses for their accommodation and a temporary engine house have been erected.

Ishpeming—J. R. Hodgkins, the Ishpeming jobber, who purchased the timber remaining from the Thompson-Jenny operations on the Mulligan last spring, will wind up operations this week, when he will have hauled about 18,000 feet of mixed timber, consisting of pine and oak, to Ishpeming.

Marquette—The carcass of a deer was brought to the county house Thursday, having been shot at Princeton by the order of Game Warden Hough. The animal had been injured in the woods, and limped into town in a dying condition.

Houghton—Richard Trevathen of Houghton has announced himself as a candidate for the office of mine inspector of Houghton on the Republican ticket. Mr. Trevathon has worked in mines for years.

Menominee—John Olson, aged 16, whose head was crushed by a falling tree, near his home at Crivitz, is making a remarkable recovery at the St. Joseph's hospital here.

Negaunee—Word has reached this city that James L. Lee, known as "Casey" to the ball fans is laid up in a hospital at Notre Dame, suffering from a broken jaw. The accident occurred during a practice game in the college gymnasium. Casey was the star outfielder in the Negaunee championship base ball club last year and has signed for the same position this season.

The association is formed for the purpose of handling real estate, merchandising and renting. The capital stock is $10,000 and the directors are C. C. Jacobson, A. R. Taralseth, Robert

REAL ESTATE

BETTER TONE NOTICEABLE IN REAL ESTATE MARKET

Good Inquiry for Acreage and City Property of All Kinds.

Many Applications for Loans —Busy Building Season in Sight.

Realty dealers report a better tone to the local market during the week just closed. Not only is there an apparently well-established movement in mixed city property, but there is also considerable trading in acreage. A number of good sized deals are in the making and some have already been closed.

With spring not far distant the demand for loans has manifested itself. A day does not pass but what there are numerous inquiries and applications made at the various real estate offices. Money seems to be wanted for building purposes and many prospective home-owners have already selected their sites and have made preliminary arrangements.

J. E. Cooley of Cooley & Underhill says with regard to the local situation: "Most of the buying in the residence districts is for actual occupation and not for speculation. The 'own-your-own-home' idea is still the cry. The building loan market is exceptionally good and prospects have not looked better for some time past."

The Ebert, Walker & McKnight company have given options on a tract of 1,420 acres in the central portion of St. Louis county and on 1,544 acres in the eastern part of the county. The former went to prospective purchasers at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and the latter to a real estate operator on the range.

Mr. Ebert, president of the company, is in Cedar Rapids interviewing the representatives of the men who recently took an option on 16,000 acres of St. Louis county land. The firm also reports active inquiry for lands in the Blue River valley in Wisconsin.

The Lakeside Land company this week disposed of two lots on the lower side of Peabody street near Forty-third avenue east to John Laksa and Antti Kari for $300 each. The company also purchased this week a fifty-foot frontage on Cambridge street between Fortieth and Forty-first avenues east from Mary P. Mixer for $1,000.

A. C. Volk & Co. sold five lots at Gary this week. Two went to Eveleth purchasers, two to local people and one to a Stanley (Wis.) man. The firm also reports an active inquiry and has several good deals pending. This week inquiries were received from three people for houses to be built on the monthly installment plan. T. H. Jones, manager of the Duluth office of the company has received information that a general store will soon go in at the new townsite. Lawrence Lowenstein of Menominee, Wis., has closed negotiations with Adams Schubert for the lease of a two-story brick building on Commonwealth avenue and will occupy it in the near future.

The Highland company looks forward to a busy spring. The firm has several sure prospects in sight for the sale of a number of lots. Steps are now being taken at Highland for the construction of a sewer system and a busy building season is looked forward to.

A house and lot on the lower side of Third street between Twelfth and Thirteenth avenues east was sold this week by Arnold Karon to Rose Weinstein for $5,000.

William Lynch this week purchased from Evangeline Noxon a 50-foot frontage on Third street at the southeast corner of Twelfth avenue east and Third. He paid $3,150.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Harrison on Third street between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh avenues east was sold this week to Ray Helm. The deal was made through the office of Richardson, Day & Harrison and the consideration was not given.

A property fronting twenty-five feet on the upper side of Eighth street between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues east was sold for $1,800 this week to Olaf J. Rulmye by Martin West.

A house and lot at the rear of the Jewish synagogue, Third avenue east and Third street, this week passed from the hands of Lima Bertram to Morris Steiner. The consideration was $2,800.

Henry A. Robbins has sold to Anna M. Campbell for $750 a 50-foot frontage on Gilliat street between Forty-third and Forty-fourth avenues east.

Peter W. Nelson has purchased from Howard A. Matthews for $3,000 a 25-foot frontage on the upper side of Third street between Seventh and Eighth avenues west.

For a consideration of $2,000, Herbert T. Lundgren this week purchased from Luther Mendenhall a 200-foot frontage on the upper side of Fourth street between Forty-third and Forty-fourth avenues west.

Harry P. Miller has sold to C. L. Rakowsky a lot fronting 50 feet on Sixth street between Eighteenth and Nineteenth avenues east. The price paid was $1,500.

Henry Bridgeman for $1,050 bought the northeast corner of Ninth street and Tenth avenue east, fronting seventy-five feet on the street, from George G. Barnum.

A house and lot fronting twenty-five feet on the upper side of Pittsburg avenue between Third and Fourth avenues west was this week sold by John P. Larson to Ole Persgard for $2,000.

The real estate transfers of the week were:

NEW RESIDENCE.

Contract Let for H. B. Fryberger Home at Hunter's Park.

Architect W. A. Hunt has let the contract for the construction of the new H. B. Fryberger residence to Otto Johnson. The building will be handsomely constructed of brick and stone and will, when complete, cost about $30,000. It will be built on a beautiful and extensive site at Hunter's Park.

New Double House.

Kelley & Lignell, architects, are preparing plans for a double house of brick and stone construction to be erected at Twenty-third avenue east and First street for F. A. Brewer this spring. The new residence will cost about $15,000.

WOULD PROVIDE SITES FOR WORKING MEN'S HOMES

In the proposal, now being considered by the council, to require the Duluth Street Railway company to build an extension up the hillside at Sixth avenue east to Homewood park and from there branching out in northeasterly and northwesterly directions, Whitney Wall, a local real estate man, sees much to the advantage of the laboring man who is looking for cheap residence property close to the central portion of the city.

Mr. Wall says: "In Duluth, population has followed the street car lines, giving the property owners holding homes and lots on the street car lines a sort of a monopoly. The natural lay of the land in Duluth is of such a character that while good residence property within a mile of the center of the city may be bought cheaply on top of the hill, the working man has preferred to buy out in the suburbs five and six miles from his place of employment, simply because street car facilities have been provided.

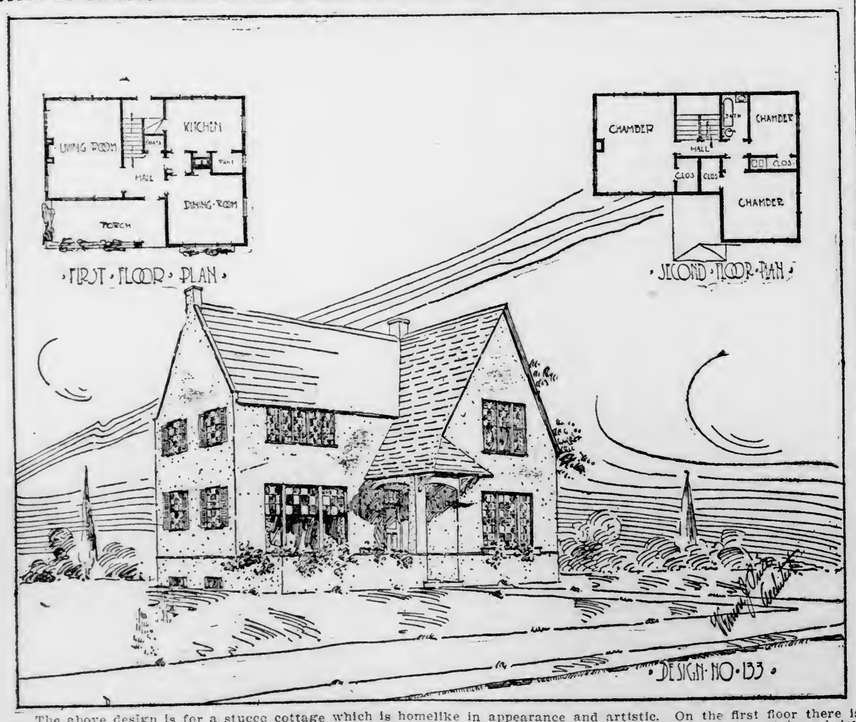
"When the new line is built up the hillside at Sixth or Seventh avenue east up to Homewood addition, it will mean the immediate opening up of a tract of valuable residence property, which can be bought cheaply and which is three or four miles nearer the center of the city than where a majority of the workingmen reside. The proposition has already been put up to the council and the city fathers have requested the company to submit its policy with regard to the proposed extension."

Sixth avenue east has been ordered graded to Tenth street as well as Ninth street from Seventh avenue east to Chester park. The petitions of the property owners for the improvement of the street have been submitted and the contract for the work will be let as soon as the bonds are sold. This procedure is taken in order that the assessments may be made in compliance with the new charter amendments.

Increased traffic in this portion of the city demanded that these streets and avenues be graded, as they are the only streets providing an easy grade and a natural outlet to the surrounding farming country. Sixth and Seventh avenues east are the only avenues having grades which will permit of the building of street car lines up the hill.

The city has already ordered a line to be built from Sixth avenue east and Fourth street north and east to Chester park and Ninth street. It is now proposed to run in addition two branch lines from Seventh avenue east and Eleventh street, which is at Homewood addition, in northeasterly and northwesterly directions. Both branches would tap a farming community which is now but sparsely populated.

HERALD'S POPULAR-PRICED HOMES



The above design is for a stucco cottage which is homelike in appearance and artistic. On the first floor there is a living room, dining room and kitchen. The living room and dining room are well lighted and each contains a brick fireplace of simple design. The kitchen is well arranged and has ample closet space. On the second floor there are three large corner chambers which have large closets. There is also a bathroom which is directly over the plumbing below. The cost of this cottage in Duluth or vicinity would be about $3,000.

THE CITY COUNCIL ORDERS SURVEY FOR STREET RAILWAY EXTENSION!

READ THE CLIPPING BELOW, TAKEN FROM THE HERALD, MARCH 19, 1912

The Western Extension Will Pass Through Homewood Addition!

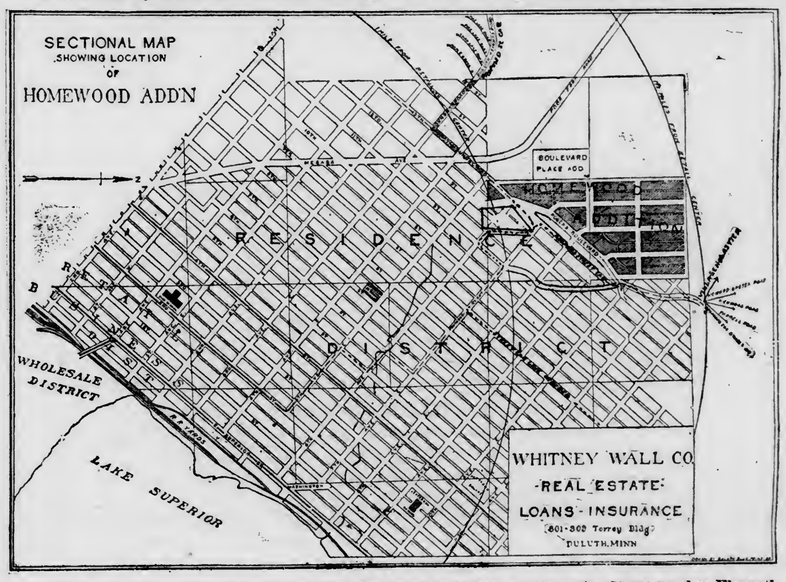
The council passed a resolution declaring that it is time the city and the street railway company reached a definite understanding as to street car extensions. It was pointed out that there is a large tract in the center of the city adjacent to Hunter's Park and Duluth Heights which is without proper street car service and that there are natural routes which should be followed in laying the rails in this territory. The city engineer was directed to make a survey showing the routes and grades for a line starting at Seventh avenue east and Eleventh street and running through Kenwood park, and for another line starting at the same point and running through or adjacent to Kenwood park, through or adjacent to the poor farm and connecting with the street car system at Duluth Heights.

The Eastern Extension Will Just Touch Homewood Addition!

NOTICE THE LOCATION OF

HOMEWOOD ADDITION

Not a Suburb—Only 12 City Blocks From Duluth's Retail Center, the Keystone of Duluth's Greatest Highways Leading North, East & West.



Study the map, notice that the one mile line from Lake Ave. and Superior Street touches Eleventh Ave. East and Superior Street, also passes right through Portland Square on East Fourth Street and touches HOMEWOOD.

What better proof can be given of distance?

All of HOMEWOOD ADDITION is within one and one-half miles or 18 City Blocks of Lake Avenue and Superior street.

The question of Street Car Service is settled as far as HOMEWOOD ADDITION IS CONCERNED, as it is practically certain that cars will be running within 2 or 3 blocks of HOMEWOOD this summer.

Sixth Ave. East and Ninth Street have been ordered graded and work on same will be started as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

The Street Car Company has notified the City Officials that it will lay rails on these streets as soon as the grading is finished.

BUT REMEMBER

The proposed Street Car extension to Kenwood, Villa Scholastica and Duluth Heights means that HOMEWOOD has a location of supremacy as it is located at a point where all wagon roads and surface lines leading into the country branch out east, west and north, or in other words, the location of HOMEWOOD to the surrounding country compares with the location of Third Ave. West and Superior Street to the City generally.

HOMEWOOD WILL BE A TRAFFIC CENTER

Do not wait until the improvements now in progress relative to street grading, transportation, etc., are completed; until prices climb; until the lot you can buy today is selling for 50 per cent or 100 per cent more; make sure of reaping that profit yourself by acting at once.

STREETS GRADED; SIDEWALKS.

Prices Range From $100 to $400 Per Lot.

MEADOWLANDS

THE MECCA FOR THE HOME BUILDER

The summer of 1911 saw 400 acres cleared and plowed and divided into 10-acre truck gardens around the station at Meadowlands. The close of 1911 saw two-thirds of this land in the hands of energetic garden truck raisers. The largest commission house in Duluth has planned to put in a frost-proof assembling warehouse at Meadowlands station as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

The land department of the railroad company has engaged an expert agriculturalist to supervise and assist in all agricultural development work at Meadowlands. Many acres of celery, cabbage, onions and potatoes will be planted at Meadowlands this year.

Several settlers during the summer of 1911 produced vegetables (onions, etc.) to exceed $500 per acre in value. We are going to increase this yield per acre this year. You need not go to the West for irrigated lands to make an income of several thousand dollars per year from a 10-acre tract.

BUY at MEADOWLANDS and become INDEPENDENT.

WAHKON WILL HAVE $30,000 SCHOOL HOUSE.

The commission to draw plans and sketches for an eight-room schoolhouse, costing in the neighborhood of $30,000 and which will be erected this spring at Wahkon, Minn., has been awarded to William J. Sullivan, a local architect.

The plans will not be out for bids until about April 20. Wahkon is a small station on the Soo road, about 100 miles west of Duluth.

Mr. Sullivan is also preparing plans for a $4,000 residence to be erected at Fifty-seventh avenue west and Eighth street for Harry Raymond, a West Duluth grocer. The house will be modern in every particular.

Building a Home.

Clyde Russell, who purchased two lots last fall from the Lakeside Land company at Fifty-fourth avenue east and Glenwood street is having a $4,000 residence built on the property.

New School Building.

Plans for a Catholic parochial school building to be erected at Hibbing are being prepared by D. V. Case & Broomhall, local architects. The building will be a three-story structure, of brick, 65 by 80, and will cost about $15,000.

VETERAN WHOLESALE BUYER HAS RESIGNED.

Justin Zuger has resigned his position as general buyer for Gowan-Peyton-Congdon company and on April 1 will assume the position of treasurer of the John Wahl Candy company, in which he has become financially interested.

Mr. Zuger has been identified with the wholesale business in Duluth since 1884. He was first with the old Stone & Ordean company and remained with them until the Gowan-Peyton-Twohy company was organized, when he went with that house as buyer. He has been in that position since.

OBITUARY

John S. Neill of Helena, Mont., publisher of the Independent, died at Hot Springs, Ark., March 22, of diabetes. He was United States surveyor general of Montana, appointed by President Cleveland, and at one time was a member of the national Democratic committee. The body was sent to Helena. Mr. Neill was a native of St. Paul, Minn., and a graduate of Delaware college and Columbia law school. He removed to Helena in 1883. He was about 50 years old.

Edward B. Kenna, once editor of the Charleston, W. Va., Gazette, a pitcher for the Louisville, Denver and other professional baseball clubs, and known generally as "the poet pitcher," died at Grant, Fla., of heart failure, March 22. He is survived by an uncle, Senator Chilton, and was a son of the late United States Senator John E. Kenna.

Mrs. A. Geyman, wife of Rev. A. Geyman of Minneapolis, is dead. She was well known in religious work in Minnesota. Mrs. Geyman was born in Sauk county, Wisconsin. Before her marriage to Mr. Geyman on April 12, 1885, she taught school for seven or eight years in Wisconsin and South Dakota. Mrs. Geyman is survived by her husband, four daughters and one son.

Dr. Albert Plummer, father of Drs. Henry S. and William A. Plummer, is dead at his home in Rochester, Minn. Dr. Plummer was 72 years old. He served as assistant surgeon in the Tenth New Hampshire regiment during the Civil war, and was a member of the state legislature in 1882-83. He practiced for years at Hamilton, Minn., and later at Racine, Minn. A private train will carry the remains to Racine. He is survived by a wife and two sons.

Frank Vannetta, one of the last of the minstrel men of the old school and for the last few years acharacter actor in vaudeville, is dead in Montreal. He was born in Milwaukee and has one brother living there. Mr. Vannetta worked with Haverly, Barlow, Wilson, Primrose and West and other noted "burnt cork artists."

Max Mandelstamm, the leading Zionist and lay head of the Russian Jews, is dead, aged 72. He was well known in America because of his skill as an occulist. Dr. Mandelstamm joined Irael Zangwill's territorialist movement and was a powerful help to Galveston, Tex., in a Jewish scheme.

TAX CASE IS REOPENED

Street Railway Submits Further Evidence on Value of Superior Property.

At a special term of the district court this morning the tax case brought by the state of Minnesota against the Duluth Street Railway company was reopened before Judge Cant to allow the introduction of new evidence on the part of the traction company.

Herbert Warren, general manager of the company, took the stand this morning and testified regarding certain deeds which the company secured a number of years ago from the Wisconsin Land & River company, and which claimed to convey to the company perpetual easements underlying the plat of the streets of the city of Superior.

Mr. Warren considered the easements worth from $400,000 to $500,000, stating that they covered about a square mile of territory in the first, second, third, fourth and fifth divisions of West Superior. The case was continued by Judge Cant until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in order to allow the further introduction of the deeds in question, which will be offered in proof as a chain of title.

The new testimony is offered by the traction company for the purpose of substantiating its claim that the state and county are wrong in their proportionate division of the Duluth and Superior valuations of the personal property involved in the suit. The state has claimed throughout that 80 per cent of the company's personal property is located in Duluth and 20 per cent in Superior. The company's claim is that only two-thirds is in Superior, and the new evidence is offered in support of its contentions.

The state's attitude toward the new evidence is that the easements are void and do not enter into the issues involved in this case. C. E. Adams, special county consul, appeared for the state and Henry F. Greene was in court for the Duluth Street Railway company.

The case, which has just been reopened, is one in which the state is seeking to enforce the collection of a personal property tax of $44,500 for the year of 1910.

CROOKSTON'S VIKING CHORUS GIVES CONCERT.

Crookston, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Over 1,000 people heard the annual concert of the Viking chorus at the Grand opera house last evening with Henry E. Moran of Minneapolis as soloist. The Viking chorus is the largest musical organization in Northern Minnesota, lead for years by Rev. T. T. Ove and with O. W. Peterson, leader at the present time. The program was the heaviest the chorus has ever attempted and was a pronounced success the encores prolonging the concert till close to midnight. Mr. Moran made a decided hit with the audience.

In China at the present time there are 4,000 Protestant missionaries and 1,400 of the Roman Catholic church.

RATE CASES IMPORTANT

Duluth Interested In Controversy Between Minneapolis and Chicago.

Local Traffic Men Waiting for Copies of Complaint to Intervene.

Two recent developments in regard to grain rates are attracting the attention of members of the Duluth Board of Trade and the Duluth traffic commission.

One is the announced intention of the Western railroads to raise the proportional rate on coarse grains from Minneapolis to Chicago from 7½ to 8¼ cents and on flax from 7½ to 10 cents. The other is the complaint of the Chicago Board of Trade against the proportional rate of 10 cents on wheat, Minneapolis to Chicago, while another through rate is in effect, allowing milling in transit privileges, with Chicago only 7½ cents over Minneapolis.

The proposed advance on the proportional rate on coarse grains and flax will probably be extended to Duluth if it becomes effective. The tariff has not yet been published, but it is understood the railroads intend to put it in effect May 1. The Minneapolis Traffic association has already filed a protest with the Interstate commerce commission. The advance is of far greater importance to Minneapolis than it is to Duluth, as practically the only all-rail carlot business done from Duluth is in flax, while Minneapolis deals extensively in other coarse grains by the all-rail routes. The Duluth people have not yet determined their attitude in the matter and will be unable to do so until the tariff is received and studied.

The Chicago case grows out of a condition exposed in the testimony introduced in Duluth's grain rate case. Upon existing conditions it is claimed Minneapolis millers are able to lay flour down in Chicago at a proportional wheat rate of 7½ cents, whereas the transportation of the wheat would cost 10 cents.

The local rate on wheat, Minneapolis and Duluth to Chicago, is 15 cents. The proportional rate on wheat, Minneapolis and Duluth to Chicago on traffic originating beyond is 10 cents. However, a through rate is in effect from portions of North Dakota, Minnesota and South Dakota to Chicago, which carries milling in transit privileges at Minneapolis, and is 7½ cents over Minneapolis.

It is pointed out that 15,000,000 bushels of Southwestern wheat were brought into Minneapolis last year, carrying transit privileges. That means that 3,000,000 barrels of flour could be forwarded from Minneapolis to Chicago for 7½ cents or less. This flour is said to be in fact, a mixture of Southwestern and Northern wheat. The Northern wheat from the greater portion of the producing territory, if shipped to Chicago, would move on a rate of 10 cents, Minneapolis to Chicago, and Chicago complains against a condition which allows flour to move at 2½ cents or more less than the wheat would move from Minneapolis to Chicago.

As Duluth has no milling in transit privileges, the condition also places Duluth at a disadvantage on certain business with the preference in favor of Minneapolis.

The Duluth traffic commission has not yet received a copy of the Chicago complaint and until that is studied the attitude to be taken is in doubt. Duluth will probably intervene to protect its interests as the case may be of far-reaching importance.

STRUCK BY LOCOMOTIVE

Injured Settler Dies While Being Brought to City on Train.

Peter Dempsey, about 55 years of age, was struck and fatally injured by the northbound Duluth, Missabe & Northern passenger train this morning near Saginaw. He was a settler, residing in that vicinity.

The injured man was hurried to Saginaw and placed on board the inbound Canadian Northern train, which pulled into the union station about 9:30 o'clock this morning. The unfortunate man died while on the train. His body was badly mangled and death was due to shock and loss of blood.

The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of Charles J. Stewart, where it is being held pending funeral arrangements. Dempsey has a number of relatives living near Duluth and he was well known in the city. While in town he made his headquarters at the Palmer house on West First street. He was employed by the Cloquet Tie and Post company and a time check for $520 was found in his pocket.

WINNING ONES NOT YET KNOWN

North Dakota Democrats Not Certain About Baltimore Delegates.

Fargo, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Great uncertainty has prevailed regarding the ten successful delegates to the national Democratic convention in Baltimore. There were seventeen candidates, and returns have been so tardy it was not known who had won. Up to date it looks like Purcell, Porterfield, Doyle, Nelson, Kelly, Majors, Joy, Reed, Lish and Mansfield have won, though the two latter may be displaced by Conmey and Boeng on the complete returns. All seventeen man are pledged first to vote for John Burke, then to go to Woodrow Wilson.

Horses Have Spinal Meningitis

Shakopee, Minn., March 23.—Heavy losses are being sustained by farmers of the community because of an epidemic of spinal meningitis among horses. One farmer has lost seven animals valued at $1,000 and another four valued at $800.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

NO FRAUD IN THE TRANSFER

Bitterly Fought Legal Battle Decided in Favor of Defendants.

Thomas Merritt and D. L. Fairchild Given Title to Ore Land.

Thomas A. Merritt and D. L. Fairchild are the owners in fee simple of an undivided three-fourths interest in the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 12, 58-19, and the restraining order issued Aug. 28, 1907, enjoining them from disposing of their interest is dissolved by an order handed down by Judge Page Morris in federal court today.

The order is the final decision of the court in the action brought by Hansen E. Smith and James P. Smith and creditors of the Merchants' bank against Thomas A. Merritt, David L. Fairchild, H. H. Phelps and Walter A. Farrows, Jr., to recover title to the land in question. The court's order affirms the findings of W. D. Edson, special master in chancery, that there was no fraud in the transfer of the land by L. A. Barnes, trustee of the bank's estate, and that all parties concerned acted in good faith.

The land came to the insolvent bank's estate through a judgment against the Northern Securities company and foreclosed by the trustee. A one-half interest was sold to Mr. Merritt and Mr. Fairchild for $600 and other judgments were taken up to clear the title. Another one-quarter interest was sold to them for $250.

When the action was brought to recover title on the ground of fraud the matter was referred to Mr. Edson as a special master in chancery. In his findings he determined that the transfer was made in good faith and that in 1905 the land was not worth the speculative values afterward placed on it.

The land is locatcd near the Kinney mine and is believed to be valuable for iron ore deposits.

TUGMEN'S WAGES NOT YET FIXED

Agreement Is Likely to Be Reached at Next Meeting.

Capt. George H. Vroman, manager of the Union Towing and Wrecking company, a branch of the Great Lakes Towing company, who has been in Cleveland, O., in conference with members of the Lake and the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association, arrived home yesterday.

The scale of wages and other details of the working conditions have not been definitely decided upon as yet, there having been several slight differences. The conference adjourned until some future time. The differences are slight and an agreement for 1912 will undoubtedly be reached within a few days.

Capt. Martin Cole, president of the L. T. P. A., has not as yet returned to Duluth. Capt. Green, the representative of the local union, arrived home several days ago.

PROVES RIGHT TO LIVE HERE

Woman Held for Deportation Is Wife of American Citizen.

Rose Williams has established her identity as Mrs. Harry Earls and was today freed from the county jail, where she has been staying the last two weeks while Brown McDonald, immigration inspector, investigated her case.

It was thought that she came to this country from Canada in violation of the law, and Mr. McDonald wanted to investigate thoroughly before she established her residence in this city.

The Williams woman came to this country about six years ago and married a man by the name of Harry Earls, who was a resident of the United States.

Some time later she got into Canada by telling the Canadian officials that she was a Canadian and was on her way home for a visit. On coming back to the United States she said that she was an American and on her way home to visit. It was thought that one story was wrong and she was held. It was shown that she is the wife of an American citizen and she was today released from jail.

She came to this country when but a child of 16 years. She was found and arrested at Nellie Blaine's resort on St. Croix avenue.

HAMMOND IS NOT UP FOR GOVERNOR

He Will Seek Renomination for Congress in September, He Says.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, March 23. — Representative W. S. Hammond of the Second Minnesota congressional district will discourage any movement looking to his running for the governorship on the Democratic ticket this year. Today, when asked about his attitude, he said:

"I am not a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in any sense. I intend, however, to become a candidate for re-election to congress at the September primaries."

DAILY NEW YORK-EUROPE SERVICE IS PROPOSED.

London, March 23.—A daily service each way between New York and Europe is being discussed in shipping circles as a possible outcome of the efforts of Albert Ballin, director general of the Hamburg-American line, to establish a community of interests between that line and the White Star, Cunard, North German-Lloyd and French lines.

In spite of its great oil fields, the United States imports refined petroleum, though in limited quantities.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, THAT at a meeting of the stockholders of the Federal Steamship Company, a corporation created and organized under the laws of the State of West Virginia, held at Room 1732, H. W. Oliver Building, Pittsburgh, Pa., on the 27th day of February, 1912, the following resolutions were adopted:

"RESOLVED, First, That Federal Steamship Company, a corporation created and organized under the laws of the State of West Virginia, does hereby discontinue business as a corporation, and surrenders to said state its charter and corporate franchises. C. W. Elphicke and N. F. Leopold are hereby appointed Trustees, and will proceed to convert the property, choses in action and all assets of this corporation, into cash, except the stock and bonds of Republic Transportation Company owned by this Company, and pay off and discharge all the debts, liabilities and obligations of this Company; and after fully discharging all such debts, liabilities and obligations, divide the remainder, both cash and said bonds and stock of Republic Transportation Company, among the stockholders, pro rata with their several holdings of stock, but no such payment or distribution of securities shall be made to any stockholder until after the publication of the notice as hereinafter provided."

"RESOLVED, Second, That the President of this corporation cause notice of the adoption of the foregoing resolution to be published in some newspaper of general circulation, published near the principal office or place of business of this corporation in Duluth, Minnesota, once a week for four successive weeks; and that he certify this resolution to the Secretary of State of the State of West Virginia, and deliver to him a certificate showing the publication of said notice, as provided by law."

Given under my hand this 27th day of February, 1912.

C. W. ELPHICKE,
President of said Corporation.

FASHION EDITION

PARIS and AMERICAN FASHIONS

Modish Offerings for Spring in Suits and Gowns

By Rene Mansfield.

(Copyright, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

WHETHER the present rational styles, with their dull, delightful colorings, their graceful, sweeping lines and their general simplicity of design, are due to a widespread improvement of feminine taste that rejects flat-footedly the ugly and bizarre, or whether they are merely the chance evolution of fashions past and gone, is a problem not simple to solve. Certain it is that the makers of modes, in a great to-do at the tenacity with which woman has clung, for several seasons past, to certain well-defined tenets of style, have made violent efforts to interest her in hoops and harem skirts and other startling innovations. But quite to no avail—she has turned her svelte back on them, and turned down firmly her pretty, polished thumbs. However it be, not in many years have the styles been so practical and so reasonable and withal so universally becoming and beautiful. The trig, snug, simple tailored suit for street wear—the soft, clinging, low-toned afternoon gowns—the filmy evening toilettes with their Oriental motifs—it is small wonder women should be loath to give these up.

There have been no really radical changes in the general contour of either suits or gowns. They are cut on close, figure-defining lines, although the skirts are not extreme, and in the dressier gowns are given a certain appearance of fullness by the fulling of the overskirt about the waist, the bottom, however, being cut very scant.

The side fastening and the side trimming predominate, the suit-coats rarely having more than two or three large buttons to fasten them. Gun metal, horn and bone buttons are used a great deal. An effective touch is often added to a suit by binding the button holes with the material with which the suit is trimmed.

Rolling revers and rounded sailor-collar effects have been developed in various new forms, and, quite a bit longer than those seen in the winter, will be a marked feature of the spring suits. In length the suit coats vary from twenty-four to twenty-eight inches, although in the semi-tailored and more elaborate silk suits twenty inches is considered good length.

Many of the models are of the smart belted designs, with the waist line indicated a little above the normal. Of this style was a most attractive blue serge suit, in the cutaway effect, which is much favored this season. The back of the coat was drawn into a belt, just above the waist line, and all fullness and clumsiness was eliminated by the adroit cutting of the back and side seams. All the stitching on the suit was done in plum-color, and into the large revers, which rolled into a side fastening of two big buttons was a triangular inset of plum-color and black satin.

The simple street suit invariably has the long sleeve, but the silk models or the elaborate three-piece suits have often the seven-eighths sleeve. These latter have a tendency toward flowing lines and draped effects.

The skirts are still quite narrow, most of them having either inserted panels, used to obtain the slashed effects so well in favor, or else they have overlapping panels at front and back, which are fastened down only as far as the hips. The cross-over style is well liked when the coat has the side fastening, and with button trimming and the slightly raised waist line these are very neat.

The wide-wale serges are largely employed for the simple street suit, although mohair, worsteds and spring weight ratines are very modish. It is taffeta silk, however, that is flashing its changeable gleams from the pinnacle of popularity. It will be used largely, not only for gowns and trimmings, but for the suits for summer wear.

When serge is among the fashionable fabrics one may depend upon various shades of blue being to the fore. Other spring colors you may expect to see in the Easter promenade are lovely soft tans and light browns, stone and taupe grays, plums, bordeaux, whites and greens. It is tan, perhaps, and shades of champagne that will predominate.

The vogue for contrasting materials has been carried over to the spring offerings. One pretty model of tan taffeta had the large revers made of a striped brown and tan satin. The cuffs were of the same, and the skirt, which was in the tunic effect, had the under portion of the striped material. Lace will be used on many of the cloth suits, in the way of collars and cuffs, and will be used more lavishly on the silk models.

Separate coats retain most of the features of the winter styles—the wide, one-side lap, the straight, narrow cut, the big revers. The sleeves are somewhat roomier, and the large armhole is especially to be sought by the woman who is given to fichu effects in her gowns. Double faced materials are favored, and on many of the coats are silk or satin collars and cuffs in contrasting color. For a little later wear linen or pique collars and cuffs will be seen with the long coats. Although the utility coats are all full length, one may find an occasional coat intended for dressy wear that is three-quarters or seven-eighths length. These are usually in the cutaway effects and developed in silk or satin.

The taffeta gown is without doubt the leading feature of the spring season. After the gleaming satins the all-over embroidery combines well with any of the favored laces. Embroidered flouncing will be in great demand, owing to the vogue veiled mistiness of past seasons it comes back to us with a quaintly demure charm that is emphasized by the present styles in which it is made up. Flat, narrow ruffles are seen again about the bottom of some of these gowns. A little afternoon frock of blue and green changeable taffeta was happily trimmed as to the skirt, with three rows or bands of plaited silk. The bottom of these bands was finished with a cord of the silk, and the top with a tiny upstanding frill. The waist had a fichu of the silk trimmed with several rows of cording, which was brought into a huge sliver buckle just above the waist line. About the bottom of the slightly raised belt was another tiny frill that gave the effect of an outside finish, to the waist that is so well liked just now. Models which are really but a variation of the Russian blouse carry this idea to its extreme, the extension below the belt sometimes taking on the form of a short tunic.

Plaid silk was used for the waist and the upper half of the skirt of a simple little frock in greens and blues. The plaid was cut in somewhat of an apron shape on the skirt, reminding one of the Moyen Age effects. Still another gown of blue satin had the upper part of the waist of blue and white striped satin, with a short, tight tunic, which resembled more a peplum, reaching only to the hips.

A fichu of soft white tulle, double frilled, lightened up a black taffeta gown which was trimmed to the knee with scalloped silk ruffles. Tiny silk taffeta bows were set in a line down the middle of the front, and trimmed the sleeves. Short rippling basques finished the fitted corsage.

The lingerie gowns are more attractive than ever this year, it seems. Many of them are solid lace and embroidery, and so fragile and filmy in appearance that one can not possibly associate them with the wash-tub. Venise laces are used for these, to a great extent, and machine-made filets are popular, while the eyelet embroidery of lingerie gowns made with two or three flounces to form the skirt. These flounces are really appliqued one to the other so that the close lines are maintained. Surplices or fichu waitsts are most often seen with skirts of this description.

Several new features were noted on the imported lingerie gowns in an exclusive little shop this spring. All of them had a touch of color, usually at the belt. One of them had a cerise velvet girdle, with an odd old gold ornament fastening it under the arm, a bit toward the back; another had not only a plum-color velvet girdle, but the panels of lace that hung at the front and back of the skirt were weighted with three large velvet buttons, on either side. A striking idea on one stunning model was the two-inch strip of black satin that extended from under the arm to the bottom of the hem and was laced across, for the entire length, with white cord.

Very frilly and chic was the effect of plaited white net ruffles which had a narrow, black border, about the bottom of an elaborate lace frock. Ruffles of the same completed the sleeves and gave a most individual touch to the whole garment.

A pretty touch was given to a simple little gown of fine dark blue lace by the girdle of fine dark blue beads that had been twisted into a cord, and was tied loosely about the waist.

For the bona fide tub dress there is a great variety of fabrics and styles. Crashes, ramie linens and welt piques are in greatest demand for the tailored effects, while cotton voiles, both striped and with the printed borders, are being made up into dainty little afternoon frocks. The Russian blouse bids fair to rival the popular sailor collar styles in the little morning dresses. The sole trimming of some of these frocks consists of the large pearl buttons that fasten the overlapping panel of the skirt, and the smart four-in-hand tie. A neat model of white Bedford cord was thus trimmed. The sailor collar and wide turn-back cuffs were finished by embroidered scallops.

PANNIER DRESS MAY BE REVIVED

With It Would Come Beauty Patches and Powdered Hair.

The reappearance of powder and patches—the charming mode of bygone centuries—is promised with the revival of pannier dresses, which are shortly to be seen in London.

The pannier dress, gracefully looped towards the waist after the vogue dating from the days of Louix XVI, is to make its debut a few days hence on the Paris stage, and afterwards in England.

With the revival of the pannier dress there will, it is asserted, come the old-fashioned patch, and in rare cases, perhaps powdered hair.

The patch, a small black, five-pointed star or crescent was formerly worn by famous beauties either at a corner of the mouth or on the cheek bone to give piquancy to the complexion.

Grace From Old Pictures.

French modistes are eagerly discussing the prospects of the new gown, which, to Englishwomen, will be even more novel than the introduction of the ankle skirt.

English dressmakers, who view the revival with pleasure, will be putting back the clock to the days of Queen Anne when they make these costumes.

Those delightful old-fashioned engravings showing eighteenth century ladies going to a ball or dancing in stately minuet will, if the fashion becomes popular, be seen in real life in the modern ballroom or theater.

Mme. Blanquart, dressmaker of South Molton street, west, gives her views on the subject:

"Undoubtedly the pannier dress will be popular in England," she said. "If the 'bunches' are not too big, is not the dress charming?

"English women, I am sure, will be charmed with the costume. With it they will wear the dear little patches —the back half-moons and stars—on their faces. Powdered hair? Ah, I cannot say; but some ladies will no doubt try it.

For Slim Beauties.

"The pannier dress should not be made too full, the 'bunches' not too prominent and the whole effect of the skirt should be slim and graceful."

A Hanover square modiste said she was delighted with the revival. Undoubtedly it would prove a more costly dress than the tubular gown, but it would be infinitely more graceful.

"Of course, until one sees the actual Paris models—and we are longing to see them—one cannot say what the pannier will have with it besides the 'bunches' at the hips.

"It may include a 'waist below the knee,' the skirt flowing down to the waist in bold semicircular curve.

"On the other hand, the skirt from the 'bunches' downward may have a crinoline-fullness."

"The mode of the pannier dress," a fashion expert said, "was probably evolved from the pair of baskets called panniers.

"In the same way the skirts of womenfolk were distended by two baskets, to show off the drapery and design of the dress at the hips.

"These baskets consisted of a light framework of bone or wire, which was suspended from the waist. Over these baskets fell the draperies of the skirt."

Complete Spring Opening Exhibit

Monday, March Twenty-fourth to Twenty-seventh.

The women of Duluth and vicinity are earnestly invited to be present at our formal exhibit, affording a first viewing of the Authoritative Fashions for the Spring and Summer as applied to Outer Garments, Millinery, etc.

A brilliant assemblage of fashion's most pleasing modes, as interpreted by foremost style creators of Europe and America.

One visit may not suffice—come again and yet again.

Let Your Home Harmonize With the Season

Make It Radiate the Beauty and Freshness of Spring.

CLEAR away the winter's accumulation of dust and dirt and follow the example of nature in donning a clean, new dress.

This task, thanks to the improvement of modern times, is nothing like the "spring cleaning" days your mother used to have when the whole house was topsy-turvey for a week or more, and the whole family, as well as the servants, "broken down" for a month or more. Take the item of sweeping alone—just think of the backaches, the time and the trouble saved by the use of a vacuum cleaner. The ready-mixed paint is a boon to every household. Wall Papers are sold here in the widest variety of patterns, and at the lowest prices. Better grade brooms are to be had. Read carefully every announcement on this page.

The CHIC CHAPEAUX for EARLY SPRING

By Rene Mansfield.
(Copyright, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

THE day seems to have passed praise be, when, if we were short and dumpy, or if we were long and lean we were obliged to search far and wide for suitable headgear, because all the hats were flat and squatty or else all the hats were steep and towering. Though our gowns and suits must bear a modish family resemblance still, the latitude permitted to us in millinery this season is comforting and shoe-saving.

There are just two predominating characteristics of the spring hats—a crown size large enough to allow the hat to rest well down on the head, and the upward tilt of the brimmed shapes, which may have dashing dents to the side or back, or show the brim only gently rolled at the edge. For wear with the spring suit or even with the dressier costume, the small or the medium sized hat will undoubtedly be preferred, although later on the lingerie gowns will bring out the picturesque large hats which are always in good taste for dressy occasions.

The woman who is loth to give up the snug little bonnet shapes she found so becoming during the winter, will be delighted with the spring models which retain the close lines, but are developed in suitable materials. A distinct novelty is the small straw or taffeta hat made up quite without any wiring. The advantages of a hat of this sort, when traveling, are obvious. One pretty model had the crown and upper rim made from dark blue, finely woven hemp, while the under part of the brim was of more coarsely woven hemp. The brim was turned up squarely across the front, and the only trimming was several red velvet roses which had been arranged on a wire to form a sort of aigrette that tilted backward from the front of the crown. Flowers are used in this manner to a great extent, by the way, to simulate aigrettes, and quills, thus giving height to the trimming. While the larger flowers appear to be more popular, the small flowers are often combined with them in most effective ways. A fairly large black chip hat had as its sole trimming a wide quill-like ornament made of dull pink roses edged with lilies-of-the-valley. This curved over the crown from front to back with a graceful sweep.

Among the small hats the Oriental turban, made up from the soft taffetas that promise to be the vogue in millinery as well as in costuming, will be worn for early spring. Wings and quills and the perky little "stick-up" feathered ornaments will continue in use. For a little later wear turbans of maline with little wired upstanding sprays of flowers will be good. A delectable affair of pale pink maline had a sort of cockade at one side of pink rosebuds and violets.

The Tam O'Shanter crown hat will take on a new lease of life and in taffeta or any of the fine straws may be expected to perch itself rakishly on many a pretty head. Classically known as the Rembrandt, this style of hat is particularly adapted to the use of the taffeta silks, in plain and changeable effects. A model that promises to be very popular has the rolling brim of changeable taffeta, as well as the full draped crown which falls over it. The upstanding Numidian feathers of the same shade as the silk give good style to it. Very attractive is this Rembrandt type when carried out in straw, with the entire top of the big, flat crown made of small flowers.

The medium sized hats, with their rolling or turned-up brims and, for the most part, flat, wide crowns, may be simply trimmed with wings or quills or draped smartly with the new silks or ribbons. The stiff little tailored bows seen on so many of the winter felts have been elaborated into various odd rosettes and cockades formed of contrasting colors in satin or taffeta ribbons, with sometimes a touch of velvet ribbon introduced. A modish blue straw which was faced with blue velvet had for its trimming an ornament of narrow plaited ribbon, in scarlet, blue and black, which was shaped somewhat like the feathered pieces that were so well liked, and placed on the crown of the hat near the brim, as the feather would be used.

Although the low, flat crowns have the preference not a few extremely good style models have the high, beehive crown, combined with an upturning brim. Many of these are trimmed with flat bows, of the pinwheel variety, which are placed quite high on the crown. To wear with her new spring suit of tan, a petite brunette selected one of these high-crown models the other day, which was faced with prune-colored velvet, and had two bows on either side of the crown, one of a peculiar shade of cerise velvet, the other of prune-color taffeta. You may be sure the effect, upon her, was striking.

This combination of plum color, or purple with shades of red, is greatly favored this spring. A toque of Burgundy red straw and velvet, for instance, was trimmed with a large spray of dark purple violets, to one side, in the center of which nestle three red velvet roses. Black and white will hold its own, and although the darker shades of blue and purple and red will prevail, a few dashing models are shown in scarlet and emerald green. A three-cornered shape—the tricorne is especially modish just now—of white tagal braid was faced with emerald green taffeta and trimmed with taffeta wired to simulate mercury wings, with a touch of black velvet at the base of each.

The moro elaborate headgear is largely of the broad-brimmed, picturesque variety. The lace hat promises to be a prominent feature of midsummer millinery. Chantilly and maline laces lend themselves well to the all-lace hat, and for evening wear with a bunch of pink rosebuds and blue bells crushed down at one side of the crown.

There is noticeably quite a tendency to fashion flowers for hat trimming, from various fabrics suitable for that purpose. We had, in the winter, the quaint little wreaths and bunches of ribbon roses, with their leaves. One sees these frequently now, but more often the larger flowers made from chiffon or silk. Dainty enough for the trousseau of a bride was one hat trimmed with dahlias cleverly contrived in white chiffon, with the leaves made of wired satin, veiled with the chiffon. The hat itself was a leghorn over which the white chiffon had been shirred, and the whole effect was charmingly youthful and simple.

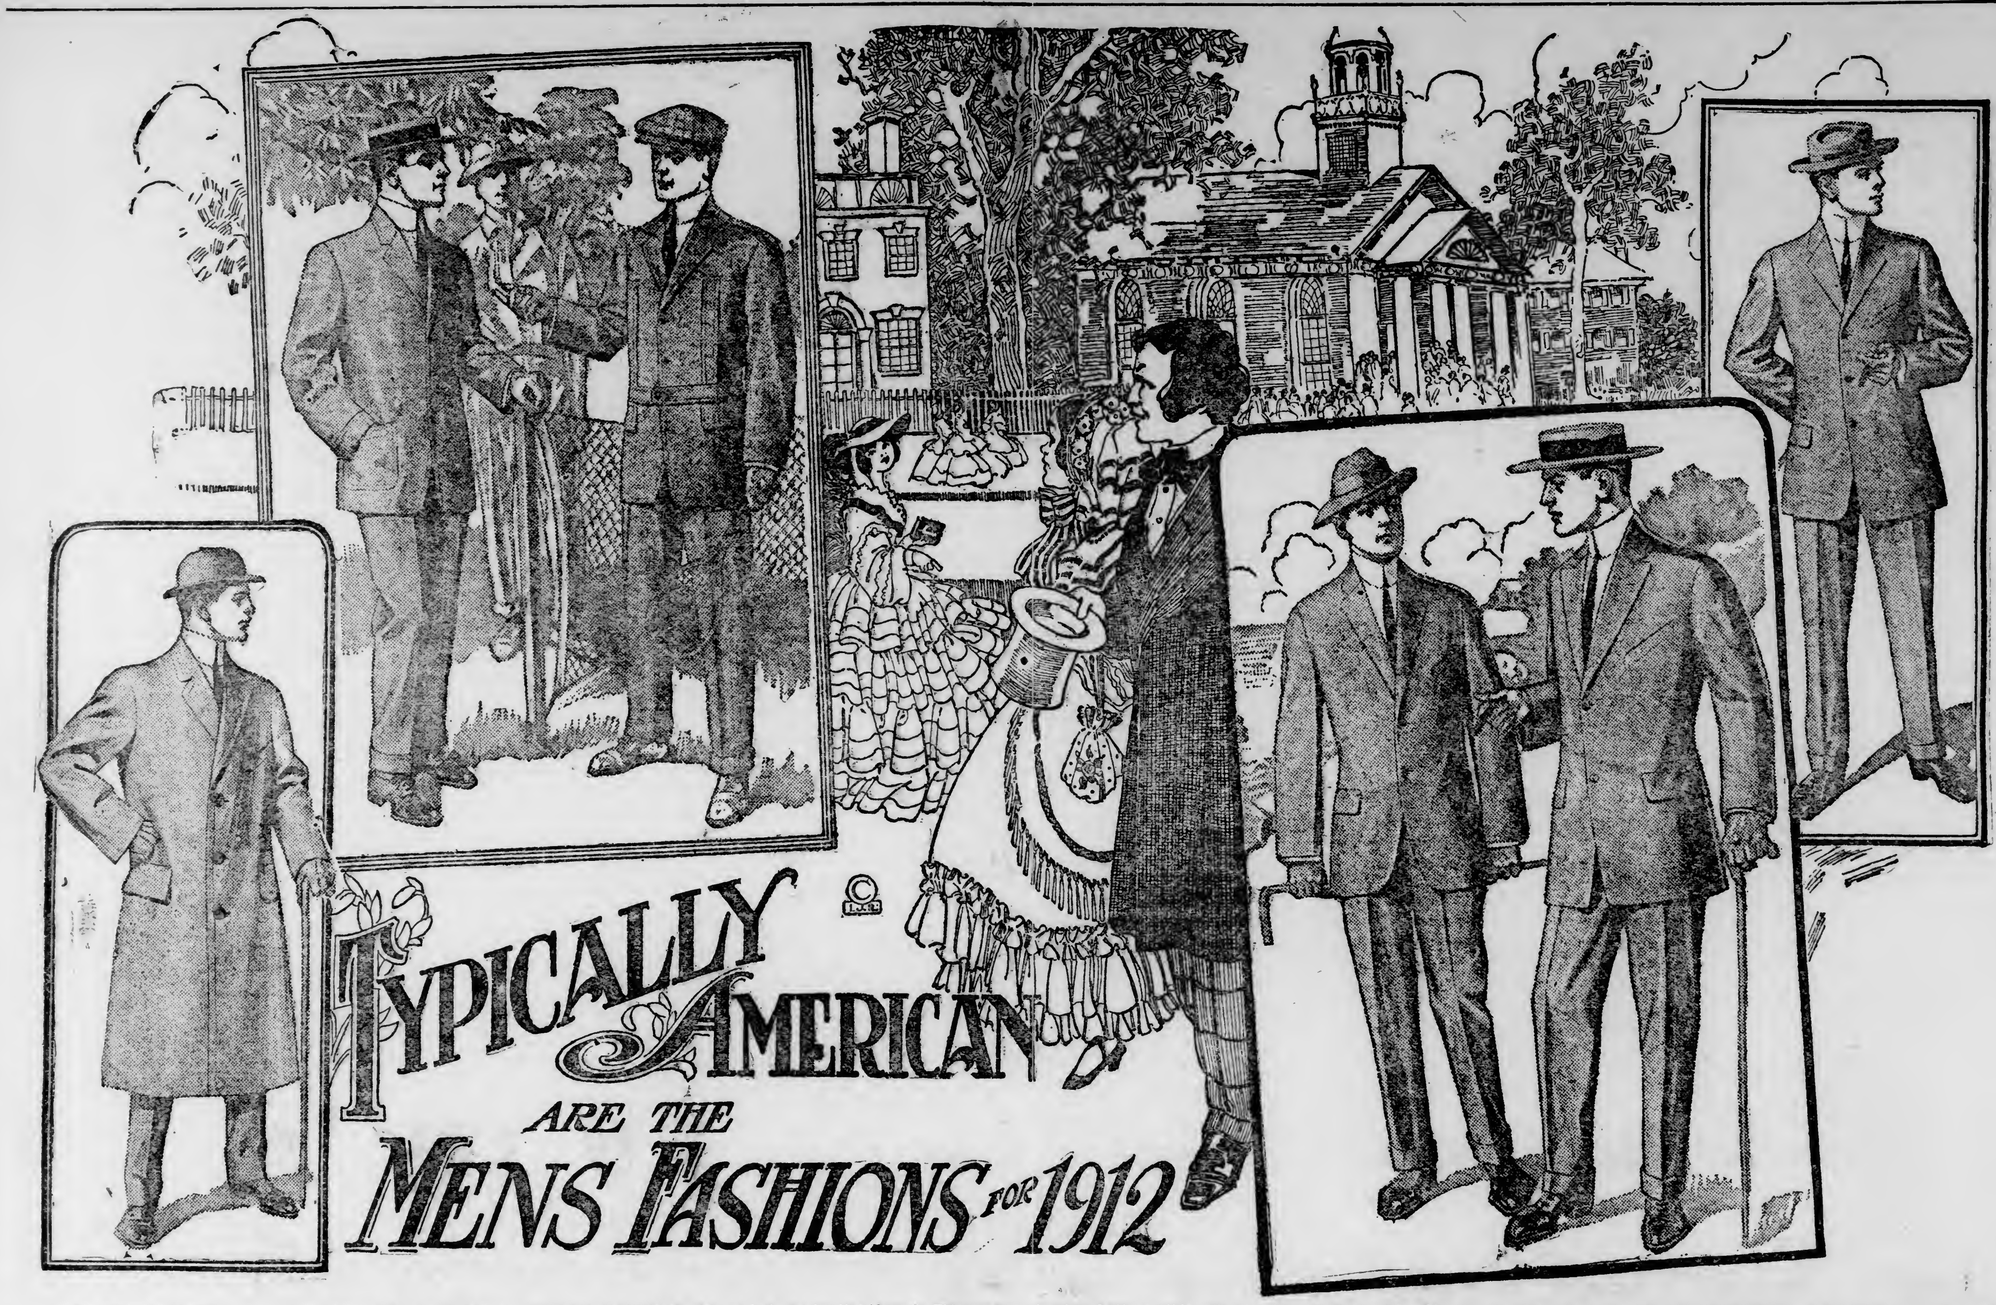
THE favorite downtown exclusive flower store in the center of the shopping district. We are at the bottom of this page when it comes to advertising, but when quality or quantity is taken into consideration, a peep around our establishment will convince you on what part of the ladder we stand.

No matter what your wants may be in the floral line, we have the goods in varied assortments at lowest prices. Regardless as to what prices are advertised on flowers by others here in Duluth, we have the same class of goods at those prices and oftimes much lower.

If you want to be a booster forDuluth, why not inquire if the merchant you deal with is a real Duluthian or an outsider just here for all there is in it?

The home merchant ought to be given first consideration, providing all things are equal as to quality and price.

Easter will soon be here and we invite you all to call and see our floral display, because we are confident your visit will be well repaid by enjoying the display. Signed, EDW. P. KREIMER.



TYPICALLY AMERICAN ARE THE MENS FASHIONS FOR 1912

(By Orville G. Victor.)
(Copyrighted, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

MEN'S garments for spring and summer, 1912, will show a distinct difference from those of last year and the year before. This applies to overcoats and undercoats alike; also to vests and trousers, though not in such marked degree, perhaps, in regard to the latter.

"We are getting away from the tight English coat," said William D. Sharpe, a well-known tailor and draper of Fifth avenue, New York city, who was, until a year ago, an official of the Custom Cutters' club, and is a recognized authority on matters sartorial. "Coats for the coming season will be more as they were a few seasons ago. They will be cut in accordance with common-sense ideas. The exaggerated chest and shoulder will be noticeable only by their absence. In other words, a man's chest, in his coat, will appear where his chest ought to be."

This is entirely in consonance with the plans of the high-class ready-made trade, whose designers are not to be outdone by their "made-to-order" competitors. Nearly without exception, drawings for spring and summer overcoats show nice, semi-shapely garments—not tight fitting, nor yet loose. The average overcoat will be neither long nor short, but will reach to the knee. Big "patch" pockets and cuff ornamentations will no longer be seen. In fact, all bizarre effects are to be carefully avoided. Nicely fitting, genteel garments, built along natural lines will have the call.

The dress overcoat, as usual, is to be made, as a rule, from a soft worsted. For general business wear and outing, fancy cheviots will have the preference, though raglans and homespuns will also be in favor. It is predicted that the "country coat" will meet with favor throughout the United States. This is well adapted to all the various uses to which an outer garment may be subjected; like the ordinary topcoat, it is made chiefly of cheviot, though the matter of fabric is, of course, one of individual choice with the wearer. These are to be made up chiefly in grays, as that color, in all shades, will continue to predominate in outer garments, both in stripes and solids. Brown is always a favorite with many, and makes up nicely with an almost imperceptible plaid, visible only by change of light, or with a tiny red or purple thread running through the weave, giving it just a suggestion of brighter coloring. Herringbones are losing favor; the oblique wale, especially in rough materials, will be in great demand.

Serges, Scotch cheviots and tweeds will predominate in the make-up of spring and summer suits and overcoats this year. The well-dressed man may take his choice from a countless variety of color combinations, including many novel arrangements of twists and compound mixtures, brown-grays, blue-grays, silver-grays; Chanticler colorings, goblin blue mixtures, etc. Some of the light overcoats will have a tab on the sleeve, but most of them will be finished with a small, one-inch vent, with no button.

In both the overcoat and the cutaway the length of the garment will be a little shorter, and the waist line will be higher than last season's. Except the dress overcoats, stripes will not be greatly in evidence, and when seen on ordinary day garments they will be very close and narrow.

According to some of the best known makers of good clothes, who are familiar with conditions throughout the country, the Norfolk is coming into great favor, and will be worn during the coming season more generally than ever before. These are to be made up with three buttons and the soft roll effect. Some will carry a belt all the way around the waist, but for the most part they will have a demi-belt, extending from side seam to side seam in the back. In these the most popular color is a blue-gray; they will be worn largely for motoring, golf and all out-door sports. Made up from fancy serges and worsteds, in stripes and figures, the Norfolk is a most attractive garment that can be worn at practically every outdoor function.

The ordinary business, or sack coat, will be made more or less close fitting, following the style of the cutaway and the topcoat. They will have two or three buttons, and five-button vests to match. The latter will not be so high-cut as heretofore, and after the winter season is past it will no longer be considered proper to have the vest show above the coat-opening when the top button of the coat is buttoned, except when the coat has the soft roll front. The vest will carry five buttons, and the opening will be wider than the present style demands.

A nice coat for younger men is of conservative cut and pattern of dark gray, brown or blue, with the edges bound. This coat carries four buttons, two side pockets with flaps to go in or out, and a welted breast pocket. The vest is of the same material, also bound at the edge, with five buttons and an inverted "V" at the bottom.

Another coat that will no doubt find many admirers among men of all ages is a double-breasted, form-fitting garment with three buttons; this will be made up in all colors and shades, with one, two and three buttons on the cuff. With it should be worn a six-button vest, collarless—that is, when a vest is worn; the coat itself is well adapted to be part of a two-piece suit in warm weather, with trousers of the same material and color, or of lighter fabric and shade.

A blue serge form-fitting sack, with three buttons will find many admirers. With the soft-roll coat goes a vest made up skeleton, and literally as "light as a feather." All coats, sack and cutaway, have a button-hole in the left lapel. Some coats of dark material will be made up with turned back cuffs, but no button. These, it is predicted, will meet an enthusiastic reception from young men of the "college" type.

For those who do not care for the Norfolk there will be provided a soft roll English model with three buttons and an inverted pleat back; these are to be made of homespun, tweeds, cassimeres and vicunas; although they will have three buttons, only the middle one is supposed to be fastened. These will be found very "smart" and will doubtless meet with well-nigh universal approval.

Coats for outing suits—two-piece suits—will for the most part have turn-back cuffs, and the trousers will be finished in the same manner. But this will pertain to outing suits only; cuffs on trousers for ordinary wear will not be permissible. These suits will be made for the most part of serges, Scotch cheviots and tweeds, though some velours will be worn. As spring advances, serges and homespuns will be worn in increasing numbers, and will be found in a long range of grays and browns, mostly stripes of inconspicuous design.

Returning to overcoats, a brilliant future is predicted for the "guard" coat, specially adapted for wear in rough weather, useful when boating, motoring, or to guard against the possibilities of sudden summer showers. This coat may be obtained in practically all standard colors and shades, in light and waterproof fabrics. It is made wth a convertible collar, which gives it a semi-military effect when turned up, and a belt from pleat to pleat. It is decidedly nobby in appearance; it keeps its shape well, and is really an ideal garment for many occasions. This convertible collar feature is meeting with great success everywhere, as it serves a double capacity and is dressy in either capacity.

The two-button Tuxedo is coming into favor again, especially with the younger men. It is cut on very shapely lines, with very little fulness in the skirts.

An imported French novelty is a one-button, square-cut Tuxedo, in brown as well as black, with four buttons and braided edge. A white silk vest is preferably worn with this.

Demi-vests are dying, and it seems that their knell of doom has been sounded for the coming season at least; though they may return to favor next winter.

The formal dress coat which will make its appearance about Easter will be form-fitting, but not closely so. It will have no exaggerated shoulder or chest effect; it will fit snugly but not tightly, with plain edges and no ornamentation of the cuffs. The waistline will be a little higher than at present, and the coat will carry three buttons, one and a quarter inches apart. Lapels will be peaked, and a trifle wider than those of last season, and about three-quarters of an inch wider than the collar.

The trousers will fit a little more snugly than of late, and will reach just to the top of the heel. The seams will be devoid of braid.

SAYING "HOWDY" IN MOROCCO.

The native Moors are not content with the salutations which pass muster with English when acquaintances are met in the street. "Hallo, old man! How are you? Going strong—that's right. So long!" This sort of thing does not commend itself to the Moroccan.

Here is the kind of conversation, says Health Culture, that takes place at every meeting of any two friends or acquaintances, say Mr. Abd'l-Kahder and Mr. Boo'l-Hamara:

"Peace be with you this morning."
"And with you be peace."
"How do you do?"
"Without any ill."
"Are you well?"
"Thank Allah!"
"And is your health good?"
"It is good."
"And you have no ill in your body?"
"I have none."
"And your bones, how are they?"
"They are indeed strong."
"And your little bones?"
"There is no ill to them."
"And the marrow in your bones is it well?"
"It is well."
"And your limbs, are they well?"
"They are sound, praise be the Prophet."
"And the whole of your body, is it well?"
"It is well."
"And your forehead, how is it this morning?"
"By your life, truly it is well."
"And how is your nose?"
"It is free from any harm, I am grateful to you."
"And your ears, are they well?"
"They are well, may the Prophet be blessed."

And so on and so forth, until almost every part of the human system has been alluded to.

Of course we have plenty of other Spring and Summer fashions which are not shown here—same price—$15.00—to order. These garments are easily worth from $25.00 to $30.00 and we would have to ask you that much if it were not for the fact that we own so many stores (96 in all) and that our woolens come to us direct from the mills in carloads, where the small tailor buys only a bolt or two. This method eliminates the profits of the middle man and puts you several dollars to the good, enough to buy a swell Easter lid, a couple of shirts, some ties and a few other fixings.

Drop in tomorrow or any time and we will take pleasure in showing you through whether you buy or not. If you want your suit finished for Easter, we would like to have your order as soon as possible, so that our tailors will have plenty of time to turn out some real classy work. Spring and Summer Styles in Men's Footwear

By Orville G. Victor.
(Copyright, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

THE Saturday immediately preceding Easter Sunday is welcomed by shoe dealers all over the country, and especially by those in the large cities, for more shoes are sold on that day than any other in the year. This is a curious fact, but fact it is, and borne out by the statements of dealers generally.

Buyers tell me that the tan shoe which had such phenomenal sales last year—and, indeed, right up to the present time—will not be so popular throughout the coming spring and summer season, for it is to be supplanted to a large extent by the patent leather, which is once more to assume precedence with well-dressed men.

This does not mean, of course, that the tan shoe is to be eliminated; it is far too popular and useful to be displaced altogether by any other article of footwear. But for the last year it has been worn generally to business and all sorts of informal functions, both in oxfords and high uppers; and this will not be the case this year. It is now three or four years since patent leathers have been in favor, but, according to those who know, they are coming back into their own in 1912.

For outing shoes, tans or blacks with white canvas and buck uppers will be worn by both men and women. Pumps, of patent or other fine leather, will be made on a straight last, with one or two ties.

The raised toe, or so-called "bull-dog" effect, which has been worn mostly in the West for the last two seasons, is seen on most of the oxfords designed for the season's wear throughout the entire country.

Shoes with high uppers, both laced and buttoned, will adhere more closely to the English last, with straight toe of moderate height and heels not more than an inch or an inch and a quarter in height. The laced shoe carries eight fastenings; the buttoned shoe as many as seven, in contradistinction to the five that have been in favor for the last year or more.

Spats with the oxford will be worn more generally than for several seasons past. To be correct, these will carry six buttons; they are made mostly of canvas, in grays, tans, browns and black. The latter have buttons of contrasting color—mother-of-pearl for the most part; the colored spats have buttons of the same shade.

Fads and Fancies in Spring Haberdashery

By Orville G. Victor.
(Copyright, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

THE man of moderate income will find no difficulty in satisfying his wants and pleasing his personal taste in the matter of shirts, collars, neckties, handkerchiefs and all the various dress accessories which the haberdashery shops have in stock for the spring and summer season of 1912.

Among the nicest of shirt stuffs provided are the French zephyr prints; these are more expensive than the ever-popular madras, but they stand the torture of the laundry well and always look nobby. These promise to lead all others in English markets, and will no doubt find general favor in the United States as well.

Expensive silk shirts, from $6 to $15 of light Japanese weave, tempt the pocketbook. Semi-stiff shirts will be worn more than last summer, when everything was soft; these are provided in madras, percale and gingham, in the less expensive shirtings, made up in stripes and figures. Russian cords, made up plain and in pleats, will continue in favor with men who can afford to buy a good garment. Like the French zephyr prints, the Russian cord wears exceptionally well and is always dressy. These will appear mostly in stripes.

The turn-back cuffs, known as the French cuffs, will be quite as popular in soft materials as last summer. These negligees can be purchased in various materials for from $2.50 to $5.

Another garment which will meet with much favor is the silk-and-lisle, made up soft, in solid colors and stripes, with the turn-back cuffs and detachable collars. These look quite as well as pure silk, and may be bought from $3 up.

These soft shirts will doubtless outclass the semi-stiff ones six to one during the coming season. Very light weight English wool taffetas make an ideal garment for hot weather wear; so does vyella flannel. The silk-and-linen makes up finely for semi-starched shirts, being made mostly in narrow pleats, some in white and others in contrasting colors.

In the selection of neckwear the buyer may suit his individual fancy without stint. The big scrolls, known as Persian designs, made of the best grades of silk, are appearing in particularly attractive manner. But the knitted stuff is far and away ahead of all competitors, and will be worn more generally than ever before.

The moderate priced "college stripe," accordion weave and plain silk will be a favorite among the younger element. The accordion weave is considered the nicer, and with the horizontal stripes representing the colors of different colleges and universities, is sure to be a great favorite, showing the black and orange of Princeton, the violet and white of Amherst, the purple and gold of the Northwestern university, the maroon and white of Lafayette, etc., countless combinations, each one of which has its own special significance.

Not unlike the Persian scrolls are four-in-hands of Japanese silk in "butterfly" designs. These will doubtless become quite popular, and will be made up in Ascot shape a little later. One of the newest and most striking color combinations in these big scarfs is known as "smoke" and red.

Ties of solid colors will not be wanting, either; royal, purple, dark greens, blues and reds in numerous shades will be worn plentifully. The basket weave in attractive stripe combinations will sell largely in the less expensive ties.

Some imported English neckwear is going to attract considerable attention and will doubtless become very popular with men who pay particular attention to this dress accessory. These include the Spittalsfield and the Macclesfield silks, made up for the most part in Persian designs, with wide flowing ends.

Fancy vests, which were not much in evidence last year, will be very largely worn until the heat of summer induces the wearing of two-piece suits. These will be made of linen, silk, crash and other materials. A new one, that is quite a novelty, is of Angora goat fur. Contrary to what might be expected, this is well adapted to spring wear, for it is almost featherweight; it is made without lining and shows the animal's hair long and fuzzy. This garment is generally grey; but if it meets with approval, it will appear in various colors.

A nice line of handkerchiefs has been provided for spring and summer, showing colors in profusion. A novelty in this line, that is not apt to meet with general favor, is of red silk, patterned after the old-fashioned bandanna that the American farmer is popularly supposed to carry in his hat.

A white silk handkerchief, with black polka dots, promises to sell largely; so does a fine white Irish linen with colored borders in contrast stripes. Others are made in scroll designs; and some of light blues and lavenders are particularly adapted to the seasons of violets and roses.

Haberdashers generally throughout the country report enormous sales of "guarantee" socks — that is, footwear guaranteed to last six months, with ordinary wear. Several brands of these were placed on the market and largely advertised for the winter trade. Their sale throughout the holiday season was fairly phenomenal—so much so, that the manufacturers have been encouraged to make the same brands in light weights for spring and summer. As a rule, these sell at $2 for six pairs, and dealers have been keeping their word as to substituting new ones for these which have not kept up to the requisitions. I am told that about one-twelfth per cent are returned.

The soft collar will not be in evidence this summer. It has been tabooed as untidy in appearance, and very few haberdashers are putting it in stock. The old-fashioned, comfortable low collar, formerly worn chiefly by stout men, will be a general favorite this season; it will not be necessary for a man to choke himself in the hot weather with a high, starched neckyoke.

FORCING BULBS.

The Garden: Where an early batch of Roman hyacinths was potted up, the pots will now be well filled with roots and may be removed from the plunging bed and placed in a warm house, where they will soon come into flower.

An inverted empty pot placed over each will help to draw up the spikes. Paper white narcissus will follow these shortly if given the same treatment. Lily of the valley may be lifted after it has had a few nights of sharp frost, and placed in the forcing house; but at this season retarded crowns are more trustworthy and will force into flower very quickly.

What the Dainty Woman Wears About the House

(Copyright, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

KIMONAS of a good quality of silkoline, in delightful designs and colorings, and edged with wide bands of satin, may be bought for $3.50. A novel negligee seen in one of the shops owed its original style to the very wide, pointed revers that turned back from the opening at the throat on one side only, and extended below the waist, where the narrow point was finished with a long tassel. The left edge of the garment was simply stitched, as was the bottom of the sleeves and the skirt, and was brought over to the side to fasten with two large buttons, just beneath the tasseled end of the revers. Undersleeves of material matching this rever completed the attractive little lounging robe.

The sailor collar is well adapted for use on dressing sack or tea gown. In sheer embroidery with a lace frill about the edge they are seen on both silk and cotton models. For $1.95 one may get a very dainty matinee of figured lawn having a sailor collar, and wide cuffs, made from the same material, but edged with lace and insertion.

A most elaborate matinee of all-over lace with a lining of pale blue silk suggested the possibility of a home-made copy, in which an old lace waist or gown and the satin lining of last year's party gown might be used. The all-over lace of the model, which was in pointed effect about the bottom, had blue silk tassels to finish each point.

The lines of the new tea gowns follow very closely the trend of the styles in other garments. The crushed girdle has displaced the Empire effects, the side closing in much used, and pretty cut-away effects are obtained by the use of lace applied in a sort of coat tail effect that begins from the center of the front.

Suggestions for the Summer Lingerie.

Many of the new night gowns are trimmed with lace about the hem, and some are slashed up at either side, with lace outlining the slashes.

For the woman who does not care for the combination garments the chemise with fitted back should prove satisfactory. The garment is cut with a small inverted plait just below the waist line, which makes it fit snugly about the waist.

Very dainty, if not quite practicable, are the night gowns of white, pink or blue crepe de chine, trimmed with Normandy val about the yokes and sleeves. Cotton crepe is gaining in favor for lingerie, and especially for gowns, because of the ease with which it may be laundered.

A clever way to make the popular combination garments, so that the combination may be severed if one desires, is to finish the top of the drawers and the bottom of the corset cover with separate bands of beading. One ribbon may be run through them both, so that either garment may be changed very easily.

There is little change in the corsets for this season, a fact which pleases madame mightily, though it grieves the corset-maker sorely. They remain very supple, very long and medium low in the bust.

To be perfectly corseted these days one must appear to be as guiltless of stays as a school girl. The ugly hip line of the old models has been eliminated by snug, smooth skirts of the fabric, and the bust line may now be concealed by the almost indispensable brassiere.

A style of corset that is steadily gaining in favor is what is called the topless corset, which extends only two inches to three inches above the waist. This model is particularly desirable for the woman of slender build, or for one who is athletically inclined, and when worn with a well fitted brassiere gives great freedom of movement.

Fashions in Footwear for the Summer Season

THE shoemaker, with his offerings for the spring and summer months, has surely provided plenty of work for idle feminine hands to do. What with repairing the havoc wrought to hosiery by the demure but destructive pump which has abated not a jot of popularity—and maintaining in a state of immaculate purity her white canvas and buckskin boots, it looks like a busy season for the woman who keeps up with the fashions.

But to give the shoemaker his due, never has he turned out such fascinating footwear as the shops will show this season. From the trim street boot to the dainty evening slipper the models show elegance of contour and style. For early spring wear the buttoned boot will be favored with the dressy costume. These continue to be made with the medium short vamp, of the dull leathers or the patent kid with cloth or kid tops. Many of the street shoes show the high stub toe, although this feature is not carried to the extreme, and the straight tip and the Cuban heel prevail.

Tan and brown leathers will be in greater demand than ever on account of the vogue for various shades of tan in suits and gowns. Among the higher grade shoes will be found those having the gaiter top, whose neat quaintness has endeared them to the smartly dressed woman. These are very attractive when the gaiter tops match the color of the frock with which they are worn. The gaiter idea has also been adapted to the low shoe, and those who care for button effects in the low shoe will find a pretty style which has the three buttons cleverly placed at the side.

But it is the white shoe that is in the spot light, so to speak. In canvas or in buckskin they are being shown in a great variety of styles. There is the high boot of sixteen button length, in either canvas or buck; there is the comfortable oxford, of five eyelets, the perennial pump and the pretty Colonial slipper with its leather or metal buckle. There is a marked revival of the Colonial effects for both evening and street wear.

And now a word about the evening and dancing slipper. Metal and beaded styles have the preference, although the light kids and satins, usually with a beaded toe design, will no doubt be worn later on with the lingerie gowns. A practical choice is the black satin slipper, or the bronze, either of which look well with any color of gown.

Hosiery Helps.

Colonial styles in footwear are responsible for the wearing of white or light colored hose with slippers, and sometimes with the high boots.

Embroidered effects are gaining steadily in favor.

Champagne and tan shades will be seen, worn not only with toilettes of the same, but with black low shoes and gowns of contrasting color.

Black lace stockings are pretty with the plainer black satin slippers.

Flesh color hose are a daring novelty that will continue to be worn by the woman who likes startling effects.

Artistic Wall Treatments

(Copyright, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

THERE are two ways of approaching the decoration of our walls, according as our taste does, or does not run towards pictures. For the lover of these, there is only one form of wall treatment — the simplest, flattest, and least complicated—offering an ideal background for the framed gems of his collection. Plain, unfigured wallpaper, and wall coverings, generally, have for this reason, a wide vogue, as have also those in which the figure is unobtrusive and quiet, low in tone and in relief.

Much is to be said in favor of these plain walls, in soft dull tones, cool or rich as suits the fancy of the householder. Simple panellings also possess the same virtues and the same charms and one can scarcely make a mistake in choosing these effects.

There are however, on the other hand, arrangements as graceful, as artistic, as elaborate, in carefully worked-out dadoes, friezes and panels, presenting in themselves a complete scheme of embellishment, similar in feeling to mural painting.

In libraries and dining rooms, particularly, these dadoes and frieze effects are appropriate and charming. The mistake of hanging pictures on such walls should be avoided, and even plates, mugs, steins, etc., should be omitted from the plate rail of the average dining room, thus decorated.

A landscape pattern, or a vine-hung lattice does not look well when broken by a stein or a plate. The effect is illogical and inharmonious.

In general, one should always avoid heaping embellishment upon embellishment, as the result is as absurd as "to gild refined gold, or paint the lily."

There is a certain quiet harmony about frieze and dado decoration, unbroken by an other adornment. Its virtue is restfulness—its danger, monotony.

Many find an agreeable compromise in having the walls of the living room plain, with many pictures, the bedroom daintily panelled, with cretonne, matching in pattern the flower festoons which border the panellings, and library and dining room in frieze effect, with plate rail and bookcases.

Here indeed we have that variety which is the "spice of life."

Quaint and Clever Floor Coverings

(Copyright, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

GO UP to the attic and bring down grandmother's old plaited or woven rag rugs. You can use them without fear of reproach, for they are again the mode, thanks to the Arts and Craft movement. If grandmother failed to leave you any of these proofs of her industry and skill, why let us hope that she left you the industry and skill to fashion a few for yourself.

If you live in a city, or town, where the Arts and Craft movement is in full swing, you will find there are quite a number of craftsmen, or art dyers. Take them your rags, and they will dye them, in lovely, soft shades, with vegetable dyes—shades that will take on what artists call a "tone" with wear, and age into greater beauty. There are some shades of blue, particularly, which are simply exquisite, dull, soft and pleasing, in perfect harmony with dark oak furniture or lighter floors.

Wool rags make the handsomest rugs and monotone, or two-toned effects are considered the most artistic. If you haven't the time, material or inclination for such handiwork, you can purchase fine examples in the Arts and Crafts shops—or pretty wool carpets and rugs, in similar effects, from the regular dealers. Some very simple, heavily woven, woolen rugs have found their way to the market recently, so that for a very low price the home may be outfitted with really tasteful floor coverings.

Old Brussels and ingrain carpets are converted into attractive looking woven rugs, which might be made quite handsome, by dyeing all the old material to one color, when the different shades of the original carpet would produce lighter and darker variations of the color scheme.

In buying figured rugs, it is well to select those in Oriental pattern, and a small, broken design will be found to keep its looks better and show dust less than a larger and more open one. In selecting Oriental rugs one should be careful to choose patterns of sufficient similarity, in design and color, for one room, so that they may not clash or give a patch-work effect. Too many rugs often prove as distressing as too few, in fact producing an oppressive, rather than an impressive aspect. It is always wise to sacrifice quantity to quality in household furnishings, and especially is this true of floor coverings, which more than anything else are subjected to a rigid taste by severe usage, under our sharp-heeled, hard-soled shoes. Perhaps when we become truly civilized, we shall be guided by the wisdom of the ancient civilizations of the Orient, and leave our street shoes beside the door, donning soft slippers, free from the dirt and germs of the street, for housewear, and more gentle in the treatment of our carpets and rugs. Until such time, however, we shall be obliged to exercise great discrimination as to the wearing qualities of these floor coverings.

Novelties are Numerous in JEWELRY & VANITIES

(Copyright, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

THE graceful La Valliere, which not only fulfills the mission of a pretty piece of jewelry, but if carefully chosen, may add the necessary emphasis of color to a costume, has so enslaved the feminine fancy that each season sees many new designs in these necklaces. Though not particularly expensive, many of them have a very rich appearance when they are of worthy design and given an antique finish. Lapis, jade, moonstones, amethysts, topaz, and the abalone pearls are most frequently used, while the antique silver finish seems to be preferred.

An attractive novelty are the necklaces which show a clever use of cut silver. Strung on a slender silver chain are from six to eight or more pendant stones—those noticed were amethysts, turquoises and topaz—which appear to be surrounded with rhinestones, but which is in reality simply brilliantly polished silver cut in similar facets.

Necklaces of the Italian filigree silver will be suitable for wear with the dainty summer gowns. The delicate Italian mosaic work in its wonderful blues that suggest Southern skies is used for many necklaces, with sometimes a cameo as the center pendant, or a small enameled pansy or other small flower. Necklaces of gold plated filigree, in beautiful designs, Egyptian or Etruscan in origin, may be bought for six and eight dollars.

Bracelets, in band effect, of the gold plated filigree, are equally reasonable. What promises to be a very charming fad is the revival of the bracelet that has attached to it a tiny ring through which the handkerchief is slipped. Bracelets that broaden into an oval section large enough to contain a tiny vanity case in which are concealed a diminutive puff and a fluff of powder, are among the interesting novelties in an exclusive shop.

The black velvet neck bands with their slides of rhinestones will no doubt be much worn with the fichu effects in gowns this summer, as they seem especially suited to this quaint style. Belt buckles are another feature that the present modes of dress will popularize to a great extent. These are of generous size, of both the buckle and pin variety.

Barrettes for the hair are considerably smaller, and in anticipation of the high hair dressing which is returning to favor, the very small round and oval gold barrettes are being shown again. Rhinestone hair ornaments and barrettes are much seen, as well as a wide variety of pins ornamented with carved silver or gold.

Do you remember the crocheted finger purses that our mothers used to carry years ago—long, narrow affairs, with a slit in the center, lengthwise, which was kept closed by means of a couple of small rings that could be slipped back and forth? Bags of this style, much enlarged and elaborated, are among the many new designs that have been added to the already large assortment of these convenient receptacles. In silks or brocades, trimmed with fringe or tassels, these ring bags would not be difficult to make at home. One might copy a very stunning one which was made from green and blue taffeta. Both sides had a wide design carried out at the end in steel beads. One end was left straight and edged with cut steel fringe, while the other, mitered in three-cornered shape, was drawn into a cut steel tassel.

FUR STORAGE

As Free From Moths As the Frozen North

Furs Stored Under Scientific Methods

Cold, Dry Air 20° Below Freezing

To keep furs in their best condition and to get the utmost wear and satisfaction from them, it is absolutely imperative that they be kept from the ravages of the moth and other insects. As cold is instrumental in the production of Furs, it is necessary to their preservation. Cold storage improves the appearance of furs and prolongs their life by retaining the natural oils of the fiber. Your Furs are inspected by an expert, and each garment is hung on shoulders, which in turn are hung on special frames.

Our vault is kept at a temperature of 20 degrees below freezing constantly, where no moths or other insects can live.

This is the only exclusive Cold Dry Air Storage Vault in the Northwest.

Our charges are very moderate, and we give every order immediate and careful attention. This company guarantees against loss by fire or theft.

Storage rates include renovating, calling for and the delivering of the garments.

Phone us and our wagon will call.

We solicit your inspection at any time.

FEATURING DIAMONDS FOR THE FASHION SHOW

Since diamonds hold such an important place in modern fashions—a Fashion Show such as Duluth holds this week would hardly be complete without a special exhibit of what is new and correct in diamond jewelry.

As the acknowledged foremost diamond house of Duluth, The Henricksen Jewelry & Art Store is featuring this week a display of diamonds which we believe will be a credit to the Fashion Show, and which we believe every Fashion Show visitor will appreciate and enjoy. WELCOME.

PLANTING SEASON NEAR AT HAND

MAKE HOME ATTRACTIVE

Some Good Advice in Plant and Flower Cultivation.

SPRING days are coming and the thoughts of every householder are turning to the garden. There is something instinctive in human nature which leads the thoughts to spading and troweling and the smell of new cut grass and fresh warm earth when the first spring day arrives and the sun shines warm on newborn vegetation.

Every one of us feels the longing to own a garden plot then, to trim and snip and dig and plant, to watch the first tender shoots of new green and applaud the opening buds.

The dwellers in flats feel the stir as do those who are so fortunate as to have yards of their own.

Expression in Many Forms.

The natural appreciation of the beauty of nature finds its expression in many forms from the flower pot on the window sill, and the window box in restricted areas to the orderly beds, the old-fashioned mazes, box bordered, and the formal and informal arrangements of big lawns and estates.

The garden is one means of participating in the artistic and beautiful which is open to the humblest. Gardening is a democracy of occupation that enchains the richest and poorest of us. Every cottage can be and almost is, in Duluth, a bower of beauty. The roses will bloom alike for all and it is loving care that wins their best efforts.

Has Missed Much.

He who has never set a bulb or a cutting and tended and watched over it from its first tiny shoots of green has missed an interest that makes one of the lasting memories of life.

There is a quiet, pleasurable excitement about the sowing of seed, the tending of the garden plot, the watering and enriching of the ground and the reward of labor in the hardy, beautiful stalks that follow—a reward that reaches its climax when tender buds unfold and glorious blossoms open their petals and shed their perfume on the air.

A Healthy Occupation.

What better or more healthy occupation than the beautifying of one's home? It begins with evenings of planning, sketching of rough plans for lawn and shrubbery arrangements, earnest consultations and surveys of the little plot of barren ground that is to be transformed by nature's magic.

Here there shall be a grass plot, there a border of blossoms, about this pillar a drapery of honeysuckle where humming birds will flit on drowsy summer afternoons. Climbing roses will soften the harsh outlines of this wing. A bed of tulips will light the monotony of that corner.

The Transformation.

What is now but a man-made house, new and garish, surrounded by trodden earth and littered with the odds and ends of building, will next summer be velvet lawn and terrace and a riot of color and perfume.

A little ingenuity gives him a perpetual garden patch that grows and prospers under the warm winter rains.

Every year sees advances made in city gardening. Science is aiding and the garden cult is so spreading that we are all learning something of careful selection and training.

Who more fortunate than the gardener!

What He Enjoys.

He enjoys thrills in the planning and ordering of his plots unknown to his prosaic brother of the counting house and shop, his triumphs are the quiet, stalsfying triumphs of achievement of something worth while. His reward is the possession of something money cannot duplicate, a thing of beauty made with his own hands.

And he who creates a beautiful garden creates something not alone of pleasure to him, but of inspiration to every tired wayfarer who pauses to sniff its fragrance and marvel at its color.

SOME TIMELY HINTS

For the Spring Planting and Lawn.

TO ADMIRE flowers and beautiful plants is natural, to have at some time or another during life a well kept and varied garden is the dream and ambition of nearly everyone.

The first few warm days that appear, and which may or may not herald the approach of spring, cause a fluttering in the breasts of plant lovers and those who possess a garden, whether it is large or small, flower or vegetable, or even a window box perched on the sunny side of some apartment house, make haste to select the seeds to be planted for the coming season and as hastily in most cases are they planted; with a fine disregard as to whether or not the precedents established in years before would warn that should they ever live to peep above the ground, "frost" would nip them before maturity.

THE LAWN.

With proper care and with a minimum of expense and labor, Duluth would be noted for its beautiful lawns, as the climate is one most favorable to the growth of those velvety lawns that have made Duluth famous. The planting and seeding season is April and May, and all interested in the planting and beautifying of the home grounds wish to know what is the best to plant. In all cases everyone with a small or large yard wants a green piece of lawn, for a beautiful piece of grass makes the home attractive. To have such it must have attention.

ROSE CULTIVATION.

The time to plant rose bushes is from May to June.

Roses will grow and give good results in any fertile ground. The best soil for roses is a clay sod and half rotted manure, about three parts sod and one of manure. Select a sunny place and one that is protected from the strong winds, if possible.

Ornamental Shrubbery.

In selecting plants for the home great care should be taken in selecting good healthy specimens. Do not try to see how cheap you can get them, but see the best plants even if you cannot get so many.

Planting of shade and ornamental trees, flowering shrubs and evergreens are best moved just as soon as the weather is settled and the ground warms up about the middle of April to the last of May.

GARDEN SEEDS.

Few people seem to realize what a glorious climate ours is. Go to the Public Market at the Armory during the months of July, August and September, and see there farmers and truck growers with fresh, crisp celery, lettuce, onions, cabbage, carrots and a dozen other varieties of vegetables that are foreign to the Eastern markets.

When shall I plant, and how to plant are the questions asked many times each day, regarding different vegetables.

You can plant radishes and lettuce from May 1st to the last of July, a couple of weeks apart if wanted fresh at different times.

Onion sets, soon as the ground is prepared to put in, whether snow is on the ground, from May to June.

Sweet corn, from May 24 to last of June.

Carrots should be in by May 20.

Beans, latter part of May.

Squash, last week in May.

Tomatoes, cauliflower and cabbage should be sown in boxes now, in frames or in the house, to get them started, where they can be transplanted the latter part of May.

Most of flower seeds, out-of-door kind, should be planted latter part of May.

Onion seed, latter part of May.

Beets, middle of May, depends on spring, ordinarily twenty-fourth of May.

Cucumbers, about June 2nd.

Garden peas, middle of May to the first of July.

Sweet peas and nasturtiums should be planted as early as possible.

Parsnips early as possible

Rutabagas, latter part of May to middle of July.

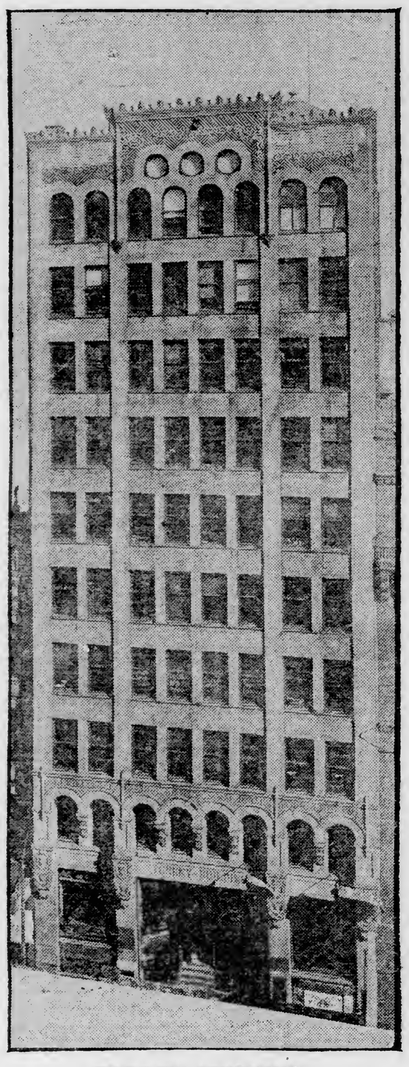
TORREY, MANHATTAN AND PALLADIO BUILDINGS

WHITNEY WALL COMPANY, AGENTS, 301 and 302 TORREY BUILDING

EXPERT MANAGERS OF IMPROVED PROPERTY.



TORREY BUILDING.

TORREY BUILDING

The Torrey building, which is located on the lower side of Superior street, between Third and Fourth avenues west, is a most central location for commercial line of business.

This building was built in 1893 by Capt. R. A. Torrey of St. Louis. The architects were Trapphagen & Fitzpatrick, who were also the architects for the Lyceum theater, the Board of Trade building and several other prominent buildings built at that time. The building was finished in the midst of the panic, and it was a larger and more expensive building than could be supported at that time.

In the year 1906 the building was placed in charge of the Whitney Wall company, and since that time, between $50,000 and $60,000 has been spent in changing the interior, installing new boilers, new engines, which are of the Skinner make, and new dynamos. In fact the whole building was overhauled from basement to roof, and everything necessary to make the building thoroughly modern and add to the comfort and the service of the tenants has been installed. It is considered today one of the best fireproof buildings in the city of Duluth.

The boiler capacity is such that it could furnish heat and power for all the buildings located on the lower side of Superior street from Third avenue west to Fourth avenue west. The elevators have the latest modern conveniences, such as the elevator signal service, and the ventilating plant, just completed. The work of installing it was done by Deetz & Co., of Duluth, manufacturers of fireproof windows and doors, cornice, skylight and steel ceilings. Their place of business is at Nos. 309 and 311 East Superior street.

The American Sanitary Products company of 382 South Wabasha street, St. Paul, Minn., installed the sanitary absorbent paper towel system that does away with all other towels and is used exclusively throughout the building. The novel and saving plan is creating quite a demand in Duluth, Superior and the ranges.

There are 160 offices in the Torrey building and it is one of the best rented buildings today in the city of Duluth.

Miller's Cafeteria, which occupies the entire intermediate floor of the Torrey building, is the most popular establishment of its kind in the Northwest. Mr. Miller originated the idea of a self-serving restaurant of this kind in Duluth and caters to the very best class of people to be found in the city. The room is 50 by 100 feet in size, handsomely decorated throughout.

MANHATTAN BUILDING

The Manhattan building, which is located on the lower side of Superior street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues west, has a frontage of 100 feet on Superior street, and was purchased by William F. Fitch of Marquette, Mich., in 1904, from the New York Life Insurance company, the sale being made by Mr. Wall of the Whitney Wall company, who immediately took charge of the building. The building has been renovated from top to bottom, at the present time about $10,000 is being spent in further improvements and also 10,000 square feet of Ludowic Celadon Vetrified promenade tiling is being laid. It does not show the dirt or dust and is strictly sanitary. It is being laid by Thomson & Stewart, contractors for building materials and concrete construction, Nos. 226 and 228 West Michigan street. This is one of the largest contracts ever let to a Duluth firm, and the tearing up of the floors and laying of the tile, without any inconvenience to the occupants and furthermore the completing of the job, was done in less than fifteen working days, which is a credit to the firm. They also have done other large jobs both in and out of the city. The new covering of the granite stairs in the Torrey building insures more safety and comfort to the public. They are covered with what is called the Masons' Safety Tread, of which this firm is making a specialty; in addition the firm is the agent for the Fama Stone Wood for floor tiling in general.

A. C. Hoskins, who is but a young man, but old in experience, is the general superintendent for the Thomson & Stewart firm, and is prominently recognized in his line of work. He has shown much ability in the handling of his men and has a thorough understanding of the details of the work.

About a year ago a modern front was put in on the main floor, giving the stores a more attractive appearance. New boilers and machinery have been installed. The building contains 165 offices, is well rented at the present time, having only four vacant offices.

PALLADIO BUILDING

The Palladio building is located on the northwest corner of Fourth avenue west and Superior street, and was purchased by Alexander Maitland of Negaunee, Mich., from the New York Life Insurance company in the year 1903. Since the purchase of the building it has been remodeled and renovated throughout. The old light court which was an eye sore to all, is now occupied by an attractive barber shop. The main floor which was occupied by small manufacturing plants has been turned into offices, and the building has been brightened up from the basement to the roof. The Palladio building is probably one of the most popular office buildings in the city of Duluth, being located on a corner and all offices having good light. There has hardly ever been a vacant office during the time it has been in the charge of Whitney Wall company.

The Whitney Wall company makes a specialty of building management. This is a new profession which is rapidly becoming popular and necessary in the United States on account of the number of large buildings that are going up everywhere, and also on account of the equipment in the way of machinery that is necessary to run a modern building that needs watching.

Mr. Wall is a member of the National Building Managers' association, which keeps him in touch with all of the latest conveniences relative to giving comfort and service to the tenants, and he gives this part of his business his personal attention. All of the buildings in his charge are run under a system similar to the system in vogue with large manufacturing plants. Every department is charged with supplies and these charges are all kept in a tabulated form so that comparison may be made from month to month and year to year. Therefore all expenditures are watched in detail. On account of having a number of large properties to manage Mr. Wall is able to employ his own carpenters and painters by the year. Therefore a large saving is made for his owners in the buying of material and in the making of all repairs.

DULUTH'S MOST PROGRESSIVE AUTOMOBILE COMPANY

Eleven years ago today the foundation of one of the greatest business institutions of our city was laid by Mr. Filiatrault of the Mutual Auto Co. who started in the automobile business on First street, between First and Second Avenue West. The growth of this company has been little short of sensational during the past decade. Only a few years ago the automobile aroused curiosity when seen on our city streets. Now the motor is the most popular mode of travel; not only between the business center and home, but for country touring. It is largely due to the efforts of this firm that the auto has become so popular. Mr. Filiatrault having always insisted upon handling only the best cars offered, protecting the interests of his clients at all times and by placing his shoulder to the wheel and pushing hard for better road conditions, has done much in many ways in the interest of motorists and motoring. The Mutual Auto Co. is a thoroughly live organization and one of the soundest business firms we have in the city today. We also say buy your car or sundries in Duluth and help make Duluth a greater Duluth. It is the duty of every citizen of Duluth to assist this growing industry and foster this company which is building up by hard knocks one of Duluth's greatest jobbing houses. Since this company started in business its efforts in a jobbing way have enabled it, with the assistance of its sub agents, to build one of the best garages in the state, a view of which appears on this page, and which is a credit to our city.

To the Duluth Herald and our Patrons:

We desire to thank The Herald for the kind remarks outlined above and assure them and all our patrons who have assisted us in our efforts to put Duluth on the map as a very important distributing point in a jobbing way. We have at present 14 sub-agents who trade in Duluth and look to Duluth for means of living, these agents are scattered throughout North Dakota, Northern Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and Northern Michigan, including 2 in Western Canada, which means that Duluth is Profiting greatly through our efforts. We strongly appeal to all our worthy citizens to buy their cars or sundries in Duluth and by doing this they will greatly assist in making Duluth a greater Duluth and a city which in a very short time will stand out by itself as the most progressive city in all the Union. Again thanking you.

GOVERNMENT MAKES LAST ATTACK ON THE BEEF TRUST BARONS

Pierce Butler Delivers Closing Argument Before Jury in Chicago.

Pays Respects to Witnesses Who Are Employes of Packers.

Declares Financial Profits or Losses Are Beside the Issue.

Chicago, March 25.—Special Counsel Pierce Butler took up the final argument of the government today in the trial of the ten Chicago packers who since December, 1911, have been before a jury in the United States district court to answer a charge of having maintained a combination in restraint of trade, in violation of the criminal provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law.

When the hearing was resumed after a three days' delay, owing to the illness of a juror, every seat in the courtroom was filled.

In substance the argument of Attorney Butler was a contention that Armour & Co., Swift & Co. and Morris & Co. today have just as effective a monopoly of the meat business of the country as though their proposed billion dollar combine had been actually launched in 1902.

Respects to Witnesses.

Counsel for the government sought to meet every contention raised by the attorneys for the packers in their argument. Early in his address he paid his respects to certain of the witnesses, of whom he said:

"The witnesses called by the government were for the most part employes of those companies and were manifestly unwilling to aid the government in the discovery of proof of all the facts as they exist. This unwillingness, coupled with manner while on the stand, the manifest evasion, their

VIRGINIA MAN HUNT NOT YET GIVEN UP

Three of Allen Clan Are Believed to Be in the Mountains.

Hillsville, Va., March 25.—Another day's hunt for the Allens is on, with the hunters still confident that by Wednesday they will have run down at least three of the four wanted men.

A night's sleep in the foothills, badly needed after yesterday's strenuous tramping through mountain brush in a drizzling rain, put the detectives in shape for today's work and the whole force made for the mountains again soon after daylight.

One of the outlaws still at large, Claude Seanson Allen, son of Floyd Allen, is now believed to have distanced his pursuers and to have left the region. His uncle, Sidna Allen, his cousins, Wesley Edwards and Friel Allen, are still supposed to be hemmed in the narrow space on the south side of the Blue Ridge against which the detectives are centering their efforts.

Lifted Family Purse.

Claude Allen, who once attended a military school at Raleigh, N. C., and knows more of the outside world than the average mountaineer, took a pocketful of gold from the family cash drawer on the night of the tragedy, put on his best clothing and vanished on horseback beyond the North Carolina line. Hope of finding him in the mountain region has now been abandoned.

VIEWED WITH AMUSEMENT

Clark and Harmon Managers Ridicule Appeal of Wilson Nebraska Forces.

Say Wilson Has No Particular Copyright on Democratic Progressivism.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The appeal of the so-called Progressives of Nebraska, voiced through Senator Gore, that Champ Clark should withdraw his name from the primary ticket lest his candidacy might result in the selection of a Harmon delegation, met with only amused interest in the Clark and Harmon headquarters here.

At the Clark headquarters the gentleman in charge, ex-Senator Dubois being in Chicago at the time, had this to say:

"If the Wilson forces in Nebraska, arrogating to themselves the name of the Progressive Democratic league, call upon Speaker Clark to retire in the interest of progressive policies, why should they not do the same thing in every other state of the Union? Or,

Charge Regarding Instructed Votes Is Made in Indiana Capital.

Ex-President's Interests Are Being Fostered in State of Maine.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 25.—Charges that attempts had been made to bribe delegates who had been instructed for Roosevelt, to vote for Taft, are made in a statement given out at the Roosevelt headquarters, signed by Edwin M. Lee and Charles H. Campbell, national Roosevelt committeemen for Indiana. The statement reads in part:

"We are in receipt of reliable and trustworthy information that the Taft forces in this state today attempted to purchase delegates who have been instructed to vote for Roosevelt at the state and district conventions. We have the specific instances and can substantiate our statements. To offset these corrupt practices, we have this day retained counsel in every district and have employed detectives in several localities."

Mr. New, when told of the charges, said he knew of no alleged attempts to bribe delegates.

"If Mr. Lee has any information of this kind, I hope he will go after the men he believes guilty," said Capt. New.

MILWAUKEE WOMAN DIES FROM WOUNDS

Demand That Nephew Pay Board Is Cause of Tragedy.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 25.—Miss Anna Miller, 1718 Wright street, who was fatally assaulted Thursday last with a hatchet in the hands of her cousin, Arthur Koehler, died this morning at the emergency hospital. Miss Miller was 32 years old.

Koehler was arrested Saturday, charged with the crime, and confessed to the police. He will now be charged with murder and probably be brought to trial at an early date.

Koehler was incensed because Miss Miller informed him he must pay his board. He was without employment and had been living at the Miller home. He is alleged to have told the Millers he was working, and took a lunch with him every morning when he left the house. When asked to turn over some of his earnings he informed his aunt he was not working. Koehler claims Miss Miller ordered him from the house, and his assault with the hatchet was in a spirit of revenge.

NEW EFFORT MADE TO SECURE HIS FREEDOM

HARRY THAW.

New York, March 25.—A new effort is to be made to release Harry Thaw from Matteawan. This will be done by habeas corpus proceedings or by a certificate of the superintendent of the hospital that Thaw has recovered his reason. Thaw has been examined recently by Dr. Adolph Meyers of Baltimore, Dr. Charles K. Mills of the University of Pennsylvania and Dr. Frederick Peterson of New York. The report of these alienists is now in the hands of Thaw's attorney. Dr. Meyer testified in the former proceedings to release Thaw that he considered him perfectly sane.

MINNESOTA IS SIXTH IN POSTAL DEPOSITS

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, March 25.—The post-office department today gave out the following statement of the postal savings business in Minnesota: On Jan. 31, 1912, there were 242 postal savings depositories in operation in Minnesota, with deposits amounting to over $625,000. This amount was deposited by about 7,000 depositors, an average of $89 each.

There have been approximately 8,700 accounts opened and over 18,000 deposits made, an average of about three deposits to each depositor, and 4,038 withdrawals, an average of about one to each two depositors.

Compared with the number of depositors and amount on deposit in other states, Minnesota ranks sixth in number of accounts and seventh in total amount remaining on deposit.

Minnesota is the nineteenth state, according to population, and standing sixth and seventh respectively in number of accounts and amounts on deposit puts Minnesota in a considerably higher standing when judged by postal savings than the states with a larger population.

TURN DOWN ENGINEERS

Fifty Railroads Reject Their Demand for Increase in Wages.

Financial Inability Is Given as Reason for the Refusal.

New York, March 25.—Fifty railroads, comprising practically all the lines east of Chicago and north of the Norfolk & Western, today refused to grant an increase in wages demanded by their locomotive engineers.

The reply of the railroads was given at a meeting of the committee of engineers, headed by Grand Chief Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and a committee of twelve vice presidents and general managers of Eastern railroads who drafted the answer.

Members of both sides agreed that further negotiations are likely, continuing until amicable adjustment of the wage situation is arrived at.

The engineers' demand, presented Jan. 29, was for an increase amounting to about 19 per cent a year. The railroads' refusal is based on the assertion that they are financially unable to bear the increased expense.

Means $7,553,792 a Year.

The railroads point out that the proposed increase will amount to $7,553,792 annually. This increase, they say, would be equivalent to placing on their property a lien of $188,844,815 of 4 per cent securities, which would have preference over first mortgage bonds, "and to just that extent would lessen the ability of the roads to make the improvements necessary to increase the efficiency of their service and to insure greater safety to the public and employes."

The reply continues:

"Already the traffic of a growing country has overtaxed the existing facilities, and the heavy burdens in-

IS DOING WORK LAID DOWN BY DR. WILEY

DR. A. F. MITCHELL.

Washington, March 25.—Several applications for the position of chief of the bureau of chemistry have appeared. One of these, Dr. A. F. Mitchell, for many years in charge of the pure food laboratory at St. Paul, has been called to Washington to fill the place of Dr. Wiley temporarily. He is a Milwaukeean and has been in the public service since 1902. He took no side in the controversies which Dr. Wiley had with several of the officials at Washington.

White Declares Situation Critical as Concerns the Men.

Anthracite Owners Say More Pay Would Mean Higher Prices.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 25.—Both the policy committee and the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America at a meeting here today decided to take no action in the coal situation at present, pending the outcome of the conference of the operators and miners of the bituminous fields, which will be resumed tomorrow.

Situation Is Critical.

President John P. White informed the union district presidents that the coal situation was critical so far as the miners were concerned, but he hoped some means of avoiding a strike or even a prolonged suspension would be devised.

In regard to the 175,000 or more anthracite miners, Mr. White said the situation was clearly that no prospects of a settlement were in sight, all negotiations between the miners and the operators having been broken off in

MERICA CHOSEN AS HEAD OF THE RED WING SCHOOL

President of University of Wyoming Is to Succeed Whittier.

St. Paul, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Oliver Merica, president of the University of Wyoming, and formerly of the faculty of Lawrence college at Appleton, Wis., was today appointed superintendent of the state training school for boys at Red Wing, to succeed F. A. Whittier, resigned.

The appointment is announced by the state board of control and is effective Aug. 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year. Mr. Whittier is not appointed to another position under jurisdiction of the board, as it had been reported he would be.

President Merica was recommended for the Red Wing position by Judge Ben Lindsey, the famous judge of the Denver juvenile court, and by Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin. Approval of his appointment was given by Governor Eberhart.

He has been one of the great educators of the country who has got "close to his students," and has probed deeply into the problem of handling delinquent children.

In commenting on the appointment this morning, Governor Eberhart said:

"The naming of President Merica will convince the malcontents, I hope, that there was no 'politics' in the Red Wing investigation. It was claimed by some that an effort was being made to dismiss Mr. Whittier, in order to make room for someone else. The report was not true, and I hope this appointment will convince them. The board of control named Mr. Merica without my endeavoring to influence it. He is a splendid man, and has my fullest indorsement."

STEPHENSON FIGHT ON ITS LAST ROUND

Senate Will Vote Before the "Legislative Day" Has Been Finished.

Washington, March 25.—The real battle in the senate chamber over the questhion of the right of Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin to his seat opened today with the first of a program of speeches that may hold back a final vote until the middle of the week.

The senate is under requirement, by special order passed several weeks ago, to vote on this "legislative day," but this parliamentary phrase may cover any number of days.

WISCONSIN'S USE OF FUNDS OPPOSED

Sportsmen Want Surplus Used to Protect State's Game.

Madison, Wis., March 25.—It is practically certain that the next legislature will be asked to repeal that section of the game laws which transfers the unused portion of the income of the state fish and game departments to the general fund. Last year this excess was $123,255. Sportsmen from many parts of the state have written State Game Warden John A. Sholts expressing their disapproval of this law. They want all such receipts of the department, most of which are hunting license fees, to be used in securing better and more efficient supervision.

SIXTH DEATH ON DOUBLE TRACKS

Wisconsin Will Try to Solve Problem of Railway Trespassing.

La Crosse, Wis., March 25.—The sixth death in the last few months due to trespassing on the new double track of the Milwaukee road, near Sparta, Wis., occurred yesterday when Clyde Brown, a farmer, was struck and killed while walking home on the track. As in the other cases, Brown stepped from one track to the other on noting the approach of a train on the track on which he was walking, and stepped in front of a train coming from the opposite direction on the other track.

Question of Trespass.

Madison, Wis., March 25.—Governor F. E. McGovern has joined with the governors and officials of state public utility commissions of a number of states in giving attention to the necessity of measures against trespass on railways. President Darius Miller of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy recently wrote to the governors of thirteen states asking the co-operation of the state authorities in securing the enactment and enforcement of laws against trespass. It is shown that over half of the people killed annually by the railways are trespassers.

Governor McGovern wrote that the subject is an important one, but not a simple one for legislators. He said he had called the attention of the state railroad commission to it and that he would give the subject his personal attention.

LAWRENCE STRIKE OFF

Union Men Claim They Have Won in the Struggle.

Consumers Must Pay Increased Wages for 275,000 Workers, It Is Said.

Lawrence, Mass., March 25.—"The end" finally has been written upon the records of the long-standing strike of textile workers. After conducting for ten weeks the fight of the mill workers against the mill owners, and securing increased wages and improved working conditions all around, the strike committee has voted to lift the ban on the half dozen mills against which the strike order was still in effect. The strike thus being declared ended, the strike committee voted itself out of xistence.

The return of the strikers' children from homes where they were sent during the strike has been arranged for next Saturday. At that time a demonstration is planned, including a big parade in which the children will participate.

Leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World, including William D. Haywood, William E. Trautman and William Yates, will leave within a few days for other fields. They declared in separate statements that the Lawrence strike had achieved "one great, grand victory, far-reaching in results, which will always be remembered."

NEW FREEZE-UP THREATENS TO DELAY OPENING OF SOO

Conditions Similar to 1888 When Boats Started May 7.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ice conditions in the St. Mary's river have materially changed within the last few days, owing to the change in the weather.

A week ago it was generally predicted that the opening of the passage to navigation would be no later this spring than the average in years past. Open water was reported in Mud and Hay lakes and an open channel extended from the canal to below the Little Rapids cut. This channel still is open, but the water in the lakes has again become solid. Teams are crossing at the encampment, and also between Detour and Drummond Island.

During the ten days of warm weather the snow covering the ice mostly disappeared, leaving the ice covered with water. This is now frozen solid and the ice on the river in many places is of greater thickness than it has been any time during the winter. If the present cold weather continues for a few days longer the passage will not be open to navigation until May at least, and perhaps later.

It is being pointed out that local conditions are similar to those that prevailed in the spring of 1888, when the passage was not opened until May 7.

DENEEN CALLS SPECIAL SESSION

Illinois Legislators Pledged to Pass Presidential Primary Bill.

Chicago, March 25.—Governor Deneen today called the state legislature in special session to pass a preferential presidential primary act to be effective for the state primary April 9.

Some time ago the governor announced that if two-thirds of the members of the legislature would agree to pass an effective presidential preference primary act he would issue the call. The necessary number signified their readiness to vote in favor of such a bill today and the call immediately was issued.

The convening of the special session is set for tomorrow, and two bills, one for presentation in the senate and the other to be introduced in the lower house, already have been prepared.

As an emergency measure to go into immediate effect, the bill would require the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the legislators.

UNION COMMITTEES DELAY ACTION AS TO COAL MINERS' STRIKE

New York, March 13, and no overtures for a renewal of the negotiations have been received.

The adjournment of the bituminous coal conference from last Friday over until tomorrow leaves hope that the 250,000 miners in the bituminous coal fields may come to an agreement. If they do not, the union officials pointed out, the recommendations concerning both the anthracite and the bituminous miners will be alike, that is, the policy committee will inform the union that as no wage agreements have been effected to take the place of present ones, which expire on March 31, a suspension of business is inevitable and the question whether the men shall strike will be put to a referendum vote.

In Anthracite Mines.

"There is not much to do concerning the anthracite miners," said Mr. White, "except to report to the men that negotiations have failed. That in itself makes it clear to the men that they are not to work after March 31.

"It is doubtful, even if we come to an agreement in the bituminous fields, that we can make it effective in time to avoid a suspension."

The negotiations by the bituminous operators and miners concerns directly only those in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, but indirectly it fixes a basis upon which all other bituminous miners operate. It was stated that the contracts in Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas, comprising the Southwestern field, provide the men shall give sixty days' notice before suspending.

Would Mean Higher Prices.

New York, March 25.—Anthracite operators here are giving out no information, but influences are at work to force them and their employes to come to some agreement. The operators have heard unofficially that the hard coal miners would be satisfied to waive most of their demands if they could secure an increase in wages, but to raise wages, the operators say, will make it nesessary to increase the price of coal, which they expressed themselves as being unwilling to do.

Men Breaking Away.

Glasgow, March 25. — A general breakaway of the miners from the strike movement seems probable in Scotland. One thousand men resumed work in the pits at Bell Hill, Lanarkshire, this morning. In other pits also there was a considerable resumption of work.

Parliament Delays Action.

London, March 25. — The discussion of the minimum wage bill for miners has again been postponed until tomorrow, as negotiations are still proceeding betweeen the mine owners and the miners under the guidance of the premier and the members of the cabinet.

Even if the national coal strike were settled at once and the million miners returned to work, the condition of the remaining 2,000,000 men in other industries who have been rendered idle by the lack of supplies of coal necessary to carry on their trades could not be immediately relieved. Their tens of thousands of dependents are suffering great privations, and in South Wales, where the funds of the miners' unions are completely exhausted, the conditions have reached a terrible stage.

Terrible Distress Reported.

A similar story comes from Scotland. Large numbers of the miners of East Lothian are in such straits that they are searching for coal in the disused workings along the beach. Terrible distress also prevails among the wives and children of non-unionists, who, unlike their fellow workers, have no strike pay coming in. Difficulty has been experienced by the miners' unions in many districts in restraining numbers of the men from returning to the pits.

The torn services on the railroads have been still further reduced today, and the steamboat services across the English channel has been further restricted.

The seaside resorts, which had made preparations for a big Easter trade, have had to cancel all their arrangements for special trains, involving them in heavy loss.

Costing $50,000,000 a Week.

Prof. H. S. Jevons estimates that the strike is costing the United Kingdom $50,000,000 for every week it lasts.

The delegates of the miners and the owners had a meeting with Premier Asquith and several members of the cabinet this morning prior to the joint conference.

LAWRENCE STRIKE OFF

increased wages for 275,000 textile workers in New England and accomplished its purpose, in the opinion of the leaders.

In this connection it is generally believed, too, that advances in wages or reduction in hours to paper mill employes, bagging and burlap workers, machinists and operatives in other industries, are all traceable, directly or indirectly, to the movement which had its origin in Lawrence. The total number of persons thus far to benefit is considerably upward of 300,000.

Consumer Must Pay.

Advances in the price of woolen and cotton woods which are in prospect will probably place upon the ultimate consumer much of the burden of the additional cost to the textile manufacturers. This will aggregate between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 during the next year, it is estimated. Mill agents, in announcing advances in prices, have frankly said that the upward trend is the result of wage advances.

The rise in the price of cotton goods announced up to today is comparatively small—a fraction of a cent a yard in most cases—but selling agents predict that the advance to the retailer may ultimately reach 2 cents a yard: Some increased prices also have been quoted on woolen goods, and dealers freely predict higher prices for next season.

Trouble at New Bedford.

New Bedford, where the manufacturers of the finer grades of cotton goods have refused to accede to the demands of their employes for an additional 10 per cent, has displaced Lawrence as the center of interest in the textile situation. Unless the mill owners give the increase demanded within a few days, it is feared a strike of from 25,000 to 30,000 operatives will follow.

While an increase of 5 per cent has been offered, the New Bedford operatives are insistent that they receive 10 per cent. Secretary Devoll of the manufacturers' association has promised them that the mill owners will decide early in the week whether this will be granted. The suggestion has been made that an immediate increase of 7½ per cent be given, with a promise of an additional 2½ per cent on a given date. This may be the basis of a compromise.

curred through legislation, large expenditures for improvements which produce no revenue, and the previous wage increases, have made it impossible for many of the roads to provide the added facilities which a prudent foresight demands.

Would Lead to Bankruptcy.

"Past history indicates that if these increases are given the engineers, they will be followed by similar requests from other employes, which if granted would result in actual bankruptcy to some of the roads and would leave them as a whole unprepared to meet any sudden increase in the demands for transportation."

The railroads point out that the wage advance to engineers and other employes since 1910 was made in expectation of "a much needed" advance in freight rates which the interstate commerce commission declined to allow. Since that period, they say, enforced reductions of rates have been more or less continuous and other rate reductions are pending.

The railroads declare that the fixing of a standard wage for the conductors and trainmen was the result of a crisis developed in connection with their demands, and should not be taken as a precedent.

"There are many inconsistencies in a standard wage. It must be apparent that all railroads are not equally able to pay a standard rate * * * The reduction of the net revenues by the constantly increasing expenses of operation have so narrowed the margin which is essential to the solvent existence of many of the roads, that further increases in operating costs are viewed with great concern."

Lower Net Earnings.

Figures are presented to show that while the gross earnings of the roads concerned increased $18,559,659 in 1911, there was a decrease in net earnings of $27,650,200; and while 8,197 less men were employed, the total wages increased $39,416,802. The reply concludes:

"This headlong movement towards financial disaster cannot proceed unchecked. In view, therefore, of the fact that the present rates of wages are as a rule full and liberal, and the railroads, as explained above, are financially unable to bear the increased expense involved, it is evidently impossible to grant the request which you have submitted."

The reply is signed by the conference committee of managers, J. C. Stuart, chairman.

Grand Chief Stone, when told, just before the meeting of the railroad men, that the demands of the engineers had been refused, and asked what the engineers would do, said he had no predictions to make.

ROOSEVELT MEN SAY TAFT'S BACKERS TRIED TO BUY UP DELEGATES

made by the national Taft bureau and the Roosevelt executive committee here.

Director McKinley of the Taft bureau said:

"The latest advices from Indiana indicate beyond a doubt that the Taft people control the state convention by a majority of at least 250 and will send four delegates at large instructed for Taft on Tuesday, March 26. It is settled beyond any question that Taft will have 22 out of 30 in the state."

Ends Trip to Maine.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 25.—Well pleased with the results of his trip to Portland, Me., Col. Theodore Roosevelt returned to Oyster Bay last evening for a few hours' rest before plunging again into his campaign.

Mr. McCormick gave out a statement in which he said a Roosevelt movement to embrace the entire state of Maine had been formed while the colonel was in Portland.

"It should be noted," the statement read, "that over half of the delegates already elected are instructed for Roosevelt, while the remaining delegates are uninstructed. Saturday night the Taft leaders privately conceded the state to Roosevelt. During the several days that I have been in New England, I have conferred with the Roosevelt leaders from New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Maine. These men have carefully canvassed the three states. They are unanimous in reporting that the rank and file of Republicans are from 2 to 1 to 6 to 1 in favor of Col. Roosevelt's nomination."

State Convention Tuesday.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 25.—Four district conventions this afternoon and a state convention in this city tomorrow will go far toward deciding the close contest between the supporters of President Taft and Col. Roosevelt for a majority of the Indiana delegation of thirty to the national Republican convention. Two delegates are to be elected in the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Eleventh districts today, and at tomorrow's state convention four delegates at large will be chosen. Other district conventions are to follow.

Confident claims of victory were issued today from both Taft and Roosevelt headquarters. Unofficial returns from ward and township primaries or meetings at which convention delegates have been elected show the Taft faction will have a majority of about 150 in the state convention and will carry eight of the thirteen districts. Margins are so narrow in many districts that certain decision must wait on the results of the conventions. The Roosevelt managers are claiming eight districts and the state convention.

lack of candor, their willful concealment of facts well known to them and their perversion of truth as they knew it, fully justifies the jury in believing to be true all that these employes said which tends to support the claims of the government and rejecting all that they said in opposition to the government."

As to Responsibility.

Turning to the question whether, if an offense had begn committed, which he declared was one of the controlling facts for the jury to determine, Attorney Butler said:

"In this case, if there is found a combination the responsibility of the defendants is plain. Counsel made no substantial argument to the contrary."

At another point Mr. Butler said:

Attorney Miller seemed to prefer in his argument to express the defense for which he contended by pointing out a 'twilight zone' of considerable width between the daylight of innocence and the black darkness of guilt. From his argument we glean that it is his idea that even though the defendants do not walk in the daylight of innocence, but in the shadowy zone between absolute darkness of guilt and the daylight of innocence, they should be acquitted."

Profits Not Involved.

Speaking of what the government had to prove he said:

"There is nothhing requiring the government to prove that the defendants made excessive profits or any profits. If they combined to restrain trade by elimination of competition themselves, or by fixing the prices, they are guilty whether they made money or lost it."

Mr. Butler declared that the argument of Attorney Payne for the defendants was an attempt to justify rather than to deny the existence of the combination charged.

"The plain English for that," said Mr. Butler, "is this: In prosecutions under the Sherman act, juries must place themselves above the courts and determine what the law is, and if economically unsound, repeal it in the particular case."

Juror H. I. Bucklin was declared by his physicians fully recovered from his ailment, and took his place with the remainder of the panel when the court convened.

"Crooked Mouth Bob" Dead.

Spokane, Wash., March 25.—"Crooked Mouth Bob," a renegade Indian and terror of Central Washington in territorial days, who frequently boasted he would never die, has gone to his reward. While on the way to his ranch on the Columbia river near Chelan, Wash., a few days ago, he fell from his cayuse and afterward was run over by a team driven by two reds, the wheels of the vehicle crushing his skull. The Indians did not see his prostrate body in the road.

Korean Railroad Opened.

Seoul, Korea, March 25.—The entire railroad line from this city to the port of Kunsan on the west coast was opened for traffic today.

Spring Style Exhibit of Gowns, Wraps and Millinery

Tuesday and Wednesday

Displaying the latest modes in Hats, Suits, Coats, Gowns, Waists, Skirts, Negligees, Juvenile and Infant's Wear.

Whisperings of Spring

As Noted in This Exhibit.

These modes—very many of them in apparel, fabrics and accessories, have drawn many of their richest inspirations from the Louis XV period. Many of the hats, wraps and gowns have all the grandeur of old paintings modernized.

The old fashioned flowered and brocaded designs of the Pompadour period are prominent in taffetas—so wonderfully soft in their texture that they are exquisitely fashioned into ruchings, plaitings and ruffles that have the quaintness of our grandmothers' days.

The greatest contention of Parisian modistes has been for the silhouette effect—a truly artistic, carefully studied harmonizing of lines in every requisite of the toilette—the hat, the wrap, and the gown.

In millinery, shapes dominate the styles, the trimmings being rather incidental and designed to accentuate the lines of the hat.

Many of the newest shapes, especially those of the medium and smaller hats, roll away at the sides or in front in long sweeping lines.

In the larger hats, low crowns are decidedly favored and they are almost invariably free from all trimming.

The effect of height is attained in many of the smaller hats by means of paradise plumes in novel arrangements.

A feature that brings marked individuality to this season's hats is in the way they are designed to set very low over the head.

Long, gracefully curving lines mark the styles in dress hats—a plume frequently extending and accentuating this harmony of line, sometimes falling from the hat over the hair.

Flowers in masses and novel arrangements adorn many of the prettiest hats without breaking the lines of the shapes.

All millinery fabrics are used—laces, ribbons, flowers, ornaments and plumage. Steel buckles are especially favored, appearing on many of the smartest hats.

The styles of tailored as well as dress hats depend more on the lines of the shapes than on the trimmings, but the selection and placement of these trimmings call for the utmost skill of the trimmer to attain the desired effect.

The Marquise and Tricorne shapes are noted in hats for all occasions, with brims developed in apparently innumerable ways.

In gowns, the strong influence of the Louis XV period also appears—graceful drapings of French flowers, wreaths and corsage bouquets of wonderfully colored blossoms.

Pompadour chiffons, in striking combinations with black Chantilly and white filet laces, are used in some of the most attractive gowns.

Many Dresden patterns are shown in effective harmonies with the Pompadour colorings.

Quaint gowns of soft taffeta show a wealth of color, especially those in combination with ruchings of chiffon and net.

Wide blue or bright red stripes over white, in the new silks, are shown among the more striking color combinations in silk dresses.

Many of the gowns, especially admired, are in effective combinations of black and white.

In the wool dresses—and the styles this season, are decidedly attractive and practical—lingerie collars and cuffs are among the newest features.

In the latest tailored suits, many of the imported models show a marked preference for three-quarter sleeves.

Many novel cutaway coats appear among the new models in suits—lapels are long, extending below the bust and often nearly to the waistline.

Collars and cuffs of coats are trimmed in a way that gives them unusual prominence in the newest models—embroideries and laces that are effective both in colorings and designs.

Silks in a wide range of beautiful novelties also lend unusual charm to the latest modes in tailored suits—especially those of bengaline, charmeuse, brocades and taffetas.

Strong colors in beautiful combinations are greatly favored in silk waists—cherry chiffon over gray, white crepe meteor embrodered in cherry, rose veiled with navy blue marquisette, and chiffons and taffetas veiled over lace trimmings.

In the lingerie waists, heavy embroidered effects are combined with filet, Venise and Irish laces—many of the designs accentuating the charm of the tunic effect.

The small apron tunic now appears in waists of satin, taffeta and chiffon, as well as in the lingerie models, and is the most charming of the season's novelties.

"R & S" Fabrics Are Here

One of the cardinal principles of this store is to NEVER misrepresent or make statements that are not ABSOLUTELY TRUE. Another store advertises that the much advertised R. & S. Silk and Wool Fabrics are for sale there only in Duluth.

That Is Not the Truth

We carry fabrics in silk and wool, as follows:

Brocaded Silk and Wool R. & S. Poplin, 42 inches wide.

"Vourneen" Silk and Wool plain Poplin, 24 inches wide.

Silk and Wool Crepe Faille, 24 inches wide, $1.25 a yard, instead of $1.50, as elsewhere.

R. & S. All-Silk Brocade Crepe Faille, 24 inches wide, $1.25 a yard, instead of $1.50, as elsewhere.

All of these come in a complete line of colors, staple, as well as evening shades.

Suitable Styles for the Younger Generation

(Copyright, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

NIP off mother's gown to shoe-top length, simplify the trimming just a bit, liven up the tone a little with a dash of youthful color—and presto! you have the fashionable frock for the young girl. Both in suits and gowns the modes for the misses follow very closely those of her elders, and most becoming are this season's straight, simple lines, dashing rever effects and quaint fichu conceits, to the straight, girlish figures.

One feature of the yong girl's street suit, which is more marked, perhaps, than in the grown-up models, is the use of lace as a trimming. It is usually in the form of detachable collar and cuffs—the Irish and Venise laces being well liked—but several smart styles show the lace worked into the sailor collar and rever effects in interesting fashion. Illustrative of this idea was a blue serge suit over whose broad revers of the serge turned back an all-over sailor collar of Venise lace, the back of it, however, being entirely covered by the deep collar of black satin, in the rounded sailor form, that fell over it, and was fastened to the back of the coat with flat frogs of soutache braid.

A pretty finish for the jaunty little cutaway coats, which is seen to a great extent in the adult suits, also, is the scalloped edge. The entire bottom of the coat, and the fronts to the lowest button, are cut in shallow scallops about three inches across, which are bound with a narrow soutache braid. In white serge, which had a hair line stripe of black, the effect was especially good.

The cunning garments for the wee kiddies this season show a wide variety of styles. There are sailor suits and Russian blouse suits for the tiny men, and kilted styles and quaint surplice designs for small sister. The two-piece effects will be much worn this summer. These consist of a plaited skirt joined to an underbody, and an overblouse made usually in kimono style. These may be worn with or without a belt, but they are particularly pretty when finished with one of the wide patent leather belts, which are seen on so many of the little frocks.

For the play dresses the heavy materials are favored—linen, rep, pique, and washable corduroy. Many of these are quite plain except for the scalloped edges, which are machine embroidered and which form a neat finish for neck, sleeve and skirt.

Plaids, in delicate colors, in the chambray or gingham, are often made very simply so that with them may be worn sailor collars and cuffs of sheer embroidery, lage edged. A pale pink and green plaid with a deep cross-over collar and wide cuffs of sheer hand-embroidered batiste, had a quaint note introduced in the inch-wide knife-pleating of the plaid gingham which was carried around the lower edge of the belt.

Some of the new coats show a clever adaptation of the cutaway style so modish in women's garments. Large collars and revers continue in favor as does likewise the side closing. And nothing less than adorable is the little tot's spring bonnet with the rose or ribbon on it. Bonnet shapes, with stiff little ornaments of feathers or ribbon, or faced with soft chiffons and trimmed with prim little posies, are the most alluring styles for the very small child. For the older girl are the small straw hats, flower trimmed, the serviceable pique hats, the close little bonnet hats, and the dainty lingerie hats, with a rose or two nestled here and there in the filminess.

DULUTH SHOPS COMPLETELY STOCKED FOR SPRING TRADE

Merchants' Exhibits Would Be Credit to a Much Larger City.

Some of the New Styles for Women, Men and Children.

Much that is new, beautiful, artistic and intensely interesting alike to residents and to strangers may be seen by taking a short walk along Superior street through the main business section of the city.

Duluth has many stores which for attractiveness of appearance, excellence of management and efficiency in supplying the wants of the public, are equaled in few cities of its size and surpassed in none.

Duluthians would know more about what the local retail merchants have been doing of late, if the weather had not been so cold. There have not been many days when it has been agreeable to stand and gaze into the shop windows, but the store-keepers of this city are a set of thinking, hustling people, always looking ahead, and preparing for coming things.

Nearly all of the merchants have completed their preparations for the spring trade and many have already supplied their stores with goods for the summer business. The display windows of the large clothing stores are equipped with exhibits that would show up at fine advantage in booths at the state fair. There is real art in these displays. Perhaps they are not fully appreciated because it costs nothing to see them.

Serve Large Territory.

It is not at all surprising that Duluth's retail stores attract not merely the city's own residents but people from all parts of the Cuyuna range, the Vermilion range, and the Mesaba range, from Northwestern Minnesota, from a vast number of settlements between Duluth and the Twin Cities, from North Dakota and from neighboring parts of Wisconsin. Some of the stores go far beyond these regions, filling orders from many parts of the United States. One of Duluth's leading stores, where women's apparel is handled, recently filled an order for a dress for a woman in Sweden.

The spring raiment for women is selling very early this year, earlier than usual, though the winter has been long and cold and spring is very late. Ladies' tailored suits are going very fast. Many are largely of velvet though other fancy materials are used. There is a novelty in the style of the coats this year in that they are "one-sided," that is, the decorations are not symmetrical. Many have buttons on one side at the back, while one lapel is covered with a fancy cloth and the other is merely of the same material as the coat. Some have yokes through the back. Some coats are of whipcord, others of serges and some are of a mixture of different materials. Some are very light, for ordinary street wear. Others are heavier, being designed for use while traveling in automobiles or on steamers. Materials that have been chosen for next fall's trade are largely used for these coats. There are some exquisite coats of changeable silk, satin and messaline. Nearly all the patterns for these dress suits are imported from Paris, though the garments themselves were made for the most part in New York. Among the designers, whose styles are on display in the Duluth stores, are Paul Poiret, Drecoll, Bernard and Paquin, all Parisians.

Easter Two Weeks Away.

Easter is but two weeks away and it may truly be said that the stores of Duluth are in their spring bloom. There are new fashions along almost every line. Innovation is the order of the day, as anyone may well see, who visits the large stores of Duluth, especially those where women's clothing is sold. The storekeepers themselves are full of the spirit of the season. Many of the finest stores are having their spring openings. The spring opening is the debut of spring fashions. One of the principal Duluth stores had its opening this week. Several others will follow next week.

The distinguishing features of the spring fashions of women's attire this year is that they are sensible. The fabrics never were more beautiful and never were the outlines more symmetrical. This is true of both the plain styles and the fancy styles. But all the styles are sane and wholesome and are such as appeal to the women of good taste and refinement.

The spring skirts are not much wider than those of the winter season that has just drawn to a close. They are just wide enough for comfort and at the same time are in conformity with artistic straight lines. Suit jackets are frankly short, being from 24 to 26 inches in length. Most of the suit skirts range from 2 to 2½ yards.

Prominent among the suiting materials are the serges, whip cords, Bedford cords and various hair lines. There are always various novelties in the way of mannish suitings just for variety, worsteds for example.

Tailored Suits.

Plain tailored suits are always staple. They are the "bread and butter" of the stock. But there are many new effects. There are fancy suits with cut-away effects, Cossack styles with Peplum effects, braided effects and big revers. Sometimes there are two revers, sometimes only one. Sometime the revers are not alike on the same coat, one being covered with lace and the other not. Taffeta silk has been used to a large extent in the suits; also in dresses, and in the draping of hats.

Coats are mostly of the same materials as the suits, being mostly in serges, whipcords and Bedford cords. The dresses and coats are inter-dependent for popularity. One cannot be popular unless the other is also, for they go together. Heretofore, the public has long been very partial to the suit, but the dresses and coats are winning back their old time favor, and this year they are about as high in public esteem as the suits.

In the line of dresses, the stores are supplied with a smart little tailored cloth dress for business and street wear. It is so convenient and handy, that women are taking to it quite generally. These little tailored dresses are made of serge, whipcord and challis. Another class of dresses is the little silk frock, used for afternoon street wear or for card parties. These dresses are fit for all sorts of "in-between" occasions. They are of crepe de chine, meteor, foulard, wash taffetas, changeable taffetas and other materials. Moreover, there are many kinds of little wash dresses or tub frocks, so called because they can be washed. They come in new Terry cloth, wash crash, domestic and imported linens, cotton Bedford cord, marquisettes and fine lingerie materials, for example, French batiste.

Some Hats.

Among the ladies' hats there is a plain-styled English tailored hat, with only a little trimming. Because there is so little trimming it must be very carefully applied so as to make it "stunning" though simple. It is in both black and white effects as well as all other colors, the color being chosen in each case to correspond with the tailored suit or the simple dress.

The trimmings of the plain or street hats are mostly pheasant feathers, Mercury wings, smart bows, pleatings or ribbon and flowers. There are also monticur designates, which project upward smartly. Women who do not know what they are may be readily enlightened by inquiring at any of Duluth's fine millinery establishments.

Besides all these, there are elaborate hats for dressing costumes. These go with the real French model hats. They are profusely trimmed with flowers. This is indeed quite a flower season. Plumes are also very popular on the dressy hats. Many of the hats are veiled with figured or printed chiffons.

Styles for Men.

Duluth merchants have been just as solicitous about having their male as well as their female customers properly attired for the opening season in the most approved and up-to-date styles. The clothing stores are well stocked with spring suits, which are of the plain shades, tans and grays. There are also some mixtures of colors. There is a large line of Norfolk suits, which will be quite in style this spring. The bulk of the goods is of American manufacture, though there are some imported from England. The English goods are, of course, a little more expensive.

The stores are fully equipped with all their spring and summer hats, with the single exception of the straw hats. There are few stiff hats. Nearly all are soft. They are of many different colors, but grays and browns predominate. Some are of a rough and shaggy finish. Others are of the brush finish, which is not quite so rough. The rougher hats are more largely of wool. The brush finished ones are of a mixture of wool and felt. There are also smooth-finish felts for especially conservative people. Many of the hats are imported, coming from London, Paris and Italy. A peculiar, light-colored corduroy rib hat has been imported from Italy. A light velvet-finish hat has been imported from Brussels. One Duluth merchant said today that he had on hand 150 different styles of hats of fifty different colors and shades.

There are some derby hats for sale. For the conservative dresser there are derbies with crowns about 5 inches high and brims from 2 to 2¼ inches wide. These are for men who do not wish to be out-of-date but at the same time do not like radical changes. Other derbies with lower crowns and broader brims are for younger and more progressive men, notably college students.

The cap line this spring is very strong in Duluth. There are English and Scotch mixtures in abundance. Among the most popular of the spring caps are the Heids, the Stags and the Rignauds. Some of the caps look very heavy, but they are light. Caps are more popular in Duluth than in other cities, because this is rather a windy place, and the man who insists on wearing a hat in all kinds of spring weather is often obliged to spend a considerable part of his time chasing it. The caps can be rolled up and put in one's pocket. Some are so light that when tightly rolled they will slip into a vest pocket. Conspicuous among the many different styles of caps that are now on the Duluth clothing market is the Norfolk from London. These caps are made to go with the Norfolk suit. The caps are imported, but the suits are made in America.

Knitted Neckties.

Knitted neckties are going to be all in style this spring. The stores are strongly stocked with knitted neckwear of various kinds.

The leading feature of the shirts that are on the market this spring is the neglige cuff, a French style. Many of the shirts are of French flannels, French silk and madras.

The stores have large lines of silk hosiery for the spring trade.

Duluth is a great place to buy shoes, for men, women and children. The making of shoes is an American art. Foreign shoes cannot be purchased in America, and they would not sell if they were brought here. Foreigners like the American shoes and buy them in immense quantities, but an American who would wear a European shoe would indeed be a novelty. The men's shoes have flatter toes this spring than has been the custom. This is true both of the black and tan shoes. Nearly all are on straight-lace pattern.

There are plentiful supplies, not only of high, but also of the low shoes, which will be selling as soon as the weather warms up. There are Oxfords for men and pumps for women. The pumps are mostly of gun-metal and suede. They are very low and are fastened with a buckle.

For the early summer trade, large supplies of white, light-bottom shoes will be placed on the market, both in canvas and buckskin.

The public has been demanding a wide-toe shoe for children and the Duluth stores have it. These are nature-shape shoes, which do not cramp the toes. They are made largely in Rochester.

TWO PRISONERS GIVEN REFORMATORY SENTENCES.

William T. Kelley for forgery, second degree, and Eli Young for burglary, third degree, were sentenced to the St. Cloud reformatory on the indeterminate plan by Judge Dancer of the district court Saturday afternoon.

Kelley passed a forged check for $8 on a saloonkeeper on Feb. 28 last. He came to the city the day before the forgery with Ernest Erwin, alias William Hamlin, who is also held by the authorities on the same offense. Erwin pleaded not guilty to the indictment returned by the grand jury and will stand trial.

Kelley is 29 years old and a single man. He told the court that his home was in Caledonia, N. D., where he has relatives. He has been twice convicted before on petit larceny charges and his done time in both the St. Paul and Minneapolis workhouses.

Eli Young, aged 20, who was also sent to the reformatory, was tried and found guilty by a jury last week on a charge of having broken into a box car in the local railroad yards last month. His parents live in Virginia, Minn.

MELLIN'S

"We want you to know how perfectly delighted we are with Mellin's Food. From the time our baby was born until she was six months old, she did not gain as she should have. She did not sleep as a young baby does if well and properly nourished; in fact, she suffered dreadfully the whole six months with colic. We tried many different foods, but nothing seemed to agree with her. Then we decided to try Mellin's Food and from that day to this she has gained rapidly, sleeps well and is a healthy, rosy-cheeked baby girl. We owe her good health to Mellin's Food and we certainly take pleasure in recommending it to all our friends."

NO CLEWS IN MINNEAPOLIS MURDER CASE

Young Woman's Body Found Near Her Home in the Mill City.

Alice Mathews' Death Is Declared Due to Strangulation.

Marks of Assault Found on Corpse—Reward to Be Offered.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the entire police force of the city on the watch, and with a score of detectives on the case, Mayor J. C. Haynes today announced that he would offer a reward for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderer of Alice Mathews, aged 21 years. Miss Mathews' body was found early yesterday near her home, marks upon it giving evidence of assault and strangulation.

The police declare that they have but little upon which to work, but are seeking to discover with whom Miss Mathews was when she left the street car. Albert Savaga, a neighbor, declares that he saw her conversing with a young man. One man who was arrested today with a number of scratches upon his face later was released by the police after an investigation.

Girl's Clothing Was Torn.

With the clothing torn to tatters and with marks upon her body which the police say tell plainly a story of assault and strangulation, the body of Miss Mathews, worker in a local flour mill, was found here Sunday just a block from her home, 3547 Tenth avenue.

"Please let me go. I promise not to tell."

These were the last words Miss Mathews is known to have uttered. They were heard by Mrs. H. C. Thomas in her home, in front of which the body was found. Numerous others heard the sound of angry talking and the police were asked to investigate, but through some mistake the officer sent out to investigate failed to find the place.

Miss Mathews' younger sister, Jennie, on her way home from a party, passed near and saw the body a short time after the tragedy occurred. She thought it only that of a drunken carouser.

Had No Male Friends.

Little is left in the nature of a clew upon which the police can work. The girl's relatives declare she had no male friends. She had been at the theater with two girl friends, who left her as she boarded the car down town at 11:06 o'clock. According to Albert Savage, who was upon the car, Miss Mathews was talking with a young man and both alighted from the car with him at the end of the line. They walked, he declared, toward the girl's home and as he passed them near where the body was found, they seemed to be arguing.

Physicians declare death was due to strangulation.

Mrs. G. W. Tibbetts, who was one of those who heard the cries, found the body and immediately notified the ttcally is prostrated and the father, tcally s prostrated and the father, Harry Mathews, and step-mother are almost in as bad condition.

KILLS SELF IN CABIN.

Homesteader Near Douglas, N. D., Blows Out His Brains.

Douglas, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Using his toe to pull the trigger of a shotgun, the muzzle of which he had placed against his forehead, Samuel St. John committed suicide in his lonely cabin nine miles from here. The body was discovered by William Evans and Frank Peterson, who had stopped to visit St. John.

The body was lying in a pool of blood which almost covered the floor of the little shack. It is supposed that he committed suicide because of melancholy spells with which he was at times afflicted.

IN FAVOR OF ANNEXATION

Business Men of Cuba Would Like Union With United States.

J. D. Stryker Returns From Two Months' Visit in the South.

That the business interests of Cuba which seek permanency want annexation is the opinion of J. D. Stryker, who has returned from a trip to Florida and Cuba.

Mr. Stryker was accompanied by Mrs. Stryker, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nolte were also with them for a time, but returned about two weeks earlier.

"The business of Havana is largely in the hands of the Spaniards and Americans" said Mr. Stryker. "These people want annexation, for the country is at present in much the same condition that we are when we have a hot political campaign on. It is unsettled, and the business men believe that annexation would put an end to the uncertainty.

"Of course those in control of the government at the present time oppose annexation. The country is permeated with graft. Business seems to be prospering in spite of these conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. Stryker made the trip over the new Florida East Coast railroad from Miami to Key West on the third train that was run, and arrived in Key West the day after the big celebration for the arrival of the first train.

"The railroad is not completed," said Mr. Stryker. "Part of it is only a temporary structure which will have to be replaced, but trains are running over it regularly. It is a most interesting trip. At one place you are running on a railroad track but out of sight of land. The strip of land is very narrow, at no place being so wide that you cannot see water on both sides, and at places you run for several miles over trestle work or viaducts. One of these viaducts is nearly seven miles long.

"Ultimately the road will doubtless draw a large business from Cuba in the freight line, but at present its support is coming largely from the immense tourist trade. The rates are of course high, but they must be to give returns on such an enormous investment.

"There is a big colony of Duluth people in the South, and hardly a day passed that we did not meet somebody from this city. We were four weeks in Havana and four weeks in Daytona, Fla., stopping also at Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Miami and other points. Mr. Luther Mendenhall now lives in Havana for three or four months of the year. We met him there. Among the Duluthians in the South while we were there were: Mr. and Mrs. Patrick, Marshall Alworth, Eby Gridley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perry, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Volk, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gilbert, and Dr. and Mrs. McClaran. We met most of them, and there were many others that I do not think of at the moment. A Duluthian certainly feels at home in Florida or Cuba, and it would not be hard to find somebody from this city in any town you visit."

LINSEED OIL COMPANY LOSES

Deny Writ Restraining State From Confiscating Diluted Product.

St. Paul, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.) — Judge Willard in United States district court in Minneapolis today entered the final decree in the case wherein the American Linseed Oil company of Omaha was seeking to restrain the state dairy and food department from confiscating its diluted oils, and in which it sought to recover $5,000 damages. The oil company lost on both counts.

HINES COMPANY CHARGES LIBEL

Former Undersheriff Arrested at Eau Claire—Blackmail Charge Made.

Eau Claire, Wis., March 25.—Benjamin L. Runkle of Washburn, Wis., was arrested here today by Sheriff Cleghorn of Eau Claire county on complaint of the Edward Hines Lumber company, charging criminal libel and attempted blackmail. The complaint is signed by Christian F. Wiehe, secretary of the Hines company, who is here.

Runkle is accused of having written letters to Hines and to the Lumbermen's Lloyds, a mutual insurance concern with headquarters here, charging the Hines company with having themselves fired their lumber plant at Washburn on Sunday morning, July 1, 1906. In this loss about $70,000 insurance was paid.

Runkle came to Eau Claire to met a supposed insurance adjuster and was arrested.

He is now in jail, pending a preliminary hearing before Judge McBain of Eau Claire. He is a former undersheriff of Washburn county and now a detective. When arrested he had two revolvers. The charge is made in Eau Claire county because the letters were published here.

STEAL 800 ELK TEETH AND $200

Burglars Blow Safe in the Miles Theater in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Expert robbers early today blew the safe in the Miles theater here, securing 800 elk teeth, valued at $3,000, and $200 in cash. Limited time, it is supposed, prevented them from obtaining more than $2,000 which was in the inner strongbox of the safe.

The elk teeth were the property of W. F. Gallagher, manager of the theater, and the collection was considered one of the best in the country.

The explosion was heard by none, the safe being wrapped in heavy rugs and the uniforms of ushers which were in the room.

Carrington Sheriff Disfranchised.

Carrington, N. D., March 25.—Foster county's sheriff is disfranchised.

This is caused by the fact that the property on which is located the sheriff's residence and county jail was formerly a street and was vacated by Carrington to the county. The jail property is not included in any voting precinct under the present boundaries and the sheriff has no place to vote.

Menominee Child's Bad Fall.

Menominee, Mich., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boehm fell eighteen feet over a flight of stairs and was unconscious for forty-eight hours. The child is suffering concussion of the brain, but physicians are hopeful for his recovery.

Doctor's Trial Continues.

Eau Claire, Wis., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of the State against Dr. J. F. Bailey is still on trial in circuit court. A number of local people were placed on the stand Saturday. Among them were several doctors. Four sisters from the Sacred Heart hospital, who attended the deceased woman, whose death it is alleged was caused through a criminal operation, were on the stand also.

DULUTH JOINS IN NATIONAL WAR ON THE LOAN SHARKS

Assistant County Attorney Will Defend Victims of Usury.

Movement Begun in Detroit Has Saved Citizens There $200,000.

War has been declared in Duluth against the loan shark.

Assistant County Attorney Warren E. Greene has enlisted in the crusade launched recently in Detroit by Hugh Shepherd, prosecuting attorney of Wayne county, Michigan, and yesterday announced that he will protect the interests of loan shark victims in the courts free of charge.

In Minnesota there is no law making usury a felony and the odds are slightly in favor of those who operate the so-called loan shark offices. The civil law specifies, however, that any contract or mortgage executed which involves more than a legal rate of interest is void and cannot be enforced.

The war against the loan sharks will eventually become nation-wide if the plan of the Detroit prosecutor is carried out. Mr. Shepherd has sent letters to every prosecuting attorney of the larger cities and has asked their aid in stamping out the evil.

The following letter from Mr. Shepherd has been received by Mr. Greene.

"Dear Sir:

"As prosecuting attorney, and with the aid of the press, I have uncovered here at Detroit an evil which for far-reaching results and terrible consequences almost surpasses human credulity. I refer to what is commonly known as the loan shark traffic, or the sucking of human blood through unspeakable methods by human vampires. And to my astonishment I find that these human monsters have a national organization with its tentacles reaching into every city of this country. One millionaire proprietor in New York, I am creditably informed owns loan shark offices in fifty-two cities.

Getting Results.

"With the aid of the press and our criminal and usury laws, I have been able to make great inroads on their business here, and have brought to light many things that have been done with impunity which are a disgrace to any civilized community. We have convicted ten of the rascals, and expect to convict several more in the very near future. Twenty-one concerns in all were sucking the life-blood from perhaps 30,000 helpless victims when we attacked them twenty days ago. Several of these concerns now have gone out of business, and all are glad to settle with their victims on the basis of repayment of principal only.

"It is safe to say, therefore, that our work to date has saved the poor and helpless of Detroit $200,000. We have accomplished these results largely by letting the victims know that this office would represent them free of charge when sued by a loan shark. This I find to be my greatest weapon. Most of the victims are too poor to employ a lawyer, and therefore let their cases go by default when sued.

"The sharks are fully aware of the fact that when the prosecuting attorneys appears for the victims they will be able to recover in no case more than their principal. This usually cuts down the claim by more than 50 per cent.

"You have a usury law in your state, and I dare say you can save thousands of dollars to the poor of your city by letting them know that you will appear for them as the people's attorney and that it will not cost them anything for legal services. It is safe to say that the press of your city will support you to the limit.

"I, therefore, urge you to take up this line of action at once. I am writing you for the purpose of starting some sort of general crusade against these human vampires, as I realize that a most thorough cleaning out in a few cities would be only a drop in the bucket, as this octopus is of national proportions. If, for example, the heartless brute who has offices in fifty-two cities, could be attacked from fifty-two angles at once, the results would be effective—while, of course, we cannot stir him from his palatial home by attacking him in two or three places. If you have a criminal law on usury, as we have in Michigan, you, of course, can make the work still more effective, but under your ordinary usury law you can deprive these vampires of all their interest, and they will be glad to get back only their principal. This would mean a saving, if we could have concerted action throughout the United States, of many millions of dollars to those who need it most.

"I, beg of you, therefore, in the interests of the poor and unfortunate of your city, immediately to consult the press and start such a movement as I have here, by letting the victims know that you will represent them as their attorney without charge in all suits started by loan sharks. I am writing a similar appeal to the prosecutor of every city in the United States.

"If you have any suggestions looking towards a national organization for the purpose of fighting this national evil, I would like to receive the same, and be assured I stand ready to co-operate with my time and my money in promoting such an organization.

"Trusting that I may hear from you immediately and that we may get in touch regarding this matter, I beg to remain, yours very truly,

HUGH SHEPHERD,
Prosecuting Attorney.

MENOMINEE CONCERN BUYS MANY CEDAR LOGS.

Menominee, Mich., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Menominee River Shingle company, of which Dinnis F. Daley is president, has just purchased all of the cedar logs of Crawford & Sons of Cedar River, whose sawmill was burned last year, and who find it necessary to curtail operations owing to the limited facilities of their present equipment. The purchase of the logs from Crawford & Sons is the largest timber transaction of the year in this locality. The purchase is estimated at between 8,000,000 and 10,000,000 feet.

Japanese Diet Dissolves.

Tokio, March 25.—The imperial diet was dissolved today on the expiration of the term of the members of the house of representatives. The general elections are to be held during the month of May.

DEVOTE LIFE TO RESEARCH

Foreign Students More Enthusiastic Than Americans, Says Duluth Physician.

Scientists of Europe Searching for a Cure for Cancer.

Dr. C. W. Taylor has just returned from a professional trip of study and investigation to Berlin, Vienna and Paris, and while in Europe visited England and Italy. Dr. Taylor comes home with the idea that the American doctors have much to learn from European scientific methods of research, but stated that he believes the American doctors are fully as good as the members of the medical profession of Europe.

"As students the Germans, Austrians and French are ahead of the medical students of America," declared Dr. Taylor. "The young fellow at whose house I roomed, while I was in Germany, came home one afternoon immensely delighted over something. I inquired as to the cause. He told me he was as happy as though someone had given $1,000,000. He danced about and was rapturous with joy. Finally I found that he had discovered some rare case of blood experiment.

"Some of the students of medicine in Europe dedicate their life to the work they have taken up. Some of these men have practically no recreations. They seem to find their joy in the work they are doing and are able apparently to concentrate all their energies of mind and body on the study and investigation of medical science.

"The Germans and Austrians are indefatigable in their study of detail. No problem of medicine is too complicated or too abstract for their studious minds. The wonderful advance that has been made in the investitions of European scientists can be understood in a measure when one sees the way the doctors of the great schools of Europe have consecrated their lives to the study of medical science."

While in Europe Dr. Taylor attended the funeral of Lister, the man who made modern surgery possible by the discovery of Listerine. The funeral was a most impressive one and was a tribute to the memory of the man who performed such a wonderful deed for the benefit of mankind.

"As an example of the feeling between England and Germany, it might be well to repeat a remark an Englishman made to me," said the doctor. "This chap informed me that it was a case of either England licking Germany or being beaten by the Teutons. 'We will have to fight some day,' he said, 'and as long as we have to fight, we might as well go to war and see which is the better fighter. England and Germany can't both be supreme in Europe, and the question as to which of the two countries is to rule the roost might as well be decided now as any other time.'

"In England it is generally believed that the coal strike is going to result in incalculable harm to Great Britain. Millions of dollars have been lost, and there is the belief that England has lost in the great race that is being waged among the countries of Europe for commercial supremacy, by the setback that has resulted from the closing down of the mines."

Dr. Taylor stated that many scientists of Europe were at the present time working hard to discover the cure for cancer. Whether a cure will ever be discovered is a matter of doubt in some medical circles, and yet Dr. Taylor says there is hope among some of the eminent students of medicine on the other side of the water, and as the progress in medical investigation and discovery has been wonderful during the past decade, there is at least ground for hope of the success of the many experiments being made.

ABANDONS HIS SEARCH.

Ohio Man Gives Up Looking for Buried Treasure in Montana.

Glendive, Mont., March 25.—After driving over a great stretch of country and digging in many places, John Sanderson, whose home is in Ohio, has given up his search for buried treasure here. His business here has remained a mystery for months, but at last he has confessed his failure.

The story Sanderson tells has been known here for several years. It is said an Indian trader named Kahn, going to old Fort Lincoln, near Bismarck, N. D., years ago was killed and robbed of $10,000. The bandits, however, failed to agree upon the division and in a fight which followed all but two were killed. These two buried the treasure somewhere near here, it is said, and it is from one of these on his deathbed that Sanderson obtained his information. The other is said to have been killed during a brawl in St. Louis.

DEMONSTRATIONS TO SETTLERS

Object Lessons in Clearing Land and Sowing Crops at Farm School Site.

The work of the Duluth demonstration farm school will probably be confined this year to demonstrations of the clearing of land and preparation for crops. It is thought that no students will be taken this year.

B. F. Howard, who has the contract for clearing fifty-five acres of the farm site, is making good progress and expects to have the work completed by June 15. As fast as the land is cleared, grass seed will be sown and a crop of rye will be put in next fall.

Contracts for a residence, greenhouse, horse barn, machine shop and workshop will probably be let about April 1. Truck farm, dairy farm and poultry and fruit farm units will probably be laid out in the first year and others will be added later.

The farm here will be under the supervision of Prof. Andrew Boss and a resident supervisor will probably be appointed soon, in order that the clearing of land and subsequent preparation for crops may be under the direction of a representative of the agricultural school.

POOR FAMILY AFFLICTED.

Home and Contents Near Deer River Destroyed.

Deer River, Minn., March 25.—The home of Thomas Box, four miles north of town was consumed by fire Friday and all the contents of the house were lost. There was no one home at the time but Mrs. Box and two small children and she was unable to save any of her household effects. The fire started from the stove pipe through the roof, fanned by a high wind.

Mr. Box is a poor man and has seven children. He is unable to rebuild and a number of neighbors have concluded to have a "bee" and erect him a good house of logs, and a subscription list is being circulated in the village to raise him money toward paying for the lumber.

News and Views of Minnesota Politics

Taft in the Lead.

In the minds of many of the shrewdest political observers in the country, the result of the Republican presidential contest is already settled. They believe that President Taft will be the nominee on the first ballot. Some go as far as to say that the result will be so evident when the convention meets that Roosevelt's name will not be presented.

If presidential primaries were in operation in every state, there would be more question as to the result. President Taft is discredited with the people generally. The result in North Dakota shows that. But Roosevelt is no so strong as he thought he was. The expected grand rush to the Roosevelt bandwagon has not set in.

The primary is not general. The federal officeholders and the Old Guard are still in control in a majority of the state of the Union. The Solid South is as solid as ever in its allegiance to the administration through the "Republican-for-revenue-only" office-holding party. Real Progressives cannot forgive Roosevelt's apparent treachery to La Follette and they will stand by their leader even if the whole cause goes down with him temporarily.

There will be 1,078 delegates in the Republican convention at Chicago. Of that number 170 have been selected. President Taft has 129, Roosevlt 19, Cummins 2, La Follte 10 and 10 are uninstructed.

By the end of this week 310 delegates have been selected. The New York primaries will be held tomorrow and the best predictions are that the colonel will be beaten as decisively in his home state as he was in 1910. Both sides are claiming Indiana, but Taft will probably have a majority of the split delegation. The results of the week's primaries will probably show President Taft still farther in the lead.

The Democratic situation is really more interesting than the Republican. There are more candidates with a chance for the nomination and more jockeying for position. Wilson is undoubtedly the popular favorite and his supporters predict his nomination when President Taft's renomination becomes a certainty. The Baltimore convention will be one of the greatest political gatherings in history.

Opportunity Passed Up.

Col. Roosevelt will visit Minnesota this week and will make speeches at Albert Lea, St. Paul and Minneapolis. The Roosevelt men were unable to arrange the trip to Duluth.

The speech at Albert Lea will be a short one from the train platform. In the scramble for the colonel's presence, Albert Lea won out over Winona. If Col. Roosevelt wanted to express himself emphatically on the tariff, a vital subject in the Middle West, he should have selected Winona. At the scene of President Taft's famous Winona speech, any words of denunciation the colonel might direct at the Payne-Aldrich tariff law would carry added weight.

Smith Issues Denial.

Ed Smith indignantly denies that any reduction of the representation at large in the Republican state conventions was ever contemplated. Smith is a good politician and knows that any move in that direction would further inflame the country districts that are already none too friendly toward him and his administration. Some others in the organization camp are not so politically wise and might blunder into the attempt at reduction without Smith's restraining hand.

The meeting of the state central committee April 2 will not be all tranquility, however. The Roosevelt men still have their hearts set on the presidential primary and they will make Smith show his hand on that proposition. A fight will also be made for a convention date previous to the St. Paul city election May 7. The Roosevelt men believe that if the convention date can be fixed before May 7, the St. Paul city organization will be too busy with its own campaign to take a hand and the colonel will thus have an advantage in the Fourth district. The chances are that the convention will be set for May 15 or thereabouts.

Campaign for Clark.

The Champ Clark supporters will conduct a campaign for a Clark delegation from Minnesota to the Democratic national convention. Fred B. Lynch, Democratic national committeeman for Minnesota, has received a letter from Edward A. Glenn, chairman of the Missouri bureau which is boosting Clark for the presidency, asking for a list of the names of county chairmen in Minnesota. The letter says that a state-wide campaign for Clark will be conducted. The organized Clark sentiment in Minnesota is confined to Minneapolis, where a Clark club has been organized.

Candidate Wanted.

The Republican slate-makers are worrying about a candidate for lieutenant governor. They want a good dependable man, who can go out and get the votes and at the same time, if elected, will be "right" when he gets into the senate.

Sam Gordon slipped through on the slate-makers at the last convention and they are not exactly anxious to get a candidate of the same calibre. They would like a man who can command public confidence and thus add strength to the ticket, but pliability is also a prime requisite.

The people are showing some interest in the lieutenant governorship. The organization may hold off filling that place on the slate until the convention in order that the people may not know what cards are being dealt. If the organization controls the convention and the delegates are swayed by Smith and his lieutenants, the nomination for lieutenant governor will bear long and careful scrutiny.

Will Nelson Quit?

The Willow River Farmer has stoutly contended for some time that Senator Nelson will not be a candidate under the Reefe law and that the Man of Destiny sees a toga in his dreams, With Sam Iverson in the background as an aspirant to the governorship. The Farmer gives its reasons in its latest issue. It says:

It is a very significant fact that Senator Nelson hasn't made any announcement relative to another term, nor has he paid any attention to political fences, nor been active in shaping the course of events political in this state. This is altogether contrary to the senator's usual and customary practice, and may be explained only upon the theory that he does not care to serve the entire afternoon, as he has served the morning, of life amid the turmoil of politics. If Nelson were a candidate, he would at the present moment be in close touch with every legislative district in the state. He is simply rounding out his career by attending strictly to the business in hand in the senate, leaving slate-making and slate-busting, in both of which he is a past master, to younger blood. He has probably consented to "keep quiet" for a season to give "the boys" a chance to frame things up to suit them, but the country will be surprised some morning to read a statement that Senator Nelson is not a candidate for re-election. In that case it will mean just what the statement purports to mean and not a Rooseveltian "I am not a candidate" prevarication. This announcement will come on the eve of the state convention, and there will be a kaleidoscopic shifting of scenes. Eberhart will automatically drop out of the gubernatorial picture frame and Sam G. Iverson will come up smiling and confident with a strong following. Eberhart will grab the senatorial football and during the healthy row that will be in full progress by that time, is liable to get by with it.

Gordon's candidacy may develop sufficient strength to defeat this frame up, but he has got to keep busy.

These are the Farmer's "views" of the situation at the present writing, and while they may be wide of the mark, they are at least based on pretty good evidence.

GEORGE D. McCARTHY.

THE TEST OF TIME

is a sure test by which to gauge the efficacy of any remedy for human ailments, whether advertised or ethically prescribed by a physician.

A medicine that has stood the test of time is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Its intrinsic merit has been proven by the fact that for nearly forty years it has been relieving womankind from suffering and has constantly grown in popularity. The demand for it today is larger than that of any similar remedy in the world.

This famous remedy for female ills has proved to be of incalculable value to hundreds of thousands of American women.

on the other hand, why should not the Clark managers call upon Wilson to take his name off the ticket lest the Progressive forces might be split? Governor Wilson has no particular copyright on Democratic progressivism. He is discoursing loudly and largely about the initiative and referendum, which is a state issue. But he has not expressed himself at all clearly on the Aldrich bill. Why is he so singularly silent on the one measure in which Wall Street is vitally interested?

"And more. Speaker Clark is on record on all the immediate issues of the day. He left the chair only a day or two ago to speak in behalf of the excise tax, which all know is the income tax put into constitutional form. He voted for free sugar, and for the bill to systematize the pension system. All that he has done is done in the open and available for investigators in the Congressional Record. We will back the Clark record for progressivism against Governor Wilson's any day. Nobody can say definitely today where Wilson stands on the Aldrich monetary bill, on the excise tax, or on free sugar."

Harmon Managers Talk.

That is essentially the retort of the Clark headquarters to the suggestion from Nebraska that their chief retire in Wilson's favor. The Harmon managers are not less outspoken in their ridicule of the plan. In the absence of Hon. Robert J. Gordon, manager of the Harmon work here, this statement was made by the man next in authority:

"We had understood that Governor Wilson was a strong advocate of the proposition that the people should rule. We thought also that he believed in the direct primary and in the submission to the people through the primaries of the claims of every candidate aspiring to nomination. Ex-Senator James Smith, who spent about $70,000 to secure the nomination and election of Governor Wilson, was turned down for election to the senate because he did not enter the primaries. That was the one explanation given by Governor Wilson for his antagonism to Smith and his support of Martine. Presumably had Smith gone into the primaries and won he would have had the governor's support; had he lost he would have had the governor's respect, and would have properly been expected to aid in the fight for his successful rival.

"Now in Nebraska the Wilson managers are asking that Clark retire from the primary fight so that Wilson may win. They offer Clark the empty honor of being second choice if Wilson cannot win. Is a corrupt deal of that sort to be consummated or approved at the very first test of the direct presidential primary system? Nothing in the old days of 'soap box' primaries ever approached it for audacity or for political immorality. We notice incidentally that while the proposition comes from Nebraska, from a meeting at which were William J. Bryan, George Fred Williams and ex-Senator Frank Pettigrew, not one of these three men joined in its support."

Wilson as an Orator.

Goverenr Wilson has every reason to echo the old prayer, Good Lord deliver me from my friends." Furthermore he can quote with feeling Tallyrand's sepothegm, "Above all, no zeal."

Wherever he has been himself he has created a most favorable impression. With rather a wide experience as a listener to after-dinner and occasional speakers, I can say that no one I know possesses the charm and the diction that he does. Charles A. Towne approaches him closely, perhaps excels him in this art, while for a long address Mr. Brayn is immeasurably his superior. But among the men in the open as candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination Governor Wilson is easily first as an orator. Governor Harmon, a good mixer among men when the banquet is over, is not an orotorical speaker. However in conversation with friends or even casual acquaintances he makes a most favorable impression.

As an orator Champ Clark is heavy, perhaps even wooden. His efforts at levity are about as humorous as the habits of one of his Pike county mules. Yet in private conversation he can tell a story well, and incidentally has so great a stock of them that he is in danger of meeting the fate of some other big men in congress who allowed their wit to eclipse their statesmanlike qualities. If Oscar Underwood ever told a story none of my friends were there to hear it. Nor can he make a stirring speech. He is somewhat the Harmon type, cordial, pleasant, receptive of suggestion, keen to appreciate the other fellows talk, but talking little himself.

But Wilson! Harking back to him after this brief discussion of the oratorical qualities of his chief rivals, I may say that he is the most mellifluous, oleaginous and platitudinous talker of the lot. It is a delight to hear him speak, but in the end one wonders whether it has been a rhetorical or a political treat.

HOLDS WARREN IS "WET."

City Council Disregards Attorney General and Suit Will Result.

Warren, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Warren is still "dry" although at the late election the "wets" apparently carried the day by three votes. There were eighteen blanks, however, and the attorney general was wired for a decision and he replied: "Construing language of law under which Warren is incorporated, facts stated in message indicate that license prevails at your city election."

Despite the opinion the city council declared the city "dry." A lawsuit will undoubtedly follow.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

This is "Style week" in Duluth and from the interest which has been gradually increasing among the shoppers, the streets should be thronged with Duluth's women every day this week. With the spring feeling in the air and wonderful displays in the shops the week promises to be one of much interest to the feminine heart.

Each day finds some new line of merchandise featured in the stores and the merchants have done everything in their power to give the public an authoritative display of the latest styles for men, women and children, during "Style week."

The Herald Fashion number this evening gives a printed version of the styles and the shop windows are good illustrations of what's what this season. The week will witness the greatest outpouring of shoppers since the Christmas week.

MASQUERADE.

Young People Enjoy Pretty Function.

One of the prettiest parties of the season for the young people was the masquerade dancing party Saturday evening enjoyed by the young people of Prof. Leo's Saturday evening dancing class.

Fanciful and dainty costumes, well worked out were of interest not only to the little dancers but to their parents and friends who were invited to the affair. Mrs. Homer Collins and Mrs. T. D. Merrill were the hostesses for the evening.

Among the dancers were:

Dawn, Cordelia Collins; Page, Gertrude Collins; Colonial Dame, Eleanor Mitchell; Little Bo Peep, Allace Cowen; Robin Hood, Raeburn Powell; Vera Jeffrey, a Spanish girl; William Hamilton, Indian; Homer Collins, Scotchman; Dorothy Crosby, Scotch lassie; Marian Dight, Yama Yama girl; Charlessa Stark, Shepherdess; Willie Richardson, Caballero; John Weiss, Knight; Nell Upham, Indian; John Richards, prince; Vera Lindahl, Japanese girl. Clowns: Cecil Meyers, Stephen McGiffert, Horace Craig, Ralph McCarthy, Walker Fraker; Elizabeth Horr, old fashioned girl; Bessie Macfarlane, court lady; Sue Alexander, Folly; Alice Alexander, Shepherdess; Lyman Barrows, George Washington; Phillip Warner, knight; Winnifred Parsons, Red Riding Hood.

A class of small children will give a program of dress and fancy dances in the near future.

Schumann-Heink.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, the great contralto, is now in the midst of what will be the greatest tour she has ever undertaken in this country. Her European itinerary this last summer was a remarkable series of ovations. She sang for the Kaiser to his enthusiastically-expressed delight, and the Kaiserin, with her own imperial hand, pinned upon the singer a diamond brooch. The royal favorite seemed to be "The Rosary."

"I have always been interested in my art," said the singer recently, "and yet I am the mother of eight happy, healthy children. I am a living argument that motherhood does not detract from the pursuit of art."

The advance subscriptions for this remarkable woman's concert at the Lyceum on Wednesday of next week, will close to morrow night. Orders may be telephoned to Horace W. Reyner, and reservations made. The public sale will open on Thursday at 10 o'clock.

"VOTES FOR WOMEN" NOTES

John Galsworthy, the English dramatist and author, best known in the United States through the influence of his play, "Justice," when interviewed in New York a few days ago, said that he was a firm believer in equal suffrage, and hoped the enfranchisement of all women would come soon.

The Persian scholar and religious teacher, Abdul Baha, born prince of Nur, who comes to America to attend the peace conference at Lake Mononk, is an ardent advocate of woman suffrage. He is deeply interested in the advancement of women, and teaches absolute equality of the sexes.

Dr. Edward H. Hume, a missionary to China, lecturing before the University club of Buffalo last week, said: "Perhaps the most tremendous force for the success of the revolution in China has been the power and influence of the women. When young girl students don trousers, shoulder rifles and volunteer to fight for the freedom of their country, as hundreds of Chinese girls have actually been doing during the past few months, they are bound during the past few months, they are bound to stimulate the cause as millions of fighting men could not do. As militants and as representatives of the new thought and the new learning, they have helped marvelously in laying the foundations for a safe, sane and progressive republic."

Bishop Fallows of Chicago, addressing his congregation on the emancipation of women, closed by saying: "The Savior's coming into the world meant and brought with it the freeing of women from all infirmities of the body, mind and soul. As she is allowed free scope in social, economic and industrial fields, so should she be independent in the political condition."

It is reported that Chicago will vote on the extension of suffrage to women at the primary election on April 9.

H. Y. Brooke of Alabama, a prominent state official, says: "It is but the natural outcome of civilized evolution that women should be attaining that stage when they see that they are becoming capable of deciding civic and political questions, and I cannot see why they should not receive this privilege through state rights."

Ladies' Tailoring Establishment.

H. W. Hodgdon announces the opening of a ladies' department in connection with his men's tailoring business. All garments strictly men tailored, and prices as low as consistent with the best materials and workmanship. Rooms 103 and 104 Oak Hall building.

THE EVENING STORY

A JUMP AT CONCLUSIONS

By Alice Louise Lee.

Partly because her tendencies lay in that direction and partly because Anne was such a good listener, Mrs. Bixby was talking. Everyone talked to Anne. "I'm so glad you ran in today," Mrs. Bixby began, opening her work bag and producing a gold lined thimble. "I've wanted to see you ever since Emma Easley called Tuesday afternoon with that man she's engaged to. I presume you'll be astonished, but I wasn't. I've known the Easleys for years back. I knew Emma's grandfather, and they all have just the same streak in them that Emma showed when she was here."

Anne looked up surprised, and began drawing her long gloves slowly trough her fingers. Mrs. Bixby set a chair energetically near the north window, where she could command a good light, and gazed into the depths of a blue silk work bag critically. Mrs. Bixby was nothing if not critical. About her eyes were fine, downward sloping lines, acquired through gazing steadfastly on her acquaintances' faults.

"Of course this is something I wouldn't tell everybody, but I knew I could tell you. I was thinking about it just as I saw you coming down the street. I felt in my bones that you were coming here, and I said to myself, 'Now I can tell Anne, because she is one person who can keep what's told her.'"

Anne smiled, stole a glance at herself in the mantel mirror, tilted her hat at the right angle, and murmured, "Yes." Anne's share in many conversations was entirely monosyllable. Mrs. Bixby delved with nervous movements into her work bag, and produced a piece of half finished Battenberg lace. "A centerpiece for the square table," she explained, holding it up with pride. "Isn't it beautiful, Anne?"

"Very," returned Anne her eyes wandering over the room with its superabundance of Battenberg—as edging to the curtains, as "throws" on the backs of chairs, a round centerpiece on the round table, and dainty dollies wherever an excuse for a doily existed.

"Of course," Mrs. Bixby changed the subject with disconcerting rapidity—"I haven't mentioned this to a soul, because I don't want to prejudice anyone against Emma, but for my part I don't see how even an Easley could have the face to indulge in such broad hints, even in hopes of getting a handsome wedding present."

"Why, Mrs. Bixby," exclaimed Anne. Her gloves dropped to her lap and her hat slid away from the right angle unnoticed. "Why—"

Mrs. Bixby cut in swiftly. "Well, Anne, that's exactly what she did: She stayed here half an hour, and talked so much I couldn't crowd a word in edgewise, and it was all perfectly open hints for that Battenberg mantel throw as a wedding present." Mrs. Bixby pointed in growing indignation at the Battenberg creation beneath the mirror. Then she bit off a thread as sharply as if it were connected with the odious hints, and continued, "The very idea! That piece is worth $20 if it's worth a cent, and if Emma Easley thinks she'll get a $20 present from me she's mistaken—especially when she as much as asked for it."

Anne's eyes were wide open and Anne's expression was one of astonishment, tinged with amusement, which Mrs. Bixby thought very unbecoming and uncalled for.

"How"—Anne began, but she was not allowed to finish.

"How do I know?" Mrs. Bixby's manner was a shade colder as she took the words from Anne's lips. "Well, Anne, it doesn't take me long to put two and two together especially with an Easley. I did hope that their grasping, stingy streak was left out of Emma, but I see it's as broad in her as in her grand——"

"Why, it seems to me—" Anne broke in doubling up her gloves in an embarrassed fashion. Mrs. Bixby threw back her head and raised her voice. "Of course I know I do the best work on Battenberg in town, and I'm used to having callers notice the pieces, but I'm not so stupid as to mistake hints for genuine admiration, and I never got so many hints as Emma gave me Tuesday. I shall never think the same of her again——"

"But, Mrs. Bixby—" Anne was annoyingly insistent for Anne. Mrs. Bixby was obliged to raise her voice a half note higher and speak more rapidly; "Yes, she hinted! She looked all my pieces over, and finally settled on the mantel throw. She dragged that young man of hers up to look at it and admire it, though I must say he had the sense to look embarrassed. She asked him if he wanted her to do Battenberg for their new house, but if she did, she could never make such an exquisite throw as that, much as she wanted it. And I just said to myself 'Well, Emma Easley, it will take more than one invitation to a wedding to get that mantel throw after you've had the cheek to ask for it.'"

Anne rocked quietly, but the amused expression in her eyes deepened to a degree which drove Mrs. Bixby into a defensive attitude. "And, Anne, I'm not the only one that she's virtually told what she wants, either. I happened to notice that after they left here they went into Mrs. White's; so after supper I stepped over across the back yards—and what do you think? You know Mrs. White does beautiful water colors, and if you'd believe it, Emma had spent all her time talking about that Lake George scene which hangs between the front windows. She told Mrs. White that she loved water color pictures better than anything else, and she never saw one she liked as well as that. Then she turned to that young man—I never can think of his name—and told him she wanted one like it for their parlor. Did you ever hear the equal of that?"

"But Mrs. Bixby—" Anne began again, with no better success.

"And the queerest thing to me," Mrs. Bixby hurried on, "is that Mrs. White never saw the point until she told it over to me. Mrs. White isn't as quick as she might be. But when she did see, she felt as provoked about it as I do. She says she had intended, if she got an invitation to the wedding to give Emma a water color, but now she shall take her one of those dollar fruit dishes in Jones's window. I've not decided what I'll give her—certainly not more than a dollar's worth under the circumstances, and it will not be Battenberg!"

"But," began Anne, drawing on one glove deliberately, "I must tell you that their new house is to be——"

"Yes, that's just it," cried Mrs. Bixby. "We all know that the house Mr. Easley put up for Emma is away beyond their means, and they can't afford to furnish it properly now that it's built. But everybody knows," significantly, "how far a big wedding goes toward furnishing a home—especially." Mrs. Bixby raised her brows sarcastically, "if it becomes generally known just what furnishings they want. Well, so far as I am concerned, Emma will be disappointed."

"No, she won't!" Anne burst out, so so suddenly that Mrs. Bixby could only stare. "Not a bit disappointed," cried Anne, laughing as she rose. The amusement lurking in her eyes overflowed her face. "Neither will she be disappointed in not getting Mrs. White's water color—not she!"

"What?" ejaculated Mrs. Bixby. "Anne, what do you mean?"

Anne fitted the fingers of her gloves carefully and spoke breathlessly, suppressing the merriment, which Mrs. Bixby nevertheless perceived.

"I have known it from the first, but Emma only gave me permission this morning to speak of it—she's not going to have a big wedding. No one will be invited but her uncles and aunts— and— well, I am to go, of course, but she's made me promise not to give her a thing except a sword leaf fern. She says people give such senseless gifts at weddings that she doesn't want her new house filled with useless trumpery."

Mrs. Bixby coughed, reddened, and dropped her thimble. Her manner was subdued to an unprecedented degree as she followed Anne to the door. Her voice was humble in its cadence and shaded into pleading as she pressed Anne's hand saying: "It's such a pleasure, dear, to tell you things, because I feel sure you'll never repeat them."

After Anne's departure she picked up her thimble and work bag, straightened a chair here and picked up a thread there, and it was a full hour before she made her reluctant way through the back yards to Mrs. White's.

WEEKLY POP AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Musical Numbers and Athletic Events Make Up Interesting Program.

The regular Tuesday "pop" program will be given as usual tomorrow night at the Y. M. C. A. and a very complete and interesting program of events has been arranged.

A concert orchestra will appear for its part of the program. Miss Margrete Linnehan will sing. Miss Linnehan possesses a soprano voice of unusual sweetness and her numbers will be a feature of the program. Miss Clara White will appear for a reading. A violin duet, "Vienna's Past," by Wagner, will be played by the Lavick brothers.

An interesting feature of the program will be athletic events, which have never before appeared on the "pop" programs. Chief of these will be pole vaulting by Clifford Wolehen, who at present holds the record for indoor vaulting. He will attempt tomorrow night to beat his own record. Charles Cannon will also compete in the pole vaulting. There will also be an effort made to establish a new standing high jump record, the entries being C. Woleben, W. Martin and W. Berkelman.

A mandolin trio composed of Messrs. Berkelman, Ketchem, and Miller will play "The Band Master" by Stauper.

The concluding number of the program will be the basket ball game between the Duluth Gophers and the Great Northerns of Superior. Dr. Boerner will act as referee. The teams are evenly matched and the contest will be a good one. Between halves a fencing bout is to be staged between W. S. Telford and William L'Estrange. Free tickets may be had at the Y. M. C. A. building.

ST. PAUL MAN KICKS.

Objects to State Deal for Moving Pictures.

St. Paul, Minn., March 25.—Protest against Governor Eberhart authorizing a contract with a Chicago moving picture house whereby pictures of industrial Minnesota will be taken and exhibited throughout the world is made by E. F. Seavolt, a cinematographer of St. Paul. In a letter to the governor, he declares there are 16,000 moving picture theaters in the United States, half of which belong to the "trust" and half of which are independents.

Mr. Seavolt insists that if a film were sent out by the state to all these houses, it would take twenty-two years to show it.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

This is "Style week" in Duluth and from the interest which has been gradually increasing among the shoppers, the streets should be thronged with Duluth's women every day this week. With the spring feeling in the air and wonderful displays in the shops the week promises to be one of much interest to the feminine heart.

Each day finds some new line of merchandise featured in the stores and the merchants have done everything in their power to give the public an authoritative display of the latest styles for men, women and children, during "Style week."

The Herald Fashion number this evening gives a printed version of the styles and the shop windows are good illustrations of what's what this season. The week will witness the greatest outpouring of shoppers since the Christmas week.

MASQUERADE.

Young People Enjoy Pretty Function.

One of the prettiest parties of the season for the young people was the masquerade dancing party Saturday evening enjoyed by the young people of Prof. Leo's Saturday evening dancing class.

Fanciful and dainty costumes, well worked out were of interest not only to the little dancers but to their parents and friends who were invited to the affair. Mrs. Homer Collins and Mrs. T. D. Merrill were the hostesses for the evening.

Among the dancers were:

Dawn, Cordelia Collins; Page, Gertrude Collins; Colonial Dame, Eleanor Mitchell; Little Bo Peep, Allace Cowen; Robin Hood, Raeburn Powell; Vera Jeffrey, a Spanish girl; William Hamilton, Indian; Homer Collins, Scotchman; Dorothy Crosby, Scotch lassie; Marian Dight, Yama Yama girl; Charlessa Stark, Shepherdess; Willie Richardson, Cavalier; John Weiss, Knight; Nell Upham, Indian; John Richards, prince; Vera Lindahl, Japanese girl. Clowns: Cecil Meyers, Stephen McGiffert, Horace Craig, Ralph McCarthy, Walker Fraker; Elizabeth Horr, old fashioned girl; Bessie Macfarlane, court lady; Sue Alexander, Folly; Alice Alexander, Shepherdess; Lyman Barrows, George Washington; Phillip Warner, knight; Winnifred Parsons, Red Riding Hood.

A class of small children will give a program of dress and fancy dances in the near future.

Schumann-Heink.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, the great contralto, is now in the midst of what will be the greatest tour she has ever undertaken in this country. Her European itinerary this last summer was a remarkable series of ovations. She sang for the Kaiser to his enthusiastically-expressed delight, and the Kaiserin, with her own imperial hand, pinned upon the singer a diamond brooch. The royal favorite seemed to be "The Rosary."

"I have always been interested in my art," said the singer recently, "and yet I am the mother of eight happy, healthy children. I am a living argument that motherhood does not detract from the pursuit of art."

The advance subscriptions for this remarkable woman's concert at the Lyceum on Wednesday of next week, will close to morrow night. Orders may be telephoned to Horace W. Reyner, and reservations made. The public sale will open on Thursday at 10 o'clock.

Mental Healing Class

Mr. Billig's class in Mental Healing will meet at 228 South Nineteenth avenue east Tuesday, March 26, at 8 p. m.

"VOTES FOR WOMEN" NOTES

John Galsworthy, the English dramatist and author, best known in the United States through the influence of his play, "Justice," when interviewed in New York a few days ago, said that he was a firm believer in equal suffrage, and hoped the enfranchisement of all women would come soon.

The Persian scholar and religious teacher, Abdul Baha, born prince of Nur, who comes to America to attend the peace conference at Lake Mononk, is an ardent advocate of woman suffrage. He is deeply interested in the advancement of women, and teaches absolute equality of the sexes.

Dr. Edward H. Hume, a missionary to China, lecturing before the University club of Buffalo last week, said: "Perhaps the most tremendous force for the success of the revolution in China has been the power and influence of the women. When young girl students don trousers, shoulder rifles and volunteer to fight for the freedom of their country, as hundreds of Chinese girls have actually been doing during the past few months, they are bound to stimulate the cause as millions of fighting men could not do. As militants and as representatives of the new thought and the new learning, they have helped marvelously in laying the foundations for a safe, sane and progressive republic."

Bishop Fallows of Chicago, addressing his congregation on the emancipation of women, closed by saying: "The Savior's coming into the world meant and brought with it the freeing of women from all infirmities of the body, mind and soul. As she is allowed free scope in social, economic and industrial fields, so should she be independent in the political condition."

It is reported that Chicago will vote on the extension of suffrage to women at the primary election on April 9.

H. Y. Brooke of Alabama, a prominent state official, says: "It is but the natural outcome of civilized evolution that women should be attaining that stage when they see that they are becoming capable of deciding civic and political questions, and I cannot see why they should not receive this privilege through state rights."

THE EVENING STORY

A JUMP AT CONCLUSIONS

By Alice Louise Lee.

Partly because her tendencies lay in that direction and partly because Anne was such a good listener, Mrs. Bixby was talking. Everyone talked to Anne. "I'm so glad you ran in today," Mrs. Bixby began, opening her work bag and producing a gold lined thimble. "I've wanted to see you ever since Emma Easley called Tuesday afternoon with that man she's engaged to. I presume you'll be astonished, but I wasn't. I've known the Easleys for years back. I knew Emma's grandfather, and they all have just the same streak in them that Emma showed when she was here."

Anne looked up surprised, and began drawing her long gloves slowly through her fingers. Mrs. Bixby set a chair energetically near the north window, where she could command a good light, and gazed into the depths of a blue silk work bag critically. Mrs. Bixby was nothing if not critical. About her eyes were fine, downward sloping lines, acquired through gazing steadfastly on her acquaintances' faults.

"Of course this is something I wouldn't tell everybody, but I knew I could tell you. I was thinking about it just as I saw you coming down the street. I felt in my bones that you were coming here, and I said to myself, 'Now I can tell Anne, because she is one person who can keep what's told her.'"

Anne smiled, stole a glance at herself in the mantel mirror, tilted her hat at the right angle, and murmured, "Yes." Anne's share in many conversations was entirely monosyllabic. Mrs. Bixby delved with nervous move. ments into her work bag, and produced a piece of half finished Battenberg lace. "A centerpiece for the square table," she explained, holding it up with pride. "Isn't it beautiful, Anne?"

"Very," returned Anne her eyes wandering over the room with its superabundance of Battenberg—as edging to the curtains, as "throws" on the backs of chairs, a round centerpiece on the round table, and dainty doilies wherever an excuse for a doily existed.

"Of course," Mrs. Bixby changed the subject with disconcerting rapidity—"I haven't mentioned this to a soul, because I don't want to prejudice anyone against Emma, but for my part I don't see how even an Easley could have the face to indulge in such broad hints, even in hopes of getting a handsome wedding present."

"Why, Mrs. Bixby," exclaimed Anne. Her gloves dropped to her lap and her hat slid away from the right angle unnoticed. "Why—"

Mrs. Bixby cut in swiftly. "Well, Anne, that's exactly what she did: She stayed here half an hour, and talked so much I couldn't crowd a word in edgewise, and it was all perfectly open hints for that Battenberg mantel throw as a wedding present." Mrs. Bixby pointed in growing indignation at the Battenberg creation beneath the mirror. Then she bit off a thread as sharply as if it were connected with the odious hints, and continued, "The very idea! That piece is worth $20 if it's worth a cent, and if Emma Easley thinks she'll get a $20 present from me she's mistaken—especially when she as much as asked for it."

Anne's eyes were wide open and Anne's expression was one of astonishment, tinged with amusement, which Mrs. Bixby thought very unbecoming and uncalled for.

"How"—Anne began, but she was not allowed to finish.

"How do I know?" Mrs. Bixby's manner was a shade colder as she took the words from Anne's lips. "Well, Anne, it doesn't take me long to put two and two together especially with an Easley. I did hope that their grasping, stingy streak was left out of Emma, but I see it's as broad in her as in her grand——"

"Why, it seems to me—" Anne broke in doubling up her gloves in an embarrassed fashion. Mrs. Bixby threw back her head and raised her voice. "Of course I know I do the best work on Battenberg in town, and I'm used to having callers notice the pieces, but I'm not so stupid as to mistake hints for genuine admiration, and I never got so many hints as Emma gave me Tuesday. I shall never think the same of her again——"

"But, Mrs. Bixby—" Anne was annoyingly insistent for Anne. Mrs. Bixby was obliged to raise her voice a half note higher and speak more rapidly; "Yes, she hinted! She looked all my pieces over, and finally settled on the mantel throw. She dragged that young man of hers up to look at it and admire it, though I must say he had the sense to look embarrassed. She asked him if he wanted her to do Battenberg for their new house, but if she did, she could never make such an exquisite throw as that, much as she wanted it. And I just said to myself 'Well, Emma Easley, it will take more than one invitation to a wedding to get that mantel throw after you've had the cheek to ask for it.'"

Anne rocked quietly, but the amused expression in her eyes deepened to a degree which drove Mrs. Bixby into a defensive attitude. "And, Anne, I'm not the only one that she's virtually told what she wants, either. I happened to notice that after they left here they went into Mrs. White's; so after supper I stepped over across the back yards—and what do you think? You know Mrs. White does beautiful water colors, and if you'd believe it, Emma had spent all her time talking about that Lake George scene which hangs between the front windows. She told Mrs. White that she loved water color pictures better than anything else, and she never saw one she liked as well as that. Then she turned to that young man—I never can think of his name—and told him she wanted one like it for their parlor. Did you ever hear the equal of that?"

"But Mrs. Bixby—" Anne began again, with no better success.

"And the queerest thing to me," Mrs. Bixby hurried on, "is that Mrs. White never saw the point until she told it over to me. Mrs. White isn't as quick as she might be. But when she did see, she felt as provoked about it as I do. She says she had intended, if she got an invitation to the wedding to give Emma a water color, but now she shall take her one of those dollar fruit dishes in Jones's window. I've not decided what I'll give her—certainly not more than a dollar's worth under the circumstances, and it will not be Battenberg!"

"But," began Anne, drawing on one glove deliberately, "I must tell you that their new house is to be——"

"Yes, that's just it," cried Mrs. Bixby. "We all know that the house Mr. Easley put up for Emma is away beyond their means, and they can't afford to furnish it properly now that it's built. But everybody knows," significantly, "how far a big wedding goes toward furnishing a home—especially." Mrs. Bixby raised her brows sarcastically. "If it becomes generally known just what furnishings they want. Well, so far as I am concerned, Emma will be disappointed."

"No, she won't!" Anne burst out, so so suddenly that Mrs. Bixby could only stare. "Not a bit disappointed," cried Anne, laughing as she rose. The amusement lurking in her eyes overflowed her face. "Neither will she be disappointed in not getting Mrs. White's water color—not she!"

"What?" ejaculated Mrs. Bixby. "Anne, what do you mean?"

Anne fitted the fingers of her gloves carefully and spoke breathlessly, suppressing the merriment, which Mrs. Bixby nevertheless perceived.

"I have known it from the first, but Emma only gave me permission this morning to speak of it—she's not going to have a big wedding. No one will be invited but her uncles and aunts— and— well, I am to go, of course, but she's made me promise not to give her a thing except a sword leaf fern. She says people give such senseless gifts at weddings that she doesn't want her new house filled with useless trumpery."

Mrs. Bixby coughed, reddened, and dropped her thimble. Her manner was subdued to an unprecedented degree as she followed Anne to the door. Her voice was humble in its cadence and shaded into pleading as she pressed Anne's hand saying: "It's such a pleasure, dear, to tell you things, because I feel sure you'll never repeat them."

After Anne's departure she picked up her thimble and work bag, straightened a chair here and picked up a thread there, and it was a full hour before she made her reluctant way through the back yards to Mrs. White's.

WEEKLY POP AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Musical Numbers and Athletic Events Make Up Interesting Program.

The regular Tuesday "pop" program will be given as usual tomorrow night at the Y. M. C. A. and a very complete and interesting program of events has been arranged.

A concert orchestra will appear for its part of the program. Miss Margrete Linnehan will sing. Miss Linnehan possesses a soprano voice of unusual sweetness and her numbers will be a feature of the program. Miss Clara White will appear for a reading. A violin duet, "Vienna's Past," by Wagner, will be played by the Lavick brothers.

An interesting feature of the program will be athletic events, which have never before appeared on the "pop" programs. Chief of these will be pole vaulting by Clifford Woleben, who at present holds the record for indoor vaulting. He will attempt tomorrow night to beat his own record. Charles Cannon will also compete in the pole vaulting. There will also be an effort made to establish a new standing high jump record, the entries being C. Woleben, W. Martin and W. Berkelman.

A mandolin trio composed of Messrs. Berkelman, Ketchem, and Miller will play "The Band Master" by Stauper.

The concluding number of the program will be the basket ball game between the Duluth Gophers and the Great Northerns of Superior. Dr. Boerner will act as referee. The teams are evenly matched and the contest will be a good one. Between halves a fencing bout is to be staged between W. S. Telford and William L'Estrange. Free tickets may be had at the Y. M. C. A. building.

The BIG DULUTH
WILLIAMSON & MENDENHALL

Hints for Stylish Heads

By Orville G. Victor.
(Copyright, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

SO Tennyson says in his poem "Lockesley Hall," but the young man's fancy also turns to thoughts of a new hat just before the blue bird's note is heard throughout the land and the golden-hued dandelion makes its appearance to the disgust of the man who fain would have a velvet lawn.

The young man—and the middle-aged man and the old man, too—will be able to choose from a well-nigh countless profusion of headgear this season. For formal dress, the silk hat will take the place of the long-popular opera hat. No reason is given for this change—it may simply be ascribed to the vagaries of fashion; but it must be admitted that the silk hat is far more genteel in appearance than the one that may be collapsed and carried under the arm. A flat brim and a 5¾-inch crown will be the correct style.

Soft hats, which during the past year have been sold as never before, will continue in general favor throughout the year; as a rule, these will be comfortable and becoming. The "freak" hat has been abolished, although one may be seen now and then on a man with receding chin or other evidence of weakmindedness.

The most popular of these soft hats this spring will be found in the old favorite Alpine, and the Panturist, shaped with brim roll in the back. The rough finish hats will continue in evidence, and the "scratch-up" with soft finish; but they will be toned down and will present a nice, refined appearance.

The fashion of wearing a cloth hat of the same material as the overcoat, quite popular among a certain set last fall, is doomed to extinction, and will not be welcomed this spring. Cloth hats will be worn and in great number, but they will not be made to match the coat. In fact, the style will call for contrast in this respect, and for the most part solid colors will be in demand.

The fine velour will be worn much for early spring, with medium crown and a crease in the center. These are made of the French "coney," as the skin of our domestic rabbit is, as a rule, too coarse for the purpose. A turban brim, to turn down or up according to the whim of the wearer, is another feature of the velour.

The 1912 derby will have a low crown and a wide brim, known as the D'Orsay brim, a French style. The fad of wearing the derby upon the back of the head has been abandoned even by the "college boys."

Straws are being provided in as many different styles as last summer. Favorite among these will be the sennets and splits, with low crowns and wide brims; but some will prefer the higher crown and narrower brim, and there will be plenty of these on the market. The pencil curl mackinaw will be among this summer's favorites also, and the Bankok, which proved so popular last year, is expected to repeat its success this year.

Smartness in Junior Fashions

(Copyright, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

WHEN the wintry winds have ceased to blow and signs of spring remind us of sunny days to come. Young America will find many new garments that have been fashioned for his special benefit. Some of these are distinctly his own so far as fabric and style are concerned, others are borrowed from, or copied after, the garments of father or big brother.

Of the latter, one of the most pleasing is seen in the soft roll, three button, English model Norfolk, known as the Junior, in tans, browns, blues and blue-gray. These are for the larger boys.

For the little chaps, from 2½ to 10 years of age, Russian blouse suits and sailor suits will be shown, some with sailor collar and others with the Eton.

A Norfolk suit, specially designed for boys from 5 to 10 years old shows a more shapely jacket than ordinary, that contributes to the youthful appearance of the wearer. These are made up plain, both single and double breasted; some have patch pockets, and others have the ordinary pocket, with flaps to go in or out.

For the older boys, say frm 9 to 17 years of age, Norfolk jackets will not be so popular as in the past. The so-called old-fashioned double-breasted coats, with trousers and vest of the same material, are coming to their own again, and will be largely worn during 1912. These will be made for the most part from blue unfinished serges, worsteds, cassimers and cheviots. Stripes will not be so prevalent as mixtures in these suits for youths, except in the cheviots, where stripes are always considered good. With these suits either knickerbockers or full length trousers may be obtained of the same material.

A single-breasted, two-button jacket of homespun, with inverted pleat, makes a very smart garment for the carefully dressed boy who wants something just a little different from the regulation Norfolk.

For the larger boys, the English cut coat will undoubtedly continue in favor; made with a roll lapel, and a high-cut vest that shows above the three buttons of the coat, and with trousers of the same material, all made fairly form-fitting, this produces a really snappy suit, one that any boy may well be proud of.

All trousers for boys over 15 years old will have cuffs on the bottoms of the legs, which, like those designed for their elders, will come only to the heel-tops.

Following the fashion of the men, overcoats of light material, with convertible collars, which, when turned up, give the boys the appearance of military cadets, will appear simultaneously with the rest of their spring apparel. Some of these are made with pleats to the shoulder; others with a yoke.

Very good style is shown in the light Norfolk overcoat for boys, with a pleat running to the shoulders, and a belt all the way around. These are made chiefly from blue serge and fancy cheviot, and form an ideal outdoor garment for spring, and, in the cooler latitudes, for summer nights.

For formal functions the small boy must wear during the coming season a three-button Tuxedo with white vest and knickerbockers (black) finished with three buttons at the knee. Black silk stockings, oxford shoes, a frilled white shirt with collar attached, and a soft silk tie of any becoming color, complete the costume. The larger boy may wear a shirt with stiff bosom, a poke collar and regulation black or white bow tie.

NEW STYLES FOR THE MEN

Some Wondrous Displays in Headgear, Clothing and Haberdashery.

Men's Suits Will Be Cut Along the English Lines.

Never before in the history of the Duluth shops for men has there been given the vast amount of attention and care to the selection of what is proper for outfitting the gentleman who is particular about his dress and displaying it to advantage as is shown in the windows of the city's stores this spring.

Their display of men's "fixin's" is continental in its attention to detail.

The art rooms and shops of Europe and America seem to have been gone over with a fine-toothed comb to bring out the very latest conceit in what a gentleman should wear.

The result is a wondrous arrangement of headgear, clothing, shoes and haberdashery, much of which has a distinctly foreign air about it and which ranges from that which appeals to the long silken purse to what is more attractive to those of simpler tastes.

The hat has been followed to its lair in Philadelphia, Pa., and Vienna, Austria, and the latest and newest shape dragged forth and brought to Duluth.

The looms of the East and across the Atlantic have been watched closely for their latest fabrics and mixture of colors, and these have been seized with violent hands and hurried here for the Fashion Show.

Newest Cuts.

The style of cutting has been observed in the capitals of Europe and the metropolis of the United States and quickly preserved in the latest fabrics for the great show.

The linen mills at the great centers have been searched for their latest patterns for gentleman's wear. The factories which cunningly produce the highest grade of accordion-pleated silken hose have been robbed of their pet products and the "booty" has been rushed here for the show.

In fact, every center from which the world draws its most perfect productions of things that are worn by the gentleman who is particular has been gleaned of its best and it is being displayed triumphantly by the shops which furnish what a gentleman needs to wear.

English Lines.

The men's suits that are shown are along the lines of the English close-fitting but loose-hanging style. The lapel is rolling and long and the shoulders have no padding. The coat is cut two inches shorter than last year and on the sleeve there is a little cuff about one and a half inches in length. The trousers are short, coming just free of the instep of the shoe. The bottom is wider than at the knees, while the hips are tight. The vest is a six-button affair and comes up rather snug under the chin. This gives an opportunity to wear a tight-fitting collar with a knit or crocheted tie of the new pattern. This new pattern is wonderful to behold. It has one or more large blochs of vivid color placed so that when the cravat is tid the effect is of two colors of striking hue showing just above the close-fitting vest.

A number of two-piece summer suits are also displayed in Norfolk and Suffolk styles, which were so popular last summer.

French Shirts.

Some beautiful soft French silk shirts with soft collar and cuffs are shown. They are especially fitted to wear with these suits, and are planned to be a good background for the brilliant-hued neckwear.

These shirtings come in silks, soisettes and madras with a great variety of patterns. One of the neatest things in cuff links is intended solely for use with these French soft shirts. They are two buttons of pearl of every conceivable color attached to each other by three gold links and form a neat and satisfying article. The ordinary cuff button or link could not be worn with the soft cuffs.

In shoes there is the greatest change of all. The "rhinocerous horn," toe of last year has been cast into limbo and the toe of this spring's most proper boot is smooth and almost flat. It is pointed just a trifle and is very sensible. The heel is also changed from the high heel of last year to the low broad "flare" heel, which looks more substantial and carries out the lines of the new shoes to better advantage. They are fairly well divided between buttons and laces. In these latter there is also a new conceit that is attractive. The eyelet is missing and has been placed on the inside of the shoe, affording a perfectly smooth instep. Oxfords will be shown later in great profusion with about the same toes and heels as the higher top boots.

Season's Colors.

The colorings of suitings shown are perhaps the widest in their scope and the most interesting. They range all the way from browns, grays, mixed blues to tans and mixed plum and purple shades. Practically all suitings that are displayed are in solid colors although there are a few of the fine pencil lines of last fall. These are in the minority and the solid colors seem to be the proper thing. In the Norfolk and Suffolk jackets almost as wide a range of fabrics is seen. Of course these two-piece suits are a trifle lighter in shade but on a whole are not as gay as last year. The Norfolk and Suffolk trousers are much looser than in the sack suits and hang free from the hips.

The new hats shown in the windows of the most popular shops are a radical departure from those of last year in shape.

The stiff hats are low in crown, measuring not over four and one-half inches in height and not over two and one-quarter inches in the brim. The brim is very slightly rolling and the headgear is intended to be worn well back from the forehead according to the best shops' dictum. There are of course dozens of garduations from this style to suit those who do not prefer to plunge at one fell swoop into the latest mode, but who prefer to come into it gradually.

In the soft hats there is an attractive departure shown in many of the big shops' windows which has for its feature a band and bow composed of the same material as the hat itself instead of the former silk ribbon.

The majority of these soft hats come in grays, browns and pearls. The rims are made to be turned up all around instead of being dipped in front, rear or at the side which last year lent a rakish air to them.

These hats have come straight from Vienna, which is known as the real center of headgear style of the world outside of Philadelphia, which sets the styles in stiff hats for the world.

Another new men's soft hat being shown is made of a material somewhat like corduroy and in the same shape as the imported Vienna styles. These are entirely different from the round soft-brimmed rought materialed hat that has appeared here for the last few months.

Interesting displays of caps are also shown.

THE LEISER CO. HAS NATIONAL REPUTATION

The Leiser company enjoys a national reputation. It is as it advertises itself—a national institution—with modish shops in Duluth, Quincy, Lima and Chicago. It buys on a big scale to sell at the lowest prices possible at each of its stores. Ladies' and misses' ready-to-wear apparel that is faultless in quality and fit and absolutely correct in style and fashion.

During the month of February the managers of the Leiser company's stores met in New York city to compare notes and plan the buying for the spring trade. Each had behind him years of experience in buying.

BEN BLUMENTHAL, Manager of the Leiser Store, Who Has Made a Host of Friends Since Coming to Duluth.

The combination of the buying abilities of the Leiser company's managers made possible the selection of the daintiest suits and dresses for the fastidious women of Duluth, Quincy, Lima and Chicago. The large quantities in which they bought made it possible for them to buy at lower figures than most of their competitors. They stocked their stores, therefore, with choicest wearing apparel that may be sold at a profit at prices lower than the ladies of Duluth are accustomed to pay.

The Duluth store enjoys already an enviable name. It was established last season, and immediately became popular. It draws from Duluth, Superior and the surrounding towns and cities an extensive patronage.

Ben Blumenthal, manager of the Duluth store, takes this opportunity of thanking the public for its hearty appreciation of his efforts to please.

DANCE HALL ORDINANCE

Will Probably Create Some Fireworks at Council Meeting.

Seat of Alderman Joseph Shartel May Be Declared Vacant.

The council meeting this evening promises to be an interesting session, several matters of importance being scheduled to come before the aldermen.

These include the question of declaring the seat of Alderman Joseph Shartel of the Fourth ward vacant; the opening of bids for $50,000 of park bonds; the receiving of the names of the members of the board of public welfare; the dance hall ordinance, the receipt of the amendments calling for the initiative, referendum and recall, and possibly the matter of confirming the appointment of H. A. Carmichael as city attorney.

The dance hall ordinance may be productive of some fireworks. At the last meeting of the council it was laid over a week to give some of the aldermen an opportunity to look it over. This was done after an amendment to strike out the part prohibiting saloons in the same buildings as dance halls had been passed. The ordinance prohibits any connection between dance halls and saloons. The license fee is reduced from $100 to $50. The ordinance makes the licensee or proprietor responsible for the conduct of his patrons and eliminates all dances of an immodest nature as those which are "danced in the dark."

There has been considerable speculation as to the vacancy of Alderman Shartel's seat. It is stated that he has sent his resignation to an official in the city, but this has not been confirmed. If no resignation is tendered, it is claimed that the council will take steps to declare the seat vacant and have a successor to fill the unexpired time elected. It is possible that the matter of confirming H. A. Carmichael as city attorney will be brought up in this connection.

The bonds of the city officials appointed by Mayor J. A. McCuen were not submitted at the last meeting, but it is believed that they will be forthcoming tonight. The opening of the park bond bids will also attract some attention.

Wisconsin Spiritualists Elect.

Kenosha, Wis., March 25.—The Wisconsin Spiritualists in session here elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Etta F. Cowan, Almond; first vice president, Miss Minnie Pribbernow, Wonewoc; second vice president, F. G. Hostak, Madison; secretary, Miss Louise C. Loebel, Milwaukee; treasurer, W. E. Bristol, Oakfield; trustees, Mrs. Hattie Smith, Milwaukee; Mrs. Rose Hangartner, Fond du Lac; Mrs. Cora Barge, Union Center; Mrs. Thomas Gleason, Oakfield.

The convention placed itself on record as opposed to child labor and capital punishment and declared in favor of equal suffrage.

STEELE GETS BIG CONTRACT

Bid on Woodland Sewer Is $10,000 Below Estimate.

The board of public works this morning awarded the contract for the construction of the Woodland sewer to Contractor Hugh Steele. His bid was $35,303.15.

The bids which were submitted to the board last Friday appear to confirm the oft-repeated declaration that local contractors have been doing work in Duluth as cheaply or more cheaply than if the jobs were given to outside contractors. A number of bids were received from out-of-town firms and all of their bids were higher than the majority of those submitted by the Duluth men. The nearest outside contractor to Hugh Steele was H. L. Bartlett of St. Paul, and his price was $42,374.25.

The Woodland sewer will be the longest ever built in Duluth, extending from the end of the Woodland car line to Lake Superior, with an outlet at the foot of Thirty-third avenue east. The engineer's estimate was $45,600. This includes $5,000 which was allowed for engineering and incidentals.

The board today awarded the bid for lumber supplies for the coming year to the Duluth Lumber company.

Sixth Ballot: No Election.

Sante Fe., N. Mex., March 25.—The senatorial deadlock was not broken in the sixth ballot here today.

EAST GRAND FORKS WILL PAVE STREET

De Mers Avenue to Be Improved Underfoot and With Ornamental Lights.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.) — Sandstone pavement will be laid here, the contract for the paving of De Mers avenue, the principal business street, being let to the General Contracting company of Minneapolis at $46,339.70, the work to be commenced immediately.

Not only will the new pavement be laid, but East Grand Forks also will establish the ornamental system of street lighting. The sidewalks are to be made fifteen feet wide and all the work is to be concluded by next fall.

HONEYMOON CONTINUES.

Steele, N. D., March 25. — (Special to The Herald.)—Charging that their daughter, Emma, 17 years old, was spirited from them by a ruse, and that Guy Boggess, to whom she was married in this city, had perjured himself in securing a marriage license, giving the girl's age, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Junge had their son-in-law arrested. At a hearing in a local court, the defendant was dismissed, and he and his bride were allowed to continue their interrupted honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Junge declared they had told Boggess the girl's age was only 17, while the girl said on the witness stand that she had told him her age was 19. It was also claimed that the girl had left her home with another young man in the neighborhood, supposedly to attend a dance, and that the parents had no knowledge of the marriage until noon the following day, when the groom's brother gave them the information.

DULUTH AFTER THE CONVENTION

Will Attempt to Land Sunday School Meeting for 1913.

Duluth will go after the annual convention of the Minnesota Sunday School association for 1913. The pastors and school superintendents of the various West end churches will attend the convention to be held this year in St. Paul on April 9 to 11, and will try to have Duluth chosen for next year's meeting.

The movement was started at a conference held Saturday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A., which was attended by some of the state officials and members of the St. Louis County Sunday School association. A. M. Locker, state secretary; W. G. Pearce of Chicago, associate general secretary of the International Sunday School association; Thomas Owens of Two Harbors, president of the St. Louis County association, and C. H. Rutty of Eveleth, president of the Eveleth district, were among those present at the meeting Saturday.

If those behind the movement are successful in bringing the 1913 convention to Duluth, it will be the first time in the city's history and about 1,000 delegates from all parts of the state will be in attendance. Among the West end pastors back of the movement are:

Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist, Rev. J. J. Daniels of the Swedish Mission, Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian, Rev. Swaney Nelson of the Swedish Baptist, Rev. George E. Silloway of the Grace M. E., Rev. Edwin Stromberg of the Swedish M. E., Rev. Edward Erickson of the Norwegian-Danish M. E., and the superintendents of the Sunday schools of the churches.

Delegates to the convention next month at St. Paul have all been instructed to work for the 1913 convention for Duluth.

BENEFIT CONCERT FOR FOOTLESS MAN.

At the benefit concert to be given Saturday evening at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, for Olaf Peterson, who suffered the loss of both feet from freezing early this winter, Miss Hilda Hellstrom Gagne will give a recital as the main attraction of the program for the evening.

The concert is in charge of the Svea Glee club, the United Swedish Sons of Vasa and the Sophia order, with the following committees in charge for each organization: Svea—John Wallin, Iver Holmberg and H. Enlund; Vasa—E. J. Lund, O. A. Larson and Gust Lundeel, and the Sophia lodge—Misses Marie Johnson and Vera Horngren. The program for the evening will include the following numbers:

Address ..... Rev. W. E. Harmann.
Tenor solo ..... Sigurd Erdtman, accompanied by Miss Edith Nelson.
Song ..... Svea Glee Club.
Address ..... Rev. Edwin Stromberg.
Recitation ..... E. Tupper.
Song ..... Svea Glee Club.
Recitation ..... Miss Hilda Gagne.

Refreshments will be served by the members of the Sophia lodge following the program.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS WILL CONTINUE ALL WEEK.

This evening at the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, Rev. M. S. Rice will open the evangelistic campaign to continue for the next two weeks. The meetings this week will begin at 7:30 o'clock each evening up to Thursday. Preceding the meetings each evening the choir will render a song service and this evening Mrs. J. J. Daniels will sing a solo with the choir.

The campaign is being held for the purpose of following up the work of the Men and Religion Forward Movement meetings held in the West end all of last week. Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, is in charge of the meetings and he is being assisted by Rev. Dr. Rice of the First M. E. church.

DEAN LAGERGREN SPEAKS IN DULUTH.

Dr. C. G. Lagergren, D.D., dean of the Swedish Baptist Theological seminary at Morgan Park, Ill., preached at the regular services last evening. His subject was, "The Tabernacle and the Church." The crude ways in teaching the people in ancient times were compared with those of today.

Dr. Lagergren is the guest of Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the church, and will leave this evening for his home.

Meeting Postponed.

The regular meeting of the Servo Adult Bible class of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, scheduled for this evening, has been postponed until next Monday evening. Attorney Elmer Blu, who was to have spoken on the social conditions in the city, is unable to appear this evening on account of a previous engagement out of the city.

Woman Barber Returns.

Miss Mamie Crawford, who for fourteen years operated a barber shop in the West end, but who left on Nov. 17 last for St. Louis, Mich., where she was called by the serious illness of her father, has returned to Duluth and will resume management of the shop. Just before leaving, Miss Crawford, on account of ill health, not being sure of resuming the same business, sold out the shop to Algot Hulting of Minneapolis, who ran it in her absence, but has sold it back to her. After leaving St. Louis, Mich., Miss Crawford took an extensive trip through the South and West, stopping at Portland, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and various points in Texas, Alabama and Mississippi.

RELIGIOUS CAMPAIGN COMES TO AN END.

With the two meetings for men and women held last evening the eight-day campaign of the Men and Religion Forward movement came to a close for the West End and David G. Latshaw, one of the experts, addressed the men at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The women of the West End were addressed by Rev. Frank E. Higgins, the "Lumberjack Sky Pilot," at the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street.

Will Represent Grocers.

George M. Peterson of 510 North Twenty-first avenue west, secretary of the Duluth Grocers' association, has been elected delegate to the annual convention of the National Grocers' association, which will be held in Oklahoma City, Okla., the week of April 27. The local grocers will hold their annual ball at the Lincoln park auditorium Monday evening, April 8.

Birthday Luncheon.

Mrs. George W. Nesbitt of 2015 West Second street entertained at a birthday luncheon at her home Saturday afternoon. The guests were: Mesdames C. Dilles, Charles Griffith, M. Hanson, E. Dickinson, G. Nesbitt; Misses C. Griffith and M. Nesbitt and the Master K. Dilles and A. Dickinson.

What God Requires.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, 515 West Superior street, preached on "God's Requirement of Man," at the regular morning services yesterday.

"The first and lowest request of man," said Rev. Mr. McGaughey, "is that he do justly to his fellow men, that he feel the obligation to aid in a moral and financial way. True Christian citizenship demands of man that he not only do justly by everyone, but that he should be merciful with those who are unfortunate. It means the lowering of oneself to the plane of the man who is down and then helping him out.

"We must go lower than the plane of justice to be merciful with our fellowmen. All of this can never be accomplished unless man walks humbly with God. It is required of him and before a man is able to fulfill his entire obligation to mankind, he must first walk with his Creator."

Surprised By Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Devaney, 2723 West Second street, were surprised at their home Saturday evening by a number of their friends. The event was in honor of Mrs. Devaney's 76th birthday. Dinner was served to the following guests: Messrs. and Mesdames J. V. Devaney, W. E. Devaney, T. E. Devaney, Mrs. Louis Kelley, Misses Pearl Dillon and Elizabeth Devaney and the Messrs. George and Edward Devaney.

Surprise Party.

Anton Johnson of 1814 West Second street was pleasantly surprised at his home Saturday evening by a number of his West End friends. The evening was spent in games and music, after which a supper was served to the following guests: Messrs. and Mesdames J. Johnson, Fred Olson, John E. Hill, Y. Jacobson, N. Dahl; Misses Selma Hill, Tillie Johnson, Helen Jacobson, Ruth Olson; Messrs. Rudolph Nelson, Oliver Peterson, John Jacobson, Ole Peterson, Nels Minson and Olfa Larson.

West End Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church will be entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Ledingham, 1927 West Third street.

The choir of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will hold its weekly meeting in the church parlors Wednesday evening.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Division No. 6, A. O. H., will initiate a class of new members at its meeting in the Foresters' hall this evening.

The Queen Esther Circle of the Grace M. E. church will be entertained this evening at the home of Miss Frances Berg, 2701 West First street.

Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Blood of the East end moved to their new home at 2323 West Fourth street last week.

Doctors A. Olson and A. Osterberg of the West end have been in Minneapolis attending the annual convention of the Minnesota Dental society, during the last few days.

Miss Sadie McMann of Grand Rapids, Minn., is a guest this week at the home of her cousin, Miss Dorothy Jackson, 2411 West Fourth street.

F. M. Jackson of 2411 West Fourth street left yesterday for a short business visit at Cloquet, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. William Aldrich of 217 North Twenty-eighth avenue west returned Saturday from a two months' visit on their fruit ranch near Syloam Springs, Ark.

U-Need-A laugh. Come and hear the Black-Belle Minstrels at Columbia hall tomorrow night, 8 p. m. Lively coon singing and up to date jokes for West end business men and others. Admission 25 cents.

The choir of the Swedish Mission church will meet Tuesday and Friday evening, the male chorus meeting on the same evening, at 7 o'clock. Wednesday at 2 p. m. the ladies' aid society of this church will meet with Mrs. Anton Peterson of 516 Fifteenth avenue east, and the Parthenoe society Wednesday at 8 p. m., with Mrs. C. G. Anderson of 2007 West Third street. Thursday evening a men's meeting will be held and Rev. K. E. Peterson of Lund, Wis., will speak.

DUMAS CASE APPEALED.

Order Finally Made Carrying Case to Higher Court.

Bemidji, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although attorneys for Dr. D. F. Dumas made a request at the time Cass Lake's mayor was convicted here last October in connection with the Puposky affair, to have the case certified to the state supreme court and that request was granted, it was not until Saturday that Judge W. S. McClenahan issued the official order which carries the case to the state's high court for final adjudication. Pending the outcome of the appeal Dr. Dumas is at liberty on bonds.

HOUGHTON OFFICER IS ACCUSED OF EXTORTION.

Hancock, Mich., March 25.—Deputy Sheriff James Mahar of Houghton was arrested on a charge of extortion preferred by Henry Tennenbaum, a Milwaukee jewelry salesman. He alleged that Mahar claimed a warrant had been issued for the arrest of Tennenbaum on a charge of selling goods without a license, and that Mahar offered to quash the proceedings upon the payment of a sum of money. Tennenbaum said he paid Mahar the money.

ALLEGED MURDERER PROBABLY INSANE

Book Binder Accused of Killing George Douglas Gives Rambling Talk.

Brainerd, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—In an interview in the Crow Wing county jail, William Pearson, the book binder of Minneapolis, accused of the murder of George C. Douglas at Pelican lake, near Piquot, described the home of Douglas. He said on the main floor the home, which was originally a barn, had storage room for corn and farming utensils. The second floor, where Pearson said he found the body, was reached by a ladder. The room measured 12 by 20 feet and had a window in each end. Douglas had some horses, said Pearson, but had no shelter for them even in 50 deg. below zero weather. The room where the body lay was black and grimy with smoke. The bed in a corner was old and dirty and the sheet and mattress torn; wood was scattered on the floor.

Was Seed Corn Specialist.

Douglas at one time taught an Indian school in South Dakota and also was a dean of the pharmacy department of the Iowa university. He made a specialty of raising seed corn and a lot of it was hanging on the walls. Pearson had known Douglas and he acknowledged having been there Friday evening. When asked if he had an argument with him he would not answer, saying: "Oh, you're trying to get something out of me!" He said he found the body smeared with blood and the place looked like a slaughter house. On the floor he found an old-fashioned revolver with a wooden handle on which most of the wood had fallen off. He took this and the hammer to his shack a mile away and Sheriff Reid is now at the scene of the crime, getting these implements and other things. "I went through Douglas's pockets," said Pearson, "and found $2 or $3. That wasn't much, but if I had found $300 or $1,000, I would have kept it."

When asked if he wanted a lawyer, he said: "What good will a lawyer do me? Things look too black for me. I will tell my story to the jury. Life is all they can give me anyway. That man Shaffer at Pequot had better look out. I'll get even with him when I get out of this, and the fellows that wanted to get a rope at Pequot and hang me had better have a care."

Body Badly Beaten.

The body of Douglass is badly beaten up. A bullet wound from the back of the head to a point between the eyes where the ball came out is plainly visible, showing that the murderer first shot Douglass and then hammered his head in like an eggshell.

Relatives of Douglass, a brother-in-law, Otis F. Edward, and a cousin of Havelock, Iowa, are in the city. The brothers of Pearson are expected from Minneapolis and it is thought they will engage counsel for him. Their parents are aged people and are prostrated by the shock. Many believe Pearson to be insane.

COURT MARTIAL CASE IS CLOSED

Famous Action Involving Adj.-Gen. Poole, Closed Incident.

Bismarck, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The famous Thomas Poole court-martial case has been finally closed by the decision of the supreme court refusing to grant a rehearing to the defendants, A. A. Peake, former adjutant general, and the governor.

Under the decision the court-martial proceedings, previously set aside by the court as null and void because the court-martial has no jurisdiction in times of peace, are again declared to be of no effect, and Mr. Poole must be reinstated in the guard as brigadier general.

NORTH DAKOTA LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Act Requiring Assessors to Give Taxpayers' Party Affiliations, Hit.

Crosby, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—In an opinion given George Homness by the attorney general, the law adopted last year and compelling the assessors to enumerate their voters according to party affiliation is unconstitutional.

The law provides that assessors, in making their rounds during April and May shall require each voter to make affidavit as to his party affiliation. The list of voters will then be made up, placed at each polling place, to be used by the election officials in compelling voters to remain within their own party at primary elections.

Why Law is Faulty.

The measure places an additional requirement upon the voter not now provided by the constitution, according to the ruling. It does not give the voter any opportunity to vote the ballot of the opposite party in the event that he should change his mind between the time he is enrolled and the day of the election.

California's experience with a measure somewhat similar to that enacted by the North Dakota legislature is cited.

The opinion declares that the original California law was not nearly so cumbersome and discriminatory. Despite this ruling of the attorney general's office, the enrollment of the voters will proceed, an action in court being necessary to set aside the measure.

CONVICT SPOONER MAN.

Joe Lafave Found Guilty of Firing Building.

Bemidji, Minn., March 25.—Joe Lafave of Spooner, was convicted Saturday of arson in the first degree, a jury in the district court returning a verdict of guilty after being out less than an hour. Lafave was charged jointly with Oscar Baker of having set fire to a building in Spooner owned by Lafave, during the night of Jan. 31, which was occupied by Mrs. William Billedeau and two children, the fire being discovered and extinguished before doing much damage to the building. Baker confessed and said that Lafave had hired him to set fire to the building, agreeing to pay him $100 for the job. The principal parts of Baker's testimony were corroborated by other witnesses. Baker has already pleaded guilty and was given a reformatory sentence, prior to testifying against Lafave. Baker is 27 years old and Lafave is but 25. It is expected that Judge Stanton will pronounce sentence upon Lafave today. The penalty for arson in the first degree is from 10 to 30 years.

Fixing Fair Dates.

Bismarck, N. D., March 25.—Dates of seven fairs which will be held in North Dakota this year have already been received by Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor W. C. Gilbreath, and the probabilities are that within the next two or three weeks the dates of from six to ten other fairs will be set.

SEQUEL TO THE STORY OF "THE FOUR ERRING HUSBANDS"

This is another hypothetical question, a sequel to the one published in The Herald Friday.

Suppose that four women knew that their husbands were good friends before and after marriage, and also knew that their husbands would, if sufficiently urged and encouraged, toy with the bright lights and the other elements that go to make up a "big night," as understood by the masculine portion of any community. Suppose that one of the four women received a telephone call from her husband one evening shortly before dinner announcing that he was detained at the office by urgent business. Suppose that the one woman called up one of the other four to get sympathy in her loneliness and found that the husband of the other was also detained. Suppose that all four got in touch with each other and discovered the strange coincidence that the four husbands were detained down town. Suppose that they knew that a friend of the four husbands in their ante-nuptial days was in the city.—

If you were one of the four women, wouldn't you feel certain that something other than ordinary business had detained the four husbands downtown on the same evening?

That's what the women did. They likewise decided that if their husbands could go out for the evening, listen to the music in a cafe, partake of refreshments, mostly of the kind that is taken without knife, fork or spoon, and otherwise conduct themselves as they would if they had no wives to worry them, four wives could do the same thing.

Not in the same degree—gracious, no! But it would be a good joke on the men, you know, if the four wives went to the same cafe pre-empted a table near the men and ordered something harmless with which to toy while the orchestra played and the soft-footed, hard-fisted waiters flitted about appeasing thirsts that were prodigious in their capacity for absorbing various alcoholic beverages.

The four wives did just that. They attired themselves becomingly for the evening, met at an appointed place, journeyed down town and quite accidentally, you know, found their way to the cafe where the men were dining out.

The men were surprised. They couldn't afford to be shocked, for the wives was seemingly on the other arm. Neither the men nor the women mentioned "night of it." All went home like sane, steady married people.

It may seem a shame that such a merry little masculine party was broken up. But wives have privileges and men have duties, and if the wives adopt apparently harsh measures to impress the men with their duties, harsh measures are sometimes necessary.

Remaining down town on account of business will not be so popular, for a time, at least.

Ashland, Wis., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Wilson rally will be held in the city hall next Wednesday evening. The two candidates for national delegates, John Walsh of Washburn, and T. H. Ryan of Merrill will speak.

DULUTH AFTER THE CONVENTION

Will Attempt to Land Sunday School Meeting for 1913.

Duluth will go after the annual convention of the Minnesota Sunday School association for 1913. The pastors and school superintendents of the various West end churches will attend the convention to be held this year in St. Paul on April 9 to 11, and will try to have Duluth chosen for next year's meeting.

The movement was started at a conference held Saturday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A., which was attended by some of the state officials and members of the St. Louis County Sunday School association. A. M. Locker, state secretary; W. G. Pearce of Chicago, associate general secretary of the International Sunday School association; Thomas Owens of Two Harbors, president of the St. Louis County association, and C. H. Rutty of Eveleth, president of the Eveleth district, were among those present at the meeting Saturday.

If those behind the movement are successful in bringing the 1913 convention to Duluth, it will be the first time in the city's history and about 1,000 delegates from all parts of the state will be in attendance. Among the West end pastors back of the movement are:

Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist, Rev. J. J. Daniels of the Swedish Mission, Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian, Rev. Swaney Nelson of the Swedish Baptist, Rev. George E. Silloway of the Grace M. E., Rev. Edwin Stromberg of the Swedish M. E., Rev. Edward Erickson of the Norwegian-Danish M. E., and the superintendents of the Sunday schools of the churches.

Delegates to the convention next month at St. Paul have all been instructed to work for the 1913 convention for Duluth.

BENEFIT CONCERT FOR FOOTLESS MAN.

At the benefit concert to be given Saturday evening at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, for Olaf Peterson, who suffered the loss of both feet from freezing early this winter, Miss Hilda Hellstrom Gagne will give a recital as the main attraction of the program for the evening.

The concert is in charge of the Svea Glee club, the United Swedish Sons of Vasa and the Sophia order, with the following committees in charge for each organization: Svea—John Wallin, Iver Holmberg and H. Enlund; Vasa—E. J. Lund, O. A. Larson and Gust Lundeel, and the Sophia lodge—Misses Marie Johnson and Vera Horngren. The program for the evening will include the folowing numbers:

Address ..... Rev. W. E. Harmann.
Tenor solo ..... Sigurd Erdtman, accompanied by Miss Edith Nelson.
Song ..... Svea Glee Club.
Address ..... Rev. Edwin Stromberg.
Recitation ..... E. Tupper.
Song ..... Svea Glee Club.
Recitation ..... Miss Hilda Gagne.

Refreshments will be served by the members of the Sophia lodge following the program.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS WILL CONTINUE ALL WEEK.

This evening at the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, Rev. M. S. Rice will open the evangelistic campaign to continue for the next two weeks. The meetings this week will begin at 7:30 o'clock each evening up to Thursday. Preceding the meetings each evening the choir will render a song service and this evening Mrs. J. J. Daniels will sing a solo with the choir.

The campaign is being held for the purpose of following up the work of the Men and Religion Forward Movement meetings held in the West end all of last week. Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, is in charge of the meetings and he is being assisted by Rev. Dr. Rice of the First M. E. church.

DEAN LAGERGREN SPEAKS IN DULUTH.

Dr. C. G. Lagergren, D.D., dean of the Swedish Baptist Theological seminary at Morgan Park, Ill., preached at the regular services last evening. His subject was, "The Tabernacle and the Church." The crude ways in teaching the people in ancient times were compared with those of today.

Dr. Lagergren is the guest of Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the church, and will leave this evening for his home.

Meeting Postponed.

The regular meeting of the Servo Adult Bible class of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, scheduled for this evening, has been postponed until next Monday evening. Attorney Elmer Blu, who was to have spoken on the social conditions in the city, is unable to appear this evening on account of a previous engagement out of the city.

Woman Barber Returns.

Miss Mamie Crawford, who for fourteen years operated a barber shop in the West end, but who left on Nov. 17 last for St. Louis, Mich., where she was called by the serious illness of her father, has returned to Duluth and will resume management of the shop. Just before leaving, Miss Crawford, on account of ill health, not being sure of resuming the same business, sold out the shop to Algot Huiting of Minneapolis, who ran it in her absence, but has sold it back to her. After leaving St. Louis, Mich., Miss Crawford took an extensive trip through the South and West, stopping at Portland, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and various points in Texas, Alabama and Mississippi.

RELIGIOUS CAMPAIGN COMES TO AN END.

With the two meetings for men and women held last evening the eight-day campaign of the Men and Religion Forward movement came to a close for the West End and David G. Latshaw, one of the experts, addressed the men at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The women of the West End were addressed by Rev. Frank E. Higgins, the "Lumberjack Sky Pilot," at the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street.

Will Represent Grocers.

George M. Peterson of 510 North Twenty-first avenue west, secretary of the Duluth Grocers' association, has been elected delegate to the annual convention of the National Grocers' association, which will be held in Oklahoma City, Okla., the week of April 27. The local grocers will hold their annual ball at the Lincoln park auditorium Monday evening, April 8.

Birthday Luncheon.

Mrs. George W. Nesbitt of 2015 West Second street entertained at a birthday luncheon at her home Saturday afternoon. The guests were: Mesdames C. Dilles, Charles Griffith, M. Hanson, E. Dickinson, G. Nesbitt; Misses C. Griffith and M. Nesbitt and the Master K. Dilles and A. Dickinson.

What God Requires.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, 515 West Superior street, preached on "God's Requirement of Man," at the regular morning services yesterday.

"The first and lowest request of man," said Rev. Mr. McGaughey, "is that he do justly to his fellow men, that he feel the obligation to aid in a moral and financial way. True Christian citizenship demands of man that he not only do justly by everyone, but that he should be merciful with those who are unfortunate. It means the lowering of oneself to the plane of the man who is down and then helping him out.

"We must go lower than the plane of justice to be merciful with our fellowmen. All of this can never be accomplished unless man walks humbly with God. It is required of him and before a man is able to fulfill his entire obligation to mankind, he must first walk with his Creator."

Surprised By Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Devaney, 2723 West Second street, were surprised at their home Saturday evening by a number of their friends. The event was in honor of Mrs. Devaney's 26th birthday. Dinner was served to the following guests: Messrs. and Mesdames J. V. Devaney, W. E. Devaney, T. E. Devaney, Mrs. Louis Kelley, Misses Pearl Dillon and Elizabeth Devaney and the Messrs. George and Edward Devaney.

Surprise Party.

Anton Johnson of 1614 West Second street was pleasantly surprised at his home Saturday evening by a number of his West End friends. The evening was spent in games and music, after which a supper was served to the following guests: Messrs. and Mesdames J. Johnson, Fred Olson, John E. Hill, Y. Jacobson, N. Dahl; Misses Selma Hill, Tillie Johnson, Helen Jacobson, Ruth Olson; Messrs. Rudolph Nelson, Oliver Peterson, John Jacobson, Ole Peterson, Nels Minson and Olfa Larson.

West End Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church will be entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Ledingham, 1927 West Third street.

The choir of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will hold its weekly meeting in the church parlors Wednesday evening.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Division No. 6, A. O. H., will initiate a class of new members at its meeting in the Foresters' hall this evening.

The Queen Esther Circle of the Grace M. E. church will be entertained this evening at the home of Miss Frances Berg, 2701 West First street.

Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Blood of the East end moved to their new home at 2323 West Fourth street last week.

Doctors A. Olson and A. Osterberg of the West end have been in Minneapolis attending the annual convention of the Minnesota Dental society, during the last few days.

Miss Sadie McMann of Grand Rapids, Minn., is a guest this week at the home of her cousin, Miss Dorothy Jackson, 2411 West Fourth street.

F. M. Jackson of 2411 West Fourth street left yesterday for a short business visit at Cloquet, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. William Aldrich of 217 North Twenty-eighth avenue west returned Saturday from a two months' visit on their fruit ranch near Syloam Springs, Ark.

U-Need-A laugh. Come and hear the Black-Belle Minstrels at Columbia hall tomorrow night, 8 p. m. Lively coon singing and up to date jokes for West end business men and others. Admission 25 cents.

The choir of the Swedish Mission church will meet Tuesday and Friday evening, the male chorus meeting on the same evening, at 7 o'clock. Wednesday at 2 p. m. the ladies' aid society of this church will meet with Mrs. Anton Peterson of 516 Fifteenth avenue east, and the Parthenoc society Wednesday at 8 p. m., with Mrs. C. G. Anderson of 2007 West Third street. Thursday evening a men's meeting will be held and Rev. K. E. Peterson of Lund, Wis., will speak.

They likewise decided that if their husbands could go out for the evening, listen to the music in a cafe, partake of refreshments, mostly of the kind that is taken without knife, fork or spoon, and otherwise conduct themselves as they would if they had no wives to worry them, four wives could do the same thing.

Not in the same degree—gracious, no! But it would be a good joke on the men, you know, if the four wives went to the same cafe pre-empted a table near the men and ordered something harmless with which to toy while the orchestra played and the soft-footed, hard-fisted waiters flitted about appeasing thirsts that were prodigious in their capacity for absorbing various alcoholic beverages.

The four wives did just that. They attired themselves becomingly for the evening, met at an appointed place, journeyed down town and quite accidentally, you know, found their way to the cafe where the men were holding out.

The men were surprised. They couldn't afford to be shocked, for the shock was seemingly on the other side. Neither the men nor the women made a "night of it." All went home like staid, steady married people.

It may seem a shame that such a merry little masculine party was broken up. But wives have privileges and men have duties, and if the wives adopt apparently harsh measures to impress the men with their duties, harsh measures are sometimes necessary.

Remaining down town on account of business will not be so popular, for a time, at least.

Wilson Rally at Ashland.

Ashland, Wis., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Wilson rally will be held in the city hall next Wednesday evening. The two candidates for national delegates, John Walsh of Washburn, and T. H. Ryan of Merrill will speak.

This will be the only political meeting of the campaign before the primaries in Ashland.

KILL THAT AMENDMENT!

The city council should make no mistake in its action tonight on the Scott dance hall ordinance and the proposed amendment permitting saloons in buildings where dance halls are situated.

The adoption of that amendment would be flying in the face of a strong public sentiment, and a public sentiment that is right.

The Herald has had many evidences that it was right when it said last Friday that it believed the public opinion of Duluth was strongly opposed to this amendment. In fact, hardly any stand this newspaper has taken has received so many evidences of public approval. They came by letter, by telephone, by personal visits—in numbers and of a character that would, we are sure, be very impressive and convincing to any member of the council if he had witnessed them.

The ordinance, unamended unless it can be strengthened, should be adopted.

It must be confessed that Secretary Knox probably didn't have the same kind of a time in Venezuela that he would have had if Cipriano Castro had been on the job.

MENTAL DEAFNESS.

In these days of animated discussion about political and economic questions that a few years ago nearly everybody left to experts, there are many diverting instances.

There are none more diverting than a joint debate between a man who holds to the "let-things-alone" doctrine and who will admit to his mind no logic of progress, and a man who believes in adopting each new and attractive remedy for social ailments without harkening to the voice of cool and calculating reason.

Not much but entertainment comes out of such an argument, as a rule. There is much heat, and little light. The trouble is that both parties to the argument are immune to conviction. They have their minds made up, and there's an end of it.

It is very much like an ancient Greek story told by Nicarchus, and related in Charles Johnston's book "Why the World Laughs."

A deaf man brought suit against a neighbor and brought him into court. He sued for five months' rent for his house.

After he had presented his case the defendant, who was dealer than the plaintiff, took the witness stand and declared that he was not guilty, and that it couldn't have been him because on the evening in question he had been working in his mill all night.

The judge, it turned out, was more deaf than either of the parties to the suit, and after gravely listening to the evidence he handed down his decision as follows: "Why are you contending? You have a mother. Both of you must contribute to her support."

Cold storage may be all the blessing that its defenders claim it is, but it isn't one of the blessings that come freely, or even at low cost.

THE CHANGE WOULDN'T BE NOTICED.

The Democrats having favored putting sugar on the free list, the cane-planters of Louisiana are in a state of revolt, and threaten to bolt the ticket at the coming elecion.

"I say frankly," says President Farwell of the Cane-Growers' association, "that I believe the time is ripe for Louisiana to send Republicans to congress. Protection to Louisiana industries has always come from Republicans."

And the Republicans have been fully repaid by Louisiana votes in congress for exorbitant and burdensome tariff duties all along the line.

In point of fact, if we recall correctly the votes on the Aldrich-Payne tariff law and the various schedules in it, the representatives of Louisiana, though labelled Democrats, voted invariably like New England Republicans.

So if they changed their party label that would be about all the change would amount to.

The first robin having been heralded, the first violet will be next in order.

GOVERNOR WILSON'S "CONVERSION."

The talk about the lateness of Governor Wilson's conversion to the cause of popular rule hasn't been very convincing, because so many people have been converted to that cause by the logic of recent events that there are few in the land who are in a position to throw stones.

Governor Wilson admits himself that he used to argue that the initiative and referendum wouldn't work, but says that he can't argue that any more because he sees them working successfully.

But his "conversion" was not so recent as those people try to make out who would, if they could, leave the impression with the people that it came about solely through his ambition to be president.

Looking through some old files we find a clipping about an article by Governor Wilson published in the North American Review in September, 1907, nearly five years ago—and five years is a long time when the national opinion on political policies is changing so rapidly as it is now.

In this article Governor Wilson, then president of Princeton and not to be "mentioned" for the presidency for several years, deprecated the view that the American people are shackled for all time to come to the present Constitution, no matter how great an obstacle it might prove to real democracy. Among other things he said:

"Mr. Jefferson and his colleagues in the Continental Congress prescribed the law of adjustment between government and individual liberty for no generation but their own." "The question for us is what do we think of our safety and of the pursuit of our happiness—of the principles of action and the forms of power we are using today to secure them. Does the doctrine of the Declaration of Independence still live in our principles of action, in the things we do, in the purposes we applaud, in the measures we approve? " "We are not bound to adhere to the doctrines held by the signers of the Declaration of Independence; we are as free as they were to make and unmake governments." "The main question is, have the people, though they created the opportunity and contributed the labor, shared the benefits of the extraordinary material development of the country as they might have shared them?"

President Wilson advocated "making a new translation of our morals into the terms of our modern life, where individuality seems for the time being lost in complex organization, and then making a new translation of our laws to match our new translation of morals." In short, as the Declaration and the Constitution dealt primarily and originally with individual liberty and individual right, as the test of a good government, so must it be the task of the coming evolution of the Constitution to find the individual in the maze of modern social and commercial and industrial conditions. The "elaborate secret manipulations" by which "financiers" play fast and loose with the property of thousands of stockholders cannot be met by indicting the corporations themselves; and not to indict somebody effectively in such cases "is like overlooking the highway robberies of the medieval barons." With the law fixing responsibility individually upon directors, officers and managers of the corporation, we should "once more have the exhilirating freedom of governing our own lives, the law standing as umpire, not as master."

This, bear in mind, several years before the presidency and Woodrow Wilson bore any relationship to each other in his own mind or the minds of others.

The North American Review article doesn't sound like the utterance of a man who changes his convictions to gain an office. It sounds like the utterance of a man who has longstanding and deepseated convictions of true democracy that have since flowered into a profession of faith that harmonizes completely with the present national aspiration to real popular rule.

While Col. Roosevelt was speaking in Portland, Me., the platform collapsed. It shows the irony of fate. He was trying to make the Taft platform collapse at that very minute.

THE CLOSE OF A STRONG CAMPAIGN.

The eight-day campaign of the Men and Religion Forward Movement in Duluth came to an end last night. For a week, after months of preparation, meetings in many places and of many kinds were held daily and nightly. Experts in several lines were brought here as leaders. A large and representative local committee of laymen had charge of the work. The meetings were largely attended, and great interest was shown.

What will be the fruits?

We shall expect—and sincerely hope—that they will be many and important. If the campaign led many to give thought to the things of the soul, its relationship to its neighbors, to current life and to the future world, great good has been done. If it has led many to recast their life programs and to determine to throw their strength into the fight for God and humanity, the good will be incalculable. All will hope, we are sure, that the results of the campaign will prove not only large, but permanent.

On the social side one very tangible result is a committee through which the church influence in civic life will be given dynamic form, and probably this work will take form along the lines laid down in the list of twenty-one recommendations made by Dr. I. J. Lansing, the social service expert who was among the outside leaders in the local campaign. These suggestions, which were published in The Herald Saturday evening, are generally timely and good. Some, like inspection of milk and other foods, playgrounds, etc., are already under way and need only extension and further support. Some, like the extinction of the "red light" district and the assault on the saloon, are less hopeful because they concern problems which humanity never yet has been able to solve. All, however, are in the right direction, and all are worth the thought and energy of every person whose being is inspired by the faintest light of public spirit and who has even the most rudimentary conception of the duties which the brotherhood of man imposes upon the individual.

Why not put each of the presidential aspirants up against the job of rounding up the Allens—and elect the winner?

IT WAS NO SLIP.

Says our (so to say) esteemed contemporary, inventor of that happy term "Fortunatus" Eberhart: "It was doubtless just a slip that caused our contemporary to say that 'Col. Roosevelt still is silent on the tariff.' It is just a few weeks ago that Mr. Roosevelt fully indorsed President Taft's tariff position."

Indorsing President Taft's tariff position is our idea of having nothing to say on the tariff.

Loan sharks in Chicago claim that they are being treated worse than they should be. That's just like Chicago, always jumping up and doing the impossible.

WRITE YOUR CONGRESSMEN.

Letters and petitions are pouring in to congress against the parcels post.

Though probably not to exceed five per cent of the people in any community are opposed to the parcels post, and at least ninety-five per cent are heartily for it, it is the five per cent that are being heard from in Washington—not the ninety-five per cent.

In almost every community, those who can be induced to do so by the local express agents, and those retail merchants in small communities who are mistakenly in fear of the parcels post on the wrong theory that it will give the mail order houses an advantage over them, are writing letters or signing petitions against the parcels post.

They are only a few in each community, but coming from all over the land their protests make a formidable appearance when they are combined in Washington.

The trouble is that the ninety-five per cent who ardently wish for a parcels post are silent, and the five per cent who think they don't want a parcels post are loud and active.

If you want the parcels post, sit down tonight and write a letter to each of your senators and to your representative in congress, telling them so and urging them to do all in their power to push the parcels post along.

Ever noticed how that name "Fortunatus"—delightful name that, anyway—works out into an acrostic? Just try it, like this: For Old Republican Tenets, Unheeding Necessary Alterations That Up-build States.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. But discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

LETTERS LIKE THESE ARE ALWAYS WELCOME.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your valued publication of last night I read the editorial on the dance hall ordinance. I take pleasure in commending your paper for expressing so well the viewpoint of a large number of our citizens.

At a meeting of the social service institute of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, the writer was instructed by some seventy or eighty men present to convey to the editor of The Herald their appreciation of this editorial. Kindly consider this letter not only an expression of the eighty men, but an expression from the writer as well, which is very gladly given. Yours truly,

BERT N. WHEELER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am one of a great many men in the city who have been reading your recent editorials, and no doubt you have received a tremendous amount of favorable comment. We are all with you, and with a few more editorials such as yours on the "Dance Hall Ordinance," and the support that is rising from the ferment on all other reforms, I am an enthusiastic believer in the prediction that something is going to drop soon.

The move for a cleaner city is on in good earnest, with a good strong backing, that will be soon organized for effective work.

Keep up your good work. Yours truly, HERBERT H. BROWN.

AN OBJECT LESSON FOR DULUTHIANS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There were shown some moving pictures at the Lyceum Saturday and Sunday from Sweden and Denmark which our city fathers ought to have seen and taken a lesson from, and then perhaps we would not see our streets in such shape in spring as we have the pleasure to do now. One picture was called "The Day After a Snow Storm," and it was a joy to see how the streets were cleaned up and the clean snow hauled away and dumped in the stream or lake without danger of contaminating the water. That is now the custom, so the result is that when spring comes, there are no deep banks of dirty snow that have to melt away, like here. A ride on the street car to Lakeside or anywhere tells its own tale. The sidewalks are flooded with the melting snow. It is a disgrace to Duluth, and what have we to look forward to when the wind will begin to play havoc with the dirt?

AN OBSERVER.

Duluth, March 23.

MOVES HIM TO POETRY.

To The Editor of The Herald:

The following was prompted by your editorial, "Clean Superior Street." With apologies to James Whitcomb Riley and his "Lockerbie Street."

Such a drear, muddy street it is, muddied away
In a muddle of mud made of moisture and clay,
That clings to your feet, to your trousers and hose
And splatters its splatter in eyes, ears and nose,
And in all your wide wanderings never you'll meet
With a muddier muddle than Superior street.

On dark dreary nights when the light's burning dim,
You alight from a car and light into the swim,
And cry out for help, but there's none to be found,
So you strike out and swim—it is swim or be drowned.
Your language sulphuric I dare not repeat,
But it sounded like "——old Superior street!"

O, Superior street! You're a sight to behold
When the spring sun is hid and the wind's blowing cold,
And your brunette bosom heaves heaves of delight
At my swearing by day and my cursing by night.
Surely not on this earth could a mud bather meet
With a muddier muddle than Superior street.

REVIVES SUBJECT OF KILLING DOES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am a reader of The Herald and have noticed a couple of articles regarding the killing of does. It is a question to me as to how a hunter can tell the difference in a young buck and a doe running wild in the woods. Neither of them will let a hunter come close enough to look for horns. What is the hunter going to do? With only one deer allowed he will take a chance in killing the deer. He may find it is a doe. Now the doe will be left to feed the wolves and the hunter will try for a buck. By this plan it would mean that almost as many does would be killed as bucks and the wolves would be much pleased to see such a law and starvation for wolves would cease. Now my idea is a little different. I would start this way. First of all I would enforce the law that every person going into the woods with intent to hunt must first get a license. Second I would bar all non-citizens of this country from obtaining a license and if such non-citizen were caught doing any hunting I would have a certain fine placed upon them and would have it enforced and in my mind this would remedy the slaughter of the doe. The time these people get the does is in summer when the animals come out of the swamps to the open country and lakes to get away from flies. With their fawns they are very tame. The does have some chance of getting away in the hunting season. Furthermore a great many more lives would be saved during the hunting season. This may be rather strong against the non-citizen but let them become citizens first then grant them the right to secure a license. This in my mind would improve our country and protect the does to a great extent and also the lives of our true citizens during the hunting season. Thanking you very much for the space if this will escape the waste basket. Yours very truly, A. KEEWATIN SPORTSMAN.

Keewatin, Minn., March 23.

DULUTH AND THE HERALD.

Appreciated.

Crookston Times: A recent issue of The Duluth Herald contained an editorial on "Home" which is of exceptional merit, that is if the people will read it and even in a half honest way attempt to discover what kind of a home they are assisting in making. While it is a terrible arraignment of what the home is in too many instances, every word contained in it is true. It should be read, carefully read, and if it is honestly read there will be some readers who will feel little heartily ashamed of themselves for the character of home toward which their influence has tended. The home is the foundation of everything good in this world, and yet how many people so conduct themselves about their home as to forfeit all rights to the privileges and blessings of one.

No Place for Gamblers.

Stillwater Gazette: Duluth is no place for gamblers. Half a dozen men were caught in the act of playing penny ante, arrested and brought before a judge. He wasn't a stony-hearted, merciless chap, but one of the boys, and after hearing the charge against the sextette told them to go and sin no more. But will they follow his advice? Even money they will not.

Farmer Ben Agrees.

Farmer Ben in Austin Transcript: A doctor up to Duluth in talkin' to the normal school students a few days ago told 'em that if their studies interfered with their sleep to cut out enuf so they wouldn't interfere. I tell you that's got the right ring. Farmer Ben has alwus claimed that eddlcation that cost bodily health and vigorousness and quiet nerves and such wasn't worth the candle. This burnin' the midnlght oil to get wise is all rot. The student that wins valedictory and comes out of college or high with shattered body and nerves has paid a thousand times too big bonus for the prize and honor.

Omnipotent.

Cass Lake Times: Just to think that it's only three years today since Teddy left the White House. It doesn't seem possible!—Duluth Herald.

All things are possible, with Teddy.

Will Bob Come.

Princeton Union: The acceptance by the editors of the cordial invitation to take their summer outing in St. Louis county meets with the hearty approval of the union. The editors will find much to see and admire in and around Duluth and on the iron ranges, besides they gain some useful information for the benefit of their readers, and in addition they can rest assured of hospitable treatment and an enjoyable outing.

Boys Are Included.

Aitkin Age: The Duluth school board is now wrestling with the dirty snuff habit among the boys. Mankind seems determined to defile the body and one is constrained to wonder if the "old girl" who refused to marry was not so far off when she said: "I hate all men! I loathe their habits! I simply turn from all their pleasures with a shudder! I cannot tolerate them in guise of either lover, husband or friend!"

Agrees With The Herald.

Mankato Free Press: The Free Press heartily and fully agrees with The Duluth Herald that the position of lieutenant governor is one of great importance as much so as that of governor, and it should be filled by a strong man—one whom the sordid interests cannot approach with impunity.

Cruel Thrust.

Silvanus in Browns Valley Tribune: The thermometer got down to 58 deg. below on Amundsen's polar trip. But has Amundsen ever been to Duluth? According to the papers. "It Is Cool in Duluth."

The Anti-Wilson Combine.

Mark Sullivan in Collier's: Of the fact that there is a strong alliance among the Harmon-Clark-Underwood forces, there is naive evidence from a quarter where the information is most likely to be accurate. These sentences come from the Wall Street Journal:

"An understanding has been reached by those who are managing the campaign for the nomination of Harmon and the directors of the campaign which has Speaker Clark's nomination in view. * * * In addition to this understanding, there are some reasons for inferring that it will be speedily so extended as to include those who are directing the campaign for the nomination of Congressman Underwood. It is not improbable that within the next ten days or two weeks an understanding of that kind will have been so made that the friends of Mr. Underwood, of Speaker Clark, and of Governor Harmon, respectively, will make no campaign except in territory which naturally belongs to the candidate which it will support. * * * Political strategy of that kind will be entered into if it is attempted at all with intent to weaken Governor Woodrow Wilson before the convention. The common opinion among politicians of this city is that at present Wilson is stronger than any of the other candidates * * *"

The Harmon-Clark-Underwood alliance is much more formal and sinister than a mere friendly division of territory. The same money that worked for Clark in Missouri is now working for Harmon in Louisiana; one of the agents of the St. Louis brewers, who helped get the Missouri delegation for Clark, has since been working in Louisiana to get that delegation for Harmon. In no state is there a contest between any two members of the combination; in Texas it is Harmon against Wilson, in Kansas it has been Clark against Wilson, in Georgia Underwood against Wilson. Nowhere is there a Harmon vs. Clark fight, nor a Harmon vs. Underwood fight.

Dont's For Girls.

Chicago Herald-Record: Wellesley college has a list of up-to-the-minute dont's. Here are some of them:

"Don't flirt with the handsome fellow down village. His wife may not like it."

"Don't retire with undrawn curtains. The rubber industry is flourishing in other places than South America."

"Don't chew candy or anything else while on the village streets. If you must chew, try the rag."

"Don't be a freak. The squirrels have enough nuts to attend to now."

"Don't kiss each other in the public highway. It's awful to see a woman doing a man's work."

"Don't study too hard. Folks may think you are preparing to earn your own living."

"Don't show your dislikes of a hated instructor. Give her some of your home-made fudge."

ECHOES OF NORTH DAKOTA.

New York Globe (Ind. Progressive): North Dakota has no large cities or slums. It has never had a riot during its history. There is diffusion of wealth, and the sanctity of private property is religiously respected. There is no sympathy with socialism. It has abundant schools, and a majority of its citizens are God-fearing farmers who work too hard to be hysterical or turbulent. We don't know how others may view it, but to us it is a significant thing that the Republicans of such a state should enlist almost unanimously under the banner of Progressivism.

Omaha World-Herald (Dem.): The unexpectedly poor showing made by both Roosevelt and Taft is highly significant. Taft's vote was so small as to be almost negligible. Roosevelt's vote, by comparison with La Follette's, was also small, thought much larger than Taft's. Taft was crushed in North Dakota on his record. Roosevelt was badly beaten, it would seem, because the Republicans of that Progressive state have little confidence in his new found zeal for reform principles and policies which he has heretofore opposed. His record was shown by La Follette to be not much better than Taft's. La Follette was the one candidate of the three who, to Progressive promises, could add a record of constructive Progressive performance.

New York Evening Post (Ind.): The managers are claiming that Democratic votes beat him—a pretence hollow enough when it is remembered that 48,000 votes were cast Tuesday, as compared with 57,000 Republican votes in 1908, and of these the colonel polled less than 18,000. By the substantial majority of 13,500 North Dakota Republicans serve notice on the colonel that he is not the only Progressive who can win in their state.

Soux City Tribune (Progressive Rep.): The Republican party has been in power almost continuously since 1858 and in all that time there has been no such demonstration against a first term president as was exhibited in North Dakota Tuesday. Ninety per cent of the Republican voters in a full and free expression of preference in a regulated primary declared themselves against the renomination of Taft. The only difference between North Dakota and other states is that in this case there has been a real expression of the sentiment of the people in a primary election, while elsewhere there have been caucuses controlled largely by the active workers inspired by the allurements.

Chicago News: (Ind.): It is at least clear that North Dakota is not hungering and thirsting for the return of Roosevelt to the White House. Further, the present occupant of that historic place of residence would be cheerfully given notice to vacate if the North Dakotans had their way. Candid persons and persons without axes are likely to reach the conclusion that on the showing made at the polls in North Dakota that state's delegates to the Republican national convention are far more likely to vote for Roosevelt than for Taft in case La Follette drops out of the contest at any stage. For Roosevelt's defeat at the primaries was as nothing compared with Taft's spectacular overthrow.

St. Louis Times (Conservation Ind.): North Dakota's action indicates clearly that the West is not to be carried off its feet by a man with the manners of a cowboy and statesmanship of a phrase-book variety. There are always plenty of people of the yelling type who are ready to become parties to a circus performance. But it is true of the West, as of other sections of the country, that volume of sound is not a safe index to the way votes will be cast.

Kansas City Star (Progressive Ind.): The chief thing about the outcome of the contest in North Dakota Tuesday is that the Progressives won. As a dispatch from Fargo said, "President Taft did not figure prominently in the primaries." Of course, the North Dakota delegation to Chicago will be Progressive. When it sees that La Follette has no chance it will be for Roosevelt.

Springfield Republican: (Conservative Ind.): Mr. Roosevelt's progress as a candidate has been most humiliating, not only to himself but to the American people, who have a right to expect from their ex-presidents a reposeful dignity, a moral elevation and a wholesome detachment from the sordid ambitions of political life. From the day he allowed the seven little governors to persuade him that his duty to the country and the cause of democracy required another dash for the presidency, he has sunk steadily in public esteem and has gone from bad to worse in his sacrifice of the moral influence which his exalted position had given to him.

"Get-There Ole."

I'm "get-there Ole" an' he's "sullen Bjorn." He's been in trouble since he was born. When the Boss comes round, I'm always workin'; but the Boss finds Bjorn always shirkin'. Consequently I make a hit with the Boss; but they can't mix more'n iron and moss. I get my troubles, and Bjorn got his. He adds to his troubles, but I do this: when the Boss says "go!" I go, damn quick; but Bjorn fools around and delays a bit. And certainly I make a hit with the Boss; but Bjorn, he get him tired an' cross. I keep my foots outer th' Bosses plans, an' I keep my work clear of the Bosses hands; but Bjorn he's mixin' up everything, an' frettin' an' cussin' an' gettin' in th' procession's way, an' it's a sure toss he don't never make no hit with the Boss. When I do what the Boss says do, I often get what I want, too. I make a hit with th' Boss, you see; an' he helps me up an' makes a hit with me. But Bjorn, he's slow an' grouchy, an' sure th' Boss won't boost him; so he stays poor.

Bjorn says he don't want to work for no Boss. Wants to work for himself (like a chinese Joss.) I got only one Boss, while th' Boss works for many; there's no such thing as not havin' any. Even a Joss has to set where the priest sets him up, an' listen to th' whine of some cooley pup. Th' Boss gets his orders, an' they roast him brown, when most of the trouble is caused by Bjorn; so when Bjorn comes makin' a horrible din, d'you 'spose th' Boss will boost for him? "You're fired!" says he, "now dig out quick, or I crack your face with half a brick." But I make a hit with th' Boss, an' he does somethin' to make a hit with me. When this job's done, he runs a race to find me quick another place, so I won't leave and dump him down with no good man, but only Bjorn to help him when his bosses say—"You rush that work, or draw your pay." He wouldn't be boss if he never drilled as hard as me sometime, an' filled his back with muscles or his head with facts, an' pleased one boss, or two, or stacks of bosses, an' turned th' tricks while Bjorn set whittlin' foolish sticks. You bet I make a hit with th' Boss, an' he—th' Boss, you see—makes a hit with me.

A Fifty-Cent Garden.

Woman's Home Companion: A garden very well worth having may be had for 50 cents, or possibly a little more. Try it and see. Every good seedsman, in almost any place in America, sells 5-cent packages of seeds, or they can be ordered from some reliable firm. Ten packages, as follows, will make a garden of almost continuous bloom:

(For border if desired)

Sweet Alyssum	Phlox Drummondii
Nasturtiums	Stocks
Mignonette	French Marigolds
Larkspur (Ajax)	Coreopsis
Cornflowers	Hollyhocks

Sweet alyssum is lower in growth than phlox, but either will make a good border. Dwarf nasturtiums are best if the garden is not to be backed by a fence or porch; in that case, use the climbing nasturtiums and plant hollyhocks in front of them. The larkspur, coreopsis and marigolds should taper down from the hollyhocks, and the corn-flowers, stocks and mignonette should be next to the border of phlox or alyssum. It is better to sow half in the bed in the beginning, the alyssum, nasturtiums, hollyhocks, mignonette and larkspur.

The others are more satisfactory if sown in the house, in March or April, and then transplanted the middle of May. Or, if there is room, a special seed bed can be made (the earth light and fine), and seeds planted the last week in April, to be transplanted in June. Plant none deeper than half an inch. The smaller seeds should simply have earth scattered over them. Beginners are apt to plant seeds too deep, and they never come up. Sprinkle seeds late every afternoon with the watering pot. The transplanting should be done after a rain in late afternoon.

Into a tin box or tray, half filled with water, the seedlings should be carefully lifted, earth and all. A hole is punched in the moist earth, a seedling put in, the ground pressed round it, another hole made, and so on until fifty are in. Water them thoroughly, and the next morning will see them unwithered. For a week afterward they should be sprinkled every afternoon. The hollyhocks, which may be placed in a row or clump in the center of the bed, will grow quite tall the first year and make a handsome show of leaves. They will bloom the second year and give a profusion of seed. Larkspur and nasturtiums will also give plenty of seed.

This 50-cent garden is meant for cutting freely, and the various plants should bloom in succesion all summer and nearly all the autumn, until a hard frost nips them.

Merely a Suggestion.

Harper's Weekly: The second-hand dealer looked the car over carefully, and then made his offer.

"I'll take the machinery of this motor," he said, "but I don't want the rest of it."

"But," said Wiggins, "what'll I do with my body?"

"Your body?" said the dealer, "why, I don't know. You'd ought to consult an undertaker about that."

RELIGIOUS EXPERTS HOLD FINAL MEETING IN DULUTH

First M. E. Church Is Filled Both Afternoon and Evening.

Work Outlined By Visitors Will Be Continued By Workers.

Before an audience that taxed the capacity of the First Methodist church, the final meeting of the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign which has been on in Duluth for a week past, was held last evening.

This does not mean that the campaign is over. It simply means that the experts who have been here from the East to help in the work for a week, held their last meeting. The suggestions made by the experts as the result of their investigations will be carried out by the local committees.

Meetings will soon be called for the committees of the different branches of the work and the men will, with renewed vigor, attempt to bring about the changes suggested by the experts.

New life was given in the movement by the presence of the experts. The speeches of the experts were inspiring and local men believe that the week's campaign aroused a great amount of interest.

Seven mass meetings, in addition to the men's meetings in the afternoon and the farewell meeting in the evening, were held yesterday. J. A. Whitmore, team leader, was the speaker at 7:30 last night when a meeting for men only was held. A similar meeting was held at the Swedish Mission church in the West end. David G. Latshaw was the speaker at the Swedish mission.

Two Meetings for Women.

The women's meetings were held yesterday. One was held at the First Presbyterian church at which both Dr. Lansing and Charles E. Drum spoke. A meeting at the Norwegian-Danish church was addressed by Frank E. Higgins, the "sky pilot."

At the farewell meeting held last night each of the men gave a 10-minute talk in summing up the purpose of the movement, what had been accomplished and what is still to be done. They told the men to "get busy"; that now is the time to strike while the iron is hot. W. L. Smithies, chairman of the committee of one hundred, also made a short talk.

Nearly 1,200 men attended the meeting held at the First Methodist church yesterday afternoon. Charles E. Drum was the speaker. He said:

"I believe that an honest man is the noblest work of God. Many men think they are honest, but tested by obligations they fall far short. We owe every person whose life we touch a pull up and not a push down. Friendship and brotherhood are greater obligations than money.

"A man owes his wife consideration. A word of commendation scatters sunshine, warms her heart, and irons out the crow tracks of heart hunger.

Obligations to Boy.

"Are you the kind of a man your boy ought to have for a father? Are you meeting your obligations to him in right influences and kind treatment? If not don't look me in the face and call yourself an honest man. A young man owes his family a clean life. From homes, operating tables, idiot and insane asylums there is going up to Almighty God an awful cry of anguish because of the sins of men. Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap, and his wife and children reap it, too.

"Many men treat religion as a matter of little importance. Difficult questions pertaining to the Bible hinder some. The scientific method is to accept what truth you can and wait for more light in reference to things not understood. In everyday affairs we accept facts without understanding mysteries. The antagonistic critic of religion and the Bible knows very little about it. The problem is too great to be solved by the intellect alone.

The Greatest Creditor.

"Is a man honest who neglects and ignores the greatest creditor? Men who pride themselves on their honesty have forgotten God. Good deeds absorbed from a Christian civilization blind them to God and cause themselves to seem big in their own estimation. They shine in a reflected respectability which conceals them from themselves and are unaware of the seriousness of their idolatry.

"Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God," is the must fundamental need of man's nature. Nothing can be substituted for it. Real life and harmonious living are impossible without it. All panaceas for social ills must include it or absolutely fail.

"Ingratitude to God for the blessing of life and the gift of Himself in Christ is the blackest of sin. To depend on one's own plan of salvation when a sure one has been provided by a living Father is to be guilty of the grossest egotism. Worship is an obligation to God. The self-righteous man is an awful braggart, but God knows his heart. He may fool himself and hoodwink his friends, but God knows he is out of harmony with Him—is out of tune with the Infinite."

Boys' Conference.

The boys' conference ended yesterday with two well attended meetings. One meeting was at the boys' department and the other at the First Presbyterian church. Mr. Latshaw spoke at the boys' building and J. A. Whitmore spoke at the First Presbyterian church.

W. C. Pearce spoke to about 300 women at the Y. W. C. A., yesterday afternoon on "What Women Can Do to Help the Men and Religion Forward Movement." He did not advocate any active work except that the men needed encouragement and it was up to the women to give it to them.

A feature of the last day of the campaign was the announcements from several of the different churches that plans are already under way for the continuance of active work by the church men of the city.

The team of experts left last night for Hamilton, Ont., where they will hold a week's campaign. After this campaign they will return to their homes in New York city.

S.S.S. REMOVES BLOOD HUMORS

Every pore and gland of the skin is employed in the necessary work of preserving its smooth, even texture, softening and cleansing it and regulating the temperature of our bodies. This is done by an evaporation through each tiny outlet, which goes on continually day and night. When the blood becomes infected with humors and acids a certain percentage of these impurities also pass off with the natural evaporation, and their sour, fiery nature irritates and inflames the skin, and dries up its natural oils, causing pimples, boils, pustules or some itching rash, or hard, scaly skin affection. S. S. S. cures skin troubles of every kind by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the blood. S. S. S. cools the acid-heated circulation, builds it up to its normal strength and thickness, multiplies its nutritious, red corpuscles, and enriches it in every way. Then the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased by the exuding acrid matter, is nourished, soothed and softened by this cooling, healthy stream of blood. S. S. S., the greatest of blood purifiers, expels all foreign matter and surely cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum and all other diseases and affections of the skin. It removes pimples, blackheads, and other unsightly blemishes from the skin and assists in restoring a good complexion. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired free to all who write.

NEW IDEAS IN CHINAWARE GLASSWARE AND POTTERY

(Copyright, 1912, by I. J. Robinson.)

THE table ware of a home or a nation is generally considered a reliable index to the taste and refinement of its people. In nothing else are there greater possibilities of grace and beauty, wider variety of lovely forms or more exquisite color combinations.

The house wife who does not rejoice in her cut glass and china is indeed a "rara avis in terra," and unfortunately it is from this very taste for pretty things that the greatest decorative dangers may arise. Strong effects in great variety in patterns and tone mar the appearance of the table, the china cabinet or the dining room. If one must mix miscellaneous pieces and sets, it must be done at least most judiciously. For such arrangements, however, there are no rules; one can only rely on an innate sense of harmony which, if they possess will prove a sufficient guide, and which if they lack, advice can scarcely supply.

In china, heavy decoration is to be avoided. It is permissible indeed upon mere show pieces, but often sadly out of place on articles designed for the practical serving of food. The after dinner coffee is the only exception to this rule, and that because the beverage itself is of oriental origin, and a decoration in keeping with the ornate spirit of the East is therefore not inappropriate.

In glass it is well to prefer Rock Crystal, Bohemian and Austrian wares to the more ordinary cut glass, though in the best patterns this is still the mode upon well appointed tables.

The use of glass, china and pottery for purely ornamental purposes seems to gain popularity daily, and indeed no more effective decoration is possible than some gem of the ceramic art carefully chosen and well placed. A rich climax to a rightly planned color scheme, may often be achieved in a bright toned bit of pottery amid surroundings of deeper hues in a shaded nook or corner.

As an adjunct to flower arrangements, pottery is to be highly considered, and for this purpose, simple forms in plain finish are most suitable and pleasing.

There are many exquisite American wares on the market whose plain, unadorned mat surface in soft greens, bright purples, yellows, reds and browns, or whose simply adorned exteriors, with suggestive floral or landscape treatments in variations of the self tones, blend harmoniously or contrast delightfully with the varied hues of flowers and greenery.

Cement in age toned effects, plaster in ivory finishes, brass and copper receptacles are often likewise lovely background for growing plants or flowers.

Art lamps are another decorative feature of the modern home, and here we have the widest latitude of choice imaginable. Standing lamps or sidewall fixtures are as a rule preferred to the central chandelier, though this is still permissible with the right settings.

In choosing fixtures, one should look well to their appropriateness for the interior, and be sure that they do not in any way clash with the colors, line, or period of the general decorations.

For standing lamps and table lamps, the lady of the household may often fashion the most wonderful shades upon simple wire foundation frames with her own fair fingers, finding abundant suggestions for reproduction or adaptation in the decorators' shops or the lamp departments of our large stores.

DANIEL MOON, JR., MARRIES ACTRESS

Elopes With Miss Mary Guernsey Latourette to Bermuda.

New Haven, Conn., March 25.—Instead of going to Arkansas with his fellow members of the senior class of the Yale forestry school, Daniel H. Moon, Jr., of St. Paul has eloped with Miss Mary Guernsey Latourette of New York city, an actress, as indicated by the following marriage notice sent by Moon for publication in a New Haven newspaper:

"Married, Moon-Latourette. At the cathedral, Hamilton, Bermuda, on Friday, March 8, by the Rev. Henry Marriott, canon residentiary, Mary Guernsey Latourette of New oYrk city to Daniel H. Moon, Jr., of St. Paul, Minn."

Moon was formerly captain of the Yale freshman crew. He was graduated from the Sheffield scientific school two years ago and has since been in the forestry school. Nothing is known here of the bride, but Moon's friends think she is a member of a Broadway theatrical company. It is believed that Moon has given up his course in forestry. The senior class, of which he is a member, left here last month for field work in Arkansas and he departed from this city with them.

Daniel Moon, mentioned in the above dispatch, is a son of Daniel Moon, formerly of St. Paul and later of Duluth, who now resides at Miami, Fla., and is well known among the younger society set and college men.

BOUNDARY OF MINNESOTA

In Middle of Mississippi, Declares Attorney General Smith.

St. Paul, Minn., March 25.—Contending that the boundary line between Wisconsin and Minnesota where the Mississippi river flows is the middle of the stream, taking into consideration the navigable waters and land accretions, Attorney General Smith has sent a brief to the attorney general of Wisconsin and to members of the Minnesota commission appointed by the last legislature to arbitrate the dispute. It is expected that his brief will be used as the state of Minnesota's stand in the conference which is to be held next month to arbitrate the dispute.

During the decade from 1900 to 1910 it is estimated that 210,000 Greeks emigrated to this country.

Milady of fashion who is fond of pretty things to wear can be easily satisfied in her spring shopping this year for the Duluth shops never displayed a more attractive stock of goods that they are now showing.

The fresh dainty things are a relief from the more protective garments of fall an winter, and the call of spring for the matron and young girl is the call of the clothing shops with their offerings of tempting fashions.

Most of the shops had their spring openings or are having them this week, dressed in their most gala attire. Wonderfully pretty creations are temptingly displayed putting the mind of the shopper in a dreadful state of indecision trying to choose from such a bewildering lot.

A lot has been written about styles for this season but the subject of prices is just as interesting. As a whole, clothes this seasan are not as expensive as they have been, at least the most beautiful creations are not priced at quite as high a figure as in former seasons and such a very wide range of prices as offered in Duluth shops should meet the requirements of almost any purse.

For the owner of the purse which has no purse strings, an exquisite wardrobe can be gotten together in the exclusive shops for about $1,850 which should meet with the most extravagant taste. This would buy a wardrobe quite complete for the season and would include the best the shops offer.

Heads of departments in one of the most exclusive shops suggested the accompanying bill for her costuming this season.

Of course $1,850 for a spring outfit is beond dreams of most women and the girl who has such an outfit is a rare exception but Duluth shops can offer a girl with the pocketbook which is slimmer a fine outfit complete but without the extra extravagances which her wealthier sister can indulge in, for less than $450. This wardrobe would include goods of the best material well made and prettily trimmed though not as elegant or as many pieces as the first girl's outfit. This girl would be more of a tailor-made girl wearing American made lingerie. New York hats, and gowns which were not imported from Paris but she could be an exceedingly well dressed looking young woman on this sum.

Duluth shops also carry lines of well made, neat, pretty and attractive clothes for the girl who has but little to spend on her spring wardrobe and an interesting list of a complete outfit every article of which is neat and attractive in appearance was suggested by the head of one of the department stores for this girl making her entire wardrobe cost only $85.75.

These figures are for a complete outfit, which rarely has to be purchased at one time.

SOME FASHION HINTS

Suggestions That May Be Useful in Planning the Spring Hat and Costume.

Serge is again immensely popular. Coat sets of heavy lace remain in good favor.

For elegant costumes one notes the use of silk ottoman.

Recent advices from Paris speak of the return of the skirt with a yoke.

A touch of cerise appears on many of the blouses of white crepe de chine.

Louis XVI simplicity bids likely to have a tremendous vogue in millinery.

The waist line inclines to the normal rather than to any exaggerated short-waisted effects.

Large draped hats of changeable silk have a single rose of some bright hue as the only trimming.

The Pierrot frills are popular with the younger set, and are being worn both stock and stockless style.

Taffeta in changeable effects has already taken its place among the desirable fabrics for suits and dresses.

All manner of frilly neck and sleeve idens are considered good style for the simple frock of foulard and taffeta.

A highly favored gown material is flowered mousseline de sole in tones of blue, cerise and violet, brocaded in dull gold.

Large hats have towering pyramids of feathers, while tiny bonnets are trimmed with masses of plumes at the back.

Foulards in lovely shades of blue and rose are to be much in favor for the one-piece gown, so practical for spring wear.

For cuffs and collars on dark suits and dresses of wool, silk or linen, the washable ratine is very useful and stylish.

Dresses show slips of pale blue, yellow, pink or lavender, with embroideries and ribbon touches to match in the trimmings.

Feathers are favored beyond all other trimmings for the dress hat. No price seems too extravagant to invest in these hat trimmings.

The tunic is apparent in skirts of cloth, while for those of silk voile and other self-materials there are many delightful draped ideas.

Red is in pronounced evidence just now, but more particularly in millinery, parasols, belts and wrist bags than in the costume itself.

The big triangular jabot of last season is considered passe, the correct one being rather narrow and inconspicuous and made of very fine materials.

In jewelry beryl is much in favor at present, and the fashion some women affect by wearing a single uncut ruby, emerald or sapphire is much admired.

All the old favorites, such as empire green, king's blue, coronation red, geranium and sulphur, appear in the trimmings of the accessories of the new garments.

The three-quarter-length sleeve is approved for all manner of garments, from the demi-tailored suit of cloth to the lingerie gown of shadow net or illusion.

Sheer white linen, elaborately embroidered in eyelets and trimmed with black velvet ribbon, made one of the prettiest frocks seen at a recent French fashion show.

For thin dresses a little fullness in the shape of gathers or fine tucks about the hips is desirable. Sleeves are short, and the collarless neck is considered good style.

To cause a plume to wave carelessly away from the hat, as if detached, seems to be the desire of all designers. Other hats show plumes wound mostly around the crown.

For thin dresses there are charming ottoman cords, cotton corduroys, cotton crepe and grenadine, printed net, bordered gingham, crepe linens and linens in tweed effect.

Among the newer laces may be mentioned bohemian and an odd lace that may be termed agaric lace, because it has a rough raised motif that accords well with the toweling fabrics.

This is to be a flower year in the realm of the small folks. Nothing could be more appropriate to adorn the frocks of little girls than garlands of roses or festoons or forget-me-nots.

Sashes remain in good standing among fashionable accessories of the summer gown, and by the way of trimming there is a wide offering in cluny laces, in the Val. variety and in flat venetian.

Bands of trimming are laid on the sleeve anywhere from the shoulder to the wrist; in most cases, however, the upper arm is most favored, and the trimming is straight around or diagonal.

Each season has its fad materials, and the fad of the spring and summer of 1912 is found in the rough-surfaced material called variously eponge, agaric, Terry cloth and Turkish toweling.

The revival for plain and carved crystal buttons, large and small, is on in earnest. The pure white and colored crystals are equally favored although those boasting of a color are more unusual.

The Russian inclination is seen in the Cossack blouses, the "bluff" coatees (of bright-colored taffeta or satin) to be worn with lingerie dresses, and in the separate coats of taffeta or voile.

There is no one color that will be more popular than another. White and cream lead in the serges, whipcord and in the linens and other wash fabrics. These are trimmed with bright touches on the collars and cuffs.

The newest effects in neckwear are not unlike bibs of fine net and lace plaited to a stock and maintaining a flat shoulder by means of a broad lace insertion, which connects the front part of the bib with the back.

Corbeau-blue velvet is lovely to fashion a smart wrap for evening wear. This may be draped and caught on the left side with a large flat button of dark red enamel. The revers and collar may be of dark red satin, also.

One of the most fetching hat styles of the Easter season is a high crown, absolutely brimless, charmingly decorated roundabout with a plaited ribbon and tiny roses intertwined with it. Algrettes are used in various ways.

Narrow skirts remain in style, especially for the tailor-made suits, while for costumes and dresses there is a growing inclination to more ample lines, so cleverly contrived that the narrow silhouette of the last two seasons seems not disturbed.

The treatment of the neck resolves itself into individual preference, as both the tall, well-fitting collar and the collarless style have their admirers. Many models admit of a chemisette, so that one of lace or net or chiffon may be had adjustable.

The French are using flesh-colored tulle in combination with black gowns. At a distance this has a startling effect as of an exaggerated decolletage; but it is decidedly becoming, because the faintly flushed tulle is much softer against the neck and arms than the white or cream tones.

A good deal has been said about the cutaway coats as the accompaniment of the spring suit, and the truth is they are being worn in many jaunty styles, with one-button to three-button fastenings, some of which show the cutaway line with a distinctly swallow-tail inclination.

The materials for blouses that have first choice include satin, changeable taffeta, chiffon and chiffon cloth, crepe de chine, various pongee weaves, voile, plain and fancy net. It is to be a great lace and embroidery year, and consequently these garnitures will be greatly employed on the blouses.

The revival of the Russian blouse is emphasized in certain of the suits, that show the belted feature raised a little in the back, in recognition of the youthful effect of the empire line, and completed with three-quarter sleeves rather wide at the hem and an odd fichu collar fastened well down at the waist line.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Loss of Appetite or Distress After Eating a Symptom That Should not Be Disregarded.

Appetite is just a natural desire for food. Loss of appetite or stomach distress after eating indicate indigestion or dyspepsia. Over-eating is a habit very dangerous to a person's good general health.

It is not what you eat but what you digest and assimilate that does you good. Some of the strongest, heaviest, and healthiest persons are moderate eaters.

There is nothing that will cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people daily contract serious maladies simply through disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge all in Duluth who suffer from any stomach derangement, indigestion, or dyspepsia, whether acute or chronic, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the distinct understanding that we will refund their money without question or formality, if after reasonable use of this medicine, they are not perfectly satisfied with the results. We recommend them to our customers every day, and have yet to hear of any one who has not been benefited by them. We honestly believe them to be without equal. They give very prompt relief, aiding to neutralize the gastric juices, strengthen the digestive organs, to regulate the bowels, and thus to promote perfect nutrition, and eradicate all unhealthy symptoms.

We urge you to try a 25c. box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, which gives 15 days' treatment. At the end of that time, your money will be returned to you if you are not satisfied. Of course, in chronic cases length of treatment varies. For such cases, we have two larger sizes, which sell for 50c and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall store. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

ANOTHER DEATH ENGINE SENT TO JUDGE ROSALSKY.

New York, March 25.—A second infernal machine, similar in almost every respect to the one he received through the mail a week ago, was mailed to Judge Otto Rosalsky of the court of general sessions last Wednesday, according to the Times. The second bomb, it is understood, was received in an uptown sub-station of the post-office, where postal inspectors, who had been on the lookout for packages addressed to the judge since the explosion in which he so narrowly escaped injury, held it up and notified the police.

It was Judge Rosalsky who sentenced Folke E. Brandt to thirty years' imprisonment and has inflicted long prison terms recently upon several alien offenders.

TOWELING FOR GOWNS

"Cloth d' Eponge" Graduates From Bathroom to My Lady's Back.

Plain White China Buttons Are Also Popular for Trimmings.

The Turkish towel has left the bathroom and now hangs upon the highest hook in my lady's wardrobe!

A "beggar on horse-back," this erstwhile humble fabric now lords it over silk, satin and velvet and is even upon speaking terms with French taffeta, that present sovereign of fashion's world.

Masquerading under the various names of "agaric," "cloth d'eponge," and in some instances—although falsely—"ratine," this toweling, either in its usual coarse weave or in a surface especially made for gowning, and for et ceteras to the "tallieur," finds a place upon many of the most distinguished costumes.

In some instances it appears as revers and cuffs, again it forms a broad band at the foot of the skirt or upon the edge of the coat and emerges as cut-out embroidery extending upon some fine fabric such as chiffon or lace, which perforce meekly submits to this incongruous association.

Nor is this the only incongruity in the new season's assembling of materials. One sees upon some of the most exclusive importations a lavish distribution of the plain white china buttons, such as we are accustomed to use upon children's undergarments!

Enhanced by some novel and unique manner of sewing on, with the threads either running from center to outer edge, or crossed in straight lines—the threads themselves sometimes forming the only high color used, or else lending the necessary touch of black—these "trimmings" are often so pretty that we wonder that they were not long ago put to this use. Sometimes flat buttons of pearl are thus employed.

Old Styles Revived.

Although, as is her custom, Dame Fashion has kept a firm hand upon the styles, holding them within general lines, she has for the incoming season searched the world for striking modes. Nor has she confined her investigations to the present world, but has sent her fancy backward to the long ago and has brought forth, not merely the lines and shapes of a single year or period, but has gleaned from many.

In the frilly skirt of 1812 we discover the precedent for the many-ruffled skirt so prominent upon the new taffetas from Paris; the wide plaited collar and its attendant demure bow of black is carried forward from the dress of 1830; the period dominated by the pompadour has lent the huge hat with crown and brim envelled with flowered silk mousseline; from Western islands she has filched the fabrics of our millinery straws; from the far Orient has been deported the barbaric splendor of gems and embroidery in precious metals.

Rich and lavish fabrications consort with the plain Quaker garb and all are made to conform to the demands of now.

One Grand Collection.

It is as though a musician brought together in one grand fantasie the national anthems of all countries, setting them to a prevailing rythm held under the dominance of some single, compelling chord. For from whatever quarter she may draw her fancies, Dame Fashion always creates anew and the styles of every yesterday are reincarnated before appearing in her new regime.

WILL MEAT PRICES GO UP AGAIN?

Many Duluth people do not care if meat prices are up or down, because they have found that "Minnesota" macaroni and spaghetti, with their delicious nut-like flavor, take the place of meat very largely and are more easily digested.

Good macaroni and spaghetti are four times as nutritious as beef-steak, and they are the best and most nourishing foods known. They can be easily prepared in many appetizing ways and are suitable for the daintiest luncheon as well as the heartiest feast.

But if you want that rich, nut-like flavor be sure and get the delicious "Minnesota" brand macaroni or spaghetti—made from the finest Northern Durum wheat, with all the nourishing Gluten left in. It is easily digested and never gets soggy. All good Duluth grocers sell it.

SUBMITTED TO COUNCIL

Initiative, Referendum and Recall Amendments Up to Aldermen.

Petition Sent to Charter Commission Saturday Had 1,162 Names.

The charter commission at a meeting at the city hall Saturday night unanimously approved the proposed amendment whereby the initiative, referendum and recall will be incorporated in the city charter.

The proposed amendment will be submitted to the city council tonight. The council will call a special election to submit the measure to the voters, as required by law.

The petitions submitted contained 1,162 names of qualified voters of the city. A special committee consisting of H. H. Phelps, Thomas Olafson, M. B. Cullum and W. L. McEwen had examined the signatures and stated that 902 of the signers were known to them. This is over 10 per cent of the votes cast at the last election, although but 5 per cent is required to secure the submission of the amendment to the people.

Under the recall any elective officer may be removed by the voters at a special election called on the petition of 25 per cent of the voters of his constituency who exercised their franchise at the last city election. This limits any aldermanic recall to the ward from which he was elected. The official named in the recall petition may be a candidate at the election. Those seeking to recall him shall state their reasons inside of 200 words and the official is allowed the same space to state his position.

The Initiative.

A petition of 20 per cent of the voters at the last election for mayor shall be able to submit any proposed ordinance to the council, which body shall either pass it within twenty days or call a special election in twenty-five days. No special election can be called within six months of an election.

A similar petition secured within ten days requires that any ordinance shall be referred to the people for approval and the council must submit the measure at a special or general election. No ordinance becomes operative within ten days of its passage unless passed by a three-fourths vote and pertains to street improvement, public health or safety.

The amendment also provides:

"No action of the council making any contract or other provision for the furnishing of heat, light, power, transportation or any other public utility to the city or its inhabitants, or for the acquisition of any property for any such purpose, shall be taken except by ordinance.

"Any ordinance or measure that the council or the qualified voters shall have authority to enact, the council may of its own motion submit to the electors for adoption or rejection at a general or special municipal election in the same manner and with the same force and effect as is provided for ordinances or measures submitted on petition."

THE WEEK IN THE HOME GARDEN

To have a successful garden, the city farmer cannot be too careful in the selection of seeds.

He may prepare the soil carefully, attend the plants faithfully and yet his crop may be a failure because he has been careless in his selection.

There are certain varieties of seeds which do better than others in Duluth soil. Those who have experimented with many different kinds and who have had many disappointments are now confining themselves to from one to three varieties which they use year after year with great success.

This week the homecroft corner will be devoted to seeds such as the great army of Duluth's backyard farmers will wish to plant. The experience of Duluth gardeners was asked before the list mentioned here was made up.

There is no economy in cheap seeds. There are thousands of different kinds and the results all look alike in the seed catalogues. Good seeds are most essential to the success of the garden and the homecrofter will do well to follow the advice of those who have tried the different kinds in Duluth soil.

The seeds will be divided into three parts. The first will be those that are to be started in the house or the hotbed, the second will be those for early planting in the garden and the third will be those to be planted later.

Parks Early Anna and Chalk's Jewel are two kinds of tomatoes which do very well in Duluth soil. Last year they both ripened nicely. Many started tomatoes last week in the house or in hotbeds. It is not too late yet. Many are planning on starting them during the coming week.

Cabbage is another plant that will be started largely in the house and later set out in the garden. Jersey Wakefield and Early Winnigstadt are varieties which seem to grow well in Duluth back yards. Both kinds have given satisfaction.

It is now time to plant cauliflower. This plant is often started in the house and when later carefully transplanted in the garden, it does nicely. Early Cauliflower and Snowball cauliflower are said to be varieties which thrive here.

Seed Onions In the House.

If it is desired, seed onions can now be started in the house and later set out in the garden, although a great many gardeners do not think this plan practical. Most of them say that it is cheaper, less bother and better results are obtained by purchasing at the grocery stores later the onion sets and putting them directly into the garden. Nearly all varieties of onions do well in this climate.

Celery plants are now being grown in the house and in hotbeds. The variety known as White Plume is said to have given great satisfaction to a number of the city farmers last year.

Seed for head lettuce may be started in the house at this time. Burpee's Way-a-Head is said to be a very good kind to plant.

Cucumbers may be started in the same way, and White Spine is one of the best known varieties.

All of the varieties of seeds mentioned have done well in Duluth. Careful inquiry among those who have been raising garden stuff in Duluth for years is the authority for the different kinds mentioned. When two people have disagreed as to which was the better, both kinds are here given.

For Early Planting.

There are a number of different kinds of seeds which may be planted just as soon as the ground can be worked. For these—and the list follows—it is not necessary to wait for all the frost to go out of the ground.

Almost any sort of lettuce, leaf or head, may be planted as soon as it is possible to work the earth.

Onions may be put in as soon as the ground can be worked. Red Globe or Yellow Globe are good kinds.

Almost any variety of radish, either the turnip shaped or olive shape, is good. Early red turnips may also be planted very early. Any early turnip is said to do well.

Radishes and lettuce should be planted a few rows at a time and about a week to ten days between the planting so as to have constantly a fresh supply.

As to which of the many different kinds of these early seeds to plant, gardeners disagree. Almost any kind does well, if it is of a standard variety and the product of a thoroughly substantial house.

It is well at this season of the year to lay in a stock of all seeds that will be needed during the entire season. This will elliminate much worry and inconvenience. It can all be done at the same time that the seeds for planting in the house are purchased.

For some of the small fruit plants and bushes the farmer may have to send to the nurseries outside the city, although he may get a part of them at the local greenhouses. It is well to plan the garden, make up one's mind as to the small fruits needed and order the stock.

Red Dutch and cherry currants come in very useful and should have a place in every garden. That both kinds do well here is the experiesce of local gardeners.

Nearly every man wants a few strawberries in his garden and the variety known as Senator Dunlap is recommended. The berries are large and juicy and grow almost faster than they can be takes care of.

Every garden should have a few gooseberry bushes. Carrie and Downing are kinds that are being successfully grown in Duluth gardens each year.

One rhubarb plant is usually plenty to supply the table for one family, but it is recommended that those planting it this year get two so that if anything happens to one, there will be another. This plant is very productive.

Raspberries take up so much room in the garden that many think it unwise to plant them in yards where the garden plot is small. There are other fruits which take up less room and are more productive.

For Late Planting.

For later planting in the garden there are many vegetables which do well, but the farmer is advised to lay out the ground he has for a garden patch and estimate as carefully as possible how much stuff he can grow. Some make the mistake of trying to grow too much of each thing and more than his garden will stand. Remember that each individual plant must have plenty of room to grow and that a few plants within reasonable distance of one another will give better results than many of them crowded for room to grow.

The Early Ohio potatoes do better than a great many other kinds in Duluth soil. There are many who say that the Early Ohio is the only kind to plant in Duluth soil for an early potato. Carmen No. 3 is a good potato to plant as a later variety.

It might be well to plant some shives later. Shives are a variety of onion used largely for seasoning, and come up year after year. They have to be planted but once.

Edmands' Early red beet is a variety that is said to be very successful when grown in Duluth soil. The Detroit Dark Red is another.

Brittle-Wax or Wardell's kidney wax or for green beans, the Kentucky Wonder, are recommended. Ox-Hart carrots are recommended. Hollow-Crowned parsnips may be planted early. "Swede" turnips or "Rutas" do finely here. Early Purple Top or the Strap Leaf turnips do well, too.

Squash and Pumpkins.

The growing of squash and pumpkin is not recommended to Duluth backyard farmers because both of them take up so much room in the garden. They also sap a good deal from the earth which should go to other things. They are sometimes called "greedy plants." The vines take up a great deal of room and it is almost impossible to give other plants proper cultivation when squash and pumpkin are grown among the other things in the small garden.

Gradus or American Wonder or Little Gem peas are good kinds to grow. They are all of the dwarf variety. Both are early. For second early the Senator, Telephone and Champion of England are good kinds.

Nothing is gained by planting corn early. It is also best to avoid getting the large varieties for much of this sort will not ripen in Northern Minnesota. The Early Minnesota, Golden Bantam, Norcheim, Peep-O-Day, are good kinds to plant in Duluth soil.

Time to Buy Seeds.

Now is the time to buy seeds. Start some of them inside the house or in hot beds. Order some manure drawn and dumped upon your garden patch. By the time the ground is ready to be worked you will have plants well up in the house and it will be time to do the early planting.

On April 15 at the Y. M. C. A. there will be a gardening course started. All the problems of the city farmer will be taken up and explained. The course will consist chiefly of demonstrations and will be of much benefit to those who are about to have gardens for the first time. The cost is but $2 and the amount includes the text books and admittance to all lectures.

A meeting will be held at the Commercial club Tuesday, at 10:30 a. m., for those interested in organizing a garden association. The object is to keep the public market open more regularly and to have a supply of produce thre for sale more regularly than before.

The following letter was received during the week:

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you kindly tell me, as well as others I know, how to rid one's garden of the Russian thistle, or the Big Prickley thistle with a red flower which boys sometimes chew. I have two big lots for a nice garden, but this thistle is overrunning it and makes it impossible to plow or spade the ground. I would thank you many times if you would kindly publish this in the "Open Court." Respectfully yours, M. K. SMITH.

West Duluth, March 20.

The Russian thistle is one of the most persistent weeds that grow in this section of the country as Mr. Smith has found out, perhaps. The Americana says: "Careful cultivation is the best way to exterminate the Russian Thistle."

This weed grows under the ground as well as on top. It not only spreads by means of seeds scattered by the wind but it sends off young shoots in every direction from which new plants arise.

It is impossible to smother out this weed with any crop. It will not be smothered. The crop suffers. The weed is handy and outlives and smothers other plants.

If the patch is not too large the thistles should be dug up by the roots. If the patch is too large and there are too many for this, the farmer must keep cutting them off. This will prevent them spreading by means of the seed, at any rate.

Some farmers have been known to cover a bad patch of thistle with tar paper, weighing it down with earth and stones so that there will be no air or light. In this way some have succeeded in getting rid of the thistles by taking a certain part of the field each year. Of course, the ground covered is absolutely lost while the process is in progress.

The weed is one of the hardest things to contend with that the farmers of this section have. No easy way of exterminating it has as yet been discovered.

FREE CONCERT SEASON ENDS

Gilbert and Sullivan Program at Auditorium of Masonic Temple.

The season of free concerts, beginning before Christmas and continuing every Sunday since, closed yesterday with more than 150 persons being turned away for want of room. Every available seat and all room for standing were occupied and the adjoining anterooms and vestibules were packed.

The program was a revival of the tuneful, melodious and strictly first-class music of the Gilbert and Sullivan epoch, taken from the best known operas and sung by the high school musical society. The organ pieces were from "The Pirates of Penzance," "Iolanthe" and "The Mikado." The high school musical society was under the direction of A. F. M. Custance and showed careful training and marked excellence in chorus singing, good volume and precision in attack, the voices blending harmoniously and with good effect.

The soloists were: Misses Frances Burris, Mary Whitcomb, Loretto O'Gorman and Alta Hallock; Messrs. A. R. Bjorkquist and C. O. Applehagen. Mr. Custance gave an interesting talk on the Gilbert and Sullivan music and librettos, which, with those given at each concert throughout the season, have been a source of interest and of educational value.

These concerts have given pleasure to the many and being open to any person, some who otherwise would be prevented from hearing good music were afforded that opportunity. Many attended because they enjoyed the class of music given, which was always of a high character, elevating and musical. Encouragement has been given to many young and ambitious vocalists, and the taste of the people generally has been cultivated to an appreciation of the more advanced forms of music.

If now a large, enthusiastic and earnest society of persons would unite and be satisfied to work hard as a choral club and become proficient enough to give choral music which will attract those fond of that kind, the next step would have been taken, and then would come naturally a Duluth symphony orchestra, say those who are behind the concerts; but it must come by degrees and after many failures and disappointments, and after the public has been educated up to that point of musical appreciation. It is impossible to drag the people to hear music. They must want to go to hear it, and that condition only comes after self-sacrificing endeavor on the part of the musical enthusiast to educate them upward. The free concerts have started the movement.

SUGGESTS CURE FOR BIG EVILS

Woman Says Restrict Marriages and Make Divorce Free.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 25.—"Restrict marriages and let divorce be free." Such was the advice given by Dr. Emma V. Sanders of Copenhagen, Denmark, in an address before the contemporary club. The subject set for discussion was "Legislation Affecting Marriage and Its Dissolution."

Dr. Sanders took up the admonition most frequently quoted by opponents of divorce, "Whom God hath joined together let no man put asunder." But in many instances, she declared, it is not God, but satan, who brings about a marriage, and when that is the case, the sooner the ill matched pair are separated the better. Nevertheless, she believed that no divorce should be granted within at least a year after the first step had been taken, in order that there might be an opportunity for reconciliation.

"Marriages," she said, "are more easily consummated in America than in any other country. The state of matrimony is entered into frequently without serious thought of the obligations assumed or whether the man and woman are truly mated. Boys and girls go across the state line and are married without any trouble, and even men and women are sometimes influenced by a passing fancy they mistake for a lasting affection.

"Opportunity should be given to correct these mistakes. If a man makes a mistake in his business he proceeds to correct it without delay. But if he makes a mistake in the selection of a wife, or a woman makes a mistake in the choice of a husband—a mistake in many instances soon discovered—they should not be driven to crime or immorality to bring about the dissolution of the bonds. Make the marriage laws much more stringent and there will be fewer divorces. But where a man and woman cannot live together for any reason and be happy, they should be permitted to get a divorce.

"If you think that free divorce laws would bring about a great rush to take advantage of them, then there must be something radically wrong with your marriage laws. Free divorce, though it may not bring about perfection, would be better than existing conditions."

The ideal condition, the speaker declared, is that perfect union brought about by genuine and lasting love and harmony of soul, when a man and woman may mate without the formality of a marriage ceremony. But she admits that the time for such unions has not yet arrived.

A Practically Perfect Preparation.

Years of experience have enabled Mr. Fletcher to make Castoria a practically perfect preparation. These years of labor: the amount of money required to introduce its merits to the public: the investment in its manufacture, including the most modern machinery, mean a vast amount of invested capital. It follows that the greatest care is exercised in the selection of each ingredient, and the greatest attention is paid to every detail of its preparation. The result: The practically perfect preparation in the finished product; Fletcher's Castoria.

Herein lies the guarantee of the absolute safety in the use of Fletcher's Castoria for the baby, and the warning against irresponsible makers of imitations and counterfeits. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher that is printed in black on the wrapper and red on the bottle is the mother's safeguard.

Webster's Tonic
Feeds Exhausted Nerves

THE strain of modern hurry-scurry life has its telling effect on American nerves. Intense business competition and social ambitions burn up so much of our energy that thousands, sooner or later, break down with some nervous trouble—sleeplessness, loss of memory, brain fag, melancholy or nervous prostration. Often the energy that is required for the body processes (such as digestion) are used up by our brain and nervous activity. That's why dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, etc., usually accompany nervous disorders.

● Webster's Tonic is a scientific food tonic for nervous, worn-out, run-down people. It supplies the elements that feed nerves and nerve energy—the iron that makes rich, red blood, and the body salts that build up bone and tissues, all in a wonderful predigested form so the weakest system can absorb them without strain on the digestive organs. It contains the well-known tonic bitters—dandelion and gentian—which stimulate the appetite and the digestive processes. You eat more and digest with comfort; you soon feel stronger and happier; your irritableness passes away; sleep comes easily, and you awaken refreshed and invigorated. In serious nervous diseases—brain fag, nervous prostration, etc.—by all means consult a physician.

A Masterstroke of Pharmaceutical Science

Webster's Tonic is pure, wholesome and pleasant to take; contains no quinine or habit-forming drug of any kind. It is scientifically compounded by the most capable, experienced pharmacists. It is analyzed and tested by expert chemists to see that it is properly mixed and prepared. Get the complete formula from your druggist (he has it); then ask your doctor what he thinks of it.

● Our forty years' experience as manufacturing chemists has taught us how to make Webster's Tonic and all other Webster preparations so good that we can absolutely guarantee them. Webster's Tonic is sold in two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Six dollar bottles for $5.00. Your money refunded if you are not satisfied with results after a fair trial.

Under the Webster trade-mark and guaranty are sold sixty different articles, including most effective remedies for all such human ailments as do not require a doctor—household remedies that should be in the medicine cabinet of every family—also pure toilet preparations.

Your druggist has them or can get them for you.

ON THE IRON RANGES

ITALIAN NIGHT GREAT SUCCESS

Entertainment Given at Virginia By That Nationality Saturday Night.

Virginia, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Mahomi club, comprising Oliver Iron Mining company employes to the number of over 1,500, has adopted the policy of turning over the club building and gymnasium to the various nationalities represented in the membership, about once a month for an entertainment and dance or for any purpose that the particular set of members desires.

Saturday night was an Italian night. There will follow a Finnish night, an Austrian night, a Scandinavian night and various others. The entertainment Saturday night was wholly under the direction of the Italian committee of the club.

English and Italian Speeches.

There was a speech in English by M. H. McMahon, formerly of Duluth, and by Antonio Ottaviani in Italian. Other numbers on the program were: Farce comedy; stick gymnastics; nigger that comes from a bottle; the game of the money; the game of the donkey; Italian dialect song with bagpipe; song in Italian; wrestling; song solo Neapolitano; dancing. There was music by the Italian band of Virginia of which Prof. Angelo Fontecchi is leader and refreshments were served. The affair was regarded as a great success and there will be a rivalry between the people of the various nationalities as to which will have the most creditable entertainment as judged from the standpoint of the Americans and all others concerned.

BASEBALL TEAM AND MUSICIANS

Both Sub-Organizations of Virginia Mohami Club Being Boomed.

Virginia, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The two sub-organizations of the Mahomi club most in the limelight now are the band which has recently been organized and the baseball team. The manager of the band is E. P. Erickson and the instructor is Eugene Laugler. Prof. Laugler, now a resident of Virginia, has been at the head of bands in the East and in Northern Michigan towns. He came here from Iron Mountain, Mich., where he still has interests. The new band is practicing twice a week. It now has twenty-one pieces represented, and it is intended to have thirty pieces within a few weeks. The Oliver Iron Mining company is guaranteeing employment to men who are available as musicians, and all of the members are men who have played in bands or had musical experience elsewhere.

Mahomi Baseball Plans.

The Mahomi baseball team this year will be managed by J. A. Lundgren, probably with Clifford L. Dennis, who was captain last year, heading the team as captain. Mr. Dennis is also chairman of the athletic committee of the club.

The baseball organization of the Mahomi club also has the support of the Oliver Iron Mining company, and men who excel as ball players will be encouraged by steady employment to take an interest in maintaining a position on the team.

HOPES TO CATCH ALLEGED SLAYER

Eveleth Official Sanguine of Finally Landing Shepard's Murderer.

Eveleth, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief of Police Farley returned to Eveleth Sunday morning after a trip to Canada in search of Frank McClusky, the alleged murderer of Asa Shepard at Kelsey a few weeks ago.

He did not succeed in capturing his man, but believes he was on the right trail and that Canadian officers will have him in a few days.

TAKES RAILROAD JOB.

Tower Man Goes to Iowa for Iron Range Railroad.

Tower, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. D. Lizer, for the past year and a half accountant at N. J. Benson's left Sunday to assume his duties in connection with the land department of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad at Mason City, Iowa.

The Vermilion Boat Club. Outing club has issued a neat folder teeming with information about Lake Vermilion and adjacent territory. The work is one that will prove useful to the tourist and pleasure seeker.

A number of the larger lumber camps have broken up for the season and the town has been full of men for several days. The cut has been a large one. The Trout Lake Lumber company will probably continue operations at one of their camps all summer. Work of pile driving is now progressing in the bay near the mill, where the logs will be boomed as they arrive here.

The work of enlarging the boat recently purchased for the Lake Vermilion Navigation company is now in progress. Considerable extra cabin space will be obtained.

Harry Meeker is preparing to move his personal effects to the dwelling erected by the city at Pike River Falls dam. Mr. Meeker will have charge of the power plant there.

Considerable interest is being shown in the forthcoming visit of the agricultural train which will visit Tower the night of April 1.

When Doctors Disagree

It is usually a cold. At any rate, that's all the trouble was in the first place—just a simple cold. Maybe you got your feet wet; maybe sat on the porch bare-headed until—a sneeze, a chill—you had a bad cold! At first it was simple enough; but complications set in until now nobody knows what is the matter—the doctors disagree. And they talk about your liver and kidneys being affected, and how your stomach is out of order, and maybe you have Appendicitis, and there is a threatening murmur of "operation" in the air.

Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly, if applied in time, would have saved all this—the pain, the anxiety, the confinement and the doctor's bills. In the very first place—at the first sneeze—apply Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly. Just sniff it gently up the nose. It will heal the sores and inflamed tissues and check the germs which lie in wait on the surface of every mucous membrane, only waiting to attack. Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly is a combination of powerful antiseptic properties which acts as an immediate germicide. At the same time it is an emollient, soothing and healing, and pleasant in application as in effect.

It is sheer folly to neglect a cold: you never know "how it is going to turn out."

Thousands of sufferers from Hay-fever, Asthma and every form of the curse of Catarrh testify to the powers of Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly, and if you yourself wish immediate relief and a permanent cure you should lose no time. Get a tube today at your druggist's. Only 25 cents and 50 cents. Or write us for a free sample.

RODY AND PARTY ARE BOUND OVER

Alleged Keeper of Immoral Grand Rapids Resort Is Held.

Grand Rapids, Minn,. March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the conclusion Saturday afternoon of the hearing of James Rody charged with running a disreputable house here, also with selling liquor without a license he was held to the grand jury along with the eleven women inmates of his place and James Harris. A grand jury will be empanelled at the term of district court beginning tomorrow, Judge Wright presiding.

The criminal calendar was pretty well cleaned up at the last court session, only twenty cases being continued to the present term, all of which are civil, and will be jury cases.

Eighty-six cases in all are on the calendar for the present term. The grand jury will meet Tuesday, while the petit jury will not be in session until Wednesday.

IS BURIED WITH FULL CEREMONIES

Eveleth Italian Society Pays Tribute to Malta Mine Victim.

Eveleth, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Carmeno Vertischio who died Thursday was buried Sunday with the full ceremonies of the Italian society of which he was a member. The City band and a large procession of fellow countrymen accompanied the remains to Virginia, where the interment took place.

Vertischio had his back broken in an accident at the Malta mine last September, and has been a helpless invalid ever since. He leaves a wife and family in Italy.

WILL REMOVE WRECKAGE.

Kirk Johnson Is Given Contract at Biwabik.

Biwabik, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.) — Nick Johnson was the lowest bidder on cleaning up the wreckage left by the fire on buildings situated on lots 9 and 10, block 37, Biwabik, Mr. Johnson's bid being $100. Frank E. Anderson, next, $135; Joe Robinson, $139; Herman Anderson bidding the highest, $140.

Mr. Johnson plans on starting the work at once. As soon as the property is cleaned up Mr. Faber will start at once toward the construction of the new two-story brick building.

SETTLES BOARD BILL.

Virginia Bartender Arrested at Chisholm and Made to Pay.

Chisholm, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with "beating a board bill at the Hotel Ormomnde at Virginia, John Smith, who says he worked as bartender in that city, was arrested here on orders from Virginia and held by the chief of police until he paid the bill and costs amounting to $30. He has been hanging around the gambling places since coming here, but was warned by the officers that he would have to keep away from gambling while in Chisholm.

VIRGINIANS ENJOY WINTER BAND CONCERT.

Virginia, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although winter hangs on, Virginia has already had one open air band concert. The Virginia city band Saturday night played for an hour on the downtown streets. The hotels and newspaper offices were serenaded and the band paraded chestnut street, the main business thoroughfare and played enlivening airs which were enjoyed by the Saturday night shoppers who thronged the streets.

Plan New Virginia Church.

Virginia, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of the prominent Finish people here propose to form an organization of the Free Christian church for this city and have called a meeting to be held at the residence of R. Lappala on the fourth of April. At that meeting it is proposed to arrange to incorporate the congregation, to adopt by-laws and to choose a board of trustees. The order of the Sons of Vasa is preparing for a musical event to be held at the Lyric theater next Sunday evening. The Duluth Swedish Gle club will be the main attraction and the concert will probably be one of the very best held here this winter. In addition to the musical program there will be an address by Andrew Nelson, attorney of Duluth.

Grand Rapids to Retrench.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.) — The village council plans on retrenching along several lines, following the suggestion of Councilman Arscott.

C. O. Johnson was appointed marshal at a salary of $75 per month, and Thomas A. Benton will be street commissioner for the year at the same salary as the marshal.

A general policy of retrenchment will be observed by the village council in order to meet the city water bonds in the sum of $19,000, which mature May 1, 1914.

Peterson Lauds La Follette.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lauding the work of Senator La Follette and advocating his nomination for the presidency as a Progressive Republican, James Peterson addressed a large audience here Saturday night and was frequently applauded as he told of the work of the Badger statesman in the interest of the people.

SAY INDIANS SECURE DRINK

Redskins and Their Women Reported Drunk at Ely and Winton.

Ely, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lid tilting of a most vicious sort that has resulted in Indians in this section getting drink is causing more or less talk here and at Winton. It is said many Indians are getting an abundance of "fire water" and evidently getting it easily. An Indian will come to town and either purchase liquor for himself or get some one to purchase it for him and in just a little time he is "gone." Rumor has it that it has gone so far that even squaws have been lodged in the Winton jail to sleep off the effects.

The Indians will bring in the winter's catch of furs and go home "broke." The better element of the town are demanding that something be done in regard to this.

STEVENSON SALOON RAID PULLED OFF

Saloon Keeper and Several Patrons Taken to Hibbing Jail.

Hibbing, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Phillip Galina, who runs a saloom at the Stevenson location, was brought to the village jail Sunday along with eight patrons, and all booked on the charge of violating the law against the sale and purchase of liquor on Sunday. Galina had not only ignored the state law but had broken the orders to keep all saloons closed in the location pending the labor troubles at the Stevenson mine. Galina gave bonds until this morning and the others spent the night in the jail. Galina pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $25 and costs while the others were released. There is said to be no change in the situation at the Stevenson. The men have all been paid off and the property is idle.

FOOTBALL COACH WILL SAIL SEAS

Edward Walsh, Released at Hibbing, to Engage in Coastwise Trade.

Hibbing, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—From football coach to a coastwise trader is the ambition of Edward Walsh who left here Saturday night for Ann Arbor, Mich. There he will confer with two old college mates and arrange details for their venture in the shipping business of the Pacific coast.

They plan to buy a small vessel and carry on a coastwise trade along the Pacific coast down to South America. Mr. Walsh has been released as local high coach.

COMING FOR WORK.

Men Flocking to Hibbing, Expecting Mines to Resume.

Hibbing, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The usual spring influx of men seeking work has begun. Many men who worked in the local mines last year and have been wintering in Northern Michigan and other points, have arrrived and are ready to resume their labors. No one seems to know just when the big open pit mines will resume. The Oliver properties will not open until the injunction proceedings have been disposed of. Judge Hughes still has the matter under advisement and an early decision is looked for.

SEEK FIRE ALARM FIEND.

Ely Police Are Working on Clews as to Perpetrator.

Ely, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The police are working on some clues leading to the arrest of party or parties who have been turning in false alarms of fire. In a little over two weeks five false alarms have been turned in.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fenske were called to Duluth Saturday to attend the funeral of Mr. Fenske's mother. His mother had been staying for the winter with a daughter in Duluth and was going to Des Moines, Iowa, when she was suddenly stricken and died Thursday.

Mrs. L. Prosnik, aged 19 years, died at the Shipman hospital Friday; about two weeks ago her infant baby died at birth.

During the past few days John Kukko has filed for the office of assessor, making four who are now seeking that office. William Hartfield has also filed as alderman from the First ward. The last day for registration is Tuesday, March 26.

G. W. Johnson of Austin, Minn., is speaking in the public schools today in the interest of patriotism. Mr. Johnson served during the Civil war in the Fifth Vermont regiment. Last evening he spoke at the Methodist church on "The Homes of '61 and '65."

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church will meet Wednesday at the home of Mrs. H. K. Toms.

Ely, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saturday night the Ely lodge, No. 173, Knights of Pythias, entertained the members and their wives at a banquet.

A reception committee consisting of Richard Coad, Henry Chinn, Thomas McLaughlin, Olof Knutson, L. J. White, E. E. Chappel, and E. F. Stidd welcomed the incoming guests.

At 7:30 104 were seated at the banquet, which was served by Mrs. Forcier. Knutson's orchestra rendered the music for the evening.

After the banquet, Richard Coad as toastmaster introduced the following numbers: Reading, Miss Jane Pool; solo, Miss Dodds; address, E. F. Stidd; music, orchestra; reading, Miss Ivy Green; remarks, Mr. Henry Chinn; music, orchestra; solo, Miss Elizabeth Dodds; speech, John Nankervis; address, Prof. C. H. Barnes; music, orchestra. This was followed by an exchange of greetings by all present. It was pronounced one of the most successful parties ever given by the Knights of Pythias and Company A under command of Capt. Coad, is responsible for its successful culmination.

Ely Easter Services.

Ely, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Easter is to be celebrated in Ely with a union service between the Presbyterian and Methodist churches. At 9 o'clock Easter morning all will meet in the Methodist church for a service and baptism. At 11 o'clock all unite in the Presbyterian church for a devotional service. At 7:30 in the evening the Sunday school of the Methodist church have their regular Easter service. Previously each church has held its own Easter service.

Two Harbors K. P. Dance.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 25.—Harbor lodge, No. 88, Knights of Pythias, have made arrangements to give another dancing party on Friday evening April 12, and arrangements are being made to keep up the high standard of perfection which the lodge has attained in all their previous social efforts.

Cranesman's Close Call.

Coleraine, Minn., March 25.—Harry Tregillis of Coleraine, a cranesman, nearly lost his left hand Saturday by accidentally being caught in the machinery of the shovel on which he was working. It was a close call, and it will be some time before he will use the member. He is a married man with a family.

Biwabik Band Dance.

Biwabik, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city band will give a dance April 12. The proceeds of the affair will go toward the purchase of new uniforms. The band, under Capt. Henry Tallon as manager and William Vickers as leader, has made encouraging headway since its organization last fall.

CLOQUET SCHOOL CHANGES.

Crookston Woman Accepts Position as English Teacher.

Cloquet, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Laura G. Franklin of Crookston has accepted a position as teacher of English in the Cloquet high school. The position of principal made vacant by the resignation of C. D. Hargraves to accept a position at Monticello, has been filled by C. E. Blume, formerly English instructor, hence the securing of Miss Franklin. Miss Franklin was high school teacher at Crookston and preceptress of the girls' class in agriculture.

Matt Renda of Duluth received a badly fractured ankle at the Cloquet Tie & Post company's camp at Roach and after being attended to in Cloquet was taken to his home in Duluth.

Offer Prize for Butter Name.

In connection with the new creamery which is to be established here, Albert Cox, president of the Commercial club, offers $5 in gold to the school child who will submit the most appropriate name to be used on the butter made by the Cloquet creamry. The judges in the contest are Prof. Peter Oleson,, Mrs. Fostor, Mrs. H. C. Hornby, Rev. J. A. Limmer, Rev. C. W. Lowrie.

Residents of the Indian village have just completed the sinking of a public well, sixty feet deep, and paid for by popular subscription by residents of the village.

The women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will be guests of Mrs. Carl Johnson next Friday afternoon.

FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. TUESDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Probably snow and colder tonight with lowest temperature 10 deg. to 15 deg. above zero. Tuesday generally fair and colder. Moderate to brisk northerly winds.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. ISOBARS (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. ISOTHERMS (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 50° and 100°

○ clear; ◑ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; ® rain; Ⓢ snow; ◒ report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figures, temperature; second, precipitation, .01 of inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

The weather man yesterday gave Duluth a sample of the spring weather he has in stock. The sample was great. Now, if he will turn out a full line of the same brand, everybody will be happy. The mercury went to 55 deg., the sun shone with spring brilliance and the amateur gardener began to think of happy days to come. A cog slipped and today is gray and not so warm. Snow and colder weather are predicted for tonight.

Fair, mild weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 6:01 and it will set at 6:27 this evening, giving twelve hours and twenty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours light to heavy falls of snow or rain fell over Atlantic and Gulf states, the Ohio,, Lower Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, Northern Minnesota, Eastern North Dakota, Manitoba and Saskatchewan in connection with disturbances now centered off the North Atlantic coast and Eastern North Dakota. The latter depression had also caused warmer weather over most of the Northwest. The high pressure overlying the West Gulf states has caused colder weather from the Mississippi valley eastward to the Atlantic roast. A killing frost occurred this morning at Shreveport, La. At the Head of the Lakes colder weather is indicated for the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 25.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Upper Michigan—Unsettled with local snows tonight or Tuesday; warmer tonight.

Wisconsin—Unsettled with rain or snow tonight or Tuesday; warmer tonight; colder Tuesday.

Minnesota—Light snow and colder tonight; Tuesday generally fair with colder in east portion.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday, except unsettled in east and north portions tonight; warmer in extreme east portion tonight; colder Tuesday.

North Dakota and South Dakota—Cloudy and colder tonight; Tuesday fair.

Montana—Generally fair in eastern portion; probably rain or snow in west portion or Tuesday; colder tonight.

Shippers' forecast: Protect thirty-six-hour shipments of perishables against minimum temperatures 10 deg. to 20 deg. above zero in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

SCOTCH COMEDY AT THE ORPHEUM

"The Concealed Bed" Is Sparkling Feature of Exceptionally Good Bill.

The Orpheum should be the house of mirth this week.

There are two acts on this week's bill which left the audience last evening just about "laughed out." By the time the second act was completed a fat man slipping on a banana peel wouldn't have squeezed a giggle out of the house.

The Drama league went up several notches in the estimation of the regular vaudeville patrons yesterday. Graham Moffatt, with his "Bunty Pulls the Strings" was officially and warmly approved by the Drama league, but the average vaudeville patron did not expect anything so hilariously funny from his pen as "The Concealed Bed." It is Mr. Moffatt's initial experiment in vaudeville, and it is the only other work of his pen being presented in this country. This is only the second week of the playlet, which opened last week in St. Paul, and the Scotch players who are presenting it are newly imported from Scotland.

"The Concealed Bed" is the best thing that has been done in the comedy-dramatic line at the Duluth theater since it opened. The playlet gets its plot from the method of concealing a bed in a parlor, used in apartment houses in Glasgow. This custom may be strange to an American audience, but there is nothing in the wit and humor that is not understandable and that does not carry an instant appeal. It is good, clean, high-class comedy, fresh and sparkling, and the dialect of the clever little company of five players, is delicious. Anyone who cannot get a good hearty laugh out of "The Concealed Bed" must have a deep seated grouch indeed. Certainly no Scotsman can afford to miss it, and any who like to hear the Scotch "burr" will find the playlet a treat.

Of an entirely different type is the comedy of Hawthorne and Burt, who follow "The Concealed Bed." The audience thought it had laughed enough when they arrived, but titters began to be heard, followed by occasional guffaws. Before these two performers finished they had the audience almost in hysteria. Their act is utter nonsense of a burlesque type, but clean and unobjectionable throughout. Probably no person in the theater could have told what he was laughing at, but an Orpheum audience hasn't had such a whole souled guffaw since Frank Tinney drifted out in front of the footlights last season. Not the least important feature of the act is the appearance of two of the Orpheum's house employes, Frank Quandt and Roy Van Valkenberg, in the uniform of soldiers.

Alma Youlin, a dramatic soprano, with a most exceptional voice for the vaudeville stage, is heard in four very pleasing ballads.

Louis J. Winch and Josephine Poore have a dainty little act of the song and dance type which has a little plot for the purpose of introducing the songs and dances. It is beautifully staged and costumed, and the performers are pleasing.

The Maxine Brothers close the program with a lively acrobatic act, in which they introduce some original tricks with the aid of a very cleverly trained fox terrier, Bobby. The performers have the finish and style of foreign acrobats, which they undoubtedly are.

The Strolling Players are two young men garbed as minstrels, who sing and play the violin and mandolin. One of them does some eccentric violin playing that was a big hit with last night's audience.

The Juggling Burkes, two Indian club jugglers, open the show. Their club juggling is excellent, being rapid and accurate, but their attempts at comedy should be either improved or eliminated.

President Taft appears in the pictures this week, and he was given a "hand" last evening.

The bill will continue all week with a daily matinee.

ALL-HEADLINE BILL AT EMPRESS

Five Strong Acts Make Up Entertaining New Vaudeville Show.

Five good attractions, each a headliner in its class, make up the bill at the Empress theater this week.

The show played to three packed houses yesterday afternoon and evening and the audience was neither lax in enthusiasm nor backward in showing its appreciation of the various numbers.

"Fun in a Turkish Bath" kept the Four Prevosts busy and the audience roaring. It is one of those rough and tumble acts in which there is something doing all the time. Incidentally there is some good acrobatic work.

The scene is laid in a Turkish bath room, a setting well selected for the amusing antics through which the performers go. The work is fast and furious and the act is a roar from start to finish.

The Prevosts have been making a hit at every theater on the Sullivan & Considine circuits where they have appeared and the Duluth audience yesterday was not slow in its appreciation of their work. While it is rough and tumble comedy, it is clean and of the type a vaudeville audience enjoys.

Everyone likes to hear an A No. 1 male quartet and the offering of the Capital City quartet this week at the Empress surpasses the fondest expectations. The four young men mix comedy with music and get away with one of the best turns on the weeks' bill. Not only are they vocalists of no little ability, but they are also good comedians. Their repertoire is a pleasing one, containing lively poplar numbers and they were probably the hit of the show with the audience last evening.

McCarty & Major put on a comedy playlet, entitled "On Account of a Count." The plot is built around a young man's attempt to make his sweet heart dismiss from her mind the notion that she wants to marry a French count. He disguises himself, imitates the count, succeeds in provoking her and then reveals his identity. The comedy is clean and wholesome and the acting is well done by a capable pair. This act promises to be a popular one all week.

The droll comedy of George Lavander is good for a laugh a minute with any Empress audience, no matter how exacting it may be. Lavender has a grist of jokes, some of them a trifle old, but they get the laughs just the same. The act is interspersed with "bursts of song." Lavender writes his own songs and they reflect his individuality and originality. He also does a little dancing. The combination of his jokes, songs and dancing is irresistable.

M. Samayoa, programmed as the Barcelona European wonder, performs on a swing projected from over the orchestra plt. He has a number of sensational, daring tricks—all thrillers and the act is worth seeing. The feature of his act is his "death-defying cloud swing." The number was greeted with much applause. It is one of the most sensational and original acts in the acrobatic line the Empress has seen this season and it drew well-merited applause.

The motion pictures were entertaining and the orchestra selections up to the usual high standard. The bill will continue all week with a daily matinee and two performances each evening.

RAILROAD WEIGH SYSTEM PROBED

Commerce Commission Acts on Complaints of Unfairness.

Chicago, March 25.—General investigation into the system of weighing cars on all the railroads in the United States was scheduled to begin today at a hearing in the federal building before Chairman C. A. Prouty of the interstate commerce commission.

The inquiry is the result of a complaint made by the lumbermen's association of Grand Rapids, Mich., which is indorsed by twenty other lumbermen's associations, the National Hay association, the Illinois and Wisconsin retail coal dealers' associations and the Northwestern Coal Dealers' association.

The complainants contend that the scales in use by the railroads are generally inaccurate, not properly installed, not properly maintained, and that the weighing is done by employes of the carriers on whom no responsibility rests.

MISSISSIPPI AT FLOOD STAGE

Missouri, Kansas and Illinois Places Fear Serious High Water.

St. Louis, Mo., March 25.—Further floods along the Mississippi river were imminent this morning because of the rising temperature which followed yesterday's heavy fall of snow in this state, Kansas and Illinois.

The river was rising slowly here and stages were advancing rapidly at points above St. Louis, while the rivers are bank full everywhere. The Illinois is at flood stage for most of its length and serious overflows are expected.

The Missouri is rising rapidly at Fulton, Mo., and there is anxiety over its stage as far as Omaha. With the water flowing over the new government levee at Point Pleasant, Mo., it is feared that the whole of New Madrid county will be overflowed by the Mississippi within a day or two. The water was pouring into the lowlands this morning.

DES MOINES HOLDS MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 25.—The regular city election under the commission form of municipal government is being held here today to elect a mayor and four councilmen. Mayor James R. Hanna, the present incumbent, is opposed by Dr. Thomas Duhigg. The vote in the primary two weeks ago was 3 to 1 in Hanna's favor. There are no party lines in today's contest.

A FAILURE

Portland, Ore., Nov. 22, 1911.
John J. Fulton Company.

Gentlemen: You no doubt remember my writing you that I had put a patient on your Renal Compound after he had been given up by five physicians. Am sorry to say he passed away, but not from Bright's Disease. He was suffering from heart trouble also and his other trouble seemed to have weakened his heart so that he could not revive. When he started on the compound he was an awful sight. His feet, legs and hands were swollen terribly, his kidneys did not act and his brain was not clear. Before he died (two weeks) this entirely left him and not a trace of albumen could be found. • • • •

The above was told me by his wife, who was feeling very much encouraged as he was getting his old self. She went to awaken him one morning, but he had passed peacefully away during the night. She regretted that she had not known of it in time to start him on the Renal Compound before.

Respectfully, E. T. HIBBARD, 9022 Oregon Street.

In our judgment the death was due to Bright's Disease, the heart being secondary to the obstructed kidney. There is nothing in the treatment for the heart, and as we have repeatedly said, when it is withheld until the heart is nearly exhausted in its efforts to force circulation through the choked kidney, failures can be expected, but even these cases ocasionally recover where competent physicians aid in the Renal Compound by holding the heart up to its work with appropriate heart and eliminative treatment.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

VOTE AGAIN ON JUNE 25

North Dakota Voters Preparing to Again Ballot on Nominations.

Contest Between Hanna and Buchanan for Governor to Be Lively.

Fargo, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state primaries, June 25 is the next goal for the politicians of North Dakota. At that time congressional, state, legislative and county officials will be nominated.

With the recent presidential preference primaries over and the Republican delegates for La Follette and the Democrats for Governor Burke for president, stock is being taken by all political elements to see how they will line up for the next contest ninety days away.

Naturally the gubernatorial contest is the center of interest. The Republicans in the field are Congressman Hanna and J. A. Buchanan. The former is a resident of Fargo and is a pioneer of this county. He has been a member of both branches of the state legislature, chairman of the state Republican central committee and a member of congress for two terms.

J. A. Buchanan is a farmer of Stutsman county near the town of Buchanan, which was named after him. His family resides in Fargo. He was the candidate for the nomination for governor two years ago but was defeated at the primaries by C. Johnson of Minot.

The Democrats have only Warden Hellstrom of the state penitentiary in the field, though there is considerable talk of Jones of Rock," formerly of Minnesota, now state's attorney in La Moure county, entering the race.

As a result of the recent primary election in which La Follette lead, the Insurgent Republicans insist Buchanan will be nominated over Hanna with ease. There are several things on which they base their confidence. On the other hand the Hanna supporters appear undismayed and seems to regard Hanna's nomination as a positive certainty.

Insurgents Very Hopeful.

The insurgents insist that the big lead by La Follette in the primaries indicates that the Progressive movement has gained great headway in the state and will win in the state as well as in the recent election. They insist the results will give the Progressive voters of the state great confidence and show the real strength they possess.

The Hanna supporters assert that there are several reasons why their favorite will win. They say there will not be the enthusiasm for Buchanan that was aroused over La Follette, that there will be few if any outside speakers, that Buchanan can't fire the hearts of the voters like the Wisconsin senator did in his whirlwind campaign, that having been defeated once at the primaries Buchanan has not the hold on the people he did once, that the North Dakota insurgents spent all the money they could afford to on the recent La Follette primaries and less will be contributed to the Buchanan fund.

There is another phase of the situation to which the Hanna crowd points with considerable satisfaction, and it really appears to be an important factor. The new law requires the township assessors to register the voters. The law probably also includes men as well as women, as it says voters, and the women are permitted to vote on school affairs, state and county. The registration by attorneys is kept at the precinct polls. It takes the place of the old form of registration by boards. Each voter has to swear to the assessor what his political preferences are. When he goes to the polls at the June primaries the clerks will refer to the assessor's rolls and hand the man a Republican or Democratic ballot, according to the man's sworn preference.

Hanna's friends point to this fact as the place where the Democrats will be prevented from assisting in the nomination of Buchanan. It is claimed they cannot demand Republican primary ballots to help their insurgent friends out, as has been the case in former years and as charged in the recent presidential primaries.

A Reasonable Plea For the Stomach

If Your Stomach Is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work?

Especially When it Costs Nothing to Try.

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach? Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives.

Chemical Laboratory, Telegraphic address, "Diffindo," London, Telephone No. 11029 Central. 20 Cullum St., Fenchurch St., E. C.

London, 9th Aug., 1905

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose), manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., 86 Clerkenwell Road, London, E. C., and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adaptable for the purpose for which they are intended.

(Signed)

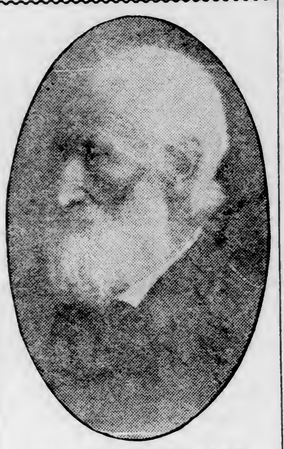
John R. Brooke, F. I. C., F. C. S.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, as is shown by the recommendations of 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of the active principle in these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent box, or send to us direct for a free trial sample package and you will be surprised at the result. F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

FERGUS FALLS HAS LOST ITS OLDEST CITIZEN



JUDGE DAVIS BURBANK.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 25.—Fergus Falls' oldest citizen is dead in the passing late Thursday night of Judge Davis Burbank, a native of Vermont, aged 91, who had lived in Otter Tail county since 1873. When he first came to this section he located on a farm for a short time, later moving to this city, where he took a position in the Fergus Falls National bank. When the populist movement first arose a fusion between the Democrats, Populists and Prohibitionists was arranged here, and Burbank was elected judge of probate as the candidate for the Prohibitionists. He retained this office for some years, and on retiring became clerk of probate, a position which he held up to the time of his death.

UNIMPROVED LAND AT $60 PER ACRE.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The record price for unimproved land was paid in Grand Forks county when a quarter of a section of Turtle River township property was sold at $60 an acre. James Caldwell of Manvel bought the property, and will use the entire tract for grain raising. There is considerable $60 an acre land in this county, but this is the first time that an unimproved tract has brought that amount.

$1,000 INDIAN COIN FOR ROADS

Fond du Lac Reservation Superintendent Notified of Appropriation.

Cloquet, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. W. Cross, superintendent of the Fond du Lac reservation, has received word from Congressman Clarence B. Miller that $1,000 of Indian funds, is available for road building on Indian lands, and Mr. Cross will soon forward the papers necessary to secure the money.

He will recommend that the funds be used to build a new road from Cloquet to the Indian village northwest of the city. Congressman Miller was in Cloquet about three months ago and made a trip over the Indian reservation. He was given ample opportunity to see the need of Indian money to be used in co-operation with funds raised by the white people of this section for road building, as so much of the land is still Indian land that it is impossible to do road work satisfactorily without working in conjunction.

He promised to do everything possible to secure money for road purposes from the Indian bureau. With this Indian money available and that which has been raised by popular subscription by the people, there will be a great improvement in roads and consequently in farming in this locality. Many of the Indian allotments will be farmed that have heretofore lain idle for lack of any way of carrying produce to market.

FORTY-FIVE YOUNG FARMERS ENROLLED

Week's Agricultural Course at Aitkin Proves Very Successful.

Aitkin, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The week's agricultural course given here by the state extension department of the school of agriculture closed Saturday. County Superintendent Hall and the committee having it in charge are delighted with the results.

The work was in charge of Prof. J. E. Neill, the corn specialist of St. Anthony park assisted by H. D. Griswold of West Salem, Wis., who spoke on dairy subjects, and L. H. Bugbee of Wrenshall, who lectured on potato growing. There was an enrollment of forty-five young farmers and the subjects were so handled as to demand the closest interest and keep the classes full at every session. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evening sessions were held.

Prizes For Industrial Contest.

Saturday the school was visited by Prof. Willard, the agriculturist of the Northern Pacific railway, who spoke and expressed a desire to co-operate with the local agricultural improvement movement. A fund of $240 has been raised for an industrial contest for boys and girls in the county and Mr. Willard made a plea for fifty patches of acre cornfields for this contest, offering to raise the amount for this purpose.

This is one of fifteen of these week's courses that are being given in the various counties of the state this year and so successful has this one been that there is already a movement for a school next season in which domestic science subjects will be taught as well as farm subjects. The old one day institute work is nothing as compared with the influence of a week's school.

WILSON SPEAKS IN WISCONSIN

While at Fond du Lac He Calls Upon Gen. E. S. Bragg.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 25.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey invaded Wisconsin Saturday in connection with his campaign for the presidential nomination and for delegates from Wisconsin to the national Democratic convention in Baltimore. He gave an address in Fond du Lac in the afternoon and two in Milwaukee at night, the audiences being large in each instance.

At Fond du Lac Governor Wilson characterized the significance of the political revolution of 1912 as the turning point in the affairs of the United States. He said it affects all the people, regardless of political beliefs heretofore held, and emphasized his belief that general public realization of dangerous ills affecting the government of the country would be corrected satisfactorily through the greater dissemination of knowledge regarding them which is noticeable everywhere.

Visits Gen. Bragg.

Signal honor was accorded Gen. Edward S. Bragg by Governor Wilson of New Jersey, who immediately upon his arrival at Fond du Lac, was driven to the Bragg home, where he talked for a time with the hero of the Iron Brigade, while thousands awaited his coming with impatience at the armory.

"There is a feeling of discontent from one side of the country to the other," said Governor Wilson in his principal Milwaukee address Saturday. He said that things were out of adjustment and that they could not be adjusted by the party now in power. Discussing the tariff, he said:

"Don't look into books for facts of ten or fifteen years ago. Facts are not the same now. You've got to begin over again. While you are dealing with dead things living things are running away from you. The time is coming when you will have to consider every economic project of American government."

MISSISSIPPI CAVIARE.

Sturgeon Roe Taken From Big River Rivals Russian Product.

Winona, Minn., March 25.—When it is shipped from Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin, a jet back, shiny, gelatinous mass of tiny globules, the pails or bags in which it is packed are labeled "sturgeon roe." By the time the product has reached its destination and is gracing a platter in a New York, London or Paris restaurant it has become "Russian Caviare."

The deception is an innocent one, since the roe of the Mississippi sturgeon has been found to be quite equal in delicacy and flavor to that obtained from the sturgeons of the Don and Dnieper of Russia. The Mississippi product being new on the market, however, sells better under the old familiar name.

For many years Russian fishermen have made millions of dollars annually gathering and preparing a caviare. The sturgeon lives in the northern stretches of the Mississippi in enormous numbers but it was not until two years ago that fishermen, seizing the cue of their Northern Russia brethren, took up roe gathering as a side line. They have found it immensely profitable and the industry is fast taking on good-sized proportions.

MOURNED IN CLOQUET.

Many Regret Tragic Death of Peter Dempsey.

Cloquet, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Dempsey, who was killed Friday night by a Duluth, Missabe & Northern train near Saginaw, had been a familiar character in Cloquet for twenty-five years. He was camp foreman for the old Nelson Lumber company for Pat Hines when the latter operated camps on the reservation, twenty years ago, and later for the Northern Lumber company, successors to the Nelson people, and for the Cloquet Tie & Post company. He was a bachelor and spent his summer on a claim near Saginaw, where he has a sister, a Mrs. Shannon. His death is regretted by old-time lumbermen around Cloquet.

Don't rub the life out of your clothes

Sprinkle a little Gold Dust in the water, and let the Gold Dust Twins do all the hard part of the task. Gold Dust starts to dissolve and lather the moment it strikes the water; it starts to cleanse the moment it comes in contact with the garment. It instantly softens the hardest water, saves rubbing, saves wear and tear on clothes, and does most of the work without your assistance.

Use Gold Dust next wash day, and have whiter, sweeter, cleaner clothes, with half the effort and in half the time.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work"

CHICAGO MAN DROWNS IN MONTANA Y. M. C. A. POOL.

Billings, Mont., March 25.—Frederick Hahn of Chicago was drowned in the bathing pool of the Y. M. C. A. building here Saturday night. Hahn was here visiting his brother, who lives at the Y. M. C. A. The former went to the plunge room late at night, securing the key from the janitor. His brother was awakened later and immediately began a search. The drowned man was found in three feet of water. It is believed that he took a hot bath, then jumped into the cold water and was overcome by cramps.

Find Gold Near Northome.

International Falls, Minn., March 25.—Parties from Northome state that gold has been found in large quantities on the property owned by the Koochiching-Vermilion Mining company, which local citizens are interested in. Samples sent to Duluth have assayed high and it is said the ore is worth in the neighborhood of $200 a ton.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Hancock—Mrs. William Shields of this city died Friday night, after an illness of more than two years, at the home of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Burkman of Oscar. She was 34 years of age and was well known throughout the Copper Country. There survive the husband and two children, Robert, aged 5, and Margaret, aged 4, and six brothers and four sisters.

Marquette—James Reymond, aged 73 years, died Saturday at the county house of hemorrhage of the brain. He entered the institution only a few days ago and nothing is known of who he is or where he came from.

Houghton—Charles E. Croze of Duluth is in Houghton for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Croze.

Laurium—Postmaster Vincent Vaire has announced the list of appointments to the carrier positions for the free delivery service which is to be established on April 1, as follows: First carrier, Robert Murphy; second carrier, Arthur Laury; third carrier, Lyman Frimodig; substitute carrier, Richard Bennetts.

Hancock—Mrs. David LeBlanc, a bride of but 18 months, died Thursday evening at her home in Hubbell of tuberculosis, with which she had suffered three years. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Champeau of Tamarack City, who with the husband, six sisters and two brothers, survive.

Laurium—Although local dealers assert that there is no danger of a shortage of coal, even though a strike is declared by the bituminous and anthracite miners, they are of the opinion that the price of coal will not drop on April 1 of this year, as has been customary in the past, and that fuel may advance in the fall.

Houghton—Felice Mageanini, aged about 40, was almost instantly killed while at work underground in the Trimountain mine Thursday night. He was caught beneath a fall of ground at the eighteenth level of the No. 2 shaft. The decedent is survived by a wife and five children in Italy.

Hancock—City Treasurer Jay D. Lanctot has made his tax returns to the county treasurer. The total amount of taxes was $68,994.71 and delinquent $10,385.44. Of this amount $6,356.52 are regular taxes and $3,988.92 special assessments.

Negaunee—Edmond Laranger, aged 59, died recently in Actanwall, Quebec. Mr. Laranger left here March 12 to visit relatives in Canada. He was apparently in the best of health, and word of his death came as a great shock to his relatives. Mr. Laranger was born in the place where he died, coming to Negaunee at the age of 25.

Marquette—Andrew Kilpatrick died Thursday at the Mayo Brothers' hospital at Rochester, Minn. He went there recently for treatment. Mr. Kilpatrick was well known in Marquette, where he lived for a number of years. His wife and one son, George, survive.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Bismarck, N. D.—On a warrant issued on a complaint filed by his 14-year-old step-daughter, C. C. Jorgensburg of this city was arrested on a charge of rape. The preliminary hearing was postponed until the latter part of this week and in the meantime Jorgensburg languishes in the county jail, pending the time he can furnish bonds in the amount of $1,500.

Kenmare, N. D.—Two more debates in the series held in the state under the direction of the North Dakota High School Debating league, will be held March 29. At that time Kenmare will meet Leeds and Hillsboro will meet Valley City. The Hatton team, which recently won from Devils Lake, will wait and meet one of the winners of the 29th.

Warsaw, N. D.—A Milwaukee firm has been awarded the contract for refinishing and redecorating the interior of St. Stanislaus' church at Warsaw. A number of beautiful paintings will be added to the decorations of the edifice, it is planned.

Bismarck, N. D.—Maj. R. R. Steedman has returned from Lisbon, where he went with Maj. Brechmin and the Fort Lincoln hospital corps for the purpose of inspecting the hospital corps of the First North Dakota regiment. They found everything in excellent condition.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The University Y. M. C. A. held its annual election of officers for the ensuing year last week. The following were elected: President, Harry Smith; vice president, Howard Stansbury; secretary, Thomas Hesketh; treasurer, Peter Smith. On the board of directors, Dean Brannon holds over for one year and Prof. Simpson for two.

Minot, N. D.—Another warrant was issued for the arrest of Dr. F. X. Offerman Thursday on a charge of practicing medicine without a license. Dr. Offerman was fined in the county court Wednesday on a previous charge and secured a stay of sixty days.

Bismarck, N. D.—North Dakota had, March 10, $2,000,000 more on deposit in one Minneapolis bank than it had six months ago, or August 10. On the latter date North Daakota had on deposit in round numbers $1,200,000 while March 10, this year the banks of the state had on deposit in the same city the sum of $3,200,000 or just $2,000,000 more.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—The health department announces that they will compel every person selling milk in the city of Ashland to furnish a certificate from a veterinary surgeon, showing that their cows were free from tuberculosis, or licenses to sell milk would not be granted to them on May 1.

Madison—State Treasurer Dahl has computed that twenty-two sureties on bonds of sixteen depository banks, held by the state, are either dead or are no longer with the bank, and that the total amount qualified by them is $1,510,000. He has required these banks to furnish new bonds. In one Milwaukee depository $750,000 was qualified by sureties no longer living.

Ashland—John Case of Washburn was severely burned about the face by acid while at work at the dynamite plant. His eyes also were burned, but it is hoped that his sight can be saved at a local hospital.

Racine—Because of an epidemic of diphtheria the board of health has ordered that the McMynn school be closed for two weeks. Five students of the school have the disease and others may have been exposed.

Madison—An inheritance tax of $19,763.67 has been collected by the Dane county court from the estate of Johnston Livingston of New York. Livingston owned 760 shares of stock in the Northern Pacific road.

Rhinelander—W. T. Stevens, a lumberman, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator from the Thirtieth district, made vacant by the death of Senator James A. Wright.

Fond du Lac—Music for the funeral services of the late S. M. Ingalls, which were held Thursday afternoon, was furnished by a large phonograph, and the first selection played was "Tell Mother I'll Be There," the same musical number which Mr. Ingalls had played on the instrument a few hours preceding his death Monday night.

Madison—Secretary of State James A. Freer has advised a large number of county clerks that the designation of presidential preference must be affixed after the names of candidates for delegateships on the ballot. This is in accordance with Attorney General Levi H. Bancroft's opinion based on the law.

Neenah—H. C. Verbeck, who received the highest ranking in the recent examinations for sealer of weights and measures of any person ever taking the examination in the state, is a teacher, and says the examination was harder than any state teacher's examination.

Fond du Lac—The identity of the man who called himself Edward Smith, and who was murdered at a cabin near Green Lake in February, of which crime Robert Prill is accused, will probably remain a mystery.

Ashland—L. N. Anson of Merrill, one of the men selected for a Taft delegate in his district, has notified the secretary of state that he would not run. This information, coming at the last moment, does not give time for the circulation of papers for any one to take his place, and the Taft men will therefore have but one candidate in this district for the primary election that takes place April 2.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Blackduck—Frank B. Cossentine, aged 49, one of Blackduck's most highly respected citizens, passed suddenly away Monday afternoon while at work in the woods two miles north of the village. With him at the time were his son, Roy, and John Shippers. They were loading wood when suddenly Mr. Cossentine fell backward and expired without regaining consciousness.

Wahkon—At an election in Consolidated District No. 17, held at Cove March 20, the propositions to buy a school site and issue $6,000 bonds to pay for the site and build a school house, were carried by a vote of 44 to 22.

Mankato—Anson Mallory, one of the well known Blue Earth county farmers, died at Amboy, Monday. He was a native of New York, and was born Nov. 30, 1847. He was a highly respected citizen.

Red Lake Falls—The schoolhouse in District No. 103, four miles northeast of Brooks, was destroyed by fire last week. The loss of nearly $2,000 is partly covered by insurance of $400 on the building and $700 on the contents. The building was constructed four years ago and was one of the good country schoohouses of the county.

Roseau—Alex Johnson while here from his claim northeast of Roseau last week, reported that the government land in that part of the county is being taken up rapidly and it is his opinion that when the contemplated drainage and road work is undertaken and completed that country will be one of the finest in the county.

Crookston—Deputy Sheriff Hahn of Ramsey county came up from St. Paul Friday and later returned to the Twin Cities with Charles Brandl, on a warrant charging that Brandl had aided in soliciting fire insurance from a Miss Lee without a license.

Fosston—A mass meeting was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the basement of the Norwegian Lutheran Synod church in the village of Fosston for the purpose of organizing a law and order league.

Minneapolis—Dr. C. M. Jordan, superintendent of schools, and R. H. Jordan, principal of the West High school, are conducting an investigation of a robbery in the high school that occurred Wednesday night. The safe of the school in the principal's office was broken open, $25 taken, and the desk of the principal ransacked.

International Falls — The special election held Friday to determine the location of the proposed new high school resulted in 25 votes in favor of block 43, while but 2 voted no.

Stillwater—Henry Lynch died at the city hospital Thursday. He was taken there two weeks ago, having been brought from his home in Blackfoot, Idaho. He was raised in Washington county and was in failing health for about a year. Surviving are the widow, five children, his mother, Mrs. Michael Lynch, five brothers and four sisters.

Minneapolis—Members of the executive committee of the national federation of retail merchants conferred here Saturday for the purpose of deciding the time and place of holding the 1912 convention; M. J. Maloney of Detroit, Mich., is president of the organization.

Rochester—The Van Dusen elevator of this city, has been sold to Thomas Boler and Michael Scanlon of Olmsted county, the sale marking the passing from the Van Dusen interests of the first elevator started by G. W. Van Dusen, that led to the formation of the chain of Van Dusen elevators in the Northwest.

Minneapolis—Dr. Frank Skinner of Chicago was the principal speaker Saturday at the annual clinic of the Minneapolis Dental society, held here, attended by about 200 members. Dr. E. J. Weaver of Milwaukee, also delivered a lecture.

President Taft

in a special message asks Congress to investigate "The High Cost of Living."

Into this country of countless fertile acres, potatoes are being imported from Europe!

In this rich dairy and poultry raising country eggs, butter and meat are at top-notch prices!

In a land where millions of apple trees are planted every year, apples are selling at ten cents apiece!

CONTROL OF CARRIER BAD

Phase of Steel Trust Activity Likely to Be Condemned By Inquirers.

Series of Investigations Is Feature of Present Congress.

Washington, March 25.—The Sixty-second congress has been an investigating congress. Aside from inquiries into government departments, special inquiries have been made, most notable among them those into the United States Steel corporation and the American Sugar Refining company.

The Steel inquiry, conducted by a special committee headed by Representative Stanley of Kentucky has been under way nearly a year and may close this week. The report will probably be made by May. It will be a series of recommendations. One of them is almost certain to be that large corporations such as the United States Steel corporation should not own or control common carriers.

The inquiry into the Sugar Refining company by a committee headed by Representative Hardwick closed some time ago, and while the report recommended no legislation, the data collected was used by Democratic leaders in framing the free sugar bill which has passed the house and is now up to the senate.

Money and Shipping.

Investigations into the "money trust" and the shipping combine are about to get under way. The first has been divided into two sections. Representative Pujo of Louisiana will head a committee to investigate the money trust, and a sub-committee, headed by Representative Glass of West Virginia, will study the Aldrich plan of currency reform. No public hearings may be held for some time.

The inquiry into the shipping combine by the committee on merchant marine, will begin probably within the next week.

The rules committee this week will take up conditions at the Lawrence strike which was the subject of public hearings recently, and may order an inquiry into the affairs of the American Woolen company.

Another hearing that has been going on concerns the circumstances under which the United States took over the Panama canal strip and the demands of Colombia that her claims for damages be submitted to the Hague.

Indian Bureau, Too.

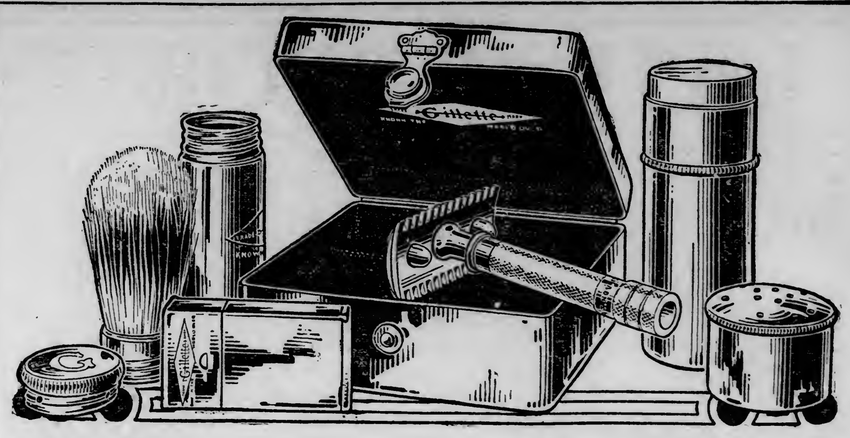
An inquiry into the Indian bureau is to be conducted by the interior department committee headed by Representative Graham of Illinois.

The postoffice committee has spent most of its time investigating Former Postmaster General Cortelyou's fraud order against the Lewis Publishing Company of St. Louis, and is expected to make a report before the end of the session. Special inquiries into the rights of Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin and Senator Lorimer of Illinois to their seats have been ended. Senator Stephenson's supporters predict a safe majority for him. The Progressive Republicans and Democrats who have attacked the senator's election make no predictions, but promise to continue their fight.

Senator Lorimer's case comes to a vote before the special investigating committee on Wednesday, which his supporters claim will be 5 to 3 in his favor. They hazarded no prediction as to the outcome in the senate.

May Adjourn June 10.

Leaders of both parties are making efforts to adjourn congress before the national conventions. In the house June 10 has been tentatively set as the date for which the leaders aim. Senate leaders are co-operating in this, and some of them have declared there is no reason why congress cannot be adjourned by that time.



In Two Months the Gillette Razor Saved a New York Man $11.80

Shaving Had Cost Him 20 Cents Every Day For 10 Years—Over $720.00

Small sums paid out regularly mount up big in the long run. Statistics show that the enormous increase in Gillette users accounts for a substantial addition to bank deposits of thousands of men all over the country.

Money that used to be spent for shaving is placed now to the credit of the household—to buy necessities, property, homes, clothing and luxuries.

For years men resented the expense of being shaved. But they couldn't give the time to shave themselves with the ordinary razor—with the fuss of stropping and honing and similar nuisances.

The Gillette was what men wanted—an easy, safe, quick, convenient shave and the cost so small, scarcely worth figuring.

What the Gillette Will Do for You

Whatever your shaving habits may be, no matter how tender your skin or tough and wiry your beard, the Gillette will give you a clean velvet shave.

It will give you a light shave or close shave (closer than a barber dare give you), with no roughness, no irritation.

It is not necessary that you know how to shave yourself. You do not need to be "tool-wise" or handy. There is no stropping, no honing.

You quickly get the knack of the Gillette and you will learn little individual shave-simplifying tricks every day you use it.

The wonder of the Gillette is its adaptability—the way it meets individual needs.

Every man's face is different. Your beard is individual in the way it grows and its shaving requirements.

The adjustment of the Gillette will suit your beard and your skin. The Gillette will save you time and money and it is safe.

Think of the comfort of it; the ability to shave in two or three minutes in the morning as regularly as you wash your face. The convenience and simplicity —no litter of strops and hones. No danger of bad cuts and scratches.

Don't Put It Off—Buy a Gillette To-day

Considering all the Gillette means in comfort and economy, it should be in the hands of every man in this city with a beard to shave.

Don't be without it another day

Ask your dealer.

If you can't go now, go soon.

The very next time you see a Gillette in a store window go in and talk to the man about it.

Examine the razor—buy it—take it home.

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, March 25.—The iron industry was surprised last week by the announcement of heavy transactions in lake ore for the 1912-1913 season at a reduction of 65 cents to 75 cents per ton from the previous season. The mine operators, however will receive some benefit from reduced rail freights, smaller dock unloading charges and lower lake charters. Consumers naturally anticipate some reductions in prices of pig iron in consequence, but furnace interests with little or no profit on recent sales are not likely to make concessions soon. Temporarily prices reflected the unsettled conditions in the coal and coke fields and sales aggregated 125,000 tons at slightly higher prices. Since March 1 transactions aggregated about 535,000 tons.

The railroads placed larger orders for motive power but otherwise equipment purchases were light. Contracts included 164 locomotives; 4,350 cars, 6,000 tons of bridge work and only 6,000 tons rails.

The steel mills made a determined stand for more remunerative prices for steel bars, plates and shapes, the Republic company following the lead of the other mills in an advance of $1 per ton. The Lorain Steel company advanced light section rails $1.50 to $2 per ton and the American Sheet & Tin Plate company is asking $2 per ton more for galvanized sheets.

Car shops ordered 30,000 tons of steel plates and shapes. Contracts were also placed for about $10,000 tons of marine plates for coast and lake boats.

Commercial buildings and bridges called for $20,000 tons steel shapes making the total for March thus far about 87,000 tons. The only important railroad order was 6,000 tons for the Long Island bridges.

TAFT IS INDORSED.

Montana State Republican Committee Against Preferential Primaries.

Helena, Mont., March 25.—The Republican state central committee unanimously indorsed the administration of President Taft Saturday and indorsed him for renomination by a vote of 27 to 10. The Dixon men in the committee fought bitterly against the indorsement for renomination, but were defeated in this as well as in their effort for preferential primaries, the result to bind the Montana delegation to the national convention.

Senator Dixon sent a telegram to J. D. Waite, chairman of the committee, urging provision for such primaries, but his request was ignored. The Dixon men also tried to have the date of the convention to select national delegates fixed for early in April. The committee fixed the date for May 16, and chose Livingston as the meeting place.

The Progressive Republicans agreed to continue the fight for a presidential preference primary through the medium of the various county organizations. The progressives claim control of twelve of the thirty-one county organizations in the state, and plan to have the county committees controlled by them order primaries at which each voter will be asked to designate his first and second choice for the presidential nomination.

WAGE EARNERS AND PRODUCTS

Census Bureau Figures Show Increases and Value of Output.

Washington, March 25.—An increased tendency toward diversion in manufacturing industries in the United States was observed by federal officials who have compiled statistics of the relative importance of manufacturing industries. The statistics cover the ten-year period ending with 1909, and were collected with the census bureau.

The report states that the less important industries of the country showed greater percentages of increase during the period than the more important ones. By far the highest percentage of increase was noted in the automobile industry. Exceptionally large increases were credited to the copper, tin and sheet iron industries. Large decrease in the average number of wage-earners was shown in the iron and steel, blast furnaces, sugar and molasses industries.

The manufacturing industries of the United States employ as wage-earners 6,615,046 people, or almost 14½ per cent of the total population; the value of the products of these industries is $20,672,052,000 and the value added by their manufacture is $8,530,-261,000.

More Wage-Earners.

The number of wage-earners increased 40.4 per cent since 1899 and the value of products 81.2 per cent. These figures represent the totals of manufacturing establishments conducted under the factory system as distinguished from the neighborhood, hand and building industries.

The slaughtering and meat-packing industry ranks first in gross value of products, with $1,370,568,000; second, foundry and machine shop products, with $1,228,475,000; third, lumber and timber products, with $1,156,129,000; fourth, iron and steel, steel works and rolling mills, with $985,728,000, and fifth, flour mills and grist mills products, with $883,584,000.

HAUL SUPPLIES FROM CRAMER

Citizens of Grand Marais Eagerly Awaiting the First Boat.

A. W. Anderson, cashier of the Cook County State Bank of Grand Marais has been enjoying business prosperity, living is unusually high there just now, because the stocks of provisions that the town laid in just before the close of navigation are practically exhausted.

The nearest station is Cramer, the terminus of the Duluth & Northern Minnesota railway, forty miles from Grand Marais. Groceries and other supplies for Grand Marais now have to be hauled from Cramer along the road through Lutsen, Toftey and Schroeder, and this adds about $25 a ton or 1¼ cents a pound to the cost. Mr. Anderson said the people of Grand Marais expected to have a railroad much closer to them before another winter. The prosperity of the place is remarkable, he says, in view of the fact that the town was cut off from communication with the outside world, except by the difficult method of hauling to and from Cramer, for so many months of the year. The bank, he said, has deposits aggregating over $50,000. Much log-cutting had been done during the winter, and the logs were lined along the shore, waiting for spring to clear away the ice that they may be towed to sawmills and converted into lumber.

The citizens are eagerly awaiting the first boat.

TWO TO SUFFER DEATH PENALTY

Kentucky Murderers Found Guilty By Juries on Sunday.

London, Ky., March 25. — Gen. May was convicted of murder for killing Mrs. Sherman Merida, in Clay county, last spring. It took the jury from noon Saturday until 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon to agree on the verdict, the first death penalty recorded here. May has been convicted, and is serving a life sentence for killing Mrs. Merida's husband at the same time.

Negro to Die.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 25. — The death penalty was imposed by a jury here of Tom Slaughter, a 19-year-old negro, charged with murdering Lee Jenkins during a quarrel over the purchase of a dime's worth of cheese in Jenkins' store. The jury got the case Saturday night and Judge Hanberry was called from church to receive the verdict. Feeling in the Edgoton vicinity has been intense. Two negroes active in Slaughter's defense were whipped by white-cappers.

Von Bernstorff in Chicago.

Chicago, March 25. — Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, took part in ceremonies in connection with the laying of the cornerstone of the new German hospital here and attended a memorial mass meeting in honor of the eightieth anniversary of the death of Goethe.

ELEVATOR DROPS; TWO MEN KILLED.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 25. — William Hunter, aged 55, the operator, and Harry Gardan, 62, steamfitter of the building, were killed Sunday by the fall of an elevator in the Bradley building. The two men were the sole occupants of the car, which dropped from the eighth floor when the bolt connecting the car and the cable broke.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

LET'S look for Lochinvars. This white hope business is losing all the interest that the novelty of the game created, when the original Chris Columbus of pugilism started on the quest to find some worthy who might rob the shaved pate of Jack Johnson of the crown he has worn since that afternoon in Australia. The job of Hercules in cleaning that mythical livery and sale stable was nothing compared to the task that the white hope of today is asked to perform. The chief trouble is that none to date has looked at all capable of beating a fast and husky middleweight.

It was Lochinvar who rode out of the West and conquered in the days of old when ginks were some bold. Out of some union boiler factory or amalgamated blast furnace or village blacksmith shop, with the inevitable spreading chestnut tree, we are hoping that some giant with sinews of steel will come forth and prove the man who is to reduce the cinder to the necessity of wearing only three or four suits of clothes and of talking with decency to vaudeville managers and fight promoters.

The white hope craze is sort of dying out. For a while it was a very poor village that could not produce some sort of a giant whose one ambition in life was to hear some man with a pink shirt count the magical number ten over the prostrate body of Li'l Artha. But before some of the large boys got fairly well launched on their career of annihilation some obscure fighter would spoil all the work of the press agent.

Of all the white hopes produced by the craze to see the present holder of the title beaten, there remains but one that competent critics of the game concede has one chance of ever developing into a fighter who may even make a respectable showing against the cinder. Al Palzer, the big Iowa Swede, has shown a wallop and the earmarks of the bright and ambitious apprentice, and he may get to the stage in the road where he will have the chance to battle with the champion.

Avaunt with Carl Morris, Jim Stewart, Tom Kennedy and the rest of the bunch who talk largely and loudly of the things they are going to do and are at the same time unable to make a good showing against a single first class fighter. While we have as a nation missed the humor of Joe Miller and Bill Nye, we don't care for the humor that these alleged fighters are supplying, especially when they profess to be appealing to our seriousness.

There is not a singe great fighter in sight today. In the future it may happen that some brave and true battler will rise from the ranks and fight his way up to the top without the ado that has characterized the bum debuts of Morris and the rest of the lemon region. John L. Sullivan came from the plumbing shop with a clay pipe in his mouth and meekness in his makeup. Bob Fitzsimmons came from Australia and no one paid any attention to the great fighter until he was matched to fight with the famous Jack Dempsey. How decently and orderly were these things arranged in the past.

Let us hope that the press agents will not go out looking for the lurking Lochinvar with spy glasses, but that some day he will become disgusted with the long hours and the short pay of his trade, and start fighting his way up to the high pay streak, where automobiles, valets and sealskin coats and world's titles are scattered carelessly around. Let us have less noise about some of the gents who can never lick a stout hearted and willing middleweight.

SOME critic of the ring has come forth with the information that Jack Dempsey, one of the greatest middleweight fighters that the ring ever produced, was no stronger than a woman. This statement, unsupported by facts as it is, should be encouraging to the members of the fighting force of the suffragettes. Just think of the number of battles that Jack got away with. Learn to use science and cunning with the brutes, and no one can foretell the triumphs that the heaving force of brick slingers may accomplish.

THE little wire war between Uncle Tom McCarey and Tom Jones, the manager of Tom Jones, shows the tendency of the modern fighter, and also holds to clear-eyed view the fact that the fighters of today hold an exalted opinion of the worth of their services that it is up to the promoters and the public to combine to combat.

Wolgast and Jones say they laughed merrily and with the loud ring of the guffaw at the offer of Uncle Tom, which, friend, happened to be the princely sum of $12,500 for the Wolgast end of a fight with some poor little Mexican, who hasn't any right in the same ring with the champion of the world, should said champion be in his old time form at the date of said fight.

Johnson is another case of money madness and irritated ego. The black wants $30,000 fo rany fight he takes part in. It isn't the fault of the fighters, for it is a simple soul and a mind of archaic principles and old world manners that will not go after all the money on the table. The promoters are bitten with the loco weed when they give the battlers the huge purses and then wonder at the scorn of some of the plutes of the ring when a sum of money they believe is beneath their notice is offered to them.

Let Wolgast and some of the rest of them find that the promoters are unwilling to pay for more than their services are worth, and you will see a revision of the present haughty attitude upon the part of the pampered pugs.

MOST of the critics are counting the Cubs down and out at the present time. In its day the Chicago machine was probably the greatest team ever assembled upon the diamond green, and this statement is made with due respect to those critics who hold that the Baltimore Orioles and the Pittsburg Nationals were the greatest teams that the great old game has ever produced.

Man is human, despite the statement of some of the suffragettes and the department of health, and the brave athletes must go the way of all flesh. Maybe the Cubs have run their race. Chicago would have won the gonfalon last season with ordinary luck. This would have given the team one of the grandest records ever known in the national game. tI doesn't look at the present time as if the Cubs would be in the romp, and yet it will surprise a whole lot of us in this section of the country if Chance & Co., do not land in the ..rst division.

MOST writers know the pest of the anonymous senders of insulting letters. A person who sends an insult through the craven coward route of the unsigned letter, would steal money that some widow had given to a blind beggar who had been passed upon by a high class oculist and the board of corrections and charity. The anonymous letter writer belongs to the general crowd of human beings who are of the parasite breed and know of the being of back bone only through a wavering study of physiology. There is a tinge of yellow in the system of the person who makes a habit of writing the insulting unsigned letter, and all this goes for the frosted-in-early-youth variety of individual who has been sending that sort of letter to this column. Any man can respect a good fighter, but the low down sneak who shoots from behind the hedge would run from a rabbit if the peaceful bunny were in the habit of imbibing that fighting brand of squirrel whisky.

KLAUS WINS ROUGH FIGHT

Bout With Dillon Featured By Unfair Tactics on Both Sides.

San Francisco, Cal., March 25.—Frank Klaus of Pittsburg outroughed Jack Dillon, the Indianapolis middleweight, in their fight at Coffroth's Daly City open-air arena Saturday afternoon, and as a result he was proclaimed the winner by Referee Jack Welsh after twenty rounds of the foulest milling ever witnessed in a local arena in recent years.

An eleventh hour rally on the part of Klaus enabled him to leave the ring with Dillon's scalp figuratively hanging from his belt, his determined stand in the final round, during which he landed hard stomach punches without return, contributing all that was needed to determine a winner.

The battle from start to finish was contested with the men going it hammer and tongs, each with head and shoulders resting against the other. They wrestled, elbowed, butted and back-heeled, the referee warning them time and again that they were inviting disqualification.

Finally he turned to the spectators and shouted "both of these men are fighting a foul battle, therefore, I propose to let them settle their difficulties in their own way and will not interfere. They are both equally guilty."

As the contest was fought, there was never a dull moment, each man fighting ceaselessly to score in his own peculiar way.

Dillon clearly showed his superiority at boxing. He frequently staggered Klaus with sharp right hooks to the jaw, but his opponent never appeared to be in distress. Klaus all the while drove his right and left to the body and it was this systematic peppering of the Hoosier fighter's stomach that gradually wore the latter down and paved the way to ultimate success.

Dillon scored first blood, a right hook in the second round opening a gash on Klaus' face. In the fifth, however the Pittsburger sent in a tremendous smash to the mouth and until the end of the fight Dillon bled from the effects of the punch.

In the thirteenth round, Dillon almost dropped Klaus on three different occasions with powerful rights to the chin and the crowd yelled itself hoarse. Klaus, however, weathered the gale and immediately resumed his merciless fusillade of body punches which proved a potent factor in weakening Dillon and compelling him to keep his distance.

On the whole Klaus' showing was a disappointment to the spectators who agreed that as a boxer under legitimate conditions he has much to learn.

Klaus and Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, Wis., were matched to fight at Coffroth's arena some time next month. The bout is announced to be for the world's middleweight championship.

Klaus was the favorite in the betting at odds of 10 to 7. The men weighed in at 10 a. m. at the 158-pound limit.

In the preliminary Barney Richter of Racine, Wis., and Joe Atcheson of San Francisco fought six fast rounds to a draw, while Babe Picato of Los Angeles was awarded an unpopular decision over Walter Scott after 10 snappy rounds.

BOWLERS FORM AN ASSOCIATION

Yesterday the local bowlers got together and formed the Head of the Lakes Bowling association, the object of the new organization being to boost bowling in this part of the state and to hold regular tournaments at stated intervals. D. Jacobs was elected president; P. Schultz, vice president; Sam Olsen, treasurer; H. Jensen, secretary, and G. U. Ferguson, F. Ptacek, Mark Nobis, J. McKenzie, A. Taraldson and G. Wedge of Superior members of the board of directors.

The first tournament of the new association will be held in the first week of April, and a large number of teams have promised to enter.

According to the plans of the officers of the new association, the bowling sport will be boosted here and in Superior and on the iron range, with the result that the various tournaments of the organization will draw entrants from every town in this part of the state. Entry blanks will be mailed some time this week for the first tourney.

WELLS HAS ARRIVED.

English Fighter Has Hopes of Arranging Fight With Ad Wolgast.

New York, March 25.—George McDonald, manager of Matt Wells, the English pugilist, who has just returned to America for a new series of attacks on the lightweight championship, will be busy for the next week seeking pugilistic engagements for his charge. The English champion expects to remain here for several months and hopes before returning home to engage in a bout with Ad Wolgast for the lightweight championship of the world. Arrangements for such a bout practically were completed last fall and then the affair fell through.

Wells is willing to make 133 pounds at 3 o'clock for Wolgast, the weight which was agreed upon last fall, or 135 pounds later in the day. On account of Wolgast's illness it is not expected that any bout will be possible for at least two months, but the arrangements may be completed and the contracts signed at once.

JARVINEN DUE HERE TUESDAY FOR MATCH

Alex Jarvinen, the young Finnish giant, who is a new comer in the ranks of the wrestlers of this country, is scheduled to arrive in Duluth tomorrow from Chicago, where the big fellow has been working out with Ila Vincent, the famous Cuban wrestler, in preparation for the bout with Charles (Kid) Cutler, the crack Chicago nonpariel.

When Jarvinen steps off the morning train he will meet with a reception seldom accorded a wrestler in this country, certainly never given to an athlete in this city. The big fellow is held in high esteem by the Finnish lovers of wrestling, for the young giant has done probably as much in athletics to bring the name of Finland before the notice of the world as any other stalwart in the history of the Northern country.

Just at the present time Finland seems to be coming to the front in the world of athletics. Nicklander, the wonderful Finnish weight thrower, and the two Kohlemainens, the great middle distance runners, together with young Jarvinen have made up a group of athletes who have made a wonderful showing in the international field of track and field sports, Jarvinen was a weight thrower as well as the winner of all of the international wrestling matches.

As a professional wrestler the young Finn has met with great success since coming to this country. Accounted by his countrymen as the greatest wrestler that Finland ever turned out. Jarvinen is doing much to prove the claim. In Cutler the Finnish giant is going against one of the greatest wrestlers in the world and his countrymen are awaiting the result of the meeting with interest.

Some of the best preliminaries of the season will precede the big bout. Martin Johnson has a young Pole whom he has been training for the past six months. The wrestling fireman said nothing about the youngster until he believed he was ready to make his debut before the public. Martin has asked that some good man be found to pit against the young Pole, and he says his protege will furnish some of the best wrestling that has been seen in any of the preliminaries held in this city.

Little Louis Zabras, the crack little grappler who made such a hit the night of the last contest, will be pitted against a strong opponent and this contest is expected to be one of the features of the entertainment. The little Duluth wrestler, though only an amateur and wrestling for the love of the game, is one of the best in the Northwest and should he turn professional should be one of the stars of the lightweight class.

The seat sale for the contest will open this afternoon at the usual place, Bob Blackwood's cigar store.

ST. PAUL CREWS BEGIN TRAINING

St. Paul, Minn., March 25.—Members of the Minnesota Boat club plunged into active training Saturday afternoon in preparing for their big meet with the Wisconsin oarsmen, which will be held at Madison on March 24. The senior four was the first crew to get its shell on the river, the quartet putting in about an hour's hard work Saturday afternoon. The following members made up the senior crew: Cushing at right stroke, C. W. Foster, No. 3; C. French, No. 2, and E. Stringer, bow.

Great enthusiasm is being shown this spring, and the local club hopes to be represented at all the leading regattas to be held throughout the country the coming summer. The most notable event will be the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen regatta, which is likely to be held at Peoria, Ill., during the last week of July.

Junior Eight Looks Good.

With these important events to look forward to, and the anticipation of the trips, the men are showing the old spirit which has made the club famous in past years throughout the rowing world. The junior crew in particular is a likely looking lot, being composed of good husky fellows, who have displayed their grit and determination in other lines of athletic activity. Tom Ellerbe, St. Paul's crack swimmer, who, while new at the rowing game, is improving fast. Tony Tomasek of football fame is also a good oarsman, rowing on the junior eight last summer. Dan Connelly, who was a member of the junior eight in 1906, and who sculled at Duluth last season; Clarence French, who rowed at Minnetonka in 1908; Ira Baer, No. 7 on last year's junior crew, are working out daily. George Pinney, Malcolm McGuckin, Edgar Russell, R. Nienhauser and several new members, who have not as yet reported at the club, are seeking places.

These men, as well as the senior squad, are all working out daily on the machines at the Raspberry club house. Most of the members will follow the lead of the junior four, and will be out on the river every day from now on.

The Lapstrakes and working eights have been thoroughly overhauled and put into first-class condition. The crews will be coached by the racing committee under the personal charge of N. P. Langford, Jr., who has earned the reputation of being the finest amateur coach in the United States. Mr. Langford coached the boat club crew which won the National at Springfield in 1908.

Rademacher a Visitor.

"Husk" Rademacher, one of the greatest ends ever produced by the University of Minnesota football teams, was in the city yesterday. "Raddy" is an attorney at Gilbert at the present time and gets down here occasionally on business. The name of the Gilbert boy is placed along with those other great ends, Hinckey Harrison, Billy Dalrymple, Bobby Marshall and Ed Rogers.

AMATEUR MEET FOR WRESTLERS

Entry blanks for the big amateur wrestling tournament to be held at the Y. M. C. A. on the evening of March 27, can be secured from the sporting editor of The Herald. Rules and regulations governing the various events will be found on the blanks. The weights will be bantam, 105 pounds; feather, 115; special, 125; light, 135; welter, 145; middle, 158; heavy, over 158 pounds.

Already a large number of the crack amateur wrestlers of the city have signified their intention of entering the tournament. There is an unusually large amount of interest in wrestling in Duluth at the present time and it is expected that the various contests in the different classes will bring out some clever and clean wrestling.

WILL FINISH AT HOT SPRINGS

St. Louis, Mo., March 25.—Six pitchers and Catchers Bliss and Wingo of the St. Louis National league team departed last night for Hot Springs, Ark., to complete their spring training.

Since the return of the team from South Bend, Ind., cold weather has prevented battery practice and Manager Bresnahan chose Hot Springs as the seat of preparation for the spring series with the local team of the American league. The series is scheduled to open Saturday.

Exhibition Games.

Austin, Texas, March 25.—A team of the Chicago Americans defeated the Austin, Texas league team, 7 to 1. Peters, last year with Minneapolis, held the locals to four hits.

San Antonio, Texas, March 25.—The San Antonio, Texas league team defeated the Chicago Americans, 11 to 6.

Galveston, Texas, March 25.—The second division of the Philadelphia Americans defeated the Galveston, Texas league, team by a score of 3 to 1, yesterday afternoon in an eleven-inning game.

MACK PREDICTS HARD SEASON FOR ATHLETICS

Lanky Leader Says Several Teams Have Chance for Pennant in the American League Race.

San Antonio, Tex., March 25.—"What's the answer in the American league race for 1912?"

Manager Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics contemplated the practice contortions of his squad at the local park, gazing calmly over the crowd—never missing a move, but making no sign. Without taking his eye from the arena, he said:

"There is no answer—yet. There are too many things and too many good clubs entering into the problem. It is a hard matter to make even a good guess now."

"Haven't the Athletics the best chance?"

"Well, I don't know about that. I said last year if we won the 1911 championship we ought to take that of 1912. But I don't know. You see, there are some other mighty fine clubs out this season.

"The Bostons are very dangerous, and then there are the Detroit, Cleveland and even New York clubs to be considered. Any one of these well may head us off. We will have to keep moving, and it is sure we need a better start than that of last season: I think the Athletics were best, but some mishaps for the others certainly helped us.

"Boston surely looks dangerous, and they will have a able leader this season in Manager Stahl, whose personal playing alone should strengthen that club greatly. We expect no end of trouble from this crowd this year.

"Detroit had ill luck in the injury to Gainor last year, and the Tigers should do better with good fortune this season. They were very dangerous last year and a few close games decided the other way would have had Jennings' crowd right at us all the way. It looks like the Tigers will make a lot of trouble for all of them.

"Then there is Cleveland. That is a real hard luck club, but this sort of thing cannot go on forever. Cleveland has a lot of youngsters who are arriving in a bunch, and these should be far better this year. Even though they are only a little better all around, Cleveland will be a big factor. Once the Blues arrive they will probably stay there for some time, for there are many great youngsters in their ranks. They have some great hitters and some real pitchers. It will not surprise me a bit to see Cleveland one of the real contenders this year. That they will be well managed is a sure bet, and I ought to know that they will.

"The Highlanders are a problem. They did not play the game they are capable of, and they may come ahead at any moment. While possibly not as surely dangerous as Cleveland, Detroit or Boston, New York is a factor and a hit of a dark horse in the 1912 race.

"The White Sox must be considered. President Comiskey is not one to be content with a loser if he can help it, and Chicago is due to make trouble with its talent before very long.

"I think St. Louis and Washington probably will do their old fighting for seventh and eighth places, although Washington may go higher. That club has some mighty good youngsters. Walter Johnson? Why, he would give any one of the five clubs nearly a clinch on the pennant. He should have more assistance this year, too. But St. Louis and Washington lack the class of the others now.

"This baseball business is full of uncertainties. That is why it is so so popular. Figure the Athletics with three star players on the hospital list while the others are going with their full roster, and what do you get? Why, we would be in very bad shape. A twisted ankle or bad arm has beaten many great clubs. With an even break all around we should make the others hurry to head us, but you never can tell. We should be better this year than last, but that, too, is problematical. Certainly, we should start the season in better condition.

"With a young infield, an outfield that is good for a long while yet and a very strong catching department, we should go well. I think our veteran pitchers will last for awhile, and we are striving to get some good new ones. But baseball is uncertain, and the race this season should be the closest in a long while."

MAGNATES MAY GET TOGETHER

McCuen and Elliott Scheduled to Go Over the Minny Feud.

During the present week the baseball situation promises to sit up and take some egg and milk. The local infant is hardly able to take any solid food at the present time. Doc McCuen and Jawn Elliott are scheduled for a meeting over the difficulties that Duluth has had with the league, and the meeting is supposed to come off the present week. Let's see, that will bring us along somewhere around the first of April, and then by May there may be some dope about the organization of the league.

There is a man in the city who has been in baseball before who is authority for the statement that Duluth will have some kind of baseball the present season, even though it be only semi-professional variety.

Moll denies that he is mixed up in any baseball situation, eh? Well, that's funny, because he has written several letters regarding the prospects for organizing a league. But down in the Wisconsin-Illinois Mister Moll has the reputation of changing his mind with feminine frequency.

We start on the last week in March without the least idea of where we are in a baseball way and what we are going to have. That is truly a fine prospect for a city of some 80,000 souls; a live city that is looking for advertising of the best sort and aspires to the metropolitan air.

Secretary Farrell may have the charges of the Minny league at the present time. The case was to be presented to the Auburn autocrat, and there may be a ukase issued before the Fourth of July pyrotechnics remind of England's tribulations those many years ago.

Sommers and Dr. McCuen are scheduled to meet this week and go thoroughly over the situation. Winnipeg is making overtures to the Head of the Lakes magnates, and something may develop in the nature of the old Northern league—but that's only a hazard.

WOLGAST ASKS FORTUNE.

Lightweight Champion Wants $10,000 for Limited Round Bout.

New York, March 25.—Ad Wolgast, our lightweight champion, is becoming rather finnicky. The Cadillac buzz saw wants to fight, but when, where and how he does not seem able to decide.

Only a few days ago Ad had Jimmy Coffroth, the San Francisco fight promoter, wiring all over the country for a suitable opponent for him for July 4. Now Wolgast is bitten by the ten-round "bug," and he is thinking of pointing this way to gather in some easy money. There is slightly less than a million lightweights in this town who would battle Wolgast at the drop of a hat.

The last time Tim Jones, manager of Wolgast, was here, he talked nothing but $10,000 purses. It was sweet tinglings to the ears to hear so much money handled so carelessly; but nothing ever came out of it. The fight managers would dearly love to have Wolgast battle around here, but he will have to come down in his figures before he can do so.

CANINE TRAVELER QUITS THE EXPRESS BUSINESS.

Woodbury, N. J., March 25.—Logo, the bulldog that has been traveling with the Adams express wagon in this city for several years, has given up his position along with Driver Ted Curtis, who enters another business. Logo probably has more friends in Woodbury than any other canine. Every boy and girl stops to pet him, or give him some tidbits, and when he gets hungry between meals the dog will stop at any house he fancies, and generally he gets something.

Logo came into the city a few years ago, and showed a liking for the express business, and Curtis took him in charge. The dog's face is good for a ride on any railroad train. When he feels like taking a ride he merely boards the express car, goes as far as he likes, and takes a return train, always getting off here.

When Curtis left the company Logo remained a few days, but has now forsaken the office and gone to Curtis' home.

CARLOAD OF FISH COMING

A carload of brook trout for the various Duluth streams will reach the city some time this evening for distribution. The fish were asked for by Game Warden Thomas Storey and are from the Glenwood, Minn., hatchery. Arrangements have been made for the care of the fish this evening, and early tomorrow the work of distributing them to the various streams will begin. They will be placed in Miller creek, Short Line creek, Lester river, French river and Sucker river.

In the shipment there are 160 cans, averaging 2,500 fish to the can. It will require about two seasons before the new stock will be ready for the line of the eager sportsmen.

Tonight at the Commercial club the Fish and Game Protective club will be organized, an organization that has as one of the causes of its being the enforcing of the various fish and game laws.

YALE PROFESSOR SAYS ATHLETES LIVE LONG.

New Haven, Cosn., March 25.—Prof. William Anderson, head of the Yale gymnasium, reports that his investigation of 10,922 Yale athletes from 1855 until the present time, the period covered by intercollegiate sport, shows that athletics do not have the effect of shortening life. He found few deaths from heart disease, and thereby exploded a theory that athletics often cause organic heart weakness.

The Yale athlete does not die young. Lung trouble is the cause of the greatest number of deaths, but the percentage of men dying from these causes is not greater than the expected deaths among non-athletes from similar causes.

WISCONSIN UNIVERSITY WANTS YOUNG ATHLETES.

Madison, Wis., March 25.—A policy of encouraging promising high school athletes to matriculate at the University of Wisconsin will be pursued by the athletic department through its Athletic Bulletin, which will be sent regularly to every high school in the state.

The purpose of the Bulletin in this regard will be to acquaint the secondary schools of Wisconsin with the real athletic advantages of Wisconsin, to furnish them with accounts of what is being done in the various branches of sport, and in every way to boost the university as a desirable place for the young man seeking both education and an athletic career. Coaches, captains and managers of high school teams will be encouraged to correspond with regard to athletic problems and the coaching staff of the university will furnish them with suggestions on training, coaching and selection of places.

Klaus vs. McGoorty.

Chicago, March 25.—Frank Klaus, victor over Jack Dillon at San Francisco on Saturday, and Eddie McGoorty, The Oshkosh, Wis., boxer, will meet in a twenty-round bout the middle of next month before Jimmy Coffroth's club at San Francisco. This announcement was made here yesterday by Marty Forkins, manager of McGoorty.

WEAK POLICY OF REFORM

Rev. W. H. Farrell Says Present Methods Do Not Help Young.

Advocates School for Truants as Better Than Reformatory.

Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, advocated a school for truants in Duluth in his sermon yesterday morning. The subject of the sermon was, "Saving The Boys in the City," and Rev. Mr. Farrell earnestly urged a better training system for the boys and girls, saying that it was poor policy to attempt to reform the young by sending them to prison or to a reformatory. The latter, he said, is often more likely to make more confirmed criminals of them.

"We must save the boys and girls in the formative periods of their lives," said Rev. Mr. Farrell. "Reformation through prison and mission is poor statesmanship, and utterly foreign to the gospel idea. Sending boys to Red Wing is more liable to make confirmed criminals than it is to reform them. To save them from Red Wing even seems to me the sensible thing. A truant school for Duluth would help to save the boys. Truancy is usually the first step the boy takes to go wrong.

"Los Angeles was credited with being the worst city in the United States for truancy. Schools were established with a man teacher for each 15 boys. The year preceding the establishment of these schools there were 59 cases in juvenile court. The second year there were 30; the third year there were three; this year so far none."

In citing Los Angeles as an example of the city that is dealing with its boys in a proper way, Rev. Mr. Farrell read a statement by Prof. Lickley of Los Angeles, head of the department of compulsory education, who explained the methods employed in his department and the various results shown so far.

"We had to do something to reduce the number of boys going before the juvenile court," said Prof. Lickley," and there seemed but one cure for that trouble, which we have at last found. The remedy for such cases lies in grouping the boys in small classes, never more than fifteen to a room, and putting them in charge of a man instructor who is in sympathy with the work. Not only must he know how to deal with boys, but he must be proficient in athletics to the extent that he can educate the boys in play as well as work.

"The school was conducted on the theory that if conditions are made right the boy will prefer to attend school rather than to play truant. And the remarkable feature of the work is that we have risen from the worst city in the United States to a point where but two other cities, Denver and Toledo, rank with us."

REV. STAUB PREACHES ON LOVE OF GOD.

Rev. W. L. Staub of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, conducted the services yesterday. The subject for the morning was, "Keep Yourselves in the Love of God," and in the evening he preached on "Father's Loving Heart."

"It is the nature of God to love," said Rev. Mr. Staub, "and he has manifested that love in mankind. He has made it natural for one to love, for love begets love, which is the aim of the Father above. The Almighty is kind and loving at all times, and it is this spirit that He would have inculcated in His children. A loving spirit tends to harmonize and to bring together the co-operative and friendly feeling of the multitude."

NEW LIGHTING SYSTEM FOR WESTERN SUBURBS.

A crew of linemen from the Duluth-Edison Electric company is at work in New Duluth this week putting in street lights for New Duluth and Gary. The residents claimed that the present lighting system was inadequate for the size of New Duluth. The matter was brought up at a recent meeting of the council when the lights were ordered installed in New Duluth and Gary, replacing the lights furnished by the Thompson Furniture company.

Mission Meeting.

"The Nile Country" will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Plymouth Home and Foreign Missionary society to be held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. M. Weaver, 611 West boulevard. Mrs. C. R. Keyes will lead the discussion. Mrs. Weaver will serve tea to the members of the society.

Rev. Krantz Returns.

Rev. J. A. Krantz, D. D., pastor of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street, and president of the Minnesota conference of Swedish Lutheran churches, returned Saturday evening from Valley City, N. D., where he installed a new pastor and conducted mission meetings for several days. On his return he conducted mission meetings at Oak Lake, Minn. Rev. Mr. Krantz will leave Wednesday for Minneapolis, where he will speak before the Young People's convention of the conference.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS LOSE

The five West Duluth rinks which visited Superior Saturday evening as the guests of the latter club were decisively beaten in the curling games following the banquet at the Superior Commercial club. Evered of the local club was the only man able to defeat his opposing rink. Following are the scores for the evening's games:

COMPLETE PLANS FOR POTATO WAREHOUSE.

Business men of Proctor and the farmers in that vicinity will hold a meeting this evening in the town hall, when the Proctor Co-operative Warehouse association will be fully organized and a representative will be appointed to visit Rush City, Minn., for the purpose of studying the warehouse there and securing the necessary plans for a similar building in Proctor.

The preliminary plans for the organization were made two weeks ago at the Proctor Commercial club when $500 was raised. The D. M. & N. railroad has already donated a site for the warehouse and the proposed plan has met with favor among the many farmers in the vicinity of Proctor. Permanent officers will be selected and a board of directors appointed; three from the country north of townships 49 and 50, three from the country south of these townships and three from Proctor.

The business men of Proctor are anxious to provide a place where farmers may store their potatoes and wait for a good market, instead of being obliged to sell them for any price obtainable at the time they are dug. The business men have pledged $1,500 for the building, which brings the total up to about $2,000.

The following temporary officers, who were chosen at the preliminary meeting, will be in charge of the meeting and election this evening: President, Charles Miller, Munger; secretary, James Grady, Hermantown; committee on organization, Henry Norman of Midway, Otto Witte of Hermantown, and H. H. Peyton of Proctor; committee on plans, P. McCabe, F. G. Sugg and Henry Riley.

Birthday Party.

Miss Mabel Folger of 4806 West Sixth street, was surprised at her home Saturday evening in honor of her birthday. The evening was spent in music and games, after which refreshments were served to the following guests: Misses Eeet Peterson, Alice Towne, Ruth Stenberg, Grace Olson, Mabel Folger, Hazel Moir, Ruth Kern, and Messrs. Edward Stenberg, Moritz Gauss, Carl Lindquist, Chauncey Larson, Kenneth Connors and Earl Blake.

Rehearsing Play.

The following members of the Midway Literary society are rehearsing for a play to be given early next month: Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Anderson, Miss Frances Anderson, Miss Inez Turnquist, Miss Helga Ekeroth, George Highmark, Joseph Highmark, Fred Hendrickson, Henry Norman and Eiler Ekeroth.

Surprise Party.

Miss Lillian Pearson of 4024 West Third street was surprised at her home Saturday evening by a number of her West Duluth friends. The rooms were tastefully decorated with white carnations and the evening was spent in music and games. The guests were: Misses Dorothy Bartling, Ruth Wicklund, Gertrude Ryan, Isabel Pierson, Goldie Briggs, Lillian Pierson, Esther Ayotte, Alida Anderson, Lizzie Carlson, Esther Lundquist; and the Messrs. William Pierson, George Ryan, Albert Pierson, Clifford Sampson and W. Pierson.

Dies in California.

Horace S Gates 72 years old, father of Mrs. A. L. Murray, 620 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, and Mrs. M. C. Murray, 419 North Fifty-fourth avenue west, died Saturday at Red Bluff, Cal., after an illness of two weeks. The body will be taken to Lisbon, N. D., his former home, for interment. His daughters left this morning for Lisbon to attend the funeral. He is survived by five daughters and two sons.

Curling Club Meeting.

The Western Curling club will hold its annual meeting and election of officers in the club rooms at Fifty-seventh avenue west and Bristol street, Tuesday evening, April 9. Plans will be made for the annual banquet and the changes to be made at the rink during the summer months.

Entertains Friends.

Miss Ann Craven of Smithville entertained a number of her friends at her home Saturday evening. The following guests were present: Mrs. Charles Lundquist, Mrs. Christ Mortensen, Mrs. L. Loeland, Misses Lillie Jundquist, Mabel Johnson, Myrtle Johnson, Clara Amundson, Pearl Amundson, Bertha Mortenson, Ragna Mortenson, and the Messers, Morris Mortenson, Wolmer Mortenson, Grant Peterson, George Peterson, Edwin Lundquist.

Ladies' Aid Meeting.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the New Duluth Congregational church was entertained Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. S. McKay. The afternoon was spent in sewing and games after which a luncheon was served to the following members: Mesdames William Thayer, L. A. Root, Robert Crager, Sherman Wiseman, L. S. McKay, Robert Broyer, and the Misses Sara Smith and Selma Linwell. The members will meet Thursday afternoon, April 4, at the home of Mrs. L. A. Root.

Officers Elected.

Mrs. Alta Wills of New Duluth entertained the Friendly circle at her home Saturday afternoon. A short business session was held and Miss Grace Bartz was elected president for the year, and Miss Louise Smith, secretary. A luncheon was served to the following members of the circle: Mrs. J. H. Lee of Woodland, Misses Ida Fischer, Emma Fischer, Florence Wills, Florence Olson, Nancy Widell, Vivian Crager, Grace Bartz, Louise Smith, and Lena Moe.

Mrs. Allen Clark of 916 North Fifty-sixth avenue west left last evening with her daughter, Mrs. Downing, to visit at the latter's home in St. Charles, Minn.

Watch repairing, Hurst, West Duluth.

Harry Ross, an 18-year-old boy, was arrested this morning by Patrolman Montgomery on a charge of having attempted to pass a forged check for $12 on the Waldorf Shoe company on West Superior street.

Harry was not arraigned in police court this forenoon but will be brought up at 2 o'clock this afternoon, at which time it is believed that he will waive examination and be bound over to await the action of the next grand jury.

The boy told the police that he has been unable to get any steady work all winter and that he tried to secure money on the worthless check in order to get enough cash to pay his fare to Reaumer, Minn., where he expected to have a friend who had offered him a job. The police state that his mother is a widow who has been making her living in the city by taking in washing.

The check was drawn on one of the blanks of the American Exchange bank. It was made payable to Ralph Gunderson and signed by Thomas Scarlett. Ross tried to pass the check in one or two places before he visited the shoe store. The work was so crude that he was immediately refused and in the last place the police were notified.

By paying $1 for admission to the dance at Sloan's hall in the West end last Saturday night one could not only dance as much as you pleased, but get all the drinks you wanted.

A blind pig was operated in connection with the dance and the admission fee covered all the expenses. The booze was being dispensed in a room just off the dance hall. The police heard about the entertainment and two men in plain clothes were sent out to investigate, finding the facts to be as stated.

Rudolph L. Lindquist, who was acting as the dispenser of the liquid refreshments, was arrested on a charge of selling liquor without a license. He pleaded guilty in police court today and paid a fine of $100. He claimed to be acting only as an assistant and denied that he was giving the dance, it is said that the same plan has been followed for some time past.

John and Minnie Esterlund, Fred Emerson and Lizzie Burke were having a high old time at a beer party on Lake avenue south last evening when the festivities were rudely broken up by the police. The four revelers were sent to the police station and booked for drunkenness. They admitted the allegation when brought into police court. Each of them was assessed $10 and costs, with the alternative of ten days in the county jail. The Burke woman said she had a job waiting for her and sentence was suspended.

Olaf Gafert and Al Nienhouse were in such bad shape, due largely to excessive exertions along the booze route, that they were ordered sent to the hospital by Police Surgeon Murphy when he was called in to examine them yesterday.

Annie Kersonarich was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of selling liquor without a license at 701 West Superior street. She pleaded not guilty and will be tried tomorrow afternoon.

This is the second time Annie has been in court, but in the first instance she was the complaining witness. She had her best boarder and partner arrested on a charge of having assaulted her. She claimed that he became so angry when she rejected his advances that he threw her on a bed with such force that the springs were smashed to the floor.

At that time Annie admitted that she was planning to get a divorce from her husband and that she admired the defendent enough to marry him.

George Zolais pleaded guilty in police court this morning to obstructing the street and paid a fine of $5 and costs. James Metsopoloulos did the same, but was assessed $15 and costs, as he had been warned several times that he was violating the ordinance. Both are street vendors who have popcorn stands in the downtown district.

Joe Bezon used some very bad language on the street Saturday night after he had had some trouble with a clerk in a Bowery clothing store. It appears that the clerk put him on the street and that he was taking his revenge on the atmosphere and the pedestrians who chanced to be within earshot. He was convicted in police court today and given $15 and costs or fifteen days in the county jail.

Frank Sheridan admitted that he had been begging on the street Saturday and was sent over the hill for five days in lieu of a fine of $5 and costs.

The police assert that after Tom Meyers had "stowed a few away" last Saturday night he became obsessed with the idea that he was on officer of the law and had to arrest somebody. It is claimed that he went into a Lake avenue saloon and ordered the crowd lined up against the mahogany to accompany him to the station. One of them called a genuine policeman, and in a short time Tom found himself behind the bars on a charge of impersonating an officer. He denied the charge in police court and will be tried this afternoon.

Herman Hermanson, accused of stealing $30 which Gust Anttila had left with him for safe keeping, asked for an examination when arraigned today. His hearing was set for tomorrow morning. It is asserted that he spent the money for booze.

Dan Crowley stated in court today that he had just come from the hospital, where he had two fractured ribs set, and that when he took a few drinks he became intoxicated. Sentence was suspended.

Richard Malcomson, a cement worker, was seen leading an English bulldog down Superior street today, and was arrested by Detective Irvine on a charge of having stolen the animal. The detective recognized the animal as the property of Dan Mahoney, a neighbor, who reported him missing several months ago. The dog is said to be valued at $50. Malcomson claimed that it had been given to him by a man who told him that he had brought it to Duluth from St. Paul. When Mr. Mahoney came into the station to claim his property the dog recognized him and showed his pleasure at the reunion by "jumping all over him."

Employe of St. Luke's Laundry Wants $15,000 for Loss of Arm.

Question of Whether It Is Charitable Institution Will Be Raised.

Is St. Luke's hospital a charitable institution and if such, can it be held liable for personal injuries to its employes?

This point of law will be raised and will be one of the issues involved in the case of Mary E. McInerny against the St. Luke's hospital association, which was put on trial in district court this afternoon.

Mrs. McInerny is sueing the hospital association for $15,000 damages claiming that she lost an arm as a result of an accident sustained by her while employed at the hospital laundry on Oct. 21, 1910.

Mrs. McInerny, the complaint states, was working near a mangle. The floor was wet and slippery, she says, and the mangle and steam-heated rollers were not properly guarded. She slipped and her arm was caught in the machinery. Burns and bruises received necessitated amputation.

This is said to be the first personal injury suit brought to trial in this state, in which the question had been raised as to the liability of charitable or semi-charitable institutions in personal injury actions. The plaintiffs claims it is not a charitable institution.

John Jenswold, Jr., is attorney for Mrs. McInerny and Baldwin & Baldwin are attorneys for the hospital association.

RAILROADS

CONTEST FOR CHILDREN

South Shore Will Offer Prizes for Competition in Agriculture.

Railroad Has Comprehensive Plan for Development of Northern Michigan.

E. W. McPherran, land commissioner of the South Shore road, is planning some novel garden contests for the boys and girls who live along the line of the road.

Just what the prizes will be or the exact nature of the contests have not as yet been worked out, but the plan will be something on the order of the competition held last year under the auspices of the Duluth Commercial club for the children of St. Louis county schools.

The South Shore will furnish the children with seeds and there will be prizes of some sort in the different classes.

The railroad company wants the children now growing up along the line to take farms instead of going to the city, as soon as they wish to branch out for themselves. The plan is to get them so interested in farming that they will wish to remain on farms.

"The children of the settlers are the future farmers," said Mr. McPherran this morning, "and we want to make the life attractive to them. It is only a question of time until life will be as attractive in the country as it is in the city. That is what we are working toward. We want the children reared in the country to have the same advantages as those brought up in the city. The country districts are rapidly developing and this change will soon come about.

Clubs are soon to be formed among the farmers along the line of the railroad. There will be potato clubs, garden truck clubs and other clubs formed after we know what the soil in the different localities will raise best. It will be to the farmer's own advantage to raise that which will do best on his land. The company plans on helping the farmer solve his problems in the way of what to grow, taking the class of his land into consideration.

Soon the spring meetings of farmers' clubs will begin in Northern Michigan, and Mr. McPherran with instructors from different agricultural colleges will be in attendance. These meetings are of great benefit to the farmer, for at them many of the problems which have troubled him are thoroughly explained.

With the coming of spring there is a great amount of activity along the line of the road. New settlers are coming in, although the rush just now is not as great as the officials expect it will be later.

FINED $20,000 FOR REBATING

Cleveland, Ohio, March 25.—The six dock companies and four railroads indicted by the feedral grand jury here last April for rebating, pleaded guilty before Judge Killits in federal court here. Each of the railroads excepting the Nickel Plate, was assessed fines which, with the fine imposed on each road's subsidiary dock companies aggregated $20,000. The Nickel Plate, because it controlled no dock company, was fined $10,000.

The railroads pleading guilty were: Pennsylvania, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, Bessemer & Lake Erie and Nickel Plate. The dock companies were: Angeline Dock company, Mahoning & Shenango Dock company, Ohio & Western Pennsylvania Dock company, Union Dock company, Ashtabula Dock company and the Pittsburg & Conneaut Dock company.

D. T. McCabe of Pittsburg, fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and D. R. Hanna and R. L. Ireland of Cleveland, respectively president and general manager of M. A. Hanna & Co., dealers in coal and iron ore, also were indicted with the ten corporations for conspiracy to rebate. Following a recommendation of the interstate commerce commission, the indictments against these individuals were noted when the incorporate defendants pleaded guilty.

FREIGHT HEARINGS IN NORTH DAKOTA

Bismarck, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three hearings will be held next week by the North Dakota railroad commission to determine whether "western classification No. 51," is operative against the best interests of the shippers of the state. The first of the hearings will be held in Minot on Thursday, April 4, the second in Grand Forks on Friday, April 5, and the third in Fargo on April 6. Previous to the Minot hearing the regular meeting of the commission will be held.

"Through intervention of the railroad commissions of several states, and associations of shippers, the classification in question was suspended for 120 days," says Thomas Hall, secretary of the North Dakota Grain commission. "The new classification proposes many changes in the classes under which commodities are shipped by freight and affects many lines of business in North Dakota.

PLANS LINE TO CANADA.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 25.—Following the recent announcement that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway purposed to spend $5,000,000 in improvements on its lines in the Northwest, especially in Iowa and Minnesota, it is announced here that the road has practically arranged to build a new line from Butte, Mont., into Canada. It is said that part of the proposed route has been surveyed, and that it will pass through the Flathead valley and into Alberta.

ADVANCED RATE ON CATTLE TOO HIGH

Washington, March 25.—The interstate commerce commission decided today that the proposed increase of 33 1-3 per cent in the transportation rate on "feeder" cattle and sheep made by all of the Western railroads was not justified. The commission expects all of the carriers to cancel the proposed advance by April 15. If they should fail to cancel them voluntarily the commission will issue a peremptory order.

Existing rates on "feeder" cattle are approximately 75 per cent of the rates on fat cattle. The railroads contended this low rate was a "gratuity" which they could withdraw at will. The commission declined, however, to approve the contention.

POSITIONS OPEN FOR RURAL CARRIERS.

On April 2 there will be held an examination at the local government building under the civil service commissioners for those who wish to enter the employ of Uncle Sam as rural mail carriers. Positions are said to be open at Duluth, Virginia and Hibbing.

The age limit is 18 to 55. The salary varies from $600 to $1,000 per year. The applicant must be an actual resident at the place he wishes to enter the service. The examinations are for men only.

Information may be obtained by applying in person at the local post-office or writing the civil service commissioner at the local government building.

GRAND FORKS COUNTY TO AID ASSOCIATION.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Forks county will affiliate with the North Dakota Better Farming association, the county commission making an appropriation of $3,000 late Saturday afternoon for that purpose.

The county aid was granted the movement after a series of conferences held in various sections of the county, and on the strength of a petition carrying 2,300 names, presented to the county commission.

MOB LYNCHES NEGRO AT FORT SMITH, ARK.

Fort Smith, Ark., March 25.—A mob broke into the city jail here and seized an unidentified negro who had previously shot and probably fatally wounded Deputy Constable Andrew Car. The black was dragged through the most prominent business street in town to the front of a hotel and hanged to a telephone pole. Five hundred men were in the mob. The police did not attempt to interfere with the mob.

"SPITE WORK" HER DEFENSE

Mrs. Eleanor Torrence Claims Charges Against Her Were "Trumped Up."

Faces Jury on Indictment for Stealing Goods Valued at $400.

THE JURY.

Frank Keating, 2 East Quince street.
J. H. Little.
John C. Wesenberg, 4518 Dodge street.
John Murphy, Gnesen, R. F. D. No. 3.
Murdoch McLean, 4324 Gilliat street.
R. C. Mitchell, 125 Anoka street.
William Dugan, 115 East Superior street.
John Soderbloom, Ninth avenue east and Fifth street.
John F. Roberts, 1207 East Fifth street.
Bruce W. Lindsay, 114 East Fourth street.
Olaf Severson, 117 North Twenty-first avenue west.
Joseph Rich, 102 West Michigan street.

Mrs. Eleanor Torrence, accused of stealing from her lodgers, was put on trial this afternoon in district court before Judge Dancer. The morning was given over to the selection of a jury and two panels were exhausted before twelve suitable men were chosen.

Mrs. Torrence is charged with grand larceny, second degree, by an indictment returned by the last grand jury. It is claimed that she took articles valued in the aggregate at about $400 from Mrs. Clara Harris and Mrs. Lila Breckenridge, both of whom had rooms in her house at 1311 East Second street.

Mrs. Torrence pleaded not guilty to the indictment. Her defense is that the charge has been trumped up against her by the women who have accused her of the crime and that the various articles she is charged with having taken were "planted" in her home. It is claimed that there was some trouble between Mrs. Torrence and the complaining witnesses, and it is her claim that the arrest was a piece of "spite work."

The defendant is the wife of A. W. Torrence, bookkeeper for the Duluth-Superior Dredging company, who was also present in the courtroom this morning. Assistant District Attorney Warren E. Greene is prosecuting the case for the state and Andrew Nelson is attorney for the woman.

The case in all probability will not go to the jury before Wednesday.

LOVESICK, NOT CRAZY

Judge Gilpin Refuses to Send Ennas Hanason to Asylum.

Love-sickness is not a form of insanity

At least, Judge of Probate Gilpin is not inclined to the idea of sending a man to the Fergus Falls mind-cure resort because he advertised for a wife in the newspaper.

And it will probably follow that Ennas Hanason, aged 23 and a Syrian, arrested yesterday at Alborn on the complaint of Miss Katherine Hammerstein, who says that he is "crazy," will be released from custody.

Judge Gilpin, up to a late hour this afternoon, had figured out no reason why Hanason should be brought into court and examined as to his sanity, and as yet has issued no warrant for his arrest.

If his erstwhile bride-to-be, can show to the court that the man is demented, the warrant will be issued and the examination conducted. The judge, however, does not feel justified in issuing the warrant on the story told by the woman.

The trouble all came about following a story which appeared in The Herald last week, in which the matrimonial inclinations of Mr. Hanason, were made public. Hanason wanted a wife and he wanted the facts advertised.

Among the many letters and answers which he received was this one:

"March 22.

"Dear sir: I saw your ad in the paper for a wife and I have decided to apply. I am a plain working girl and would like to get acquainted with you. I am of fair complexion and slight built and am staying at 4842 London road. Yours for an early answer, Kate.

"MISS KATHERINE HAMMERQUIST.

"4842 London road, Duluth, Minn."

Ennas met Katherine by appointment last Friday. They made arrangements to go to Alborn the next day. Alborn is Hanason's home town. He told her that he intended to get a job on the section there.

Katherine grew tired of the arrangement soon after she arrived at Alborn with her prospective husband and at the first opportunity, she telephoned for the sheriff, that his actions showed Hanason to be demented. A deputy was sent to Alborn and brought the man back.

CARMEN PLAN APPEAL TO THE SUPREME COURT.

St. Paul, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arrangements are being made to appeal to the state supreme court for an opinion as to the validity of the law prohibitng railway corporations from discharging men because they are members of an organized labor union. At a hearing in Crookston last week, R. L. Knebel, superintendent of the Great Northern railway, and G. W. Smith, master mechanic, were found not guilty of a violation of the law.

W. F. Houk, state labor commissioner, to whom members of the carmen's union appealed, is in conference with an officer of the union who proposes carrying a test case to the supreme court.

FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED

P. G. Nelson Was Overcome By Gas During the Night.

Following Investigation Coroner Says Indications Point to Suicide.

The body of P. G. Nelson, about 65 years old, was found in his room about 11 o'clock this morning by Charles Bergholm, with whom he had been boarding at 1830 East Water street.

Death is believed to have been due to coal gas asphyxiation. The remnants of a fire were found in the coal stove in the room and a strong odor of gas was noticeable.

Nelson retired last night as usual. This morning he did not arise at his usual time. About 10:30 o'clock Mr. Bergholm decided to make an investigation. He rapped and pounded on the door but obtained no response. Not knowing just what to do he telephoned to police headquarters and asked if he could break down the door. He was told to go ahead. Securing the assistance of a neighbor the door was broken down and the body found in bed.

Mr. Bergholm reported the matter to the police, who notified Coroner C. F. McComb, who made an investigation. The coroner said that the indications pointed to suicide.

Nelson was a laborer and had been in this part of the country a number of years. He has no immediate relatives and is single, as far as known. Last summer he was employed at Palmer and since Christmas he has been rooming at the home of Mr. Bergholm.

OPENING AT GLASS BLOCK

Music and Flowers Make Beautiful Setting for Style Show.

The Glass Block store, with its new line of spring and summer wearing apparel, hats, footwear, dress goods and accessories, is complete in every detail for the outfitting of the spring girl. Hundreds of women of Duluth were convinced of this today when they visited this shop, which, dressed in holiday attire, invited the public to call and admire. Easter lilies, branches of cherry blossoms, tulips and other cut flowers were gracefully arranged everywhere in the large store, and carnations were given to each visitor. With a delightful program of music, the setting was perfect for the display.

The long row of display windows contained models dressed in costumes which gave the shopper a very good idea of the lines carried throughout the shop.

One window featured the tan shades. A model wearing a dressy suit of soft brown was especially admired. The suit was made on the cut-away lines and was elaborately braided. A tan tailored coat was also shown here and a tailored suit of diagonal serge in an ecru color was also in this window.

A white serge suit with trimmings of Copenhagen blue satin on the skirt in the form of long loops around crystal buttons was displayed in the next window. This same silk appeared in the trimming of the jacket which was about thirty-two inches in length, the revers and collar being of this material. A young white serge coat of novelty weave was also pretty.

A demure grey crepe de meteor afternoon frock was also shown here. It was made with a flat panier effect over drape and a knife plaited frill of the same material about the hem. Over the waist a fichu of rich old silk lace gave a Quakeress effect to the costume.

In the next window two gowns of exquisite fashioning were shown. One of white satin was made on long straight lines the skirt being finished with a front panel ending in pointed scallops edged with silk fringe and a medium train edged with the fringe finished the back. An over dress of black net was draped on hanging to the knees, where a wide band of white lace edged with the fringe hugged the satin drop closely. A black velvet panel hung part way down in front from the waist line and a bow of the same was placed at one side of the back. The bodice of this gown was made in surplice effect one side of a beautiful primrose silk and the other of white lace all velled with the black net.

An attractive hat also shown here was of rose-colored straw with gray plumes nodding on top of the large rolling crown and cream lace encircling the brim and caught with a large brilliant buckle.

A black and white gown of marquisette and crepe with jet trimmings was also admired. With this gown a black Gainsborough hat with soft white plumes was displayed.

Shoes and Pumps.

The latest styles in shoes and pumps in black, white, tans and novelty makes filled another window.

The millinery department was particularly delightful to the visitors for an especially fine line of street and dress hats was displayed.

At the wash goods department the shopper was attracted with the unusually large display of fabrics. There were the cotton corduroys which are so popular this season, and the silk ginghams especially good for tub frocks. The embroidered voiles and embroidered batistes done in whites and dainty colors are pretty for lingerie gowns and exclusive patterns in bordered French weavings on the order of cotton voiles were greatly admired.

This formal opening will continue at this store through Wednesday and the shop will be open each evening from 7:30 to 10 o'clock when Flaaten's orchestra will play a program of music and flowers and refreshments will be given to the guests in the tea rooms.

IS FATALLY BURNED BY ESCAPING STEAM.

Mr. Linder is survived by a widow and two daughters.

FINE SHOWING OF SPRING STYLES

Silberstein & Bondy Store Is Thronged for Opening.

The Silberstein & Bondy company's fine shop on Superior street was thronged all day with visitors on this first day of their spring opening. With the first approach to the shop the visitor was charmed with the artistically arranged windows with their models displaying the latest arrivels in several lines.

In the west window one model displayed a maise chiffon gown over pink heavily beaded waist and long, gracefully draped skirt. The bodice was made up of large and small pearl and crystal beads with a glint of amber here and there toning in with the chiffon. A white cotton crepe gown trimmed with real Irish and Val. laces was attractive. The bodice was heavily embroidered and the skirt caught to one side displayed an inset lace panel. A black and white robe was given a central position. This was of lace and black jet over cream crepe-de-meteor.

In the suit window an extremely Frenchy model is observed of black and white check with navy blue panels set in on the side of the skirt. Another model is of Copenhagen blue serge, the bottom of the skirt and coat having an underfold of light gray. The coat is trimmed with self-colored buttons, and this trimming is also carried out in the skirt.

An extremely new model in white serge with a Russian coat effect is also shown. This is one of the latest ideas brought over. It is trimmed with wide flat silk braid, the large collar and revers being of cream satin.

Hints Admired.

The hats shown in the windows were particularly admired also. A chic little Marquis shape of cerise tagal braid, with the solitary adornment of one plume of the same color and a bit of lace peeping out from a fold in the straw, was exceptionally pretty. This is a good example of the scantily trimmed hats which are good this season.

Another hat displayed was a large black gainsborough trimmed with a white bird of Paradise. It was a stunning creation.

On entering the shop itself the decorations were particularly noticeable for their artistic arrangement. Window boxes filled with tulips and moss, large potted branches of cherry blossoms in box receptacles covered with birch bark, and cut flowers of all descriptions, American beauties, daffodils, tulips and sweet peas were profusely used. Oriental rugs scattered here and there about the store gave an added touch of elegance. Every sample was an example of the dressiest apparel or goods of each particular department.

On the main floor is an elaborate display of bordered chiffons, marquisettes, new crepe fillet, dresden and pompadour silks, soft whipcords in delicate shadings, beautiful patterns in macrame laces, baby Irish, rose point, point Venise and wide vals of scroll designs. The spring and summer wash goods are generally speaking of a flimsy nature, patterned largely in imitation of the more expensive silks with a tendency toward light shadings, pinks, rose shades, Holland blues, pearl grays and light greens.

The neckwear department featured specially large lace collars and cuffs in sets and single collars to be worn over street frocks or suits. Flowers, too, of satin, made so real in appearance one can scarcely tell whether they are natural or not, were shown to be worn singly or as boutonnieres.

The cloak room floor show consisted largely of elaborate lingerie frocks, satin and changeable silk wraps, white serge suits and coats and wonderfully dainty negligee and juvenile dresses.

The white serge section particularly attracted considerable attention and this firm evidently believes strongly in white for the coming season. White serge dresses particularly were featured in tailored and dressy effects.

Dresses in changeable silks were also in evidence and the lingerie section was a dream of fluffy laces and soft materials effectively combined.

The millinery department was like a gorgeous garden with its profusion of colors and flowers and original ribbon effects.

Scores of hats this season are trimmed with flowers, and such wonderful flowers have the manufacturers turned out that they seem real to the eye. The small flowers are especially good and among the newest and most popular ones are nasturtiums in various hues.

For street hats the English tailored effects are very good and original ribbon trimmings made a very attractive display of which the head of this department seems to be especially proud.

One unusual hat was a double brimmed affair the lower brim being of black straw and the upper one of rose-colored silk. It was of wide rolling shape with low crown trimmed with panne and bows of violet ribbon. Bows of the ribbon peeping out from between the two brims gave a pretty touch to this unique affair.

The visitors were particularly pleased with the whole exhibition.

Allouez Man Arrested.

Modest De Cock, a Belgian living at Allouez, was arrested Saturday evening on evidence secured by the police as to his part in a shooting affray which occurred at Allouez several days ago. It is said that De Cock shot a man in the back with a shotgun. The victim is not seriously wounded. De Cock was released on $100 bail.

Poultry Show Praised.

In the current issue of the American Poultry World a high tribute to the progressiveness of the Superior Poultry association officials is paid with reference to the annual show held early this winter by the society. A brief account of the entries and awards is given, together with a complimentary statement as to the recent incorporation of the society under the state laws.

Fifty Candidates.

In all likelihood there will be more than fifty names on April 2. Not counting the independent candidates who may come up between now and election, the total has reached forty-eight, which has made considerable work for the city clerk and his assistant.

Arraigned on Arson Charge.

Charles Lowe, who was tried in Duluth last week for alleged robbing of the Erickson tailor shop of West Duluth and who was acquitted Friday, was brought before the municipal court this morning to answer a charge of arson, preferred by Deputy State Fire Marshal Charles Good. The charge grows out of a fire at Lowe's home last December.

Fire Damages Home.

Fire supposed to have originated from an overheated stove, did approximately $300 damage to the two-story frame residence at 1527 Elmira avenue yesterday morning. The lower part of the structure was well gutted by water, while the upper part was damaged by smoke.

TUGS BEING FITTED OUT

Will Be Ready for Ice-Breaking Work If Needed.

The tugs of the Union Towing & Wrecking company are being made ready for the summer work.

Just how soon they will be in commission is not known. Several of them could be pressed into service at the present time, but in spite of the fact that there is much talk of a rush season, here have been no orders as yet for ice breaking.

At this period of the season other years when the season looked brisk ahead, many of the companies found it necessary to move boats and it was then necessary to break the ice around them and to the point to which they were to be taken.

The Minnesota, the most powerful of the local ice-breaking tugs, is being overhauled. A new steering gear is being installed in the Sinclair.

The America, Goulder, D. T. Helm, Record and Carrington are being put in shape. The Halliday and Carrington have been utility tugs for the past two years and neither one of them has been used to any great extent.

The shop of the Union Towing company at the foot of Sixth avenue west is a busy place these days as repair work is being done on every boat owned by the company.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE OFFICIALLY ENDS

A dispatch from Cleveland states that the strike which has been in progress three years has been called off by the members of the Lake Seamen's union.

The end of the strike has come officially as the result of a referendum vote, it is claimed, the men at the different ports deciding to go back to work.

When the strike was first declared 15,000 men were involved, but a great part of them went back to work during the last two years, and others went into other lines.

When the trike was at its height it was marked by much violence, particularly at lower lake ports.

MASTERS AND ENGINEERS

The appointments of masters and engineers have been made by the Mutual Transit company for the season. They follow:

Steamer, North Star: master, E. B. Blair; chief engineer, E. T. Everill.

Steamer, North Sea: master, E. C. Leath; chief engineer, G. G. Randall.

Steamer, North Lake: master, Peter Thompson; chief engineer, W. E. Farr.

Steamer, Northern King: master, W. H. Stevenson; chief engineer, R. C. Stewart.

Steamer, Northern Queen: master, George B. Crawford; chief engineer, Gilbert McPhail.

Steamer, Northern Wave: master, Niel Anderson; chief engineer, Wallace Lockhart.

TWO STEAMERS CHARTERED

Because the officials of the company believe that the coming season is to be a "boomer" in the line of package freight, the Port Huron and Duluth Steamship company has chartered the steamers Syracuse and Boston from the Western Transit company.

These boats with the steamer Lakeland will complete the fleet of the company for the season of 1912. The business of the company has been steadily increasing, and as the opening will be late this year, it is thought that the boats will be rushed until the close next fall.

CHICAGO AFTER FREIGHT HARBOR

Chicago, March 25.—Chicago and Indiana clashed today over the location of the main freight harbor for Chicago in a hearing before a committee of six United States engineers of the war department. Governor Marshall of Indiana advocated the establishment of the lake freight harbor at Indiana Harbor and the deepening of the Calumet river.

"Indiana Harbor is the logical place for the principal freight harbor in view of its interchanging water conditions," said Governor Marshall. "There is no other point that could serve the district as well."

The Chicago real estate board, the Chicago plan commission, the sanitary district and other Chicago organizations were represented at the meeting and presented a measure favoring revision of the recommendations of Col. Zinn and advocating the location of the harbor at Chicago.

Governor Marshall coincided almost entirely with the recommendations of Col. Zinn.

VESSEL OWNER RETURNS FROM EAST.

Further than saying that one concern which owns both boats and mines has attempted to cut the price of ore and ore rates, G. A. Tomlinson, who returned Saturday from the East, would not discuss the question of the price of ore or ore rates.

"I do not pretend to be posted on iron or prices," he said. Mr. Tomlinson stated, however, that he did not believe that the cut rate in ore would become the season rate.

GENERAL INDIAN PROBE PLANNED

House Committee Decides to Start on It Next Week.

Washington, March 25.—The house committee on expenditures in the interior department today decided to conduct a full investigation into the Indian bureau, embracing all the reservations and their administration. The inquiry will be conducted by the full committee and hearings will begin next week.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF— THE WAYNE COMPANY.

We, the undersigned, hereby associate ourselves together and agree upon and adopt the following Certificate of Incorporation, under the provisions of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of the State of Minnesota for the year 1905 and the acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be THE WAYNE COMPANY.

The principal place of transacting its business shall be at Duluth, Minnesota.

The general nature of its business shall be buying, owning, holding, selling, leasing, exchanging and dealing in lands, tenements and hereditaments; the selling of lands to actual settlers, and the encouragement and promotion of the colonization, settlement, improvement and cultivation of lands for agricultural purposes; and the buying, selling and dealing in personal property of any and all kinds; the loaning money on security or otherwise, and improvement of lands by the erection and construction of buildings and structures thereon for any and all purposes; owning, developing and operating mines and quarries; and the doing of all such other acts and things necessary or incidental to the carrying on of any of said business.

ARTICLE II.

The period of its duration shall be thirty (30) years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators are as follows:

William P. Harrison, Duluth, Minnesota.

Grace Weiss, Duluth, Minnesota.

Francis H. De Groat, Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE IV.

The management of this corporation shall be vested in a Board of Directors consisting of three members. The names and addresses of the persons constituting the Board of Directors until the first election are as follows:

William P. Harrison, Duluth, Minnesota.

Grace Weiss, Duluth, Minnesota.

Francis H. De Groat, Duluth, Minnesota.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of this corporation for the election of directors and transaction of other business shall be held on the third Wednesday in December in each year, at such place within the State of Minnesota as the Board of Directors may from time to time determine by by-laws or resolution. The first annual meeting shall be held on the first day of April, 1912, at ten o'clock A. M., in Room 606 Torrey Building, Duluth, Minnesota, without notice.

ARTICLE V.

The amount of capital stock of this company shall be Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000) divided into Twenty-five Thousand (25,000) shares of the par value of Two Dollars ($2.00) each, to be paid in as the Board of Directors may determine.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject is Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000).

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We have hereunto set our hands and seals this 21st day of March, A. D. 1912.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

STATE OF MINNESOTA, STATE AUDITOR'S OFFICE, St. Paul, March 4, 1912.

Notice is hereby given that on April 17, 1912, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the office of the County Auditor, at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the State of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from date of sale to June 1, 1913, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale. The rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year, provided the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from the date of sale, the rate of interest will be computed at five per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at time of sale.

Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

Not more than 320 acres can be sold or contracted to be sold to any one purchaser.

Lists of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the State Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

SAMUEL G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

RECEIPTS STILL GOOD

Wheat Continues to Come in in Large Volume—Prices Go Lower.

Revival of Business Improves Flax Demand—Values Close Higher.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 25.—Led by the Chicago market, wheat prices on all the leading markets of North America took a drop today. The predictions of a scarcity of wheat in the United States have caused a great deal of solicitude, but they have not prevented a steady stream of wheat, almost uniformly larger than a year ago, from pouring in upon the various markets of North America from the American farms. There have been repeated statements, based on high authority, to the effect that the farmer of North America has not much wheat, but he keeps on sending it nevertheless.

Duluth May wheat closed today at a decline of ⅜c. Chicago May had a decline of ½c. There were also lower closes at Minneapolis and Winnipeg. Duluth cash wheat closed ½c over May. Durum closed ¼c off and oats ⅛c up. Rye and barley were unchanged.

Wheat was inclined to go lower on the markets of North America this morning and at noon today showed some falling off. Duluth May wheat, which closed Saturday at $1.07⅜ bid, opened today at the same figure bid, and at noon today was quoted at $1.07 asked. There were lower quotations also from Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg. Chicago seemed to lead the decline, showing quite a reaction from its recent bullishness.

The bearish tone of the markets of North America seemed to be due in some measure to the large primary wheat receipts of America, which, though smaller than those of a week ago, were considerably larger than those of a year ago. Manitoba had a fair export movement in Europe and the congestion was reported to be not nearly so serious as it was some days ago. Still, this was counteracted to some extent by the report of a larger Canadian visible supply than there was a week ago. In the United States the visible supply was reported to have fallen off, but not any more than had been expected. The decrease was not a bullish factor.

Most of the foreign cables were bullish. Buenos Ayres wheat opened this morning unchanged to ⅝c higher. The news from Liverpool was decidedly bullish. There was considerable alarm on the market over the decrease of the British stock of wheat and reports of light Continental stocks, Argentine offers were firmer, France was reported to be buying Pacific coast cargoes.

Improved Flaxseed Demand.

Better business conditions over the country at large have been causing an increased demand for paint and linseed oil factories have been selling more of their product. As a natural consequence they have become better customers on the flaxseed markets, though their buying is still "from hand to mouth." There was a better demand on the Duluth market this morning than there has been for some time. Buenos Ayres April flaxseed closed last Saturday at $1.76, being 1¾c lower, but at noon today, Winnipeg May was reported 1c up at $1.89½. Duluth May was ½c up at noon today. July was unchanged.

FLAXSEED.

Flaxseed on the Duluth market has had rather a bullish week. This was not owing to keenness of demand, but to slackness of receipts. As the tables below show, the receipts of domestic flaxseed were considerably less last week than they were during the week before. For a long time there has been a steady decline of receipts of domestic flaxseed, which is about the only flaxseed that is handled at all on the Duluth market. There have been receipts of bonded flaxseed on the Duluth market, but that seed is not brought here, as a rule, to be sold, but merely for sorage. For the most part, it has been sold on the Winnipeg exchange, long before it gets to Duluth. American crushers prefer to buy it up there. They do not care to buy it on the Duluth market, for that would have a tendency to pull down the price at Duluth, the Canadian seed being cheaper. By doing their buying of Canadian seed at Winnipeg, and shipping it in bond to the Duluth elevators, they can easily bid up the price of American seed on the Duluth market, because there is very little seed on the market. The narrower the market is, the easier it is to bid any commodity up or down. Last Saturday, flaxseed on the Duluth market was bid up very rapidly just before the close. Earlier in the day, it had shown a decided tendency to sag, on account of bearish news from Buenos Ayres. The crushers want to keep the Duluth flax seed market high, in order to have a high basis on which to sell their oil.

The average of the closing prices of Duluth cash flax for the week ending last Saturday is $2.08¼, against an average of $2.04 for the week before, $2.03 the week before that and $2.01 for the week before that.

Minneapolis has been receiving most of the flaxseed that is shipped from the Northwestern American country. It is nearly always the case at this time of the year, when navigation is closed, and Minneapolis is running her oilseed mills. During the week ending last Saturday Duluth received 28 cars of American flaxseed against 10 cars during the corresponding period of last year and Minneapolis received 98 cars against 58 last year.

It will be noticed by the tables that while the receipts of bonded flax have been increasing, the shipments have been falling off. The quantity of bonded flax, piled up in the Duluth elevators, has been steadily increasing.

Movements that have taken place on the Duluth flaxseed market during the week ending last Saturday are told in figures in the tables following:

MARKET GOSSIP

That there is no embargo on the shipment of Western Canadian grain to the elevators of Duluth and Superior, has not been and will not be during the present season is now the general opinion of Duluth grain dealers and elevator men. Large quantities of grain are coming and they seem to be on the increase. At the same time it is also true that the shipment of bonded grain has also been on the increase. Vast amounts are being hauled out of Duluth by rail, bound for the Atlantic coast to be exported to Europe. Today the receipts of bonded grain were reported to be about 450,000 bu, while the shipments were nearly 200,000 bu. This meant an increase of 250,000 bu of bonded grain in the Duluth elevators, but it meant the business of two days, for Sunday's receipts and shipments were included. Figures show, however, that for several days the bonded grain has been piling up in the Duluth elevators about the rate of 200,000 bu a day, perhaps somewhat more. If it keeps on accumulating at this rate, it will take about thirty days to fill up the 6,000,000 bu of capacity that the Duluth and Superior elevators now have, approximately, available for the bonded grain, making due allowance for what extra room is needed for grading. Whether navigation will be open about that time remains to be seen. But the Duluth elevator men do not seem at all worried about getting more grain from Western Canada than they can handle. They say that boats will be moving about the bay before navigation opens, and just as soon as they can move about the bay, grain can be loaded into them. It is estimated that these boats have capacity for about 10,000,000 bu of grain. They would thus afford a ready and easy means of relieving the Duluth and Superior elevators in case these should become overcrowded.

The Minneapolis Commercial West sums up the flaxseed and linseed oil situation as follows:

"There is a very fair demand for linseed oil; in fact, it approaches the seasonable demand that is expected at this time of the year. Crushers look for a continuance of a fair inquiry for oil, as stocks in every position have for months been very low, and when building operations begin it will be rather difficult to meet the actual consumptive requirements. Raw linseed oil in car lots, f. o. b. Minneapolis, is nominally quotable at 67c, but it can be bought cheaper, as some of the crushers seem a little anxious to sell and they are working on a little different basis than if they were required to buy flaxseed at the present time. As regards supplies of flaxseed, the situation looks decidedly serious, as no one can see where the supplies are coming from to meet actual consumptive requirements of linseed oil. There is very little flaxseed left in the Northwest, excepting some supplies on the other side of the line, at Winnipeg, which will be shipped down to this market, doubtless this spring. Demand for oil meal continues good, though prices have fallen off $1.50 a ton and meal is now quotable, f. o. b. Minneapolis, at $34.50. Oil cake is now quiet, with only a small demand for either prompt or deferred shipment. About $31 is the best that can be had for cake for May shipment."

Clearances: Wheat, 186,000 bu; flour, 22,000 bbl; wheat and flour equal, 285,000 bu; corn, 17,000 bu; oats, 100 bu.

The Bartlett-Frazier company wired from Chicago: "Crop reports continue to come very low on wheat in Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri, with claims for winter killing increasing as the weather softens up. Oklahoma reports are also complaining of material damage during the past three weeks from freezing and thawing. Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska are the only important states showing up better than last year. While it is too early to speak definitely, it is certain that wheat damage this winter is much greater than usual and the abandoned acreage will be large."

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Easier and Short Side Leads in Popularity.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 25.—The wheat market was easier today. Trading is still of small volume and the short side was most popular. Minneapolis was relatively weaker than outside domestic markets. May closed ½c lower than Saturday. July ⅜ @ ½c lower, and September ½c lower. Local elevator stocks of wheat decreased 100,000 bu for two days.

Car lot receipts follow: Minneapolis, today 367, week ago 408, year ago 346; Duluth, today 24, week ago 25, year ago 7; Winnipeg, today 384, week ago 667, year ago 625.

Cash in good demand again today and market was about steady. Offerings more liberal and mills active buyers. No. 1 northern sold for 1½c to 2c above May contract.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 2,574 tons. Bran in good demand. Other feeds slow sales. Prices unchanged.

Wheat: May opened $1.07⅛, high $1.07⅛@1.07¼; low $1.06¼, closed $1.06½. July opened $1.08½, high $1.08½@1.08⅝, low $1.07⅝, closed $1.07⅞@1.08. September closed $1.00⅜ nominal.

Closing cash: No. 1 hard $1.08½; No. 1 northern $1.08, to arrive $1.08; No. 2 northern, $1.06, to arrive $1.06; No. 3 wheat $1.04. No. 3 yellow corn, 70@70½c. No. 3 white oats, 52@52½c. No. 2 rye, 88c.

Bran in 100-pound sacks, $25.00@25.50.

Flour — The flour market was quoted steady today; demand was generally slow; although occasionally a fair sale was reported. Shipping directions continued active and prices unchanged. Shipments, 48,743 bbl. First patents, $5.00@5.30; second patents, $4.65@4.90; first clears, $3.40@3.75; second clears, $2.30@2.70.

Barley — Receipts, 15 cars; year ago, 85; shipments, 26. All malting barley was in good demand. Other grades slow sales. Prices unchanged. Closing range, 70c@$1.26.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Are Stronger on Reports of European Stocks.

Chicago, March 25.—In view of a disturbing fall in the amount of wheat on hand at Liverpool and the lightness of stocks elsewhere in Europe, prices here today showed additional strength. A firm attitude on the part of the big holders of the May option contributed also in the direction of an upturn. Offerings were far from plentiful and came briefly from small speculators who desired to realize profits. The opening was a shade off to ⅛@¼c higher. May started at $1.03⅛@1.03¼ to $1.03¾, unchanged to ⅛@¼c up, and rose to $1.03⅝.

Business later shifted a good deal to the July future. In consequence, the market as a whole eased off. The visible supply decrease was less than expected. Closing figures were easy with May at $1.02¾, a decline of ⅞@1c net.

Commission house demand proved sufficient to advance corn. Wheat strength and meager world shipments appeared to influence the buying. May opened the same as Saturday night to ¼c dearer at 72@72¼c touched 71⅞c and rallied to 72⅛.

A further gain was scored on account of good demand Southwest, but prices afterward weakened because of bearish advices from New England. The close was at 72⅛c for May, ⅛c above Saturday night.

Leading concerns were conspicuous on the bull side of oats. Pit traders, however, displayed considerable pertinacity in opposing the efforts to lift the market. May started a sixteenth to ⅛@¼c higher at 53¾@53⅞c and seemed unable to move above the last named figures.

The larger run of hogs here and West received little attention from provision dealers. A notable absence of selling pressure had more effect and resulted in making product more costly. Initial sales varied from a shade down to 12½c advance, with July delivery $16.85 for pork, $9.77½ for lard, and $9.45@9.47½ for ribs.

Cash grain: Wheat—No. 2 red, 1.03¼ 1.04; No. 3 red, $1.00@1.03; No. 2 hard, $1.03¾@1.06; No. 3 hard, $1.00@1.05; No. 1 northern, $1.11@1.14; No. 2 northern, $1.08@1.12; No. 2 spring, $1.02@1.09; No. 3 spring, $1.00@1.09; No. 4 spring, 95c@$1.06; velvet chaff, 95c@$1.08; durum, 95c@$1.06.

BIG BUYING MOVEMENT

Stock Operations on Greater Scale Than for Many Months.

Some of Leaders Lose Practically All of Their Early Advance.

New York, March 25.—Last week's buying movement was resumed at the opening of today's stock market. The features were United States Steel, which opened with a block of 9,000 shares at 69½ to 69¾, a maximum advance of almost a point, and American Smelting, which sold up to 88¾, compared with 85⅞ last Saturday. There were one point gains in National Lead, Utah Copper, Great Northern Ore certificates and Western Maryland. The Harriman stocks, Reading, Lehigh Valley, Rock Island, Norfolk & Western and Pennsylvania all rose substantially.

The enthusiasm of the opening was fairly well maintained during the first hour in which United States Steel and Reading went to the best prices of the year, while American Smelting and some of the metal issues rose to higher quotations than were obtained in 1911. Profit-taking brought considerable irregularity and much of the initial rise was lost, some stocks, including New York Central and General Electric, selling under last week's close. Another buying movement followed the decline, sending some stocks, notably Union Pacific, in the railway group, and American Can common and preferred, in the industrials, higher than before.

Operations during the early session were on a scale such as the market has not witnessed in many months. The further advance took a large part of the professional element by surprise, that faction having looked for a reaction because of the relative backwardness of the standard stocks. As each buying movement seemed to exhaust the demand it was followed by another rise, especially in the metal stocks which easily reassumed leadership. There were some evidence of pool manipulation in minor issues with indications of steady profit-taking elsewhere but the effect on the list as a whole was unimportant.

Bonds were firm.

After the realizing sales pressing on the market had been absorbed, the advance again was resumed in a spirited fashion with the copper issues the leaders. Copper metal was advanced again and American Smelting greeted this announcement with a jump to 89⅜, a rise of 3½.

Railroad stocks figured more prominently in the dealings, a jump of 2½ in Missouri Pacific drawing attention to other low priced stocks. Reading increased its gain to 3 points but there was persistent profiting-taking in United States Steel and some of the Western railroad issues.

The market closed steady. The movement made its first impressive pause in the last hour at which time such leaders as United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper and Union Pacific had lost practically all of their early advance. Reading was the most striking exception to the reactionary tendency, aside from another spurt in American Car common.

London Stocks.

London March 25.—American securities opened steady today. The coppers were active leaders during the early trading and most of the list advanced a fraction. At noon the market was steady, with prices ranging from unchanged to ½ higher than Saturday's New York closing.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., March 25.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Trade today was on a rather quiet basis. Sales being limited to small retail orders for farm mares and chunks from upcountry farmers, and matched draft and delivery horses for use in the cities. Mules continue quiet, although there were a few lookers for them, none of whom filled their orders today. Heavy consignments of horses continue to arrive from the logging woods. Values as follows:

Drafters, extra	$190@250
Drafters, choice	120@190
Drafters, common to good	90@120
Farm mares and horses, extra	145@180
Farm mares and horses, choice	115@145

Drivers and saddlers	110@200
Mules, according to size	150@240

Cotton Market.

New York, March 25.—The cotton market opened barely steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 3 points which was considered a very poor response to the cables, and prices sold off to a net loss of 3 or 4 points on the active months shortly after the opening as a result of renewed realizing and local selling based on prospects of clearing weather in the belt following the rains of Saturday or Saturday night, and private cables from London reporting that the labor conference had adjourned without a settlement.

Offerings were well taken on this setback with some buying inspired by bullish construction of the census figures on supply and distribution and the market later in the morning was nervous and irregular within a point or two either way of Saturday's closing figures.

Spot, closed quiet, 5 points lower; middling uplands, 10.60; middling gulf, 10.85. Sales, 1,700 bales.

Futures closed barely steady; bids: March, 10.32; April, 10.29; May, 10.38; June, 10.43; July, 10.50; August, 10.51; September, 10.50; October, 10.57; November, 10.59; December, 10.68; January, 10.58; February, 10.57.

COPPERS CLIMB STILL HIGHER

This was another very bullish day for the copper stock market. Most of the active listed shares made good gains over the closing figures of Saturday, though those were boom figures. The strength of the copper stock market is based mainly on the high and increasing cost of copper metal. Today New York had copper selling at 15⅜c. There was a copper boom in London, where today spot and futures closed at a gain of £1 6s 3d over Saturday's close. The general stock market of New York was strong and exceedingly active. About 1,250,000 shares changed hands today. It was not long ago that 250,000 shares was an ordinary day's business. This activity, of course, helped to stimulate business on the copper share market.

Calumet & Arizona again made a big gain today, closing more than $2 higher than on Saturday. Good gains were made by Shattuck, Greene Cananea and Chief Consolidated. Most curb stocks have not yet followed the listed ones in the bullish movement. When the listed shares boom, the holders of the curbs usually stop business for a while to look on. For that reason the curbs do not follow the market promptly.

COTTON DUTIES ARE TOO HIGH, SAYS TARIFF BOARD AND TAFT PROPOSES CUT

TRANSMITS REPORT TO CONGRESS

Asks for $60,000 to Continue Work of Investigating Schedules.

Some Cases of Lower Cost in America Than Abroad Are Found.

Middleman's Profit Is Declared Big Factor in American Prices.

Washington, March 26.—President Taft today transmitted to congress the tariff board's report on the cotton schedule, with the recommendation that that section of the tariff law be taken up with a view to revision and reductions in the rates of duty.

The president advises congress that the board's investigations have shown that the duties on some cotton yarns are two and three times in excess of the difference of the cost of production in the United States and abroad. The duties imposed because of finishing processes are in excess of the difference in the extra cost due to finishing, and are often in excess of the total domestic cost of finishing.

Prices paid by consumers in the United States are higher than abroad, even when prices received by manufacturers in both places are the same. This is said to be due to the higher cost of distribution here.

Asks Money for Board.

Plain cloths are as cheap here as anywhere, but on fancy fabrics the duties are in excess of the differences

HARD COAL CASE DECISION SOON

Supreme Court May Hand Down Its Opinion Next Monday.

Washington, March 26. — With the world awaiting to see if the American coal mines are to be closed by a general strike, the supreme court of the United States next Monday may contribute to the situation by announcing its decision in the "hard coal" case.

Most of the other long standing cases of difficulty have been decided, leaving the court almost free during the present recess to devote itself to solving the intricate problems involved in the suit of the government to dissolve the alleged illegal combination of railroads and their subsidiary coal companies in Pennsylvania's anthracite region.

SAY RAISE IS IMPOSSIBLE

Coal Operators Insist They Cannot Advance Miners' Wages.

Asquith Announces Failure to Settle British Labor Dispute.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 26.—Differences between the coal miners and operators over the question of new wage agreements, involving the possibility that more than 450,000 miners will quit work next Monday, when their present wage scales expire, today appeared to be no nearer a settlement.

The conference of the miners and operators of the bituminous fields of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, reconvened after adjournment since last Friday, but owing to the non-arrival of some of the delegates a recess was taken until this afternoon.

The operators issued a statement through J. C. Kolsen of Terre Haute, Ind., their spokesman, saying the owners would make no offer other than to extend the present wage agreement for another two years. This was the position they took when they adjourned last week after the conference had come to a deadlock.

Strike Rather Than More Pay.

The operators' statement follows:

"A strike is preferable to the grant-

PROMISED SQUARE DEAL IN INDIANA CONVENTION

HARRY S. NEW,
Republican National Committeeman for Indiana.

State Convention Instructs Four Delegates at Large for Taft.

Rump Convention By Teddy's Backers—Primary in New York.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 26.—The Indiana Republican convention adopted a resolution instructing the state's four delegates-at-large to the national convention to vote for the renomination of President Taft. National Committeeman Harry S. New, Former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks, James E. Watson and Joseph D. Oliver were elected delegates. The Taft faction had a majority of 105 over the supporters of Col. Roosevelt.

The Roosevelt delegates held a separate convention in the rear of the hall upon the adjournment of the regular convention and elected as delegates-at-large Former Senator A. J. Beveridge, Fred Landis, Edwin M. Lee and Charles H. Campbell.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 26.—By a vote of 772 to 667 the Indiana Republican convention for the election of four delegates at large to the national convention today tabled the minority report of the credentials committee seating contesting Roosevelt delegates.

Taft and Roosevelt forces had prepared to fight every inch of the way in today's convention.

HARMON NOT IMPOSSIBLE

Abbot Shows Why Ohio Governor May Be Presidential Nominee.

For This Reason, Bryan's Attack Does Not Meet Approval.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. Bryan's attack upon Governor Harmon last week finds no approval among Democrats here—not even among those who are advocating the nomination of some candidate other than the Ohio governor. For thus far there has been among the champions of the various aspirants a studious effort to avoid anything like malicious attack upon a rival. No one who has visited the Underwood, Harmon, Wilson and Clark headquarters here can fail to be impressed with the care being taken on the part of the managers of each to avoid any utterance that would give aid and comfort to the Republican enemy in the event of any nomination. Mr. Bryan, however, by his explicit denunciation of Harmon as "the Wall Street candidate" has put himself in a

THREE STEAMERS BATTLE WITH ICE

Passengers on Lake Michigan Boats Have Ample Provisions.

Chicago, March 26.—Three steamers which were caught in the ice off Evanston last night were reported six mile south in the lake today, battling with the ice floes in an attempt to reach Chicago. An unbroken stretch of ice separated the vessels from port, and there seemed no hope of reaching the city before evening unless the wind should shift.

Fears for the safety of the 150 persons aboard were allayed by wireless messages. All the boats are well provisioned and coaled, and those aboard are suffering no hardships.

The marooned steamers are the Racine of the Northern Michigan Transportation company and the Alabama and Georgia of the Goodrich Transit fleet.

Later a shift in the wind freed all three steamers and they all were soon safely docked.

POPE PIUS FORCED TO SUSPEND AUDIENCES.

Rome, March 26.—The condition of Pope Pius today is practically unchanged. It is now expected that the suspension of the general audiences of the pontiff will be extended until after Easter, so as to give him a thorough rest.

MINE BLAST ENTOMBS 79

Ten Men Taken Out Alive From West Virginia Coal Workings.

One Body Recovered, But Others May Be Saved From Death.

Welch, W. Va., March 26.—An explosion in the mine of the Jed Coal & Coke company at Jed, six miles south of here, today imprisoned seventy-nine men, of whom up to noon ten had been taken out alive and one dead.

Rescuing parties are making frantic efforts to reach the other miners and there are high hopes that with a few exceptions the remaining sixty-eight may be recovered alive.

The cause of the explosion is not yet known.

Two mine rescue cars have been ordered to Jed by the bureau of mines, the first being due shortly after 2 o'clock from St. Paul, Va.

The state mine inspector already is on the scene.

MURDERER OF FOUR HANGED

Recites Twenty-Third Psalm as He Stands Beneath Gibbet.

Maryville, Mo., March 26. — Hez Rasco, murderer of the Hubbell family of four, was hanged in the yard of the county jail at 6 o'clock this morning. Rasco protested his innocence on the scaffold and recited the twenty-third psalm.

Rasco murdered Mr. and Mrs. Oda Hubbell and their two small children at their home near Guilford, Mo., on Nov. 20, 1910, and then set fire to the house to cover the crime. Bloodhounds, taking the scent at the scene of the crime, followed a trail to Rasco's room in his father's home, where a bloodstained pair of his overalls was found. Rasco was spirited to St. Joseph to prevent a lynching. The motive assigned by the state was Rasco's desire to recover money won from him by Hubbell in a poker game.

Rasco when 16 years old was convicted of the murder of a woman by striking her with a stove hearth, and served ten years in prison. Later he served two years for horse stealing.

Warning to Young Men.

The letter written by Rasco to Reverends Miller and Miller, his spiritual advisers, to be opened after the execution, and which was believed to be a confession, simply thanks them for the comfort they had given him and for "showing him the way to everlasting life." It closes with a warning to young men to abstain from gambling, especially with cards; to shun bad company, and to leave liquor alone.

WORKS TWO HOURS ON NEW JOB; IS KILLED.

Chicago, March 26. — Two hours after Louis Poley, a bricklayer, started to work today on a skyscraper in the downtown district, he lost his balance on a scaffold at the tenth floor and fell to his death on the street.

SOO TRAIN GOES INTO THE DITCH

Belgrade, Minn., March 26.—Passenger Train No. 106, eastbound, on the Soo line, was wrecked early today three miles east of here, six cars leaving the track, some of them rolling down a twenty-foot embankment. A dozen people are injured but only one seriously, A. Linderholm of this place receiving serious cuts about the head.

The accident is supposed to have been caused by a defective rail.

Famous "Immunity Bath" Figures in History of the Case.

Chicago, March 26. — "Not guilty" was the verdict which the jury returned today in the trial of the ten Chicago packers accused by the government of violation of the criminal sections of the Sherman anti-trust act.

The verdict was returned before United States District Judge Carpenter after the jury had deliberated more than nineteen hours.

All the defendants were in court when the verdict of the jury was read. There was no excitement, although each defendant smiled and some shook hands with their attorneys.

The court room was crowded, and a hurried exit of many from the room when the verdict was read was checked by the judge.

The verdict came as a surprise to many who had been watching the case.

Those Acquitted.

The ten defendants acquitted are: Swift group—Louis F. Swift, president of Swift & Co.; Edward F. Swift, vice president of Swift & Co.; Charles H. Swift, director of Swift & Co.; Francis A. Fowler, manager dressed beef department, Swift & Co.

Armour group—J. Ogden Armour, president Armour & Co.; Arthur Meeker, director and general manager Armour & Co.; Thomas J. Connors, director and general superintendent, Armour & Co.

Morris group—Edward Morris, president Morris & Co.; Louis H. Heyman, manager beef department, Morris & Co.; Edward Tilden, president of the National Packing company.

NEARLY 20,000 WORKERS ON STRIKE IN COTTON MILLS

ENGINEERS PLAN FOR REFERENDUM

"We Are Not Talking of a Strike," Says Warren Stone.

New York, March 26.—The demands of the engineers on the fifty railroads east of Chicago and north of the Norfolk & Western railroad having been refused, and neither of the committees of the railroads and the engineers indicating any retreat from their position, moves were made today to submit the whole matter to a referendum vote of the engineers involved to determine what policy should be pursued.

There has been no talk of a strike, and in fact Grand Chief Warren S. Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers said that many things could happen before a strike took place.

"We are not talking of a strike," said Chief Stone. "We believe our demands are just. If we did not we would not have made them."

Dissatisfaction Over Amount of Increase in Pay, the Cause.

Silk Mills in New Jersey Also Tied Up By Walkout.

Lowell, Mass., March 26.—Nearly 20,000 operatives in the seven cotton manufacturing plants of Lowell will be idle until the existing differences between the agents and employes are adjusted. Orders were received today from the head offices in Boston to close all the mills allied with the Lowell Manufacturing association until further notice.

The strike was declared by the Industrial Workers of the World last night. Yesterday 1,200 operatives in the Appleton and Merrimac mills went out and the Appleton plant suspended operations.

The strikers are dissatisfied with an advance in wages, which became effective yesterday, varying from 4 to 10 per cent, and ask for an increase averaging between 15 and 20 per cent.

Police Will Be Strict.

Fearing repetition of the reign of terror which marked the early stages of the Lawrence strike, the police announce that they have made plans either to prevent the coming to the city of William D. Haywood and others of the Industrial Workers of the World who were prominent at Lawrence, or if this is found to be impracticable, to take steps to forestall these leaders from "stirring up trouble." Supt. of Police Welch refused to divulge his campaign in detail.

In some of the mills, when the leaders met with no success in getting operatives to quit, they threw the belts off the machinery, stopping the looms. In the Appleton mills this method resulted in closing down the entire plant. A few of the operatives were assaulted, but violence was not general.

Silk Weavers Quit.

Paterson, N. J., March 26.—Sixteen of nineteen silk mills in Hudson county were closed today because of a strike of 7,000 silk weavers who demand an increase of wages. The strike leaders say they will close every mill in New York and Pennsylvania if necessary to win this strike. The mill owners say they cannot accede to the demands for higher pay.

There is no disorder and the strikers are keeping away from the mills.

MOTOR BANDITS BUSY IN PARIS

Special Department of Police Proposed to Cope With Brigands.

Paris, March 26.—At a specially convened meeting of the French cabinet today it was decided to strengthen and centralize the French detective department and to organize a division of secret service men to operate in swift automobiles so as to cope with the new type of criminal called the "automobile bandit."

A general alarm was sent out from the prefecture of police to all the police authorities throughout Europe in connection with the murders committed yesterday. No trace, however, has been found of the brigands, who besides killing a chauffeur at Villeneuve-St. Georges, held up a bank at Chantilly, killing two of the employes and wounding another and stealing $5,000.

DENIES MOTION TO FREE PARSONS

New York, March 26. — Judge Hand in the United States district court today denied the motion of Delancy Nicoll, chief counsel for the defense, to instruct the jury to acquit John E. Parsons, Washington B. Thomas and other directors of the American Sugar Refining company, charged with violation of the criminal clause of the Sherman anti-trust law in closing the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company. The trial, therefore, proceeded.

BIG BATTLE AT JIMINEZ

Reports of Federal and of Rebel Success There Are Conflicting.

Head of Madero's Forces Kills Himself—Sanchez Denies Desertion.

City of Mexico, March 26. — That a decisive battle between Mexican federal troops and rebels in the vicinity of Jiminez ended yesterday is reported from many sources. These reports, however, are contradictory as to the result.

The Mexican government received an official dispatch to the effect that the rebels were routed, and President Madero, in an interview, said that it meant the breaking of the rebel cause. The president said rebel losses in killed and wounded would reach 1,000 men.

A special dispatch originating at Torreon sent to El Imparcial and bearing evidence of being authentic, reported that the federals had been de-

RAILROADS

NEW SERVICE ON SOO LINE

Time Freight Shipments From Duluth to Western Points.

Attention of Shippers Called to Service By Traffic Commission.

G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, is sending a circular letter to Duluth shippers, calling their attention to the time freight service in effect on the Soo Line west of Duluth.

The service enables Duluth shippers to reach certain points on the Soo Line at the same time as Twin City shipments and is of great service in keeping the channels to that territory open to Duluth merchants and manufacturers.

Mr. Hall's letter follows:

"For your information the following divisions of the Soo Line are handled as time freight: Lawler to Crosby, inclusive; Federal Dam to Plummer, including Thief River Falls and west to Kenmare; Hillman to Brooten; all points between Minneapolis and Portal; all points on Winnipeg line, Forada to Noyes.

"The Soo Line is undertaking to give Duluth shippers the same service to Western points as is afforded shipments from the Twin Cities. In order to do this it is necessary for them to pull cars from the freight house at 4:30 p. m.

"Shipments cannot be loaded into westbound cars after 4 p. m., and Duluth shippers are therefore requested to co-operate with the Soo Line to the extent of making deliveries of such freight to the freight station as early in the day as possible.

"Freight for Western points described above received after 4 p. m. will be held over until the next day.

"We want Duluth goods to reach our customers at the earliest possible moment after shipments are made and your co-operation will be appreciated.

"Trusting this will be of value to you in making your shipments, I am, yours truly, G. ROY HALL,

"Traffic Commissioner."

RAILROAD EARNINGS SHOWED A DECREASE.

The December results in the Western group of railroads show the same tendencies as during preceeding months of 1911 and help to emphasize the unfavorable conditions the railroads met during last year.

Total operating revenues decreased 3.5 per cent or $26 a mile, and although the railroads succeeded in reducing operating expenses, there was a decrease of 1.6 per cent or $4 a mile in net operating revenue, and operating income fell off 4.4 per cent or $10 a mile.

A large part of the reduction in operating expenses was obtained by reducing maintenance expenses, amounting to 8.6 per cent in maintenance of way and 4.6 per cent in maintenance of equipment. Taxes increased 16.7 for the month as compared with the same period in 1910, or $5 a mile.

The western group of roads, including the Northern Pacific and other lines, shows a decrease of total operating revenues for the calendar year 1911 of 5.7 per cent, or $528 a mile, and the lessened volume of freight traffic is reflected in a loss of 7.7 per cent, or $490 a mile, in that item.

Passenger earnings showed a decrease of 2 per cent or $45 a mile. Pronounced economies reduced maintenance of way and structures 10.3 per cent and assisted materially in cutting operating expenses 4.5 per cent. Maintenance of equipment was reduced but 1.7 per cent, indicating that the railroads, in spite of a heavy fall in receipts, have kept their present equipment in fair condition. Net operating revenue shows a decrease for the year of 8 per cent or $253 a mile and taxes show a small increase. Operating income was 9.8 per cent less than during 1910, the reduction amounting to $258 a mile.

HOWARD ELLIOT TALKS.

Spokane, Wash., March 26.—Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific railway, declared here that political unrest and the "extraordinary mania" for regulating business, big and little, was responsible for the falling off in trade, but added that the country was in a more healthy financial condition now than six months ago. He declared the low return received by the railroads on their investments was responsible for the fact that the railroads were not extending their lines.

McGOORTY AND KLAUS DISAGREE ON WEIGHT.

San Francisco, Cal., March 26.—A disagreement over weight may prevent Eddie McGoorty and Frank Klaus from meeting at Daly City April 13. Klaus blocked proceedings by declaring McGoorty must make 158 pounds two hours before the fight.

McGoorty wired promoter James Coffroth he would agree to make 168 pounds six hours before the tap of the gong and would make no other concessions. Klaus' refusal to agree to this followed. Coffroth said today there was little hope of bringing the men together.

LOVESICK MAN FREE

No Complaint Against Ennas Hanason Who Is Released From Jail.

Young Woman Refuses to File Information of Insanity Against Him.

Ennas Hanason, the young Syrian, arrested on the complaint of a woman who had answered his newspaper advertisement for a wife, was released today from the county jail.

Miss Marion Grosby, who gave her name as Kate Hammerquist, and who had Hanason lodged in jail after she telephoned the sheriff that a "crazy" man wanted to marry her, has "reneged."

The young woman, who has been employed as a domestic at a London road home, apparently was reluctant about mixing up in any insanity hearing.

At least she failed to file information of insanity against Hanason. Deputy Sheriff Bourdash evidently took a little different view of Hanason's mental soundness, as he preferred no charges against Hanason.

The probate court has had nothing to do with the case and in all likelihood will not have. No warrant for insanity can be issued until after information of insanity is filed against Hanason.

After Hanason's "saw-your-ad-in-the-paper" bride-to-be caused his arrest, she evidently thought the case was closed as far as she was concerned. Upon learning today that it would be necessary for her to appear against Hanason or file a petition for a warrant, she refused and Hanason was set free.

Hanason made his desire for a wife known through The Herald last week. He received several answers. One letter appealed to him and he followed it up with an appointment. Miss Grosby or Hammerquist was the applicant and the pair went to Alborn to get married. She had him arrested the next day after she reached Alborn.

MONEY, WINE AND FAME.

Wine Trade Review: The famous composer Gluck, when asked at a convivial gathering which three things he prized most in the world, replied: "Money, wine and fame."

Everybody seemed surprised at his reply, and could not understand why he should place fame absolutely last. His reason, however, was a very good one.

"My friends," he said, "money is most necessary; with it I purchase good wine, which in its turn stimulates my genius, and gives me inspiration, with the result that I become famous."

THE DULL SHADES of winter are about to be withdrawn to give way to the bright cheer of Easter and spring.

The merchants of Duluth have gone to the ends of the earth to provide you with the result of the world's best thought in fashions, and have them now for your inspection.

This is called "Style Week in Duluth"—a week for the display of Dame Fashion's decrees as affecting the wardrobe.

Last week several of the merchants of the city opened their shops, beautifully adorned and arranged for the occasion, and this week others who have joined hands for the promotion of style displays, have given the public what is declared to be the very latest of Fashion's edicts as to dress for men and for women.

It is fortunate for Duluth that the merchants of the city are fully awake to the needs of the discriminating buyer. By providing this simultaneous display of spring styles, they have set a precedent which should be of inestimable value to all who buy wearing apparel.

SANITARIUM COMPLETED

"Nopeming" Will Be Open to Patients in About One Month.

Contractor Zauft to Turn the Building Over to Commissioners Saturday.

"Nopeming" sanitarium will be turned over to the St. Louis County Sanitarium commission Saturday of this week, if the finishing touches are completed as quickly as it is now thought that they will be.

Contractor Zauft has stated that he will probably be ready to have the building inspected by the commissioners on Saturday. If satisfied, the commissioners will accept the building.

The building will be thrown open for patients about May 1. The furniture is now being installed. Both the finishing of the interior and the coming of the furniture were slow. This delayed the opening which was to have been about a month earlier.

Some of the furniture for the new hospital is being manufactured by the Thompson Furniture Company of New Duluth. Local merchants are supplying the furnishings, the commissioners having awarded contracts to local people so far as they have been able to.

The building cost nearly $60,000 and is said to be the most modern in every detail. It was designed by the famous Saranac Lake architects, who have drawn the plans for nearly all hospitals of this kind throughout the country.

The children's building will be ready almost as soon as the main building. For this building Duluth women contributed the money, $10,000. This building has been in the course of construction for some time past and will be ready about June 15.

SHOE WORKERS GET INCREASE

Practically Win Strike in Twenty-three Factories at Lynn, Mass.

Lynn, Mass., March 26.—The strike of the McKay stitchers in twenty-three shoe factories of the city was practically won today by the United Workers of America when six of the largest manufacturers granted the demands for an increase in wages.

Secretary H. W. Sawyer of the manufacturers' association said:

"While it is true that the McKay stitchers have won in their efforts to obtain an increase, they have 'killed the goose that laid the golden egg,' for it is only a question of time before the manufacturers of Lynn will stop making McKay stitched shoes."

ALL READY FOR SPECIAL

Traveling School of Scientific Agriculture Will Start Monday.

Exhibits of Products and Farm Implements Will Be Complete.

The agricultural special, a traveling school of scientific agriculture, will leave Duluth early next Monday morning for a two weeks' trip through St. Louis, Lake, Carlton and Itasca counties for the instruction of farmers and others interested in agricultural branches.

A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of agriculture of the Duluth Commercial club, reports that everything is ready for the train. The corps of experts will be the best obtainable. The exhibits will be complete and interesting. The itinerary is one that takes in almost every important farming community in the territory to be traversed.

Advertising matter has been sent out through Northeastern Minnesota and many settlers will travel long distances to visit the train and hear the experts. In the range towns, some attention will be given market gardening and poultry raising as side lines for the city man and homecroft work done last year will be followed up.

The first stop Monday will be made at Two Harbors. Sunday, April 7, will be spent at Meadowlands and the train will be back in Duluth for an institute at the Commercial club Saturday, April 13.

The experts who will start out with the train and the subjects on which they will speak are: A. J. McGuire, Grand Rapids, dairying; F. A. Gibbs, Minneapolis, and J. V. Bailey, St. Paul, vegetable raising; Prof. N. E. Chapman, poultry raising; A. B. Hostetter, Duluth, marketing. W. A. Dickinson, agricultural superintendent for the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, will be in charge of the train.

The potato exhibit, which will be an important feature on the train, will start with varieties of potatoes grown in the vicinity of Duluth. They will include McKinley, Carmen No. 3, Early Ohio and Burbank. Others will be added at the different stations and by the time the train returns to Duluth, Mr. Hostetter expects to have an exhibit that will include some of the finest specimens of potatoes grown in Northeastern Minnesota. Farmers are also invited to take samples of their seed potatoes to the train for judging by the experts.

An innovation this year will be an exhibit of farm implements. It will include disc, cut-away and common steel harrows, a two-man potato planter, junior drills and cultivators, knapsack and wheelbarrow sprayer, potato digger, Bemis transplanter, five-tooth cultivator, wheel hoes, milk strainers, sanitary milk pails, scales for weighing milk, a gas engine and a complete line of crates for shipping vegetables. Pictures of different implements not in the exhibit will be carried and farmers' institute reports, seed suggestions and other literature will be distributed.

The exhibit will be a matter of great interest in itself and is expected to attract many visitors to the train.

feated and that retreating government soldiers were being mobilized there.

Gen. Salas Kills Himself.

Jose F. Gonzales Salas, who left the war ministry to take active charge of the campaign against Orozco, committed suicide at Bermejillo by shooting himself through the head while, with a part of his army, he was retreating to Torreon after a reverse at Corralitos, twenty miles south of Jiminez.

Gen. Victoriano Huerta, formerly in command of federal forces in Morelos, has been named to succeed him. The latter has left here with 2,000 men.

Reports indicate the federals are preparing to engage the rebels at Jiminez.

The suicide of Gen. Salas was attributed to chagrin over the failure of his first engagement. While minister of war he had been subjected to vicious attacks by a hostile press and his retirement from the cabinet to take command of the campaign was an effort to rehabilitate himself in public favor.

Gen. Blanquet was shot in the leg during the engagement Saturday and Maj. Nicolas Marinez, chief of staff, was killed.

Attack Near Jiminez.

Jiminez, Mex., March 26.—Federal forces under Gen. Tomas Urbina and Gen. Trucy Aubert, attacked Hacienda Dalores, four miles west of here, today. The place was defended by 1,000 liberals with three rapid-firers and two field pieces.

Gen. Pasquale Orozco, the rebel commander-in-chief, is on his way from Chihuahua with reinforcements.

Denies He Is Deserter.

El Paso, Tex., March 26.—Gen. Jose De La Cruz Sanchez, commanding the Maderistas rurales at Ojinaga, opposite Presidio, Tex., denies that he has forsaken Madero and cast his lot with the rebels as announced at Gen. Pasquale Orozco's headquarters in Chihuahua last Saturday. The denial is contained in a message from Sanchez to the El Paso Herald.

Americans Robbed and Insulted.

Douglas, Ariz., March 26.—A story of robbery, insult and hardship at the hands of a roving band of Mexicans was brought here by Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Dagby, who, with their little daughter, fled from a mining camp fifteen miles east of Ballopaute, Simalos, and forty-five miles from the nearest settlement where there were other Americans.

"When we received word from the American consul that he could not protect us, I and my family, accompanied by Cass Stevens, another American, started for Culiacan. We were halted by a rebel command under Antonio Franca. He took everything we had. I asked him for a receipt so that we might put in a claim against the Mexican government, but he said that he did not do business any more that way.

Three Days and Nights.

"It took us three terrible days and nights to walk to Culiacan. The governor there treated us civilly, but advised us to get out of the country, as he said anti-American feeling was running high. On the streets we were insulted by crowds of Mexicans.

"Franca sent a demand to the Shipley ranch, near Culiacan to deliver up all arms and ammunition. In reply he was invited to come and take them if he could. Up to the time I left the invitation had not been accepted.

"All along the road to the border I heard tales of violence to Americans."

ROOSEVELT FORCES ROUTED IN INDIANA

rules and organization committees, hopelessly divided, with the majority on the Taft side, at all night sessions made majority and minority reports ready to be submitted to the convention and to be tried in the fray on the floor.

Both factions claimed a majority of the 1,439 delegates, but each admitted the margin was close.

"Allegations of the Roosevelt fellows that they may be justified in holding a separate convention because of road roller tactics of the organization are all nonsense," said National Committeeman Harry S. New. "Every delegate will have a fair show."

Instruction of the four delegates-at-large to vote for President Taft is coupled with an attack on political policies approved by Col. Roosevelt, in the majority report of the committee on resolutions. The minority refused to make public in advance its report instructing the delegates to vote for the nomination of Col. Roosevelt.

Oppose Third Term.

"The initiative, referendum and recall," says the majority report, "would weaken and destroy the strength and perpetuity of our system of representative government."

"The unbroken custom of limiting the president or tenure to a period of two terms," is held to have "the potency of a constitutional limitation." President Taft's administration is praised and it is maintained he is entitled to renomination.

The Taft slate for delegates at large, as announced before the convention, was National Committeeman Harry S. New, Former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks, James E. Watson and Joseph D. Oliver.

The Roosevelt slate was Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, Edwin M. Lee, Frederick Landis and Charles H. Campbell.

Primary in New York.

New York, March 26.—Adherents of the present national administration and the partisans of Former President Roosevelt will have a test of their relative strength in this state today, at the first election under the new primary law.

In New York city the fight centers in the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx and "up state" the principal contests will be in the Thirty-third district, where Vice President Sherman votes, and the Twenty-sixth district, where the "progressives" have put in the field a ticket for national delegates headed by Lawrence Abbott, Col. Roosevelt's editorial associate, the administration forces there being led by ex-Governor Odell.

Fair weather was expected to bring out a record primary vote in this city. The total Republican enrollment in New York county is 80,276, and prediction was made that the efforts of the campaign workers would bring out 50 per cent of this.

Outside of the Republican struggle for national delegates the primaries are interesting as the first to be held under the new state law.

The Democrats will vote for delegates for the state convention, where the national delegates will be chosen, and members of the various party committees. Interest in the election here centers in a number of contests for the leadership of assembly districts.

Not Like North Dakota.

The primaries are not for direct presidential preference in the sense expressed by the recent contest in North Dakota. Only regularly enrolled Republicans can vote for Republican candidates, and the law permits no instruction of delegates. The supporters of President Taft, however, maintain that the "regular" or "organization" delegates designated in all of the forty-three congressional districts, with a few possible exceptions, favor Mr. Taft's nomination.

Col. Roosevelt has declared that this primary is no fair test of popular sentiment, and the committee organized to support him in New York county has called attention to the handicaps that must be overcome by the Roosevelt ticket. Chief among these is the fact that the names of candidates for delegates must be printed near the bottom of the ballot, which may necessitate unfolding strips of paper in some districts from twelve to fourteen feet long.

Clark Out of Massachusetts Vote.

Washington, March 26. — Governor Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts today notified Representative J. M. Curley of Massachusetts that while he was not a candidate for president, as announced yesterday, he desired that his name appear as a preferential candidate to be voted upon at the primaries in Massachusetts April 30. Champ Clark has accordingly declined to allow his own name on the ballot there.

SAY RAISE IS IMPOSSIBLE

ing of the miners' demands. We cannot grant a wage increase, even if all other demands are waived. In other words, the operators cannot yield, and if the miners don't, a strike will follow."

If the bituminous conference fails to result in an agreement, the recommendation for a referendum vote of the union will be similar to the cases of both bituminous and anthracite miners.

John P. White, president of the union, said in case of a disagreement the policy committee could recommend only that the miners strike. The shutting down of the mines next Monday would follow automatically without any action by the union's executive heads, he said.

Asquith Announces Failure.

London, March 26. — In a short speech in the house of commons this afternoon Premier Asquith confessed the government's failure to terminate the coal strike as follows:

"We have done our best with perfect thoroughness and impartiality and it is with profound disappointment that I have to confess to the house that all our labors have been unavailing."

The premier made a final appeal to the disputants.

"If at this fifty-ninth minute of the eleventh hour the parties cannot come to a reasonable arrangement on a matter of relatively small proportion, they will have a very serious account to render to the country. The government has done all it can do."

King Stays in London.

King George today cancelled the arrangements for his visit to Liverpool to attend the grand national steeplechase on Friday, March 29. Telegraphing to Lord Derby, with whom he had intended to stay, King George said:

"The continuance of this disastrous coal strike makes it impossible for me to make any plans to leave London."

There is some indication that the owners have given way on one point. They have expressed their willingness to grant the specified minimum rates if exceptions be made in cases where coal or rent is given in part payment of wages.

Thousands upon thousands of people in every district in the country are existing only on the meagre allowance of soup and bread distributed by charitable societies and individuals. Fortunately the weather is mild.

JURY ACQUITS THE BEEF BARONS

maintaining a combination in restraint of trade in violation of the criminal provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law, which began Dec. 6, is the closing chapter of a long legal battle waged by the government against the big packers.

The heads of the packing companies in the proceedings are named as individual defendants, and a verdict of guilty under the law would make them liable to either a fine or $5,000 each, or imprisonment for one year or both penalties.

The ten defendants are:

J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co.

Arthur Meeker, director and general manager of Armour & Co.

Thomas J. Connors, director and general superintendent of Armour & Co.

Louis F. Swift, president of Swift & Co.

Edward F. Swift, vice president of Swift & Co.

Charles H. Swift, director of Swift & Co.

Francis A. Fowler, manager beef department of Swift & Co.

Edward Morris, president of Morris & Co.

Louis H. Heyman, manager beef department of Morris & Co.

Edward Tilden, president of National Packing company.

Charges by Government.

The government contended:

That prior to 1902 prices were fixed, shipments regulated and territory divided by the old beef pool which met every Tuesday afternoon.

That after the old beef pool dissolved in 1902, the packers held secret meetings at each other's homes.

That the National Packing company, since its organization in 1903, has been used as the "clearing house" for the alleged combination.

That the packers adopted a test cost and margin system which was used in the purchase of cattle and the sale of fresh meat.

That the allowances made for by-products in figuring the test cost were inadequate and the "cost" used by the packers was fictitious and higher than the actual cost.

That the representatives of the different companies in New York, Boston and other Eastern cities exchanged information in regard to prices and shipments and telegraphed the figures to their superiors in Chicago.

That the violation of the Sherman law by the packers has been continuous and practically uninterrupted since 1898.

Began in 1903.

A chronological history of the government's investigation and prosecution of the men alleged to control the fresh meat industry of the country is as follows:

July 1, 1903—Injunction issued by Judge Grosscup restraining the packers from entering into a combination.

Feb. 20, 1905—Investigation of alleged combination begun.

July 1, 1905—Sixteen packers and four corporations indicted.

Dec. 31, 1905—Cases called for trial.

March 21, 1906—Judge Humphreys renders the "immunity bath" decision, freeing the indicted packers.

Dec. 20, 1908—Investigation taken up by federal grand jury, but soon discontinued without indictments being returned.

Dec. 15, 1909—Investigation resumed by the federal grand jury.

March 21, 1910—Indictments returned against the National Packing company and ten subsidiary concerns and bill in equity filed asking that the National Packing company be dissolved.

Indictments Were Quashed.

June 24, 1910—Indictments against the National Packing company quashed by Judge Landis and a special grand jury called to renew the investigation.

July 14, 1910—Special grand jury impanelled and inquiry began.

Aug. 11, 1910—Thomas G. Lee, manager of the dressed beef sales department of Armour & Co., indicted for grand jury and Alfred R. Urion, chief counsel for the company, and three employes charged with destroying stenographers' notebooks containing important information desired by the government.

Aug. 15, 1910—Attorney Urion discharged with a reprimand and the other respondents held for further hearing.

Sept. 12, 1910—Indictments returned charging ten packers with conspiracy in maintaining a combination in restraint of trade.

Dec. 6, 1911—Trial of the ten packers began before Judge Carpenter.

Record for Length.

The trial was one of the longest criminal trials in the history of the federal courts. It began Dec. 6, 1911, and the jury was sworn Dec. 19. The first witness was called by the government Dec. 29. The government put nineteen witnesses on the stand and introduced 1,488 documents in evidence. The record of the case contains 5,000,000 words.

It is estimated that the trial cost the packers $500,000 and the government about $100,000.

The first witness called by the government was Albert H. Veeder, the dean of counsel for the packers and personal legal advisor of the late Gustavus F. Swift, founder of Swift & Co. He gave a graphic description of the old packers' pool, which met every Tuesday afternoon prior to 1902, and gave the details of the method by which the fresh meat business of the country was controlled. He declared that no attempt was made to fix prices and divide territory after the old packers' pool was dissolved in 1902.

He also told of the attempt of the Armour, Swift and Morris interests to combine the packing industry into a billion-dollar corporation and how the plan was dropped because of the inability of its promoters to finance it.

Nearly every witness called by the government in the trial was either an employe or a former employe of one of the corporations controlled by the defendants.

The defense cross-examined every witness at length and in this way got much of its side of the case before the jury.

Members of Jury.

The jury which heard the case was composed of the following:

J. E. Harvey, 50 years old; grocer, Wilton Center, Ill.

Edward J. Ryan, 45 years old; carpenter foreman, Streator, Ill.

Asa Bannister, 56 year old; farmer, Naperville, Ill.

H. I. Bucklin, 40 years old; farmer, Dundee, Ill.

Burton H. Meyers, 45 years old; liveryman, Naperville, Ill.

William J. Thomas, 45 years old; grocery clerk, Ottawa, Ill.

C. H. Nare, 58 years old; drug salesman, Chicago.

Howard O Bates, 43 years old; tailor, Chicago.

J. H. Edwards, 28 years old; employed by a telephone company as an inspector, Streator, Ill.

Jacob Gleim, 46 years old; baker, Ottawa, Ill.

Adam Clow, 53 years old; retired farmer, Wheatland, Ill.

Thomas A. Scott, 64 years old; millwright, Chicago.

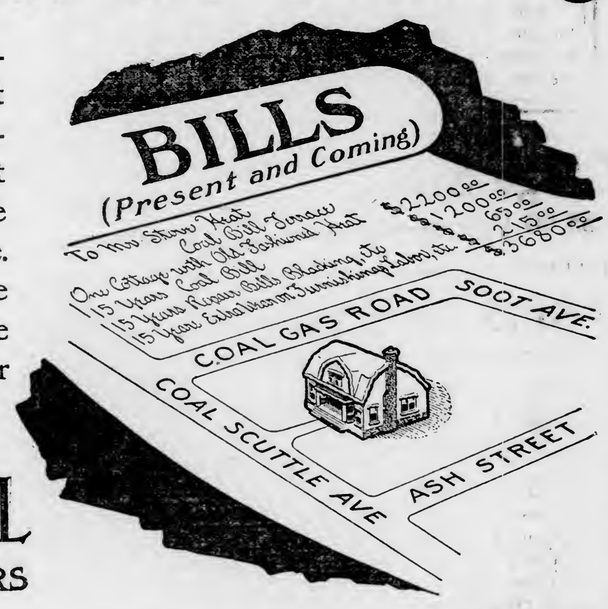
Look well to its heating

In examining real estate "bargains" remember that the most important item in building equipment is the heating outfit. It is not the first cost but the final cost which should decide. Figured on 15 years of service there is every proof that the cheapest heating outfit by far consists of



AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

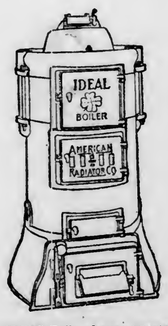
At the end of 15 years the old-fashioned heating devices will be worn out, or repair bills paid to equal their cost; while the outfit of IDEAL Boiler and AMERICAN Radiators will give as perfect service as ever and will outlast the building.

If you are planning to build, ask your architect to let you read over the specifications of a dozen or fifty of his latest buildings. You will not be surprised to find that of all the many different articles or material entering into the construction of a building, the only ones invariably mentioned in all the specifications are IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators. Why? Because these outfits are the feature which invariably give greatest satisfaction, and soon repay their original cost in the economies their use brings about—a fine investment, not an expense. No other building feature produces such results.

Every architect knows that IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are the best heating outfits that money can buy, yet the great volume of sales makes their cost the lowest. Then, most important, IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are fully guaranteed.

Don't think you have to build a new house—the outfit is put in without tearing up. Also easily put in old or new stores, schools, churches, farm-houses, banks, theaters, etc. You will need our book of illustrations from which to make selection. Sent free. Puts you under no obligation to buy.

A No.1-22-W IDEAL Boiler and 400 sq. ft. of 38 in. AMERICAN Radiators costing the owner $175, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which are extra and vary according to climatic and other conditions.



IDEAL Boilers have no parts to burn out, no rivets to loosen, no thin metal to warp, no repair bills.

Ask for catalog of the ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner. When ready to clean any room (floor, walls, ceiling, furniture, draperies, mattresses, drawers, corners, crevices, etc.), you merely turn an electric switch that starts the Cleaner machine in cellar, attach light rubber hose to iron suction pipe opening in baseboard of room, and like a household magician you make a few gentle strokes with the hollow, bottomless-throated Arco Wand, which draws dust, lint, cobwebs, bits of paper, insect eggs, etc., down the iron suction pipes into big sealed dust bucket in cellar. The ARCO WAND is permanent, like heating or plumbing. Costs little monthly for electricity to run. Put into old or new flats, houses, stores, schools, churches, banks, hospitals, libraries, theaters, etc.

No exclusive agents.
Sold by all dealers.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Have You Rheumatism, Kidney, Liver or Bladder Trouble?

Pain or dull ache in the back is evidence of kidney trouble. It is Nature's timely warning to show you that the track of health is not clear.

Danger Signals.

If these danger signals are unheeded more serious results follow; Bright's disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble, may steal upon you.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable curative effect in the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine, you should have the best.

Lame Back.

Lame back is only one of many symptoms of kidney trouble. Other symptoms showing that you need Swamp-Root are, being obliged to pass water often during the day and to get up many times during the night.

Inability to hold urine, smarting in passing, uric acid, headache, dizziness, indigestion, sleeplessness, nervousness, sometimes the heart acts badly, rheumatism, bloating, lack of ambition, may be loss of flesh, sallow complexion.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who usually content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease constantly undermines the system.

APPLICATION FOR REDUCED RATES

Railroads Asked to Assist in Swelling the Convention Crowd.

The traffic commission of the Commercial club has taken up with Minnesota railroads the subject of reduced rates for the Democratic state convention here June 6.

The railroads will probably get together some time in the near future and determine whether a reduction of rates for the occasion will be granted.

The convention will draw a great crowd of people to Duluth. The convention will have 1,039 delegates and nearly all will come. In addition many people interested in the convention will be here, although they will not be delegates. Some of the delegates will bring their wives and make the occasion a vacation trip, visiting interesting points nearby after the convention closes.

Reduced rates on the railroads would greatly swell the crowd. The convention will be one of the most important gatherings in Duluth this year and the Commercial club is anxious to have matters arranged so the crowd may be unusually large.

To Remove First Signs of Old Age

"The infallible first sign of age is the sagging cheek muscles," says Mme. Cavalieri, whose fame as a beauty culturist is scarcely less than that of a singer. "These are more difficult and serious to treat than wrinkles," she continues. "The sagging muscles indicate they have grown too weak to remain in place; they must be assisted, strengthened."

The best way to strengthen them is by using a wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This creates a free circulation to the parts, besides causing muscles and skin to contract. Saxolite, procurable at every drug store, has long been known by complexion specialists to possess remarkable properties, valuable in treating flabby tissue and wrinkles.

Houser Predicts He Will Hold Balance of Power at Chicago.

Roosevelt's Itinerary for This Week's Tour Is Announced.

Lincoln, Neb., March 26.—Walter Houser, chairman of the national La Follette committee, who came to Lincoln for a stay of several days, said he was satisfied Senator La Follette will hold the balance of power at the Republican national convention. Mr. Houser predicted a deadlock in the early balloting at Chicago, and with that condition, believed the senator's chances would improve.

"We are making a fight in every state where the people have a chance to express their sentiments," said Mr. Houser, "and we say conservatively that we will go to the convention with one-third of the votes north of the Mason & Dixon line."

Roosevelt Dates Fixed.

New York, March 26.—The itinerary for Col. Roosevelt's campaign trip through the Central West has been completed. It includes a visit to Detroit in addition to the points named in the first announcement of the trip. Col. Roosevelt will leave New York today at 5:04 p. m. over the Pennsylvania railroad. The train stops for ten minutes at Fort Wayne, Ind., at 10:10 a. m. Wednesday and reaches Chicago at 2 p. m. In the afternoon Col. Roosevelt will hold a reception to several hundred precinct committeemen in Chicago. In the evening he will deliver two addresses, one in the downtown section and the other on the West side. He will leave for St. Louis at 11:43 p. m. by the Chicago & Alton railroad.

In St. Louis Thursday.

On his arrival in St. Louis at 7:58 a. m., Thursday, he will be met by a committee from the Million Population club. After meeting the leaders in the Roosevelt movement in Missouri and taking an automobile drive through the city, Col. Roosevelt will attend a dinner of the Million Population club. In the evening he will address a mass meeting in the First Regiment armory and later a gathering of negroes. At 10:30 p. m. the colonel will leave for St. Paul by special train on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad.

Reaching Cedar Rapids, Iowa, at 7:30 a. m., Friday, a stop of thirty minutes will be made.

Albert Lea and St. Paul.

At Albert Lea, Minn., Col. Roosevelt will make a 10-minute speech in the afternoon and at 5 p. m. is to reach St. Paul. After delivering a speech in the St. Paul Auditorium in the evening, Col. Roosevelt will go to Minneapolis to address a mass meeting and will start for Chicago at 11:30 p. m. on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad.

The stop at Chicago on the return trip will be merely between trains. At 12:30 p. m. Saturday, Col. Roosevelt will leave for Detroit and will make short speeches on the way at Denton, Kalamazoo and Jackson, Mich. He will reach Detroit at 7:30 o'clock p. m., speak at 8 o'clock and leave for New York on the Michigan Central railroad at 12:16 a. m. He is due in New York at 5:50 p. m. Sunday.

In New England Again.

Boston, Mass., March 26.—The third visit to New England of Col. Theodore Roosevelt since his announcement that he was a candidate for the Republican nomination for president will be made on April 5. Word has been received by supporters of Col. Roosevelt at Concord, N. H., that the former president will speak in Nashua, Concord and Manchester on that date. President Taft spoke in these cities a week ago.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

Grand opera is the goal at which Miss Akma Youlin, appearing at the Orpheum this week is aiming.

Miss Youlin has achieved a light opera reputation that extends from coast to coast. She has appeared in some well known musical comedies and light operas, and is well known as a prima donna, from San Francisco to New York. Her last role was the leading feminine role in "The Midnight Sons," in which she was seen in Duluth a year ago.

"I have had enough light opera," said Miss Youlin last evening at the Orpheum. "I want to do something better than merely light opera roles; and that is why I am in vaudeville. I am earning money and saving it. I am not ready for grand opera yet, but with another year of study I hope to be, and I will have that year of study before I am much older. I hope then to get my chance at grand opera, and if hard work counts for anything I intend to make good. Grand opera is just coming into its own in this country. Its popularity is not a wave which will pass, but it will steadily grow, until you will have seasons of grand opera in every city of any size. There will have to be singers, and I hope to be one of them."

Heading the bill at the Empress this week are the Four Provost, who present an acrobatic oddity, entitled "Fun in a Turkish Bath." The interior of a Turkish bath is faithfully reproduced, showing the steam room, the vapor room, etc., and in this setting the Four Provost present a comedy acrobatic offering replete with comedy and brilliant acrobatic feats. Each member of this organization is a clever gymnast and their comedy minus the clever acrobatic feats would make their offering a success. Samayoa is another wonderful gymnast but his offering is of an entirely different order. Working on a looped rope far above the heads of the audience, the daring gymnast presents a series of evolutions which are easily the most sensational ever offered at the Empress. Samayoa works with a rapidity that is startling and although his act consumes only eight minutes, he crowds in more thrills and nerve-tingling feats than the average gymnast succeeds in presenting in half an hour. The big favorite is the Capital City quartet. These boys are both singers and comedians and they have shown excellent judgment in the selection of their songs. "On Account of a Count" is the title of the breezy comedy playlet which McCarthy and Major have chosen as a vehicle in which to display their talents. This playlet is one of the brightest of the season and it is excellently presented. Mr. McCarthy's impersonation of the French count is one of the best bits of character acting ever seen at the Empress. George Lavander monologist, is also one of the favorites. Lavander's gags are all new.

STREET RAILWAY WILL SPEND BETWEEN $300,000 AND $400,000 FOR IMPROVEMEMTS THIS YEAR

The Duluth Street Railway company will spend between $300,000 and $400,000 for improvements this year, including extensions, new equipment and relaying rails.

The road between West Duluth and New Duluth must be placed in better shape and the bridges strengthened before a car line can be built to the suburb, say the company's officers, and the steel plan extension is not considered probable this year. The present bridges are unsafe for traffic.

General Manager Herbert Warren of the Duluth Street Railway company says that the company is ready to make such improvements as the council orders, but declares that the thoroughfare should be put in good condition first.

This year the street car company will make a number of improvements, including the Ninth street exension, the Twenty-first avenue west cut-off, the relaying of about ten miles of rails and the addition of ten new double-truck cars to the equipment.

The Ninth street extension work will be begun early in the summer. The line will be extended from Fifth avenue east and Fourth street to Ninth street and east on Ninth street to Chester park, or Fourteenth avenue east. The route for this line unitl it reaches Ninth street is still under dispute.

The first work of the spring will be the completion of the Twenty-first avenue west cut-off between Superior and Third street. The job was begun last fall but was not finished on account of the weather conditions. Cars will probably be using the cut-off about May 1.

Wherever there is any new paving work done in streets in which the car tracks are located, the company will relay the rails with a heavier type of steel. New tracks may be laid in the following streets, depending upon whether they are paved or not: East Fourth between Sixth and Fourteenth avenues and between Fourteenth and Twenty-seventh avenues, West Superior street between Twenty-fifth and Forty-sixth avenues; West Third street between Twenty-first and Thirty-ninth avenues, the north track on Grand avenue between Thirty-ninth and Fifty-fourth, on Central avenue between Ramsey and Main street and on Raleigh street between Fifty-fifth and Sixty-second avenues.

In Superior it is expected that some of the tracks will be relaid and that considerable money will be spent by the company in making improvements of this nature.

The company has already placed an order for ten new double-truck cars, costing $65,000. They will arrive about June 1 and will be put into service at once.

COTTON DUTIES ARE TOO HIGH, SAYS TARIFF BOARD AND TAFT DIRECTS CUT

in cost, and in many cases the duties are greater than the conversion costs in the mills of the United States.

President Taft asks a deficiency appropriation of $60,000 for the board to continue its work during April, May and June, and urged congress further to continue the life of the board that it may prosecute investigations of the metal, leather, chemical and sugar schedules which the president has directed.

The president's message is a comprehensive summary of the board's findings. As in its report on the woolen schedule and the paper schedule, the board makes no recommendations and suggests no duties in its review of a very complex subject. The president says he bases his recommendations on the declaration of the platform on which he was elected, "that a reasonable protective tariff should be adjusted to the fact that the cost of production at home and abroad."

"Hard to State."

"The report of the board shows the difficulty in stating in general terms differences in costs of production for a great variety of cotton manufactures" the president wrote. "The differences vary widely, according to the character of the particular fabric.

"The report shows that the cost of spinning cotton yarn in this country is greater than in the leading competing countries. In the case of ordinary warp and filling yarns, forming the bulk of the production of the domestic industry, the foreign cost of turning cotton into yarn is shown to be about 70 per cent of the domestic cost.

"The duty on these yarns is two or three times in excess of the difference in cost of production. On some highly specialized yarns and on yarns of the higher count—that is, of greater fineness—the duty in some cases about equalizes the difference in conversion costs.

Duties Are Excessive.

"In many cases, however, on the higher grades of yarns which are produced in this country, the duty is in excess of the difference in the cost of production, though by a much less amount than in the case of ordinary warp and filling yarns.

"The difference in the cost of weaving yarns into cloth as between this country and its chief competitor, varies according to the character of the fabric. In the case of many cloths of plain weave, the American cost of weaving seems to be lower than the foreign cost, due to the greater number of looms tended per weaver in this country. This reduces the labor cost per yard, despite the higher earning of the American weaver.

"This conclusion is further substantiated by the fact that cloths of this description are sold by the domestic manufacturer in this country at prices as low as those charged by the foreign manufacturer in his own country. In proportion, however, as the fabric becomes more complicated (and therefore permits fewer looms per weaver), the American cost of production increases. In the case of most fancy fabrics of complicated weave, the cost of weaving is higher in this country, but on such fabrics the present duties are in excess of any differences in cost, and in many cases are in excess of the total conversion costs in this country.

"The report further shows that in the case of a large variety of fabrics which permit of the use of many looms per weaver, the prices at which goods are sold by the American manufacturer are as low as the prices charged by the foreign manufacturer in his home market and in many cases lower.

Would Help Consumer.

"Under the existing system of distribution, a slight reduction of duties would in some cases materially reduce the price to the consumer, while in other cases a large reduction of the duties would not change the price to the American consumer at all.

"In the cost of raw material, the board reports there is practically no advantage possessed by either country. Comparing all of the yarns selected by the board as samples, the English labor cost was found to be, on an average, practically seven-eighths of the American in two mills selected.

It was not possible for the board, with the time and money at its disposal, to investigate each of the items of the cotton schedule, and its work was confined to yarns, threads, textile fabrics and such specialties as tapestries, plush, corduroy, table cloths and the like.

Comparisons of Cost.

Figures are presented to show that although labor costs in the cotton industries are in many cases lower in the United States than in England, yet the actual hourly earnings in this country are in most of the principal occupations much greater. The conclusion is that on many plain fabrics the cost of production in this country is not greater.

The report gives some figures showing the difference in cost of cotton fabric at the mill and the cost to the consumer. Cloths sold at the mill at 8 or 9 cents a yard, reach the consumer at 15 cents. Some examples are given.

In 1908 a quilt sold at the mill for 62.5 cents was sold to the consumer at $1. In 1910 the mill increased the price to 75 cents and the price to the consumer was $1.50.

Less Intermediate Profit.

The board argues, however, that in some cases a reduction in the mill price might have no reduction for the consumer. A study of comparative statistics seems to show that the English consumer buys cheaper because there is less profit between the mill men and the retailer.

In determining the costs the board did not take into consideration the item of interest upon investments, but the cost figures to allow for depreciation.

"Taking all the mills covered by the investigation in each country, there were wider variations in the American costs secured than in the English costs, due partly to the fact that the English mills were all in the Manchester district, where wages and other conditions are well standardized, while the American costs were taken from mills covering a much wider area with much greater differences in labor and other conditions.

Difference in Mills.

"Another reason for the wider variation in American costs is that the English mills for which figures were secured are all of a modern and efficient type, while some of the American mills included were old and of low efficiency."

Discussing duties in their relation to cost of weaving and finishing, the report says:

"The ratio of the duty to the conversion cost bears little relation to the ratio of the duty to the foreign market value. Thus in some cases duties which are less than 30 per cent ad valorem will be one and one-half times the cost of American conversion, while in other cases duties of nearly 50 per cent ad valorem will be only three-fourths of the American conversion cost. In the greater number of cases the duties are greater than the total domestic cost of spinning and weaving.

"One of the most interesting results of the investigation is to be found in the facts included in the report regarding the different methods of distribution in the two countries and the greater margin which exists between the price at which the manufacturer sells his goods and the price at which the consumer buys them in this country as compared with similar prices in England. The relation of the tariff to the prices paid by consumers can only be understood by fully comprehending the significance in American trade of the principle of 'set prices.'"

The summary of the report is a large pamphlet and the full report probably will fill four volumes. It will probably be ordered printed by congress.

Odanah Indians to Protest.

Ashland, Wis., March 26.—For the purpose of protesting against the order from Washington instructing the local authorities to enforce the old law requiring all persons not full-bloods who trade on the Bad River Indian reservation to give a bond of $10,000, a meeting of Indians is to be called soon at Odanah. The claim is made that the law was adopted when practically all Indians on the reservation were full-bloods and that its enforcement now will put out of business all the places now conducted by Indians.

STABBED BY INTRUDER

Lawrence Anderson Is Seriously Wounded By Unknown Man.

Assailant Entered Room of Victim in St. Croix Avenue House.

Lawrence Anderson, a bartender employed by Ole Olssen, was dangerously but not fatally stabbed in the breast by an unknown man in his home at 124 St. Croix avenue about 11 o'clock last night.

His assailant escaped and is being sought by the police, who have been furnished a fairly good description of him.

Anderson and his wife were sitting in the living room of their apartments when the stranger knocked at the door. It was opened by Anderson and the man pushed his way inside. Thinking that he had been drinking and had gotten into the wrong place by mistake, Anderson took him by the arm to lead him outdoors. When he reached the stairway the intruder whirled upon him suddenly and sank the blade of a pocket knife into his right breast, inflicting an ugly wound.

Anderson fell to the floor in a faint and neighbors rushed inside in response to Mrs. Anderson's cries for help and the police. Dr. I. J. Murphy, police surgeon, was hurriedly summoned. He dressed the wounds temporarily to stop the flow of blood and directed Anderson's removal to St. Luke's hospital. It was stated at the institution this morning that Anderson had passed a restless night but would probably recover.

Anderson said that he has seen his assailant half a dozen times but does not know his name. He stated that he was about 29 years of age, with a black mustache, wearing a black slouch hat and dark clothing.

INFORMATION IS SLOW IN COMING

Duluth People Show Lack of Interest in Lake Level Fight.

Responses to a letter sent out some time ago by the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club, asking for information as to the amount of money expended for improvements in the Duluth-Superior harbor, have not been as numerous or as satisfactory as expected.

The information is being collected to be put in the hands of the committee of lake men opposing the granting of the petition for a greater flow of water for the Chicago drainage canal.

The matter is one of great importance to Duluth. Lake levels are going down naturally every year. The artificial drawing off of water by the Chicago drainage canal would further reduce the levels of the lower lakes, at least, and would endanger the future of shipping on the lakes.

Some people contend that Lake Superior would not be damaged by the greater reduction of the levels of the lower lakes, but what will damage shipping on the lower lakes will also damage shipping on Lake Superior. The reduction of cargoes on account of the lowering of lake levels would be a serious matter for boat owners and shippers.

G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Commercial club, is anxious to get the information desired by the committee opposing the application of the Chicago people. He has not been ablo to make a report to the commission yet on account of the failure of the people interested to answer his letter asking for information.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Its popularity is not a wave which will pass, but it will steadily grow, until you will have seasons of grand opera in every city of any size. There will have to be singers, and I hope to be one of them."

Heading the bill at the Empress this week are the Four Provost, who present an acrobatic oddity, entitled "Fun in a Turkish Bath." The interior of a Turkish bath is faithfully reproduced, showing the steam room, the vapor room, etc., and in this setting the Four Provost present a comedy acrobatic offering replete with comedy and brilliant acrobatic feats. Each member of this organization is a clever gymnast and their comedy minus the clever acrobatic feats would make their offering a success. Samayoa is another wonderful gymnast but his offering is of an entirely different order. Working on a looped rope far above the heads of the audience, the daring gymnast presents a series of evolutions which are easily the most sensational ever offered at the Empress. Samayoa works with a rapidity that is startling and although his act consumes only eight minutes, he crowds in more thrills and nerve-tingling feats than the average gymnast succeeds in presenting in half an hour. The big favorite is the Capital City quartet. These boys are both singers and comedians and they have shown excellent judgment in the selection of their songs. "On Account of a Count" is the title of the breezy comedy playlet which McCarthy and Major have chosen as a vehicle in which to display their talents. This playlet is one of the brightest of the season and it is excellently presented. Mr. McCarthy's impersonation of the French count is one of the best bits of character acting ever seen at the Empress. George Lavander monologist, is also one of the favorites. Lavander's gags are all new.

STREET RAILWAY WILL SPEND BETWEEN $300,000 AND $400,000 FOR IMPROVEMEMTS THIS YEAR

The Duluth Street Railway company will spend between $300,000 and $400,000 for improvements this year, including extensions, new equipment and relaying rails.

The road between West Duluth and New Duluth must be placed in better shape and the bridges strengthened before a car line can be built to the suburb, say the company's officers, and the steel plan extension is not considered probable this year. The present bridges are unsafe for traffic.

General Manager Herbert Warren of the Duluth Street Railway company says that the company is ready to make such improvements as the council orders, but declares that the thoroughfare should be put in good condition first.

This year the street car company will make a number of improvements, including the Ninth street exension, the Twenty-first avenue west cut-off, the relaying of about ten miles of rails and the addition of ten new double-truck cars to the equipment.

The Ninth street extension work will be begun early in the summer. The line will be extended from Fifth avenue east and Fourth street to Ninth street and east on Ninth street to Chester park, or Fourteenth avenue east. The route for this line until it reaches Ninth street is still under dispute.

The first work of the spring will be the completion of the Twenty-first avenue west cut-off between Superior and Third street. The job was begun last fall but was not finished on account of the weather conditions. Cars will probably be using the cut-off about May 1.

Wherever there is any new paving work done in streets in which the car tracks are located, the company will relay the rails with a heavier type of steel. New tracks may be laid in the following streets, depending upon whether they are paved or not: East Fourth between Sixth and Fourteenth avenues and between Fourteenth and Twenty-seventh avenues, West Superior street between Twenty-fifth and Forty-sixth avenues, West Third street between Twenty-first and Thirty-ninth avenues, the north track on Grand avenue between Thirty-ninth and Fifty-fourth, on Central avenue between Ramsey and Main street and on Raleigh street between Fifty-fifth and Sixty-second avenues.

In Superior it is expected that some of the tracks will be relaid and that considerable money will be spent by the company in making improvements of this nature.

The company has already placed an order for ten new double-truck cars, costing $65,000. They will arrive about June 1 and will be put into service at once.

in cost, and in many cases the duties are greater than the conversion costs in the mills of the United States.

President Taft asks a deficiency appropriation of $60,000 for the board to continue its work during April, May and June, and urged congress further to continue the life of the board that it may prosecute investigations of the metal, leather, chemical and sugar schedules which the president has directed.

The president's message is a comprehensive summary of the board's findings. As in its report on the woolen schedule and the paper schedule, the board makes no recommendations and suggests no duties in its review of a very complex subject. The president says he bases his recommendations on the declaration of the platform on which he was elected, "that a reasonable protective tariff should be adjusted to the difference in cost of production at home and abroad."

"Hard to State."

"The report of the board shows the difficulty in stating in general terms differences in costs of production for a great variety of cotton manufactures" the president wrote. "The differences vary widely, according to the character of the particular fabric.

"The report shows that the cost of spinning cotton yarn in this country is greater than in the leading competing countries. In the case of ordinary warp and filling yarns, forming the bulk of the production of the domestic industry, the foreign cost of turning cotton into yarn is shown to be about 70 per cent of the domestic cost.

"The duty on these yarns is two or three times in excess of the difference in cost of production. On some highly specialized yarns and on yarns of the higher counts—that is, of greater fineness—the duty in some cases about equalizes the difference in conversion costs.

Duties Are Excessive.

"In many cases, however, on the higher grades of yarns which are produced in this country, the duty is in excess of the difference in the cost of producing yarns into cloth as between this country and its chief competitor, varies according to the character of the fabric. In the case of many cloths of plain weave, the American cost of weaving seems to be lower than the foreign cost, due to the greater number of looms tended per weaver in this country. This reduces the labor cost per yard, despite the higher earning of the American weaver.

"This conclusion is further substantiated by the fact that cloths of this description are sold by the domestic manufacturer in this country at prices as low as those charged by the foreign manufacturer in his own country, in proportion, however, as the fabric becomes more complicated (and therefore permits fewer looms per weaver), the American cost of production increases. In the case of most fancy fabrics of complicated weave, the cost of weaving is higher in this country, but on such fabrics the present duties are in excess of any differences in cost, and in many cases are in excess of the total conversion costs in this country.

"The report further shows that in the case of a large variety of fabrics which permit of the use of many looms per weaver, the prices at which goods are sold by the American manufacturer are as low as the prices charged by the foreign manufacturer in his home market and in many cases lower.

Would Help Consumer.

"Under the existing system of distribution, a slight reduction of duties would in some cases materially reduce the price to the consumer, while in other cases a large reduction of the duties would not change the price to the American consumer at all.

"In the cost of raw material, the board reports there is practically no advantage possessed by either country. Comparing all of the yarns selected by the board as samples, the English labor cost was found to be, on an average, practically seven-eighths of the American in two mills selected.

It was not possible for the board, with the time and money at its disposal, to investigate each of the items of the cotton schedule, and its work was confined to yarns, threads, textile fabrics and such specialties as tapestries, plush, corduroy, table cloths and the like.

Comparisons of Cost.

Figures are presented to show that although labor costs in the cotton industries are in many cases lower in the United States than in England, yet the actual hourly earnings in this country are in most of the principal occupations much greater. The conclusion is that on many plain fabrics the cost of production in this country is not greater.

The report gives some figures showing the difference in cost of cotton fabric at the mill and the cost to the consumer. Cloths sold at the mill at 8 or 9 cents a yard, reach the consumer at 15 cents. Some examples are given.

In 1908 a quilt sold at the mill for 62.5 cents was sold to the consumer at $1. In 1910 the mill increased the price to 75 cents and the price to the consumer was $1.50.

Less Intermediate Profit.

The board argues, nowever, that in some cases a reduction in the mill price might have no reduction for the consumer. A study of comparative statistics seems to show that the English consumer buys cheaper because there is less profit between the mill men and the retailer.

In determining the costs the board did not take into consideration the item of interest upon investments, but the cost figures to allow for depreciation.

"Taking all the mills covered by the investigation in each country, there were wider variations in the American costs secured than in the English costs, due partly to the fact that the English mills were all in the Manchester district, where wages and other conditions are well standardized, while the American costs were taken from mills covering a much wider area with much greater differences in labor and other conditions.

Difference in Mills.

"Another reason for the wider variation in American costs is that the English mills for which figures were secured are all of a modern and efficient type, while some of the American mills included were old and of low efficiency."

Discussing duties in their relation to cost of weaving and finishing, the report says:

"The ratio of the duty to the conversion cost bears little relation to the ratio of the duty to the foreign market value." Thus in some cases duties which are less than 30 per cent ad valorem will be one and one-half times the cost of American conversion, while in other cases duties of nearly 50 per cent ad valorem will be only three-fourths of the American conversion cost. In the greater number of cases the duties are greater than the total domestic cost of spinning and weaving.

"One of the most interesting results of the investigation is to be found in the facts included in the report regarding the different methods of distribution in the two countries and the greater margin which exists between the price at which the manufacturer sells his goods and the price at which the consumer buys them in this country as compared with similar prices in England. The relation of the tariff to the prices paid by consumers can only be understood by fully comprehending the significance in American trade of the principle of 'set prices.'"

The summary of the report is a large pamphlet and the full report probably will fill four volumes. It will probably be ordered printed by congress.

Odanah Indians to Protest.

Ashland, Wis., March 26.—For the purpose of protesting against the order from Washington instructing the local authorities to enforce the old law requiring all persons not full-bloods who trade on the Bad River Indian reservation to give a bond of $10,000, a meeting of Indians is to be called soon at Odanah. The claim is made that the law was adopted when practically all Indians on the reservation were full-bloods and that its enforcement now will put out of business all the places now conducted by Indians.

STABBED BY INTRUDER

Lawrence Anderson Is Seriously Wounded By Unknown Man.

Assailant Entered Room of Victim in St. Croix Avenue House.

Lawrence Anderson, a bartender employed by Ole Oissen, was dangerously but not fatally stabbed in the breast by an unknown man in his home at 124 St. Croix avenue about 11 o'clock last night.

His assailant escaped and is being sought by the police, who have been furnished a fairly good description of him.

Anderson and his wife were sitting in the living room of their apartments when the stranger knocked at the door. It was opened by Anderson and the man pushed his way inside. Thinking that he had been drinking and had gotten into the wrong place by mistake, Anderson took him by the arm to lead him outdoors. When he reached the stairway the intruder whirled upon him suddenly and sank the blade of a pocket knife into his right breast, inflicting an ugly wound.

Anderson fell to the floor in a faint and neighbors rushed inside in response to Mrs. Anderson's cries for help and the police. Dr. I. J. Murphy, police surgeon, was hurriedly summoned. He dressed the wounds temporarily to stop the flow of blood and directed Anderson's removal to St. Luke's hospital. It was stated at the institution this morning that Anderson had passed a restless night but would probably recover.

Anderson said that he has seen his assailant half a dozen times but does not know his name. He stated that he was about 29 years of age, with a black mustache, wearing a black slouch hat and dark clothing.

INFORMATION IS SLOW IN COMING

Duluth People Show Lack of Interest in Lake Level Fight.

Responses to a letter sent out some time ago by the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club, asking for information as to the amount of money expended for improvements in the Duluth-Superior harbor, have not been as numerous or as satisfactory as expected.

The information is being collected to be put in the hands of the committee of lake men opposing the granting of the petition for a greater flow of water for the Chicago drainage canal.

The matter is one of great importance to Duluth. Lake levels are going down naturally every year. The artificial drawing off of water by the Chicago drainage canal would further reduce the levels of the lower lakes, at least, and would endanger the future of shipping on the lakes.

Some people contend that Lake Superior would not be damaged by the greater reduction of the levels of the lower lakes, but what will damage shipping on the lower lakes will also damage shipping on Lake Superior. The reduction of cargoes on account of the lowering of lake levels would be a serious matter for boat owners and shippers.

G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Commercial club, is anxious to get the information desired by the committee opposing the application of the Chicago people. He has not been able to make a report to the commission yet on account of the failure of the people interested to answer his letter asking for information.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. News and Views of Minnesota Politics

Weaver is a Candidate.

Edgar Weaver of Mankato yesterday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor.

Governor Eberhart's home also is in Mankato and Mr. Weaver and the governor will engage in a contest for the Blue Earth county delegation. Despite the indorsement of Governor Eberhart now being circulated through the state, some of the most influential men in Blue Earth county have expressed their opposition to the governor and the probability that the Man of Destiny will go into the state convention without the support of his home county is strong.

Mr. Weaver is county auditor of Blue Earth county and has served in that capacity for twelve years. He is well known through the Second district and is regarded as one of the strongest candidates available against Governor Eberhart in his home county.

The situation is a peculiar one. Last January F. F. Ellsworth, Republican candidate for congress in the Second district in 1910, visited the Twin Cities and said in an interview that the home folks were greatly displeased with Governor Eberhart's affiliations and might bring out a candidate more representative of Blue Earth county and less representative of Ted Smith and his machine.

The statement as to the sentiment averse to the governor was not denied by the newspapers of the Second district. Weaver was prominently mentioned as a prospective opposition candidate to Eberhart in his own county. The idea was ridiculed in quarters in which the state machine has influence. Recently a canvass of Mankato was made on behalf of the governor and an indorsement, signed by about 300 residents of the city, was obtained and sent out through the state. It was met by the assertion that Mankato cast 1,994 votes in 1910 and the indorsement was not representative.

In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Weaver said that he has promises of strong support, not only in Blue Earth county and the Second district, but in other parts of the state.

Mr. Weaver is a Progressive Republican, so that there are now three Progressive candidates against Eberhart, who has united support of the organization men. The situation requires a combination between the Progressives, by which the man going to the convention with the strongest support will be given such votes as the others can swing. Lee and Gordon are believed to have already agreed on some such arrangement and Weaver will probably enter into it also. A majority for Eberhart on the first ballot is unlikely and after all candidates show their strength, the elimination of two of the Progressive candidates will be necessary to success.

May Sidetrack Eberhart.

The story that the organization is considering sidetracking Eberhart in favor of Iverson or some other organization man against whom there is no well-defined opposition, has been revived and it probably will be given added weight by the announcement of Weaver's candidacy.

If Eberhart should lose the Blue Earth delegation the organization would be in an embarrassing position. It would have to stand sponsor for a man who had been repudiated by his own county and the fact would not give strength to Eberhart's candidacy. A shift at the eleventh hour is not at all unlikely. The powers behind the throne in the Republican party in Minnesota want a winner and if Eberhart is not already out of the blue ribbon class, he will be if Weaver succeeds in getting the Blue Earth delegation.

The Presidential Campaign.

Weaver's announcement will revive discussion of the governorship for a time, but there will be no real campaign for state office until after the delegations to the national conventions have been chosen. The presidential campaign in Minnesota will give the voters plenty to think about for the next few weeks, and they probably will be kept so busy that candidates for the governorship will keep in the background until after the delegate conventions.

The presidential campaigns are warming up. The North Dakota result has aroused the La Follette men to new activity. Observers concede them a chance in the Seventh and Ninth districts only, but they intend to make a campaign in every county in the state. President Roosevelt's visit this week will give added impetus to his campaign in Minnesota. In the meantime, Irving A. Caswell is drawing the state officials out on the subject of the presidential primary and preparing for a contest at the meeting of the state central committee next Tuesday.

The Taft campaign is least in the limelight, but strongest in organization. The state machine is for Taft and the federal office-holders are active in every community. The majority of the county organizations are for Taft and very little new organization for the president will be necessary.

Boom For Andrew Nelson.

In commenting on the meeting of the Democratic state central committee, the People's Press of Owatonna pays a compliment to Andrew Nelson of Duluth by mentioning him for the Democratic nomination for governor. The People's Press says:

It is the general sentiment in this part of Minnesota that Andrew Nelson of Duluth would prove the most formidable candidate for governor. He is bright, active ad in the best of health and his personality would win him votes everywhere he appeared. He is a man who is trustworthy and an honor to the whole state.

Opposed to Stevens.

The St. Peter Herald says:

It is time that some little attention be given to one Fred C. Stevens, representative from the Fourth Minnesota district. He enjoys the distinction of being the only habitual stand-patter in the Minnesota delegation. Let him be sent to join his celebrated colleagues, Ex-Congressman McCleary and Ex-Congressman Tawney.

Tributes to Ole Peterson.

Representative Ole Peterson of Bernadotte in the Twentieth legislative district is mentioned for secretary of state by several of the country papers. Mr. Peterson has served four terms in the house and the qualities which have made possible his election to the house for that number of terms have made him many friends in the house and throughout the state. He has a wealth of good, hard-headed common sense and he casts his votes in the way that sense dictates. He is swayed by nothing but his own convictions and those convictions command respect. Mr. Peterson probably will not become a candidate for secretary of state, as he is a highly successful farmer not given to political aspiration.

Two Candidates in Luverne.

E. H. Canfield of Luverne has been mentioned as a prospective candidate for the Republican nomination for state railroad and warehouse commissioner. The Rock County Herald published in Luverne rises to remark that if Rock county is to have a candidate he will probably be O. E. Ferguson, clerk of the district court. The Herald has strong organization leanings, while Mr. Canfield is a Progressive. That may have something to do with this disparaging attitude toward his candidacy.

GEORGE D. McCARTHY.

position that will be embarrassing, if not impossible, should the Ohioan be nominated. On the other hand Senator Reed, well known as a Clark champion, is reported as challenging Governor Wilson to give the sources of his heavy campaign fund and asserting that it is drawn directly from Pierpont Morgan and affiliated sources. Which would make it appear that some super-zealous politicians are so anxious to defeat some one for the nomination that they are willing to risk the success of the Democratic party in the election.

Harmon Not An Impossibility.

The Harmon nomination, for example, is by no means an impossibility. Probably Clark and Wilson will go into the Baltimore convention with more votes than Harmon, but Wilson at any rate will have fewer votes from states which offer a chance of securing electoral votes. Nor will any one of the three appear with even a majority of instructed votes, to say nothing of the needed two-thirds. In such event the convention can only settle down to serious discussion of the man most likely to win. One of the Harmon managers outlines the argument for his candidate thus:

"No man but Harmon is certain to carry Ohio.

"None other is so likely to carry New York, Connecticut and the states that go with them.

"The anti-Harmon states in the convention are nearly all Republican states: the Underwood and Clark states in the South will cheerfully accept Harmon if nominated.

"If there should be some Democratic defection on account of Bryan's attitude, no candidate mentioned will appeal so strongly to Republican voters as Harmon."

All of which arguments are accepted as sound by politicians—even champions of other candidates. This does not mean that Governor Harmon has a cinch on the nomination—no man has that. It does, however, suggest the unwisdom of attack upon him by leaders who have pledged themselves to be in the fight after the convention has made its choice.

Not Taken Seriously.

While rather a graceless thing to say, it is nevertheless the fact that no one—Indiana Democrats least of all—takes seriously the indorsement of the Hoosier governor for the presidency. Governor Marshall possesses an engaging personality and has made an industrious and efficient chief executive of his state. But not merely has he failed to impress himself on the country at large, but he has not the real support of those Indianians known in the field of national politics. If the avenue to nomination should be thrown open to a dark horse, the Washington representatives of Indiana would almost to a man for Senator Kern. It was significant, too, that the very state convention which indorsed Governor Marshall for the presidency ignored all the pet measures which he recommended for state action. Probably his indorsement is to be taken as merely one of the "favorite son" candidacies, intended as a compliment and serving to hold the delegation together until the profitable moment for real action shall arrive. Governor Burke of South Dakota is one of these beneficiaries of what we used to call when we were boys, "Injun givers;" so, too, Baldwin of Connecticut, Foss of Massachusets and Senator Martin of Virginia will be on the list if he permits it. The real dark horse, if he appears, will be darker than any of these.

Tariff Issue to the Front.

One feature, however, of the Indiana platform will give comfort to a lot of Democrats. "Custom house taxation," say the embattled Hoosiers, "should be limited to the needs of the government." That phrase used to be used by Thomas A. Hendricks in the days when Indiana Democracy was really great. Its reiteration now gives color to the belief that the Indiana forces in the convention, which is always coherent and politically shrewd, will be found working to keep the tariff issue to the front in this campaign. Amid clamor about monetary trusts, the Sherman law, freedom for the Filipinos, fortifying the Panama canal against foreign foes and transcontinental railroads, there has been ample reason to apprehend that the tariff might be lost in the multitude of more picturesque issues. Yet it is the one issue on which the Democracy has won in the last half century. Today Clark, Harmon and Underwood are the Democratic candidates who are discussing it most freely—Governor Wilson for some reason avoiding the subject. The Indiana plank might make a good beginning for the platform of postal card size which Democrats are always talking about but never adopt.

The Glass Block Store

Panton & White Compauy.

The Glass Block store observed the opening of style week in Duluth last evening by a reception and free musical for its patrons.

The store was crowded all evening, and many favorable comments on the innovation were heard.

B. P. Neff, the general manager of the store, welcomed the guests, and the department managers and clerks also did everything in their power to make the visitors feel at home. The result was that the evening took on more the aspect of a social gathering than a store opening. Light refreshments were served in the tea rooms and Flaaten's orchestra provided a very enjoyable program of music. The formal opening will continue Tuesday and Wednesday, but the store will not be open again in the evening, with the exception of the usual Saturday evening hours.

The program given last evening follows:

March—"Daughters of America"....
Selection—"The Spring Maid".....
Cornet solo—"Till Dawn".....
Charles Helmer.
"The Merry Widow" .....
(a) "Barcarolle," from "Tales of Hoffman" .....
(b) "Oh You Beautiful Doll".....
"Grand American Fantasia".....
"Italian Nights," waltz.....
Selection—"Chocolate Soldier;" "Star-Spangled Banner" .....

CHILDREN INJURED

Ordinary Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physic Cause Distressing Complaints.

You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given, except in emergency cases. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are apt to do more harm than good. They may cause griping, nausea and other distressing after-effects that are frequently health-destroying.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as the safest and most dependable remedy, which we know, for constipation and associate bowel disorders. We have such absolute faith in the virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies commonly completely relieve constipation, except of course when of a surgical character. They also tend to overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition. Three sizes of packages, 10 cents, 25 cents, and 50 cents. ARNOLD SAYS HE DID IT Admits Responsibility for Suppression of the Everglades Report.

Clapp Offers Freight Claim Bill—Other Washington Doings.

Washington, March 26.—Joseph A. Arnold, editor-in-chief of the division of publications of the department of agriculture, has assumed responsibility for the suppression of the much-talked of report on the feasibility of reclaiming the Florida Everglades. He told the Moss committee he had recommended that the report be suppressed, and had voiced the opinion to Secretary Wilson in June, 1910.

"Why did you oppose the publication of this report?" asked Chairman Moss.

"Because of the obvious irreconcilable differences between the engineers of the department and the conflict of opinion outside the department," answered Mr. Arnold. "It was apparent to me that no report could be issued with the unanimous approval of the department. I thought it was time to exercise caution and prudence. I commended therefore that no report be issued at all. A bulletin from the department should be the last word from the department, and I do not think it fair to the people of the country to give them any bulletin which is not indorsed by the department. The secretary agreed with me."

Was Not Approached.

"Do you know of any one approaching either yourself or the secretary of agriculture or any other official of the department, improperly on this matter?" asked Representative Sloan, a member of the committee.

"Absolutely no one," replied Mr. Arnold.

The witness described an interview he had with Representative Frank Clark of Florida, whose charges as to the department's conduct in the Everglades survey brought on the present investigation.

He said Mr. Clark called with a couple of friends. He detailed the conversation and said Mr. Clark had declared that if the Everglades report was very favorable "it would hurt some of his constituents who owned Florida land outside of the Everglades that was just as good as the Everglades."

Circular Was Irregular.

Mr. Arnold said the publication of the circular letter on the Everglades which was said to have hurt the sale of the lands, was very irregular and unusual. This letter was mailed out to inquirers from the department until Senator Fletcher of Florida induced Secretary Wilson to suppress it.

C. G. Elliott, formerly chief drainage engineer of the department of agriculture, categorically denied before the committee that he had anything to do, directly or indirectly, with the suppression or delay of the department's report on the drainage of the Florida Everglades.

Clapp Bill on Freight Claims.

At the request of President Taft, Senator Clapp introduced a bill to prevent undue delay in the settlement of freight claims. The measure undertakes to lay down rules for the conduct of freight charge controversies.

Asks About Public Carriages.

The senate adopted a resolution by Senator Bristow directing the heads of the executive departments and other officers in Washington to report to congress the number of carriages, automobiles and other vehicles used by them at public expense, and the names of employes of the government who perform duties as chauffeurs, servants at private homes, etc.

The purpose of the resolution is to break up the practice of utilizing government vehicles and subordinate the employes in the domestic service of government officials.

Wiping Out Deficit.

Increased spring trading is helping to wipe out the government's deficit. Treasury officials were particularly elated over the showing for Saturday when the receipts exceeded the expenditures by $1,213,000. The deficit now is $16,450,000, while at the beginning of the month it was $20,500,000. It is expected that the corporation tax, most of which will be paid in June, will bring in about $25,000,000 and thus wipe out any deficit that might remain.

Urges Mine Mediation.

Representative Lee of Pennsylvania, urging his bill to amend the Erdman act to include disputes between coal operators and miners, told a sub-committee of the house interstate commerce committee that the provision for federal intervention in a great coal strike in the anthracite and bituminous fields must be made in the near future. The sub-committee has asked Judge Martin A. Knapp of the commerce court, Dr. Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor, both of whom are mediators in interstate railway disputes under the Erdman act, and the interstate commerce commission for their opinions.

To Reach Corporations.

The senate judiciary committee ordered favorably reported Senator Cummins' bill to make possible the serving of a summons upon corporations which violate the law in doing business in a state where they are without authorized agents.

Mexican business has been going on as if there was not a revolution in that country.

ABUNDANCE OF SOFT, FLUFFY HAIR AND NO MORE DANDRUFF

Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine and just try this—stops hair falling out at once

Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff like snow beneath the blazing sun, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp; forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of Dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting all over the scalp.

A little Danderine will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

Returns From East.

I. Miller of the Miller-Albenberg company has returned after a six weeks' absence in the Eastern markets. Mr. Miller is enthusiastic on the improved business conditions. He says wholesalers and manufacturers are busier than for years and that the opinion is almost universal that politics will not affect it adversely this year. Mr. Miller heard much favorable comment on the stability of Duluth and its future.

DANGERS OF FAT
HOW FAT AFFECTS THE LUNGS

How many people suffering from excess of fat can expand their lungs to fullest extent—giving to their bodies an abundance of fresh air? The short, panting breath of obesity makes the heart work faster, sending the blood through veins and arteries at double pressure, giving no time for proper nourishment of the body. And all because the lungs are crowded with rolls of fat that prevent smooth, easy breathing. How much better to dissolve the fat, and allow the system to produce compact muscle. This is accomplished surely and harmlessly through Marmola Prescription Tablets. These convenient little tablets are the condensed form of that famous Marmola Prescription which for years has proved so harmless and effective in reducing fat people to slimness. The steady, even reduction is accomplished, without dieting or exercise, allowing you to live as you like, eat what you like and still lose 10 to 16 oz. a day. Marmola Prescription Tablets are for sale by all druggists or the Marmola Co., 491 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., at 75c for a large case. If getting too fat for comfort, buy a case today.

WAREHOUSE IS ASSURED

Farmers and Proctor Business Men Complete Their Organization.

Building for Potato Storage Will Be Erected This Year.

Proctor will have a potato warehouse and the corporation in charge is to be known as the Proctor Potato company. This was finally decided upon at a meeting of Proctor business men and farmers living in the vicinity, held last evening at the Proctor Commercial club. About 125 business men and farmers were present at the meeting.

The company will be incorporated at once and plans will be made for the building of the warehouse. About $300 was subscribed last evening, which brings the total up to $2,000. This assures the company sufficient funds for the beginning of the work. The Duluth, Missabe & Northern has already donated a site to the company.

The following nine directors were chosen to act as the executive committee in charge of the corporation: Otto Witte of Hermantown, Albert Miller of Munger, James R. Grady of Hermantown, Peter Hanson of Carlton county, Michael Johnson and John Peterson, both of Midway, P. McCabe, F. G. Sugg and H. H. Peyton of Proctor. After the directors were elected, the following officers and committees were elected for the coming year: Albert Miller, president; Peter Hanson, vice president; James Grady, secretary; F. G. Sugg, treasurer; Messrs. McCabe, Hanson and Sugg, building committee; Messrs. Witte, Peyton and Johnson, incorporation committee, and Messrs. Miller, Grady and Peterson, leases committee.

The meeting was a most enthusiastic one. A report was read by a temporary committee appointed two weeks ago telling of the various other warehouses throughout the West. The road committee reported that Commissioner Overton has promised to complete the highway between Proctor and Hermantown, which will reduce the distance from seven miles to one and one-half miles. The uncompleted road is about seven-eighths of a mile long and is necessary to the future of the warehouse, the members of the new corporation say. The committee on roads consists of P. McCabe, F. G. Suggs and Henry Riley. The plans for the warehouse were drawn by Architect W. J. Sullivan. Stock in the company is now being sold at $5 a share and business men and farmers are all taking advantage of the plan, and subscribing to the new company.

DEAF MUTE IS ARRESTED

Has No Knowledge of Sign Language, But Story Is Believed.

Yesterday afternoon Patrolman Root arrested A. E. Grimmet, who was begging and using the plea that he was deaf and dumb.

While Grimmet was in Judge Moran's store suspicion was aroused. The man was arrested and taken this morning to the county jail, to await a charge of vagrancy. M. J. Filiatrault, who knows the deaf and dumb sign language was called and after his "talk" with Grimmet he learned that the man had but a slight knowledge of the sign language.

At the station last evening the man wrote his name and age, which is 20 years, and then wrote a brief account of his life for Lieut. Wilcox. He wrote that his parents are in very straightened circumstances and that their home is in Evanston, Ill. The young man claims that he has been deaf and dumb for only a short time and therefore has no knowledge of the sign language. The officers believe this and Lieut. Wilcox said this morning that he sincerely believes the man to be deaf and dumb. This was at first doubted as a similar case was reported last week and the man later proved to be able to talk. After the other's arrest it was learned that he was wanted in Minneapolis for burglary and he was taken there Saturday to answer the charge of a $1,000 theft.

Grimmet has a number of post cards, on which he pleads for a little money as he is deaf and dumb and unable to secure work. This is somewhat similar to the card system of Harry Thorpe, who was arrested last week. The man was at first thought to be an imposter and all efforts were made to find out if he could talk, but the police here are now of the opinion that the man is really deaf and only the charge of begging will be brought against him in court tomorrow.

MR. AND MRS. M. G. LEVY ARE IN JERUSALEM.

L. A. Barnes, cashier of the Western State bank, received a postcard yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Levy, formerly of West Duluth, who are now taking a two years' cruise around the world. They are now in Jerusalem, from where they will take an extended trip through Egypt and then go to South America. They have now been gone a year and are planning to visit the Far East before returning home by way of the Pacific.

SIGNS OF SPRING IN WEST DULUTH

The coming of spring was manifested in West Duluth today.

In the first place George Brown, a barber at 328 Central avenue, reported this morning that he saw a real robin on Fifty-seventh avenue west yesterday afternoon. He also claims that he saw the same bird this morning.

T. F. Wieland of Wieland & Wade, hardware dealers on Central avenue, walked about the streets in West Duluth in his last year's straw hat, the first of the season. Although the annual straw-hat edict has not yet gone forth, Mr. Wieland said that the warm spring weather was enough for him and that any sane man is safe in putting on his last year's straw hat. He is going about unmolested.

The last and final sign of spring for West Duluth is the regular council of firemen sitting in front of the No. 8 fire station at Fifty-fifth avenue west and Cody street. During the warm days the entire local department can be seen sitting in front of the station. This morning every fireman took advantage of the warm weather and sat outside.

Long Illness Fatal.

Anthony De Leucia, 36 years old, of 126 South Sixty-first avenue west, died at 5 o'clock this morning after a two years' illness of consumption. He leaves a wife and two children. He was a member of the West Duluth tent, No. 2, K. O. T. M., which society will have charge of the funeral. Arrangements will be made this afternoon. It is probable that the funeral will be held Thursday morning from the residence.

Child Dies.

Stewart, the 6 -month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Rikley, 120 South Sixty-third avenue west, died at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a three days' illness. The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the residence. Rev. W. E. Farrell of the Asbury M. E. church will officiate and interment will be in the Oneota cemetery.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Asbury M. E. church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Richter, 423 Central avenue.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. Roberg, 3913 Magellan street. The Dorcas society will be entertained there in the evening.

The Young People's society of Our Savior's Norweglan Lutheran church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Wadena street, will meet in the church parlors this evening.

Opening of spring millinery at Haley's, 5613 Grand avenue, Tuesday and Wednesday.

J. D. Unger, former conductor of the Duluth Street Railway company, will leave tomorrow for Pittsburg, Pa., where he will make his future home.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, is conducting a social in the church parlors this afternoon and evening.

The congregation of Westminster Presbyterian church held its regular monthly meeting in the church last evening.

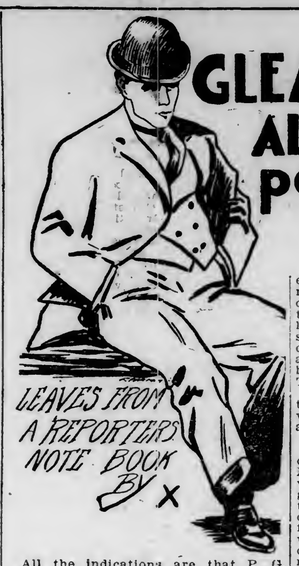
The Irving Alumni association held its annual meeting in the school assembly last evening. Officers for the year were elected.

Watch repairing, Hurst, West Duluth.

Rev. W. H. Farrell of the Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, is conducting a series of revival meetings to last the next two weeks. Another meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

E. G. Kreidler at 405 Central avenue, loans you money on first mortgage security. His charges are reasonable.



GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

All the indications are that P. G. Nelson, whose body was found in bed in his room at 1830 East Water street yesterday afternoon, deliberately took his own life.

He was 65 years of age, and those who investigated the case state that he asserted several times recently that he had nothing further for which to live. The authorities have not the slightest doubt but that he committed suicide.

Nelson lived about Duluth for a great many years and was known to a large number of people in the city. Most of the time he was engaged as a common laborer. Last summer he worked at Palmer, and in the fall he was out of a job. He had a little money saved up and went to board with Charles Bergholm on East Water street.

Since he lost his last position he has looked for work in all directions, but he was met at every place with the statement that men were not needed. It may be that he was considered too old to handle the strenuous work which was likely to be his portion when he applied at the employment offices, and it may have just happened that whenever he applied there was "nothing doing."

At any event his supply of cash had run out. His wife died about four years ago, and he had been quite despondent over her loss, his friends noticing his spells of brooding. Several days ago he paid up all his bills and advanced his room rent for a month. Sunday night he retired as usual. But when he did not appear at his regular time Monday, Charles Bergholm, his landlord, became worried and tried to arouse him. His raps failing to get any response, he broke down the door after he had been advised to do so by the police department. He found the aged man dead in bed.

Coroner C. F. McComb was notified and his investigation satisfied him that it was a case of suicide. He found that every window and every door in the room had been tightly closed. The chimney drafs had been shut off while those in the front of the stove had been left wide open. The door of the stove had been left open allowing the coal gas to escape, causing death by asphyxiation. Since Nelson's wife died he has had no relatives in this country. They had no children.

The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of Olson & Crawford, where it is being held pending funeral arrangements.

BRACKEN TALKS OF INDIAN WORK

Asks for Federal Aid in Fighting Disease Among Red Men.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, March 26.—Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the Minnesota state board of health, is in Washington to confer with federal officials about health conditions among the Indians of Minnesota.

Dr. Bracken today asked the surgeon general of the United States public health service to detail one of his experts to visit the reservation and study conditions, particularly as to tuberculosis and trachoma. He hopes the detail will be made.

Dr. Bracken will also see members of the Minnesota congressional delegation, and of the house and senate Indian committees, relative to legislation for the relief of conditions among Minnesota Indians. He will also have a conference with officials of the Indian bureau on the question of the co-operation of state and federal authorities in health work among the Indians.

SUPERIOR BOY WANTED $5,000

Admits He Lied About Whereabouts of Missing Chicagoan.

Chicago, March 26.—Nineteen-year-old Michael Jacobs of Superior, Wis., confessed to detectives today that he had concocted his story that William Carson Long, missing son of Alderman Theodore K. Long of Chicago, was held a prisoner in a house at St. Paul, Minn. The yarn was told in an attempt to realize part of the $5,000 reward which had been offered by Alderman Long.

Jacobs said that he had run away from home in Superior and was penniless here. The Chicago authorities have held him on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Survey Bill Passes House.

The bill providing for a survey of the route to be traversed by the proposed lakes to the gulf canal, passed the house of representatives yesterday afternoon. No specific amount was appropriated, but the cost of the survey will be taken out of the national survey fund of $300,000). It is probable that the bill will come up before the senate the latter part of this week.

KLINE LABORATORIES 45 E. 20th Street New York City

Talk on Child Labor.

Miss Florence Perrin, assistant superintendent of the free labor bureau, last evening explained to the principals of the public schools at a meeting held at the Bluine school, the prime features of the recently enacted laws pertaining to child labor. The meeting was called for the purpose of securing the cooperation of the schools in discouraging the ambition of children to leave school before an education has fitted them for business.

Inspect Sites.

A tour of the four prospective sites for the free labor bureau building was taken yesterday afternoon by the members of the council advisory committee. The final decision will be announced at the next meeting of the council, April 3.

Court Calendar Closes.

Yesterday was the last day for filing cases for the April term of the superior court, and when the books were closed, there had been entered a total of 77 cases. Of these 30 are jury cases, 31 court and 19 criminal.

CASE OF TOO MUCH JOHNSON

"John Johnson No. 153" Must Prove His Identity.

John Johnson, No. 153, may be asked to prove his identity in his personal injury suit brought in district court against the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company.

There are many John Johnsons and according to the answer of the defendant filed today, the company is uncertain whether this plaintiff is the right John Johnson.

The answer admits that a John Johnson, tagged as No. 153, was working at the company's mine at Crosby on April 9, 1907, the date of the alleged accident, which is made the ground for the suit which has been started.

Johnson is suing for $2,000.

A WARNING TO SETTLERS

Forest Ranger Urges Care in Burning Sloughs in Spring.

Percy Vibert, forest ranger for this district, with headquarters at Cloquet, is in the city today.

"In burning the small sloughs and meadows in the spring they should be burned when the fire will not run on the uplands and when the wind is not too high," said Mr. Vibert.

"Before leaving the burned area you should see that the fire is all out.

"Leaving fire in these places has been the cause of a great many of the forest fires in the past which should be avoided."

OBITUARY

John N. Blair, assistant state weighmaster, is dead at his residence in St. Anthony Park, Minn. Mr. Blair was 55 years of age. His wife, Mrs. Margaret Blair, who has charge of the domestic arts department of the agricultural college, and his son, Donald S. Blair of Chicago, survive him.

Mr. Blair was born near Utica, Winona county, Minn. He married in 1884. For ten years he was in the United States mail service and during the last ten years with the state grain and warehouse commission in Minneapolis. He was a members of the Territorial Pioneers' association, the Masons and the Native Sons of Minnesota.

Mrs. Anna Potter, once a candidate for mayor of Kansas City, Kan., died at her home in Kansas City, March 26, aged 65 years. Mrs. Potter was a pioneer in woman's suffrage movement in Kansas, and her campaign for mayor in 1893 attracted Mrs. Mary Ellen Lease and other noted women to assist her. Mrs. Potter was an independent. Her platform read: "Honesty and integrity—those are my sentiments." She was defeated.

Bishop Yoichi Honda of the Methodist church of Japan, died in Nagasaki, Japan, March 26, of typhoid fever, in his 64th year. Bishop Honda was well known in Europe and America, where he paid several visits as a delegate to to international Christian association conferences, and he also represented Japan at the world's Y. M. SENATE KEEPS UP STEPHENSON TALK Wisconsin Man and Lorimer Both Listen to the Debate.

Washington, March 26. — The fight over the right of Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin to his seat in the upper branch of congress was resumed in the senate today. A number of set speeches were yet to be delivered, including those of Senators Root of New York for Mr. Stephenson, and Borah of Idaho, Kern of Indiana and Lea of Tennessee, against him.

The discussion is commanding the close attention of senators, not alone on account of the pending case, but because of its possible bearing on the coming consideration of the election of Senator Lorimer of Illinois. Both Senators Stephenson and Lorimer remain constantly in the senate chamber while the debate progresses.

SOME WOMEN SAY THEY'LL BE GOOD

English Court Hears the Cases of 126 Militant Suffragettes.

London, March 26.—A special sitting of the county of London sessions opened today for the trial of 126 women who had been committed by the police court magistrate in connection with the window-smashing raids in London on March 1 and March 4.

Travers Humphreys, counsel for the treasury, in his speech for the prosecution, emphasized the fact that the raids were an organized attack on property and could not be tolerated.

Judge Robert Wallace sentenced a succession of suffragettes to terms ranging from four to six months' imprisonment. In some cases where the women undertook not to repeat the offense they were bound over to come up for judgment if called upon.

New Mexico Deadlock Holds.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 26.—The seventh ballot, taken today, for United States senator did not break the deadlock.

WORK FOR BETTER JAIL CONDITIONS

Society Will Be Organized at Meeting Friday Evening.

The organization of a society for the betterment of the penal system of Duluth and to assist discharged prisoners is the object of a meeting called for Friday evening at the library.

The call for the meeting was issued by the jail committee of the Woman's Council. The committee consists of Mrs. A. B. Siewert, Miss Jean Poirier, Mrs. Charles Callin and Miss Julia Ensign.

The committee intends that the society shall assist in working out a more humane system of dealing with petty offenders in Duluth. The problem of finding employment for discharged prisoners is a serious one and has, heretofore, not been given attention in Duluth.

BRITISH COLUMBIAN IN TROUBLE IN LONDON.

London, March 26.—A man calling himself Charles Henry Unversagt and describing himself as a wealthy American mine owner, was remanded today at Bow street police court in custody on a charge of sending a libelous postcard to Miss Winifred Smith.

Unversagt has been staying at a London hotel, where he was arrested last night. Only formal evidence of arrest was given at today's hearing.

The police on further investigation learned that Unversagt resides in British Columbia.

SPERRY MANSLAUGHTER CASE GIVEN TO JURY.

Fargo, N. D., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The arguments in the Sperry manslaughter case were completed this afternoon. Judge Pollock charged the jury and that body retired.

Liver Sluggish? Go To Your Doctor
"How are your bowels?" This is generally the first question the doctor asks. He knows what a sluggish liver means. He knows that headaches, bilious attacks, indigestion, impure blood, are often promptly relieved by a good liver pill. Ask him if he approves of Ayer's Pills. Then follow his advice.

The Doctor's Advice
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Old Soldier" writes: "I would like to know what to do for rheumatism, as I am so crippled that I cannot walk. Please answer at once:"

Answer: Here is the best remedy for rheumatism that is known, and if taken according to directions you will soon be out again and be strong and well. Get 2 drams of iodide potassium; 4 drams sodium salicylate; one-half oz. wine of colchicum; 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort, and 5 ozs of syrup sarsaparilla comp. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again before going to bed.

"Laura" says: "Some time ago I contracted a very severe cold and cough. I have tried many remedies, but they do not seem to help me at all. I wish you would advise me what to do."

Answer: What you need is a laxative cough syrup, one that will drive the cold from your system. The following prescription will cure your cold and cough. Get a 2½ oz. package of concentrated essence mentho-laxene and make according to directions on the bottle. Take a teaspoonful every hour or two or until your cold is better. This will cure you in a very few days.

"Stenographer" writes: "I can scarcely do my work on account of the terrible distress in my stomach after eating. I have a heavy feeling in my stomach and gas forms. I am also constipated."

Answer: This condition if neglected will cause appendicitis. You should begin at once and take tablets triopeptine, which can be bought in any drug store at small cost. They are packed in sealed cartons with full directions accompanying the package. I am sure many cases of appendicitis could be prevented by the use of triopeptine.

"A. R." writes: "Please send me a prescription for a good tonic. I am weak and languid all the time, have no appetite and cannot sleep at night."

Answer: Obtain the following ingredients from your druggist and take for several weeks and you will be strong and healthy. Syrup of hypophosphites comp., 5 ozs.; tincture cadomene comp., 1 oz (not cardamon), and take a teaspoonful before each meal. Shake well before taking.

"Mrs. G." writes: "Please prescribe a safe treatment for reducing flesh. I am getting too stout for comfort, but I have always been afraid to try anything."

Answer: A reliable and quick acting formula for reducing weight is: Aromatic elixir, 5 ozs.; glycol arbolene, 1 oz. Mix, shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after each meal for three days, then take two teaspoonfuls. Continue a sufficient length of time to properly reduce your weight.

"Unhappy May" writes: "I suffer constantly with headaches, indigestion and kidney trouble. My skin is pimply and oily."

Answer: Three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur tablets) is the best known remedy for the blood. They are made from sulphur, cream of tartar and herb medicines which act directly on the blood, purifying it, thus causing the pimples to disappear and the skin to become fresh and healthy looking. These sulpherb tablets are packed in sealed tubes and can be bought at any drug store. They will also cure your kidney trouble and indigestion.

"Mrs. O." The best remedy for bedwetting in children is to give them 10 to 15 drops in water before meals of the following: Tincture cubebs, 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic, 2 drams, and comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.

Mrs. D. B.: The treatment for leucorrhea which you used so successfully a year ago and which you have lost the prescription, is: Antiseptic vilane powder, 2 ozs.; tannic acid, 1 oz. Mix and use a teaspoonful twice daily to a quart of warm water as an injection with syringe. Yes you may give the prescription to your friends since you can advise them of its prompt curative action. As a tonic and flesh builder in connection with the above take three grain hypo-nuclane tablets.

"Sorrowful May" says: "My scalp is covered with dandruff, my hair is oily and straggling. Please help me so that I may look like other girls."

Answer: You can very easily "look like other girls" if you will get at the drug store a 4 oz jar of plain yellow minyol and use it regularly according to the directions given. It will cure your dandruff and make your hair soft and fluffy and make it grow. This treatment differs from all others and I have actually seen the most wonderful transformations when people have used this only two or three times.

"Ann" writes: "Could you prescribe something to increase my weight? I am tall and thin to such an embarrassing degree that I am frequently subjected to slighting remarks."

Answer: Hypo-Nuclane tablets have been prescribed with great success as indicated by gratifying letters from hundreds of girls who suffer as you do. These tablets can be purchased in sealed packages from any well-stocked drug store and full directions are given inside. These should be taken regularly for about two months, and you will be surprised to note the color in your cheeks and lips and your weight will increase from 15 to 30 pounds.

SUES OLD PEOPLE'S HOME.

Daughter of Founder Claims Bequest Terms Are Violated.

Chicago, March 26. — Twenty-four years ago, Seth Wadhams, a millionaire of Du Page county, Illinois, died and left $20,000 to the Old People's home of Chicago to be used in establishing a home for old men. He also bequeathed $10,000 for the maintenance of the home for old men.

Proceedings now have been begun in the circuit court by a daughter of Seth Wadhams, once affluent, but now penniless, to revoke the bequest and obtain an accounting from the trustees of the Old People's home.

The daughter, Mrs. Emma Wadhams Green, avers that although the bequest was paid to the trustees of the Old People's home in 1890, the provisions of the trust have never been carried out and that the money has been invested and reinvested and now amounts to $71,900.

Mrs. Green declares in her complaint that she has applied to the Old People's home for assistance and was refused help except a small stipend, unless she would relinquish her claim as the heir to the fund bequeathed by her father.

She asserts that until recently she was unaware that the fund had not been used as her father directed, and asks the court to order an accounting and enter a decree declaring the original bequest and its earnings a trust fund for her use.

HALF MILLION LOST IN FIRE IN TORONTO.

Toronto, Ont., March 26.—A loss of about $500,000 was caused by a fire in the east end of the car barns of the Toronto Railway company. A shift of the wind saved the company's main building from complete destruction, but carried the flames to some factory buildings nearby. Two-thirds of the loss falls on the street railway company, but it is mostly covered by insurance in American companies. The adjoining factories destroyed were occupied by the Empire Refining company, R. A. Sabiston Mattress factory, A. Muirhead, paints and varnishes, and the Cockshutt Plow company.

The fire was the most disastrous and spectacular since the $10,000,000 conflagration of 1904. The loss of 250 street cars in the fire will seriously handicap the transit facilities here for several months.

It is believed the fire was caused by the smouldering embers of a shed near the barns, destroyed early in the day by a fire thought to have been of incendiary origin.

MAY CO-OPERATE ON PARK PLANS

Hillsiders Want Fifth Ward Club to Join Forces With Them.

To drop the proposition of purchasing a block at Ninth avenue west and Third street for park purposes and boost the Central park extension and improvement is the plan which the members of the Fifth Ward Improvement club will be asked by the West End Hillside club to support.

Hillside residents are determined in their present movement to secure the necessary improvements to the park and they are now planning to secure all the assistance possible from other residents of this part of the city. The Fifth Ward Improvement club is now working for a park for the district surrounding Ninth avenue west and Third street, which the hillside residents claim would cost about $20,000. Only half of this amount, say the members of the Hillside club, is necessary to properly improve Central park and make it one of the best parks in the city.

Central park, say the hillside residents, is just as convenient to the majority of the residents of Fifth ward as the proposed site on Ninth avenue west. Central park is about four times as large as the proposed park of the improvement club and would better serve the residents and would cost much less money.

The members of the West End Hillside club are now circulating a petition among the residents, requesting the park board to make the necessary changes. There are 300 signatures to the petition already. The petition will be presented to the park board at its next meeting. The park is located between Fourteenth and Seventeenth avenues west and extends from First street to the hillside. It contains about 160 acres and has not been improved since its purchase by the city.

Only $5,000 is needed this year, say the residents, to improve the park and make it fit for use. The boulevard runs through the upper end of the park and in its western corner are the Twin lakes, for which a new embankment is now needed. Following the improvement of the park this year, the residents have in view the rebuilding of the embankment for the lakes and a new highway between First and Third streets, with a proper approach from Piedmont avenue to the Third street road.

WILL FOLLOW UP CAMPAIGN

West End Churchmen Plan to Carry Out Experts' Plans.

Thursday evening the men of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, will hold a special meeting to take up the work of the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign of the past week. The meeting will be held for all the men and boys of the West end who are interested in the work for the purpose of following out the plans and suggestions of the leaders, who spoke here all of last week.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the church, will be in charge and open the "aftermath campaign," as it is to be called. Several committees will be appointed to work in the West end and further the work of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, as advocated the past week. A number of meetings will be announced and from time to time evangelistic campaigns will be held in different parts of the West end.

For the present only the members of the Second Presbyterian church are interested in the movement, but it is probable that the other West end churches will take up the work. It is planned to have a general committee representing every church in Duluth to have executive charge of the meetings, campaigns and revivals to be held in the various parts of the city from time to time. A committee representing the Second Presbyterian church will be appointed Thursday.

At the annual meeting of the congregation of the Second Presbyterian church, which will be held Thursday evening, April 4, officers will be elected and plans made for the coming year.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the church, will be in charge of the meeting, which will bring a most successful year to a close. The new year begins the first of April, although nothing is done until after the annual meeting. A board of trustees and eldders will be elected, together with the many church committees to assist the pastor and the trustees.

During the past year the Second Presbyterian church has introduced a number of interesting features. Several new societies have been formed, all of which have met with success. The Servo Adult Bible class is now one of the strongest of its kind in the city and is at present making a special study of social service work and conditions in Duluth. Prominent speakers of the city address the members from time to time and speak on the various interesting questions now before the people.

WILL GIVE BENEFIT FOR INJURED MEMBER.

For the benefit of Joseph Von Drashek, 811 North Twenty-fourth avenue west, who was injured several weeks ago in an indoor baseball game, while playing with the Sodality team of St. Clement's Catholic church, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, the members of the Sodality are now planning to give a card party and athletic entertainment the evening of April 10.

Von Drashek's right leg was broken during one of the city championship games and he has been compelled to lie in bed ever since. The young man has been unable to work during this time, and the members of the Sodality, of which he is a member, will give the entertainment for his benefit. The evening will open with a card party and will close with a grand athletic carnival to be given by the members of the Sodality. An indoor baseball game and a basket ball game are two of the features for the evening.

BEGINS SERIES OF EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS.

Rev. M. S. Rice of the First M. E. church opened the series of evangelistic meetings last evening at the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. A large audience was present and Mrs. J. J. Daniels sang two solos during the evening's services. The second meeting of the series, which are to continue until Thursday of this week and then start again next Tuesday evening, will be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Rev. Dr. Rice preached on "Awake, Arise, Accept," and his sermon was taken from the text of Eph: 5-14; "Awake thou that sleepest, arise from the dead, for Christ shall give thee light." Rev. Dr. Rice pleaded for a more earnest belief in mankind. He urged more interest in the daily routine of life and that every man, woman and child should take a part in the struggle to do good and help mankind in every way.

MEN'S CLUB WILL GIVE BANQUET.

The Men's Club of the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will give a banquet next Monday evening for the members of the club and representatives of the various West end churches. The banquet will be held for the purpose of forming plans for a campaign to be held immediately after Easter following up the Man and Religion Forward Movement meetings held here last week. The members of the club are anxious to carry on the recommendations of the experts, who spoke in this end of the city during the eight-day campaign and the banquet will be followed by a general discussion and election of committees and officers for the West end churches.

Nelson Funeral.

The body of Peter G. Nelson, 67 years old, who was found dead in bed yesterday at the home of Charles Bergholm, 1830 East Water street, where he had boarded, was taken to the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms yesterday afternoon, where it will be prepared for burial. Nelson has no relatives in the city and the funeral arrangements will be made sometime this afternoon by the coroner.

West End Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. E. Jensen, 2021 West Fourth street.

Next Sunday morning Rev. Edward Erickson of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, will conduct the annual confirmation class. This year there will be a class of nineteen children, who will take the examination from Rev. Mr. Erickson.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Swedish M. E. church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. H. Johnson, 2331 West Third street.

Rev. Edwin Stromberg of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will conduct the regular weekly prayer meeting Thursday evening.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Division No. 6, A. O. H., initiated a class of new members at its meeting at the Foresters' hall last evening.

Dr. C. G. Lagergren of Morgan Park, Ill., who has been visiting at the home of Rev. Swaney Nelson, 2212 West Third street, for the past few days, left for his home last evening.

The congregation of the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will hold its monthly meeting in the church this evening.

The McGonagle circle of the B. of L. E. will entertain at a card party Friday afternoon at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

The Dorcas circle of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Englund, 2704 West Third street.

The Foreign Missionary society of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will conduct a prayer meeting in the church tomorrow evening.

The St. Luke's guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, will meet in the guild rooms Thursday afternoon. The Young Ladies' guild of the church will act as the hostesses for the afternoon.

Miss Frances Berg of 2701 West First street entertained the Queen Esther circle of the Grace M. E. church at her home last evening.

WANT KANSAS CITY TO BE METHODIST CENTER.

Kansas City, Mo., March 26. — A resolution asking the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church to make this city the business headquarters of the church was adopted by the St. Louis conference of the church in session yesterday. The resolution provided that a bishop reside here, that the chief business of the Methodist Book concern be established here and that the Home Missionary board be moved from Philadelphia to this city.

BARBER AND MOON TRUE BILLS ARE DISMISSED.

Boise, Idaho, March 26.—Indictments charging James T. Barber and Sumner N. Moon, officers and chief stockholders of the Barber Lumber company, with acquiring timber lands unlawfully, which have been in the federal court for five years, were dismissed yesterday by Judge Dietrich. A civil suit to cancel title to the lands in question was decided against the government by the United States circuit court of appeals, and this virtually disposed of the criminal charges.

Clark on Bay State Ballots.

Washington, March 26. — The submission of Speaker Champ Clark's name as a Democratic candidate in the presidential primary in Massachusetts, April 30, has been determined upon by the Clark leaders. In an announcement from the national Clark headquarters here it is stated that this determination was reached only after Governor Foss had positively stated that he would not be a candidate.

NO WORDS WASTED

A Swift Transformation Briefly Described.

About food, the following brief but emphatic letter from a Georgia woman goes straight to the point and is convincing.

"My frequent attacks of indigestion and palpitation of the heart culminated in a sudden and desperate illness, from which I arose enfeebled in mind and body. The doctor advised me to live on cereals, but none of them agreed with me until I tried Grape-Nuts food and Postum.

"The more I used of them the more I felt convinced that they were just what I needed, and in a short time they made a different woman of me. My stomach and heart troubles disappeared as if by magic, and my mind was restored and is as clear as it ever was.

"I gained flesh and strength so rapidly that my friends were astonished. Postum and Grape-Nuts have benefited me so greatly that I am glad to bear this testimony." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

HEAR TALK ON METER TESTING

Members of Electric Club Hold Banquet and Interesting Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lake Superior Electric club was held last evening at the Commercial club where supper was served after which J. O. McElroy of the Great Northern Power company read a paper on "Meters and Meter Testing."

This subject was exemplified by an exhibition of a large number of meters of different makes, old and new, in present use and some now obsolete. The different theories embodied in the several designs were given and the working out of those theories was shown by the meters in practical operation. The subject was a most interesting one and the large number present were pleased with Mr. McElroy's concise and clear presentation.

The next meeting will be held early in April, on which occasion the annual meeting will be held and the election of new officers, the presentation of officers' reports and general business matters will come up. The present officers are: President, T. W. Hugo; secretary, J. B. Crane.

OSBORN FLAYS STAIR'S PAPERS

Sends Message to Legislature Denouncing Opponents of Reforms.

Lansing, Mich., March 26.—In a message to the legislature last night Governor Osborn made an attack upon E. D. Stair of Detroit and the two newspapers in which he holds a large interest, for their opposition to the reform measures he has laid before the special sessions of the Michigan law makers.

After quoting a resolution adopted by an organization of Detroit saloonkeepers voicing their opposition to liquor legislation, woman suffrage, the initiative, referendum and recall, and to any change in the present bonding laws, the message says:

"The Detroit Free Press and the Detroit Journal are active supporters of the Michigan Bonding & Surety company and of the brewery-owned saloon.

"E. D. Stair, a large owner of these papers, won his money from the cheap and vulgar and suggestive theater business.

"The business of conducting debasing theaters and the business of keeping bad saloons and the business of artificially stimulating the saloon business by big brewers, are all afraid of the extension of the decent influence of women in the political sphere, and they are apposed to the initiative, referendum and recall, the presidential primary and other curative measures which will permit an honest public to get at and destroy their culture-grounds of vice."

FLORIDA IS FASTEST DREADNOUGHT AFLOAT.

Rockland, Me., March 26.—The fastest dreadnaught in the American navy, and probably in the world, is the title claimed for the government-built battleship Florida, which made 22.54 knots on her standardization trial over the Rockland course yesterday. The British dreadnought Vanguard, with a record of 22.50 has been considered previously the fleetest battleship of the the world, and the Florida's sister ship Utah, built at a private yard, made a record of 21.637 on her fastest trial run. The Florida's tests were held in a rough sea and a brisk wind, with the big fighter using only coal, as her oil tanks have not yet been installed. Rear Admiral Aaron Ward, who was on board, declined to give out any official figures except to confirm the high speed record.

CISTERN AT NON-UNION MAN'S HOME POISONED.

Muscatine, Iowa, March 26.—A plot to poison the family of Charles Reed, a non-union button worker, was discovered here when a chemical test proved that poisonous acids had been placed in the cistern of drinking water at the Reed home, according to the police. Prompt medical attention saved the life of Mrs. Reed, who had drunk some of the water.

Marquette U. C. T. Elect.

Marquette, Mich., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Upper Peninsula council, United Commercial Travelers, has elected the following officers: Past councilor, C. C. Carlisle; senior councilor, J. E. Krafft; junior councilor, Thomas Follis; secretary, treasurer, Charles Wheeler; conductor, Robert Richards; page, J. L. Boyd; sentinel, Wallace Stephenson; delegates to grand council at Bay City, Mich., C. C. Carlisle, J. E. Krafft and Robert Richards; alternates, Thomas Follis and Barney Goodman.

BELTRAMI TRAPPERS ENJOYED FAIR CATCH.

Bemidji, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a shipment of $600 worth of hides of wild animals caught in Beltrami county this winter, W. H. Newton, fur dealer of this city, included the rare skin of a red fox, two wild cat skins, twenty-five wolves, one hundred weasels, sixty muskrats, six skunks, and five mink. Mr. Newton says that while the trapping season was not the best, yet he got a large quantity of valuable skins and on the whole is well satisfied with the winter's results.

Lives to Be 104.

New Richmond, Wis., March 26.—Mrs. Margaret Reilly, 104 years old, died on Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Heffron, in Emerald, Wis. She was born in Ireland, and came to America sixty years ago, and lived at Wheeling, W. Va., for ten years. She then moved to Stonton, Wis. She was up and about the house until a few days before her death. Two of her eleven children survive. John J. Reilly, single, 63 years of age, this city, and Mrs. Margaret Heffron, aged 72, in Emerald; also eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

March winds, slush and weather, have no terrors for those who condition their system and keep all organs in healthy action; to prevent colds and many ailments which may lead to serious disease, begin today, take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea at bed time; you'll feel as lively as a March hare, care-free as a lark. Bowels Are Basis of Child Health

The careful mother, who watches closely the physical peculiarities of her children, will soon discover that the most important thing in connection with a child's constant good health is to keep the bowels regularly open. Sluggish bowels will be followed by loss of appetite, restlessness during sleep, irritability and a dozen and one similar evidences of physical disorder.

At the first sign of such disorder give the child a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring and repeat the dose the following night if necessary—more than that will scarcely be needed. You will find that the child will recover its accustomed good spirits at once and will eat and sleep normally.

This remedy is a vast improvement over salts, cathartics laxative waters and similar things, which are altogether too powerful for a child. The homes of Mrs. Evelyn Matson 516 Milwaukee St., Milwaukee, Wis., and Mrs. Kate Hawley, Waukesha, Wis., are always supplied with Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and with them, as with thousands of others, there is no substitute for this grand laxative. It is really more than a laxative for it contains superior tonic properties which help to tone and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels so that after a brief use of it all laxatives can be dispensed with and nature will do its own work.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Montecello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

A CONVERT.

Because Governor Osborne of Michigan has called a second extra session of the legislature of that state for no better reason than that an extra session was needed, the Minneapolis Journal, which fought against an extra session of the Minnesota legislature last summer when The Herald was showing the need of one, has this to say:

"Michigan is fortunate in having a chief executive who is not afraid of the cars. How would it seem to have a governor in Minnesota with the courage of such convictions, a man who would insist that the legislature act on important measures, instead of dodging them, burying them in committee, losing them in conference between the houses, and juggling with them in the various well known legislative ways?"

It would seem very good, indeed, and very strange—something like it used to seem when John A. Johnson was alive and before Adolph O. Eberhart became governor.

But it would also seem very good to have more city newspapers in Minnesota which will fight in season as well as out of season for real achievements for the people, and which will time their attacks so they can do some real good, and not to have an effect merely political.

Lives there a man with soul so dead that he can't scare up any interest in the political situation this year?

GOOD IDEA.

The British first lord of the admiralty has created a sensation by making a suggestion remarkable for its sanity, its simplicity and its sound common sense.

In presenting his formidable naval program to parliament, the first lord of the admiralty suggests that if Germany will "take a vacation" for a year in naval construction Great Britain will do the same.

This would accomplish all that an equal amount of naval construction would accomplish, and it would save Germany from $30,000,000 to $35,000,000 and Great Britain from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000.

What a spendidly simple and sensible idea that is! It ought to be made universal—and permanent.

All any nation wants is to have as much armament as its neighbors or a little more.

Suppose all the nations declared such a vacation as Mr. Churchill has proposed, and spent the time thinking it over. Suppose, instead of spending that hundred million dollars for purpose of destruction, both these countries should, as a wholesome example, spend it in constructive work for the well-being and happiness of humanity.

Do you suppose that if the plan ever were carried out anybody would want to go back to the present disastrous and burdensome contest, which can end only in collapse and disaster?

Unfortunately, Germany has rejected Mr. Churchill's suggestion.

A New York woman is after a divorce because her husband has another wife. It would be interesting to know what the other wife thinks about it.

THE WORK OF THE DRAMA LEAGUE.

The Drama League of America, branches of which have been established lately in Duluth and Superior, is progressing so rapidly that it cannot fail to become a vital influence in the shaping of dramatic tastes and the improvement of dramatic entertainment.

It is particularly good to see this movement started in Duluth, because those who are co-operating in it, like those who are co-operating in the cause of good music, are developing a side of the city life that has hitherto been neglected, but that is as important as the industrial and commercial development of the community.

The league now has a membership of more than 20,000, extending over thirty states, and so impressive is its work even though it is yet in its infancy that England is taking it up, copying American methods. In the English campaign the leaders are Forbes-Robertson, John Galsworthy, Maurice Hewlett, F. Frankfort Moore, Lord Avebury, Lord Coleridge and Lord Dunsany. Taking the machinery provided by the Poetry society, already organized, they are planning the organization of the Drama League of England. Doubtless the leagues of the two countries will co-operate.

The main work of the league is achieved through the bulletins of the playgoing committee. The purpose of this committee "is the support of good drama by inducing attendance, early in an engagement, upon any play on which the committee issues a bulletin." These bulletins are issued on no plays not thought worthy of support; but they are issued on good plays of all classes having an appeal to any wholesome tastes.

For instance, a bulletin is at hand on the comedy "Bunty Pulls the Strings," now playing an indefinite engagement in Chicago. There is nothing "highbrow" about "Bunty." It is a clean, wholesome, satisfying comedy which would even please that mythical and impossibly stupid creation of the theatrical managers, the Tired Business Man. The playgoing committee's methods may be understood by a short study of this particular bulletin.

The bulletin gives all necessary information about the play, the author, the theater and the producers. Under the head of "Comment" appears this brief opinion: "A simple folk play that gives a picturesque presentation of Scottish home life in which austere Calvinism, together with inherent thrift, canniness and feminine sagacity, are depicted with ingenious freshness. The resourceful Bunty, daughter of the Biggar household, takes the reins in her own hands, manages her dour father, her rebellious brother and the elders of the kirk. By pulling the strings, she extricates everybody from their blundering difficulties and arranges their destinies."

Other heads, with the accompanying comment, are as follows:

"Characters—The characters are commonplace people but so essentially human they fit into the situations with an easy naturalness.

"Dialogue—As an expression of the characters, in conjunction with the situations, the dialogue is both clever and humorous.

"Acting—The imported company, costumed in the quaint fashion of the '60s, acts with unconscious art. The play is full of humor and originality and offers a new field for dramatic effort.

"Value—Its irreproachable wholesomeness commends it alike to the young and to the jaded theater-goer."

One benefit of belonging to the Drama League is the receipt of bulletins of this character, which help to guard against mistaken investments in theater tickets.

Andy Carnegie's fear that he will die rich can easily be overcome if he will only borrow a thousand or so from a loan shark.

THE OFFICE LOAN AND SAVINGS CLUB.

The Herald has suggested that while bitter attacks on the loan shark and his business may be deserved in many cases, they are fruitless unless they are supplemented by some means of furnishing the service the loan shark provides.

The best way would be for the municipality or the state to provide a loan fund available to people living on wages or salaries. We are hardly up to that yet.

The next best way is the organization of provident loan associations from private capital but under public-spirited direction, where men of small means can borrow at reasonable rates of interest.

Supplementary work of value is to be done by employers who, as one large railroad has done, take a stand on the side of the borrowers among their employes and against the loan shark's illegal exactions.

But there is another way, and a good way too. This is the office, or factory, or store, co-operative loan and savings fund plan.

In any concern employing a considerable number of men, an association to carry out this plan can easily be formed. Each employe joining is to put into the common fund a dollar a week or more, with a fixed minimum but no maximum. Members can borrow out of this fund something less than they have contributed—say seventy-five per cent of it—at such rate of interest as the association fixes. Failure to pay weekly dues involves penalties of, say, two per cent a week, to be continued until they have eaten up the deposit, when the delinquent member is dropped. The small expense can be cared for out of earnings, and in most cases there will be a dividend to declare at the end of the year.

Perhaps more important than the loan feature is the savings feature. A dollar or two a week will hardly be missed, but at the end of the year it means $50 or $100—which will come in handy around Chirstmas time. About that time every year the surplus, above what will be needed for loans, is paid back to the members, and a new start is made.

This plan is being used in many shops and offices, and everywhere it seems to be successful.

It has given many a worker the first start toward a comfortable bank balance, a home, a farm or a business. It has kept many employes out of the clutches of the professional money-lenders who fatten on the necessities of this class.

It may be worth considering in YOUR office, factory or store.

And now Deneen has called an extra session to give Illinois a presidential primary. Adolph is getting more and more lonely every day.

A SAD CONDITION.

Richard Achilles Ballinger (remember him?) made a speech the other day in which he dropped this plaintive pearl of wisdom: "The greatest menace of our day is the lack of reverence for men in high place."

How true that is!

Cannon, Aldrich, Lorimer, Stephenson, Secretary Wilson, Tawney, President Taft, McCleary—how many there are who can join with heartfelt sighs in that sentiment!

It is also a menace, always, to have in high places men whom the citizens can neither reverence nor respect.

Francis J. Heney says he would "rather see a judge with one ear to the ground than with one ear to a railroad track." Yes, or on the pillow of a gratuitous sleeping car berth.

A WASTE OF TIME.

Under the heading "An Extra Session Suggestion," the St. Paul Dispatch has this to say: "Governor Deneen of Illinois is to call the legislature of that state in extraordinary session tomorrow to enact a presidential preference primary law and to pass several other measures. The governor has persisted in refusing to call a special session until requested to do so by two-thirds of the members. If some of those who for political purposes have been pestering Governor Eberhart to call an extra session had lined up two-thirds of the members on any measure of importance, they also might have had some luck." We doubt it.

The suggestion is a little late, anyway. Last summer The Herald secured the pledges of a majority of the members of both branches of the legislature to vote for a bill increasing railroad taxes if an extra session were called. Two-thirds was unnecessary, as a majority was all that was needed to pass the proposed measure. Yet not even that, or the showing that two-thirds of the newspapers of the state—outside the Twin City newspapers, which all opposed an extra session for any purpose whatever—were for the extra session, availed to awaken Governor Eberhart to his duty.

Judge Lindsey says he's willing to be a candidate for vice president. Is Denver as bad as all that?

THANK YOU!

The city council last night knocked out the objectionable amendment to the dance hall ordinance which permitted saloons handy to public dance halls, and after providing that no dance license shall be granted until it is proved that it is necessary to leave the dance hall and walk at least fifty feet in the street before a saloon entrance can be found, passed the ordinance as it was introduced.

The council is to be congratulated on this prompt reversal of what undoubtedly was a thoughtless error, and it can be assured that in so doing it will have the practically unanimous support of the community.

BEN JOHNSON AND WASHINGTON CITY

By SAVOYARD.

The District of Columbia is the ward of the government of the United States and is overseed by a commission. There was a time when the principle of self-government was tried on the people of this town, and it worked as well as in any other American town, until the transcendentallists like Charles Sumner and Ralph Waldo Emerson, and the man-milliners like Henry Ward Beecher and George William Curtis, forced on the American electorate the negro vote. The "man and brother" held the balance of political power at the capital of the republic, and this town had the corruptest of all corrupt city governments of all America. So flagrant it was that to deprive the negro of his vote in the District of Columbia the G. O. P. took the ballot away from whites as well as blacks.

And thus for some two score years the town has had commission government, the people of the district paying one-half the expense, and the people of the country at large paying the other half. That makes this town a city of refuge for your tax-dodger in the states, many of whom flock here to escape the duties and the burdens of citizenship elsewhere. In one respect Washington, D. C., is unique. Everywhere else the newspapers criticize and denounce the city government for spending too much money; but here congress is villified and reviled for not spending enough money. Extravagance in expenditure profits the taxpayer—in Washington.

For example. This town is full of school houses. So many are there that there are 1,300 vacant desks in them, though it is notorious that thousands of the pupils accommodated are not citizens of the district, but are billeted on this bailiwick to get an education at the expense of the people at large. Ben Johnson, chairman of the house committee on the District of Columbia, refused to advocate a proposal to erect two additional schoolhouses at an aggregate cost of $1,250,000, and for that display of sound judgment, common honesty and civic virtue, the tax-eaters of this town denounced him for a narrow-minded fanatic, a bourbon, an incompetent, a reactionary, and, worst of all, "an enemy of the district." The biggest fool in congress can get a garland of bay and of laurel if he can but manage to earn the doubtful meed—"friend of the district."

Now, my friend Johnson is not the meekest man in the world, and it would be marvelous if he should turn one cheek if smitten on the other. The chances are one thousand and more to one that Ben will square himself, strike out straight from the shoulder, and knock your block off, and that is what he did for his critics in the following, that is a red-hot and conclusive reply to some of their strictures on his conduct:

"A great howl goes up in Washington against the committee which would not this year build two new schoolhouses at a cost of $1,250,000.

"And I am an incompetent in their eyes because I stand between them and the people in an effort to stop raids upon the public treasury. Because I object to giving away real estate owned by the United States, I am narrow. Because I object to having the government go into the construction business for the street car companies, instead of sticking to governmental functions, I am wrong. Because I object to seeing one gang of men laying streets, followed in a short time by another gang tearing them up, I am not progressive. Because I object to seeing them here take advantage of the necessities of those who are in distress and compel those who are unfortunate to pay from 36 per cent to 250 per cent interest on borrowed money, then I am interfering with contracts. Because I wish the homeless renter should be permitted to pay as small a rate of taxation upon his little effects in the rented house as his landlord pays upon the house in which the tenant lives, then I am an anarchist. The owner of the house pays a $1.50 rate on a two-thirds valuation. This makes his rate $1 a hundred on a real valuation. The tenant pays $1.50 a hundred on a full valuation upon his personal property."

This town is divided into four quarters, represented by as many points of the compass—Northeast, Northwest, Southeast and Southwest. Northwest is the favorite, the spoiled child of the "district government," which is a stepdame to the other three. It is in the Northwest that the tax-dodgers reside and in that locality is expended the millions the people of the states pay to beautify and ornament and elaborate and magnificentify this, the capital of the republic. It is proposed to turn the bed and banks of Rock Creek into a public park. It is one of the steps taken to make Washington another Paris. A few days ago it was suggested by some greenhorn congressman that the abutting property, which would be enormously increased in value by reason of the park, bear increased taxation to help foot the bill. Horrible thought! The Northwest was outraged. It had never before contemplated such an affront.

I that write this live among the Pariahs of the Plebeian Northeast. Being a newspaper man, I get a rather big batch of newspapers by mail. The city postoffice gives me and my neighbors a new mail carrier about once a week. That, as the theater folk say, "is trying it on the dog." As soon as the fellow learns to read the addresses and finds out where we live he is graduated and sent elsewhere. The Northwest would not stand for that one single week. But we are stepchildren of this town and are bound to grin and bear it.

Many years ago Proctor Knott ridiculed the city government of this town and tried to laugh reforms into it. They laughed, all right, but the abuses continued. Ben Johnson is a representative of the same constituency in Kentucky that sent Knott to congress, and Johnson seeks to convince the country upon this question. He takes as much pride in the town as any of them, and is ready to lend proper aid to make the city worthy the republic; but he will not do a manitest injustice even for that. Last January Mr. Johnson made a speech on the district appropriation bill that ought to be read by every citizen of every state. He shows the extravagance, the foolish prodigality of the city government. He lays bare the appropriation of public moneys for private ends.

There are playgrounds that ought to be paid for by the district alone. Dancing is taught in the public schools, also instrumental music. The tots, white and black are weekly led through the Corcoran art gallery to stimulate their artistic genius and develop them into Michael Angelos to fashion Peters' Domes and groin the arches of Christian Romes and all that.

No wonder Ben Johnson is a holy terror to the tax-eaters of the District of Columbia. So far as I know, he is the first chairman of the house committee on the district in forty years who has taken into the account the taxpayers outside of the district in his measures for the government of this municipality, and certainly he is the first chairman in many years who could keep his backbone straight in the presence of the privileged classes of this town.

No Washington corporation helped to elect Ben Johnson to congress, and not all the chairmen of the house district committee can say that.

If the entire electorate would read Johnson's speech, Washington would get in her city government what no American city government has—a reform based on honesty, economy and efficiency.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian or religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

DOESN'T LIKE NEW SONG ABOUT DULUTH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

No wonder our young, impressionable people go wrong, when music dealers sell such stuff as the new song entitled "Duluth," which panders to a fast life and concludes in the following words:

"If you want a good time, fall in line,
And come to Duluth with me.
And when we get there, we'll go down to the pier
The Aerial bridge we will see.
Then we will walk up Superior street, where some old
Friends we are sure to meet.
I see where we'll all have a jolly good time.
Joy riding in Duluth is fine.

"We'll go down to Lester park, stay till its dark,
The beautiful lights to see.
Then get on a steamer, and go 'round the horn,
Where crowds of people will be.
When we return we will go to a cafe;
There we will stay, till the break of day.
Then we will go to our room, sleep an hour or two,
To the game, and show we're going too."

Now, I ask, would any self respecting man allow such screed to be sent to his family even if it was labeled "Boost Duluth" in big letters and held a prominent place in the show window of a popular music store?

ANOTHER WHO APPROVES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

We must express our appreciation of the publicity you gave to the Men and Religion Forward Movement last week, and urge upon you to continue the good work along that and other lines.

We hope that your valued paper will give to the dance hall ordinance your utmost support, which indeed is a very important city ordinance.

Thanking you for past favors, we remain, yours very truly,

L. A. LARSEN.

URGES ACTION ON SUGGESTED REFORM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Among the twenty-one reforms suggested by Dr. I. J. Lansing, the social service expert, and for the benefit of Duluth, is one for the immediate repression and ultimate extinction of the red-light district and all forms of prostitution. This is a reform which should be carried forward with all possible haste. Any one who would uphold the continuance of the red-light district is upholding a cause which is yearly debasing and destroying the souls and bodies of hundreds of thousands of both sexes in the United States. Let them take the matter home to themselves. How would they like to see their sisters or daughters inmates of a house of prostitution? But they feel it is all right as long as it is some one else whose sister or daughter is leading the shameful life and generally a short life which can only bring sorrow, shame, disease and an early death to the unfortunate female and who before her death may have been the direct cause of many moral and physical wrecks of the male sex, and indirectly the cause of many diseased innocent babies, the issue of venereal diseased parents. Those unfortunate women of the tenderloin, (no matter how low they have sunk into the depths of degradation) were once innocent little baby girls. Allowing the red-light district to flourish is simply encouraging prostitution and other young women to follow this awful life of disgrace and officials who could check this evil and allow it to exist are assisting the spread of prostitution. Let the good work go ahead, clean out the red-light district and also all fallen women the city over. Whether located at private places, rooming houses, around or over the saloons or elsewhere. To clean out the latter is a hard proposition, as it takes evidence to convict these and their male and female friends will do all in their power to thwart justice and others as a rule do not wish to be mixed up in such cases. This class of fallen women does more harm in contaminating the community in leading young men and girls wrong and spreading more vile disease than those of the restricted districts. So let the good work of reform go ahead and make Duluth a moral as well as a healthful and beautiful city. Yours truly,

CITIZEN.

GARDEN CLUBS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Your editorial Friday evening advocating a garden club for Duluth, interested me very much. I wish you would call the attention of the Duluth public to what has been done by the Minneapolis Garden club.

Forrest Wheeler, superintendent of the Minneapolis organization, was teacher of chemistry in our high school before taking up his horticultural work, so I wrote him for some data on what they have done and on their membership plan. I am sending you some of the literature I received in reply.

Can you give further editorial space toward the project? If so, I should like to have you present some of the enclosed information. Note that they have three classes of members. Active members receive large advantages for $1.50. Yours very truly,

E. P. GIBSON.

SHOULD MARK IT "FOR WOLVES ONLY."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please allow me a few lines in regard to the suggestion made by a writer in Saturday's Herald.—To poison all offal left in the woods by hunters. To carry out the suggestion the words, "For wolves only" should be posted so that other animals might take warning. Having hunted in Northern Minnesota for nearly forty years I have noticed that the offal from deer is more often eaten by birds of all kinds and other harmless and useful animals than by wolves. It seems strange to me that any one interested in wild life would suggest such methods. The Herald has always been for the protection of song birds, and there are others not classed as song birds that are useful. I think it would be a silent forest where such methods were used. Yours very respectfully

WILLIAM B. GRISSINGER.

Hinckley, Minn., March 25.

Lacking.

Judge: Johnny and his mother were dining with a friend. The first course was chicken soup with macaroni in it. The hostess watched Johnny as he sat quietly gazing into his plate. Finally she asked: "Why don't you eat your soup, Johnny?"

"I don't care for it, please, ma'am."

"But your mamma said you liked chicken soup."

"I do like mamma's chicken soup, but she don't put the windpipes in."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

There was an exciting debate in the house of representatives yesterday on the Bland free silver bill. A vote was taken on a motion to lay on the table Mr. Bland's motion to order the previous question on the passage of the bill. There was a tie and the motion was declared defeated. Other votes were taken but the opponents of the bill were unable to kill it, while its friends were unable to force a final vote. It is said that many Democrats who favor the measure do not want it passed at this time, because it would give the Republican president a chance to veto it and make it the issue of the coming campaign.

R. Collins, bill clerk at the West Duluth depot of the St. Paul & Duluth road, has resigned.

A letter has been received from P. R. McDonnell, who is now in Denver, stating that he has secured a contract to build fifty miles of railroad in Colorado and that if he does not sublet it he will move his outfit from here and attend to the work personally.

W. N. Severance of St. Paul is in the city with a view to interesting Duluth capital in a new nail cutting machine. He desires to form a company with $15,000 capital and to manufacture nails here with his patent.

At the directors' meeting of the Conservative Investment company, the following officers were elected: President, F. S. Wardwell; vice president, S. L. Frazer; secretary, C. E. Richardson; treasurer, H. G. Cable; attorney, W. E. Wright.

The delegation which has been representing Duluth's interests in Washington and Detroit returned home yesterday. President Truelsen of the board of public works said he had no doubt that permission to build the canal bridge designed by Engineer Waddell would be granted.

Mrs. L. R. Wallace, who has been visiting in Chicago, has returned to Duluth.

Mrs. C. S. Withrow has gone to Olean, N. Y., for a six week's visit with her mother.

Dr. Henry Slade, the celebrated Spiritualistic medium, arrived in Duluth yesterday.

C. N. Millton is in the city on a visit to his sister, Mrs. D. S. Sibley.

Liens to the amount of $2,900 were filed yesterday by employes against the Iron Bay company at West Duluth. It is expected that the company will clear this up at once and resume operations at an early date.

The supreme court has decided the old "Sixth avenue" case against the city of Duluth. It involved the right of the city to extend the avenue through railroad land to the water front and use its extension as a dock front. It will now be necessary for the city to begin condemnation proceedings.

MINNESOTA AND PRESIDENCY.

"Good in Everything."

Virginia Virginian: If by becoming a candidate for president, Roosevelt forces the Democrats to nominate a man of the caliber of Governor Woodrow Wilson, the colonel will have accomplished something well worth while even if he meets with defeat after the convention.

Comedy.

Albert Lea Standard: Taft and Roosevelt are disputing, and making rival claims as to which is the real progressive and thus are crowding populists and other radicals whom they have in the past despised and abused, to the rear. Considering many of the men with whom they are in cahoots, their posing as progressives is likely to become the most comic performance of the campaign.

Swatting Roosevelt.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: After all the unkind things the La Follette progressives have said about President Taft, it would be somewhat peculiar to have the president given a second nomination by their aid. It is not so much of a case of loving Taft the more as it is in having it in good and plenty for Roosevelt.

Taft Is Repudiated.

Willmar Tribune: Returns from our straw vote taken at forty-eight town meetings and a dozen or more villages, indicate conclusively that the Taft administration has been absolutely repudiated by the people of this part of Minnesota. Col. Roosevelt is somewhat in the lead, with La Follette a close second. La Follette occupies somewhat the position that Lincoln did in 1860. He represents the true blue progressive sentiment, which will win out finally. If not with the Republican party, with some other party.

A Fair Question.

Northfield News: Someone ought to ask President Taft if he still thinks the Payne-Aldrich bill is the best tariff bill ever passed, but we would advise the questioner to use a telephone in making the inquiry.

Pyramided Evidence.

Mora Times: While the voters of the Northwest are opposed to Taft because of his advocacy of Canadian reciprocity,, they might overlook that if it it were not that his administration has so woefully failed in carrying out the pledges of the Republican party for an honest downward revision of the tariff. He was pledged to carry out the Roosevelt policies and his failure in that respect is so marked that the people are now turning to Roosevelt for relief and are insisting that he again become a candidate for president.

He Is Hedging.

Virginia Enterprise: The greatest handicap the Colonel will have to bump up against in his third term candidacy is the fact that but four years ago he forced William Howard Taft on the unsuspecting American public.

In a Bad Fix.

Little Falls Herald: Roosevelt says he didn't mean it "consecutively." Everybody so understood it, but then the exigencies of 1912 were not guessed at. Also, when Roosevelt said Taft would make one of the greatest presidents, he meant it for one term only. It is to laugh.

DEMOCRACY IN WORK.

Collier's: In the struggle to live, Democratic methods must come, as surely as in political government they are in the main already here. An industrial oligarchy cannot remain in a political Democracy. This means either Socialism or thoroughgoing and constant industrial reform. Take your choice. There is no other way. Hence the importance of the bill now before congress, providing for a paid commission, to include representatives of labor and capital, and to co-operate with the department of commerce and labor.

The tragedy at Lawrence means just so far the failure of our time. Had there been strong unions there, the disaster would not have happened. There would have been collective bargaining and decent standards. Anybody who opposes the strengthening of unions invites the overthrow of our present civilization. The preferential union shop includes all the benefits of unionism without the weak points of the shop. If you want to understand this new and extraordinary development of industrial fair play, it will pay you well to send 12 cents to "Life and Labor," 17 North Dearborn street, Chicago, for a copy of the January number.

A few years from today parties will divide sharply and almost exclusively on industrial questions. Let us throw out a few propositions to show what we mean:

Indirect taxation is in the main nothing but robbery of the poor.

Our present tariff is no exception.

Taxation should be mostly on land values. There are a few other good taxes, such as those on inheritance, but they are, in comparison, unimportant.

The patent system penalizes the community and strengthens the trusts, some of which flourish by using patents and others by buying and suppressing them. When the government grants a patent, it should at once throw it open to anyone who chooses to pay a small royalty to the inventor.

The power of centralized money will have to be decreased. Its greatest single weapon today is control of the insurance reserves. Ultimately insurance will be conducted by the government, not only to decrease this illegitimate power of the bankers but because the government, having the ability to prolong life, should logically be the insurer. It will probably also take charge of the sale of securities, as a step toward reducing the banking rake-off. Perhaps more for political than for directly economic reasons, it will own the railroads, and more definitely for reasons of economy it will take charge of the telegraph and express business.

Civilization owes to every man the right to work. It owes to the workers a large share in the control as well as in the profits of industry. Improvement in political devices is valuable, but even such improvement is of definitely less importance than successful thought about ordinary life and labor.

Mr. Howells.

Harper's Weekly: Seventy-five years ago last Friday Mr. Howells was born in an Ohio village, and for fifty years at least he has steadily pursued the trade of man of letters, looking at life as it went on about him, and making pictures of what he saw. An Ohio-born president came to do him honor at his birthday dinner, and handsomely spoke handsome things of him, as did other speakers whose judgment is competent, and whose tributes were as discerning as they were sincere. Mr. Taft spoke of him as the "greatest living American writer and novelist." So he is, nemine contradiscente, and all things considered—the bulk of his work, its quality, its spirit, its truth, its art. The president spoke of him as a man who has been content to live in literature, and has attempted to play a part in no other sphere. It was truly spoken. Mr. Howells has stuck steadily to his chosen calling, has never run for congress, nor veered off toward the newspapers, nor done anything else but study human life and its literature, and add faithfully to that literature. That was what he wanted to do at the start, and he has never done anyhing else except some editorial tasks which were closely akin to it, and which aided him in his general aim. The result of this persistent fidelity has been the admirable development of a rare natural talent. As one knows Sargeant, so one knows Howells, by the way he does it.

Great is art, and Mr. Howells is an artist. He has stuck not only to his trade, but to his ideals, never writing merely for a market, never hurrying, never skimping nor neglecting; diligent, skillful, attentive, reflective. So works the true artist, and the result belongs not to merchandise, but to art.

Too Much Password for Him.

Washington Letter to the New York World: Senator Bacon of Georgia piloted a constituent around the capitol for a while and then, having some work to do on the floor, conducted his visitor to the senate gallery. After an hour or so the visitor approached a gallery doorkeeper and said:

"My name is Swate. I am a friend of Senator Bacon. He brought me here, and I want to go out and look around a bit. I thought that I would tell you, so I can get back in."

"That's all right," said the doorkeeper, "but I may not be here when you return. In order to prevent any mistake I will give you the password, so you can get your seat again."

"What's the word?" Mr. Swate asked.

"Idiosyncrasy."

"What?"

"Idiosyncrasy."

"I guess I'll stay in," said Swate.

Suspicious.

Puck: Bank President—What's the matter?

Bank Vice President—I was just thinking I sat next to our cashier in church yesterday and I don't quite like the way he sings "Will They Miss Me When I'm Gone?"

Millinery and Whisky.

Galveston News: Of course, to a man millinery seems too high priced. But a hat at $15 is cheaper than a drink of whisky at 15 cents—no matter what sort of hat it is.

TWO PERSONAL INJURY CASES GO TO JURY.

The personal injury actions brought against the Bangor Mining company by John Pullman and Mike Schmidt, who are each suing for $20,150, went to the jury at noon today. The two cases have been tried before the same jury in Judge Dibell's room. Pullman and Schmidt claim to have been injured on Nov. 22 last while working in one of the company's mines on the range. It is alleged that an elevator in which they were working dropped seventy-five feet in a shaft. Theodore Hollister appeared for the plaintiffs and Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell defended.

Holdingford Woodmen Meeting.

Holdingford, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Modern Woodmen of America in this section will have a meeting here Friday, April 19, to consider the new Woodmen rates. Members of the local camp are largely "Insurgents," but it is announced standpatters will be given a fair hearing."

DULUTHIAN MAKES WESTERN FISHERMEN TAKE NOTICE

H. F. WILLIAMSON AND HIS SEA BASS, WEIGHING 40¾ POUNDS, CAUGHT ON LIGHT TACKLE.

H. F. Williamson of Duluth holds the season's record to date for the largest sea bass caught on light tackle at Catalina island, that Mecca for fishermen, and his line for the silver trophy given for the largest bass caught during the season with light tackle.

From Los Angeles today comes a copy of the Los Angeles Examiner telling of the capture of the fish, which weighed 40¾ pounds. Mr. Williamson fought his fish for thirty minutes before it was gaffed by Boatman Cady.

In a letter to a Duluth friend, Mr. Williamson also tells of the capture of the fish, enclosing a picture to convince his Duluth friends of the truth of the tale.

"Mrs. Williamson and myself," he says, "went over to Catalina island last Sunday. The boat makes the trip of twenty-seven miles from San Pedro to Catalina in about two hours, and when you strike smooth water and a lovely day as we did, it is a beautiful ocean ride. We reached Avalon, the only city on the island, at noon, and after lunch engaged a glass bottomed boat and took in the sea gardens, which are beautiful, much finer than what we saw at Nassau. On our return to the pier we went to the golf links which are situated just at the foot of the mountain, making the golf course a very sporty and interesting one. I did not start out Monday morning with much hope of catching any fish, as owing to unsettled weather no large fish had been taken in two weeks. From 8:30 to 11:45 I hadn't a strike and was just ready to give it up when my fish struck. My bait was a live sardine. My fish started out to sea and we had a merry time following him before I could reel the bass in so my guide could gaff him.

"The whole pleasure is in using the regulation light tackle which is required by the club there for the angler to receive any prize. My white sea bass is the record for the variety to date for this year, weighing 40¾ pounds. This weight, over 35 pounds, gives me a silver button from the Light Tackle Club of Catalina and an honor medal from the Campfire Club of America, and puts my fish in well for the season's silver cup trophy for the largest bass caught on light tackle."

The regulations for light tackle follow: "Rod to be of wood consisting of butt and tip and to be not shorter than 6 feet over all. Butt to be not to weigh not more than six ounces. over fourteen inches in length. Tip not less than five feet in length and Line not to exceed standard 9 thread."

Doctors Use This For Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known at D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well-known skin specialist, writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years." It will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

In fact, D.D.D. is so absolutely reliable that we will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on this guarantee, backed by the D.D.D. company that it will cost you nothing unless you find that it does the work.

CHURCHES ORGANIZING FOR CIVIC CAMPAIGN

Federation of Clubs Representing All Congregations Is Planned.

Men and Religion Movement Not Over, But Only Begun.

The Men and Religion Forward Movement in Duluth is not over. It has just begun.

What has taken place thus far is but preliminary to the active work that is just being undertaken. A campaign for the betterment of the city along many social lines is about to begin. The churches are just organizing their forces to wage an earnest, determined war against the powers that undermine the moral and physical strength of the community. It will be a campaign for civic righteousness.

The men of the various local churches are holding meetings and organizing societies or clubs that will take this work in hand. The religious fervor, which was stirred up by the speakers who have just visited the city is not to be allowed to subside without leading to practical, permanent, tangible results. The public mind is now in such a state as will make for the success of such a campaign as the churches are about to start, say the workers.

The clubs that are formed in the various churches will be divided into committees on the various activities that will constitute the campaign against evil, as suggested by the speakers of the Men and Religion Forward movement. There will be committees on social service, membership, Bible study, boys' work, evangelism, community extension, missions and inter-church relations.

Federation of Clubs.

The clubs will be federated into a general organization that will have supervision and direction of the work over the city at large. What the name of this federation will be and just how it will be constituted are questions to be determined later. It is planned to have every committee of every society represented in that federation by at least one member.

The men of some of the churches have already held their preliminary meetings and taken steps to form their organizations.

The men of the First Baptist church had their preliminary meeting yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. A luncheon was held and the gathering was addressed by Rev. R. E. Sayles, pastor of the church, who urged that an enthusiastic attempt be made by the men of the congregation to carry out the reforms that the speakers who were here all last week suggested. He announced his plan to meet with the campaign committees every Monday noon at the Y. M. C. A. in order to have reports rendered by each committee of its work of the past week and what it intends to do during the coming week. Then there might be a general discussion of the work of the newly organized society as a whole.

Last night such meetings were held by the men of the First Methodist, Glen Avon Presbyterian, Endion Methodist, Swedish Baptist, Asbury Methodist and other churches. Clubs were organized for the campaign and the suggested committees were appointed.

The meeting at the First Methodist church was led by W. L. Smithies, chairman of the local committee of one hundred in charge of the Men and Religion Forward Movement. Addresses were made by Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the church, and by about thirty others. The fact that so large a number spoke was in itself ample proof that there is much religious ardor and eagerness for reform as a result of the preliminary work, which has just been concluded.

Club For Boys.

The meeting at the Glen Avon Presbyterian church included both men and boys. The enthusiasm of the latter was so intense that they announced a program of their own for work among other boys. They stated that they would ask the congregation to grant them the use of a dwelling standing opposite the church belonging to the church organization, for a club house for boys. The purpose is to provide a place for boys to find innocent amusement. The men's organization will meet again Friday night to hear the report of the committee on organization, and to adopt a contsitution and by-laws, elect officers and proceed with the work for which their society is being formed.

Next Wednesday evening such meetings will be held by the men of the Lakeside Presbyterian, Lester Park Methodist, Merritt Memorial M. E. and other churches. On Thursday evening the men of the First Presbyterian church are scheduled to hold their meeting. There are many other such meetings that will take place this week, but which have not yet been announced to the committee of one hundred, under whose auspices the whole Men and Religion Forward Movement is taking place. Some of the churches decided not to hold these meetings until after Easter.

PART OF BELLOWS FALLS, VT., RAZED BY FLAMES.

Bellows Falls, Vt. March 26.—Three of the principal business buildings in this town, the Union and Arms blocks and the Hotel Windham, were destroyed by fire early today with a loss of $200,000. For several hours it was feared that the entire business section of the town would be destroyed. There were thirty guests asleep in the hotel when the fire broke out in the Union block, but all escaped unharmed.

TYPHOID DEATH ROLL AS REMINDER OF STUPIDITY

Duluth Steadily Polluting Finest Water Supply in America.

Number of Typhoid Cases Will Increase, Says Chester A. Congdon.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Last week we buried oue of our finest citizens.

Typhoid fever took his life. This filth caused disease was contracted in Duluth. I suggest that you establish and maintain a typhoid death roll for Duluth. Let it be a monument to our stupidity.

We have expended millions of dollars and secured the finest water supply in the country.

Every year we spend tens of thousands of dollars to destroy this supply by polluting it with sewage. Each year the number of our sewers increases and the volume of their filth is greater. With favoring conditions the wind and currents deliver this poison to our water intake. Not every day, nor every other day—but if only one day in 100, some one dies. Presently, with increased sewers and sewage it will be one day in twenty-five, then one in ten; and, finally, if our population grows as we expect, and our stupidity holds its own we shall not be a day without the ability to draw sewage from our water faucets. These are not my views alone, they are also the opinion of one of the noted experts who has examined the conditions.

The volume of water remaining stationary and the volume of sewage increasing the mixture can only become richer with time.

The cold waters of Lake Superior conserve the microbes so that they are delivered to us in good business condition. We shall therefore imbibe them in increasing quantity and in fine working order until the United States government forbids the emptying of sewage into the Great Lakes. This prohibition is inevitable. Until it is made our percentage of typhoid to population will constantly rise.

What this stupidity will cost us in dollars and cents, those who pay assessments and taxes can easily figure out when the reckoning day arrives.

What it will cost us in lives, no man can now guess.

I therefore suggest that you start your typhoid death roll, that we may know what our stupidity costs us from year to year in the lives of our families, our friends and of our neighbors. Yours truly,

CHESTER A. CONGDON.

Makes the Hair So Fluffy and Bright

"To give the hair that brilliance and fluffiness so much admired and sought for by beauty seekers generally," writes Mrs. Mae Martyn in the Montreal Star, "it is very necessary to let soap shampoos, also shampoo powders, alone. Nothing will do more to destroy a beautiful head of hair than such shampoos.

"To cleanse the hair and scalp perfectly, remove dandruff and dirt, and stop irritation and falling hair, nothing better can be used than a shampoo made by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. This makes the hair dry quickly and evenly without streaking, and gives to the hair a beautiful luster and fluffiness that lasts. It is the surest preventive of baldness ever discovered."

ICE PRICES UNCHANGED

Scale Will Be About the Same as Last Year.

Duluth Companies Have Larger Stocks Than Usual on Hand.

In spite of the fact that ice has been most plentiful this season, and easy to harvest, the price to consumers during the coming warm months will be no lower than last year.

Managers of local ice companies say that there will be no shortage this season even if there are several long hot spells as much more ice has been cut this year than last.

The heads of the various companies say that it is hard to reduce the price of ice because it is fixed largely by the cost of labor and equipment.

Defending the price of the commodity the ice man states that the cost of labor is the principal item and that many men and teams are kept busy for a long period during the winter months. Then the ice has to be stored, and by the time it reaches the consumer during the hot months, it has been handled several times and each time costs the company money.

Ice will cost from 7 cents to 50 cents per 100 pounds this summer. Three hundred pounds will be delivered three times each week at 30 cents per 100 pounds. Twenty-five pounds three times a week will cost 50 cents per 100 pounds. Fifty pounds delivered three times a week will cost in the neighborhood of 40 cents per 100 pounds. The price depends on how much is wanted, how often it is delivered and the locality to which it is sent.

In the residence district where the customer is some distance from the ice house and ice is wanted only about once a week, it will cost more than for those who use it frequently and are located in a central part of the city.

There is no set price on the ice. It will be anywhere from 7 cents to 50 cents per 100 pounds. This is said to be about the same scale as was asked last year.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made from Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs which unfortunately are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hair, however, handsome it may be, makes a person look old. We all know the advantages of being young. Aside from the good impression a youthful appearance makes on others, simply knowing that you are "looking fit" gives one courage to undertake and accomplish things. So why suffer the handicap of looking old on account of gray hairs, when a simple remedy will give your hair youthful color and beauty in a few days' time?

Most people know that common garden sage acts as a color restorer and scalp tonic as well. Our grandmothers used a "Sage Tea" for keeping their hair dark, soft and luxuriant. In Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy we have an ideal preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak hair that is split at the ends or constantly coming out. A few applications of this valuable remedy will bring back the color, and in a short time it will remove every trace of dandruff and greatly improve the growth and appearance of the hair.

Get a fifty cent bottle from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' treatment. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

The pupils of the Nettleton school will give an operetta, "The Crystal Queen," at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening.

The following are the principal characters:

MORTALS.

Cissie Rosebud.....Alma Halseth
Milly, the milkmaid.....Sadie Levine
First Schoolgirl.....Gertrude Kilgore
First Schoolboy.....Ingwald Herstad
Prince of Slumberland.....Irving Auld
Johnny Stout.....Carl Johnson
Tommy Thin.....Walfred Peterson
Policeman X. Y. Z.....Rudolph Lilja

IMMORTALS.

The Crystal Queen.....Dorothy Close
First Fairy.....Bessie Harris
Spirit of Fire.....Blanche Porter
Spirit of Water.....Belle Nelson
Spirit of Earth.....Evelyn Flohr
Spirit of Air.....Stella Hovalt
Chorus of sixty fairies.
Chorus of fifty school children.
Accompanists—Piano, Elsie Mapp; violin, Morris Lavick.

The synopsis follows:

The children assemble on the village green, having been dismissed for the holidays and sing of the pleasures in store for them. The first school boy introduces a cycling song and the first school girl a flower song, after which the children retire leaving Cissie Rosebud alone. Cissie tells of a dream she had in which she visited fairyland, and, wishing her dream may come true, she sinks down on a bank and falls asleep. A band of fairies enter and bear her away to fairyland. When they have gone Johnny Stout and Tommy Thin appear and quarrel about the virtues of being fat and lean. They are stopped by the return of the school children with Policeman X. Y. Z., who arrests the offenders, but afterwards sets them free. Milly, the milkmaid, enters and sings of the pleasures of early morning, after which the children bring the scene to a close with a chorus illustrating the joys of life in the fields and sunshine.

In the second scene the fairies enter leading Cissie, who falls asleep while they sing a lullaby. The Crystal Queen joins her band, and Cissie awakes with a start, surprised at her surroundings. The queen reassures her and the prince of Slumberland enters escorted by a regiment of wooden soldiers. The queen explains to Cissie that the prince is under a spell of enchantment, which only the pity of a mortal can break. Cissie pities the unfortunate prince and the spell is broken, upon which the queen summons the Spirits of Fire, Water, Earth and Air to appear to escort them all back to the land of mortals.

The third scene shows the market place. It is market day and all are invited to come and buy. Milly, the milkmaid, tells the story of the "Poppy and the Butterfly," and the first school girl sings of the pleasure of swinging under the apple tree bough. Johnny Stout and Tommy Thin start quarreling again and are stopped by Policeman X. Y. Z., who tells them of the joys of laughing. A flourish of trumpets is heard, and the Crystal Queen, Cissie and the prince of Slumberland enter escorted by the Spirits of Fire, Water, Earth and Air, the wooden soldiers and fairies. The prince sings a song and the Crystal queen explains who she is and that she has brought Cissie safely home from fairyland, to which she and her followers must return. A chorus brings the performance to a conclusion.

MATINEE MUSICALE.

Special Features on Regular Program.

With two special features on the program of the Matinee Musicale yesterday afternoon the members of the club enjoyed one of the best local programs of the year.

"The Rose of Avontown," a bright little cantata sung by fourteen members of the club under the direction of Mrs. J. N. McKindley, was the big number of the afternoon. A beautiful cantata, it was delightfully interpreted by the local singers who brought out all the beauty of phrasing and tone, and reflected credit on the director. Miss Maude Matteson with her clear beautiful soprano voice was delightful in the solo parts and was highly praised for her work.

Another feature was the playing of the high school orchestra under the direction of Dwight W. Hiestand. This was the first appearance of this little orchestra before the club and the young people acquitted themselves well interpreting their numbers with unusual skill for such young musicians. They have made a very good beginning and one which should be supported by the appreciation of music lovers. Their numbers were "Minuet Pastel," Paradis and the "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai. Those who played were: First violin, James Viener, Eleanore Kraft, Louise Murchison, Nathan Cool, Emily Smith, Lillian Taskey, Ferdinand Collatz; second violin, Beatrice Miller, Edith Karon, George Evans, Homer Krause, Warren Moore, Knox Winton; cello, Erna Rakowski; cornet, Waldron Hough, Louis Berktold, Harold Sund; trombone, Louis White; piccolo, Frederic Campbell; drums and traps, Tom Beatty; piano, Marietta Miller and Vera Bronson. Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaten sang in place of Mrs. Homer Anderson and gave Mrs. H. H. A. Beach's "Ah Love But a Day." Mrs. Fred Bradbury accompanied her. Miss Alice M. Olsen played Chopin's "Prelude Opus 28," and Grieg's "The Birdling," and Miss Lucy Wood in Chaminade's "Autumn," was also pleasing. Both of these young musicians give promise of good work and their numbers yesterday were enjoyed.

CLASS BANQUET.

Philathea Class to Have Annual Event.

An interesting program has been arranged for the annual banquet of the Philathea class of the First Presbyterian church which will be held this evening in the parlors of the church. This affair has come to be eagerly anticipated by the members of the class and the program for this evening promises that the affair will prove as delightful as former ones.

Dr. Robert Yost, pastor of the church, will be the speaker of the evening, giving an address to the members and Miss Wally Heymar will give three violin numbers.

The program as arranged follows:

Vocal solo—"Times Roses".....
Miss Lillian Meier.

LAST OF SERIES.

Rev. Gebauer Will Close Course.

Rev. George R. Gebauer will give the last lecture in the "Faust Cyclus" tomorrow evening at the Unitarian church. The second part of Faust and a general survey of its scheme and purpose and Faust's salvation will be the outline for this talk.

An interesting musical program has also been arranged by Miss Berta Vera Schmied which will be given after the lecture. Miss Schmied will give several piano numbers and Fritz Friederici, violinist and Max Friederici, vocalist will also have numbers. Miss Schmied's playing which is always received with delight on any program will be of special interest as will also the other numbers as Fritz Friederici will play violin obligatos to the vocal solos which he has improvised himself and many are especially interested in his work.

Mrs. O. A. Oredson and Mrs. Robert Spiegel will read from several of these writers.

Style Week in Duluth.

Women of Duluth and men, too, who are interested in new fashions, are having a treat this week in the elaborate displays of spring goods shown in the various shops.

Wonderful creations in suits, cloaks, gowns and millinery fill every display window in every shop which features wearing apparel in the city. Superbly tasteful and elaborate display windows is a delightful place to the feminine heart and women, whether they are shopping or not, are well repaid for a trip down street for the glimpses of the latest fashions which the merchants have arranged for their benefit.

The adoption of a uniform time for the spring openings in the shops has proven most satisfactory as in one or two trips down street offerings of all the shops can be viewed. The merchants, too, feel repaid for their efforts to give the leading styles to the women of this city for never have they had larger numbers of visitors than this season.

Clan Stewart Dance.

Clan Stewart, No. 50, O. S. C., will have an entertainment tomorrow evening at Forester's hall, formerly Steinway. An interesting program of Scotch songs and readings is being arranged and after the program refreshments will be served and an hour spent in dancing.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McGonagle and daughter, Mary, are expected home the last of the week from a two months' stay in California.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Cole will leave Belleaire, Fla., where they have been spending the winter, on Thursday of this week for Atlanta, where they will spend a week. Miss Elcey Cole, who is at school in the East, will join them at Atlanta for the week and from there they will go to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Cole returning to Duluth in a few weeks.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Richardson of 2525 East Second street will leave Saturday for a two weeks' stay at French Lick Springs. Their daughter, Mrs. J. H. Harrison, and her little daughter will go with them and from there they will go to Annapolis to visit Mrs. Harrison's sister, Mrs. Gerald Howze, until May.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Nolander of 25 South Seventeenth avenue east have returned from a three months' stay in Oklahoma.

THE HOME

By FRANCES WILEY.

The ideal home is not self-centered. It is a center of service. So far as circumstances will permit, the old-time ideals of hospitality should be maintained. In wise and uplifting ways the home should be shared. It is a good practice to invite young people who are away from home. It relieves lonelliness, discouragement and temptation. Remember it is:

"Not what we give, but what we share.
The gift without the giver is bare."

The home is the bulwark of civilization. Within the extreme limits of wealth and poverty a home may be good or bad, irrespective of social position or property.

Our homes are what we choose to make them. It is a question of what we admit and what we keep out of them. Our best selves and the best that we have to give should go into the home life, which, to a large degree, determines the character of children.

The home tends to make us all better or worse. Thus the home becomes the chief factor in determining the character of the community and the nation. The trend of our times is away from the home into the countless amusements and interests of modern life.

"LITTLE BOY BLUE" WANTS A DIVORCE

GERTRUDE BRYAN.

Gertrude Bryan, who has been starring this season on "Little Boy Blue," is reported to be looking for a divorce. Miss Bryan, when with a "Merry Widow" company in the West two years ago, married Harry Burgess, another member of the company. The wedding occurred in Chicago. It was very shortly after the marriage that trouble began which ended in a separation. It is said professional jealosy had much to do with it. Miss Bryan's home is at Red Bank.

THE EVENING STORY

MOBBED BY MONKEYS

By T. B. Fleetwood.

Once, related a traveler, while I was on an exploring expedition in the Far East, I paid a visit to Java. There are many strange experiences to be met with there, and the advanture I am about to relate was not one of the least exciting.

I had been off alone one day on the hunt for the ruins of some of the vast temples and palaces that once rose proudly in the depths of the primeval forest—for there can be little doubt that this equatorial island was once the seat of a great empire, whose history has perished, but whose ruined piles still linger to lift the veil just a tiny bit from the portals of the mysterious past.

After an anxious quest I at length came upon the deserted ruins, and spent a considerable part of the morning giving rein to my imagination among them. At length I began to retrace my steps to headquarters.

The silence of that vast old forest was like that of an oven. Not a breath stirred. I feared heat prostration. It seemed as if I could not breathe; and at last I threw myself down in the shade of a huge tree. The slight breeze that swept over the open display windows is a delightful place to the feminine heart and women, whether they are shopping or not, are well repaid for a trip down street for the glimpses of the latest fashions which the merchants have arranged for their benefit.

A Correction

—Inadvertantly it was announced in the news columns of The Herald yesterday that this store would remain open Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

—While it would give us pleasure to extend the public an evening's entertainment Tuesday and Wednesday, yet the original plans call for and preparations were made for only Monday evening.

—Tomorrow will conclude the formal exhibit and will afford an excellent opportunity for those who have not as yet visited the store to examine the attractive displays specially arranged for this last day.

—We urge your presence Wednesday.

gling with that, another missile knocked me sprawling, but I got to my feet and ran on, for half a mile at least. I dared not stop to shoot, lest I should be surrounded and set upon at close quarters.

But very soon the pace and the great told on me. I had to stop for breath. Noting a huge teak, standing a little apart from the other trees, I ran to cover behind the trunk of it, and stood there for a moment, panting, bathed in perspiration. The full volume of the pursuing noise then burst on me. All monkeydom was coming, out flanking me left and right.

The teak tree had a circle of upbranching roots above the ground. I had wild thoughts of diving down to shelter beneath those roots. But as I stood there, an old she leopard thrust up her head from the dark cavity, and glared at me. I heard her tail lashing the roots. This was probably her lair. She may have had whelps there. For an instant I thought she would spring; but her ear then caught the sound of the chatter and roar aloaft. She rolled her eyes horribly, and drew down out of sight. Running on again, I veered off to the right, where the forest seemed to be less dense. Here immediately I got amidst high grass and rattans, and came upon a drove of wild pigs, wallowing in muck. Three or four of the old boars half rose on their hind legs, barked hoarsely at me and clashed their tusks.

Tacking again, I jumped and splashed across a muddy bayou, and tore my way for fifty yards or so through tangled festoons of purple convolus. Finally I got out of the swamp of vines, on firmer ground, and noting that the forest thinned ahead ran on in that direction. The screeching din and fusillade tion. The screeching dinand fustillade behind had diminished, for the monkey pack kept to the tree tops and had now too far to jump from tree to tree. There was open country ahead. I pushed forward, although badly winded, and after a few hundred yards more came to what seemed to be an old plantation, where there were a few deserted huts and acres on acres of a kind of bright yellow marigolds, all in vivid bloom. They were knee high everywhere; and immediately I discovered that the ground underneath was swarming with a kind of small coral snake.

For as much as a quarter of a mile I picked any way here, among and over these wicked little reptiles, several of which jumped at my feet; but I finally struck into a native path, leading out in the sea, and half an hour later got home, pretty nearly done up.

If I had not happened to veer out of the thick forest as I did, I think that monkey pack would have made an end of me. I was told by my host that night that three deserters from a warship on the south coast, who had taken to the woods, were so pelted and mauled by monkeys that they came back voluntarily and gave themselves up.

ASK EDISON COMPANY FOR PRICE ON PLANT

Aldermen Declare Themselves Opposed to Renewal of Contract.

Dance Hall Ordinance Passed With a New Amendment.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID LAST NIGHT.

Passed resolution of Alderman Bernard declaring that it is unalterably opposed to renewal of any contract and calling upon Duluth-Edison Electric company to make city its lowest offer for sale of its plant.

Approved bonds of Mayor McCuen's appointees.

Awarded park bonds to R. M. Grant & Co., of New York.

Received petition against extending patrol limits on West First street west of Third avenue west.

Received invitation to attend women's meeting Friday to consider local penal needs.

Passed dance hall ordinance with amendment making it necessary to walk fifty feet through the street to get to any saloon from a dance hall.

The city council last evening asked the Duluth-Edison Electric company to submit its best price on its complete plant.

The resolution asking for the figures cited that the council is unalterably opposed to renewing any contract with the local company and is in favor of the municipal ownership of an electric light, heat and power plant for municipal and commercial purposes.

The aldermen unanimously declared that they are in favor of the purchase of the Duluth-Edison plant. All were present except Alderman Shartel, and the resolution went through without discussion.

The resolution was as follows:

"Whereas, This council is unalterably opposed to making or renewing any contract with the Duluth-Edison company, but is in favor of the immediate ownership and operation of an electric light, heat and power plant by the city of Duluth for both municipal and commercial purposes;

"Be it resolved, That this council is in favor of the purchase of the present plant of the Duluth-Edison company at a fair and reasonable price, and hereby requests said company to make and offer the lowest price at which it will sell its plant to the city."

The petition asking that the initiative, referendum and recall be incorporated as part of the city charter was received shortly before the close of the meeting. As none of the aldermen had had any opportunity of reading it or preparing any report, it was referred to the committee on offices and elections. It is probable that the committee will recommend that a special election be called to enable the voters to act upon the amendment at an early date.

The dance hall ordinance was amended and passed without any pyrotechnics. The amendment eliminating the provision that saloons should not be allowed in the same building was not attacked. Connections between dance halls and saloons are forbidden, and another amendment, offered by Alderman Scott, making it necessary to walk fifty feet in the public street to get to a saloon from a dance hall, was passed unanimously, after which the ordinance itself was put on record without a vote against it.

The bonds of the city officials appointed by Mayor John A. McCuen were approved and it is likely that the officers will assume their positions without loss of time. They are: John Wilson, city engineer, $10,000; Dr. E. W. Fahey, health commissioner, $2,000; S. M. Kielley, building inspector $2,000; and A. J. Meldahl, member of board of public works, $3,000.

A petition containing over 100 names was received protesting against extending the patrol limits on West First street beyond Third avenue west. It cites that it is proposed to extend the limits on the north side to Fourth avenue west and on the south side to Sixth avenue west, in order to allow saloons to be located within that territory. The signers state that many women and children use First street and that they hope to maintain it as a first-class retail thoroughfare.

The jail committee of the Woman's council extended an invitation to the aldermen to attend a meeting which will be held at the public library next Friday evening to consider means for penal reform in Duluth.

The property owners of sprinkling district No. 15 asked the council to order their streets sprinkled with water instead of being treated with calcium chloride.

The city attorney was directed to prepare and submit amendments made necessary by reason of the fact that the Woodland sewer is for sanitary purposes only and cannot be used for roof water. The award of the contract by the board of public works to Hugh Steele for the construction of the sewer was approved.

The H. J. Thompson Furniture company was directed to continue furnishing lights at New Duluth until the Duluth-Edison company has installed its lights.

R. M. Grant & Co. of New York were successful bidders on the $50,000 of park bonds. The company offered a premium of $840 and accrued interest.

Mayor McCuen evidently does not take kindly to the council's plan of handling his recommendation that a committee wait upon the Steel company officials to get a definite answer as to when the steel plant now under course of construction will be completed. He sent in a communication stating that in his opinion the interests of the people will be best served by having three or more members of the council on the committee. At the meeting a week ago the council named the mayor, the president of the council and the city attorney as a committee to wait upon the Steel company officials.

Contrary to expectations the council took no action towards declaring the seat of Alderman Shartel of the Fourth ward vacant. Nor was the question of confirming H. A. Carmichael as city attorney brought up. Both were conspicuous by their absence.

The meeting last evening was attended by a gallery which occupied every seat and all the available standing room.

MARCONI TO TAKE UNITED WIRELESS

New Company Will Be Formed to Handle the Merger.

New York, March 26.—The Marconi wireless interests have arranged to take over the bankrupt United Wireless Telegraph company, with property and equipment consisting of seventy land stations in the United States and about 500 ship stations.

The announcement, made by Arthur P. West, chairman of the United company's reorganization committee, followed upon the settlement in court of litigation between the two companies, the United company withdrawing its defense to the Marconi suit for infringement of patents.

The merger plan provides, according to Mr. West, for the organization of a Marconi company to which will be transferred the property of the present "American Marconi company" and the United company. Shares of stock in the new company will be issued to the stockholders of each of the old companies at an agreed value, and in addition there will be a large amount of new stock for the cash already subscribed for, it is stated.

The United Wireless company has been in bankruptcy for nearly a year, following the conviction of Christopher C. Wilson, its president, and officers for fraud in the sale of the company's stock.

Another Taxi Bandit Sentenced.

New York, March 26. — Eugene Splain, one of the leaders in the recent $25,000 taxicab robbery, was sentenced yesterday to serve not less than seven years and six months nor more than fourteen years and six months in prison.

COFFEE IS VERY FIRM

Corner on the Brazilian Output Is Getting in Its Work.

Retail Price May Be Advanced Still Another Notch.

"The price of green coffee has been advancing during the last few days," said Henry L. Caldwell of the Caldwell Coffee company, today. "I believe it is going still higher. I should not be surprised to see the retail price go higher, before we get through with the present upward movement. At the same time, I do not see how the retail price can be advanced very much, if anything is to be left of the coffee business. When you get coffee to a price that seems unreasonably high, people quit using it.

"As nearly as I can judge from what our own customers tell us, the consumption of coffee in the United States has fallen off 20 per cent from what it was two years ago. Country stores do not buy what they used to. City stores find that people do not buy coffee as they did. Farmers do not like to pay more than 25 cents a pound for coffee. It seems that they are not using nearly so much of it as they did.

"Coffee that in 1910 retailed for 20 cents a pound now brings 30 cents a pound. Coffee that two years ago sold for 30 cents now brings 35 to 45 cents, and what was 35-cent coffee two years ago is now 40-cent coffee. The largest advance has been on the lower and cheaper grades of coffee. The finest coffees have gone up too, but not so much. The bulk of the trade is in the cheaper coffees.

"The retail price of coffee has been about the same ever since November. Since that time the wholesale price, or rather the price of green coffee has been easing off a little, but not enough to affect the retail price. Coffee that we bought for 17¼ cents last November, we got last week for 15¾ cents, but John Arbuckle is now bidding 16½ cents for this same coffee. I look to see it go still higher, and I should not be at all surprised if it should go high enough to affect the retail price.

"The scheme whereby coffee was boosted has certainly worked admirably thus far. The coffee for which Mr. Arbuckle is now bidding 16½ cents was selling in August, 1910, for 9¾ to 9½ cents. At that time, the valorization deal between certain American capitalists and the government of Brazil had been perfected, but its effect had hardly begun to make itself felt by the people of the United States.

The Coffee Corner.

"When the deal was put through, a few years before that time, coffee was very cheap, so cheap that the price did not pay the planter. Among the American capitalists who pushed the game through was Herman Silcken, chairman of the valorization committee which took charge of 8,000,000 bags of coffee, which were bought at 8½ cents a pound. There are now 4,500,000 bags of that coffee left. Under the agreement with the Brazilian government, no more of that coffee can be placed upon the market until 1913. That coffee has been bringing 15 to 17 cents a pound. Pretty fair profit, is it not?

"The present high price of coffee would probably cause the planting of vast numbers of coffee trees in Brazil, if the Brazilian government would allow it. But part of the deal was the provision that a prohibitive tax should be imposed on the planting of the coffee trees. So the old trees were allowed to stand, but no new ones have been plantd. Exellent care has been taken by the coffee planters of their trees, and I have no doubt that the yield per tree is much larger than it was before. Yet the output of coffee has been so curtailed that the scheme is a great success.

"The American government would not stand for any such a combination as Mr. Silcken, Mr. Arbuckle and others have carried to such a startling degree of efficiency, but the American government cannot govern Brazil, or dictate to the Brazilian government what sort of laws it must pass to govern that country. Here is about the most successful corner I ever knew or heard of.

"There was far more profit in the business of roasting and selling coffee to retail dealers before the price was boosted than there is now. In fact there is scarcely any margin in it now. The trade would not stand such prices as would have to be charged in order to keep up the old margin. A coffee roaster these days gets little besides being paid for his own labor. He gets scarcely anything on his capital.

"We are now getting reports from Brazil that this year's coffee crop, which will be harvested in July and August, is short. These are the same tactics that were used when the price was being boosted a year ago. Whether the crop is short or not, I do not think there is any doubt that it means more expensive coffee. The Brazilian green coffee market is very firm."

Maybray a "Vagrant."

Kansas City., Mo., March 26. — John C. Maybray, former head of a syndicate of swindlers, who was arrested after an investigation by the local police, later released and "given hours" to leave town, defied the police and declared he would remain here.

"All right," said Chief Griffin, "then I will book you on a vagrancy charge."

Maybray's friends declared they would appeal for a habeas corpus writ.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

SMUGGLING IS ALLEGED

Over $3,000 in Diamonds and Jewelry Seized at Cando, N. D.

Suspect Named Anderson Is Arrested and Taken to Minneapolis.

Cando, N. D., March 26.—Over $3,000 worth of diamonds, watches and other articles of jewelry were seized by special treasury agents of the United States government here, on the Canadian frontier, yesterday, and a man whose name is given as Anderson, was arrested, suspected of being a member of an alleged gang of diamond smugglers.

The officials who effected the seizure and arrest are Special Agents David Elves and David McClennan, working under the direction of Special Agent Foulkes. They left Devils Lake last night bound for Minneapolis with the supposed spiuggler.

Mr. Foulkes went to Fargo, where it is said he will lay the information in his possession before the United States district attorney.

PLANNING BIG DAM IN CHIPPEWA RIVER

Arpin Lumber Co. Will Build Immense Barrier to Develop Water Power.

Couderay, Wis., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Government Engineer Cutler and his engineers who have been at work the last four months surveying on the upper Chippewa river, in this county, expect to complete their work this week. The survey was for the purpose of locating a dam site and also what lands it would overflow. The most ideal location was decided to be about one-half mile below the junction of the east and west forks of the Chippewa river in the town of Radisson.

The work was done for the Arpin Lumber company of Grand Rapids, Wis., which announces that work on the enterprise will be started next month and rushed to completion, but for what manufacturing purpose the dam will be built has not been definitely decided as yet.

Thirty-two-Foot Dam.

The power from the dam will be enormous, and the dam will be built of concrete, will be thirty-two feet high across the main channel of the river, and at the ends of the concrete work earth fillings will be built that will be forty feet wide at the top.

To give some idea of the enormous amount of water this dam will store, the engineers state that the water in Chief lake, in the Couderay Indian reservation here, will be raised sixteen feet higher than at present. The lake is fourteen miles back from where the dam will be located. Several thousand acres of land will be flooded, including some improved farms.

IS REGISTRATION DAY AT INTERNATIONAL FALLS.

International Falls, Minn., March 26. —(Special to The Herald.) — This is registration day for the city election to be held April 2. There is much speculation as to what the vote will be this year. Last spring it was a few more than 400 and conservative estimates predict an increase of perhaps 100.

At the meeting of the county board to be held April 4 ditch contracts will be let. Contractors from all over the country are seeking information regarding the same, with a view of bidding on the work.

IS MAKING MONEY KEEPING TURTLES

Prairie du Chien Fisherman Keeps Them in Cellar Till Lenten Period.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., March 26.—Keeping turtles taken from the sloughs of the Mississippi river in a cellar during the winter then placing them on the market during Lent is quite a profitable business in various river towns.

W. T. Allen of this city has this Lent netted over $150 by the practice, and others have followed his example.

At the ice forming time in the fall, it is the habit of turtles to seek out some sheltered spot near a bunch of weeds or a sunken log, and burrow in the mud beside it until their bodies are about half covered and their heads wholly so. Then to sit there inert until the ice goes out in the spring, a score or more of them some times hunched sociably together.

Sees Money in Turtles.

Mr. Allen, one of the oldest fishermen on the upper river, knowing this custom of the turtles, thought out a couple of years ago a simple way of turning it to profit. After the ice in the sloughs is strong enough to bear his weight he goes over it, finds the half buried turtles, breaks through the ice, hooks them up through the hole, slings them in a sack over his shoulder and takes them home to his cellar. The cellar has a moist, sandy floor. As soon as the turtles are deposited on it they burrow in the sand just as they did in the native habitat, and there remain torpid through the long winter without, requiring a single further thought.

During the Lenten season the price of turtle flesh soars along with the price of fish and a large number of the Mississippi fishermen this winter had adopted the same plan as Mr. Allen, catching the turtles in November and keeping them in their cellars. It is found they only lose slightly in weight.

BOY BORES PASSAGE THROUGH JAIL WALL

St. Paul Boy Held in Eau Claire Jail Effects His Escape.

Eau Claire, Wis., March 26. — By making a hole big enough to crawl through in the brick wall of the county jail, which wall is about a foot and a half thick, and then jumping a distance of about eighteen feet to the ground below, Roy Peterson, aged 19, St. Paul, who, with Clarence Barney, Minneapolis, aged 18, was tried in circuit court here last week on a charge of burglarizing Sam Johnson's saloon, the jury disagreeing, made his escape some time Sunday night from the county bastile, and up to last reports no trace of him has been secured.

Near the northeast corner of the jail building and facing on Oxford avenue, Peterson had made a hole through about a foot and a half of solid brick wall. Two pieces of iron taken from a bed had been used by him to loosen the plaster and bricks. The hole he made was just big enough to allow a man to get through. It was situated high up and just under the eaves of the building and about eighteen feet from the ground. He must have crawled out feet first and then dropped to the ground.

CATTLE SLAUGHTERED.

To Demonstrate Bovine Tubercular Test at Farmers' School.

Menominee, Mich., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twenty-one head of blooded cattle were butchered to afford a demonstration of the bovine tubercular test to farmers attending the farmers' short course just held here.

The demonstration was accompanied by a lecture by Prof. C. J. Wueling of the agricultural school staff. He explained the method of making tubercular tests and the great care and precautions which must necessarily be exercised. The development and spread of the disease and the damage resulting were also carefully outlined.

The twenty-one head of cattle, whose condition furnished a most impressive object lesson to the assembled farmers, were blooded cows from the herd of the National Pole company of Escanaba, which had failed to pass the tuberculin test.

This company conducts a model farm at Whitney and has always been anxious to have its dairy herd in the best possible condition. Notwithstanding the fact that there is no state law compelling tuberculin tests in the country districts the National Pole company took it upon itself to have the tests made, and, on request they were conducted by John T. Rowe of Calumet, upper peninsula inspector for the state dairy and food department.

DENFELD TO OFFICIATE.

Duluthian to Have Charge of Deer River Lodge Institution.

Deer River, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—With R. E. Denfeld of Duluth acting as grand master the newly organized Masonic lodge here will be instituted tonight in the presence of Masons from Grand Rapids, Coleraine, Bemidji and other points.

The new lodge will start off with about thirty members and the officers are as follows: W. M., G. E. Keenan; S. W., W. J. Shreve; J. W., C. R. Carter; S. D., George Herried; J. D., E. B. Jewell.

CLOQUET GIRL'S FUNERAL.

Last Rites for Hilda Gustafson, Pneumonia Victim.

Cloquet, Minn., March 26. — (Special to The Herald.) — The funeral of Hilda Odella Gustafson took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Swedish Lutheran church, Rev. C. O. Swenson officiating. The deceased was a daughter of Joseph Gustafson and besides her father is survived by several brothers and sisters.

The girl was 13 years old and had been sick several days with pneumonia, but death came quite suddenly early Sunday morning and was due to violent hemorrhages.

DR. E. W. FISH DIES.

Former Associate of Ignatius Donnelly Drops Dead.

St. Paul, Minn., March 26.—Dr. Everett W. Fish, a Populist speaker and editor, who in 1890 established and published the Great East and West in St. Paul, dropped dead Sunday in Rochester, N. Y. He had been associated with the late Ignatius Donnelly, and for a year after Mr. Donnelly's death in 1900 conducted the newspaper and then went East. Stan J. Donnelly, son of the late Ignatius Donnelly, in St. Paul, said he remembered Fish as an associate of his father, but had not heard of his activities in recent years.

LOSE BURIED POTATOES.

Many Tubers Stored During Winter in Munising Are Total Loss.

Munising, Mich., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many a potato grower, large and small, in the vicinity of Munising, as well as elsewhere throughout the Upper Peninsula, is sure to experience bitter disappointment when the weather has moderated sufficiently to enable him to safely open his potato pits. Superficial examination has already convinced several potato growers in the vicinity of Munising that they have suffered the loss of a considerable part if not all the product they buried last fall. This is due to the fact that during the past winter the frost has penetrated to an unusual depth. One potato grower fears his loss will be several thousand bushels, perhaps even more.

CANNOT ASSESS PLANT.

Pike Bay Will Have to Be Contented With Farm Valuations.

Cass Lake, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fear that Cass Lake property might be twice assessed through the creation of Pike Bay township having been swept away by the ruling of County Attorney Funck, some started interest anew by spreading the report that the township could assess the J. Neils Lumber company's plant and yards. The issue started an investigation of all the records, and it was found that when Cass Lake village was first incorporated, over ten years ago, the north half of section 15 was incorporated within its limits. Thereafter the east half of the northeast quarter of section 16 (the Nellie Lydick allotment after it was patented) was taken in, and then the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 9 (the Katie Van Pelt allotment) was taken in. In August, 1908, when the Commercial club secured possession of the Fisher allotment, with the intention of using it for factory sites, they petitioned to have the land taken into the village, and it was favorably acted upon. Some time afterwards they donated a site to the Northern Pine Crating company, and their factory was erected thereon. Thus it appears that the people of the new township of Pike Bay will have to be content with assessing the farms and some of the summer cottages for their revenue.

CASS LAKE ORGANIZING BOY SCOUTS MOVEMENT.

Cass Lake, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of representative citizens met at the high school building at the call of Prof. E. T. Fitch and organized a citizens' committee to have general supervision of the Boy Scout movement. The committee organized by the election of the following: E. T. Fitch, president; M. N. Koll, vice president; E. D. Boyce, secretary; Rev. A. Dodds, scout master; Rev. John Kornbrust, assistant scout master; Rev. G. O. Parish, chaplain; Dr. L. B. Galbraith, dentist; Doctors W. H. Smith and Z. E. House, physicians. The selection of drill masters was left to the scout master and his assistant. Next Thursday evening a mass meeting of parents and boys between the ages of 9 and 18 will be held for the purpose of giving the movement further impetus.

A committee consisting of J. L. Grady, W. E. Dexter, and E. D. Boyce was appointed to arrange for a suitable hall for the meeting and for quarters for the scouts. Another committee consisting of Rev. A. Dodds, Rev. John Kornbrust, Rev. G. O. Parish and J. W. Hough was appointed to draft by-laws and rules for the Scouts to be reported to the mass meeting. It is believed that this movement will have a very wholesome effect on the boys of Cass Lake.

KENYON POSTOFFICE BLOWN BY YEGGMEN.

Kenyon, Minn., March 26.—The postoffice was visited Sunday night by yeggmen, the safe blown with nitroglycerin and $75 taken. The deed appeared to be the work of amateurs as they had forced entrance at the side door of the building with tools secured in an adjacent blacksmith shop. The explosion is thought to have occurred about 3:45 o'clock Sunday morning but was not heard by any one in the neighborhood. There is no clue to the identity of the robbers.

DR. T. N. McLEAN OF FERGUS FALLS CALLED.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 26.—Dr T. N. McLean, who went to Chicago some time ago for medical treatment, si dead. Dr. McLean has for years been a leading physician of Fergus Falls, and was for some years mayor of this city. He is heavily interested in Fergus Falls business property, and in some of the local banks. His death was due to cancer of the kidneys. Dr. McLean was the Democratic candidate for congress in this district—which was then the Seventh district—in 1894.

To Welcome Detroiters.

Menominee, Mich., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Thornton A. Green of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau has appointed the following committee to welcome the Detroit Chamber of Commerce here in June: H. W. Reade, Escanaba, chairman; W. L. Middlebrook, Manistique; George W. McCormick, Menominee; A. T. Roberts, Marquette; Frank Sullivan, Sault Ste. Marie; and John T. McNamara, Houghton.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Bismarck, N. D.—Carl F. Eigell, one of the prominent farmers residing near Brittin, died at his home Friday morning of pleurisy. He had been a resident of Burleigh county for the past six or seven years. He is survived by a wife and seven children. Funeral services were held Sunday and interment was made in Glencoe cemetery.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The funeral of William Hespe, the boy who was frozen to death in a Montana blizzard the first of the week, was held from the J. P. Bach residence, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The serives were conducted by Rev. Mr. Matthews.

Bismarck, N. D.—Fire in Coonena's cafe in the business center of this city Saturday night for a time threatened the entire block. Flames started under the range in the basement and communicated to the wood between the walls and the firemen worked for three hours before they could get at the blaze.

Washburn, N. D.—The village of Washburn is much worked up over an alleged black hand attack on F. D. Funk, cashier and manager of the First National bank. Bricks had been thrown through the windows of his home and bank and Saturday Mr. Funk, when he arrived at the office, found a piece of paper in the doorway with the following inscription: "Funk, we'll get you yet."

Bismarck, N. D.—H. J. Tavis, right-of-way agent for the Northern Pacific, has established headquarters at Stanton and has made arrangements to remain there several weeks. A trainload of supplies was sent to the end of the line near Stanton Monday and rails will be laid into the county seat of Mercer county as fast as the weather will permit.

Watertown, S. D.—At a special election Saturday Watertown adopted the commission form of government.

Fargo, N. D.—W. O. Olsen is having plans prepared for a new three-story brick building, 75 by 100, on which he will begin construction as soon as frost is out of the ground sufficiently to permit excavation. The new Olsen building will be located on North Broadway, just north of the Calman building.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

New Richmond—Rev. Dr. Edgar E. Clough, formerly one of the best known preachers of the Western Wisconsin conference of the Methodist church, died suddenly of heart disease at Altidena, a suburb of Pasadena, Cal., where he has been stationed for the past three years. His last charge in Wisconsin was River Falls, leaving there five years ago for Southern California.

Dodgeville—The most disastrous fire that has taken place in Iowa county for a score of years occurred Friday night at the farm of George Harker, five miles west of here. Two barns, a hay shed, a silo, a granary, 100 head of thoroughbred cattle, and a store, together with their contents, were destroyed and the loss is estimated as being between $25,000 and $30,000, partially insured.

Madison—B. W. Reynolds of Madison, secretary of the La Follette campaign committee of Wisconsin, has filed a statement in the office of the secretary of state, declaring that from March 10 to March 23 the committee spent $228.15, making a total expenditure to March 23 of $468.60.

Manitowoc—A second herd of cattle in this county has been condemned within the last ten days because of being affected by tuberculosis. The latest case is that of Ferdinand Fetzer, a farmer at Whitelaw. The cattle are mostly Holsteins, some of which are worth $280. They will be killed next week, at which time a demonstration will be held. The other cows condemned were those of John Johnsrud.

Neenah — Preparations are being made for the commencement exercises of Neenah high school. A class of thirty-four will receive their diplomas. Miss Violet Hogan is valedictorian and Miss Emma Kienitz is the salutatorian.

Eau Claire—A new telephone line is being constructed north of Eau Claire and on the east bank of the Chippewa river, by the River Valley Rural Mutual Telephone company, a new company, which will be operated as a connecting company of the Eau Claire exchange of the Wisconsin Telephone company.

Madison—It is practically certain that the next legislature will be asked to repeal that section of the game laws which transfers the unused portion of the income of the state fish and game departments to the general fund. Last year this excess was $123,255.

Eau Claire—R. W. Leland died March 12, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Sayner, Elk Mound. The body was laid at rest in Lakeview cemetery March 14, beside that of his wife who passed away three years previous. The deceased was born in Le Tette, Can., in 1826, and was one of Eau Claire's earliest settlers, coming here in the year 1849, he first settled on a homestead in the own of Union.

Negaunee—Frank Dushane, city treasurer, announces that he will seek the office again this year. So far but one opposing candidate has declared himself, and it is believed that Mr. Dushane will make a good run this year against all odds. Mr. Dushane is 72 years old, and has been a resident of the city for fifty-three years.

Marquette—Dr. W. S. Deadman, Marquette's crack rifle shot, made the highest score ever known in the state of Michigan at the rifle shoot held at the Presque Isle rifle range Sunday. The score was made in a three-shot exhibition by Dr. Deadman after the regular events had been shot off. At 200 yards Dr. Deadman put three bullets within the bull's eye, getting a score of 32 out of a possible 36.

Hancock—Rev. Joseph Anastasi, pastor of St. George's Episcopal chapel in West Hancock, has received and has accepted a call from Bishop Anderson of Chicago, requesting him to assume charge of English and Italian missionary work in that city.

Negaunee—The oil house at the Breitung Hematite mine was destroyed by fire Saturday evening at about 7:30. Before the city fire department could reach the scene, the one-story building was swept by flames, which it was practically impossible to quench, they being fed with gallons of oil.

Crystal Falls—The council has decided on motor driven fire apparatus for this city.

Marquette—Morgan W. Joplin has tendered his resignation as president of the city Commercial club to the secretary, Frank Russell.

Ironwood—Harry Harper, Bessemer county engineer, has resigned.

Houghton — Capt. Pegoning, manager of the Houghton-Ripley ferry line, is completing in one of the village warehouses on the lake front a thirty-five foot ferry boat to replace the Intrepid, in use for the past two seasons. The new boat will be named Eleanor.

Hancock—A second ticket has been put in the field for election in Franklin township, being known as the people's ticket. On the ticket are the names of Charles Saikkinen for highway commissioner and Matti Scramppi for overseer of highways.

Calumet—Karl Lehto Saturday evening won his catch-as-catch-can match at Calumet against Gosta Shasmus, a Greek heavyweight, taking the first fall in 59 minutes with a headlock, and the second in 6 minutes with the toehold. Joe Ziehr refereed.

Crystal Falls — The Crystal Falls common council is in a quandary over the type of fire apparatus to be placed in the new city hall when built. The puzzle is whether to invest in motor driven machines or to content with horses.

Ironwood — William Anderson, aged 45, living at Jessleville, was accidentally killed in a peculiar manner last week. Anderson had sold a load of hay to a party living at Jessleville and on Monday came into the city with the hay and had it weighed on the city scales. On his way back to Jessleville the load tipped over and he was thrown off and his back broken and he died Wednesday.

Ontonagon — The Ontonagon board of education, after thoroughly studying all of the several plans submitted decided to accept those by Derick Hubert of Menominee. The specifications call for a red vitrified brick building trimmed with white Bedford stone.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—The Northwestern Minnesota Educational association in convention here elected the following officers: President, Dr. P. P. Colgrove, St. Cloud; vice president, Supt. A. E. Pickard, Hinekley; secretary-treasurer, Supt. C. A. Yeager, Alexandria; executive committee, Principal Wesley Thurman, Foley; County Supt. W. D. Frederickson, Willman.

Deer River—The hose tower being erected at the fire hall in which fire hose will be dried is about completed and is about sixty feet high. The council is also figuring with Contractor Culp on various improvements to be made at the village hall.

Fergus Falls—The funeral of Judge Davis Burbank occurred from his residence on Union avenue south at 10 o'clock Saturday forenoon. The services were private, and were conducted by Rev. A. J. Herries. They consisted largely of the reading of Judge Burbank's favorite scriptural passages and were simple and beautiful.

Crookston—Attorney W. P. Murphy has received notice of his appointment as United States Commissioner. Since the death of Maj. Mix it has been necessary to take federal prisoners to Thief River Falls for examination, but hereafter they can be arraigned before Commissioner Murphy.

Aitkin — J. M. Tucker Saturday shipped two more cars of potatoes, which makes fifty cars for him so far. He has close to 2,000 bushels in his cellar and the way they are coming in expects to ship thirty more cars of the 1911 crop. He is troubled to get cars at present.

Owatonna—The Kasota high school debating team won a victory over the Owatonna high school team in the debate here Friday. The subject was: "Resolved, That the Government Should Establish Parcels Post," Kasota having the affirmative and Owatonna the negative side.

Stillwater—Henry Wolfer, warden of the state prison, is back home. He spent a month in recreation in such Southern states as Florida, Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas. He is in vigorous health and is somewhat bronzed from open air exposure. He spent considerable time riding on horseback over plantations and about portions of the states mentioned.

St. Hilaire—Elmer Hackett, who last fall purchased land about two miles east of town, came with his family and moveables last week from Wakonda, S. D. They will be followed soon by two other settlers and their families from the same locality.

International Falls—Mr. and Mrs. John Holler are en route from California, where they spent the winter. Mr. Holler will resume his duties as deputy customs collector at this point about April 1.

St. Peter—Mrs. Eva Kap, an old resident of Belgrade, Nicollet county, is dead. Complications incident to old age were the causes of her death. She was 89 years old. The funeral was held from the residence at 11 o'clock Monday forenoon.

Sleepy Eye—Four members of the city council of Sleepy Eye, A. R. Keem, Robert Hose, C. C. Hansen and John M. Schrotpfer, have been charged with malfeasance in office by R. B. Hansen, a former saloonkeeper of that city. He has retained attorneys and asks that proper authorities recover several hundred dollars from the aldermen.

Hastings—Ezra R. Lathrop, the Hastings minister-mayor, owing to advanced age, was not an aspirant for a renomination this year and retires to private life at the city conventions Saturday afternoon. L. E. Niedere and F. W. Finch were nominated for the mayoralty, the former on the Democratic, and the latter on the Republican ticket. Both are two of Hastings prominent and leading business men.

SHE SUFFERED TEN MONTHS

Mrs. Blankenship Tells of Her Restoration to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elliston, Va.—"I feel it my duty to express my thanks for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was a sufferer from female troubles and had been confined in bed over one third of my time for ten months. I could not do my housework and had fainting spells so that my husband could not leave me alone for five minutes at a time.

"Now I have been restored to health and it has come from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Whenever I see a suffering woman I want to tell her what this medicine has done for me and I will always speak a good word for it."—Mrs. ROBERT BLANKENSHIP, Elliston, Va., Montgomery Co.

Was Helpless—Now Well.

Trenton, Mo.—"About two years ago I had female trouble and inflammation so bad that I was literally helpless and had to be tended like a baby. I could not move my body or lift my foot for such severe pains that I had to scream. I was very nervous and had a weakness.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me to such an extent that I think there is no medicine like it for female troubles. I am up and able to do my work again and I give you full permission to publish my letter for the sake of other suffering women."—Mrs. W. T. PURNELL, 320-10th St., Trenton, Mo.

Healthy Mothers

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

WITH spring come microbes in increasing hordes, the ash man, the burden added by the milliner to the cost of living, sulphur and mollasses, the timid reminder of the tailor, sentiment and long walks and resumption of social calls between the family of the coal dealer and the furnace fiends, and baseball. In other cities spring is on its way, while here we have yet a few months to wait before the first clarion call of the glad season sounds the reveille and ushers in those joys that come trooping in after the first robin. While the weather is all right in its way, this article originally started out to do with baseball. The main question, sighting the levels from the local lot, is just what to do with baseball. Maybe it is getting tiresome to you all, as they say in Louisville and generally south of the Mason and Dixon line, but if you are getting tired of it, think what the mental state of Darby O'Brien is!

Another letter came from the Orator the other day. After perusing it one can almost see the Irishman standing on the sunny side of some building and aimlessly whittling. With all those priceless athletes on his hands, and nothing coming from home in the way of assuring news, what must the manager of the team think?

There is no use blaming any one, for it won't do the least good. But it does seem kind of foolish to wait around for nearly a year, or since the close of last season, and enter upon the last leg of March and not know any more than the local magnates profess to know at the present time. The same goes for Superior. While it only required seven days to make the earth and the heavens and the things therein, it must be remembered that there are a multitude of bothersome details connected with the making of a baseball league.

For two years this column has boosted for better baseball for this town. Whether it will be this year or whether it will be several years in the future, the day is surely coming when we are going to break into the big league stuff. Duluth wants good baseball, and time will show that this town is capable of supporting the better grade of playing. Some of the exhibitions that were put up out at Athletic park last season would sour any town on the game. But with the growth of the city they can't keep us out of some of the good leagues, and then this bothersome bush business will be a thing of the past.

This year we may not have baseball, we may have semi-professional baseball, or we may finally land in a league made up of some of the cities of the Northern country. It is all a gamble, or somewhat of a gambol. In the future if there is any chance to organize a stock company here and subscribe sufficient money to get into the Western league, The Herald sport department is behind the movement from first to last.

We want baseball boosters, but it is a cinch that we are not going to have 'em so long as we have the kind of ball that this town is given its choice of witnessing, the kind of ball that was played last season.

The prospect is bright for favorable lake and rail rates, with a growth in the future that is going to make Duluth one of the big cities of the Northwest—well, Pal, let's climb on to the live baseball thing and start right at the present time building for the future. This baseball business of the bushes is getting tiresome. Like P. Henry, we cry, "Give us good baseball or let's go fishing."

One of the prominent business men of the city expressed his opinion of the whole situation yesterday, saying: "The Minny league was a knock rather than a boost for this city. Let's raise some money down on Superior street and get into the Western next season, if there is any chance. It will be a boost for the city that could not be bought in any other way."

This man is right. Let us start right at the present time and build for the future of baseball in this city by the inland sea.

SPEAKING about fighters, again, it is said that Uncle Tom McCarey, the genial Los Angeles fight promoter, is figuring on an elimination series of fights that will determine the real champion of the middleweight division. It seems that every fighter that weighs less than 158 pounds, even if he has to starve to death to weigh less than the required poundage, is laying claim to the supremacy in the middle class. Uncle Tom and some of the rest of us would like to know honest to goodness the real champ.

Right here we suggest that some promoter start an elimination in the middleweight wrestling situation. There is Henry Gehring, Mike Yokel, Walter Miller and Walter Willoughby, and they are all claiming the middleweight title. The rightful owner of the crown could much better be determined in a wresting match, or a series of matches, than through the columns of the various newspapers of the country.

Willoughby wrote the officials of the Greater Duluth Athletic club yesterday, asking that they offer a purse for a match between himself and Gehring, Yokel or Miller.

"I have tried my best to force Gehring on the mat and have given up in disgust," writes the lad from Mellin, Wis. "I will wrestle Gehring, Yokel or Miller, for I am anxious to win the middleweight title in a manner that will make the holder the champion beyond a question of doubt. I am ready to wrestle those three men in Duluth and show the American public who is the best wrestler in the world at the middleweight poundage."

PAL BROWN was in the city Sunday on his way to Hibbing. It is said that the iron range fighter will rest at his home for a while and then will go after some of the best in the lightweight division and Mexican Joe Rivers is one of the boys that the pride of Hibbing would like to take on. Uncle Tom McCarey and Joe Levy are mighty careful whom they permit to battle with the Mexican these days. The answer is very simple. Rivers is being groomed for a battle with Wolgast and nobody wants an upset rudely intervening. By the by, just happened to think of it, squatty Jim Hogan was in the office yesterday and he had a roll of bills that made even the janitor jealous, and ours is one who owns houses and lots and other things. He isn't bragging in the least or telling what he can do; but he has a proposition, plain and simple, and one that is backed with the good looking currency.

Hogan says he will bet $250 on his chances against Brown. Now if some club will offer a purse for the boys, and the Hurley Athletic club is said to be after the match, Brown can clean up something in the neighborhood of $500—provided he beats Hogan. The little Irishman says Brown can't, but that is neither here nor there. Here is a case where money is delgated to do all the talking.

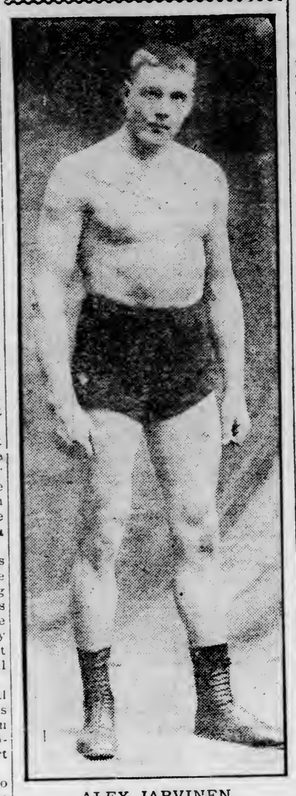
ALEX JARVINEN, hailed as the greatest wrestler that Finland has ever produced, is due to arrive today from Chicago. The large colony of Finnish people are preparing to give the young foreigner a demonstration that will make him sit up and take notice of the surroundings. The deeds of Jarvinen have been known for the past three years by followers of athletics to Finland, so that though this is his first trip to America, he is not altogether unknown in America.

FAMOUS FINNISH WRESTLING ATHLETE



ALEX JARVINEN.

ALEX JARVINEN IS DUE FOR MAT BATTLE HERE

Alex Jarvinen, the Finnish giant who is to wrestle Charles Cutler at the Auditorium Thursday evening, is due to arrive in the city some time today. Many of the countrymen of the young Finn are eagerly awaiting his coming, as a reception has been planned and the final plans will be completed with the arrival of the greatest wrestler, it is claimed, that Finland has ever produced.

Jarvinen will put the finishing touches on his training here. It is planned to have the young wrestler work out at the Finnish socialist hall. Gust Friluud, manager of the Finn, states that his man is in the very pink of condition and will only take enough exercise to keep his muscles limbered up.

Cutler will get in tomorrow or early Thursday morning. Advices from Chicago say that the famous nonpariel is in great condition, better shape in fact than he was in when he wrestled in Duluth earlier in the season.

As a climax to the excellent record he had made while in the United States, Jarvinen is most anxious to make a great showing in the match with Cutler. Jarvinen is after a finish match with Karl Lehto and he realizes that a good impression among his countrymen of the Northwest will help him in forcing Lehto into a match with him.

That Jarvinen is some wrestler is attested by his decisive defeat of the giant Russian, Romanoff, at Ishpeming. The young Finn is said to have a good knowledge of the catch-as-catch-can style and to be also fast and exceptionally strong. Among his countrymen he is hailed as not only the greatest wrestler ever produced by Finland but also one of its greatest athletes.

Martin Johnson's young Pole, whom the wrestling fireman pronounced as a wonder, will be pitted against Walter Diehm in the first preliminary, and little Louis Vabras, the lad who made a pronounced hit with the fans at the last wrestling show put on by the Greater Duluth Athletic club, will meet some good man in the windup.

The preliminaries arranged for Thursday night's show are the best of the season and some fast and clever wrestling is expected. Much interest is being manifested in the debut of the young Pole that Martin Johnson has been assiduously coaching for the past few months.

AD WOLGAST DEMANDS BIG PURSE FOR FIGHT

Seattle, Wash., March 26.—Referring to Tom McCarey's telegram, calling off the negotiations for a fight between Ad Wogast and Joe Rivers for the lightweight championship, to be held at McCarey's Vernon club, Wolgast declared today that if McCarey expects him to ever fight before the club he must do business with Tom Jones. McCarey, who was terribly peeved because Jones refused an offer of $12,500 to Wolgast for the fight, as a "joke" last night telegraphed Wolgast that he (McCarey) would do no more business with Jones.

Ad said today: "If McCarey stages a lightweight championship battle while I am champion, he will do business with Jones, all right. Make no mistake about that. A fight between Rivers and myself would be just as good a drawing card as the fight McGood a drawing card as the fight McCarey arranged recently between Freddie Welsh and myself, and McCarey knows it. We got the terms for the Welsh fight that we are now asking for the Rivers fight. Why shouldn't we? The house would bring at least $40,000 and the pictures $20,000 more. McCarey would give Rivers $7,500—and he wants to give me $12,500. Who gets the rest? Foolish question, McCarey of course. He wants to get rich quick, that's all that's wrong with him."

Jones refused to take McCarey's telegram of last night seriously.

"McCarey is a child and his telegram is one big joke," he said. "We are laughing about it yet."

SPORTSMEN ORGANIZE

Northeastern Minnesota Fish and Game Protective Association Is Formed.

Every Member of Organization Will Act as Volunteer Warden.

Every member of the newly organized Northeastern Minnesota Fish and Game Protective association will act as a self-appointed game warden.

He will report all violations of the fish and game laws which come to his notice. Every member of the club will take a solemn pledge to do this.

More than 200 very enthusiastic anglers and game hunters assembled at the Commercial club last night and formed a permanent organization, J. A. Lawrie being elected president; Thomas McGilvray, vice president; Cameron Hewitt, treasurer; Thomas J. Storey, executive agent.

The board of directors as chosen at the meting last night is composed of: Stillman H. Bingham, John C. Green, George W. Wells, J. A. Ferguson, Charles Wachtel and Dr. N. D. McNulty.

The club has nearly 400 members at the present time and it is expected that by the time for the next meeting, April 1, at the Commercial club, this number will be increased by 100 at least, for Duluth has hundreds of enthusiastic sportsmen who want the fish and game laws enforced.

On motion of A. C. Weiss, Dr. J. D. Budd of Two Harbors was indorsed by the club members to fill the first vacancy which comes on the state game and fish commission.

Dr. Budd was present at the meeting last night and told the members what the Two Harbors Rod and Gun club has accomplished. The Two Harbors man gave the members of the new club much valuable advice and his remarks were enthusiastically received.

Game Warden Storey informed the club members that 175 cans of trout fry, which contain some 187,500 fry, have just been received in Duluth. The fry will be placed in streams as soon as conditions permit.

DARROW DENIES HE WILL AVOID TRIAL.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 26.—Clarence Darrow, the Chicago attorney who conducted the defense of the McNamaras, and now is under indictment on a charge of alleged tampering with jurors, denies the report that he is in bad health and will seek "a settlement of the charges now pending against him."

"I never was in better health," said Mr. Darrow, "than I am right now, and there will be no compromise in my case. It will come to trial and the jury must decide whether I am guilty or not."

METHODISTS CENSURE TAFT AND WILSON.

Salina, Kan., March 26.—A memorial to the general conference at Minneapolis next summer has been adopted by the Northwestern Kansas Methodist Episcopal conference, protesting the action of President Taft and Secretary Wilson in allowing the latter's name to be used as honorary president of the Brewers' congress that met in Chicago last October. The resolution says the action was an insult to the intelligence of the Christian people of the nation, and that the only object was to secure the approval of the high federal office to the liquor traffic.

JACK CHESBRO JOINS THE COMEBACK SQUAD

Once King of Spitball Pitchers Is Trying Valiantly to Get Back Into the Big Show.

(By George R. Pulford.)

Hot Springs, Ark., March 26.—It was Elmer Stricklett who invented, or discovered the spit ball, say the historians of baseball; but Jack Chesbro was the first spit ball king.

It was at Hot Springs, Ark., that Stricklett revealed to Chesbro, then a member of the New York Americans, the possibilities of the damp delivery, and Chesbro, a giant in strength, became the leading exponent of the delivery that same year.

No one has heard much of Chesbro for the past couple or three years until utterances that he expected to pitch his good ball this season as he did in 1904, and this was taken with a grain of salt by the wiseacres.

The public has little faith in comebacks since Battling Nelson and Jim Jeffries blew up. When any one predicts a comeback now, Mr. G. P. hails from Missouri soldly.

But, let's look at this proposition from the angle Chesbro views it. The man who pitched fifty-three games of which forty-one were victories, for the Highlanders in 1904, has his reasons to believe he can be as good this year, and it sounds logical.

To begin with, Chesbro has given his arm a long rest. He believes the muscles which gave way under the strain of continued pitching have recovered their strength and elasticity and that by working slowly he can toss his coonskin into the ring and dare big league batters to kick it around with impunity.

Harry Wolverton, manager of the Highlanders, gave Chesbro an unconditional release. Fred Clarke, Pittsburg, told Chesbro that if he could show him anything he would sign him.

Chesbro is working out at his own expense at Hot Springs, determined to prove Wolverton was wrong and that Clarke knew a good thing when he saw it.

Chesbro has been here two weeks. Like other old-timers, he realizes that here in the Ozarks the nearest approach to the fountain of youth is to be found and that if he can ever get into shape to shine in fast company, he will do so here.

He is taking a full course of twenty-one baths. When he arrived, Jack sported a mid-section like a scowboat. Today he is as trim as a seventy-foot racing machine. Instead of being corpulent he is powerful looking, athletic. There is a spring in his walk that betokens good health. The waters and the sun, which finally consented to shine, have given him a complexion a society bud would envy. As far as looks go, Chesbro is "there."

He says his body feels all right and that he is running over with pepper. Chesbro always was lion-hearted. His baseball future depends upon his right arm. It is worth $5,000 a year to him, or nothing.

I said Chesbro was taking things easy. He has had oodles of experience to base his training upon. Before coming here he consulted a bonesetter and muscle-jerker, who told him to go ahead and pitch. It is only a question now of reaching the pink of condition by degrees, without any breaks in the program, and that's the way Chesbro is going about it.

Not many players believe Chesbro can again be a major league star, but he has any amount of confidence in himself. If he does return it will be as a spit ball pitcher pure and simple. He has tricks with the wet wanderer such as no other pitcher ever dreamed of, let alone pitched, and the things he does with the ball smack of wizardry.

With Chesbro capable of going the route, the outlook for Pittsburg will be brighter than it is now. Manager Clarke will have plenty of time to decide before the Pirates leave here for the north to open the season, and those who know the thoroughness with which the Pirate leader does things, predict that if Jack has anything left in him, Clarke will discover it if he has to use a fine comb and X-ray.

Chesbro told me that his right arm feels as strong as it ever did, stronger in fact. Ever since he retired from the spotlight Jack has labored to get his arm in shape. He worked steadily in a gymnasium, following a course of exercises prescribed by a specialist, to bring to life and strengthen the muscles and fibers that lost their strength when Chesbro, like a willing horse, permitted himself to be pitched to his baseball death.

CATHEDRALS TO PLAY CENTRALS

Basket Ball Teams of Two Duluth High Schools Will Meet.

One of the most interesting basket ball games of the present season is expected in the meeting this evening of the crack Central high school team and the fast Cathedral high school five. While the odds favor the Centrals the followers of the Catholic school believe their team is going to give a good account of itself.

The Cathedral team has been practicing especially for this game for the past week and is in the very best shape of the season. In the event of a victory for Central a formal challenge will be issued to the Boat club quint.

Following is the lineup:

"QUINCE" MORRIS IS GOING HOME

New York, March 26.—Carl Morris, the Oklahoma giant, is going back to Oklahoma to take a long rest. He will be the guest of E. B. Ufer, his rich backer from Oklahoma. Ufer was present when Morris defeated Donnelly and at the two bouts he lost in the East, one to Fireman Jim Flynn and the other to Jim Stewart.

Morris will rest up for a month, taking only light exercise, when he will again come East and meet all comers in an attempt to prove that he is the real "white hope."

Ball Players in Wreck.

Vicksburg, Miss., March 26.—Manager Hugh Jennings and four members of the Detroit American league baseball team, were among a score or more of passengers slightly hurt when two sections of an east bound Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific train collided here last night.

Besides Jennings, Eddie Summers, Charley O'Leary, Jack Onslow and Jim Marooney were cut and bruised about the head and body. None was seriously hurt. The Detroit team was en route to Jacksonville and New Orleans to play exhibition games.

Canadian Woman Wins.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 26.—First in a field of fifty contestants in yesterday's qualification round in the women's event of the annual united north and south golf amateur championship was Dorothy Campbell, Canadian and British champion, and former American champion. Her card of ninety-five was four strokes less than the field, a triple tie resulting for second position, at ninety-nine between Miss Mary Fownes of Oakmont, Miss Myra B. Helmer of Midlothian, and Miss Kate Van Ostrand of the Jefferson County club of Watertown, N. Y.

Baseball.

New Orleans, La., March 26.—The Philadelphia Americans lost at 7 to 5 game to the New Orleans club here yesterday afternoon. Baker, the first time up, hit the longest home run of the season, scoring Collins, who had singled.

Elgin, Ill., March 26.—Local baseball promoters said yesterday they will make no attempt to secure a franchise in the Wisconsin-Illinois league in the event Racine, Wis., fails to raise sufficient funds to maintain its place in the league.

Atlanta, Ga., March 26.—The Atlanta Southern leaguers lost to the New York Americans, 7 to 3.

Break Bowling Record.

Paterson, N. J., March 26.—The Grand Central five-men team of Rocheter, N. Y., broke the world's bowling record of 2,969 in the National Bowling association tournament last night. The Rochester five scored 2,997 as a three-game total or twenty-eight pins better than the record made by the Bonds of Cleveland, Ohio, in the N. B. A. tournament at Buffalo last year.

College Athletics.

Chicago, March 26.—Nearly 200 athletes from universities in the Big Eight conference will participate in the annual intercollegiate in-door track and swimming meet to be held at Patten, gymnasium, Northwestern university, next Friday and Saturday.

Roller Throws Samson.

Boston, Mass., March 26.—Dr. B. F. Roller of Seattle, threw Samson, a German wrestler, so hard in the first bout of their match here last night that Samson dislocated his shoulder and could not continue. Roller won the fall in 30 minutes, 34 seconds with a hammerlock and reverse nelson.

Billiards.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 26.—George Sutton of Chicago, world's billiard champion, in an exhibition game of 18.2 balk line billiards here last night, made a score of 400 in five innings, an average of 80.

Burns Defeats Gibbs.

Memphis, Tenn., March 26.—Frankie Burns of Jersey City, bantamweight, defeated Willie Gibbs of Philadelphia in eight rounds here last night. Gibbs began in whirlwind fashion, for two rounds raining body blows on Burns, who escaped without much damage. Burns methodically battered Gibbs' face for the remaining six rounds.

Montreal Wins.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 26.—The Montreal all-star ice hockey team defeated that of the Cleveland Athletic club, 1 to 0.

MOVE GEN. KEARNEY'S BODY TO ARLINGTON.

New York, March 26. — The remains of Maj.-Gen. Philip Kearney, who was killed in the battle of Chantilly, Va., while leading his division of the Third army corps of the Army of the Potomac, will lie in state at the City hall on April 11. The body has rested since the war in the family vault in Trinity church yard. The remains will be placed on a special train on April 12 and taken, under escort to Washington, where it will be interred in Arlington cemetery, an appropriation of $5,000 having been made by the state of New Jersey to cover the cost of the removal and ceremonies.

DULUTH ORDERED TO SETTLE DEBT

McCuen Willing to Pay, But Wants Release From League.

La Crosse, Wis., March 26.—Duluth must pay its debt to the Minnesota-Wisconsin league, and all indebtedness against the Superior club if there is any, must be paid to the organization before the two clubs can join any other baseball circuit, according to a decision received by President J. A. Elliott from Secretary J. H. Farrell of the national commission. The secretary ruled further that in case the indebtedness is not settled by the time the directors meet in La Crosse, April 3, action may be started against Duluth and Superior.

Dr. J. A. McCuen stated that he is willing to pay the indebtedness of the Duluth club to the Minny league, provided the directors of the league are willing to release the club from the organization. All along the genial doctor has held that he was perfectly willing to settle all of the honorable obligations of the club. If the Minny league officials are willing to meet the owner of the local franchise half way there is not the least prospect of there being a hitch in the settlement of the money claims.

On the other hand any attempt to force Duluth to remain in the league, and any belief that this city will come into the Minny at the last minute, will probably not only be met with disappointment but will also cause some trouble in the settlement of the alleged debt the league officials claim.

COACH STAGG SUFFERS A SEVERE COLLAPSE.

Chicago, March 26. — Maroon track athletes will not have the help of Coach Stagg this week in preparing for next Saturday's indoor conference meet at Evanston. The Chicago director, who was expected back from North Carolina today, sent work yesterday that he has been forced to postpone his return again, and he is likely to remain in the South for another ten days of two weeks.

Coach Stagg's old enemy, the rheumatism, is responsible for the change in his plans. He had been gaining strength gradually since his breakdown of last fall, but the attack of rheumatism has caused a relapse. It may be necessary for him to remain at Pinehurst throughout April, although he is making plans to get back to the Midway as soon as possible.

ON THE IRON RANGES

NEW CHARTER IS FINISHED

People of Eveleth Will Vote on Changing Form of Government.

Mayor and Four Councilmen to Run City If Plan Is Adopted.

Eveleth, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The final meeting of the charter commission will be held Thursday night, when the proposed new charter which fifteen leading citizens have been industriously drafting for the past six months, will be given its final reading, a few minor changes made, the draft officially subscribed to by the several members and then the same will be turned over to Mayor Saari.

The mayor will submit the document to the city council, which has the power to call a special election to vote on its adoption. It is expected that the election will occur in May.

The commission form of city government is provided for in the new charter. Instead of a mayor and a council of eight members, a mayor and four councilmen will be chosen at large.

Five Departments.

There are five separate departments provided for in the charter, designated as follows: Public health, sanitation, police and general welfare; accounts and finance; parks, public grounds, buildings and fire protection; water works and sewers; streets and alleys.

The mayor will have charge of the first named departments and the other four departments will be selected by the council. The salary of the mayor is fixed at $50 per month and that of each of the four councilmen at $40 per month.

Mayor Appoints Police.

The appointment of the members of the police force is left with the mayor as at present, but the appointments must be approved by the council. The mayor may suspend a member of the police force, but only the council can permanently discharge him. The charter commission, according to the statutes, is composed of freeholders of the city, who have been legal voters in the city for the period of five years, as follows: J. C. Poole, George A. Perham, Frank C. Cervany, Joseph S. Wilson, A. Rohrer, B. O. Greening, Dr. C. W. More, Solomon Sax, James A. Robb, Peter Peterson, P. R. Campbell, Edw. Millette, W. H. Harvey, George A. Whitman and J. J. Gleason.

MARBLE HONORS RETIRING MAYOR

William Bowden Given Testimonial Banquet Before Leaving for Indiana.

Marble, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Marble hotel was the scene of an elaborate banquet Monday evening, given by the men of Marble in honor of William Bowden, the retiring mayor.

Mr. Bowden was the first mayor of the village and has served three consecutive years and is going with his family to Indianapolis, Ind.

The large dining room was artistically decorated and the long white tables were filled with every conceivable thing for the inner man. As the seventy banqueters stood at their respective places D. M. Vermilyea, toast master, called on the Rev. O. Suver for the invocation. While the dinner was being served the following program was rendered, with Miss Bowden presiding at the piano:

"The Old Oaken Bucket," the Marble quartet; solo, "When Love Comes In," Joseph Rule; piano selection, Miss Bowden; duet, Messrs. McDonald and Vermilyea; "Old Kentucky Home," the Marble quartet; baritone solo, Jack McDonald; "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," sung by all the voices.

Dinner being served, Dr. G. W. Gilbert in a most appropriate manner delivered the presentation address, presenting Mr. Bowden with a beautiful gold watch as a token of the gratitude of the citizens of Marble for his faithfulness and assurance of their prayers for his prosperity.

Mr. Bowden Responds.

Mr. Bowden responded in his usual modest way, claiming no merits whatsoever, saying he merely did his duty, thanking the citizens for their loyal support. He assured them that he need not be missed if they continue loyal to their new mayor, Richard Fitzgerald, his worthy successor.

The toastmaster then introduced the new mayor, who said: "My honored predecessor has shown his faith in the future of Marble by his works, now he has given the work to you and to me; with the present council and with your support, we shall some day realize his fond expectations."

County Attorney McOuat said: "Itasca is the fourth wealthiest county in the state, and the village of Marble comprises one-fifth of the wealth of the county. With this splendid fact before me I predict Marble will some day be a city second to none on the range." This prediction brought an enthusiastic applause.

Alderman Sullivan Speaks.

Alderman Sullivan spoke very highly of Mr. Bowden's untiring efforts in the building and the beautifying of the village. "Not only is he a builder," said Mr. Sullivan, "but he is a sportsman as well. Why, he has left himself a monument made of empty gun shells."

Clyde Deek played the part of Peter Pender, the great story teller, during the evening.

R. C. Sproul loaned his speech to Mr. Perier, who lost it, and Mr. Dockary finding it was compelled to deliver it, which he eloquently did. He paid one of the highest tributes of the evening to the honored guest.

Messrs. Mick, Lux, Cramer, Capp, Staake, Chamberlain, Morse, Barkley, Currns, Young, Sweet, Reed, Krueger, Garinger, Dickens, Allen, Nichols and many other prominent citizens responded with toasts.

The climax of the entertainment was a farce presented by G. W. Gilbert, Jr., and Jake Sax. This, together with the early hour, concluded the banquet.

BLIND-PIG SCENE OF BATTLE ROYAL

Drunken Men Engage in a Fierce Fight in Cypress Location.

Hibbing, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sixteen Montenegrin's in two equally divided factions, engaged in a fierce fight Monday at the Cypress location, in an unlicensed drinking place. The trouble arose over some trivial matter while the party was drinking together, and chairs and beer bottles were pressed into service. Two, it is said, were seriously injured and one faction was compelled to flee from the place hotly pursued. The affair was not reported to the Hibbing police and no arrests have been made.

PLAN WAREHOUSE AT MEADOWLANDS

Farmers' Co-operative Society Appoints Committee to Prosecute Matter.

Meadowlands, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Farmers' Co-operative Society of Meadowlands held a meeting last night at the Meadowlands depot, for the purpose of taking up the question of erecting a warehouse. The following were present: John N. Tidd, W. A. Thomson, James H. Peterson, Bruce Bardell, E. C. Speece, R. M. Speece, Frank Arnold, Charles A. Worthing, Victor Bergeson, Theodore Burchardt, Charles Palmer, O. H. Palmer, Supt. W. A. Dickinson of the Meadowlands experimental farm was also present and gave a very interesting talk on co-operation. John N. Tidd and James H. Peterson were chosen a committee to call on President W. A. McGonagle of the Missabe railroad, in regard to erecting a new warehouse this spring, which is very much needed by the farmers in this vicinity to take care of their root crops next fall as there was quite a loss sustained by many last season, caused by freezing.

BIWABIK PLANS FOR TOURNAMENT

Making Arrangements for Gathering of Firemen There July 24-26.

Biwabik, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arrangements for the fifth annual tournament to be held here of the Mesaba range volunteer fire departments are well under way. At a meeting held in the village hall Monday it was decided to follow the old tactics as near as possible, as they were a success in every instance.

From present indications the following towns will participate: Proctor, Gilbert, Alice, Elba, Schley, Aurora and Biwabik.

The dates set for the tournament are July 24, 25 and 26.

GOES TO NORTH DAKOTA.

Range Newspaper Man to Perfect Title to His Homestead.

John Haley, who has been engaged in the newspaper business at Nashwauk is in Duluth on his way to North Dakota, where he will adopt the life of a farmer to perfect title to his homestead. Mr. Haley has a claim in Emmons county, near the Missouri river, south of Bismarck and will spend the balance of time required by law living upon the land. He says that land in that part of the Flickertail state is rapidly increasing in value.

HIBBING WILL HAVE BASEBALL TEAM AGAIN.

Hibbing, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing will have a baseball team during the coming summer. A meeting is to be held next Sunday afternoon to give the fans an opportunity to get together and outline plans for the season of 1912. Every member of last year's team is still in the city, including some of the best amateur talent in the country. The baseball park, which it was feared would be torn down by the opening of Fourth avenue, remains intact and the game will be as well patronized as ever from present indications. The local team will play Sunday ball as far as possible.

MAY SPLIT OFFICE BETWEEN TWO MEN

Two Harbors Council Thinking of Dividing Clerk and Collector's Job.

Two Harbors, Minn., Mach 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council is considering the splitting of the offices of city clerk and water and light collector. Heretofore these two offices have always been held by one man, who either appointed a deputy or had extra help in the office. President Esse believes that with all the side lines which the city is planning on taking up such as retailing coal and electric appliances that there will be enough work to permit of separating the combination office and have one man for city clerk and one man as water and light clerk each to have a separate office. That this does not meet with the approval of the present holder of the office was evidenced by his statement last night. He said that ever since he had taken the job he had been compelled to work as much overtime as possible.

Can Change Contract.

Mr. Pollard, representing Dwyer, Field & Co., of St. Paul, who have the contract for furnishing a new boiler for the light and water plant appeared before the council last night and asked that some change in the plans be made, as he claimed the boiler planned for the local plant would not do. He offered to refund $75 on the contract price if this change were allowed. Except for a few doubting questions by Alderman Alfred Johnson, the resolution embodying the changes went through without a hitch. Pollard offered a few words of explanation giving some very technical reasons for the substitution. These concerned the breaching and the flow of the gases. In the first place when the contract was awarded to the Dwyer-Field company their bid was several hundreds of dollars higher than any of the other bidders, and the bid was accepted because it was the only one which filled the requirements, being of the right length, capacity, etc. In lieu of the fact that the boiler is to be so materially different, it is the opinion of some that the city ought to get prices from other companies for this kind of a boiler.

HYPOCHLORITE PLANT NEEDED

Dr. Knauff Tells Two Harbors Council Plant Is Life-Saver.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The typhoid epidemic was generally discussed at the city council meeting last night. Dr. Knauff, health officer, was present and read letters from Dr. Bracken of the state board of health in which the secretary of the state board recommended that a permanent hypochlorite plant be installed at the city water and light plant. There is one there now which, is only temporary. The health report of the state board was read. There were several tests made before the water was treated with hypochlorite.

State Board Tests.

One of these showed that there were 150 bacteria to one cubic centimeter of water. The other samples showed all the way from 70 to 135 bacteria to each cubic centimeter. After the water was treated with the hypochlorite test was made of the water and it was shown to be practically free from any injurious bacteria.

In the opinion of Dr. Knauff, the hypochlorite plant is a life saver, and without doubt it is due to this plant that the epidemic was checked. No cases have been reported within the last ten days.

But the action of the hypochlorite on the water has several disagreeable features. It makes the water hard and at the same time has an unpleasant odor. It was recommended that the city have estimates made on the cost of filter beds. There were several suggestions as to the best places to put these. Filter beds may be placed at the outlet at Burlington Bay or at the outlet at Agate Bay, or at the intake pipe at the water and light plant. It is generally admitted that the cost of installing filter beds would be enormous.

Juggled With Report?

A peculiar state of affairs was made known last night when Dr. Bracken cited an instance in regard to how the reports of the state board of health were treated.

At the time of the epidemic two years ago when Dr. Hill of the state board of health came to make his report he stated that the water supply of the city was to blame. Yet the week following a local paper came out with a statement to the effect that Dr. Hill had said the water supply of the city was not to blame. Following this Dr. Bracken said that a long series of correspondence took place between him and a certain city official and that the official requested him to publish a statement to the effect that the water supply of the city was to be blamed. It has always been the opinion hereabouts that the water has never been condemned.

VIRGINIA IS REACHING OUT

Council to Consider Annexing 1,280 Acres of Rich Mining Property.

Virginia, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The regular meeting of the city council will be held tonight. One of the questions to be taken up will be that of going ahead with proceedings to annex a tract of land, 1,280 acres in extent, which lies east of the present city limits.

This is now a part of Missabe Mountain township. It is mineral property owned chiefly by the Oliver Iron Mining company. It has a taxation value of $10,000,000, and included in the city limits would add $200,000 per year to the city's revenues.

TRYING OUT PLAYERS.

First and Second Virginia Teams Are Being Selected.

Virginia, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The athletes of the high school have commenced the try-out meetings to select from about seventy-five candidates, the players for the first and second baseball teams. Nine players and three substitutes will be chosen for each team. The Virginia High School Athletic association which comprises the baseball, hockey, basket ball and football teams handles about $500 per year. The spring is the commencement of the financial year. The association starts out this year with a comfortable balance in the treasury.

The promoters of a local baseball team in the proposed league which takes in Winnipeg, Grand Forks, Fargo, Duluth, Superior and Virginia are going ahead as if the new league were assured. The management here has been in communication with Perry Werden for the managership. He has had much experience in managing professional teams and is now in the Twin Cities. Local ball promoters claim there would be no difficulty in getting a team together.

TO OPEN SCHOOL BIDS.

Virginia Board Will Pass on Tenders Saturday Evening.

Virginia, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—A special meeting of the board of education will be held at the board room next Saturday evening when bids will be opened for the construction of the new north side school building. Thirty-six bidders, are on the lists.

Contracts will be let separately for the main building, the plumbing, the heating and ventilating and the electrical work. Contractors making bids are from Virginia, Duluth and elsewhere. The board's estimates are that the building will cost $65,000.

ORE PRICE CUT WILL NOT CURTAIL MINING.

Hibbing, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the recent reduction in iron prices will have no effect on the volume of ore mined in the Hibbing district during the coming season is the opinion of those familiar with the mining business. To the statement that the low price of ore will have the effect of putting the independents out of business temporarily, the answer is made that the greater share of the independent mines in this section are owned by Eastern furnace concerns and are shipping their ore direct from the mine to the furnace. They are not in the market to sell their product and the majority of them have not been for some years.

BOYLE WILL SPEAK.

Senator to Address Eveleth Eagles at Memorial.

Eveleth, Minn., March 26.—The local aerie of Eagles will hold their annual lodge of sorrow next Sunday afternoon in the high school auditorium when the memory of six departed brothers will be revered, Senator Boyle delivering the principal address.

The program follows: Opening announcement, W. President M. J. Doyle; prayer; selection, quartet; duties of the aerie described by Junior P. W. President John N. Ward; violin solo, H. H. Peterson; roll call with ceremony; vocal solo, Mrs. Medley; oration, Senator James P. Boyle; selection, orchestra; closing exercises; benediction.

LA FOLLETTE LEADS.

Wisconsin Man Said to Be Ahead in Hibbing Preference.

Hibbing, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing supporters of Senator La Follette are discussing the organization of a La Follette club here and promise to have it under way within the week. There has also been discussed the organization of a Roosevelt and Taft club, but no steps have yet been taken to make either a reality. The La Follette men claim that a poll of the city will show that La Follette leads in public sentiment in Hibbing, with Roosevelt second and President Taft third. They have addressed a letter to the Republican Progressive league at St Paul for the credentials necessary to organize and assert they will have a strong La Follette club in the field within a week.

ELY HAS CHANGED NAMES OF AVENUES

First Avenue Becomes Central, Other Avenues Being Numbered From It.

Ely, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council has let the contracts for the iron posts to be used in the new white way, to the Flour City Ornamental Iron works. These posts are to be delivered when needed, which will be as soon as the frost leaves the ground. With the installation of these lights Ely will be one of the best lighted cities on the range.

The council also voted to change the names of the avenues of the city. First avenue now becomes Central avenue, and all avenues both east and west are numbered consecutively from Central avenue.

Enact Peddlers' License.

Ely has in the past been a wide open town for anyone who had anything to sell or peddle, until this liberty has become a nuisance to the residents. To abate this an ordinance was passed by the council requiring any one who desires to engage in business as a hawker or peddler of any kind of merchandise to procure a license from the city. The fee for this license was placed at $5 per day, $30 per month, or $100 per year.

IS GIVEN FINE CHAIR.

Employes of Virginia Shops Make Gift to Foreman.

Virginia, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The men employed in the machine shop of the Oliver Mining company went to the home of F. B. Cundy, foreman of the shop, last night, as Mr. Cundy supposed, to enjoy a social evening and nothing else. During the evening he was engaged while his employes smuggled into the house a very fine leather upholstered chair. Then a presentation was made and the balance of the evening was spent in a social way. Mr. Cundy has been a resident of Virginia but a few months and during that time has gained the entire confidence and cooperation of the men of the Oliver shops.

WILL USE OPERA HOUSE

To Give Cantata at Ely on April 3.

Ely, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ladies' of the Swedish Lutheran church gave a basket social in the I. O. O. F. hall Monday evening.

The Queen Esther Circle will meet this evening with Miss Mae Brown. The circle now has a membership of about twenty-seven young ladies.

The cantata to be given by the Epworth League will be given on Wednesday evening, April 3. On account of the large number taking part in this cantata, and smallness of the church platform, it has been decided to engage the opera house for the evening, and have it given there.

Many realize that one of the ways to reduce the cost of living is to encourage farming, so are waiting patiently for the agricultural special next Tuesday from 9 a. m. to 12 m.

W. P. Chinn, general superintendent of the Pickands-Mather Company of Cleveland, Ohio, has been in the city looking over over the Chandler mine. Mr. Chinn is a son of Richard Chinn of this city.

City Engineer Otto E. Brownell has returned from a month's trip through the Southland, during which trip he visited Panama. J. Purdy has also returned from a winter's trip in the South. Most of his time was spent in Texas and Mexico.

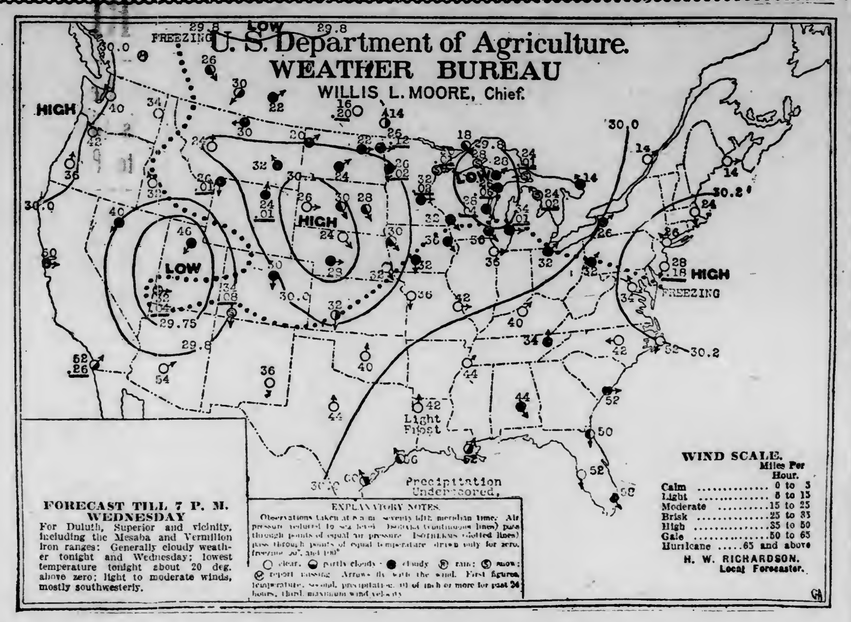
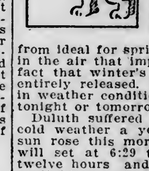
OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



CLOUDY



A light sprinkling of wet snow last night made good the weather man's prediction in that respect, but the weather was not as cold as predicted. The mercury did not get below 22 deg. during the night. The weather is pleasant enough, but far from ideal for spring. There is a chill in the air that impresses one with the fact that winter's grasp has not been entirely released. No radical changes in weather conditions are promised for tonight or tomorrow.

Duluth suffered a sudden change to cold weather a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 5:59 and it will set at 6:29 this evening, giving twelve hours and thirty minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

The temperature has risen somewhat over the lake region, Ohio and Mississippi valleys and most of the Southern states, principally as a result of the low pressure centered over the upper lake region. This disturbance also caused light snow over Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Eastern North Dakota and Saskatchewan during the last twenty-four hours. The rapid development of another low pressure area over Western Canada since Monday morning favors a continuance of rather moderate temperature at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours. A light frost occurred at Shreveport, La., last night. The depression over Utah caused light rain or snow there and in Colorado, Arizona and Southern California during Monday or last night."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 26.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; colder tonight.

Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Wednesday, becoming unsettled Wednesday night; not much change in temperature.

Minnesota—Fair tonight; Wednesday unsettled.

North Dakota—Unsettled tonight and Wednesday.

South Dakota—Unsettled with rain tonight or Wednesday; warmer in west portion tonight.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; not much change in temperature.

Iowa—Fair tonight; Wednesday increasing cloudiness with rain by afternoon or night.

Shippers' forecast—Protect thirty-six-hour shipments of perishables against minimum temperatures 20 to 25 degs. above zero in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

HERE IS A REAL DYSPEPSIA CURE

No Indigestion, Gas, Sourness or Headache Five Minutes Later.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order Stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapepsin.

If your Stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak Stomachs should take a little Diapepsin occasionally, and there will be no more Indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, Sour risings, Gas on Stomach or Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or Sick Stomach, and, besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved in five minutes after taking a little Diapepsin.

Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

FIRM FOUNDATION

Nothing Can Undermine It in Duluth.

People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit, and they cannot be blamed, for so many have been humbugged in the past. The experience of hundreds of Duluth residents, expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources, places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation here.

L. P. Schneider, 210 W. Fourteenth St., Duluth, Minn., says: "The public statements I have given in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills still hold good. In 1898 I said that for a considerable length of time, I had suffered from pains in my back. My condition finally grew so bad that I could not stoop or lift without being tortured. It seemed as if a sharp knife were piercing me. I could not lie in one position long without becoming stiff and sore. The kidney secretions passed irregularly and contained sediment. I found no relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They drove away my trouble and during the twelve years that have since passed, I have never had any serious recurrence."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

STEVEN COUPLE ENTERTAIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harder Do the Honors.

Aurora, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harder of the Steven location entertained at dinner Saturday afternoon and evening. American beauty roses were the decorations in the living room and a basket of pink roses formed the centerpiece in the dining room; while the violets and daffodils gave a delightful touch of spring to the dainty banquet which was charmingly served.

The evening was spent with music, singing and informal games:

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Devine, Mr. and Mrs. Harder, Masters Felix Loiselle, Charles Colvin, Teddy Dahl, David Savage, Charles Jones and Alphie Hood.

LIFE-SAVING DEVICE ADOPTED ON VERMILION.

Ely, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the latest life-saving devices adopted by the Oliver Iron company for use in the mines here, is the Dagier helmets. These are supplied with oxygen and with a preparation for the purifying of air, so that a man can work, if called upon to do so, for about two hours in the most poisonous gases. They are solely for rescue work. Companies of men are being drilled in their use so that if ever called upon to rescue their fellow workmen they will be prepared. In the case of one who has been overcome with gases, the helmets are especially useful in reviving such a one.

CARLTON GLEE CLUB AT VIRGINIA SOON.

Virginia, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The next entertainment in the city school lyceum course will be by the Carlton College Glee club April 2 and will be the last of the course for the season. Half the proceeds from this entertainment will be donated to the High School Athletic association.

Booming Around Edmonton.

Hibbing, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Breen has received a letter from B. H. Hayes, a former well-known Hibbing resident, telling of the good times prevailing in Northwestern Canada. Mr. Hayes owns a townsite near Edmonton, and says the coming year is going to be one of the busiest in the history of that section. Mr. Breen and a party of friends from Hibbing plan to go out and look the Canadian country over in about two weeks.

To Discuss Reciprocity.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 26.—The debating teams from the Coleraine and the local high schools will debate here Thursday evening. Muriel Fairbanks, Blanche Gaard and Robert Gilbert will represent Grand Rapids, taking the negative on the question: "Resolved, That reciprocity with Canada would be beneficial to the United States."

Rheumatism and Bad Kidneys Are Twins

Kidney and Bladder Troubles and Rheumatism Can Not Exist When Your Kidneys Work Properly.

It is high time that every man and woman should realize that pains in the back are usually a sign that kidney disease has already made dangerous advances; that rheumatism and bladder troubles arise from kidneys that fail to properly filter the poison from the blood; that Bright's disease and diabetes are always the result of badly working kidneys.

It's simply a matter of making the kidneys work properly. The very same remedy that the well-known kidney specialist, Dr. Clarke, used with such extraordinary success for 18 years, in kidney troubles, is yours when you get Dr. Clarke's Kidney Wafers. They have saved kidneys, saved lives, saved dollars, saved doctors' bills. You'll realize the good they are beginning to work on you, inside of 24 hours.

If you have pain in the small of the back; profuse or scanty, cloudy or foul urine; bladder pains; rheumatism; or any serious kidney trouble, your kidneys need Dr. Clarke's Kidney Wafers. They are safe, they must be safe, if they saved others.

Dr. Clarke's Kidney Wafers are sold at all drug stores, at 25 cents a box, or sent direct, on receipt of price, by Regent Drug Co., 44 Regent Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

If you want to prove their wonderful results first, just ask your druggist for a free sample package. You'll be convinced. If you want any advice about your kidney or bladder trouble, it will be given free, if you just write to the above company.

Dr. Clarke's Tonicum, the great strength builder. A remarkable remedy for nervous weakness and general debility. Harmless—pleasant—efficient. Two weeks' treatment 50 cents, at all druggists.

WITNESS IS UNDER FIRE

Hotly Denies Questions Regarding Champagne Suppers at Midnight.

Effort to Show Motive for Evidence Against Mrs. Torrence.

Under a gruelling cross-examination this morning in the Torrence larceny trial, Mrs. Lila W. Breckenridge, the state's star witness, showed anger and fired answers of "No" and "I should say not" back to the attorney as fast as he could put them over.

The subject under discussion was a somewhat delicate one. It related to midnight champagne suppers, early morning disturbances in the hall of the Torrence home, family affairs of the Breckenridges who have a divorce suit under litigation, and other allied topics.

As to champagne suppers at midnight or coming home in the wee small hours of the morning in the company of a young man, Mrs. Breckenridge denied all knowledge and insisted upon the truth of her statements.

The cross examination of the witness by Attorney Andrew Nelson, for Mrs. Torrence, who is charged with stealing from her roomers, was introduced evidently for the purpose of impeaching the testimony of the state's witness and to bring out, as a defense, a motive for "spite work" on the part of Mrs. Breckenridge.

Mrs. Torrence claims that the charges preferred against her were "trumped up" and that the so-called stolen property found in the Torrence apartments had been "planted" there. It was apparent at today's trial that Attorney Nelson was attempting to show that Mrs. Breckenridge had been asked to leave the Torrence apartments by Mr. and Mrs. Torrence on account of her "misconduct."

Mrs. Breckenridge is now residing in St. Paul. She testified on the stand this morning that she came to the Torrence home for rooms on Nov. 20 and stayed but one week. Her testimony related to the articles alleged to have been stolen from Mrs. Clara Harris, who was on the stand most of yesterday and whose testimony was concluded this morning. Mrs. Torrence was indicted on two counts, one relating to articles alleged to have been stolen from Mrs. Harris and the other to goods claimed to have been taken from Mrs. Breckenridge.

Mrs. Breckenridge identified most of the articles offered in evidence by the state as stolen property and told of the search of the Torrence apartments by Detectives Terry and Bradley of the police department. She denied on cross-examination that she had been asked to leave the Torrence home on account of misconduct and intimated that her conduct had been exemplary.

Mrs. Breckenridge admitted that she had had some trouble with her husband a few weeks previous. Since that time, she claims, she and her husband have not been living together.

This afternoon, after the testimony of Mrs. Breckenridge has been taken, the state intends to put Detective Bradley and Detective Terry on the stand. The case will probably not go to the jury before tomorrow afternoon.

PARADISE FOR WOMAN SHOPPER

Gorgeous Display of Raiment at George A. Gray & Co. Store.

Each big light and airy department in the shop of George A. Gray & Co. on Superior street presents an attractive appearance this week with the display of the fine lines of goods for the spring opening. The long double row of display windows dressed by the hand of an artist gives the approaching visitor a fair idea of what the shop has to offer and of the excellence of each line.

With models displaying street frocks, afternoon frocks, coats, hats and shoes and, with all the accompanying accessories carefully arranged, one could choose a fine wardrobe from these windows alone.

The dressy parasols which matched the various costumes were particularly admired. The staff is unusually long in parasols this season. Not only in the handle but the point end as well is a few inches longer than last season. Fancy borders with fringe and pleating edgings were also marks of these sunshades.

Inside the well stocked departments offered almost anything one could think of for a summer outfit.

In the millinery department pattern hats were attractively displayed as well as hats from the shop work room, which would do credit to a Paris maker. Gorgeous creations in wonderful colorings abound here as in most of the hat shops this season. One which was especially noticeable was a large rolling shape of leghorn with Tuscan braid and lace trimmings with a fetching wreath of little pink rose buds nestling against the hair under the brim and a large black velvet wing bow on top of the crown. Many of the hats were made with the trimming put on from the top of the crown and wonderfully made wing bows some like large butterfly wings, some like the wings of Mercury, were used on scores of the hats. Hemp straw hats with original trimmings were also attractive for street wear.

Suffragette Waists.

In the waist department a waist which the firm is featuring is the "suffragette' shirtwaist. These were smart strictly tailored waists in white or striped materials made on neat lines and perfectly finished.

A new department in this shop this season is the junior department which is stocked with an exceptionally full line of childrens and misses' dresses, coats and suits for children ranging all the way from 6 to 14 years in the children's lines and from 13 to 19 years in the misses' lines.

The linen dresses in new cuts and with new style touches in trimming were particularly attractive. One model of plain colored linen was made with an opening buttoning down the side of the skirt through the hem. Dainty little embroidered mull or lace or net collars and cuffs gave a new touch to gowns of this material.

The taffeta silk frocks made in latest models with puffings, frillings and braidings for trimmings as well as the fine line of white serge dresses and suits were particularly noticeable. A line of Aeolienne coats lined throughout with the same material only in a contrasting color was new. They come in both dark and light colors for street or dressy wear.

New coats in serges, whipcords, and mixtures in navy blues and blacks and lighter colors were worth while stopping to see and new knitted long coats of Angora were a special feature. These come in grey and white and are fine for motoring or outings.

The infants' department is a new department which they are featuring and with a full line of everything a baby could need it has become a popular department. Little embroidered dresses, layettes, hand embroidered pique coats, dainty Japanese silk kimonas, soft soled shoes, tiny wool sweaters are all seen here.

In the dress goods department bordered voiles displayed in the French room under artificial light were pretty for evening wear and wash fabrics and suitings were all new.

HAIRDRESSING

At Miss Horrigan's Hair Shop By Experienced Hairdressers.

So decided are the changes of the styles in hairdressing that considerable uncertainty exists as to what is most becoming to the individual; the Psyche, the coil, the loop or twist, the chignon, are all very pretty, yet all are not becoming to every one. It will therefore interest you to know that our expert hairdressers will gladly advise you and demonstrate what may be most suitable for you. Miss Horrigan, Oak Hall building.

BORAH LAUDS THE PRIMARY

Senator Says Neither Political Party Is Giving Clear Issues to People.

Denies Direct Vote Has Disorganized Political Organizations.

Washington, March 26.—Senator Borah of Idaho, one of the Progressive Republican leaders of the senate, speaking in that body today, charged both of the great political parties with utter failure in their campaigns to give to the people clear and distinct issues as of old. He contrasted present issues with those discussed by Lincoln and Douglass.

"We awake each morning to a saturnalia of personal drivel, to bickerings and quarrelings which have all the flavor of discussions carried on in the political groggeries of the lowest dives in the most rotten districts of our great cities," said Senator Borah.

"One week our great dailies are teeming with the difference between Wilson and Harvey; the next week with what Col. Roosevelt said to some personal friend in Oyster Bay; the next week how the president failed to appreciate the worth of some Rough Rider and thereby changed the current of history.

Contempt and Scorn.

"If we could know the withering contempt and bitter scorn which the earnest and industrious people of the country really have for this cowardly abandonment of the great issues, for this betrayal of the destinies of a great party, some heroic effort would certainly be made to get away from the most shameless and disgraceful contention that ever embarrassed a great cause.

"Turn back and read the great debates of Lincoln and Douglass when those intellectual giants fought for supremacy—scarcely a personal allusion from beginning to end. They were leaders worthy of great parties and they held the confidence of men as few men have done."

Senator Borah said that both parties are drifting. He declared that the political party will win which gives to the people the clear and definite policy in its platform in the next campaign and puts upon the platform a man whose character is a guarantee that the pledge will be kept. It is immaterial, he said, under what name or under what banner the announcement is made.

Defended the Primary.

Senator Borah was speaking in defense of the primary system, which had been assailed by many senators in their discussion of the investigation of the case of Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin. Defending the primary system, he said no one ever contended it would make all candidates decent and all men honest.

"You had just as well declaim against the whole moral law of Sinai and the statutes which define and punish crime, because after 3,000 years, notwithstanding the statutes, men still commit crimes," he said.

"Corruption cannot live under the primary system," said Senator Borah. "If men have the courage, as they will have, to punish those who stand exposed. A primary system accompanied by a corrupt practices act will make it impossible to control our elections by the use of money.

"Senator Stephenson could have put a million into a caucus and brought his purchased parchment of election here and the chances would have been 1 to 10,000 that it would ever have been known. But he put in a $100,000, and even without a corrupt practices act, and with an attempt to destroy original memoranda, the exposure is nevertheless complete and the only thing now left to be determined is the judgment of the senate."

Money as a Qualification.

It was argued by Senator Borah that if a rich man has no qualification for office other than his money it will cost him money to run. But if the candidate represents some question of great moment, the senator said, "if he deals in ideas and issues, instead of patronage and checks, he will win over all the money you can put into the fight. One of the very things for which I hold Senator Stephenson responsible in this campaign is that he entered the race with his bank account for his platform."

Senator Borah denied that primaries have disorganized parties. He condemned the old caucus system in politics and pronounced it the most "vicious, treacherous, subtle, venal institution ever operated to the detriment of the people.

"Parties come and go, live and die," said Senator Borah. "They come with a message and they go when they cease to have a message. They live so long as they offer to the voters a concrete and constructive plan with which to deal with human interests and human welfare—they die when, abandoning all principle and all policies, they fall into a contest over position and power and engage alone in the personal rows of ambitious leaders."

SPRING STYLES AT FREIMUTH'S

Beautiful Gowns, New Hats and Novelties in Footwear Attract Shoppers.

I. Freimuth & Co., are holding a most creditable display of spring fashions this week.

Beginning with their windows the visitor admired the handsome gowns displayed. There was a gown of white satin with an over dress of black and white striped chiffon made with a wide flowered border of delicate colored chiffon about the knees and this border also appeared in the bodice. Trimmings of black lace and black ball fringe finished this costume. Another costume was of white satin with a black lace over drape heavily trimmed with jet and crysta beaded bands. The bodice was made with a surplice effect and was extremely low cut with no sleeves.

Still another robe was of gray crepe de meteor trimmed with double frillings of the same material and an over skirt giving a panier effect was used.

Another window showed white serge and whipcord coats and suits and still another window which attracted a great deal of admiration from passers by was the hat window. Delightful shapes in dainty colorings with quaint and original trimmings are to be seen here and a new note was the long ties which hang from the back of the brim two and three feet in length.

A pretty hat displayed inside the shop was of white and red made in the oriental turban effect with two large bows like ears of a rabbit giving the height required by fashion. Another of these little turban hats was of white soft straw with folds of macrame lace and an ornament resembling a scimitar adorning one side. The oriental note appeared again in a little fez shaped hat in white and oriental colorings.

In the gown and suit department an artistic arrangement of costumes made an attractive display. One gown particularly noticeable was of light blue crepe de meteor with a bodice of light blue satin and a white chiffon fichu edged with pearl trimmings which formed the top of the bodice. This was an extremely low gown for evening wear.

Several other combinations of black and white, and the frenchy colors in the new bordered materials were seen and the display of fancy waists for wear with afternoon suits was especially good. Chiffon creations made up over fancy foundations were numerous and one waist of the new white chamousse satin made with a boulero effect of brown was striking.

Fancy coats for wear over evening gowns were of black and dainty colored marquisettes over shimmering satins of bright hues and trimmed with pearl and bead edgings. The styles in these as to make, remain about the same.

New footwear attracted the shoppers in this store and everything from street shoes to dressy pumps was on exhibition. Fine silks, wash materials, suitings and dainty accessories for milady's wardrobe filled this shop on every side and the crowds were highly pleased with the showing.

ALL READY FOR SENIOR PLAY

"A Modern Ananias" Will Be Presented Friday and Saturday.

Everything is in readiness for the annual senior class play to be given Friday and Saturday evenings by the Central high school senior class of 1912 at the high school auditorium.

The play to be given this year is "A Modern Ananias," a three-act comedy by John A. Fraser, and is under the direction of Prof. A. F. M. Custance.

The play deals with the matrimonial aspirations of a young doctor, a widower, and his stepdaughter, twice his age and almost twice his weight. The doctor appears in Newport, where he falls in love with a young woman, who is in reality a California heiress. He poses as a Mexican general and succeeds in interesting the young woman, but it develops that the young woman is in reality the bride picked out for him by his eccentric bachelor uncle. The uncle also appears in Newport, and it is here that the comedy of the play begins. After a number of funny situations and complications, the doctor succeeds in marrying off his elephantine step-daughter to his uncle and he himself marries the California heiress.

The comedy is clean and wholesome throughout and the cast has been well trained for this performance. Following is the cast as it will appear Friday and Saturday evenings.

HOLD COURT IN HILLSVILLE AGAIN

Bloodstains and Bullet Holes Awe Spectators at Scene of Tragedy.

Hillsville, Va., March 26.—The reconstructed Carroll county court convened here today with Judge Walter R. Staples presiding, and 100 people crowded the little court room. They still gazed in awe at the score of bullet holes in the white walls and shuddered at the bloodstained floors, reminders of the tragedy of March 14, when five were killed and two wounded.

Attorneys for the Allens declared today that they would prove that the shots were fired before Floyd Allen drew his own revolver. It is believed that they will endeavor to shift the beginning of the firing to apprehensive court officials.

Today's court proceedings were confined to the drawing of more complete indictments.

Motions by attorneys for Floyd and Victor Allen and Byrd Marion, now in Roanoke jail, to have the civil attachments levied on their property dismissed, were overruled.

The twelfth day's search for the fugitive Allen outlaws goes on in the Blue Ridge mountains nearby. The detectives in the mountains early today were able to report nothing further then that they had been close upon the heels of Sidna Allen and his nephews several times during the last day or two and hoped to run them down soon. Leaders of the posses think they finally will starve out the outlaws, cutting off their communication with moonshiners and other friends.

MESABA RAILWAY HAS INCREASED ITS CAPITAL.

St. Paul, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mesaba Railway company, formerly known as the Mesaba Electric Railway company, increased its capital stock today from $50,000 to $1,000,000.

According to the articles filed with the secretary of state, the road was originally intended to be an interurban through towns in St. Louis and Itasca counties. Oscar Mitchell, W. D. Bailey and F. M. Emanuelson were the incorporators.

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bidridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. If, after you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

WILL ASK EBERHART TO CALL SPECIAL SESSION

Roosevelt and La Follette Forces Want Primary Law Passed.

Attorney General Gives Opinion That Strengthens Their Position.

St. Paul, Minn., March 26. — (Special to The Herald.) — Governor A. O. Eberhart will be petitioned by the Roosevelt and the La Follette Progressive Republicans of Minnesota to call an extra session of the legislature within the next few days to enact a presidential preferential primary law.

W. T. Coe, representing the Minnesota Progressive Republican league, today called on Judge Milton D. Purdy, chairman of the Roosevelt Fifth Congressional District league, and asked that his organization co-operate with the La Follette supporters to that end. It is likely the proposition will be submitted to the governor before the end of the week.

The position of the Progressives was strengthed today by an opinion handed down by Attorney General Lyndon Smith in which he holds that the Caswell plan of a voluntary presidential primary would not make void the ballots at the caucuses.

"Ballots cast at a primary election of delegates to a political convention," the attorney general's opinion reads in part, "are not made void by putting the name of a preferred candidate thereon, or by the voter indicating thereon such preference. There is no specific law creating a presidential preference primary."

Governor Eberhart, who left today for Mankato, Minn., where tonight he is to deliver what it is considered will be the keynote speech of the coming state campaign, has been asked by I. A. Caswell, "father" of the Caswell primary election plan, "to state more specifically his position on the proposition of a voluntary presidential preference primary." State officials generally are said to indorse the plan.

TRIBUTE TO ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Gigantic Block of Stone Sent By People of Rome, and Abandoned When Vessel Was Wrecked Near Bermuda, Now Being Sought.

Rome, March 26.— Engineer Ferdinando Girardi has revived a very interesting episode in connection with the project of gathering at Hardin county, Ky., a museum of memories and mementoes to Abraham Lincoln. Engineer Girardi, who is a passionate student of the Rome which is now passing, has recalled that the news of the death of Abraham Lincoln produced such an impression in Rome that it was decided to express the sympathy of the Eternal City in the most solemn way possible.

Just at that time, near the railway station, the Agger, or permanent fortifications, built by Servius Tullius, was coming to light. The Agger is a huge embankment about 120 feet wide and twenty-five feet high, the lower courses of the structure being gigantic blocks of pepper-colored stone, held together by strong clamps of iron, and the upper courses of smaller blocks of volcanic pumicestone.

The Romans then thought that nothing could express their feelings in a more eloquent manner than sending one of these blocks, with a marble slab and inscription, to Abraham Lincoln. The appropriateness of the idea was added to by the similarity of the deaths of the two great men, Servius Tullius and Abraham Lincoln, the former also having been murdered. The inscription bore the date of June 20, 1865.

The block was sent to Mr. Stielmann, then American consul at Leghorn, who forwarded it on the British steamer Uhla, which through a strange coincidence was commanded by Capt. Lincoln, and who sailed for the United States on Aug. 4, 1865. A year passed with out anything being heard of it. It was only much later that was possible to learn that the Uhla encountered very stormy weather and went ashore near Bermuda, where ship and cargo were sold at auction, and the precious stone was abandoned on the shore.

Engineer Girardi now raises his voice in order that that stone, rendered more precious through these vicissitudes, should be sought for, and if impossible to find, another should be taken from the Agger, given the same inscription, and sent to Hardin county so that the tribute of Rome to the martyred president should not be lacking.

At the International Exhibition of Hygiene, which is now going on here, the section concerning the struggle against tuberculosis is most interesting. It appears that one-fourth of the total mortality of Europe is due to consumption, Italy alone, which is one of the countries less affected having sacrificed, up to 1896, an average of 59,000 yearly to the disease. This figure now, owing to the energetic preventive and curative measures adopted, has sunk to less than 50,000.

Still Italy, chiefly on account of the fact that most of her consumptives are foreigners, has not succeeded in obtaining the same amelioration as has accurred in other countries, such as, for instnace, in Prussia, where in the last twenty years the death rate from consumption has decreased from 31.1 to 22.7 every 10,000 inhabitants, and in England, where is has diminished from 18 to 12.6.

Russia has still the unenviable primacy in consumption statistics, the death rate there being 4,000 for every 1,000,000 inhabitants, followed by Austria-Hungary with 3,500, France with 3,000, Germany with 2,200, Holland with 1,900, Italy with 1,870, Scotland with 1,700, England with 1,400.

The best effects of the open air cure are shown by England, which with this system has succeeded in the last fifty years in reducing by half the mortality through tuberculosis, but if that were not enough, Italy provides fresh demonstrations showing how much more consumption affects people who are confined within buildings than those who live in the open air.

The death rate from this disease among nuns is 425.53 every 1,000, among weavers 408.16, among printers 400, among dressmakers 311, while among shepherds and agriculturists it is only 44.

A dispatch from Tripoli says that the military authorities have had recourse to a most ingenious expedient to disinfect the Arab population, but is was difficult to know how to apply it without hurting their feelings or prejudices. The office of hygiene has established, next to the American consulate, a pump which sprays lysoform. The Arabs at first ran away frightened, thinking it was a kind of quick-firing gun, but when they saw the Italian soldiers going under the spray and coming out refreshed and perfumed they all rushed to do likewise, and there is now a daily procession of dirty, ragged natives to the disinfecting pump.

AT THE GLOVE COUNTER.

New York Sun: "No woman," said the woman shopper "ever tries on bargain counter gloves or any gloves that are sold for a dollar or less a pair. Why? Because it is the unwritten rule that they shall not be tried on, as every woman knows. Sold at these special low prices with little or no profit or perhaps at a loss, as bargains, they must not be made less desirable by trying on, as every woman understands. But the men? They don't understand, which is natural, for they have less occasion to. At any rate they try on gloves freely and regardless.

"Here was a bargain sale of men's gloves at a price under a dollar, and there were twenty men around the counter buying them. And were they trying them on? Why, certainly; very openly, frankly, naively; standing facing the counter and trying them, and standing on the outskirts of the crowd not facing away from the counter and trying them; this not to make themselves invisible, but simply turning that way to get more room.

"And did anybody try to stop them? Not at all. There were two saleswomen at the counter, but they viewed this trying on apparently quite undisturbed. They let the men keep right on, while they continued deadly to sell gloves; which was of course quite the correct thing to do, for the men have not yet learned the law of the bargain glove counter."

USES OF TALC.

Talcum powder is made from the soapstone, some grades of which are produced in eleven states—California, Georgia, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont and Virginia. New York's output of 71,710 tons forms nearly half of the total production of the country.

Talc is usually marketed as rough from the mine, sawed into slabs and made up into manufactured objects such as laundry tubs or ground into powder. In 1910 ninety per cent of the talc was ground and 21 per cent made into slabs and manufactured. The product of New York is practically all ground.

Most of the ground talc is used in the manufacture of paper of various kinds, especially building paper, says Health Culture. It finds application also in the manufacture of moulded rubber forms and as foundry facings and paints. It readily absorbs grease and is used to remove spots from silk and to bleach cotton goods.

On account of its slipperiness it is widely used to lessen friction and for this purpose it is dusted into gloves and shoes and blown in conduits to ease the introduction of electric wires or other conductors. One of its widest applications is in toilet powders, most of which are made from high grade talc imported from Europe.

Laundry tubs, griddles, foot warmers and many other similar utensils are manufactured from soapstone. The higher grades of massive talc free from flaws are sawed up to make pencils or crayons, French chalk, gas tips and other special articles.

MEMORIALS FROM ENGLAND OF THE WASHINGTON FAMILY

The United States national museum at Washington has recently received a set of rubbings from the monumental brasses of the Washington family in Sulgrave and Brington, England, collected and presented by Mrs. A. T. Robertson of Washington, D. C.

The fact that the history of the family of George Washington is well known and fully recorded in England is brought to notice by the brass memorials and inscriptions still to be seen in the old English church and manor of Sulgrave and Brington, England. It was in this village that Laurence Washington and his family lived for three generations previous to their removal to Brington.

The Washington house, originally a monastery, is now the manor house of the village of Sulgrave. It was granted to Laurence Washington, the mayor of Northampton, by Henry VIII in the year 1538 upon the dissolution of the monasteries. Over the entrance is carved the Washington coat-of-arms, well known to every American citizen.

The old church of St. Mary, where the family worshiped for years, is nearby and forms a point of considerable interest, containing, as it does, three memorial grasses on the gray stone slab put down in memory of Laurence Washington's effigy, a shield bearing the Washington arms, and the following inscription:

"Here lyeth buried ye bodys of Laurence Washingto, Gent, & Anne his wyf by whome he had issue viij sons & ij daughts we laurence Dyed ye——day——ano 15 & Anne Deceased the vj of October ano Dni 1564."

Apparently Laurence Washington, great-great-great-grandfather of George Washington, devised this monument as a memorial to his wife, leaving the date of his own demise blank to be filled in after his death. This, however, has never been done.

Two other records of the Washingtons are found in the village of Brington. In this little township, not far distant from Northampton, stands the house to which the family moved from Sulgrave. It was in this house that Robert Washington died in 1622, and in the yard, engraved upon a sundial, is found the Washington coat-of-arms.

In the Church of All Saints, near at hand, where Robert Washington is buried, an inscription reads as follows:

"Here lies interred ye bodies of Elizab. Washington, widdowe, who changed this life for immortallitie ye 19th day of March, 1622. As also ye body of Robert Washington, Gent. her late husband, second sonne of Robert Washington of Solgrave in ye County of North, Esqr. who depted this life ye 10th of March 1622, after they lived lovingly together."

Laurence Washington, grandson of the Laurence of Sulgrave, died in 1616 and is also buried here. Two of his sons, John and Laurence, became respectively, Sir John Washington, Knight of Thrapston, and the Rev. Laurence Washington, Rector of Purleigh, Essex, whose eldest son John, emigrated to America in 1657, and was the great grandfather of George Washington, the president.

It is believed that the original design of the American flag, came from the stars and stripes of the Washington arms, and in the flag, as in the original arms, the stars signify divine influence, guiding the bearer in the right way, while the bars denote one who sets the bar of conscience and religion against wicked temptations and evil desires. The colors, red and white, seem to follow also: the red meaning military bravery and fort[illegible]e; the white, peace and sincerity.

So it seems that the arms of the father of the country are incorporated in his country's flag.

WHEAT UP BY MUSCLE

Market Bulled in Chicago in Spite of Fairly Large Receipts.

Other Markets Follow Suit —Duluth Flaxseed Market Duil But Firm.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 26.—Wheat closed higher on the leading markets of North America today in spite of the generally bearish look of visible factors affecting the market. Duluth May wheat closed ⅝c higher. Cash closed ½c over May. Oats were ¾c up and rye ½c off. Durum and barley were unchanged. March and May flax were unchanged and July was ¼c off.

Some factor on the Chicago wheat market put up the price there and drew up the other North American markets in sympathy this morning, although there was nothing visible in the conditions surrounding these markets to warrant a general rise. There were higher quotations from Liverpool, but the American primary receipts, while they showed some falling off from those of a week ago, were considerably ahead of those of a year ago. Moreover Bradstreet's report, issued today, showed a large increase in the world's visible supply of wheat. Some were of the opinion that the pessimistic reports from the winter wheat country had a great deal to do with the strength of the North American markets this morning.

Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.07 asked, opened today at the same figure bid and at noon was selling for $1.07¼@1.07⅝. There were bullish quotations at the same time from Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Liverpool wheat closed today ⅛@⅜d higher on account of the firmness of Argentine offers, the very light local stocks, and a strong demand on the part of the millers.

Flaxseed Dull and Firm.

There was not a great deal of trading in the Duluth flaxseed market this morning, but the high price of May held firm and at noon today May was selling for $2.10, as at the close yesterday. July was down ¼c at $2.08⅝ bid. The Duluth market was too languid to pay much attention to the foreign markets, and did not show that it was influenced by them at all. There were six cars of flaxseed on the track for inspection. The demand was fair, but there was very little business, because hardly any seed was offered for sale. Winnipeg May flax was up ⅜c at noon today, selling for $1.89¾. Buenos Ayres seed closed last night at $1.75, being 1¾c lower, and this morning opened at a further decline of ⅛c.

Grain brokers of Minneapolis are largely of the opinion that there must be radical liquidation in May wheat on that market before May 1. Millions of bushels of long wheat are held by people who will never take delivery, and unless there is a crop scare to help them out, they will be forced to sell their holdings at what some other speculator or the elevator companies may be willing to give them. Many express the opinion that the elevator companies will force the price of May wheat down, by refusing to buy in their hedges, and therefore threaten delivery of the wheat, unless the carrying charge from May to July should increase to a profitable amount.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Firm Again on Broadening Liverpool Demand.

Chicago, March 26.—A broadening demand reported at Liverpool brought about renewed firmness here today in the market for wheat. Cables told of a steady decrease in stocks at the British port, and referred significantly to purchases on the part of millers. Unfavorable weather in Argentina making the movement of the crop difficult acted also in favor of the bulls. There was fear, too, that ocean freight rates would be dearer unless the coal miners' strike in England were ended soon. The opening was ⅛c off to ¼c higher. May started at $1.02¾ to $1.03, the same as last night to ¼c up, touched $1.02⅝, and rallied to $1.03¾.

Dispatches alleging splendid crop prospects in Missouri led to a sudden dip, but reports of winter killing in Illinois and elsewhere caused a rally. Export sales helped. The close was firm, ⅜@⅞c net higher for May at $1.03½@1.03⅝.

Longs were unloading corn. Prices had poor support. Liberal receipts and lack of shipping call furnished the reason. May opened ¼c to ⅜c down at 71⅞c to 72c, sagged to 71⅝@71¾c and rallied to 72c.

A sudden bulge followed owing to generous buying for manufacturers. The close was steady at ⅝@⅞c up at 72⅜@72⅝c.

The oats market took color from corn. Trade was slow, and easy in tone. May started unchanged to ⅛c higher at 53¾@53⅞c, and descended to 53⅝c.

Provisions advanced with hogs. Offerings were only fair. Initial sales ranged from 2½c to 7½c higher, with July delivery $16.92½ for pork, $9.32½ for lard and $9.52½ to $9.55 for ribs.

Cotton Market.

New York, March 26. — The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 4 points in sympathy with better cables than due but quickly eased off to the closing figure of last night under a renewal of yesterday's selling movement which again had the encouragement of more favorable weather in the South. The pressure was not aggressive and the market during the middle of the morning was quiet and steady with prices ruling 2 or 3 points above the closing figures of last night on covering and buying of the near months by leading spot brokers. The demand for increased wages in some New England circles which have not yet received a 10 per cent advance seemed to attract less attention than the threatening situation in the domestic coal fields.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, $10.60; middling gulf, $10.85. No sales.

Futures closed firm; closing bids: June, 10.53; July, 10.59; August, 10.59; September, 10.60; October, 10.67; November, 10.69; December, 10.72; January, 10.62; February, 10.66.

LOSSES ARE RECOVERED

Selling for Short Account Causes Declines in the Stock Market.

Reaction Takes Place in Final Dealings and Close Is Steady.

New York, March 26.—Gains and losses were quite equally divided at the opening of today's stock market. Most of the market leaders including United States Steel, Union Pacific, Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting, were down, the latter a full point. Denver & Rio Grande preferred rose a point with fractional gains in other obscure railway issues and Canadian Pacific.

The irregularity of the opening was followed by increasing heaviness. American Smelting declining 1¾. Other market leaders such as United States Steel, Reading, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper recorded losses of ⅛ to ¾. American Can common continued its upward progress and American Beet Sugar and Consolidated Gas were among the new issues taken in hand for advancement. The undertone of the list was halting, in marked contrast with the previous day, and dealings were in reduced volume.

The list strengthened in the second hour, but failed to display any of the previous day's buoyancy. Losses in some leaders were partly restored, Reading especially showing the effect of steady demand. Activity in American Can, American beet sugar and coal products falled for more or less patent reason to inspire enthusiasm. It was the general testimony that the market was acting unusually well in the face of the enormous realizing of the past few days.

Bonds were steady.

Selling for the short account was somewhat effective during the noon hour when all the leading stocks, Amalgamated Copper excepted, suffered further declines. The recession was rather leisurely, however, in no important instance save American Smelting exceeding an average of a full point. Copper strength probably resulted from reports that the selling agencies were reducing bids of 15⅜c, the recent high price for the metal.

The market closed steady. Buying of Reading, which rose to within a fraction of yesterday's best, checked the declining tendency of the early afternoon, and most of the active list was up a point or more from its low level. Missouri Pacific, International Harvester, Interborough Metropolitan preferred and American Beet Sugar were features of the final dealings.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., March 26.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: The market is featured with heavy arrivals of all classes of horses and mules, including large consignments of horses from the logging woods. There was a good retail demand for farm mares and horses. A number of railroad contractors were on the market sizing up the offerings and several large sales were consummated. The large number of horses arriving from the woods has a tendency to keep values down. Shipments were made to a number of Northwestern points, including Canada.

DEMOCRATS CENSURE TARIFF BOARD WORK ON WOOL SCHEDULES

Say Report Shows No Need of Changing Underwood Bill.

Claim "Experts" Sought to Keep Duties as Near Present as Possible.

Data Are Called Insufficient and Much of the Work Irrelative.

Washington, March 27.—That the tariff board in its report to congress on the wool schedule proceeded upon an entirely erroneous theory and that its report was "untenable," is the conclusion of the Democratic members of the ways and means committee of the house as set forth in a report prepared by Representative Underwood, chairman of the committee, in connection with the re-introduction of the wool bill placing a 20 per cent ad valorem duty on raw wool.

This bill, after slight revision in conference last summer, was vetoed by President Taft, who gave then as his principal reason for exercise of the veto power that the tariff board had made no report on the subject. Last December the board reported and the Democratic members of the ways and means committee, after an analysis of this report, reintroduced the old bill, claiming that there was nothing in that report to justify any change.

Say Theory Is Wrong.

Summarizing the conclusion of the committee, Chairman Underwood says:

"A careful and painstaking analysis of the wool report of the tariff board dictates conclusions as follows:

"The theory of applying tariff duties according to the difference in the cost of production in this and in foreign countries, upon which the board has projected and prepared its report, is entirely erroneous and untenable. Furthermore, if this theory could have been systematically and carefully applied, it would not have afforded trustworthy results for guidance in preparing tariff legislation.

"The board's report is fragmentary and incomplete and rests on an incorrect statistical basis. Hence it has no claims to confidence for the results set

PEORIA Y. M. C. A. WRECKED BY FIRE

Spontaneous Combustion Ignites Building All But Completed.

Peoria, Ill., March 27.—Fire originating from spontaneous combustion wrecked Peoria's new Y. M. C. A. building early this morning. The loss is estimated at $45,000.

The building, which cost $100,000, was all but completed and yesterday at noon workers ended a campaign for $25,000 for furnishings.

BEGINS FINISH OF STEEL TRUST PROBE

House Committee Asks Engineers About Cost of Steel Plants.

Washington, March 27.—Final hearings in the United States Steel corporation investigation by the house committee began today, and the public probe will end probably with the close of the week.

Julian Kennedy, a structural engineer who constructed the Carnegie steel plants, and others were witnesses summoned today to testify as to the cost of constructing a modern steel mill. Mr. Kennedy has constructed many steel plants abroad as well as in this country, and recently returned from India.

OPPOSE SLOAN FOR U. S. JUDGE

Arizona Legislature Protests Appointment By Overwhelming Majority.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 27.—The Arizona legislature by an overwhelming majority today adopted resolutions objecting to the appointment of Former Territorial Governor Richard Sloan to be United States judge for the District of Arizona.

Mr. Sloan was attacked in speeches made by Democratic members, Senator John T. Hughes of Tucson charging that Sloan was supported by the railroads "who hoped, through him, to test the rights and powers of the state railroad commission."

Senator Alonzo Hubbell, Republican, of Apache county, defended Sloan, characterized the resolution as being intended to "ruin Sloan's character," and declared its adoption "merely a partisan act."

HIS DEATH WILL BE SIGNAL FOR CIVIL WAR

DON MANUEL BONILLA.

Washington, March 27.—Manuel Bonilla's life stands between order and anarchy in Honduras. He is the president of that country. Just now he is afflicted with an incurable disease, and it is believed that he has not long to live. When he dies there is sure to be a controversy over the succession to the presidency, and more than likely a serious revolution.

INCREASING THE ISSUES

Philippine Independence May Break Into Democratic National Convention.

Abbot Thinks It Is Not Fit Subject for Party Issue.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The question of Philippine independence is likely to break into the next Democratic national convention despite a rather general feeling that it is a subject not really fit to be a party issue. For some weeks past Chairman Jones of the house committee on insular affairs and Hon. Finis Garrett of Tennessee, ranking member of that committee, have been at work on a bill providing for the ultimate independence of the Philippine islands. The bill went through the committee with the speed that might have been expected of a member in which the chairman and the ranking member were vitally concerned, and probably will get its favorable report to the house within a few days.

The bill provides for a qualified independent government, beginning July 4,

PROPOSE TO GIVE TAFT COLORADO

"Harmony Program" Is Outlined By Leaders for the State Convention.

Colorado Springs, Col., March 27.—A so-called "harmony program" for today's state Republican convention was outlined at the close of an all-night conference of Taft leaders. It provided for the instruction of Colorado delegates at large to the Chicago convention for President Taft, the adoption of resolutions indorsing the administration and the selection of Thomas H. Devine of Pueblo as temporary chairman.

The Denver delegation receded from demands for four of the eight delegates at large and compromised on three representatives rather than take the issue before the convention, where the Roosevelt men, with approximately 270 delegates, would hold the balance of power. The compromise provided that delegates at large were to be proposed to the convention for ratification as follows: United States Senator Simon Guggenheim, Crawford Hill and A. M. Stevenson of Denver; T. H. Devine of Pueblo, J. F. McDonald of Leadville, Jefferson Farr of Walsenburg, Irving Howbert of Colorado Springs and A. N. Parrish of Lamara.

The convention was scheduled to convene at 10 o'clock, organize and adjourn until 2 p. m.

The Roosevelt delegates forced the doors of the convention hall shortly after 10 o'clock and selected seats directly in front of the platform. With this advantage they planned to carry their fight through the convention.

In the first test vote on temporary chairman of the convention the vote stood Taft forces, 656; Roosevelt, 242.

Nebraska Town Scorched.

Brunswick, Neb., March 27.—Fire here early today destroyed the Brunswick hotel and two stores. The losses aggregate $30,000 with insurance of $17,000.

STEPHENSON VOTE IS NEAR

Wisconsin Senator Soon Will Know Whether He Is to Keep Toga.

Wins First Test By Two Votes, One of Them Lorimer's.

Washington, March 27.—The final chapter in the case of Senator Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin, involving the retention of his seat in the senate, was expected to be written late today. Senator Stephenson's friends claim they will have a majority of four when the final struggle over the Heyburn resolution sustaining the legality of his election is reached. The opposition forces, led by Senator Lea of Tennessee, believe the result will be very close but make no absolute prediction.

Senators Kerns, Cummins, Lea and Pomerene and four or five other senators planned to take part in today's debate. To expedite the case, the hour for convening today was fixed for 11 o'clock, three hours earlier than the senate has been beginning its sessions of late.

Won the First Round.

Senator Stephenson yesterday won the first round of the battle when by a vote of 29 to 27, a resolution by Senator Jones of Washington, declaring the Wisconsin senator illegally elected, was rejected.

A bare majority is necessary to declare a senatorial election invalid. Such a resolution would deprive a senator of his seat just as effectively as would a resolution of expulsion, which requires a two-thirds vote.

Got Lorimer's Vote.

During the vote on the Jones resolution Senator Stephenson retired to the cloakroom, whence he peeped out occasionally to watch proceedings. The following was the vote on the Jones resolution:

For Stephenson—Bradley, Brandegee, Briggs, Burnham, Burton, Crane, Cullom, Curtis, Gamble, Heyburn, Hitchcock, Lodge, Lorimer, McLean, Nixon, Rich-

BIG SALE OF STEEL BONDS

Corporation Raises $30,500,000 for New Construction Purposes.

New York, March 27.—The United States Steel corporation announced today that it had sold to J. P. Morgan & Co. an issue of $30,500,000 5 per cent bonds. This is the first time in years that the corporation has issued bonds, its surplus earnings heretofore having been used in the construction of new properties.

Judge E. H. Gary, chairman, said there must be expended during the year about $20,000,000 for extension of properties and that about $17,000,000 additional working capital is needed because of increased business of the companies, particularly in the ore department.

TEDDY PRETTY MAD OVER THE OUTCOME OF NEW YORK VOTING

ROOSEVELT GETS SEVEN

Eighty-Three Delegates to New York Convention Opposed to Him.

Managers Complain of Lack of Ballots—Want Second Primary.

New York, March 27.—Delegates to the Republican national convention favoring the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt were defeated at yesterday's New York state primaries in every district where they opposed candidates designated by the regular Republican organization and claimed by the followers of President Taft.

The Taft campaign managers declared today that at least eighty-three of New York's ninety delegates would go to Chicago favoring the president's renomination. This estimate included the four delegates-at-large to be chosen at the state convention on April 9.

The remaining seven delegates were designated by the regular district organizations, but conceded to Col. Roosevelt.

TURKS CRUSH ITALIAN FORCE

Twenty-Seven Officers and 3,500 Men Killed or Wounded in Battle.

London, March 27.—The Turkish army in Tripoli has achieved a great victory over the Italian army, whose losses were twenty-seven officers and 3,500 men killed and wounded, according to the report of the Turkish commander at Benghazi, received here today from a special correspondent at the Turkish headquarters.

The location of the battle is not given in the report, which says that the entire camp equipment of the Italians fell into the hands of the Turkish troops. The Turkish commander says that the casualties among the Turkish and Arab troops numbered only 150 killed and wounded.

Says It Was Crime in City and Farce Everywhere Else.

Refuses to Comment on Action of Hoosier Republicans.

Fort Wayne, Ind., March 27.—Thoroughly aroused by the outcome of the primaries in New York yesterday in which the Roosevelt forces were defeated, Col. Roosevelt declared today that the whole proceeding was a farce. He gave out this statement:

"In New York state as a whole there was no real vote of the Republican party whatever. Outside of New York city the primary law is a farce. Inside of New York city it has been shown to be a criminal farce.

"Even as it is, one-fourth of the delegates are straight-out Roosevelt men, and of the remaining three-fourths, the great majority of those elected from New York city have no more claim to sit in a Republican convention than if they were sent to it by Tammany Hall, for they were elected by methods more outrageous than the worst methods that Tammany Hall it-

HEARS CANADIANS ON CHICAGO PLAN

Secretary Stimson Will Consider Only Hindrance to Navigation.

Washington, March 27.—With the hearing of Canadian protestants today, Secretary of War Stimson expected to conclude his inquiry into the application for permission to increase from 4,000 cubic feet to 10,000 cubic feet the amount of water to be taken from Lake Michigan to supply Chicago's drainage canal.

British Ambassador Bryce had arranged to present a delegation of official experts to lay before the secretary Canada's objections. In the party were William J. Stewart, chief hydrographer of the Canadian navy department; Victor W. Foronet, superintendent-engineer of the St. Lawrence ship canal; Arthur St. Laurent, assistant deputy minister of public works; John Kennedy, consulting engineer of the Montreal harbor commission, and Daniel Mullen, K. C., of St. John, N. B.

In announcing that all parties would be allowed five days to supplement oral statements with briefs, the secretary decided that in passing upon the application he would consider but one objection—the probable effect upon navigation—ignoring all references to climate and injury to property.

BULLET HITS NEAR MAYOR

Rock Island Executive May Have Been Target of Marksman.

Three Men Killed and Nine Wounded at Political Riot.

Rock Island, Ill., March 27.—An apparent attempt to assassinate Mayor Schriver at the city hall was made this morning by an unidentified person who fired a rifle bullet through the mayor's office window from the top of a building several squares distant. The bullet missed Mayor Schriver, who was standing in front of the window, and buried itself in the wall of the office.

Militiamen and deputies at once started search for the person who fired the shot.

Later Sheriff Bruner, after an investigation, declared the shot had been accidentally fired by a deputy sheriff who was loading a riot gun. A local paper, however, in a special edition stated that an attempt had been made on the life of the mayor.

The sheriff, police and three companies of militia prepared this morning to resist a resumption tonight of the rioting which resulted in three deaths and the wounding of nine persons here last night. The militia were sent here by Governor Deneen at the request of the sheriff. They consist of the local company and those from Galesburg and Moline.

Threaten the Militia.

An undercurrent of vicious feeling against the police exists, and Sheriff Brunner says he expects an attack on the militia tonight. A number of "desperate characters" in Davenport, Moline and Rock Island are carrying

MONTANA POLITICIAN DIES OF EXCITEMENT.

Livingston, Mont., March 27.—C. E. Hansen, a Socialist candidate for alderman here and prominent for many years in railway circles of the Northwest, died suddenly last night of heart trouble. His death, it is said, was brought on by excitement incident to the city campaign.

QUARTER OF MILLION GOES UP IN FLAMES.

New York, March 27.—Fire broke out early today in a five-store loft building at 623 Broadway occupied by millinery, cloak and suit manufacturers and quickly spread to three adjoining buildings. After three hours' work the fire was extinguished. The loss totals $250,000.

Measure Has Passed Commons and Will Receive Lords' Approval.

London, March 27.—The British coal owners, after a prolonged meeting this afternoon resolved to accept the minimum wage scale. This means that all the mines will be opened to the men as soon as they desire to return to work.

At a full meeting of the miners' federation today it was decided to take an immediate ballot among the men as to whether they desire to accept the government's wage bill and return to work.

The miners' delegates will return to their respective districts at the earliest moment, so that no time shall be lost in carrying the result of the ballot into effect.

The text of the ballot paper is as follows:

"Are you in favor of resuming work pending the settlement of the minimum rates of wages in the various grades by the district boards to be appointed under the coal mines minimum wage act?"

The more moderate members tried to get the federation to insert a recommendation on the ballot paper, but it was decided to leave the men a free choice.

A baro majority of votes will be sufficient for the acceptance or rejection of the proposition.

William Edwin Harvey, a miner member of parliament, says that he intends to tell the 40,000 miners of Derbyshire:

CINCINNATI MAY ESCAPE FLOODS

Water Will Recede Unless Heavy Rain Comes to Swell the Ohio.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 27.—The Ohio river here was rising slowly early today, but unless there is a heavy rainfall within the next twenty-four hours all danger of a serious flood probably will have passed. The stage at 7 o'clock was 53.2 feet. Should the crest of the flood go above 54 feet it will probably mean abandonment of the Union Central depot. Water already is over the tracks in some places, but as yet the service has not been interfered with. The damage already done will reach about $75,000.

PACKERS MAY END COMBINE

Dissolution of National Packing Company Rumored in Chicago.

Outcome of Trial Means Trouble for Department of Justice.

Chicago, March 27.—Whether the National Packing company, the $15,000,000 corporation which the government charged was the basis of the illegal conspiracy alleged against the ten leading Chicago packers, will be now voluntarily dissolved was today a much-discussed question.

According to one report the packers and their attorneys, as soon as they have rested from the stress of trial, will take up the terms of dissolution. Ownership in the corporation is vested in the interests of Swift, Morris and Armour in the ratio of 47, 40 and 13 per cent, and it is proposed to have each plant of the company taken over intact by one of the joint owners.

One of the first results of the prosecution of the packers has been the withdrawal of all the defendants from the directorship of the National except the president, Edward Tilden.

Will Mark Time.

Washington, March 27.—At the department of justice it was freely confessed that the outcome of the packers' trial would increase the govern-

TWO COLLEGE HEADS HEARD

Judson of Chicago and Vincent of Minnesota Both Testify.

Chicago, March 27.—President Harry Pratt Judson of the University of Chicago was expected to testify today in the $100,000 suit for alleged slander brought by Miss Esther Mercy, a former student, against Miss Marion Talbot, dean of women at the university.

In the court room President Judson occupied a seat beside Dean Talbot. Miss Mercy, who was accompanied by her mother, faced an unusual number of former classmates in the array of witnesses that had been summoned for the defense. It was said that the number of persons subpoenaed in behalf of the dean totaled 50, including many girl students, who could describe Miss Mercy's demeanor and actions at the time when a $250 hat worn by the plaintiff brought about incidents which resulted in the suit for $100,000.

Vincent Helped the Dean.

George Edgar Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota, who was formerly dean of Chicago university, took the stand yesterday afternoon and proved a strong witness for Dean Talbot. In substance, he denied that Dean Talbot ever called Miss Mercy a "woman of the streets" in his presence, as Miss Mercy had charged. He said the only reason Miss Mercy had been dismissed from the University of Chicago was because her veracity had been questioned "seriously." He was questioned at length regarding conversations which he held with Miss Talbot and Miss Mercy. He denied that any language such as charged by Miss Mercy was used by Dean Talbot.

Recounting his own conversation with the plaintiff, he said he used the words:

"We should prefer to have you withdraw from the university," and suggested that they would refund her the tuition she had paid. She immediately demanded an investigation.

Met Her Brother.

President Vincent then told of the occasion when Miss Mercy's brother went to the university to find out why his sister had been dismissed.

"The main point he brought up," he said, "was the reason for his sister's dismissal. He wanted to know if the matter could not be fixed up. I told him I was sorry, but that his sister's veracity had been seriously challenged and that we could not place reliance in her word."

"What did Miss Talbot say on that point?" asked Attorney Walker.

"I think she said, 'You have lied to us.'"

"What did Miss Mercy say?"

"She said, 'Of course I lied to you.'"

"Was this young woman discharged upon any immoral conduct that had reference to her virtue, or upon the insinuation that she was a woman of the streets?" Mr. Walker asked.

An objection to this question was sustained.

President Vincent denied that Miss Mercy had even been told by Dean Talbot or himself that she was mentally and morally unfit for the university.

RAILROAD LOSES IN CHICAGO GRAIN CASE.

Washington, March 27.—Refusal of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railway to accord through routes, through rates and transit privileges at Chicago on grain shipped by certain dealers in Indiana and Illinois, is held by the interstate commerce commission to be an unlawful discrimination inasmuch as those privileges are granted to other shippers in the same territory. If the railway does not cease the discrimination within thirty days it will be required to do so by an order of the commission.

VISIT PARK PROPERTY

Will Make Final Appraisal of Land Needed for Extension.

The members of the board of public works yesterday afternoon visited the proposed Fairmont park addition.

The trip was taken following the two preliminary meetings held within the past three weeks, when the complaints of property owners were heard. At the two meetings the members of the board of public works were unable to accomplish anything on account of the variance of opinion. The park board had secured several witnesses from West Duluth, who gave their opinion of the proper value of the land, while the property owners asked greater amounts for their property.

There will be no more meetings held until the board announces its final appraisal. This will take several weeks and it is probable that the first hearing on the appraisals will be held the early part of April. The property owners will be given an opportunity at that time to announce whether they accept or reject the offers of the board. If no agreement can be reached the matter will then be taken to the district court for a final decision.

The members of the board are pleased with the site of the proposed addition and two of the members, who had never seen the site before, were very enthusiastic. A West Duluth real estate man, who was with the party yesterday afternoon, said this morning that he was positive that the decision of the board will meet with the approval of the property owners. He said that the ground was well gone over yesterday and that the value of the land is understood by every member of the board of public works.

FOLLOWING WORK OF THE DISCIPLES

Rev. Farrell Holds Second Evangelistic Meeting at Asbury Church.

Rev. W. H. Farrell of the Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, preached on "In Preparation" at the second of the series of evangelistic meetings held last evening. A large audience was present. The music for the evening was rendered by the church choir.

Rev. Mr. Farrell took his subject from the text of Acts 1:8, "But ye shall receive power after, that the Holy Ghost shall come upon you. And ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem and in all Judea and in Samaria and to the uttermost part of the earth." He said in part:

"We must follow the things that transpired at Jerusalem and begin there. It is not the power of logic we need in accomplishing this work, for we are but to follow the work of the disciples. May we not be as successful as they in this work? We can accomplish and prepare for this success by witnessing by word and by life the things eternal. If we succeed where we have failed before we will then have accomplished the beginning of our work.

"To win men over we must have the power that only come after one has received his God and followed the plan of the disciples."

The third meeting of the series will be held this evening and Rev. Mr. Farrell will again be in charge. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock. The church choir will furnish the music for the evening.

EASTER CANTATA TO BE GIVEN BY CHOIR.

"Resurrection and Life" is the subject of the Easter cantata to be presented Sunday evening, April 14, by the choir of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street. Prof. A. F. Lundholm, organist of the church and director of the choir, is in charge of the rehearsals.

Every member of the choir will take part in the cantata and a number of Duluth and Superior soloists will take part in the solo features during the evening. The cantata was written by M. Reed and includes a number of interesting choral numbers. Among the soloists for the evening are: Ray Abbott, Mrs. G. Nylander, Rev. G. Nylander and Earl Brooks.

EYES INJURED IN EXPLOSION.

Leander Johnson of 208 South Seventieth avenue west suffered injuries to his eyes Monday in an explosion at the Duluth, Missabe & Northern machine shops at Proctor. Johnson was employed as a painter in the train yards and while removing some dirt in front of a locomotive, which he was about to paint, he touched a torpedo that was buried in the ground, causing the explosion.

The torpedoes are used by the repair crews in signalling to the engineers whenever there is a washout or break in the rails. The torpedoes are placed on the tracks in front of the washout and the light explosion is a warning to the engineer, who stops the train. The foreman of the machine shops said yesterday that the torpedoes are not kept in the ground as a usual thing, as special boxes are made for that purpose in the sheds, but that the trainmen sometimes keep them there for safety.

BANQUET TICKETS ARE IN DEMAND

Thomas Olafson, chairman of the ticket committee of the West Duluth Commercial club, reported this morning that over 300 tickets have already been sold for the tenth annual banquet of the club to be given Thursday evening, April 11, at the Dormedy hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street.

As arrangements are to be made for only 400 people, those at the head of the banquet expect a heavy demand for the remaining 100 tickets. A number of residents from other parts of the city and from outlying towns are planning to attend the banquet. Governor Eberhart is to be the principal speaker of the evening and among the other speakers are Hon. D. W. Lawler and State Auditor S. G. Iverson of St. Paul.

The banquet, committee of which W. B. Getchell is chairman, will make its first report to the West Duluth Commercial club at the regular meeting Friday evening. Arrangements have all been made. The Ladies' Aid Society of Elim Swedish Lutheran church will serve the banquet.

DEAF MUTE GETS STIFF SENTENCE.

Alfred E. Grimmett, the deaf mute, who was arrested Monday afternoon for begging, was fined $100 or sixty days in police court this afternoon. The young man at first claimed that his mother lived at Evanston, Ill., and that she was in very straightened circumstances, but it was learned this morning that the address was a wrong one. The local police department wired to Evanston last evening and received an answer this morning that there is no such person living in that city.

Visitor to Speak.

Rev. K. E. Peterson of Lund, Wis., will speak this evening at the West Duluth Swedish Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Greene street. Rev. Mr. Peterson is well known in this end of the city. He will speak at the West end church tomorrow evening before the Men's club of the church. During his stay in the city Rev Mr. Peterson is the guest of Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom, pastor of the West Duluth church.

Funeral of Child.

The funeral of Stewart, the 6-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Rikley, 120 South Sixty-third avenue west, who died Monday afternoon after a short illness, was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the residence, Rev. W. E. Farrell of the Asbury M. E. church officiated and interment was in the Oneota cemetery.

SUGGESTION TO MAYOR McCUEN

Names Submitted for Appointment to Public Welfare Board.

The general committee which was the outcome of the Men and Religion Forward Movement intends to take a close interest in the personnel of the board of public welfare which will be named by Mayor McCuen.

Some of the men on the committee have called upon the mayor and submitted to him a list of nineteen names of men whom they deem suited to a place on the board. The board will consist of five men but the committee desires that all, or at least part of them, should be chosen from the men named in their list.

The mayor told his visitors that he would give the men recommended by them careful consideration. Some of those mentioned by the committee may be named for places on the welfare board. The mayor had planned on sending the names of the men who will compose the board to the council last Monday, but he changed his mind at the last minute. The names will be sent to the aldermen next Monday night.

"GREATER DULUTH" CLUB SPRINGS INTO EXISTENCE

100,000 People By Jan. 1, 1914, Is New Club's Slogan.

First Move Will Be Banquet for President of Soo Road.

THE GREATER DULUTH CLUB WILL WORK FOR

A through system to the coast over the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads.
Cheaper lands for producers.
Home industries.
The hiring of Duluth men in shops and factories.
The reduction of the tax rates on improved property.
A "City of Homes."
The constructive spirit and "I Am For Duluth" slogan.
The interests of the consumer.
A progressive city and citizens.
Lower freight rates.
Better systems in the various departments of the city and county
AND
A population of 100,000 by Jan. 1, 1914.

To make Duluth a "City of Homes" and to secure a population of 100,000 citizens by Jan. 1, 1914, is the purpose of the Greater Duluth club, organized last evening at the Spalding hotel at a little gathering of business and professional men.

The new club will work for the interests of Duluth and its surrounding territory, and its slogan will be, "I Am for Duluth." To this end those at the head of the Greater Duluth club have already secured the signatures of 400 business men and professional men of Duluth as members of the club, and it is planned to have a membership of 500 at the banquet to be held April 23 in honor of Edmund Pennington, president of the Soo railroad, to celebrate the opening of the Frederic extension, which will give a new line from Duluth to the Twin Cities. This action was the most important taken last evening and followed an interesting talk by William Burgess, who severely condemned the past methods of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads and heartily indorsed the policy of the Soo road in the past.

The club will work for an independent railroad service to the coast on the Great Northern and Northern Pacific lines from Duluth, a proper adjustment of freight rates in comparison with Minneapolis and St. Paul, a "City of Homes," the lowering of the excessive improved property taxation, to employ Duluth men in all the shops and factories of this city, to boost home industries and keep in mind the new slogan, "I Am for Duluth."

Dowling Is President.

P. E. Dowling, who was chairman of the meeting and who was one of the organizers of the new club, was elected president of the organization at a short business session held immediately following the addresses. The other officers are: Alfred Jaques, first vice president; M. M. Gasser, second vice president; William Burgess, third vice president; Frank E. Randall, secretary; and E. J. Filiatrault, treasurer. The executive committee consists of the president and secretary ex-officio, L. A. Larsen, W. W. Bowe, William E. McEwen, John Jenswold, Jr., W. B. Getchell, Bert Fesler and John J. Moe.

The members accepted the constitution as read by Mr. Randall and an amendment providing that the annual meeting shall be held the last Wednesday in April was also voted on. This will make the next meeting day April 24, when Mr. Pennington will be the guest of honor at a banquet. A membership campaign is in the hands of the following members: Frank E. Randall, L. H. Merritt, A. H. Berg, J. J. Robinson and W. W. Bowe.

Purpose of Club.

Mr. Dowling in his opening talk declared that the purpose of the reorganization is not to be political, sectarian or partisan, and that the one main object in view is promoting the growth and prosperity of Duluth and its surrounding territory. This statement, as far as the political part of it was concerned, was proven by the fact that on one side of Mr. Dowling sat Alfred Jaques, a Democrat, and on the other side J. A. Keyes, a Socialist. Mr. Dowling urged an active membership campaign, and said that every property owner in Duluth should join the club and work for the future welfare of the city. He said in part:

"We want Duluth to grow, expand and prosper, as other cities of the West and Middle West have done. We do not desire to attempt any grandstand plays, but we do wish to ascertain what can be done to make for a greater Duluth.

"There is a feeling abroad in the city that Duluth must bestir itself—do something. For twenty-five or thirty years people have informed me that Duluth would soon be a city of 200,000, but the facts have not borne out their statements. With her docks, mineral wealth, railroads and agricultural advantages, Duluth should contain at least that number, but what have we? About 80,000, according to the census.

Increase Is Slow.

"Cities of 30,000 from the Mississippi river to the Pacific coast have increased to 100,000; those with 150,000 have increased to 300,000, but Duluth has stood still. The population has increased, but only through the births. Statistics show that the birth rate is thirty-five to each 1,000. Ten years ago Duluth had a population of 53,000. Today it has 80,000. Taking thirty-five as the average birth rate per 1,000 means a gain of 2,850 each year. Add the total for ten years and you will find out that Duluth has lost instead of gained.

"From the Twin Cities to the Pacific coast, on the American side and from Winnipeg to Vancouver on the Canadian side, every city has prospered with the exception of Duluth. What is the reason for this? Duluth has a stone and chain around its neck. The railroads have given the advantages that should come here to other cities. The business headquarters of the Head of the Lakes is 150 miles inland. What we have got to do is to stick together, stop knocking each other and present a solid front to the outside world, so that we can enforce our demands as they are presented to those who have to do with the making of a greater city.

Must Speak Up.

"We must be constructive, not destructive, and while we do not wish to antagonize any interests, we will have to tread on somebody's toes once in a while—and from 80 to 90 per cent of the real citizens of the city will be with us. To obtain anything, Duluth must make known her needs.

"When the banquet was held here in honor of Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern, only two men got up and said that Duluth wanted that railroad to do anything. Mr. Hill realizes that to get the business he must conform to the desires of the majority, and he asked: 'What can I do for Duluth?' These two men said that we wanted a new station, but no mention was made of the pressing need of a through system from Duluth to the Pacific coast.

"No one mentioned that all the passenger business that should come direct from Chicago here and then on through to the coast must first pass through Minneapolis and St. Paul. No one mentioned that if a Duluth resident desires to make a trip to the coast he must first go to one of these places. It was not the fault of the people of Duluth if Mr. Hill did not go away with the impression that we are perfectly satisfied to always remain a hamlet instead of the great city that should stand here."

William E. McEwen, former state labor commissioner and at present editor of the Duluth Labor World, said that Duluth is the victim of spasmodic growth in its early days and that for this reason it was perhaps not a greater city at the present time. He said that he was born within a mile of the present site of Duluth and as long as he can remember, Duluth has always been called, "The Zenith City of the Unsalted Seas."

"We must be consumers of our own products," said Mr. McEwen, "and for this reason we need more producers. You cannot reduce the cost of living unless the food products are grown nearer home. In order to secure these producers we must have cheaper lands. Too many capitalists are holding onto their agricultural tracts that surround the city waiting for values to increase. Increase the number of consumers and the industries will increase without any effort on our part. There will be a demand for them and money is always looking for a chance like that.

"It is said the laborers of Duluth receive higher wages than any other city, yet the amount above the actual cost of living is lower than in any other city. In Australia the laborers have 40 per cent of their wages remaining after paying for the necessities of life; in Germany, 30 and in the United States, 20 per cent. In Duluth, however, it is less than 10 per cent. In Cleveland, Ohio, the wage is considerably less than in Duluth, but the men are more prosperous.

Work For Consumer.

"We must work for the interests of the consumer. In him is our power. When capital finds out that Duluth is a good place for the laborer, it will surely follow. We must keep down taxes without being penny wise and pound foolish, for no city can prosper that does not work for the interests of all. Give employment to Duluth people when possible. Do not drive them out in order that they may obtain employment. I am informed there were 200 cigarmakers in Duluth ten years ago, and that at the present time there are about 50. What is the cause of this? If we would see Duluth grow we must purchase Duluth-made goods. People can not work when there is no work for them to do."

E. J. Filiatrault urged immediate action on the part of every citizen of Duluth and the surrounding territory. He suggested the new slogan, "I am for Duluth," and suggested an immediate completion of the various roads to the farming community so that the farmers will be able to have an easy access to the markets.

"Interest every citizen in the movement," said Mr. Filiatrault, "and get all the farmers on the agricultural land surrounding the city. We must do things at once and now. Talking will never accomplish anything. For several years the watchword has been 'Do It for Duluth.' We thought this savored too much of commercialism and therefore we have adopted one which sounds more patriotic, 'I am for Duluth.' We must work for the interests of all and drop all selfish motives."

City Attorney Bert Fesler gave a short talk in which he urged the members of the Greater Duluth club to strike at once. He said that at present the Head of the Lakes is at Minneapolis and St. Paul, but that it is high time that Duluth regained its position at the head of navigation on the Great Lakes. He urged immediate action on the part of the citizens to secure through service to the coast over the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads.

"We must get in touch with the spirit that permeates the West," said Frank Randall, the newly elected secretary of the club, "and learn how they have accomplished that which Duluth has failed to do. I understand that about 2,000 Duluth people left for Canada within the last two years. We must stop this if possible and get them coming the other way. This city has magnificent possibilities as has oftentimes been said, but we must do all things with a permanent structure always in view."

John Jenswold, Jr., gave one of the most interesting addresses of the evening, in which he called attention to the taxation law of Vancouver, B. C., the one providing for a tax on unimproved property alone. He said in part:

"We all have ideas and we all find fault galore when we are called upon. These ideas are proper, but we must also be constructive. We must get behind these ideas and work. The main trouble with the citizens of Duluth today is the fact that we have all been led away from the path of construction to the path of criticism. We have not been broad enough in our plan of action. Petty partisanship has played a large part in the hindering of the progress of this city. We must do something to bring the people and keep those here from moving away. Let us go ahead and make things attractive, even if we go in debt for it. Make Duluth a "City of Homes" and attractive to live in. Besides making this city attractive, I would have a law created similar to the one that has made Vancouver, B. C., the magnificent city that it is. I would place a tax on the land instead of on the buildings. The buildings do not increase in value—it's the location. We must take lessons from outside and attend to the social development of the city. Make it a pleasant place for everybody to live in. Make it so attractive that those who own interests here will have no desire to live elsewhere."

J. J. Moe was asked to give his views. He said that when he came here twenty-one years ago, he was told that Duluth would have 200,000 people here in ten years. "It is now twenty years and there is not even 100,000," he said, "and the people are still telling the same story. This club is a move in the right direction, and we must all remember to stop knocking and begin boosting from now on. We must be progressive in the future and work for the growth and prosperity of Duluth."

Other talks were given by M. M. Gasser, J. I. Lovett and William Burgess. Mr. Dowling addressed the members following the business session and announced a plan of action to be followed within the next few weeks. He said that representatives of the club will address other clubs and societies in the city and explain the plan of the Greater Duluth club. He also said that the co-operation of the women's clubs and organizations will be asked in the movement to make Duluth a city of 100,000 by Jan. 1, 1914.

FRANK A. DAY MARRIED.

Former Democratic Chairman for Minnesota Weds at Seattle.

Frank A. Day, former Democratic chairman for Minnesota, was married yesterday to Miss Helen Mills, Bremerton, Wash., at an Episcopal church in Seattle by Rev. Dr. Gowan, according to a dispatch from the Western city. They will take a short trip to Vancouver, B. C.

Miss Mills has been a leader at Bremerton and is well known in Minneapolis, where she attended the state university. She also did settlement work in Minneapolis in association with Miss Crosby of Unity House.

Mr. Day's home is at Missoula, Mont., but he has been on the coast in the interest of the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson.

WISCONSIN MAY CHECK INSURANCE "EXPERTS."

La Crosse, Wis., March 27. — On complaint of local agents State Insurance Commissioner Ekern has promised to begin proceedings against insurance experts or advisors from outside the state who are said to be doing a thriving business in Wisconsin inspecting fire insurance policies and suggesting changes. Complaint is made that these persons, whose expert knowledge is denied, create trouble among local agents and insured without doing any good. The insurance commissioner is asked to require them to take out a Wisconsin license.

Mr. Ekern has promised to take steps, if the present law permits it, and if not to call the matter to the attention of the special session of the legislature which meets in April.

Flax Fiber Mill Planned.

Greenbush, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Greenbush and the surrounding country is being canvassed for stock in a flax fiber company. The amount of flax straw that would be available is also being ascertained. Mr. Beard of the American Flax company has made the people a proposition for the starting of a flax mill here.

PURSUING WHISKERS TO THE ENDS OF THE EARTH

"I don't believe the days of the whiskers will ever return," said Guy D. Reid, representing the Gillette Safety Razor company of Boston, who is in the city today, stopping at the Spalding.

"The 'lace curtains' are gone, never to return, and the safety razor did more to mow down the chin adornments of America than any other cause. For ten years the safety has been making inroads into the great American forest of whiskers until today only on the extreme frontier is any hair left growing on American chins. There is no conservation movement to stop the inroads into the whiskers. Before another five years you will see the last whiskered American cornered in his lair in the Ozark mountains and captured alive by some energetic circus manager.

"Seriously though, the safety razor has done a vast amount of good in this country. It has established the custom of shaving every morning, until now the average clean-cut American business man would no more neglect his morning shave than he would neglect washing his face or cleaning his teeth. A clean face means you are starting the day right. If a man is clean shaven, wears a clean collar and has his shoes polished it is half the battle won. His clothes may be shabby, but this is overlooked if he has no growth of beard on his chin, and his shoes and collar are clean. The safety razor has placed it within the reach of any man to be clean and presentable in the morning. I admit that I am an enthusiast on safety razors, but anyone would be who studies what they have done. Naturally, of course, I look on the Gillette as the only safety made. It is the standard, and we find literally thousands of men who try all other kinds and come back to the Gillette. The business is growing tremendously, and there isn't a country on the globe where the Gillette isn't used. The factory turns out more than $1,500,000 razors every year, and as a Gillette is good for a lifetime or two lifetimes, you may realize how many men are using them. Duluth is one of our best markets, considering its size, and the men of Duluth are about as clean shaven a collection as can be found in America."

TRI-COUNTY 'PHONE LINE.

Cass Lake, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—With its principal place of business at Farris, the Tri-State Telephone association has been organized with these officers:

G. L. Pierson of Guthrie, president; T. E. Jondahl of Guthrie, vice president; N. J. Nelson of Farris, secretary; J. P. Schmidt of Farris, treasurer, who with the following constitute the first board of directors: Louis Suther, Andrew Norell and Jonas Lilquist. The line will start about two miles this side of Guthrie where they connect with a farmer's line, which has been in operation since last summer, and they will cover the territory between that line and Cass Lake, taking in about ten miles of territory which was only opened to homestead entry two years ago, but is now well settled.

How to Absorb an Old Complexion

(From Popular Monthly)

A girl signing herself "Discouraged" writes she has "tried everything" for her "coarse, horrid, muddy complexion" and asks, "Is there no really effective remedy?"

Doctoring your complexion with stuff that comes out of jars and bottles is liable to make it worse. The surest way to banish a bad complexion is to remove it. Ordinary mercolized wax (get an ounce at your druggist's) will do this. Apply at night like cold cream; wash off in the morning. The wax absorbs the old skin, revealing the clear, soft, healthy and beautiful skin underneath. Naturally all surface defects go, too, as pimples, blotches, liver spots, freckles and blackheads. The treatment causes no discomfort; no one can tell you are using it, the cuticle coming off so gradually.

Hood's Pills

GOOD SUCCESS OF E. M. DOCTORS

Electro Medical Doctors Have Made Good in Curing Diseases of All Descriptions in Duluth.

Doctors Worked Under Adverse Conditions of Bad Times, Doubt of Public and Jealousy of Advertising and Other Doctors.

Lately the doctors were honored by the visit of one of our most prominent business men of this city who was much interested in the new sanitarium the corporation of the Electro Medical Doctors have planned to build in Duluth. And when he asked how they got along, the doctor in charge shrugged his shoulders in a German fashion, and said: "'Aller Anfang ist schwer.' (Every beginning is hard), but our method is bound to be successful in this city, for we had success here and elsewhere beyond all expectations in the cure of so many diseases which almost looked like hopeless. Before I came to this city I never thought that we would find as many stubborn cases, for Duluth is considered to be the most healthy spot in the Northwest. But our method is truly successful, and I am sure the corporation has done a wise thing to select Duluth for the site of their sanitarium. Our summers are ideal and that will help some to induce the sick to come to our city. Our method is new in this city, but it is the only natural method which has proven to be successful where all others failed to effect a cure."

There is no doubt that the Doctors had to work under the same difficulties as every merchant in our city. We have passed through very hard times and everybody has felt it severely. In spite of the fact, the Electro Medical Doctors had a great many patients, however, more than half of them are charity patients which have proved to be the best advertisers. The other half of the patients have been taken for less than half the fee any doctor would charge them, but the doctors have the great satisfaction of establishing a reputation which is bound to make them successful. The advertising doctors in our town and others have repeatedly knocked the Electro Medical doctors and they believe that every knock has proved to be a boost for them, because their patients stick right to them.

The doctors have cured such diseases as Heart diseases where people had short breath and were unable to sleep while lying down. In many patients dropsy had set in and Kidney trouble developed. In several cases Bright's diseases showed such amount of albumen that other doctors pronounced them to be incurable. These people have published testimonials which every reader of this paper is familiar with. They have cured several cases of Asthma, Bronchitis and more than fifty cases of catarrh, several of Lung diseases and early Consumption. Cancers, Tumors, stomach-troubles, Inflammation of bowels, Bladder-trouble, Female-trouble, Stricture, Prostatic trouble, Varicose viens, Blood-poison, Eczema, and all skin and constitutional troubles of men and women. There is no cause for any one sick to be discouraged, if others have failed to cure. Electro Medical treatments have proved to be successful. All consultations are free from 9 to 12; 1 to 5; 6 to 8. There are separate waiting rooms for men and women. The offices are located right next to Glidding's store at No. 26 West Superior street.

$3.50 RECIPE FREE FOR WEAK MEN

Send Name and Address Today — You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Healthy.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his health quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow men to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4671 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3 to $5 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

MAYOR WILL APPROVE IT

Will Sign Resolution for Negotiations to Buy Lighting Plant.

Aldermen May Reconsider the Preamble to the Resolution.

Mayor John A. McCuen stated today that he will approve the resolution as passed by the city council Monday night opening negotiations with the Duluth-Edison Electric company for the purchase of its plant.

The resolution states that the council is unalterably opposed to entering into any contract with the Edison company and asks the company to submit to the council the lowest price which it will accept for the property.

It appears that several of the aldermen in the council did not fully appreciate the significance of the resolution at the time it was read by the city clerk. Some of them have since said that they are not desirous of going on record as being unalterably opposed to entering into any contract with the local light company.

There is some talk of calling for reconsideration of the vote on that part of the preamble relative to the contract. This may be done at the meeting next Monday night.

At that time it is also expected that some action will be taken on the resolution which was vetoed by Mayor McCuen. The resolution made the mayor chairman of a committee of three to wait upon the Steel corporation official to get a definite answer as to the time the steel plant now under course of construction here will be completed. The mayor made this recommendation in his message. The other members of the committee were the city attorney and the president of the council. The mayor, in vetoing the resolution, stated that he believes the best interests of the people can be better served by having more members of the council on the committee. It is asserted that the council may enlarge the committee but that the mayor will be again named as chairman.

BOTH PARTIES WANT VERDICT

Lumber Company Sues on Note and Defendant Asks Damages.

The transactions between the Virginia & Rainy Lake company and John Helmer involving an unpaid promissory note for $3,000 given by Helmer to the company and his claim that through a breach of contract he suffered $25,000 damages, are being aired in district court before Judge Hughes and a jury today.

The lumber company, the plaintiff in the action, claims that it conveyed to Helmer certain timber lands in township 60-21 for which he gave a note for $3,000 on Dec. 22, 1910, payable in six months.

Helmer makes no denial of giving the note, but alleges that there was an agreement in the deal whereby the Swan Lake Logging company was to furnish transportation facilities for the timber so that he could easily remove it from the land.

Helmer claims that this was not done and that in anticipation of good faith on the part of the lumber company, he fitted out camps and engaged a large number of men for the work. He places his loss at $25,000.

DISMISSES SUIT AGAINST SHERIFF

John H. MacGillivray Abandons His Claim for Damages.

John H. MacGillivray has abandoned the lawsuit brought in district court against Sheriff John R. Meining. The case was dismissed today by Judge J. D. Ensign on the motion of the plaintiff.

Mr. MacGillivray, in his suit, charged Sheriff Meining with having broken a pre-election pledge to appoint him as deputy. He claims that he had been promised a position as deputy sheriff and that on the strength of the promise he passed up a good paying job as clerk of the state senate, which had been offered him.

Mr. MacGillivray also contended that he had spent some of his own money in the campaign, for which he had not been reimbursed. He asked for a verdict of about $2,000.

Sheriff Meining's answer in the action was a general denial of each of the allegations in the complaint. Fryberger & Fulton were attorneys for Mr. Meining and John B. Arnold was attorney for the plaintiff.

DULUTH VAGRANT 'FLOATED.'

Weary Willie Scares Girl and Is Arrested.

Cloquet, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.) — A hobo giving his name at Peter Sundeen, and claiming to hail from Duluth, was fined $5 Tuesday morning in Judge Skemp's court for vagrancy and asked to leave town at once. Monday night the man walked unannounced into Frank Elm's home on Avenue D, greatly frightening Mr. Elm's little daughter, who was seated at the piano. He was pursuaded to leave, and some time after midnight created a disturbance at the Northern Lumber company's mill and was taken to jail. Chief of Police McSweeney escorted him out of town Tuesday.

IS GENERALLY APPROVED

Suggestion of Chester A. Congdon Freely Indorsed By Citizens.

City Engineer Offered Solution of Sewage Problem in Report.

That no time should be lost in making a beginning to stop the pollution of the city's supply of drinking water by dumping sewage into the bay and lake seems to be the unanimous sentiment in the city.

The question was again brought forcibly to the attention of the public by the letter of Chester A. Congdon, which was printed in The Herald last evening. He called attention to the death last week of one of Duluth's prominent citizens from typhoid. Mr. Congdon suggests the starting of a typhoid death roll, that the citizens may know what the pollution of the water costs from year to year in the lives of families, friends and neighbors.

In his annual report City Engineer Thomas F. McGilvray strongly urged that an immediate start be made to prevent the pollution of the city drinking water. He recommended a system of intercepting sewers. Under his plan a line of sewers would be built parallel to the water front. The sewers coming down the hill would lead into this main line, through which the sewage would be conducted to some large central plant constructed to handle the sewage. At the central place it would be treated and reduced before being allowed to get into the water. The engineer thought that such a central plant might be located at Park Point, although any other place in the main part of the city would be equally acceptable.

When the conference committee meets next fall to prepare the budget for next year it is very likely that this matter will get a great deal of attention, and it is possible that the authorities may take some steps toward solving the problem before that time. At present the municipality has no funds which could be used for the purpose. The cost would be heavy, and it is probable that other means of raising the money aside from direct taxation will have to be used to get the money.

IRONWOOD CHILD SERIOUSLY BURNED

Little Girl's Clothing Takes Fire and She Will Probably Die.

Ironwood, Mich., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.) — Grace, the 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Anderson, was severely burned last evening at the home of her parents on Mansfield street. Mrs. Anderson was preparing the evening meal, and had lit the gas stove, after which she went to the store and left the two children, aged 4 and 2, respectively, alone for about five minutes. When the mother returned she found the clothing burned from the older child's body and her neck and hands as well as her body very badly burned. A physician was summoned at once, but no hope is held out for her recovery. The child is burned beyond pain.

Three Carpenters Hurt.

While hoisting a shiv wheel into place yesterday at the Norrie mine, three carpenters, John Olson, Carl Moberg and Edward Carlson, were caught in the wheel, when the chain which was attached broke. The three men suffered severe bruises on their legs, but no bones were broken, and their conditions are not considered serious.

While engaged in changing cars on the trestle at the Pabts mine yesterday, Harry Cox became entangled in the ropes, and had one of his legs badly bruised. His condition is not considered serious.

FIRE FIGHTERS AND LUMBERMEN MEET.

Bemidji, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the fire rangers and lumber representatives here on Tuesday and attended by State Forester Cox and Assistant Tierney plans were discussed for the proper burning of slashings. J. E. Dade secretary of the Blackduck farmers' club and postmaster at Blackduck, conferred with the state forester regarding the installation of farmers' telephones and was told by Mr. Cox htat the farmers would be given every assistance and that it is probable that the state will furnish the wire free.

WEIGHT REDUCTION WITHOUT DRUGS
REMOVE YOUR FAT MY WAY
THIS BOOK FOR FAT FOLKS ONLY WHO WISH TO REDUCE THEIR WEIGHT WITH THIS GREAT DRUGLESS TREATMENT

FAT GOES QUICK—NEW WAY

My friends were charitable and called it Obesity; others said I was STOUT, but I know, it was just bulky fat. I was miserable; so are you if too stout. To reduce your weight, you must do as I did. I FOUND THE CAUSE—THE REST WAS EASY. Before I succeeded, I tried everything within, and some things beyond reason. It was maddening, disgusting. All I had to do was remove the cause, and I guarantee, that by my simple treatment, without drugs, medicine, violent exercises, or starvation diet, I reduced my enormous weight permanently, quickly and positively without harm to myself while taking treatment or afterwards, and I guarantee that you can reduce as little or as much fat as you desire, with my treatment just as I did. TRUE SUCCESS AT LAST. With my safe, sensible and natural treatment quick results are pleasantly obtained without strape, belts, cups, wires, jackets, sweating, electricity, soap, salts, pills, oils, cathartics, drugs or medicines of any description, making it positively the greatest, most eagerly sought treatment the world has ever known. If you are interested in your own happiness, health and figure, you will let me tell you how to reduce fat "Nature's Way," the true way—my way. BETTER GET RID OF FAT BEFORE FAT GETS RID OF YOU. It is astonishing the thousands of grateful letters I am receiving. J. E. Bolselle, Rex 422, Great Bend, Kan., lost fifty pounds with my harmless treatment. W. F. Schmitz, Montevideo, Minn., lost 30 pounds. Mamie McNelly, Bethany, Mo., lost 65 pounds with this new treatment. Mrs. Daisy Smith, Los Angeles, lost 104 lbs. safely, and I can send you thousands of names of satisfied patrons.

I publish a book, entitled: "Weight Reduction Without Drugs," which I send free and prepaid so that you may know of my successful treatment and be able to permanently reduce your weight, secretly, without harming yourself. I offer $5,000 in cash if I fail to prove that my great drugless treatment is anything but safe, quick and harmless in fat-reduction. Don't fail to write today for my free book.

CLEANING HAS BEGUN

Winter's Accumulation of Dirt Being Removed From Superior Street.

Will Soon Be Flushed—May Be Kept Clean in Future.

The board of public works has started its annual spring cleaning.

A large quantity of the winter's accumulation has been hauled from Superior street. When the bulk of the dirt and filth has been carted away the street will be flushed. It is expected that the authorities will be able to turn the hose on the street in a few days if the mild weather continues. The gang at work clearing out the gutters has made good progress, and the water is being drained off rapidly.

Several of the officials at the city hall state that the municipality should not wait until the annual spring thaw before cleaning Superior street.

They assert that the city should keep that street cleaned throughout the year. They point out that Duluth has practically but one main street and that it should be kept in first-class condition all the time.

They say that the expense would not be very heavy, as there is only a stretch of eight or ten blocks which would have to be cleaned. By doing this the downtown retail district would always present a spick and span appearance. It would give visitors a much better impression of the city as well as have advertising value of no small proportions. Many other cities do this and it is said that Duluth should get in line.

Mayor McCuen said this morning that he approves of the idea, but he thought that the greatest obstacle would be the cost. He pointed out, however, that more funds will be available next year and that some action towards that end may be taken at the time the conference committee is making the levy for 1913.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Hot Times Over Everglades.

Washington, March 27.—The Florida Everglades hearing by the house committee on expenditures in the agricultural department was marked by several lively incidents. Bickerings of attorneys and frequent tilts between them and members of the committee occupied much of the time, and a promised sensation was avoided when Solicitor McCabe of the agricultural department assured Chairman Moss that he had no desire to impugn the motives of the committee.

C. L. Goodrich, an expert agriculturalist in the department was on the stand when objection was made to Mr. McCabe's cross-examination.

"Am I to understand that the department of agriculture is to be attacked and testimony supporting this attack is to get into the record and I am not to have an opportunity to reply to it?" asked Mr. McCabe. "It seems to me that the rulings have been both ways, and I submit that I have the right to show why this Everglades report was held up."

"If you impugn the motives of this committee, we will settle that question in a minute," said Chairman Moss.

Mr. McCabe assured him that he meant no imputation against the committee.

The department of agriculture, it was testified, is at a loss to know how Thomas Will, who was interested in the exploitation of Everglade lands in Florida, got a proof of the first report on the drainage of the wet lands of Florida which Secretary Wilson did not approve and ordered suppressed. This proof was given to Senator Fletcher by Will and later appeared in a senate document.

Mr. Arnold said he had made no effort to find out how Mr. Will got the proof from the government printing office.

Parcels Post Action Soon.

Senator Bourne, chairman of the senate committee on postoffices, expects some action on parcels post legislation in the near future. Hearings on the subject have been closed by the committee, which still has the proposed legislation for establishing the service under consideration.

House Talks Politics.

The house yesterday jumped into a political skirmish in which the names of Governor Wilson and Col. Roosevelt figured prominently. The outburst started when Minority Leader Mann had the clerk read from the desk a recent bitter newspaper attack on Governor Wilson by William Randolph Hearst, in which the governor's Democracy was denied. It drew Republican applause.

"I ask unanimous consent," said Representative Gardner of Texas, Democrat, leaping to his feet, "to extend my remarks in the record for the purpose of showing what a former president of the United States thinks of the present occupant of the White House."

He quickly was followed by Representative Connell of New York, Democrat, who got permission to insert in the record an extract from the speech by Col. Roosevelt in New York. Mr. Connell thought it important as showing how a "former leader regarded his party at the present time."

Representative Hughes of New Jersey, Democrat, had read into the record later another editorial from a New York newspaper, bitterly condemning Mr. Hearst for his criticism of Governor Wilson.

Continuance of the skirmish was blocked by Representative Sulzer of New York, chairman of the foreign affairs committee, who called for the reading of the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill.

"Naval Station" Abandoned.

A pile of coal and a wharf, composing the United States naval station at Sitka, Alaska, has been ordered abandoned by the navy department. The small detachment of the marines stationed there will depart, leaving the property in the custody of the wireless operator. This station is of little use to the navy and probably will be turned over to the revenue cutter service.

To Amend Patent Law.

Representative Prouty, Republican, of Iowa introduced a bill to amend features of the patent law upheld by the supreme court in its recent "patent monopoly" decision. One amendment is directed against the practice of large corporations whose articles are protected by patents providing contracts for sales that a merchant shall not sell them below a specified price.

"This contract would be illegal and punishable under the Sherman anti-trust law," said Mr. Prouty in explaining the amendment, "except for the cloak of the patent. I leave to the patentee the full right to collect royalty on his patented machine, but deprive him of the right to create a monopoly after they have been manufactured. For instance, the Shoe Machine Manufacturing company not only fixes the royalty to be paid for the use of their machines, but in effect fixes the price at which the manufacturer shall sell his shoes. This is also true of the hat felting machinery company.

"My amendment is intended to prevent that use and abuse of the patent law. It does not prevent leasing the patented article, but prevents its being so leased as to create a monopoly, not only in the articles manufactured by the patented device, but in other articles entirely separate and distinct."

Ban on Stop Watches.

Representative Pepper of Iowa, a member of the house committee which has been studying the Taylor and other systems of shop management, introduced a bill which provides that no stop watches or other time measuring instruments shall be used to determine the time it takes any government employe to perform a given task or to time his movements at work. The bill does not interfere with rewards now allowed by law for suggestions of improvement in government methods or work.

Would Delay Compensation Bill.

Urging the postponement of action by congress on the proposed workmen's compensation bills pending in the senate and the house, Representatives Howard and Bartlett of Georgia appeared before a joint sub-committee of the senate and house judiciary committees on behalf of railroad employes in their state. They were supported in the request for postponement also by S. O. Teat of Atlanta, chairman of the board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Senator Sutherland suggested that opposition to the measure was worked up among the railroad men by lawyers who make money out of railroad damage suits. This was emphatically denied by Representatives Howard and Bartlett.

Nearly all of the great railroad organizations, except the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, have approved the compensation bill. Mr. Teat declared that many members of his organization were opposed to the bill and that they wanted more time to consider its provisions and effect. All they wanted was postponement until the next session of congress. The committees will act upon the request later.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

The next attraction at the Lyceum will be the newest comedy success "Casey Jones." It is said to be a clean, up to date play in three acts, with clever people and extremely entertaining specialties.

John Webster, the handsome actor, who plays the part of J. Rufus in "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," the George M. Cohan comedy success coming to the Lyceum April 5 and 6 with matinee Saturday is a Princeton college graduate, and when at school was considered the best amateur boxer in collegiate circles. When he decided go on the stage instead of in the prize ring, America lost a possible "white hope" for Webster has all the physical requirements for a champion of the arena. Boxing is his favorite exercise, and almost any morning he can be found on the stage of the theater where he is playing, engaged in a fistic combat with his valet, who is also clever with the gloves.

"The concealed beds are still in use in Scotland," said Miss Janet Gardner, of the Scottish Players at the Orpheum this week. The Scottish Players are presenting a playlet by Graham Moffatt, author of "Bunty Pulls The Strings." The name of the playlet is "The Concealed Bed" and the plot centers about such a bed.

"These beds are still used in the Glasgow tenements and apartment houses. These beds are built in a little closet, and the room can thus be used both for a bedroom and a living room. It is a very insanitary arrangement, as there is often room only for the bed. If the door closes during the night the sleeper is sealed up tight. To Americans who are such fresh air enthusiasts this seems like a barbarous custom, no doubt, and it is now being prohibited in many Scotch cities. But the concealed beds are still as well known in Scotland as your folding beds are here."

The Scotch Players are the most interesting company that has visited the Duluth Orpheum this season. Every member of the company has an established reputation in England or Scotland. Andrew Clyde, for example, is the son of John Clyde the most famous of Scottish actors, and Miss Gardner has appeared with Mrs. Patrick Campbell and other famous stars. Stuart Black is a brother of Prof. Hugh Black, an dhimself quite a famous Shakespearian actor in London.

The play which they are presenting is also of special interest, as it is the only work of Graham Moffatt outside of "Bunty" that is now being presented in America. "Bunty Pulls The Strings" has been most warmly indorsed by the Drama League of America.

Easily the most sensational attraction ever presented at the Empress is the daring cloud swing of Samayoa, the Barcelonean wonder. During this act thrills come and go with a rapidity that is startling and almost before the audience fully realizes that Samayoa has gotten warmed up to his work, he drops to the stage and the act is finished, but the speed with which this act is presented is one of the biggest factors in its success. "When I first came to this country," says Samayoa, "I did exactly the same act as I am doing now but it took me over twice as long. At that time, I was far from a success, in fact, I hardly got a hand at the close of my performance, and it worried me. All over Europe, I had been given great receptions, yet doing the same act in America, I was a rank failure. I puzzled about it and had about made up my mind to return to Europe when one day, while walking down the street, I discovered why my act was not going well. I worked too slow. Every one that I saw on the street seemed to be in an awful hurry and it dawned upon me that if Americans went about their business in such a hurry-up fashion that they would want their amusement in the same way. So I laid off for three weeks to practice speed. After practicing this length of time, I found that I could present my act in eight minutes whereas it took me fifteen minutes to go through it before and since that time I have met with much success. I suppose when I return to Europe that I will have to learn to work slower as the European doesn't think so fast and wants his entertainment presented in a much slower manner than the American in order that he might catch every point."

Good Suit News for Women Who Limit the Cost at $25

—If $25 is the price set aside for the purchase of a Spring suit, then here is good news. This season not a few women who have thought $25 suits a false economy have examined our line and have quickly changed their opinions.

—Our $25 suits come from a maker who is unaccustomed to making cheap suits, and who employs only the best man tailors. A high standard of tailoring excellence is maintained in them, and the best materials used.

—The most authentic styles are embodied. The mannish-looking, side fastening coats are peau de cygne lined, and the skirts have the high waist line and side pleats. Selected whipcords, men's wear serge, worsteds, diagonals and mixtures, in wanted shades of tan, gray, blue, brown and black are shown in wide range.

Women's and Misses' Coats Unusual Values for 12.50

—More than unusual, we should say they are extraordinary values at $12.50. We do not believe such splendid coats are often sold for less than $15 or $17.50.

—Most generally they are plainly tailored, semi-fitted and 50 or 52-inch lengths. The jaunty side effect festening and the large or mannish collars combine with the materials to give them a distinctive style touch that is most pleasing.

—Thursday a special window and interior display is made of these coats, made from French serge, worsteds and fine mixtures, and in shades of tan, gray, blue and black. $12.50.
(Apparel Salon, Second Floor)

WILL BACK OPEN MARKET

Duluth Gardeners' Association Is Organized at Commercial Club.

Will Endeavor to Make the Armory Market More Effective.

The Duluth Market Gardeners' association was organized at a meeting held at the Commercial club yesterday. A. B. Hostetter was elected president pro tem., and Louis Christensen, secretary.

The association will endeavor to put the Armory market on a better basis and to encourage the market gardeners living in the vicinity of Duluth to bring their produce to the public market. The organization will also take up the subject of patronage of the public market and endeavor to increase public interest in it.

The Armory market has not always been an unqualified success. The patronage has not been what it should have been under the circumstances and many of the gardeners have become discouraged and have dropped out of the market and taken to peddling their produce or selling it to grocers at reduced prices.

Another meeting of the association will be held at the Armory, March 28.

DEMOCRATS CENSURE TARIFF BOARD WORK ON WOOL SCHEDULES

forth therein, even should the reliability of the theory of the cost of production be conceded."

Data Are Incomplete.

"Those persons who are willing to overlook lack of theoretical soundness and of statistical accuracy will find the data of the report too fragmentary and incomplete to admit of concusions with reference to rates of tariff duty. Even under the most favorable interpretation of the report, conclusions as to duties can be reached for only a few paragraphs of the wool schedule, and for these paragraphs it is not possible to formulate definite conclusions, because the figures vary widely and seriously lack uniformity and comparability.

"So much is this the case that justification is apparently afforded in the report for rates that are in conflict with one another. It is thus seen that the report leaves the question of the tariff duties on wool as much unsolved as befire the tariff board was formed.

"So far as conclusions can be drawn from the board's report, it furnishes nothing to justify any change in the rates proposed in the present bill.

"More Than Just."

"In making the computations from which have resulted the rates as justified by the tariff board's data, the most expensive and difficult conditions indicated by the data as attending production have been employed with a view to being more than just in the conclusions. The necessity of protection to equalize the difference in the cost of production beyond the rates carried by this bill exists in but few instances, and these are in all probability the result of high costs which have been presented by the board and used in the computations. * * * The report of the tariff board, so far as it admits of conclusions, shows that the rates which meet the consumer's needs also sufficiently satisfy those of the producer."

After reviewing the Democratic attempt of last year to secure revision of the wool schedule, and the president's veto, the committee quotes the report on the original wool bill to the effect that "it would be trifling with the people to give further consideration to Republican counsels of more delay in this matter."

"Notwithstanding this conviction," the report continues, "the Democratic majority of the house of representatives, impatient to respond to the demands of the people for the speedy revision of a schedule of indefensible rates, was forced to delay further effort to reconstruct in response to the protests of the American people."

Find No Need of Change.

The message of the president submitting the report of the tariff board and his recommendation that the board's findings be used as a basis for a reduction of rates, is then quoted, and the committee comments:

"As shown in the analysis, the data of the report of the tariff board have been found to be diffuse and unsystematic, to present insignificant findings and, as stated, to afford the committee no valid reason for any change in its recommendations of last session with regard to the rates of Schedule K."

The report of the committee further states that the tariff board's report largely consisted of a study of what is called "comparative cost of production" of wools and manufactures of wools in various countries, and of this it says:

Cost of Production Basis.

"The view that the proper basis for tariff duties is found by comparing money costs of production, rests upon the opinion that money costs represent the relative degrees of sacrifice involved in turning out commodities of a given kind in various countries.

"For instance, if it be assumed that if a given unit of a certain commodity can be produced in England at $1, or the equivalent of that sum, while in the United States the money expenses of production are $1.25, it is necessary to have a tariff duty equal to the difference in these money expenses of production, or certainly to the difference in money expenses minus the allowance for variations in freight rates, in order to place the producers in the two countries upon an equal market footing. If this is not done, it will be possible for the producer in the country where money expenses are lowest to drive out of business the producer in the country where money expenses are highest.

"This assumption is based upon an erroneous view of international trade, and finds no warrant whatever in economic reasoning."

Great Range of Difference.

The Democratic report discusses this matter at great length, and points out that in every country there is a great range of difference in cost.

"Beside these considerations," the report says, "it should be noted that in every country there is a great range of difference in cost of production. Scarcely any commodity can be said to have a uniform cost of production. There is more difference, as a rule, between different factories in the same country, than there is between the best and poorest factories in one country and those of corresponding grades in another.

"This has been amply illustrated by the work of the tariff board itself. In its report on pulp and paper, the board found little difference in money cost of production between the United States and Canada in the best mills, but it did find very great difference in expense of production between the best and poorest mills in the United States. The indication would have been, therefore, that while protection was not needed by the best factories in the United States against the Canadian, it was needed by the poorer factories in the United States against the better factories in this country, but not against those in Canada.

No Absolute Terms.

"Owing to this variation in cost of production within the same country, it is not possible to compare in absolute terms the productive power of one country with that of another."

The committee, averring that the report of the tariff board "is not a tariff document," says on that point:

"Probably the most striking feature of the report of the tariff board is that it contains little with reference to the tariff. It is primarily an analysis of the money expenses involved in the production and manufacture of wool.

"Volume I of the report, containing the message of the president, letter of submittal, summary of findings, and glossary, will undoubtedly be of use in explaining to the public the significance of the existing tariff and of the terms used in it. The volume is essentially a clerical or library compilation from printed sources, and as such affords little other than its convenient form that is of service to the practical legislator.

"Volume IV, on wages and efficiency of labor and machinery in the United States, treats a subject which has already been exhaustively discussed by the United States Immigration commission in reports on the woolen industry, and the tariff board undoubtedly drew upon this source.

Work Merely Duplicated.

"Volume III contains a discussion of manufacturing costs, tops, yarn, and cloth, and ready-made clothing. About one-fourth of the volume is devoted to a study of ready-made clothing—a subject fully covered by the immigration commission in a report that has been available for some time, which was prepared at great expense.

"The committee charges that the tariff board in its investigations proceeded upon the theory that maintenance of existing tariff was necessary, stating:

"Throughout its investigation of costs of production, the tariff board apparently considers the maintenance of the existing tariff, or something approximating to it, fundamental and necessary. Thereby it adds very greatly to the 'cost' stated as representative of the necessities of the American wool and woolen industry under existing conditions. This is an error which runs practically throughout the whole report and which needs to be considered very carefully in order to realize the far-reaching character of the modifications which it involves."

Production of Raw Wool.

The committee discusses at length the conditions relating to the production of raw wool in this country and abroad, and after reviewing the three classes of wool as considered in the report and in the Payne-Aldrich bill, the committee says in justification of the bill placing a revenue duty of 20 per cent on raw wool:

"Class III wool needs no protection, because it is scarcely produced at all in the United States.

"Class II wool needs no protection, because those of our wools which compete with it are produced at a very low cost of production.

"Class I wools need no protection as indicated by actual figures of sales. As shown by estimated cost of production the needed duty would not exceed 15 to 20 per cent. A duty of 25 per cent would be considerably in excess of the requirements of production in the West that are indicated by the figures of the board; while in the Ohio region the industry is, partly at least, incidental to general farming and can not be considered on the competitive footing."

Every item in the wool schedule as treated by the tariff board is analyzed at length by the committee, such as tops, nolls, yarns, cloths, carpets, etc., and the report submits that there is nothing to justify a change from the rates proposed in the Underwood bill.

Nothing Definite on Clothing.

Regarding clothing the report says:

"There is no definite information in the board's data regarding the cost of manufacturing clothing, inasmuch as costs do not appear to have been ascertained abroad upon the same basis. About all that can be said, therefore, is that so far as the board's information goes, there is no reason for increasing the tariff on ready-made clothing above the rate of tariff imposed upon the cloth and material out of which such clothing is made. The rate of duty fixed in this bill upon ready-made clothing was 45 per cent, which was the highest rate given upon any article provided for in the bill except carpets."

Minority Report Filed.

Inviting the Democrats of the house to join them in passing the Republican wool bill and "make a radical reduction now instead of preventing a reduction," the Republican members of the ways and means committee today submitted a report on the minority bill, introduced last week, which would reduce the wool duties about 40 per cent from the rates under the Payne-Aldrich bill.

The report, submitted by Representative Payne, was signed by all the Republican members of the committee: Representatives Payne, Dalzell, McCall, Hill, Needham, Longworth and Fordney.

"The very able and complete report of the tariff board on wool was presented to the house on the 21st of December last," says the minority report. "The majority members of the committee have had it now for three months. Upon the facts in the reports, it seems they are not able to make any changes in their wool bill heretofore introduced. They have apparently settled down upon a conviction that no amount of information is of any avail in the formation of a Democratic tariff bill for revenue only."

Favors Specific Duty.

The minority members say they have framed and introduced a wool bill based on the tariff board's report and have endeavored to adjust the rates in accordance with the doctrine of protection by prescribing a duty equivalent to the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad as found by the board.

"In fixing the rate of duty upon wool" says the report, "we have adopted the system of a specific duty per pound upon the clean content of the wools. The tariff board's report shows in the most conclusive way why an ad valorem rate on wool should not be adopted. The argument in brief is, if the basic idea of the duty on wools is to give the domestic grower permanent protection, it should remain as uniformly effective as possible under all changes of foreign conditions."

The Republicans assert that the tariff board's report explodes "the fiction in reference to the greater efficiency of the American laborers in the textile industries," and proves that the labor cost per yard in the United States is double that of the labor cost abroad.

Spirits for Rheumatism

The use of spirits in the treatment of rheumatism has proved an innovation among the medical profession. When mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly it is said to be an almost infallible cure for rheumatism and back-ache. Here is the formula. "From your druggist get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of, syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bed-time." Results come immediately. If your druggist does not have Toris compound in stock he will get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take some patent medicine instead of this. Insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original one ounce sealed yellow package.

ment's task of securing convictions under the criminal clause of the Sherman anti-trust law. It was premature, officials added, however, to forecast the ultimate standing of that clause before courts and juries. The present, they stated, was a period for marking time in that connection.

Before generalizing as to the sufficiency or insufficiency of the criminal section, the government intends to await the outcome of some of the pending prosecutions, including particularly the cases against the United Shoe Machinery company, the American Sugar Refining company and the National Cash Register company.

It was pointed out that only in one instance involving industrial questions had the government secured convictions of individuals under the Sherman law's criminal section. That was in the case of the so-called turpentine trust, which is now on appeal to the supreme court.

The acquittal of the packers ends the case. The government has no case. The judge presided, officials of the court say, with impartiality.

TEDDY PRETTY MAD OVER THE OUTCOME OF NEW YORK VOTING

self ever employed in an election. In my Chicago speech tonight I shall take this matter up in detail, and explain why these men, in no shape or way, represent the Republican party, and why no action of theirs should be accepted as representative of or binding for the Republican party."

"It will be a fighting speech," Col. Roosevelt added.

The colonel learned of the outcome of the Indiana state Republican convention yesterday, but declined to comment on it.

Crowds at Stations.

Crowds turned out at several stations to meet Col. Roosevelt on the way across Ohio and Indiana. At Canton, Ohio, several score men were waiting when the train stopped there at 5:30 o'clock. A delegation climbed on board the train in the hope of waking the colonel and persuading him to make a speech. Medill McCormick of Chicago, who is traveling with Col. Roosevelt, was aroused, but refused to disturb the slumbers of the former president.

At Lima, Ohio, several hundred persons were at the station. Col. Roosevelt said:

"Now, friends, the principles for which I stand and upon which I am trying to insist are that in the long run the American people can govern themselves better than any other body can govern them.

"Now, all I want is to apply the same principle to us collectively that each of us applies individually. Each man that is fit to call himself an American wants to boss his own life. He wants to lead his own life. Now, he will make mistakes, any of us will—you or I will—but I want to make them myself. I do not want anyone else to make them for me."

Will Make Three Speeches.

Chicago, March 27.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt is scheduled to deliver three speeches here tonight, one at the Auditorium theater and two in halls on the West side of the city. A number of conferences with political leaders have been arranged for the afternoon. He is expected to arrive at 2 o'clock.

ROOSEVELT GETS SEVEN

rality averaging more than 2 to 1.

Col. Roosevelt's supporters now are expected to concentrate their attention on the state convention in an effort to prevent the Taft men from sending to Chicago an instructed delegation. The primary law in operation yesterday did not permit specific instructions of the delegates at the time they were elected. The leaders concede that the action of the New York delegation will be influenced somewhat by the results in other states that hold primaries or conventions during the interval before the New York convention.

Not Enough Ballots.

The Roosevelt campaign managers confined their statements to declarations regarding the confusion that reigned in New York city from the failure to deliver an adequate number of ballots. Former Judge Charles H. Duell, chairman of the Roosevelt citizens' committee, and Chairman Koenig of the Republican county committee both declared they would appeal to Governor Dix for a second primary in New York city.

Roosevelt partisans charged the failure to provide ballots in all districts to the machinations of their opponents. The organization men, on the other hand, united with the printers in attributing the situation to the court action brought by the Roosevelt forces in their unsuccessful attempt to have the names of their delegates printed at the head of the ticket. This, the printers say, delayed their work a week, and the monumental nature of the task made it impossible to get enough ballots ready in time for the election.

A new primary in New York city, it is estimated, would cost something like $150,000, since ballots costing $70,000 would have to be reprinted and the whole election machinery revived.

Twenty-six Uncontested.

In twenty-six of the forty-three congressional districts of the state, there were no contests. These districts included those of Brooklyn, Long Island and most of the up-state districts. Among the delegates selected without opposition from these districts were:

Smith Cox and William Kent from the First, or Oyster Bay, district.

Timothy L. Woodruff and City Comptroller William A. Prendergast from the Fourth district.

National Committeeman William L. Ward and the Twenty-fifth district.

Louis F. Payne in the Twenty-seventh.

Cornelius V. Collins, one of Col. Roosevelt's aides at the last Republican state convention, in the Twenty-ninth.

Former Congressman Lucius N. Littauer in the Thirtieth.

George R. Malby in the Thirty-first.

George N. Fairchild and La Fayette B. Gleason, secretary of the Republican state committee, in the Thirty-fourth.

Congressman Sereno F. Payne in the Thirty-sixth.

George W. Aldrich in the Thirty-eighth.

James W. Wadsworth, Jr., former speaker of the assembly, in the Thirty-ninth.

Some for Roosevelt.

While in most cases the control of the district organization is claimed by Taft supporters, in a few cases Roosevelt supporters declare the delegates will support their candidates. This is notably the case in the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth districts, controlled by National Committeeman William L. Ward, the Thirtieth district, where Former Congressman Littauer is a delegate, and the First district, which includes the colonel's home at Oyster Bay. In the main, however, the organization delegates chosen without contest are considered favorable to Taft.

The delegates named in the seventeen congressional districts where there were contests, according to returns made public by the various committees, are:

Ninth (Brooklyn) organization delegate elected, Thomas B. Lineburg; Ichinehart P. Pforr, named by both opposition and organization, was also elected.

Second district (Queens county) organization delegates elected: Theron H. Burden and Frank E. Losee.

Eleventh district (Staten island) organization delegates elected: Chauncey M. Depew and George Cromwell.

Thirteenth district organization delegates elected: James E. Marsh and Charles H. Murray. Opposition named same candidates.

Fourteenth district (New York) organization delegates: Samuel S. Koenig, chairman of the Republican county committee, and Frederick C. Tanner.

Twelfth district (New York) organization delegates elected: J. Van Vechten Olcott and Alexander Wolf.

Fifth district (New York) organization delegates elected: Cortlandt Nicoll and Robert McC. Maul.

Twentieth district (New York) organization delegates elected: Herbert Parsons and Samuel Krulewich.

Twenty-first district (New York) organization delegates elected: L. B. Griscom and Frank K. Bowers.

State "Practically Solid."

"It can be said from the most conservative angle that the results point to practically a solid delegation from New York," said John W. Hutchinson, Jr., director of the Eastern branch of the national Taft bureau.

Mr. Hutchinson said that the seven Roosevelt delegates probably would be the four chosen from the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth districts which are controlled by National Committeeman William L. Ward, City Controller Prendergast of Brooklyn, Former Congressman Lucius N. Littauer of the Thirtieth district and Percy G. Williams of the Thirty-second district. Messrs. Prendergast and Littauer, he said, are strong personal friends of the colonel and Mr. Williams' district was strongly opposed to Taft's reciprocity stand.

STEPHENSON VOTE IS NEAR

ardson, Root, Smoot, Sutherland, Warren and Wetmore, Republicans; Chilton, Fletcher, Foster, Johnston, Newlands, Pomerene, Rainer and Watson, Democrats.

Against Stephenson—Borah, Bourne, Bristow, Brown, Clapp, Crawford, Cummins, Gronna, Kenyon, Poindexter, Townsend and Works, Republicans; Bryan, Chamberlain, Gardner, Gore, Hitchcock, Johnson, Kern, Lea, Martine, Myers, O'Gorman, Reed, Simmons, Smith of Georgia, Smith of South Carolina, Democrats.

Talk About Lorimer.

The senate committee on privileges and elections in executive session today considered the case of Senator Lorimer of Illinois, involving charges of corruption in his election. The committee had proposed to vote today as to the recommendation it should make to the senate. The early convening of the senate, however, to dispose of the similar charges in the case of Senator Stephenson restricted the committee and it adjourned, after a very short discussion, until tomorrow.

BRITISH COAL MINE OWNERS AGREE TO MINIMUM WAGE BILL

of the land, so that there can be no question about accepting its provisions. They must be made the best of."

National Wage Board, Too.

The government's minimum wage bill, whose object is to put a stop to the disastrous coal miners' strike, will be the law of the land within twenty-four hours.

It is also likely the government will establish a national wage board with an independent chairman to consider and determine on proposals for the introduction of the minimum daily rates of $1.25 for men and 50 cents for boys, on the understanding that with these two points settled all the miners will return to work while negotiations are proceeding for fixing minimum rates for other grades of workmen.

Early this morning the commons passed by a large majority the bill establishing in legislation the principle of a minimum wage in the country's most important industry. The vote was 213 to 48. The house of lords reassembled at 2:50 o'clock to receive the bill, and on motion of Lord Herschell it passed its first reading.

Premier Asquith, on leaving the house of commons, was loudly cheered by all the members.

around word that they will run the militia into the Mississippi.

Last night's rioting continued practically unchecked for three hours. The police said there were more than 5,000 persons in the mob which surged through the downtown streets, pulling car trolleys from the wires, overturning wagons and in other ways seeking to block public thoroughfares.

After the attack on the police station had been repulsed by the volley from the weapons of the officers, the authorities found a dozen dead or wounded men in the street. Two of the three persons killed were identified early today as J. C. Kelly, a blacksmith of Silvis, a village a few miles up the river, and T. H. Orman, a shoe merchant of this city. Kelly is said to have been one of many who came to Rock Island from neighboring communities, bent on mischief.

The mob attacked the city jail last night in an attempt to release sympathizers with John Looney, publisher of a weekly paper which had severely criticized Mayor H. M. Schriver.

Arrests Started Outbreak.

During the last three days the people have been stirred up over the controversy between the editor and the mayor and last night the police arrested two men who were addressing a crowd. This inflamed the friends of Editor Looney, and they began to hurl stones at the police and break windows of the police station.

Mayor Schriver, who was directing the police, ordered the officers to fire on the mob. Three men were instantly killed and about a dozen were wounded.

The mob dispersed, but re-formed after an hour and attempted to procure arms from a hardware store. The police surrounded the store and were able to drive back the mob.

Statement by His Honor.

Mayor Schriver in a statement today said:

"The whole trouble from its inception may be traced to the fact that I enforced the law against disorderly saloons and chop suey joints. That is what brought forth the attack on me by the Looney paper, and and it is at the bottom of the entire disturbance. It is deplorable, but we are not going to quit now until we restore order and rid the city of the elements of disorder and defiance.

"Further public assemblages where political addresses may be made will not be allowed until quiet is restored and the saloons of the city will be closed for the present."

It is said that the riotous conditions here may be repeated in Moline where local politics reflect much the same status as caused the outbreaks against Mayor H. M. Schriver of Rock Island. There is to be a political meeting in Moline tonight and the outcome is awaited with some apprehension.

Whole Regiment Called Out.

Springfield, Ill., March 27.—Governor Deneen today ordered the entire Sixteenth regiment of the Illinois guard to proceed to Rock Island to assist in preserving order there. The request for troops came from the sheriff and states attorney of Rock Island after an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate the mayor of that city, had convinced them that more trouble was brewing.

Breaks a Cold in a Day

And Cures Any Cough that is Curable. Noted Doctor's Formula.

"From your druggist get two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time. Smaller doses to children according to age." This is the best formula known to science. There are many cheaper preparations of large quantity, but it don't pay to experiment with a bad cold. Be sure to get only the genuine (Globe) Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes in a sealed tin screw-top case. If your druggist does not have it in stock he will get it quickly from his wholesale house. This has been published here every winter for six years and thousands of families know its value.

IMPERIAL POTENTATE TO BE WELL ESCORTED.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Forks and Fargo Shriners will leave nothing undone which will add to the splendor of the escort which will be provided Imperial Potentate Frank Treat of the Shriners when he goes in May, to attend the annual gathering of the imperial council in Los Angeles, Cal. A special train will carry the patrols of the two temples, and the Fargo and Grand Forks Shriners will enter the council city with the imperial potentate at their head, with an abundance of pomp and dignity.

BIG COLONIZATION SCHEME UNDER WAY

Russian Capitalists Seek Big Tract in North Dakota for Fellow Countrymen.

Fargo, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—If any man in North Dakota has 30,000 acres of land lying around in one body, a purchaser can easily be found. It is proposed to establish a new Russian colony in this state, and the men behind the enterprise are Russian capitalists and philanthropists with ample capital and practical experience to make the proposition win. The men who compose the colony are for the greater part practical farmers, and the organization will furnish practical farm experts, familiar with North Dakota conditions.

Hard to Find Land.

The difficulty will be in finding such a large body of land in one tract. One Cass county man owns 35,000 acres, but not in one body. In the state there are other firms with from 10,000 to 20,000 acres, but none of 30,000 in one large body. The rapid settlement of the state has broken up the large holdings to a considerable degree.

Local realty dealers are endeavoring to secure a modification of the demands of the colonization promoters, and are hopeful of securing the big delegation for this state.

Buys Ashland Coal Dock.

Ashland, Wis., March 27. — C. J. Farrar, representing large Pittsburg coal interests, was in the city on Monday and purchased from the Weyerhaeuser company their frontage in this city for a coal dock. They will invest $250,000 in equipping the dock.

Big Montana Stock Loss.

Great Falls, Mont., March 27.—There is going to be a heavy loss to stockmen all through Eastern and Southern Montana, according to Humane Officer Jacob L. Dehart, who for years was in the cattle business and knows the eastern section of the state thoroughly.

Austin Woman Badly Burned.

Austin, Minn., March 27:—Mrs. Park Harroun will probably die from burns received at her home here. Mrs. Harroun was alone at the time of the accident but it is supposed that in lighting a fire gasoline exploded. The room in which she was found unconscious was badly burned.

Wonderful Treatment for Corns, Callouses and All Sore Feet

Millions of people who endure daily torture from sore feet will welcome the information that there is now a simple treatment that positively and quickly cures foot ailments of all kinds. You can say goodbye to corns and callouses; bunions; swollen, aching, bad smelling and sweaty feet. This treatment works right through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Use it once and your feet feel delightful; use it for a week and your foot troubles will be a thing of the past. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." Amazing results follow. Calocide was formerly confined to doctors' use but now any druggist will supply it. If he does not have it in stock he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is said to be enough to put the worst feet in fine condition.

APOLLO

The Player Piano

If Paderewski is Right, The Apollo is Right

All pianists, great or indifferent, play the piano with a downward stroke on the keys. That is the only way to play a piano. To pound on the strings without the delicately balanced keys is to abuse a delicate instrument.

Yet the Apollo is the only Player Piano that touches down on the keys

All other manufacturers would make inside players with a downward stroke on the keys if they could; but we are protected in the exclusive right to do this by U. S. patent No. 795,817.

Since there is only one correct way to play a piano, and all others are denied the right to make a player that plays that one way, and since we charge no more than manufacturers whom our patents compel to use a substitute method, are you not sufficiently interested in the Apollo to come and see for yourself?

Come and learn about the solo device, the self-acting motor, the transposing device, the accompaniment player—all exclusive features of the Apollo.

These things are being demonstrated daily in our salesrooms. We are exclusive agents in this territory for this marvel of music. Melville Clark pianos without the players $500 to $1000.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Laura Thorsen got scant sympathy from Judge W. L. Windom when she appeared in police court this morning as the complaining witness against Axel Thorsen, a bartender who she had arrested on a charge of having assaulted her.

After the Thorsen woman had been on the stand a few minutes she stated that although she is not married to Thorsen she had lived with him as his wife. Thorsen made the same admission.

"Both of them up on the statutory charge," ordered the court. Both entered pleas of guilty to the charge preferred against them. Each was "soaked" $50 and costs, with the alternative of sixty days in the county jail. Thorsen was able to pay his fine, but a commitment was made out for the woman.

When she was put on the stand in the assault case Judge Windom asked her if it wasn't true that she drank.

"Yes, I drink," she said. "I might as well tell the whole truth."

"And you smoke cigarettes, too, don't you?" continued the court.

"Yes, I smoke cigarettes," she replied.

"Are you married to this man?" was his next question, and she said that she was not. She did not deny that she had been living with him and that he had been supporting her a large part of the last few years. Whereupon the erstwhile complainant was made the defendant in the action directed by the court, the assault case being dismissed.

"Weren't you drunk the night you claim to have been struck by Thorsen?" was another interrogation put to her by Judge Windom. "And isn't it true that while drunk you fell downstairs and hurt yourself, after which you had your husband arrested on a charge of having beaten you?" She entered a denial to this and asserted that Thorsen had struck her with his fist.

The police said that the woman was under the influence of liquor this morning when she appeared in the court room to testify against Thorsen.

Michael Harker and Gunder Olson, two minor boys, were arraigned in police court this morning on charges of having attempted to pass a forged check on the Kris & Rose company at First avenue east and Superior street. They waived examination and were bound over to await the action of the next grand jury. Bail was fixed at $250 in each instance.

The check called for $12 and was drawn on a blank of the American Exchange National bank. Harker said he wrote the check and that Olson passed it. They were associated with Harry Ross, the 18-year-old boy who was bound over to the grand jury on a similar charge Monday.

Lillian Madden Cooper and Ingwald Malwick were arrested in a hotel on the Bowery at an early hour this morning on a disorderly charge. Both pleaded guilty when arraigned in police court this morning. Lillian was given until noon to leave the city and the young man was fined $20 and costs, with the alternative of thirty days in the county jail. If Lillian fails to leave the city she has a twenty-day sentence hanging over her head.

James O'Neil got a ten-day "floater" this morning when he pleaded guilty to having become voluntarily intoxicated. He is said to be wanted by the authorities at Blackduck in connection with an arson case. Should they decide to come for him, the ten-day "ride" will hold him for them.

Alex Kinnear had a "fighting jag" on board last night, say the police and it is claimed that he was trying to "start something" in a downtown saloon. He pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly and got $10 and costs or ten days in the county jail.

Charles Skog admitted that he was a vag and is without visible means of support when arraigned in police court this morning. He was sent over the hill for ten days.

Sam Hanson, who runs the Commercial hotel, was arraigned in police court today on a charge of having sold liquor without a license. He entered a plea of guilty and paid a fine of $100.

• • •

Paul Gulicki and Mike Spraic, boarding house bosses with places in First alley, one near Fifth avenue west and the other a block further west, were convicted of blind-pigging after trials in police court today. Paul was found guilty of having sold booze on Sunday and Mike of having sold it without a license. Each got $100 and costs or sixty days in the county jail.

Lone Tree, N. D., Fire.

Berthold, N. D., March 27. — The farmers' elevator, the Farmers' Elevator company's feed mill, and the Great Northern station at Lone Tree were destroyed by fire at a total loss of about $20,000. The entire upper part of the elevator was in flames when the fire was discovered. There were 6,000 bushels of grain in the structure.

HIGH TIDE ON THE BOWERY

Woodsmen With Their "Rolls" Are Coming From the Woods.

Barber Shops, Clothing Stores and Saloons Do Good Business.

This morning marked the beginning of immigration to the city from the woods by the men who have been working all winter in the lumber camps.

Every train to the city from all directions brought them in large numbers. They spread out over the Bowery and sallied up and down the street meeting old friends and making new ones.

The Bowery barber shops, the clothing houses and the thirst emporiums did a big business, for the men, or most of them, have been in the woods steadily this winter and their pockets were bulging with the money earned by several months' hard work.

In some parts the camps are breaking up, although this is not yet true of the camps on the range and to the east of the city.

Whether the season is over or not the lumberjack comes to the city regularly about April 1 each year. From this time on until the middle of April, they will come in large numbers, some of them to leave for St. Paul and Minneapolis, others to find work for the summer in the city and still others to take their old positions on the boats for the summer's run.

Today there were more men sunning themselves on the Bowery than in some months. They will be idle for a few days until they can line up their summer's work, and as they leave their places will be taken by others just coming in from the woods.

The Bowery will be a busy place from now on. The floating population makes the street look more lively than it has in months.

LA FOLLETTE WILL STUMP WISCONSIN FOR VOTES FOR WOMEN.

Madison, Wis., March 27.—United States Senator Robert M. La Follette, according to the April installment of his autobiography, will take the stump in Wisconsin next fall in favor of woman's suffrage.

MAYOR'S ODD POSITION.

Bemidji, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor Fred M. Malzahn on Tuesday brought Louis Anderson, the saloonkeeper, recently indicted on a charge of selling after hours and to a minor, into the municipal courtroom to explain why his license should not be revoked. Attorney John Gibbon appeared for Mr. Anderson and explained that he was in the most peculiar position he ever had been in during his career as an attorney. He explained that Mayor Malzahn was a member of the grand jury that indicted his client and that his client now faces two criminal charges and that to make a defense at this time in order to save his license would be to show his plans for defense in the district court. City Attorney P. J. Russell urged the mayor to take immediate and drastic action but the mayor concluded to continue the hearing until April 1.

For Cold in Chest Sore Throat Hoarseness

Sloan's Liniment gives quick relief for all chest and throat affections.

Here's Proof

REBECCA JANE ISAACS, of Lucy, Ky., writes: "I have used your Liniment in my family for croup, sore throat, lame back and rheumatism, and in every case it gave instant relief."

Good for Pleurisy and Asthma.

Mr. DAVID CAN, of 682 Elk St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes: "In the winter I had an attack of pleurisy in my side and my lung and tried plasters, but it kept getting worse until I used Sloan's Liniment and in a couple of days I was entirely cured. My wife is troubled with asthma and Sloan's Liniment gives her instant relief."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

is the best remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica and any sort of pain. At all dealers. Price 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

$157,429 FOR DEAD WOLVES

State Has Paid Bounties on Over 25,000 in Last Five Years.

County Bounty in Many Cases Adds to Profit of Hunters.

St. Paul, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—It pays to hunt wolves in Minnesota. This is proved by records in the office of S. G. Iverson, state auditor, where orders for small fortunes are paid out annually for the pelts. Within the last five years more than 25,000 wolves have been killed in the state and bounties of $7.50 paid on each. This does not include 2,473 killed since Aug. 1 of last year.

While, apparently, the number is decreasing, there still remain big packs of them in the north woods, preying upon deer, and when pressed with hunger, upon domestic animals.

On each full-grown wolf the state pays a bounty of $7.50, and on each cub $3. For the years ending July 31 last, the fiscal end of the year in Minnesota, the following sums were paid in bounties:

	Wolves.	Bounties.
1907	5,930	$30,014.50
1908	6,173	35,525.00
1909	3,629	27,183.00
1910	4,710	35,356.00
1911	4,764	29,350.50
Total	25,208	$157,429.00

In addition to these sums, counties in many instances offer additional rewards for wolf killing, thus adding to the profit of the sport. Cook county pays $17.50 bounty for each full grown wolf killed within its confines. This, with the bounty paid by the state, makes a wolf valued more than a pig. The hunter gets $25 for it.

St. Louis county pays $7.50 bounty on full grown wolves; Pine county pays $5, Aitkin $3.50, Chisago $2.50, Fillmore $2.50, Hubbard $2.50 and Itasca $2.50. Other counties offer similar bounties.

The year from July 31, 1907 to July 31, 1908, saw more wolves killed than any other recent year. More than 6,000 were killed and bounty on them claimed. The year previous was next highest, and the year following was the lowest. Since the last day of July, 1911, bounty has been claimed on only 2,473 and it is likely this will be a low year.

"POP" PLEASES LARGE AUDIENCE

One of the most successful of the whole series of Y. M. C. A. popular entertainments was given last evening in the association gymnasium, which, as usual, had every bit of its available space, both on the floor and in the galleries, crowded with enthusiastic spectators.

The main feature of the program was a basket ball game between the Duluth Gophers and the Great Northern team of Superior. The contest was hard and exciting throughout, but most of the time the Gophers were in the lead. The home team won by a score of 23 to 19.

W. S. Telford and William L'Estrange gave a fine exhibition of fencing between the halves, showing themselves masters of the art.

There were several indoor athletic contests. The best showing in the standing high jump was made by Clifford Woleben, who made 4 feet 5 inches. The other contestants were W. Martin and Walter Berkelman. Kenneth Woleben won the running high jump, making a new indoor record for the Duluth Y. M. C. A., 5 feet 5 inches. Clifford Woleben showed himself to be an adept at pole vaulting, his highest mark being 9 feet 6 inches.

The program also included many excellent musical numbers. A violin duet was rendered by the Lavick brothers, accompanied by Miss Ethel Molitor. A vocal solo, "I Hear You Calling Me," sung by Miss Margaret Linehan resulted in a call for an encore. Several instrumental selections were rendered by the symphony orchestra and by the mandolin trio, consisting of Messrs. Berglun, Miller and Ketchum.

The concluding entertainment of the series will be given next Tuesday evening. The main attraction will be Sigrud Erdtman, a singer, who has recently come over from Sweden. Mr. Erdtman is gifted with a voice of wonderful quality and volume.

$100,000 FIRE AT BLAIRMORE, ALTA.

Blairmore, Alta., March 27.—One man was burned to death and a property loss of $100,000 sustained in a fire in the business district of this city. The Cosmopolitan hotel, the Royal bank and the stores of Gale Bros. and W. McDonald were destroyed. An Italian whose name is unknown was overcome in the hotel and lost his life. The origin of the fire is unknown.

School Program at Arnold.

The class of 1912 of the Arnold school will appear in a class program at the Noll hall Friday evening, March 29. The program will be as follows: Piano solo, "Il Trovatore," Dorothy Murphy; dialogue, "Census Taker," James Noll and Minnie Fovelle; vocal solo, selected, Miss Johnson; dumb bell drill, class; dialogue, "Country Cousins," characters, Lizzie Twist, a New York young lady, Kate Carlton; her cousin from Vermont, Mabel Holmes; and Jane Carlton, sister of Kate, Ida Carlson; Clara Deans, intimate friend of Lizzie's, Mabel Ostby; Count d'Estange, an imposter, Stephen Marcinlak; Mr. Twist, Lizzie's father, William Murphy; Piano solo, "Beautiful Star of Heaven," Mabel Holmerud; song by class.

LUMBER PROBE ON AT BUFFALO

Federal Commissioner Hitchcock Begins Work in That City.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 27.—A governmental investigation into every phase of the lumber business in all parts of the country was begun here yesterday by United States Commissioner Samuel Hitchcock. The specific charge under consideration is that of the United States against the Eastern States Retail Lumber Dealers' association, in which the government alleges that members of the association have established a blacklist against wholesale dealers who sell lumber at retail. Nine prominent wholesale lumbermen of this section have been subpoenaed. The local hearing will last three days. The commissioners will go from here to Cleveland and Pittsburg and finally to Boston.

ILLINOIS TUNNEL PROPERTIES SOLD.

Chicago, March 27.—Properties of the Illinois Tunnel company were sold at public auction to Louis C. Krauthoff and William S. Tod, who submitted the only bid, for $5,000,000: The two men comprise the purchasing committee of the reorganization committee appointed by the bond and stockholders of the Chicago Subway company, the Chicago Warehouse & Terminal company, the Illinois Tunnel company and the Illinois Telephone Construction company.

MRS. SCHIFF TESTIFIES IN THE BRANDT CASE.

New York, March 27.—Mrs. Mortimer L. Schiff appeared yesterday afternoon before the grand jury that has been investigating the Brandt case. It is understood that she came voluntarily. It was her first appearance in connection with the case involving the former valet of her husband. Letters written by Brandt to Mrs. Schiff caused his discharge from Schiff's employ.

OREGON GOVERNOR TO TRAVEL ON HORSEBACK.

Salem, Or., March 27.—Because his traveling expense fund, appropriated by the last legislature, has become exhausted, Governor West will travel horseback for more than 500 miles to attend a convention of Western governors. The trip will be made from Salem to Boise, Idaho, through a wild region of the Cascade mountains.

"I cannot afford to make this trip by train," said the governor, "and I am desirous of attending the convention. I am not willing to create a deficit and appeal to the next legislature to make it good so I will ride horseback."

SCHOOL CHILDREN HEAR CIVIL CASE.

Thirty-two eighth grade children from the Salter school comprised an audience of interested spectators at the trial of a personal injury action before Judge Cant in district court yesterday afternoon.

The class is studying civil government and although the case on trial yesterday was an ordinary one, it gave the pupils an opportunity to witness the usual procedure in court matters involving civil actions.

Miss Susan M. House, civics teacher at the Salter school, was in charge of the class. She expects to bring the children to the courthouse later, when they will have an opportunity to listen to the procedure in a criminal trial.

C. W. Morse in Italy.

Florence, Italy, March 27.—Charles W. Morse, who recently was released from the federal prison at Atlanta on commutation of sentence, concerning whose physical condition alarming reports have been published, is said to be in comparatively good health. With his wife, he is staying at the Grand hotel here.

OHIOANS COME OUT FOR WILSON

Progressive League Takes Slap at Harmon as Reactionary.

Columbus, O., March 27.—The executive committee of the Ohio Progressive league yesterday voted to support the candidacy for the presidential nomination of Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey at the state-wide Democratic primary March 21. The resolutions adopted, however, leave a loophole for other candidates in a clause that requests Governor Wilson, in naming the six delegates at leagre from Ohio, to select such men as will support his candidacy as long as he is a potentiality, and who in no event will vote for a reactionary candidate.

The league maintained its former policy of not mentioning Governor Harmon by name, referring to "the only candidate for the presidential nomination from Ohio" as a "pronounced reactionary, who refused to vote for the Democratic ticket in 1896, and gave the ticket his active support only in those years in which he was a candidate."

The circulation of petitions to secure the 5,000 signatures required in order to assure the name of Governor Wilson being on the ballot was begun at once.

EXPUNGE OSBORN'S ATTACK UPON STAIR.

Lansing, Mich., March 27.—The senate has voted to expunge from the record that part of Governor Osborn's message to the legislature which related to the career of E. D. Stair, principal owner of the Detroit Free Press and the Detroit Journal. The governor attacked Mr. Stair and his papers for their opposition to the reform measures which he has laid before the special session of the legislature.

In offering the resolution Senator Miller asserted some of the statements in the message were untrue and libelous and not in accord with legislative practice. Action on the resolution by the house was deferred.

The house, in committee of the whole, passed a statewide primary bill. In the senate another attempt to secure immediate effect for the presidential primary law was defeated.

ANOTHER CONVICTION IN TAXICAB ROBBERY.

New York, March 27.—Robert Delce was found guilty of receiving stolen goods in connection with the recent $25,000 robbery of two bank messengers in a taxicab. He was remanded for sentence later. Delce's conviction is the third in connection with the robbery. James Pasquale, partner of Delce in a Thompson street saloon, where it is alleged the robbers divided their loot, will be tried next.

Gino Montani, chauffeur of the taxicab, was given a sentence of from ten to eighteen years last week, and Eugene Splain was sentenced to seven and a half to fourteen and a half years.

REVELL CLAIM IN ALASKA ATTACKED.

Juneau, Alaska, March 27.—Harvey Edwards Revell of Seward, Alaska, has been cited by the Juneau land office to show cause why his homestead entry of 320 acres at the head of Resurrection bay, Alaska, should not be cancelled.

Charges by a special agent of the land office alleged that Revell, before filing entered into an agreement with William B. Holland, general manager, and A. C. Frost of Chicago, president of the Alaska Central railroad to turn over half of his homestead to them.

The Revell homestead, the Alaska Central grant, and the Holland strip claim control of the whole northern end of Resurrection bay and two miles of shore.

RECEIVERSHIP AFTER COAL MINE DISASTER.

Muskogee, Okla., March 27.—Affairs of the San Bois Coal company at McCurtain, in one of whose mines, eighty-two miners lost their lives last week, have been placed in the hands of receivers by order of Judge Campbell in the United States court, on petition of the Superior Savings & Trust Company of Cleveland, Ohio, holders of a $250,000 mortgage.

MAY APPEAL FROM COAL RATE RULING.

New York, March 27.—There will be a meeting here Thursday of Pittsburg lines which handle coal to the lakes to consider the recent decision of the interstate commerce commission in the Pittsburg and Western Virginia lake coal shipments. It is considered probable that, owing to the importance of this decision in its effect upon bituminous rates in all parts of the country, an appeal will be made by the parties interested.

NELLIE BLY IS FINED $600 FOR SILENCE.

New York, March 27.—Elizabeth Z. Seamans, popularly known as "Nellie Bly," was fined $600 yesterday by Judge Hough in the federal court in Brooklyn for refusing to answer questions in the bankruptcy proceedings against the Iron Clad Manufacturing company of which she is president. Mrs. Seamans was given until Saturday to pay the fine or go to jail.

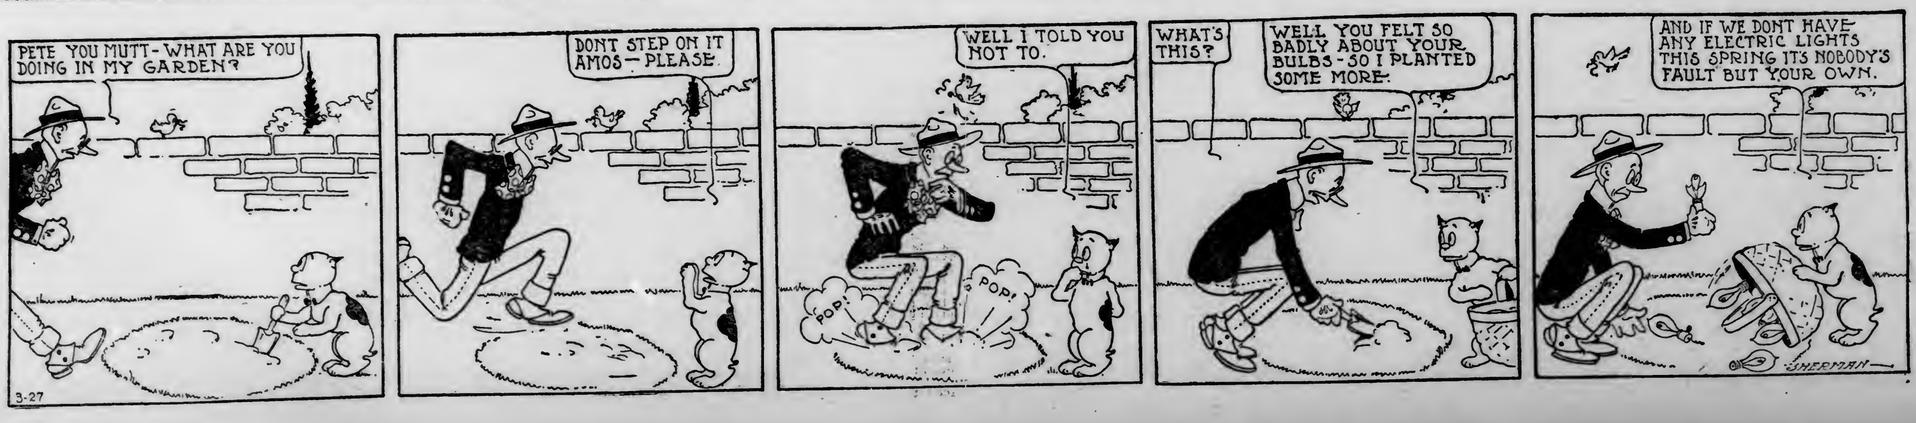
WAT'S WAT? OH KILOWATT

By C. L. SHERMAN



Woman's Realm

An exhibit of historical pictures in colors which is displayed in the juvenile department of the public library is delighting a large number of visitors especially the boys who are always lovers of history. These pictures are loaned by the state library association from its collection of Langman's historical wall pictures and showing scenes familiar in ancient history they have proved a delight to all who have seen them.

Such pictures as "The Death of Wolf Before Quebec," "The Roman Wall," "Augustine Preaching Before King Ethelbert," "Richard the Lion Hearted Seeing Jerusalem," "King John Sealing the Great Charter," and many others are contained in the collection.

At the story hour which is held every Saturday morning at the library at which time Mrs. Foreman tells two stories, one historical and the other a lighter fairy story or fable, an average of ninety-eight young people is entertained. Last Saturday 106 children from 8 to 16 years of age were interested in the tales. The pictures were shown to them at this time and Mrs. Foreman told the story of Richard the Lion Hearted. Next Saturday she will tell about some other of the historical pictures. All children interested in these story hours will be welcome as the hour is free and has proven delightful. Even during the severe cold weather the average attendance at these hours was fifty children which was a proof of their interest.

The pictures will be on display there for some time longer.

GLEE CLUB.

College Boys Will Sing Saturday at Congregational Church.

In delightful anticipation the concert of the Carlton College Glee club which will be given Saturday evening of this week at the Pilgrim Congregational church is awaited by lovers of good vocal music.

This organization is under the business management of Ilay E. Phillips of this city and is noted as one of the finest organizations of the kind in the state and from the previous concerts given here by men from this college, Duluthians feel that they have a treat in store for them.

The most favorable press notices have been given these singers in every city in which they have sung and the program which they will present here is especially interesting.

SECRETARY LEAVES.

Miss Woodward Resigns and New Secretary Arrives.

Miss Carrie R. Woodward, who has been office secretary at the Young Women's Christian association for the past year, has resigned her position and will leave Friday for her home at South Bend, Ind. Miss Grace W. Welsh of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, has arrived to take Miss Woodward's place.

Miss Woodward has been the guest of honor at several affairs given as farewell functions. This afternoon the secretaries of the association entertained at a pretty affair in honor of Miss Woodward and Miss Welsh. Another pretty party was given Monday evening by Miss Anna Foley and Miss Cowan of the Y. W. C. A. for Miss Woodward. The evening was spent informally and the table decorations were all in green and white. The girls of the Geneva club of the association were also hostesses in compliment to her at a pretty affair.

EARLY EXPERIENCES.

Great Singer Tells of First Musical Training.

It is not generally known that Mme. Schumann-Heink, the most famous of all concert contraltos, is the daughter of an Austrian army officer, who, at the time of her birth, was stationed at Leiben, Bohemia.

During the early days of the great contralto's career she sang in a choir, but relied upon her ear rather than upon her knowledge of the printed notes on the music page to help her through her trying work. "When I sang well," said Mme. Schumann-Heink a few days ago with a smile, "I received a kelpfel," which is a sort of a sweet cooky, as a reward, but if I made a slip my ears were promptly boxed. Thus, I might say my early musical education consisted principally of 'kelpfels' and slaps."

Further difficulties which arose in the effort of the prima donna contralto to rise in her profession were constantly cropping out. She was vocalizing one day in the studio of her teacher, Fraulein Le Clair, and her big voice at the time was somewhat unwieldly. A visitor, unable to restrain her feelings, said to the teacher: "A calf among your pupils? I was not aware that you had calves to bleat." "Ah," replied Fraulein Le Clair, 'the calf may bleat now, but she will some day be a great singer." Time seems to have proven the truth of this assertion.

The sale of seats for Mme. Schumann-Heink's concert next Wednesday will open at the Lyceum at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

PARENTS' MEETING.

Informal Talks and Social Hour Planned.

A parent's meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at the C. C. Salter school to which all parents of the pupils of the school or any one interested in the meeting is invited. Dr. O. W. Rowe will speak at this meeting and there will also be other informal talks. After the talks, which will begin at 3 o'clock, refreshments will be served by the girls of the eighth grade domestic science class and an informal social hour enjoyed.

Class Play.

The senior class play which will be given tomorrow and Saturday evenings at the high school assembly hall is of interest to the high school students and the graduates of this school especially while many of the parents too are interested in the affair. Saturday night is being featured as alumni night and former students and graduates of the school are planning to attend on that evening.

"A Modern Ananias" is the play which will be given by an able cast under the direction of A. F. M. Custance who has had charge of these plays for several years.

ELECT OFFICERS.

Girls of Dancing Class to Give Play.

Miss Hazel Craswell was chosen president for the folk dancing class at the Salter school last evening at the regular meeting of the classes held in the school building. Miss Vivian Burrell was chosen vice president, Miss Elizabeth Homigmann, treasurer, and Miss Louise Coe, secretary.

There were sixty girls present at the meeting last evening who took part in the dances besides a large number of visitors who enjoyed watching the dancing.

The girls are planning to give a play some time soon in which a number of the folk dances can be presented and they expect to enjoy this feature especially.

HEPWORTH-TREWHITT.

Wedding of Interest Here.

Announcements have been received here from Mr. and Mrs. Alfred George Hepworth announcing the marriage of their daughter, Maude Alma, to Stephen Cornell Trewhitt on Monday, March 25, at Winnipeg, Can. The bride is very well known in Duluth having visited here many times and she is a sister of A. W. Hepworth of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Trehwitt will reside in Vancouver, B. C.

Japanese Wife of Nephew of America's Money King

MRS. GEORGE MORGAN.

This is the Japanese wife of George D. Morgan, nephew of J. Pierpont Morgan, the money king. She was Yuki Nato of Yokohama before she married Mr. Morgan more than four years ago. Mrs. Morgan is highly educated, but speaks very little English. She recently returned to San Francisco after a trip to Paris, where the Morgans spend part of their time. About four years ago they visited Newport, but met with a cold reception.

BETTER CITIZENSHIP IS THEME OF Y.W.C.A. BANQUET

Speakers at Annual Dinner of Association Urge Higher Standard of Civic Patriotism, and Discuss Social Evils of Present Day.

With an interesting program of toasts the annual banquet of the Young Women's Christian association was brought to a successful close last evening. Dinner was served at numerous tables attractively appointed. Large bouquets of fresh cut flowers made a pretty centerpiece for each table, and each table was presided over by one of the hostesses.

Mrs. W. C. Agnew, honorary president of the association, presided, and before introducing Rev. J. C. Faries, who was toastmaster for the evening, she presented Miss Nettie E. Trimble, general secretary of the association, to the guests, and Miss Trimble responded with a timely little speech.

Mr. Faries made a most happy toastmaster, introducing the speakers with short little talks sparkling with wit and an occasional timely suggestion. He also paid a tribute to Mrs. Agnew for her successful leadership of the work of the association during the past eight years, which was heartily applauded by all the guests.

E. M. Morgan was the first speaker, who responded to the toast, "The Essentials of True Citizenship." After a bright little opening, Mr. Morgan launched into a rather sarcastic portrayal of the methods used by certain classes of citizens, and of evil conditions existing because of lack of the true feeling of citizenship. The evils of the liquor traffic, of child labor and the "black plague" were all touched upon and the conditions upon which they thrive laid bare. "It is the duty of every true citizen," he said, "to feel a personal responsibility in these questions and in doing away with their causes."

The Wisdom of a Fool.

Elmer F. Blu, whose topic was "The Wisdom of a Fool," responded with a keen talk following up Mr. Morgan's subject and applying his topic to men in public office and the citizen who shirks his public duty.

"Political structure is based," he said, "upon two fundamental principles, self government and civic patriotism. The first principle today hangs in a hesitating balance for citizens to overlook their responsibilities and shirk their duties, unmindful of civic patriotism. What we need is a new standard to purify politics, a patriotism that smashes the political machines. This is possible through education and education of the masses. All hands should be joined and all shoulders set behind the wheels of progress, working toward a higher civic patriotism."

"There seems to be a tonic in the atmosphere," said Mr. Faries after these two talks, "and I wonder if it does not mean a better Duluth, a nobler manhood and a protected womanhood."

In the last talk of the evening, Watson S. Moore in his toast "What Are We Here For?" gave a sound, logical discussion of the problems to be met by such institutions as the Young Women's Christian association and the Young Men's association.

"We are here," he said, "because of the interest felt in an enterprise that is doing things and doing them well. It is easy to preach. The spirit of correction and the spirit of criticism are easy but it is not so easy to inspire and uplift. This institution, as the young men's institution on the next corner, is here to help men and boys and women and girls to have a good time and to lay the foundation of a character which will endure through the ages. This problem is hard.

Men and Religion.

"The Men and Religion Forward Movement recently held here will help in solving our problems, but we will need more such movements before we can gain much progress. The fight will be keen and sharp and we men and women are here to help to tackle those problems.

"We men are bristling with the desire to help the community, but we will meet opposition; it would not be a task worth while if there was no opposition, and the women must help the men and stand behind them. When women stir the men will fight and if the women are behind them urging them on they will have the strength to make progress.

"A great question is how to interest the people of Duluth in these things. The people of Duluth are responsive to good leadership. There are many outside of the churches who are earnestly working for the upgrowth of the city. If we get the spirit aroused we can get hold of the men and women and they will uphold the upbuilding of the city.

"We are here to lift men up."

Mr. Faries closed by voicing the appreciation of the hearers of these talks and the singing of "America" by the assemblage closed the evening.

Those in charge of the banquet were: Mrs. J. A. Watterworth, Mrs. W. J. McCabe, Mrs. T. J. Davis, Mrs. Hugh Steele and Mrs. H. E. Priest.

THE EVENING STORY

Peter Diddleworth's Proposal.

By Ray Roe.

Cook, housegirl, master of the house—all these was Peter Diddleworth. Just now he was performing his duties in the first capacity, frying some bacon and eggs for his breakfast. A drop of grease popped out of the pan and left a red spot on Peter's hand. "Hump!" grunted Peter, sucking the sore place and rubbing his hand over his hip pocket. "A man hain't any business bein' cook."

Now it had not taken him all his thirty-five years of life to learn this sad truth; he had decided it eleven years ago when he was wooing Nancy Dobbs. So firmly was he convinced, that he built the three-room cottage that he now occupied, and furnished it. But Peter had one overpowering fault that had stood in the way—his innate bashfulness in the presence of womankind. He had not reckoned on the most important factor, the proposal, and he did not realize it until Nancy accepted Jeff Medford.

No one ever knew how Peter suffered. He was not the kind to burden others with his troubles; he accepted his single state as a matter of course, and through all these years the drudgery of housework, of mending his clothes, of taking his meals alone had settled on him as habits of fate. He trudged through his humdrum life on his little farm, accumulated money in the bank, and said nothing. Thus would Peter doubtless have gone to the grave had not Jeff Medford died. That was a year ago. The Widow Medford returned to the village, and Peter had dutifully been calling on her ever since. But when it came to leading up to that one question, his heart stopped and his tongue refused to work. Yet all this time the solitary meals were more solitary.

He dumped his bacon and eggs on his plates, poured out a cup of steaming coffee, and sat down at the kitchen table. As he ate, his eye traveled over the sheet of newspaper that served as a cover for the table. Suddenly he saw something that made him forget his breakfast, for his fork stopped in mid-air with a generous chunk of bacon impaled on it, while his head bent close to the paper. It was just a little rhyme and the title read, "To the Bashful One." It ran:

"Thou bashful swain, where'er thou art,
From single blessedness depart.
Leap year is here,
Thy sweetheart, dear,
Her right and privilege knows;
If thy faint heart will not speak out,
Fear not—for she'll propose."

Peter forgot the chunk of bacon on his fork. He took his pocket knife and cut out the rhyme. He read it again and put it in his pocket. A new light had been cast upon the affairs of Peter. He spent the rest of the day perfecting his plan of campaign. The next morning he knocked on the side door of the Widow Medford's, with a bucket of eggs on his arm.

"Why, Peter," she said, "what a start you gave me. I thought you were a peddler."

Peter went in, placed the bucket on the kitchen table, and drew a chair up to the stove. The widow knew she was expected to carry on the conversation, and she kept up a running fire of gossip, with brief comments from Peter. Finally he rose to go.

"Why, Peter, you're not goin' so soon?"

But Peter was going, and when he was gone she first noticed the bucket of eggs.

"Well, if that man hain't forgot his eggs."

She opened the door and called after him, "Peter you forgot your eggs."

He turned and grinned sheepishly. "I brought 'em for you," he called back.

"Well, I never. But I guess they'll come in real handy."

The next day a cord of wood was dumped beside the widow's depleted wood pile. "Mr. Diddleworth sent it," the man explained. "He's clearing up the back pasture."

Every few mornings the rest of the winter the widow received butter, or eggs, or a few chickens, or a slab of side meat. She was hard pinched, and she felt that Peter could afford it. He rarely presented his offerings in person, and when he did come she was so profuse with her thanks that he was glad to escape.

One morning early in spring Peter appeared at the widow's again. All the afternoon before he had spent picking and dressing the two choice chickens that lay in the basket on his arm. Somehow he felt it was time something was happening. "Thought maybe you'd like some chickens," he prefaced, briefly, as he handed over the basket and took his seat by the fire.

"See here, Peter, I don't know whether I had ought to take so much."

"I've got more'n I need," mumbled Peter.

"It's mighty fine for them that has to give to them that hain't."

Peter's heart began to jump, and his collar was unbearably tight. She was making a good start, he thought, but not a word more was said about the gifts to the expectant Peter. She gossiped on for half an hour, and then, with an air of resignation, he left her. That night he sat gazing thoughtfully at the piece of paper that held the ryhme. Those seven lines had filled Peter with a consuming purpose. He knew the widow liked him, but he knew, too, that his "faint heart would not speak out." He had pinned his faith to the last line, "Fear not—for she'll propose."

"Don't know as she's any nearer'n she ever was," he mused dolefully. "I reckon I'll have to figure up something else." Then the thought of the mortgage on her home; he remembered hearing her tell how it worried her. He would buy it up and give it to her. That surely would be the last straw.

A few days later, when Peter called on the widow, the mortgage was bulging in his pocket. He coughed, he talked about the weather, he coughed some more, he discussed the prospect for crops, but the subject of the mortgage remained painfully in the background. It was not till he rose to go that he came round to it, and then he offered no verbal introduction to the presentation. He shoved it into her hands and started to leave. She saw what it was.

"You don't mean this, Peter? You don't mean to give it to me?" Peter nodded assent. "You're too good to me, Peter. I ought not to have taken the other things. Of course you hain't anybody to provide for, and you can spare it. But I can't take this." And she shoved the paper back into his pocket.

But Peter was determined. Maybe he had not struck her at the right time. He would try again in the morning.

"Peter, I've got something to tell you."

He was on the scene of battle again, but he had not had time to broach the subject of the mortgage.

"I've decided to get married again."

It was just what he was expecting, and he looked up and grinned.

"Yes," the widow continued, wiping her eyes with her apron, "it's been mighty lonesome." The world was spinning, and Peter's head was light and giddy.

"As I said, Peter, I've decided to get married."

There was a pause, Peter coughed and shuffled his feet, and the widow went on with her work. "I'm going to marry Ezra Parker tomorrow, Peter."

Peter spoke not a word. He got up and went back to his solitary life. And the first thing he did was to burn up the little piece of poetry.

The Duluth Herald accepts advertising contracts with the distinct guarantee that it has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in Minnesota outside the Twin Cities. Its value as an advertising medium is apparent.

PROTECT THE LAKE.

Let us add the moral to the vigorous letter which Chester A. Congdon had in The Herald last evening on the pollution of the city's drinking water by sewage. The moral is that Duluth must stop emptying its sewage into Lake Superior. Stupidity is none too strong a word to apply to the present practice. An occasional death from typhoid now may mean scores of deaths later if stupid negligence continues to rule. Now, before the menace is acute, is the time to safeguard the city's most precious possession—its supply of pure and good drinking water.

North Dakota—Indiana—New York—Oh you frazzle!

THE MORE THE MERRIER.

The Greater Duluth club, which was organized last night with the slogan "100,000 people for Duluth by Jan. 1, 1914," and the motto "I am for Duluth," is welcome to our city.

In a more popular form than the Commercial club, and in no sense, as we take it, a competitor of that organization or a usurper of its functions, the Greater Duluth club will find plenty of work to do, and the fact that it will have a more intimate relationship with the masses of the people, and that it will be inspired by the enthusiasm generated in large and frequent public meetings, will give it the power it needs to be useful.

The plan is an outgrowth of the suggestion made some time ago by The Herald that a "city club" be formed such as many other communities have, the purpose of which is to check up civic matters and act as an organized taxpayers' league. Those back of the new organization have broadened the scope of the organization, and have laid down a list of aims that are abundantly well worth while, and that deserve the ardent support of every citizen.

The club starts with a good list of officers, headed by P. E. Dowling, who has plenty of the energy and enthusiasm such a movement needs, and with right aims rising from right impulses.

The Herald wishes it abundant success, for its success means the success of Duluth.

And now the packers probably will regard that old immunity bath as a baptism of righteousness.

TAFT GETS THE DELEGATES.

While Roosevelt is getting the cheers and Taft the hisses, Taft is getting the delegates; and under these circumstances he can easily stand the hisses—at least until November.

Roosevelt lost North Dakota completely. He will get but twelve out of Indiana's thirty delegates, and he will get but seven delegates from New York, his own state. In yesterday's primaries—which do not appear to have been a very admirable variety of primaries—his friends lost wherever they contested the delegates proposed by the organization. The only delegates he gets are those proposed by local organizations favorable to him.

The Roosevelt candidacy is not getting on.

It isn't anything to be particularly cheerful about, however, unless you are a Teddyphobe or a Democrat, in either of which cases Taft victories will be very cheering indeed. In spite of the many objectionable things about his personality, in spite of his light regard of a plighted word and his easy bandying of epithets, Roosevelt has stood and still stands for much that is vital to the future of the Republic, and the man who is about to defeat him for the nomination stands for all that is most menacing to the future of the Republic.

It begins to look as if there wasn't any brick under that old hat which Teddy chucked into the enclosure.

THE GARDEN CLUB.

One of the communities to which The Herald referred, in suggesting that Duluth take it up, as having adopted the city garden club plan, is Minneapolis.

Last year, under the direction of the Minneapolis Garden club, three hundred and twenty-five vacant lots were planted to vegetables and flowers—two million square feet to vegetables and two hundred thousand square feet to flowers. More than three miles of hanging gardens were installed on the business streets. Twenty-two thousand packages of nasturtium seeds were distributed to children. Every vacant lot along two miles of the main arterial street was covered with grass or flowers. Six hundred acres of rubbish were cleared and twenty thousand feet of frontage was screened with bushy shrubs and plants.

The cost to the Garden club was $3,584.43. The value of the crop—in money—was $11,801.78.

But who shall estimate the value to the community of the improved appearance of the city streets and vacant lots brought about by this work? And who shall calculate the good done to those who planted and tilled? And who can guess what the gain is to Minneapolis through the advertising that resulted from this work? For Minneapolis not only carried out this plan to a successful conclusion, but it saw to it that comment upon it was made in as many publications as could be induced to talk about it.

Members of the Garden club paid $1.50, and this is what they got for it: two apple trees; the privilege of consulting the superintendent at will; seeds and tomato plants; the privilege of attending the farm school course at the Y. M. C. A., similar to the one about to be held here, for which two dollars is charged; a copy of a forty-eight page book containing full directions on how to raise various flowers, fruits and vegetables, with blanks for keeping a record of the work; the privilege of visiting any of the model gardens at any time; and the privilege of having his garden plowed or spaded by the club at pro rata cost.

What Minneapolis has done, Duluth can do.

It is not too late now to make a start for this year.

Will somebody make that start?

And now the tariff board says the cotton schedule is excessive, too. There seems to have been several things radically wrong about this "best tariff bill ever enacted."

TAFT AND THE COTTON TARIFF.

If President Taft's conscience did not smite him sorely and if he felt no qualm of misgiving when he read the report of his tariff commission on the cotton industry, then his feelings must be leathery indeed.

Last summer congress passed a bill cutting the cotton duties, and President Taft promptly vetoed it, thereby denying the American people the relief which the tariff board report shows they have needed for many years.

As in the case of the wool bill which Taft also vetoed, the report of the commission fully justifies the cuts made by the Democrats and insurgent Republicans. It justifies those who attacked the president for his veto of this legislation, and it leaves him in a position utterly defenseless.

He charged the Democrats with passing these tariff revision bills for political purposes.

What answer can he make now, in the light of the tariff commission's reports, to the charge that he vetoed these bills for political purposes? And that's a charge vastly kinder than the charge that he vetoed them to protect the cotton and woolen manufacturers in the enjoyment of their wicked profits, gained at the cost of great suffering among consumers and gigantic debauchery of legislative and political agencies.

Though the cotton schedules are tall and the cotton tariff tax burdensome, the report of the tariff board shows that absolutely no protection at all is needed by the cotton industry, because it is cheaper to produce cotton goods here than it is abroad.

Yet labor in the cotton mills is miserably paid, and the American consumer pays in many cases a hundred per cent more than the consumer elsewhere.

The sole fruit of the protective tariff on cotton manufacturers is the fat dividend of the manufacturer; and in vetoing the cotton bill of last summer President Taft left himself in the most unpleasantly conspicious position of guardian of those dividends and first aid to greed and oppression.

Even as bald and dangerous—to the Taft position—as the report of the tariff commission is, it is said on good authority that the influence of standpatters, trembling for its effect on them and on the president and on their cause, was successful in having it tamed down to a considerable extent.

But it is bad enough as it is.

It makes the Taft veto of the cotton bill, then widely considered a blunder, look almost like a crime, even if the president's culpability is mitigated by the concession that he did not mean to do what the tariff commission's report proves he did do—act as first aid to the plunderers of the American people.

It puts the president in a dangerous, an unenviable, and a defenseless position. It will aggravate the public indignation over the continuous failure of tariff legislation, and it will center all of that indignation upon him.

The coal men say that if they pay more wages they will have to charge higher prices, which, they say, they would not like to do. They might have left off that last statement. There's no use rubbing it in by cracking jokes about themselves.

DULUTH SPORTSMEN ALIVE.

The organization Monday evening of the Northeastern Minnesota Game and Fish Protective association was an unqualifiedly good thing, and it made its beginning along the right lines.

Northeastern Minnesota still is, in spite of years of waste and law violation, a "paradise for hunters and anglers." It has nearly every indigenous game bird and beast and fish that is worth while to the sportsman. It hasn't so many as it once had, but if the organization made Monday night gets a large membership, and if the members take their membership as seriously as they should, there will be many more of these game birds, beasts and fish in the future than there are now. The work of propagation and protection, working hand in hand and supported by the state and its game wardens and by the organized sportsmanship of the community, will conserve the supply of game for decades to come.

The idea of pledging each member to report all violations of the game laws that come to his notice—and to make none himself—is good; and after a few members have made good by bringing offenders to book, the realization that besides a game warden or two in public pay there are several hundreds of them in this section who, though unpaid, are nevertheless zealous and vigilant, will make breakers of the game laws scarce indeed.

And, by the way, the club made another good move when it recommended that Dr. J. D. Budd of Two Harbors be given the next appointment to the state game and fish commission. This section, the greatest field for hunting and angling in the state, never has had a member of the commision; and the governor could find no better man in the state for that place than Dr. Budd, who has proved his good faith by abundant good works.

What! Another demand for an extra session? Dear, dear!

THE COLONEL AND A THIRD PARTY.

Now that it looks very much like Taft would win the Republican nomination and that Roosevelt wouldn't, some people are worrying about the prospect that the Colonel may lead a bolt and head a third party.

We think that hardly probable. A third term, perhaps, if he can manage it, but not a third party.

It takes a man with the martyr's iron and fire in his blood to try that.

And Roosevelt, for all his vehemence, and granting him all the virtues his most ardent friends ascribe to him, has shown no sign of being made of the stuff of which martyrs are made.

Withal, Roosevelt is a very good party man, even though his present efforts are widening to a chasm the rift within the Republican lute. Besides, he loves popular applause too much; and there is little of that—while they live, though monuments when they are dead—for the pioneers in political or other revolutions.

La Follette might do such a thing. In fact he'd probably glory in it, and grow fat on it. But hardly the Colonel. Not till third parties grow more popular than they are now.

The packers were acquitted; and the same hour the prices of provisions went up. You may not call this a fair putting two and two together. But it's just as fair as the putting of ten and ten together that you'll have to do when you come to buy the same products at an advanced price.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

NORTH DAKOTA AND LA FOLLETTE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Allow me space in your Open Court column to briefly review the result of the North Dakota primary to which you refer in your editorial of Wednesday. An overwhelming majority of the people of North Dakota are Progressives, they want a substantial reduction of the tariff, a reduction drastic enough to squeeze most of the water out of the trusts. North Dakotans do not consider Col. Roosevelt a Progressive. The issue in this primary was between standpatism and reform. President Taft was not an issue. All of the Old Guard and standpatters were for Roosevelt and the Progressives for La Follette, hence the few scattering votes for Taft. Mr. Roosevelt is not as popular as formerly in North Dakota. Because of reciprocity, Mr. Taft has also lost in popularity. I venture to say, however, that if the people here were forced to choose between the two, then Taft would be their choice.

George W. Perkins, a member of the Morgan syndicate of trust promoters, has been devoting his time for several months past endeavoring to convince the people of the necessity of a national incorporation act, the real object of which is to place the government's stamp of approval, and to virtually legalize all the watered stock of the hundreds of illegal trade combinations that were formed during President Roosevelt's administration.

In his Columbus address, Col. Roosevelt announces himself in favor of this incorporation act, and the press informs us several days later of a rumor that Mr. Perkins is his financial backer in this campaign. This much in President Taft's favor, during the three years of his administration, the financial buccaneers have not dared to form combines indiscriminately. Note the speedy dissolution of the glass trust. If President Roosevelt had discoursed less about good trust and bad trust, and had devoted his great energy to the enforcing of the Sherman law (which it was his sworn duty to do) the bankers' panic of 1906 would probably not have happened, nor the years of business depression that have followed.

As every one now knows, the one piece of special privilege legislation that has made the formation of trusts possible is the protective tariff. This protective feature must be removed and a great majority of the intelligent, wide-awake citizens of North Dakota believe that Robert M. La Follette is the man to do the trick and the elected delegates to the Republican national convention can be depended upon to cast their votes for him; first, last and all the time.

Yours truly,
EDWARD J. JUSTIN,
Fargo, N. D., March 24.

CRITICISM FROM FARMER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have read Mr. Grogan's article in the Open Court, concerning farming and which he brands the returns of Mr. Diesen, whose article on the same topic appeared in the previous number, as speculative and unreasonable. Now I only want every fair-minded reader to compare the articles of both of these gentlemen and then judge for themselves if Mr. Grogan's returns are not just as speculative as Mr. Diesen's. Moreover, he is more favorable of farming than Diesen, for his articles clearly show it. Why didn't he put down the cost of chickens, etc., when he has so much of farm knowledge as to advise what cow to buy and many more items.

I challenge Mr. Grogan to go out farming on the cut-over lands in Minnesota and do just himself as he advises others to do in the same time, at same expenses. To strictly follow the rules that he puts down in his article would solve the greatest problem that has baffled the early settlers of Minnesota.

Yours truly,
WILLIAM TAN.
Cloquet, R. No. 1, March 25.

Garbage Disposal Problem.

Christian Science Monitor: Attention has heretofore been directed in these columns to the garbage disposal systems in operation at Milwaukee, Wis., and Columbus, Ohio. In the first named city the incineration type is used, everything in the way of combustible refuse being fed to the crematories and reduced to volatile gases. The process is practically destruction. In Columbus the reduction method is employed. Here the garbage is sorted and passed through digesters, tanks and roller presses, and valuable products are obtained. Under the Milwaukee system the cost of garbage disposal to the taxpayers has been reduced from $1.37 to 60 cents per ton, which is very satisfactory, while under the Columbus system the reduction process actually netted $2,000 a month profit for the first six months, which is more satisfactory still. It should be kept in mind that these are municipal plants.

The Milwaukee system is a long step in advance of that prevailing in the average American town and city. If it nets no profit it has reduced the cost of disposal by more than one-half, and it does its work well. It is far and away ahead of the contract crematory system. The "dump" system, whether the depository be vacant land or the ocean, is not to be compared with it for cleanliness. The Columbus system, as we have seen, goes even farther; it not only saves, but makes, money for the taxpayer.

It is noticeable, however, that American communities, in the face of the demonstrated efficiency of the Milwaukee and Columbus systems, still cling, as a rule, to old, crude and frequently abhorrent methods. Take them altogether, there is probably no other way in which they are so far behind the advanced communities of Europe as in this one respect. London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna and other large cities across the Atlantic have for years been expending immense sums in experiments, with the double purpose of reducing the cost and promoting efficiency in the removal of garbage and general refuse. On the continent, the point of rescuing from the mass everything that might be useful has never been lost sight of, with the result that the plants are nearly always self-sustaining. In some instances they yield a profit.

An explanation of American backwardness and indifference is to be found in the fact that most of the towns and cities have at one time or another experimented along wrong lines and have consequently suffered disappointment. They have either erected crematories upon untested plans, or they have entered into contracts with individuals or concerns striving to introduce untried patented devices. In either case the results may have been unsatisfactory, and this is made evident by the number of disused and abandoned crematorels to be found scattered throughout the country. It is perhaps true that neither Milwaukee nor Columbus has the last word to offer with relation to the solution of the garbage problem, but each appears to have something so far in advance of the method generally employed that it would pay the sister communities to look into it.

The Reason for the Change.

London Punch: First A. B. (mess cook)—Wot'll we give 'em tomorrow for afters? Tapioker?

Second A. B. (mess cook)—That'll do; bung it down; you'll want four pounds.

First A. B. (spelling audibly as he writes)—Four pounds t-a-b-a—t-a-b-l"—(hesitates)—We'd better 'ave macaroni.

Second A. B.—All right; bung it down, then.

First A. B.—Four pounds m-a-k-a—m-a-k-i—oh, we'll 'ave rice! Four pounds r-i-s-e.

MORE ECHOES OF HARMONY.

Busy at Home.

Aitkin Age: When President Taft visited Minnesota the Eberhart cabinet told him "just leave it to us, we'll give you the delegation." Now the governor has announced that he will remain neutral and that the Taft campaign in Minnesota must be run separate from his own.

The Man Behind.

Northfield News: This is going to be a campaign of the man behind. E. E. Smith is now the man behind Eberhart, but on convention day Eberhart will be the man behind his opponents in the number of votes.

Has Courage of His Convictions.

Fairmont Sentinel: Editor James of the Breckenridge Telegram, one of the Stalwart Republican papers of the state, declares editorially that he will not support for re-election Taft, Eberhart or Steenerson. Such expressions are not conducive to Republican harmony; yet there are few who will question Editor James' soundness of judgment.

A Prediction.

Nashwauk Herald: Some of the newspapers of the state have published statements to the effect that the gentle Eberhart will be nominated for governor by a big majority and that Sam Y. Gordon won't stand a ghost of a show. In such instances, at least in many of them, the wish is father to the thought. Here is a prediction that can be taken for what it is worth, and anyone who is not of the same opinion is invited to make a note of it and see if it is not verified at the state convention, Eberhart, if nominated, will have but a small majority and will be defeated at the polls by any good Democrat opposing him. In the event of Sam Gordon's nomination Minnesota will roll up one of the good old Republican majorities.

Battle of Dollars.

Cass Lake Times: "Many a gubernatorial aspirant for Eberhart's patent leathers is still in the hibernating, or dormant, stage," says an exchange. Waiting for "the call of duty"—for someone willing to broach a barrel or two to come along and push them into the race?—Princeton Union.

If it takes "a barrel or two" to reach the gubernatorial chair, just bear in mind that Ed. Smith will lay it all over any undesirable candidate, with his dollar marks.

Too Late.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The Virginia Virginian says, "Down in Duluth some of the knowing ones have it figured out that Eberhart will get there with both feet a little later in the game." Yes, a little too "later on" to be of any service to Fortunatus, and he will "get there" on his hands, too—right out through the front door.

The Reason.

Sauk Centre Herald: Andrew Fritz, public examiner, declares he's for Taft and against the presidential preference primary. Andrew was appointed by Eberhart as a reward for alleged political services rendered. Q. E. D.

Optimism.

Luverne Journal: With the prospects of good crops, the election of Roosevelt to the presidency, and the undoing of the Eberhart-Ed. Smith machine in Minnesota, the people of this state have reason to look forward to the approaching months of 1912 with not a little happiness.

Cities Handicapped By Bad Political Tools.

Frederic H. Howe in the Scribner: There is yet another word to be said in extenuation of the American city, and that relates to our political tools. For the most part they are very unworkable. That is the intention of many of our city charters. They are not adjusted to democracy, which has at most a biennial chance at their control. They are adjusted to those who have the means and the time to devote to politics. Our city charters are complicated. Elections are frequently held along with state and national ones when the attention of the voter is centered on other questions. The local election is merely accidental. Moreover, the charter itself is confusing. The mayor hides behind the council, the boards which manage the various departments, boards which are frequently selected by the state or other officials over whom the people have no control. Relatively simple as is the charter of New York, I doubt if there are more than a few hundred people who know, or are in a position to find out, the powers of the various officials. They would not understand the charter if they read it.

Possibly the worst evil of all is the long ballot, which confuses all save those who have sufficient time and interest to secure the nomination and election of their own representative to office. With from forty to fifty names in each column, and with national and state questions of command, they read the new ones. Thackeray and Dickens were writing then. Wordsworth, Tennyson and Jane Austen. Russell would lay aside the heavy cares of state, cares his wife understood and shared with him, and the two would laugh like children over "Pickwick" and "Martin Chuzzlewit," or thrill over the lovely poems that were so new to the world.

I have been telling this story of a past time because I don't see why all of you should not have just such pleasant memories to look back to when you are grown up, and such a habit to fall back upon. We cannot all lie before a fire in a vast baronial hall, to be sure, where history is as much at home as the cat on the hearthstone. But almost any place is a good place to read in. The evening lamp glows as cheerily in the cozy living room of a flat or a bungalow, the suburban house or a Western ranch as it can in the oldest haunted castle that was ever the scene of romantic happenings. And then, too, there's "all outdoors" to read about in, when the summer days come back to us. It's the book that is the thing. Let that be good, and the reader good, and the hours will prove unforgetable whatever the setting.

A Factor to Be Considered.

New York Globe: It is well that the newspapers should make the public acquainted with the Industrial Workers of the World. The encouragement they have received from their success at Lawrence makes them a formidable factor now in the East, where they find conditions propitious to their methods and purposes.

These purposes, it should be understood at once, are frankly revolutionary. Brute assertion of might rather than any definite idea of justice is the end sought. They attempt to raise wages as a means of destroying existing ownership and control. Derangement of the social order is their first goal.

Conditions at Lawrence favored them because of the large proportion of foreigners among the operatives. Among these people, largely made up of immigrants from Southeastern Europe, they had little difficulty in spreading their propaganda. To them it was not unfamiliar. In other industrial centers of the East a similar state of affairs is not uncommon. Recently compiled statistics indicate that in New York in the last decade the population in this respect has undergone remarkable changes. The New York Federation of Churches' figures show a loss between 1900 and 1910 of 367,779 persons of British and Northwestern Europe parentage, accompanied by a gain in persons of Russian and Southern Europe parentage of no less than 991,716. What is true of New York is true to some extent of many sections along the Atlantic seaboard among the mills and factories. he main difference lies in the fact that New York has received most of the Jewish refugees from Russia, the increase from that country alone being 416,429.

It is from these people, excepting the Jews, that the I. W. W. draws its recruits most easily. Accustomed to revolutionary ideas, many of them lend a willing ear to the doctrine of an overturn of established order. Hence the rapid spread of the I. W. W. movement in the East. In the West, radical as it sometimes seems in politics, the farming population shows but a cold front to all proposals that interfere with the substantial rights of property.

With the I. W. W. the older labor organizations, the trades unions, have no sympathy. On American soil it should have no foothold. But arbitrary methods and injustice on the part of employers are certain to swell its ranks. Every act of that sort plays into the hands of men like Haywood. Refusal to treat with the coal miners will give him and his associates the sort of opening they are watching for and render less easy solution a problem already bristling with difficulties. The coal operators would do well to study the I. W. W.

The Ship of State.

Thou, too, sail on, O ship of State!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Humanity, with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!
We know what Master laid thy keel,
What Workman wrought thy ribs of steel,
Who made each mast, and sail, and rope,
What anvils rang, what hammers beat,
In what a forge, and what a heat,
Were shaped the anchors of thy hope!

Fear not each sudden sound and shock;
'Tis of the wave, and not the rock;
'Tis but the flapping of the sail
And not a rent made by the gale!
In spite of rock and tempest's roar,
In spite of false lights on the shore,
Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea!
Our hearts, our hopes, are all with thee.
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee—are all with thee!
—Longfellow's "The Building of the Ship."

The Pains of Moving Day.

Charles Lamb: What a dislocation of comfort is implied in that word moving! Such a heap of little nasty things, after yo uthink all is got into the cart; old dredging boxes, worn-out trunks, gallipots, vials, things that it is impossible the most necessitous person can ever want, but which women, who preside on these occasions, will not leave behind, if it was to serve your soul; they'd keep the cart ten minutes to sow in dirty pipes and broken matches, to show their economy. They can find nothing you want for many days after you get into your new lodgings. You must comb your hair with your fingers, wash your hair without soap, go about in dirty gaiters.

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

•••The engagement is announced of A. C. Le Richeux and Miss Rose Patterson.

•••Mrs. Smith, who for several weeks has been in Duluth with her husband, Lieut. Smith, Third infantry, U. S. A., has gone to New York for a visit with her sister.

•••Rev. S. M. Crothers of St. Paul will preach in the Unitarian church here on Sunday. He comes with the intention of starting the Unitarian work in Duluth and will be followed by Mr. Southworth of the Howard Divinity school, who will remain three Sundays.

•••Ernest Lachmund will again give the people of Duluth a musical treat of importance, the artist with whom he has made arrangements being the great violinist Remenyi. He will be accompanied by W. H. Fessenden, the well known tenor, and several lady singers of note.

•••H. J. Hart, who for a year past has been the telegraph operator in The Herald office, will in a few days sever his relations here to spend the summer at the home of his parents in Battle Creek, Mich., after which he will go on an Eastern circuit.

•••Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Manus of West Duluth returned yesterday from a visit with friends at White Bear.

•••Among those from out of the city who attended the Hardy Hall musical last evening were Judge Brisbin of St. Paul, who has been in Duluth the greater part of the week, and Mr. Green of Superior. Both have daughters at the school who took part in the program.

•••J. S. Lymen of Cleveland, Ohio, is looking over West Duluth and may decide to locate there.

•••Dr. David H. Agnew of Philadelphia, one of the greatest surgeons in the country, is dead.

•••A party of fifteen made a trip to the Mesaba range yesterday and visited the Hale, Kanawha, Cincinnati, Biwabik and Canton properties. The bottom has fallen out of the sleighing on the range. At Mesaba station a four-horse sled, a two-horse wagon and a pair of saddle broncbos afforded transport for the party and those in the sled had the hardest trip. The party was made up as follows: George Atkins of Humphreys & Co., chaperone; O. D. Kinney, duke of the divide, assistant chaperone; Col. Bob Carr of West Virginia, official story teller; Gen. P. W. Hardin of Kentucky, legal counsel and attest for Bob; Judge Torrance and C. W. Shepherd of Minneapolis; T. F. Singiser and F. A. Stratton of Tennessee; Col. A. B. Jones and C. E. Lovett of Duluth, eavesdroppers; James E. York, guide, philosopher and friend; C. C. Brown, C. F. Macdonald and J. Adam Bede, broncho riders.

•••Fred C. Gilbert, late money order clerk in the postoffice, is now connected with the Security bank. Swan Hanson succeeds him in the postoffice.

READING ALOUD.

Hildegarde Hawthorne in March St. Nicholas: I was looking through the biography of an English statesman the other day, the earlier pages of which are devoted to a description of his wife's childhood in the old Scotch castle where she was born and brought up. The picture of the life there was charming in many ways, so simple and healthy and full of outdoor fun and jolly companionship between the host of brothers and sisters. But one thing particularly struck me, and that was the delightful custom that obtained among these children of reading aloud to each other on stormy afternoons or during the evening. Their meeting place was the great, central hall, and its huge fireplace at one end, with large fur rugs outspread before it, and wide seats drawn close to it. Here, after long rides and tramps over the heathery hills, for these young Scots were passionately fond of an active existence, they would gather as twilight fell. A lamp swung on a chain above one of the seats, and under this, turn about, one of the children sat and read aloud to the rest. They read the Border ballads, and tales of adventure and of history; they read the lives of great men and gallant stories of travel by land and sea. Round about them the vast spaces of the ancient hall, panneled in dark woodwork and hung with tapestry, grew dimmer and more mysterious in the gathering dusk. Outside perhaps a wintry storm went wailing, slapping its wet wings against the long windows. In the warm circle of light created by the flaming logs and glowing lamp, the eight or ten children, all lusty and handsome, lay or sat, some of the busy carving or embroidering, others idle and dreaming, and listening as the reader turned silent print to living words. Scott was writing his romances at that time, and a new volume by the "Wizard of the North," as he was called, was eagerly welcomed. The shadowy old hall must have been a fine place for hearing his stories. Easy to imagine one heard the tramp of armed feet and hoarse voices of command in the court without. Rebecca might have stood in one of those very windows and threatened to leap to death if grim Brian, the Knight Templar, came a step nearer. Amy Robsart and Leicester might have wandered hand in hand throughout that archway while poor Amy was still happy in the earl's love. Here the clans might have mustered in answer to the call of the wild pibroch, or the old minstrel have tuned his harp for that last lay.

At any rate, Lady John Russell, in all the happiness as well as all the sorrow of the rest of her life, never forgot those wonderful hours when she and her brothers and sisters read, and talked together of what they had read, before the warm hearth. More than that, she kept up the custom, and she and Lord John used to read to each other whenever they could find leisure; for Russell's life was crowded with work. They read many old books, and they read the new ones. Thackeray and Dickens were writing then. Wordsworth, Tennyson and Jane Austen. Russell would lay aside the heavy cares of state, cares his wife understood and shared with him, and the two would laugh like children over "Pickwick" and "Martin Chuzzlewit," or thrill over the lovely poems that were so new to the world.

Existence an Aim.

Mazzini: Life is a mission. Every other definition of life is false, and leads all who accept is astray. Religion, science, philosophy, though still at variance on many points, all agree in this, that every existence is an aim.

It Happens Only in Fiction.

H. G. Wells in the American Magazine: It is only in romantic fiction that a man can work strenuously to the limit of his power and come home to be sweet, sunny and entertaining.

I know a place up-country,

Just Because
I know a place up-country,
In God's great out-of-doors,
A quiet sheltered corner
On which the springtime pours
The wine of warmth and magic,
And well I know the sun
Has kissed the grove of maples,
And sap begins to run.

There are sounds and sights that money brings,
They are good to hear and to see,
But they're city sights and city sounds,
And right now they've no charm for me—

Just Because
I want to see the bluebirds
And watch a sap-snow fall,
To see the pussy willows,
And hear the robin's call;
To see the frisky chipmunks,
As oft before I've done,
I want to be up-country
When the sap begins to run.

I sit in the seats of the mighty,
And gather my share of the best,
Nor weary of toil that brings treasure,
Still, now I am filled with unrest,

Just Because
I want to see the sap-bush
And smell the wood-fire smoke,
To watch the boiling kettles,
And see the old home folk;
I'm hungry for hot sugar
And the simple, homely fun
That's sure to be up-country
When the sap begins to run.

YOUTH IS MURDERED.

Crime Committed Near Browns Valley—Indians Suspected.

Browns Valley, Minn., March 27.—Rohland Judish, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Judish of this village, was brutally murdered in a cabin two miles west of here some time Monday. His body was found in bed at the cabin in the afternoon, and there is every evidence of foul play.

Upon ascertaining that a crime had been committed the younger brother hurried back to this village and gave the alarm. Sheriff Swanson and Coroner Taplin were notified, and the former hurried to the scene to take charge of the body until an inquest could be held today. The mother is almost crazed with grief. Suspicion points to Indians and some arrests may follow soon.

SUPERIOR WOMAN'S SISTER VERY SICK.

Fargo, N. D., March 27.—Mrs. Frank Tritchler received a telegram Monday telling of the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Marion Seine, at Los Angeles. The aged lady has been there five years but was formerly of Ada, Minn. She is well known in Fargo, where she frequently visited her daughters, Mrs Tritchler and Mrs. C. E. Wilson. One sister resides at Ada and another at Superior, and a brother at Warren, Minn.

WANT TO HAVE STREET PAVED

Property Owners in Favor of Improving Twenty-first Avenue West.

Every property owner of Twenty-first avenue west is apparently in favor of paving the avenue from Michigan street to Third street. Following a campaign conducted last fall by the various property owners, it was learned that only the two churches on the avenue were opposed to the proposition. It is the plan of those at the head of the movement to present the petition signed by all the other property owners to the trustees of the two churches. The movement has met with favor among the following property owners: Swanstrom brothers, John Erickson, J. J. Moe, A. O. Anderson, A. B. Thoorsel, Modern Woodmen and several other owners.

The council has been requested to secure an estimate of the cost of paving the street from the city engineering department. It is believed that the entire cost of paving the street will amount to about $6,000.

The present campaign began last fall immediately after the building of the new car tracks from Superior street to the Grand avenue line on Third street. The tracks have not been completed as yet, because of a delay on the part of the rail mills in the East in shipping the corner switches.

A committee of the property owners will be appointed to make a special effort to secure the signatures of the members of the two churches, after which the paving of the street will be assured.

The passing of the third amendment to the city charter at the recent election now allows a payment of the assessment in annual installments for five years.

TO GIVE SERIES OF CONCERTS

Normanna Chorus Will Be Heard in Different Parts of City.

For the purpose of raising enough money to defray the expenses of the members to the annual sangerfest to be held at Fargo, N. D., early in July, the Normanna male chorus will give a series of concerts during the next two months in various parts of the city. The first of these will be given early in May at the Lyceum theater.

The annual sangerfest is attended by all the Norwegian singers of the United States and is in charge of the Norwegian Singers' Association of America. The local chorus is one of the best in the country and will take a prominent part in the sangerfest.

Plans are also being made by the members of the chorus for a celebration in honor of Norway's independence to be held May 17 at the Lincoln park. A program of new compositions recently received here from Norway will feature the program. The Normanna male chorus is being assisted in the plans for the celebration by committees representing the Sons of Norway and the Varde club. The three organizations will have entire charge of the celebration.

"BLACK BELLE MINSTRELS."

Church Women Score With Hits on Merritt-Rockefeller Controversy.

Featuring the Rockefeller-Merritt controversy, which has attracted so much attention recently, the Ladies' Aid Society of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church scored another success last evening in its production of the "Black Belle Minstrels" at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. A large audience was present and the "take-off" on the now famous iron mine tangle was the feature of the evening.

Those who took part in the performance were: Mesdames Emma Swanstrom, T. R. Hancock, Ruth Merritt, Edith Merritt, Louise Merritt, Ida Merritt, Lucien Merritt, Lottie Merritt, John Hall, Misses Emma Swanstrom and Bessie Merritt, and the Messrs. B. J. Knight, John Hall, Peter Merritt, William Swanstrom and George Maudsley.

SECOND MEETING IN EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN.

Rev. George E. Silloway of the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, conducted the second meeting last evening of the special evangelistic series to be held each evening until Easter. The church was filled with West end residents and Dr. J. G. Annand rendered two solos during the evening.

This evening Rev. M. S. Rice, D. D., of the First M. E. church, who is assisting Rev. Mr. Silloway in the evangelistic campaign, will conduct the meeting, and the Adams-Jewell quartet will give the music for the evening. The series for this week will end with the meeting tomorrow evening, and will start again next Tuesday evening, continuing from then to the end of the week.

Entertains at Tea.

Mrs. A. O. Anderson of 2527 West Fifth street entertained a number of her West end friends at a tea last evening. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Rev. Edward Erickson, P. G. Hanson, P. L. Morterud, J. Thygeson, H. Hanson, J. Howard, A. O. Anderson, T. Wright, S. Olson, and the Misses Lydia Olson. Millie Olson and Hannah Olson.

Entertains Friends.

Mrs. H. C. Wenstad, 2027 West Seventh street, entertained for a number of her frieds at her home yesterday afternoon. Those present were the Mesdames Iverson, Sorenson, Howard, Strom, Otterson, Jorgenson, Carlson, Wenstad, Hanson, Lund, Wolden, Nelson, Hanson, Larson, Olson.

Will Present Play.

The Delta Gamma Club of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, is rehearsing "Cinderella," a comedy playlet to be presented within a few weeks. The play was chosen at a meeting of the club two weeks ago, and the cast is now rehearsing the various parts. The following members of the club are in charge of the production: Mrs. Mae Baillie, Mrs. Erminine Hutchinson, Mrs. George D. Jewell, Mrs. Milton Fish, Mrs. J. H. Giffin and the Misses Clara Goodhand, Mamie Low and Enid Shaw.

Initiate New Members.

Duluth Assembly No. 595, Equitable Fraternal union, held its regular meeting last evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. A large class of new members was initiated and a short social session was enjoyed by the members immediately following the business meeting. The lodge was organized two months ago with a charter membership of thirty and now has sixty active members.

West End Briefs.

The Rebecca Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, will be entertained by the young ladies' guild of the church in the guild rooms tomorrow evening.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson has returned from Orr, Minn., where she spent the past two weeks visiting relatives.

Mrs. A. L. Meiggs of Minneapolis is a guest this week at the home of Mrs. A. L. Tete, 2713 West Huron street.

Rev. W. E. Harmann of St. Peter's Episcopal church will conduct the last Lenten meeting at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Bert Oscar, superintendent of schools at Washburn, Wis., was a guest yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Simonson, 2102 West Superior street.

Rev. E. J. Nordeen of Port Wing, Wis., is a guest for several days at the home of Rev. C. G. Olson, 2305 West Third street.

The choir and male chorus of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, met at a joint meeting last evening.

Rev. K. E. Peterson of Lund, Wis., will address the Men's club meeting of the Swedish Mission church to be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church was entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Ledingham, 1927 West Third street.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Swedish Mission church was entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Peterson, 516 Fifteenth avenue east.

STORK WAY AHEAD.

Births Far Exceeded Deaths in North Dakota Last Month.

Bismarck, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sixty-six births during February was the record of Grand Forks county, according to the report of the state board of health. In the same month the county only had thirty-one deaths. Benson county takes second place with thirty-nine births.

There were 892 births in the state and 265 deaths. There were eight cases of tuberculosis and 2 fatalities! 21 cases of smallpox, 18 cases of typhoid fever, 20 of diphtheria, 9 of measles and 19 of whooping cough, with no fatalities, while there were 44 cases of scarlet fever, with 4 deaths. Of the scarlet fever cases, Barnes county had 23.

SPENDS HIS COIN; THEN FIRES BED

Munising Man Sets Fire to His Bed and Is Smothered.

Negaunee, Mich., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nelson Peterson, formerly employed at Munising, who has been living at the Little Lake hotel since March 5, selected an unusual method to shuffle off. He set fire to his bed in the hotel and smothered to death. The hotel nearly caught fire. It is said Peterson had been drinking and had expended all of his money, about $100, in riotous living.

The landlord of the hotel called Peterson at 6:30 o'clock Monday as usual and he answered and seemed all right. He did not come down as usual, however, and at 7:30 the boarders smelled smoke coming from the upstairs rooms. They rushed up and found Peterson lying on his bed wrapped in flames, and in a dying condition. He expired before the flames could be extinguished. He had opened his lamp and poured the kerosene on the mattress and bed clothes. He lighted the fire with a match.

CITY'S ACTION BEING ATTACKED

Injunction Sought to Prevent Grand Forks Reaching Out.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The law changing the time of the city elections during presidential election years, when the presidential primary preference election is held, does not affect the date upon which the officials take office, and threatened complications in several cities are thus averted.

The city charter law places the third Tuesday in April as the time that city officials take office, and no change in that provision is included in any measure passed by the last legislative assembly.

Injunction Is Sought.

This morning the question of this city's right to extend its corporate boundaries was raised in the district court upon an application for an injunction restraining the city from proceeding with the addition of the new territory. The plaintiffs contend that the city is without power to extend its boundaries, such an act being legislative in its nature, and therefore the duty of the legislature, which cannot be delegated to a corporation body such as a city council.

BURIED AT ASHLAND.

Soo Engineer's Helpmeet Who Dies at Minneapolis, Interred.

Ashland, Wis., March 27.—The last rites were pronounced here this afternoon for Mrs. John McKie, wife of a well-known Soo engineer, who died in Minneapolis. She formerly resided in Ashland and was a sister of Mrs. J. K Parish, wife of Judge Parish.

LESS SALOONS IN EAST GRAND FORKS

Reduction in Number From Forty-Eight to Thirty Expected.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be a decrease of about a dozen saloons in East Grand Forks April 15, as a result of the action of the city council in raising the license fee from $500 to $1,000. There may be a further decrease because the council may refuse to grant licenses in certain instances, and, instead of forty-eight saloons as at present, the number may be reduced to between twenty-seven and thirty.

Next Saturday evening the council will give first consideration to the license question, there being thirty-one applications on file. About five or six more are expected, the other saloon operators of the city having decided to go out of business as a result of the increased license fee that is demanded.

The ordinance which has been introduced and bearing upon the restaurant question, is particularly interesting and promises to be effective in stirring up local conditions quite generally. The ordinance prevents the operation of saloons and restaurants with connecting doors, with the forfeiture of the license as the penalty for violation. The ordinance will be up before the council at its next meeting.

LA FOLLETTE CONSERVATIVE,

Declares Congressman Lenroot in Speech at Elkhorn, Wis.

Elkhorn, Wis., March 27.—Congressman Irving L. Lenroot of Superior, speaking here last night for the candidacy of La Follette for president, said:

"I ask you to compare the records of President Taft and La Follette. What has been accomplished by him in the United States senate is also familiar to every citizen of Wisconsin. Some say that La Follette is radical. He is the most conservative force in politics today."

Completes Twenty Years' Service.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. D. Bacon of Grand Forks will next month terminate a continuous service of twenty years as a member of the board of education of this city. At the end of his present term in office Mr. Bacon retires from the work.

In 1892 he was first elected as a member of the board, and every two years since that time he has been re-elected.

WASHBURN COUNTY, WIS., OFFERS GREAT ATTRACTIONS TO SETTLERS

Cheap Lands, Fertile Soil, Pure Water, Salubrious Climate and Ready Transportation Form Alluring Combination.

Famous for Potatoes and Other Farm Products

This county is excelled by no other in Northern Wisconsin as regards the combined advantages which it affords for the man who intends to follow agriculture as his life work. Other states may excel in certain products, some may have milder climates but none can satisfy more of the essential demands of the prospective settler. Of what use is rich soil or low priced land to the man whose family is suffering from impaired health due to an uncongenial atmosphere or contaminated water supply? And of what use are abundant crops without the means of reaching a market. The practical farmer who ponders these questions and others of importance to the happiness and well-being of himself and family had best pay a visit to Washburn county and investigate its many advantages before locating elsewhere.

There is an increasing demand for the cut-over lands of this county as their productiveness becomes more generally known. This fact causes the price to steadily advance though there are still lands for many settlers at very reasonable figures. And the average fertility of the soil is too well established to require extended discussion. Much of this land is not as well adapted to grain farming on a large scale as land in the prairie states but much greater profits may be realized here by following other branches of husbandry. Instances are occasionally cited in other new sections where a single crop of grain paid the purchase price of the land but the writer has heard of no other authentic case equal to that of the farmer who came to this county in the fall of 1910, purchased land at $10 per acre and the next season, planted a number of acres to potatoes which yielded him a net income of $150 per acre. Many other farmers had similar experiences. Yields of 400 bushels per acre were not infrequent while the average was about 250 bushels per acre. As prices ranged from 50 cents to $1 per bushel, the farmer with a few acres of potatoes enjoyed a comfortable income from that source alone. The quality of the potatoes grown in this county is unexcelled and the Washburn county product already commands a premium in city markets. Up to November 1, 279 carloads of last season's crop of potatoes had been shipped from this county but shipments have been almost continuous since that date and the total exportation of this crop for the season will be much in excess of those figures.

Diversity of Products.

Potatoes are not the only crop which the Washburn county farmer may depend upon growing successfully though this staple has received more attention than any other cultivated crop. All kinds of roots and vegetables grow in abundance and find a ready market while any surplus will always be useful for feeding to livestock. All kinds of grain are grown to some extent, the yield and quality being excellent, but as yet these crops are grown only for home consumption. Some tremendous yields of Indian corn were reported last season, and with careful selection of seed and proper culture, this will soon be regarded as one of the staple products of the county. Stockmen have been growing fodder corn for years, but are now realizing that the grain may be depended upon as well as the forage.

All kinds of cultivated grasses thrive here and the yields of timothy and clover are unsurpassed, the same lands producing abundant crops year after year without reseeding. White clover is a volunteer crop which springs up everywhere and provides the best of pasturage throughout the season. As grass is always fresh and green when not covered with snow, the grazing season is fully as long as in most places where little or no snow falls. The superior nutrition derived from the grass grown here should not be overlooked; livestock fed exclusively on grass or hay will always be found in thrifty condition.

A country which abounds in succulent grasses and forage crops is naturally sought by the stockraiser and dairyman. The presence of pure, running water on nearly every section of land adds to the attractions of this county for stockraising. Cattle, sheep and swine thrive with less care than in a prairie country and the quality of the dairy products is unsurpassed. Three creameries operating in this county during the year 1911 disbursed $115,000 among their patrons. Regular shipments of cream were made from several stations to points outside the county and, including the butter made in private dairies, it may be safely estimated that the cows of this county paid their owners fully $150,000. Considering that the dairy industry is still in its infancy and the opportunities for expansion practically unlimited, this is by no means an insignificant item. The herds are being increased from year to year and at least two more creameries will be operated the coming season. Some sixty or more farmers have constructed silos in this county as an accessory to winter dairying.

Aside from its timber, other natural products still provide a considerable income to the people of Washburn county. The annual crop of blueberries varies from 20,000 to 30,000 crates and sells for sums aggregating from $35,000 to $45,000. The shipments of Christmas trees and evergreen wreaths sometimes amount to thirty car loads in a season. Cranberries grow wild at a number of places in the county and several large swamps are now being improved by experienced growers with a view to engaging in the culture of that fruit on an extended scale.

Sugar beets are grown with marked success and for several years past regular shipments amounting to a number of car loads have been made from Shell Lake and Sarona to the beet sugar factory at Chippewa Falls.

In most cases the purchaser of wild land in this county will find plenty of standing timber for fuel and fencing and often enough for the construction of his own buildings. If he possesses any mechanical skill his necessary expenses for these improvements need be but slight. If he has a taste for sport he can gratify the same while supplying his table with game and fish and will seldom find it necessary to leave his own premises to do so. An invigorating climate and plenty of the purest water insure a minimum of doctors' bills, and, in short, few locations offer such opportunities for the man with small capital to get a start, while there are also many attractive investments for the man of means.

SHELL LAKE

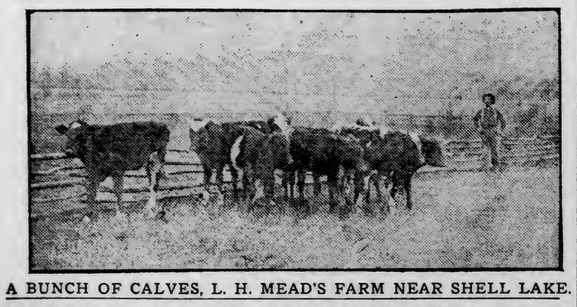
Judicial Seat and Center of Rich Farming District.

Dairy Interest Is Well Developed.

This village with a population of 1,000 or more is one of the most prosperous towns in that class to be found in Northern Wisconsin. Originally a lumbering center exclusively, the cessation of that industry on a large scale, some nine or ten years since, left the business interests in a somewhat chaotic condition for a time, as has been the case with most of the erstwhile lumbering towns of the state at some time or other. Like many other places also, Shell Lake has emerged from this period of business depression and has become the trading center of an extensive agricultural and dairy section.

In recent years, the population of the village has shown a healthy growth and no habitable buildings are vacant. While its situation on the lake shore is an admirable one for a summer resort, it is also a very desirable place for an all-the-year home The prosperity of the people is illustrated by the fact that practically every business place is occupied by its owner, a circumstance which may be found in few other towns of the state. The optimism of the citizens concerning the future of the town was shown in the erection, last season, of the Arcade block, a double brick building with stone foundations and Colfax stone trimmings. The building consists of two stories and basement and occupies ground space 50 by 50 feet. It is owned by stockholders of the Bank of Shell Lake which was organized simultaneously with $15,000 capital. The bank occupies one-half the main floor of the building which forms one of the most substantial and best

CORN FIELD ON O. H. KJORSTED'S FARM, LONG LAKE.



A BUNCH OF CALVES, L. H. MEAD'S FARM NEAR SHELL LAKE.

The building would be a credit to many larger cities. Shell Lake owns a municipal water and light plant and maintains its streets and walks in excellent condition, the latter being of concrete throughout the business section and most of the residence streets. An accredited high school is maintained and twelve teachers are employed in the village while the school buildings are modern, heated by steam and lighted by electricity. Six churches are supported by as many religious organizations. Three rural routes and three star routes distribute mail to the rural population.

The Shell Lake Telephone company was purchased in the fall of 1911 by M. E. Albee, who has installed a thoroughly modern system giving excellent service to its patrons. Besides the local exchange serving most of the residences and business places in the village, the office of the company is a "Central" for a number of rural lines extending throughout the southern part of Washburn county and portions of Burnett county. Several additional lines will be installed this season bringing nearly every farmhouse in this territory into telephonic communication with the village.

Thriving Industries.

The Shell Lake Roller Milling company operates a modern, steam flour and feed mill with a capacity of fifty barrels of flour per day. Most of the grain consumed is grown in Washburn county and is fully equal in quality to grain produced anywhere else. Wheat brought to the mill directly from the thrashing machine last season weighed as high as sixty-one pounds to the bushel. Two days of each week are devoted to custom feed grinding which is a great convenience to the farmers of the county.

The Shell Lake Boat company manufactures boats, canoes and launches, which are marketed in all parts of the United States and the enterprise ranks third among the pleasure boat factories of the country. Thirty men are employed and, as most of the material is also produced here, the enterprise ranks among the leading industries of the town.

Though lumbering has ceased to be the primary industry, there remain many small tracts of timber which provide employment for men and teams in winter. The Lakeside Lumber Company of Shell Lake cuts 1,000,000 feet annually. Another sawmill which is a great convenience to the community is operated by William Jacobs This plant is chiefly occupied in doing custom work for farmers who cut and deliver the logs at the mill during the winter season, 800,000 feet of lumber are sawed annually and shingle and planing mills are operated in connection. The establishment was built six years ago but burned down four years later entailing a loss of $8,000. Notwithstanding this disaster, Mr. Jacobs rebuilt the plant and employs seven men in its operation. He also packs 800 tons of ice each winter and supplies the people of the village and summer visitors with this luxury, thereby employing two teams and several men. Considerable lumber is also sawed by smaller mills in the vicinity of Shell Lake and besides supplying the local demand, the shipment of lumber to other markets is an important item.

Among other shipments from this station, it should be mentioned that the Omaha Railroad company cuts 150 carloads of ice here each winter which is distributed to the different divisions of that system.

Shell Lake, the charming sheet of water from which the town took its name, is annually gaining in popularity as a summer resort. People from Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Louis, St. Paul, Minneapolis and other cities have erected permanent summer cottages on this lake and many others spend vacations here or at other lake resorts within driving distance from this place. Besides the many excellent lake fish, the trout streams near here, attract hundreds of sportsmen during the season

One of the largest department stores in Washburn county is carried on by the Shell Lake Mercantile company, an establishment which is modern in business methods as well as in its equipment. The company was incorporated ten years ago and has always enjoyed the patronage of a large portion of the people of the county. The building occupied is 66 by 80 feet and comprises two floors and a basement, stocked with an assortment of general merchandise calculated to met every demand of the people of this county. Goods sought in vain at other points can always be obtained from this establishment which would do credit to many metropolitan cities.

That the advantages of this location are appreciated by shrewd business men who are familiar with the circumstances, is illustrated in the case of the firm of Tarbox & Neuman which purchased a hardware stock here in the fall of 1911. The members of this firm are men of business experience and are proving themselves worthy of the patronage of Washburn county people. They occupy a store 22 by 60 feet and are enlarging the stock to include a first-class assortment of general hardware and stoves as well as cutlery, mechanics' tools and agricultural implements.

That the people of this county appreciate the services of trustworthy public officials is shown by the protracted incumbency of a number of positions of trust by the same individuals. Conspicuous among this number is Hon. A. L. Bugbee, who has filled the office of county judge for the last fourteen years. Judge Bugbee is the oldest practicing attorney in the county and still finds some time to give to that profession in addition to discharging his official duties. His other public service includes terms as district attorney, register of deeds and postmaster at Shell Lake.

One of the popular officials of the county is Frank A. Keeler, register of deeds, who is serving his first term in that capacity. He has lived in the county for thirteen years and has identified himself with the promoters of its development and progress. Much of his attention has been given to the improvement of a farm of 154 acres which he owns in the town of Spooner. He gives some attention to dairying and believes that this branch of husbandry will bring prosperity to many Washburn county farmers.

Hon. Andrew Ryan.

Mr. Ryan is the publisher of the Washburn County Register and the Shell Lake Watchman and is the pioneer journalist of the county. Besides carrying on a successful printing and publishing business, he has identified himself with the community in many ways, and is one of the most popular and versatile men in the county. He built the first telephone line in Washburn county and operated a local exchange for some years. He deals in land and village property and interests himself in farming and dairying as a side line, making a success of his various ventures and encouraging the development of many undertakings which are useful or educational to the people.

Numerous public trusts are discharged by Mr. Ryan with an easy grace and conscientious rectitude. He has served as sheriff of the county and for twenty-five years has filled the office of justice of the peace. Since the organization of the village, three years ago, he has been its president.

Hon. L. H. Mead.

Judge Mead has long been one of the prominent citizens of Washburn county. He has practiced law at Shell Lake for thirty years, and, with the exception of two years, has served either as probate judge or district attorney during the whole of that period. He is recognized as one of the leading attorneys in this section of the state and is interested in business as well as professional affairs. He is a stockholder in the Bank of Shell Lake and also in the Bank of Trego.

Judge Mead has improved one of the finest farms in this vicinity, consisting of 360 acres, about one-half of which is cultivated land. He is breeding Holstein cattle and other thoroughbred livestock, and giving some attention to dairying as well.

His public service includes two terms in the Wisconsin assembly and twelve years as a member of the Republican state central committee.

Farming.

It has long been known to those who gave the matter intelligent investigation that much of the best soil in the state was to be found in the southern part of Washburn county, and today that fact is apparent to everyone. Improved farms in this vicinity are now selling as high as $75 per acre, though there remains much unimproved land which can be bought from $8 per acre upwards, according to location and character of the soil.

Dairying takes the lead over all other branches of husbandry in this portion of the county and the business in this line is steadily increasing from year to year. The first creamery in the county was established here several years ago and has grown to be a very prosperous enterprise, disbursing over $60,000 among the patrons during the past year. The establishment was recently purchased by an experienced butter maker, who is preparing to enlarge the building and make this one of the best equipped creameries in the state. He will also engage in the manufacture of ice cream next season.

The interest aroused in the dairy industry is illustrated by the fact that twenty-six new silos were built in this vicinity last season. The growing of livestock for market has also achieved some importance and sixty car loads of cattle and hogs were shipped from this station during the last year. Among other notable products to which farmers are giving increased attention perhaps the most important are hay, potatoes, clover seed and cucumbers. As the price of clover seed is seldom less than $10 per bushel, the crop is a profitable one in any section so admirably adapted to the clover plant. As a rotation crop, clover fits in to excellent advantage with potatoes, as well as dairying, and keeps the soil in the best of condition. Last year the M. A. Gedney company of Minneapolis started a pickling station here and about 150 acres of cucumbers were grown. Ten thousand dollars was disbursed among the growers of this crop and the acreage will be increased for the coming year, nearly every grower having renewed his contract. The average income was over $90 per acre and one farmer received $400 from two and one-half acres.

CITY OF SPOONER

Substantial and Permanent Growth Is Typical of Northern Wisconsin's Progress.

Municipal Water and Light Plant Sets Pace for Larger Cities.

The metropolis and chief commercial headquarters of Washburn county is the bustling little city of Spooner which for a number of years past, has been steadily forging ahead in population, business activity, social development and all that pertains to civic progress.

Situated near the geographical center of this county, Spooner is ever in close touch with its numerous towns and rural communities. Ready communication with all parts is supplied by the four branches of the "Omaha" railroad which converge at this point and to which circumstance the town owed its original establishment. Being a division for all these lines of railroad, Spooner is the home of many of the company's employes and a payroll approximating $20,000 is disbursed here each month. Sixteen passenger trains arrive and depart from this station daily giving direct communication with and transportation to the principal markets of Northern Wisconsin and Eastern Minnesota. These circumstances tend to make this one of the best primary markets in the Northwest for all kinds of farm produce.

However, no city can be expected to flourish long under the sole impetus of influences outside the control of its citizens and the durable growth of Spooner may be chiefly attributed to the "pull-together" spirit which animates its citizens and business men. About seven years ago, the place was swept by a disastrous fire which wiped out most of the business establishments and temporarily threatened the existence of the town. As in the case of many other struggling cities, however, this catastrophe proved a blessing in disguise. While it meant ruin to some individuals, it inspired others with renewed determination, attracted new capital and enterprise and led to an upbuilding of a much more substantial character. The business section has since been enlarged and rebuilt almost entirely of brick giving the place a metropolitan appearance found in few cities of equal population. There are a number of substantial public buildings and modern residences are found on all the thoroughfares of the town.

Public Utilities and Improvements.

A source of justifiable pride to every citizen of Spooner is the municipal water and light plant which has become a model for emulation by many cities in distant parts of the country. Power for the operation of this plant was secured by damming the Yellow river (which flows through the town), and has been sufficient up to the present time for supplying electric lights for streets and buildings as well as for pumping all the water required in the place. Although these services are supplied to the people at very moderate cost, the revenues from the plant during the year 1911 amounted to $6,664, while the operating expenses did not exceed $1,500, thus leaving a net income of more than $5,000, which was devoted to the construction of cement crossings and other street improvements. No levy was made for street lights nor water hydrants. Estimating the cost of the former at $25 each and hydrants at $50 each (which is much below the average cost in other cities) the revenues of the plant would have amounted to $3,724 in addition to the figures given above.

One of the most active volunteer fire companies in the state is maintained and the fire loss has been very slight for several years past.

As the water flow of the Yellow river is limited and not deemed sufficient to supply the future needs of the city, a site has been purchased on the Namakagon river, nine miles north of Spooner. Surveys and estimates have been made looking to the improvement of this site and the erection of a twenty-seven foot dam is contemplated. This would afford 2,500-horse power and is considered ample to provide for the future needs of the city as well as affording power for manufacturing purposes and tend to encourage the development of industries here.

Among the noteworthy public buildings of Spooner is the city hall, a two-story brick building, which includes an auditorium with capacity for seating 500 people. The high school, built and equipped at an expense of $30,000, is a substantial brick structure which would be a credit to many larger cities and its sightly location could not be excelled anywhere. The public school system employs fifteen teachers. There are five churches and the leading fraternities are well represented.

The people of Spooner are keenly alive to the expediency of encouraging the development of farm lands of the county and it was largely due to their enterprise that the state was recently induced to establish one of its experimental farms adjacent to this city. Among the organizations calculated to advance the interests of city and country should be noted the Spooner Commercial club, the Washburn County Immigration society and the Washburn County Agricultural association. The last named organization owns forty acres of land within the city limits with an excellent half-mile race track. A grandstand has been built and work is about to begin on the erection of a stock barn to comprise ten or more box stalls and a hall for agricultural exhibits. Both these buildings will be completed in ample season for the first county fair which is to be held in the fall of 1912, and the citizens of Spooner are determined to make it a grand success.

Spooner State Bank.

One of the most reliable financial institutions of the county is the Spooner State bank, which was incorporated in 1901 with $15,000 capital. The deposits carried range from $120,000 to $125,000 and the equipments of the bank are modern, including an electric burglar proof system and a seven and one-half ton safe. The institution occupies the main floor of a two-story brick building 25 by 50 feet, in the center of the business section of the town. The officers of the bank are: J. D. Thomas, president; E. P. Baker, vice president, and E. M. Elliott, cashier.

Mr. Thomas and Mr. Elliott are interested in various measures tending to advance the common welfare of the community. They buy and sell real estate and own several farms in Washburn county. One of these adjacent to the city is being rapidly improved. It comprises 310 acres, of which 125 are now cultivated; a barn 40 by 60 feet with stone basement was built last year and a commodious farm house will be built this season. Gentlemen Thomas and Elliott are extensive potato growers and planted fifty acres to that crop last year.

One of the most reliable land dealers in Northern Wisconsin is George W. Harmon, who has long been recognized as one of the fathers of Spooner. He has probably done more than any other individual to promote the general advancement of the town. One of his early investments was a piece of land including the damsite on the Yellow river for which he refused a number of advantageous offers from individuals, preferring to hold it until the city was prepared to buy and develop the same when he accepted a nominal figure. He also owned the damsite on the Namakagon river, recently bought by the city, for which he might have realized a much higher figure by selling it to private parties. Mr. Harmon has been a member of the school board for eighteen years, donating much of his time and energies toward the upbuilding of the splendid public school system which is now the city's pride.

FRANK HAMMILL, Mayor of Spooner.

The office of postmaster at Spooner has been filled for eight years past by W. C. Crocker, an active citizen of the place since 1891. During his term the business of the office has more than doubled and now approximates $5,000 per year. He was formerly principal of the schools and has been identified with various affairs. Among the recent public movements in which he took active interest were the organization of the Washburn County Agricultural association and of the Washburn County Immigration society of which he is secretary.

Another influential member of the Washburn County Agricultural association is A. D. Burnett, who located at Spooner a few months since and is already recognized as one of the most progressive and public spirited citizens of the place. He carries on one of the largest hardware and furniture establishments in the county, occupying a double store, 50 by 110 feet. With the hardware business he combines a complete stock of agricultural implements and in connection with his furniture trade he gives special attention to undertaking, having a licensed embalmer always in attendance.

Mr. Burnett was formerly located at Galesville, Wis., and has long been engaged in bridge contracting to which he still devotes some attention. He has built many highway bridges in different parts of the country.

One of the organizers and directors of the Agricultural association is W. S. Whitehead, proprietor of Whitehead's livery. He began business here eight years ago and last season put up a new cement barn, 55 by 90 feet, which he plans to enlarge the coming summer. He keeps from eighteen to twenty-five horses and deals to some extent in horses as well. He produces much of the feed consumed in his stable on a farm of forty-six acres within the city limits which is in a high state of cultivation. He is also the only auctioneer in Spooner.

Another gentleman who is ranked among the promoters of the Agriculture association and who endeavors to encourage the development of the farm lands of the county is B. Fleming, city attorney and one of the leading members of his profession in Washburn county. He is president of the city board of education and gives his support to many undertakings looking to the progress of town and county.

Larson Bros. Land & Lumber Co.

This concern has extensive timber and other interests in several states and in Canada. Its principal interests in Wisconsin are in Pierce, Ashland, Burnett and Washburn counties. The company began business at Spooner two years ago by building a sawmill which it operates each spring and summer, cutting 15,000 feet per day. A planing mill is also operated in connection and a wholesale and retail trade in lumber is carried on.

The retail business of the company comprises all kinds of building material and contracts are also filled for the erection of buildings in Spooner and in the adjacent country. The mill is operated by steam power and employs twelve men in its operation while a number of mechanics and workmen are also required to carry on the contracting work. C. C. Larson, local manager of the business, has had thirty years' experience in lumbering and is recognized as one of the reliable business men of Spooner.

The Wisconsin Home Finding Company.

This is a unique organization recently established with main office at Spooner, the object of which is to promote direct communication between the owners of property and prospective settlers.

The organization has representatives in a number of counties in the northern part of Wisconsin, none of whom attempt to negotiate sales of land but all of whom are desirous of promoting the settlement and development of their respective localities. Most of these men are engaged in other occupations than dealing in real estate and aim to encourage direct dealings between buyers and sellers of land. The plan particularly commends itself to people who are distrustful of the methods of many land dealers and has already resulted in locating a number of families in different counties in this section of the state.

Mr. L. L. Richardson, the organizer and general manager of this company has been a citizen of Spooner for ten years past and is improving a small farm within the city limits.

Mayor Frank Hammill.

One of the most active and public spirited citizens of Spooner is Hon. Frank Hammill, publisher of the Advocate, who served for five terms as president of the village and was elected the first mayor of the city upon its incorporation, two years ago. He has been the chief promoter of many public improvements and is enthusiastic over the success of the public utilities established in Spooner. Like every successful journalist, he thoroughly believes in the potency of judicious advertising and does all in his power to disseminate information concerning the advantages and attractions of his town and county.

Mayor Hammill has always been a consistent advocate of the development of Northern Wisconsin. During the session of 1909, he represented his district in the state assembly and labored diligently to arouse interest in the state immigration bureau. He secured an advantageous change in the personnel of the immigration board but failed to secure an increased appropriation for its use through the indifference or active opposition of interests which have since recognized the expediency of an active immigration policy on the part of the state. Measures looking to the betterment of schools in the northern part of the state also received his support and he secured the passage of a bill raising the limit of highway taxes to be raised by any township from $2,000 to $3,000 annually in spite of vigorous opposition on the part of non-resident taxpayers. Mr. Hammill belongs to that type of public officials who devote all the vigor and enthusiasm to their public duties which would be given to their own personal or business affairs. In simple English, he is one of the men who accomplish their ends without the incentive of graft or personal advantage and fortunate is the community whose administrative affairs are in the hands of such men.

Minong.

This unincorporated village is a trading and shipping point for an extensive territory and its fame as a summer resort is growing with each season. Several beautiful lakes and many streams nearby attract seekers of health and recreation in increasing numbers and many people from distant cities have permanent summer cottages at these resorts. The soil is lighter than in the southern portion of the county but is unexcelled for potatoes, clover and some other crops. The growth of the potato industry is shown by the fact that the first carload shipment was made five years ago while last season's shipments of this crop amounted to thirty-five carloads. One car each of rye and beans were also shipped last season. Among other shipments in 1911, were $15,000 worth of blueberries.

The oldest dealer in general merchandise at this place is E. F. Swanson, who began business with a small stock of goods several years ago. At that time, hay, vegetables and other farm products were shipped to this place regularly for local consumption, while there is now a large surplus produced for shipment to other markets. He has enlarged his store which is 40 by 45 feet with cement basement. He puts up a quantity of ice each winter and his establishment includes a large refrigerator which enables him to handle all kinds of perishable products at all seasons.

The postmaster, S. P. Fay, has filled that position for nine years. In connection with the office, he deals in confectionery, stationery, china and glassware and notions. He served two years as chairman of the county board of supervisors and has a wide acquaintance throughout the county. He owns 800 acres of land and has commenced to improve the same.

Trego.

Above is the name of a flourishing hamlet situated almost exactly in the center of Washburn county. The place enjoys the advantage of exceptional railway transportation in all directions and several retail merchants and produce dealers have an excellent trade. The Namakagon river provides several power sites in and near the village which will, some day, stimulate the development of industrial enterprises here. A number of fine farms have been improved in this vicinity and hundreds of car loads of hay, potatoes and other products were shipped last season.

The State Bank of Trego was incorporated in 1910 with $10,000 capital and now carries deposits of $25,000. The bank building is of brick, 24 by 36 feet, and the institution is provided with a fire and burglar proof safe and modern oak furnishings. The officers of the bank are: J. H. Thompson, president; J. W. Quinn, vice president; and Charles P. Jenks, cashier. Mr. Jenks is in personal charge of the bank, but resides on a farm of 760 acres which he is improving. One-half of this is either plow land or meadow and he gives special attention to Holstein cattle and swine breeding. His barn is 36 by 72 feet with full basement, a large silo, King ventilating system and other modern features.

The Mills Mercantile company carries on a growing trade in every kind of merchandise used by its customers. The expansion of the business, three years ago, led to the erection of a new store, 40 by 80 feet, with full basement, which provides none too much room for the assortment of merchandise carried in stock. R. A. Peabody, manager of the enterprise, is also interested in agriculture and expects to plant forty acres of potatoes this season on his farm near the station.

Spring Brook.

This station is the center of a growing settlement which produces every crop known to this latitude, including considerable cultivated fruit. One hundred car loads of potatoes were shipped from the crop of 1911 and a much larger acreage will be planted this year. The first car load of wheat was also shipped last year. Shipments to and from this station amount to $40,000 per year in freight charges. Considerable lumber is sawed by portable mills in this vicinity. Among the new buildings contemplated for the coming season may be mentioned a railway station, hotel, general store and two potato warehouses.

According to the United States census of 1910, the population of Washburn county was 8,196. This was an increase of more than 45 per cent during the previous decade, while the increase for the entire state during the same period was less than 13 per cent, a circumstance which proves this county to be one of the most rapid growing sections of the state.

LINING UP FOR OFFICE

All But Three of North Dakota State Officers Seek Re-election.

Contests in Second and Third Congressional Districts to Be Lively.

Fargo, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Of the present state officers three are not candidates for office.

Governor Burke is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency and has North Dakota's ten delegates instructed for him. Some contend he may be a candidate for the governorship before the race is far along. It is popularly supposed he will be, provided L. B. Hanna is the Republican nominee.

State Auditor Brightbill announces he will retire to private life. Secretary of State Norton is ambitious to represent the Third congressional district at Washington and will abandon his place.

Candidates for Governor.

For Burke's position the Republicans have L. B. Hanna of Fargo, and J. A. Buchanan of Stutsman county, temporarily of Fargo, as the candidates.

J. A. Buchanan is a pioneer farmer and widely known over the state because of his candidacy two years ago against C. A. Johnson, who won at the primaries to be defeated afterwards by Burke.

For the position of secretary of state, succeeding P. D. Norton, who is not a candidate, Frank S. Henry of Valley City and Thomas Hall of Bismarck, are the Republican candidates. Henry was in the race up to the primaries two years ago but was beaten by Norton in a heartbreaking three-cornered race. Hall is the present secretary of the state railway commission and has been in several political positions.

Carl Jorgenson, for a dozen years an attache of the state auditor's office, is now a candidate for first place. His strongest opponent is County Auditor Felton of Pembina.

Attorney General Miller seeks re-election. There are three others who would like the position: C. A. M. Spencer of Grafton, a former attorney general. Attorney Shaw of Mandan is also in the race and the latest candidate is A. J. Bessie of Williston.

Commissioner of Agriculture Gilbreath made such a success of his office and of the industrial show at Bismarck last fall that his friends will not listen to his desire to retire to private life. Andrew Olson of Tolley and A. R. Hutchinson of Minnewaukon are other candidates for the place.

Three Seek Re-election.

E. J. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, C. G. Taylor, commissioner of insurance, Gunder Olson, state treasurer, all seek re-election. Each is serving his first term and there seems to be little question the three men will all be rewarded by a second election.

For lieutenant governor, Usher L. Burdick of Williston may seek re-election but this is regarded as doubtful. Speaker Hanley of the lower house is an avowed candidate and State Senator Overson of Williams county has been urged to enter the race.

For congress the First district, composed of the Red river valley counties, is unlikely to have but one candidate, Congressman Helgesen.

Second District Candidates.

In the second district there are already three candidates in the field, George M. Young, Former Governor White of Valley City and Judge Kirk of Bottineau. It is understood that Col. Fuller of Dawson and Editor Streeter of Linton may also formally announce their candidacies.

There is an exciting campaign in the Third district, where State Senator Simpson of Dickinson, R. G. Norton of Hettinger, Former Governor Devine, Judge Davis and Former Secretary of State Blaisdell, all of Minot, are after the honor. It will be a battle royal and the entries may be further increased by the addition of James Johnson of Minot.

There is likely to be quite a contest for the supreme court position. Attorney J. E. Robinson of Fargo is already an avowed candidate. A. M. Christianson of Towner and Siver Serumgaard of Devils Lake are mentioned as possible entrants and Judge Kneeshaw of Pembina is popularly supposed to have decided to make the race.

MANY LANDSEEKERS ARE AFTER CLAIMS

Numerous Inquiries Received About Cass County Cut-over Lands.

Cass Lake, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—There promises to be a big influx of settlers into this section this spring on the cut-over lands that will be open to settlement as many inquiries have already been received by M. N. Knoll, Immigration Commissioner Maxfield, Secretary McKenzie of the Northern Minnesota Development association and many others.

After William O'Neil, superintendent of logging for the government, has checked up the cleared lands, lists will be prepared of such lands, reserving those needed for logging roads to log other tracts farther from landings. When these lists are ready, Mr. O'Neil will file them in the local United States land office. From the moment these lists are filed all the lands listed, therein, are subject to settlement under the homestead laws, but not yet subject to entry.

Intending homesteaders in order to be ready to make immediate settlement on the lands, in order to stand an equal chance with others, ought to have their lands selected in advance and be ready at a moment's notice to enter them and make settlement.

The bona fide settler who gets on the land can win out against all comers, provided he does not enter the land before the list is filed. If he make settlement, before the list is filed, he will be treated as a trespasser and will lose his rights as against the first settler who complies with the rules.

It is expected that the list of lands to be opened for settlement will be filed between the middle of May and the end of the first or second week in June.

The Opening Lists.

It is stated that the opening list will contain the lands cut-over this last winter in the following towns: Township 148, range, 27, and township 148, range 28, most easily reached from Deer River, or Blackduck by team. Nearest postoffice Max, township 146, and township 147, ranges 31 and 32, situated in the southeastern corner of Beltrami county, a few miles north of Cass Lake, and most easily reached from here. Township 148, range 26, will have two sections, and is near the Itasca logging road, out of Deer River.

CROW WING PLANS FINE FAIR DISPLAY

Prizes Will Be Offered By Commercial Club for State Fair Exhibits.

Brainerd, Minn., March 27.—Crow Wing county this year will have an exhibit at the state fair that may eclipse anything of other northern counties. The Commercial club has designated a special fair exhibit committee to take up the matter with the farmers and to ask their aid in making it the best ever had at the state fair.

The committee is preparing a substantial list of first and second prizes to be offered for the best exhibits of the following products:

Prizes for Best Exhibits.

Early Ohio, Carmen No. 3, Pingree and Burbank potatoes, yellow and white bent, Minnesota No. 13 and other standard varieties of field corn, including sweet corn and pop corn; oats and wheat of standard varieties, rye, barley, flax, buckwheat, speltz, clover, timothy, alfalfa and other natives grasses, onions, carrots, parsnips, turnips, beets, rutabagas, pumpkins, squash, melons, kohlrabi, cauliflower, celery, peas, beans, apples, plums, grapes, dairy products and honey. There will also be offered a substantial cash prize to the boy or girl between the ages of 12 and 18 years who will grow the best acre of corn.

The special state fair committee is composed of ex-Mayor R. R. Wise, George A. Keene, Alderman James M. Elder, Former County Superintendent of Schools J. A. Wilson, Clerk of the District Court W. A. M. Johnson.

The townships of Fairfield, Perry Lake, Dean Lake, Klondike, Rabbit Lake and Ross Lake are figuring on building a highway which is to extend from the northern limits of Fairfield township to Rabbit Lake, necessitating the building of a bridge across the Rabbit Lake narrows.

FERGUS FALLS M. E. CONFERENCE MEETS

JUNIOR SHORT COURSE.

Effort to Interest Young People in Agriculture in Polk County.

Crookston, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A genuine campaign is being carried on in Polk county to get the younger people interested in agriculture, gardening in the cities and poultry raising. Following the commencement exercises at the Crookston school of agriculture last week, a junior short course opened Monday and continues throughout this week with a large registration.

In conjunction with a city committee five talks on gardening, tree planting, lawn making, poultry raising and yard decorating will be given in the Commercial clubrooms beginning tomorrow night and continue through April by Professors Brown and McCall of the agricultural farm. At the conclusion a list of prizes aggregating several hundred dollars will be given to the young boy or girl who shows the best results in the middle of the summer in each of the divisions taken up. The idea is to use vacant lots for gardens and replace weed patches with flower beds, furnish healthy diversion for the children, help solve the high cost of living by gardening and beautify the city in one concerted movement.

GOOD ROADS BANQUET.

Automobile Men of Thief River Falls Start Ball Rolling.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last evening the owners of automobiles in this city gave a banquet to which they invited several auto owners from neighboring towns. The purpose of the gathering was to establish a common bond of action among the workers for good roads and to secure uniform and immediate results along the line of road repairing in this section of the state. The Hotel Evelyn served the banquet and a program of toasts was presented and responded to by men from this and other cities.

The country hereabouts is level and has many splendid stretches of highway, but there is vast improvement in all of the roads in this prairie portion of the Northwest. Steps will be taken to improve the main lines of travel between the various towns in order that the social features of this banquet may assert themselves and that members of the local clubs in the nearby towns may have opportunity to visit their neighbors in adjoining counties.

ACCUSED MURDERER TO FIGHT CHARGE.

Brainerd, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oscar Pearson of Minneapolis, a brother of William Pearson, accused of the murder of George C. Douglas, the Pequot homesteader, was in Brainerd and had a long conference with his brother. He told William to stop talking to people. Minneapolis counsel is to be secured to defend the accused.

LEAVES EIGHT CHILDREN.

Mrs. Anna D. Robinson, Pioneer of St. Cloud, Is Called.

St. Cloud, Minn.. March 27.—The funeral of Mrs. Anna D. Robinson, wife of Joseph B. Robinson of this city, who died Sunday, was held this morning. Mrs. Robinson was 61 years of age and has resided in this section of the state for the past thirty years. She leaves eight children, Percy, George, Lily, James, Katie, Charles, Joseph and Mrs. Frank Hankes of St. Paul.

Smallpox in Alberta.

Medicine Hat, Alta., March 27.—Twenty-three cases of smallpox are reported in a farming settlement ten miles north of Suffield, Alta. Mounted police have quarantined the district.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Menominee—Miss Signa Hilda Fosberg of Palestine, Menominee county, died in a hospital in Chicago of an internal hemorrhage. Blood transfusion was planned in the hope of saving her life, but the young woman passed away before the trial could be made.

Negaunee—Henry Martinson, formerly a miner in Negaunee, for the past few months a patient at the Morgan Heights sanitarium, died Monday of tuberculosis. He was 30 years old, and leaves a wife and a family of young children, who reside in the Teal Lake location.

Marquette — Articles of incorporation have been filed with County Clerk Jenks by the Societa Di Mutuo Soccorso Lombardo Veneta of Negaunee, a fraternal organization, the only requirement for membership being that the candidate must be a native of Lombardo or Veneta. The head offices of the society will be in Neagunee. The directors are Celso Bianconi, Gusparo Zanella, Andeline Cazzauniga, Giulio Pizzato and Eugenio Fossetto.

Ishpeming—Practically every resident of West Ishpeming, North Lake and the Dexter locations have signed a petition asking that a rural free delivery route, to include the territory mentioned, be established. The petition will, within a few days, be sent to Washington.

Marquette—Miss Hjordis Eklund, for the past year nurse for the Visiting Nurse association, has resigned, to take effect about the middle of June. Miss Eklund expects to go to Boston to take up work in connection with the Instruction District Nursing association, of which her sister is a staff member. Miss Eklund's successor has not yet been decided upon, but it may be Marie Gustafson.

Ishpeming—The funeral of Andrew Kilpatrick, who died in Rochester, Minn., after a brief illness at the Mayo Bros. hospital, was held Tuesday afternoon from the home, 115 Genesee street, with services at 1:30, the Rev. Bates G. Burt of the Episcopal church officiating. The body was taken to Saginaw for burial, Mrs. Alice Kirkpatrick, the widow, accompanying the body.

Negaunee—David F. Foley, chief of police for the Oliver Iron Mining company, whose headquarters are in Hibbing, was in town Monday on official business and incidentally calling on old friends, this being his former home.

Marquette—Deputy Warden T. B. Catlin of the Marquette prison and son, Austin Catlin, have returned from Detroit, bringing "Bad Bill" Leftridge, a negro, who is returned for having violated his parole by getting into a saloon shooting fracas. Leftridge was sent to Marquette in November, 1906, to serve from five to ten years. He was paroled last November at the expiration of his minimum sentence.

Calumet—Ed Perry, single, aged 35, died Sunday afternoon in a room in Brown's saloon and boarding house at the Delaware location, Keweenaw county, following, it is believed, exposure to the cold Sunday morning and shock to his system. Perry, who had been employed in the Buschnell camps near Copper Harbor all winter, came to the Delaware about a week ago.

L'Anse—Charles Gustave Johnson, one of the highly respected old residents of Arvon township, passed aawy at his home five miles from Skanee. Deceased was born in Christiania, Norway, Sept. 22, 1840. There he was united in marriage to Miss Josephine Carlson, and to them have been born eleven children, eight of whom are living.

Ontonagon—Joseph Benjamin of Ontonagon, who is believed to be the oldest resident of the county, has been seriously ill with dropsy and heart trouble for the last two weeks, and little hope is entertained for his recovery. Mr. Benjamin was born at the Baraga county mission more than ninety-seven years ago, and lived in that county until a young man, when he moved to Ontonagon.

Lake Linden—Mrs Oliver Rheaule died Sunday at her home in Lake Linden. She had spent the last year and a half in a chair, being unable to lie in bed during all that time. The deceased was 47 years old and had spent many years at Bootjack, coming to Lake Linden five months ago.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

River Falls — Fourteen acres adjacent to the grounds of the local state normal school, known as the Blood property, has been purchased by the board of regents for $4,000. A school of agriculture will be conducted in connection with the normal as an educational agricultural school to prepare teachers to teach agriculture and kindred subjects.

La Crosse — William O'Toole, aged 40, a city fireman, is dead here after a six months' illness. A hose wagon served as a hearse at the funeral Tuesday.

Eau Claire — The Phoenix Manufacturing company has completed and set up a large irrigation plant for the Laursen Automatic Pump company, and which is to be shipped to Manderson, Wyo. It will work under a fall of twenty-feet and will deliver 2500 gallons per minute and will irrigate 188 acres eighty feet above the level of the pump. The weight of the pump is estimated at 16,000 pounds.

Washburn—Ludwig Wroninski, a Polander, was robbed of $200 in currency when some person entered his home and rifled the pockets of a coat in which the money was kept. In order to cover up the theft the burglar attempted to burn the pocket of the coat. The money stolen was two $100 bills.

Eau Claire—A large consignment of mill machinery was shipped to Hong Kong, China, on Saturday by the Phoenix Manufacturing company of this city.

Madison—Announcement is made by the managers of the Daily Cardinal, the university publication, that a twenty-four page edition will be edited by the co-eds on April Fool's day, when the university paper is turned over into their hands.

Eau Claire—A conference was held at the Y. M. C. A. by representatives of the Hudson, Augusta, Chippewa Falls, Cameron, Rice Lake, Fairchild and Eau Claire associations to prepare a circuit for a series of educational lectures.

Ashland—The health department has announced that it would compel all persons selling milk in the city of Ashland to furnish certificates from a veterinarian showing that cows were free from tuberculosis.

Milwaukee—Miss Dorothy Schwalbach, aged 20, pleaded guilty Monday to forging a check for $62.50. She said she had been urged to the crime by her fiance. The girl was placed on probation for one year.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Stillwater—The state boards of parole and control are expected to visit the state prison next Monday. One body will consider parole petitions and the others will consider other matters, including interviews with inmates. The meeting of the parole board has been delayed owing to the absence of Warden Henry Wolfer.

St. Cloud—The board of parole will be at the St. Cloud reformatory Thursday and Friday of this week and Warden Henry Wolfer will be here as one of the members.

Crookston—At the suggestion of Supt. C. G. Selvig of the Crookston School of Agriculture, a series of five addresses will be given free at the Commercial club rooms, one each week for five weeks, the first to be given next Thursday evening. The lectures will be given by Prof. C. P. Brown on poultry, and Prof. McCall on gardening, lawn making and lawn decoration.

Bemidji—Two new schools were voted by the county school board at its meeting Saturday. They will be located in 160-33 and 155-31. The meeting was attended by County Superintendent Stewart, George French and A. A. Rako. The schools are in unorganized towns.

Crosby—Dr. Beardsley has resigned as physician in charge at the hospital and has opened an office in the Young block. Dr. F. H. Monahan of Salt Lake City, Utah, now has charge of the hospital.

Holt—W. R. Hoag, chief engineer of the great Mud Lake drainage work, was here recently. He says that fifty-five miles of road in the new country have been designated as state highways and will soon begin the drawing of state aid. The greater portion of these highways runs through Agder township.

Rochester—Fifteen applicants have been made to the city council for licenses to sell intoxicating liquors in Rochester for one year, beginning with April 1.

Fergus Falls—Norman Perkins, formerly superintendent of the Tenth district of the railway mail service, who was transferred to Washington a year ago, following the strike of the railway mail clerks, died March 19 in Washington from pneumonia.

Brainerd—The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Scott, wife of William E. Scott, was held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of a sister, Mrs. George Bisiar, 208 North Broadway and at 2:30 from the Methodist church, where Rev. Charles Fox Davis officiated.

Stillwater—President George E. Vincent of the state university delivered an address Monday evening at the armory. The affair was given by the Booster club and the Washington-St. Croix Farmers' club with men and women as invited guests. President Vincent's theme was "The Sense of the City."

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Bismarck, N. D.—Deputy County Register of Deeds A. P. Anderson received word Sunday of the death of his father, Ole Anderson, at the family residence, ten miles southeast of Williston. Death came very unexpectedly, the deceased having been ill only two or three days. Ole Anderson had been a resident of Burleigh county for the past twenty-six years. He came from Goodhue county, Minn., April 1, 1886.

Fargo, N. D.—The closing session of Exalted Ruler McDonald's term of office in the Fargo lodge No. 260 of the B. P. O. E. was a great success and largely attended. More than 200 members were present to witness the ceremonial session and the initiation.

Williston, N. D.—The Rumely Farm Implement company has secured a building site and will erect a warehouse here. It was stated that the building would be 50 by 100 feet, but no other information was given out about it.

Bismarck, N. D.—Governor John Burke has received urgent invitations to attend and speak at the Jefferson banquet to be held at Des Moines, Iowa, April 13, and at the big Jefferson meeting to be held at St. Paul on the 15th. Both meetings will be attended by several of the most prominent men in the United States.

Minot, N. D.—Hoping to find some trace of his long lost father, John A. Watts, of Sioux City, Iowa, has written to President Halvorson of this city requesting him to find, if possible, some trace of Ben Watts. According to young Watts' letter, he has not seen his father for nearly twenty years. He says he came to Minot and that he filed on a homestead.

Fargo, N. D.—Rev. Frederick G. Echner, the new pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, arrived Tuesday with his family from Covington, Ohio, where he has occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church there.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Alexander McDonald, a brother of Sam McDonald, formerly in the drug business in Grand Forks, has just been promoted to the position of assistant superintendent of the Alaska Steamship company. He has been with the organization about twelve years.

Dickinson, N. D.—Conductor Satchell of this city was knocked senseless and sustained a three-inch cut on top of his head while on top of a boxcar in a train backing in on a siding at Beach. The injury necessitated three stitches to close the wound and though painful will have no serious results.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The work of preparing the premium list for the Grand Forks fair is progressing very satisfactorily and within the next thirty days it is expected that the list will be published and be ready for distribution. The list this year will be a decidedly good one, and will cover every variety of exhibits, insuring the success of the fair, which will be held July 30 and 31 and Aug. 1 and 2.

A Reasonable Plea For the Stomach

If Your Stomach Is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work?

Especially When It Costs Nothing to Try.

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach? Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives.

London, 9th Aug., 1905

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose), manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., 86 Clerkenwell Road, London, E. C., and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adaptable for the purpose for which they are intended.

John R. Brooke, F. I. C., F. C. S.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, as is shown by the recommendations of 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of the active principle in these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

A Splendid Tonic

Cora, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Moore, of this place, says, "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui, and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited, from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful tonic medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable, Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. The KING of BLOOD PURIFIERS

As the Lion is Monarch of the Forest, so S. S. S. is King of Blood Purifiers and Master over all Blood diseases.

Pure, rich blood and a free circulation is the surest prevention against the diseases and disorders which are constantly attacking our physical systems. Healthy blood stimulates the excretory members and enables them to filter out of the system everything that is not necessary or beneficial to the growth and development of the body. Thus we are apt to remain healthy unless there is a weakening of the vital fluid or an impure infection of the circulation.

Imperfect blood takes various forms in its outward manifestation. A weak, watery circulation denotes anaemia with its attendant evils of pale, waxy complexions, malarial conditions, or perhaps some more definitely marked disorder is shown. Frequently the blood becomes infected with acrid humors, and Eczema, Tetter, Acne, or some other skin affection makes its appearance, while an excess of uric acid in the circulation produces Rheumatism with its pains and aches. Old Sores and Ulcers are likewise dependent on bad blood, these places being kept open and in a state of irritation by the drainage of pollution which disordered blood constantly discharges into them.

Another common indication of weak, impure blood is the loss of appetite, tired, worn out feeling and a general run-down condition of the system. This is an ailment very prevalent in the Spring and most persons so afflicted realize the necessity of overcoming the trouble by the use of a tonic.

We recommend to all in need of a blood purifier or tonic, the use of S. S. S., a medicine which has proven itself the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes down into the circulation and removes all impurities, humors and poisons and makes the blood pure and health-sustaining. It purifies and strengthens weak deteriorated blood, supplies it with the healthful properties it needs and lays the foundation for good health. As a tonic S. S. S. has no equal and those who are beginning to feel the need of such a medicine to fortify themselves against the unpleasant conditions which come with Spring and early Summer, should commence its use at once. S. S. S., the King of Blood Purifiers, is a genuine blood cleanser, made entirely from roots, herbs and barks; it does not contain a particle of mineral in any form. You could not do better than begin the use of S. S. S. if from any cause your blood is weak or impure. S. S. S. cures all troubles due to a deranged circulation, and you will find it the most satisfactory tonic you ever used. Write for book on the blood and any medical advice. No charge for either.

POSTMASTER ACCUSED.

Stampseller at Aldrich Alleged to Have Shot Enemy.

Wadena, Minn., March 27.—James Lynch, who was shot Monday night at Aldrich village by Postmaster A. B Gray, is resting comfortably and the doctors believe he will recover. The bullet struck a rib near the heart and ranged around toward the back. It was removed eight inches from where it entered the flesh. Unless complications set in he will recover.

Gray was arrested at his home and is in jail here. He is charged with assault in the first degree and his hearing is being held this afternoon. There had been bad blood between the two men for some time, and the shooting was the culminating of it. A petition was recently circulated to have Gray removed as postmaster, and it is said to have increased the postmaster's enmity toward Lynch.

When Lynch entered the postoffice Monday night Gray asked him why he did not pay his bill. Lynch denied that he owed Gray anything, whereupon, it is alleged Gray struck Lynch with a poker. A scuffle followed, and when the men came near a desk Gray is said to have seized a revolver and shot Lynch.

LA FOLLETTE MAY GO INTO ILLINOIS AGAIN.

Chicago, March 27. — According to an announcement made at the Chicago headquarters, United States Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin is planning to invade Illinois on a second speech-making tour.

The La Follette managers declared that in a primary they were confident they could defeat Col. Roosevelt in Illinois, if not President Taft.

The entry of La Follette in the contest is dependent upon what kind of presidential preference primary law passes at the special session of the legislature, if one is passed. It is said that La Follette will not come to the state if the proposed bill provides for a state-wide primary. But if the act provides for a district primary, the La Follette people said they would launch an immediate state campaign.

TWO LOSE LIVES IN SASKATCHEWAN FIRE.

Prince Albert, Sask., March 27.—The bodies of two men have been recovered from the ruins of the Thistle cafe, which was burned early yesterday. They were Robert Drysdale and James Homestage, both real estate brokers, F. McLeod, proprietor, Rodney Deans and Edward Soleman, commercial travelers, were seriously injured.

Twenty-eight men were sleeping in the upper part of the building. They wandered about in the blinding smoke and flames, and finally stumbled out, one by one, through half-open doors, or hurled themselves through windows to the frozen ground.

GOLD DUST will sterilize your kitchen things and make them wholesome and sanitary

Gold Dust does more than clean—it sterilizes and leaves your kitchen things sanitarily safe. The ordinary soap-washed utensil is not fit to eat from, because soap does not cleanse as thoroughly as it should—does not kill germs of decay which are bound to lurk in oft-used utensils.

Gold Dust does most of the cleaning without your assistance, and does it, too, in a quicker and more thorough manner than will soap or other cleansers.

Gold Dust makes pot and pan spick and span.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

News and Views of Minnesota Politics

The Extra session demand.

Gov. A. O. Eberhart is being driven into a corner by the progressives, who are demanding a presidential primary. The Roosevelt and La Follette men in the Twin Cities have formed a combination to request the governor to call an extra session of the legislature for the enactment of a presidential primary law.

The governor has repeatedly stated that he is in favor of a presidential primary which shall be properly safeguarded. The only properly safeguarded presidential primary is one having the warrant of law and conducted with machinery provided by statute. Thus the demand for an extra session is based on the governor's own position on the primary.

The governor evidently doesn't intend to call the extra session. He said in an interview at Mankato last night:

"There is no warrant for an extra session unless there is a genuine necessity and demand for it among the people of the state. I have traveled over the state and have found no sentiment for it, and no emergency exists that would authorize me calling an extra session."

Wants Definite Answer.

In the meantime, Irving A. Caswell, member for Minnesota of the Roosevelt national committee, is busy writing letters to the governor. Mr. Caswell is not satisfied with the governor's general statement that he is in favor of a properly safeguarded primary. He has submitted five definite questions and has requested the governor to answer them. They are:

1. Will you state whether or not the plan we have proposed is so "properly safeguarded" that the people may be entrusted with its use?

2. If our plan does not meet with your approval, will you please point out its defects?

4. Will you request the committee to the state central committee to secure the adoption of this or of some "properly safeguarded" plan?

Will you request the committee to fix the date for the first convention on or about May 1, and for the second convention some time before July 1?

5. Will you request the committee to refrain from reducing the representation of the rural districts in the coming conventions?

Mr. Caswell's latest letter to the governor is rather caustic and is evidently intended to sting the chief executive into making a statement that will more difinitely reveal his attitude toward the primary. Mr. Caswell wrote:

"If these questions shall be found to be not sufficiently plain and specific, I shall be glad at any time to restate them. The question of the time for holding the convention ought not to be dismissed without due consideration. You will, upon reflection, realize that it can make no possible difference to residents of the cities when the caucuses and conventions are held, but farmers have fixed times when their work must be done. To call a convention even as late as the first of May will work a hardship in the country. Heretofore the first convention has been held in March or early April, and before the spring's work has been begun. To call a convention as late as the middle of May will certainly discriminate against the farmers, for they will at that time be busy with their later crops, and if the second convention be held later than July 1, it will interfere with the work of haying and harvest.

"I desire to assure you, my dear governor, that this controversy will not become at all personal except as you and your advisers may make it so. I believe that a great majority of the people of Minnesota desire to vote upon the question of presidential candidates, that they desire that the farmers be fairly treated, both as to representation in the convention and as to the date for holding the same, and when they ask that you, on account of your relation with the state central committee, use your great influence to see that they are given an opportunity to exercise a right that belongs to them, and that simple justice shall be done to the rural districts, we feel that they are entitled to a respectful hearing and also to a civil answer.

"I want to further assure you that there is not such a feverish anxiety on the part of the people that you shall again state your position upon the primary as 'well known,' as there is a demand that you specifically state your objections, if any, to the proposed primary, and to promise that you will use your best endeavors to secure justice to all the people of the state."

Smith's Opinion.

The position of the Roosevelt men on the presidential primary has been strengthened by the opinion of Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith that there is nothing in law to prevent the names of presidential candidates going on the ballots at the precinct caucuses. Mr. Caswell has also obtained opinions favorable to the primary from nearly all state officials.

The presidential primary and the early convention date will be the two points on which the Roosevelt men will make their fight at the meeting of the state central committee.

Decorating the Band Wagon.

The feeling is growing that there is a deep metive in Ed Smith's plan for a state convention date. Mr. Smith and Governor Eberhart have both stated that they will not mix the presidential and state campaigns. Mr. Smith is busily engaged in mixing them for the benefit of Governor Eberhart.

If the Minnesota convention is held about May 16, nearly all delegates to the national convention will have been selected by that time, and Smith believes that President Taft's renomination will be assured. If Roosevelt's chances have gone up in smoke by the time the Minnesota convention is held, it may be easy to start a band wagon movement to Taft, even though Roosevelt and La Follette still show strength in the convention. Uninstructed delegates might be tempted to fall into the Taft procession when certain that the procession was headed toward the nomination.

If the band wagon movement can pull Taft through in Minnesota, reflected glory will go to Smith and Eberhart. Their judgment will be declared sound in supporting the winner. Smith will be in line for national committeeman, and he probably figures that Eberhart will gain some prestige from the organization control of the first convention. Besides, a prolonged presidential campaign will help distract attention from Eberhart's weakness.

Whatever may be said of Mr. Smith, nobody has ever denied that he is a shrewd politician. Every move he makes supports that view of him.

Busy Day for Colonel.

Col. Roosevelt will make six speeches in Minnesota Friday. Arrangements have been made for ten-minute stops at Owatonna, Faribault and Northfield, while a regular twenty-minute stop will be made at Albert Lea. Mr. Roosevelt's first speech in the Twin Cities will be made at St. Paul, after which he will go to Minneapolis. Albert J. Beveridge, former senator from Indiana, will accompany the ex-president and will also make speeches at the Twin City meetings.

Taft's Supporters Jubilant.

The defeat of Roosevelt in New York and Indiana yesterday, added to the North Dakota result, is cheering to the Taft supporters. Repudiated in his home state and in the state where he spent his cowboy days, the ex-president is in an embarrassing position before the people. How his friends can hope for his nomination under those conditions is a broad question.

Weaver Out to Win.

Edgar Weaver of Mankato, who announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor, will give out his platform in a few days. Mr. Weaver will make his principal fight in the Second district, but he indignantly denies that his candidacy is for the sole purpose of defeating Governor Eberhart. He says he is in to win and will carry his campaign to the people of the state.

THREAT TO KILL PROVES UNDOING

Crookston Police Take Man Alleged to Have Blown Fisher Saloon.

Crookston, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Dude" Holberg was arrested here last evening by Deputy Sheriff Kelly and Chief Eck charged with blowing the safe in Albert Jance's saloon at Fisher Dec. 9 last when $200 was secured and a clean get-a-way made.

The arrest was made through a "tip" given by a man who feared Holberg will kill him. He would only talk after the officials had promised to keep his name out of the papers.

He states that on the night of the robbery he was sleeping off a jag in the fire hall at Fisher. He was awakened by the explosion and stuck his head out of the door to see what was up. Holberg confronted him with a gun and threatened to shoot his heart out if he did not crawl back and keep his mouth shut. He did as he was told and never spoke of the affair.

Meets Accused at Ball Club.

In the logging camps near Ball Club, Minn., he ran into Holberg again and the first time they were alone Holberg repeated the threat that he would kill him if he opened his mouth. Holberg soon left that camp and the witness saw no more of him till yesterday in Crookston and was fearful that Holberg would kill him, suspecting that he might have told. The witness reported his fears to the officials and Holberg was landed in jail.

The officials will communicate at once with the police of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth and will delay the hearing for ten days till a further investigation has been made and some clew as to Holberg's past record is obtained.

1913, and continuing until July 4, 1921, at which time the independence of the islands is to become absolute and all American troops and authority withdrawn.

Constitution for Republic.

It further provides a constitution for the "republic of the Philippines," modeled after the Constitution of the United States, and it is stated by its authors to be in full accord with the Democratic platforms upon the Philippine question".

Not very long ago a representative of American interests in the Philippines was here seeking to avert precisely this action. He saw, to my personal knowledge, every prominent candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, and urged merely that during the coming campaign the Philippine question should not be agitated. Of course, his was an ex parte or interested statement. It was the old plea that all they wanted was to be let alone. Nevertheless the reopening of the question of the independence of the Filipinos at this time will not be hailed with unqualified joy by the members of the Democratic party, in which Congressmen Jones and Garrett are really prominent leaders in congress. If their bill passes the house, as it probably will, it will add another paragraph to the record of that Democratic body on which the party must appeal to the people.

That record gets longer every day. Whether it gets stronger remains for the people to determine. But this continual invention of new issues of the awakening of issues which might well be thought to be sleeping does not please Democrats who hoped for a clearcut campaign on a few issues only.

Conditions Will Be Reversed.

It is fair to point out that in the congressional campaign of 1910 the Democrats had the advantage of being the attacking party—the Republicans were on the defensive. This year conditions will be reversed. The Democrats will have to defend everything done in the house, pension bills, tariff bills, excise tax, free sugar, and if they add to these practical measures purely Utopian projects like one providing for the practical independence of the Philippines in 1913, they will so multiply the issues before the people that no fair verdict will be rendered at the polls.

Fancy, for example, either President Taft or Col. Roosevelt on the stump—the former particularly—pressing any possible Democratic nominee for information as to the reasons for Philippine independence. Take any one of the Democratic possibilities, Clark, Harmon, Wilson, Underwood, none has ever been to the Philippines; none can for a moment meet Taft in debate on the subject.

I do not mean by this that the Taft view is necessarily the best one, merely because he is best informed. Probably Gary knows more about steel, and Morgan more about the money trust than any mere public man can ever discover, but we will not commit the control of legislation on these topics to them for quite good and apparent reasons. At present, however, the Democratic party is not able to cope with the Republicans in precise knowledge of Philippine affairs. Out of power ever since the islands were acquired, it has been deprived of opportunity to send its own committees thither to investigate conditions, and of course has had no public officials of its own faith there to report.

The Jones-Garrett bill is likely to arouse an interesting discussion. Academically it is in line with the American thought and patriotic precedents; practically it is likely to inject into the pending presidential campaign an issue which does not demand immediate determination, and which the Democrats should be better able to discuss four years hence.

Not Very Discreditable.

Newspapers in various cities are printing the New York American's statement that in fifteen years Col. Roosevelt's earnings have amounted to over $1,112,000. The sources of this income are declared to be salaries as assistant secretary of the navy, governor of New York, vice president, president, and royalties on books and other literary work. Somehow that doesn't seem so very discreditable to the colonel, if true. It all represents the earnings of ability, personal and individual. Of course, some folk in both parties might say the ability had been misdirected. At the same time the colonel might retort with a question as to the amount of Mr. Hearst's income in the last fifteen years and how much of it was derived from personal effort rather than from inherited wealth.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN GETS NEW LEASE OF LIFE.

New York, March 27. — Three years lease of life is assured to Madison Square garden, New York's greatest amphitheater. The Garden theater, a part of the big structure, has been secured by a firm of theatrical producers. This means that the rest of the building will not be pulled down until the theater lease has expired.

"No Stropping, No Honing," Big Factor in Popularity of Gillette Razor

A dealer in this city who has a large trade in Gillette Safety Razors, states that two-thirds of his customers buy Gillettes simply to escape stropping and honing. As a typical instance he cites the following:

"A ruddy-faced, middle-aged man leaned over my counter the other day and asked: 'Young man, does "No stropping—no honing" mean exactly what it says?'

"'It does, just that,' I replied.

"'Then give me a Gillette. For forty-two years I have been fussing with strops and hones and stropping devices. It's time I had a rest.'"

What the Gillette Will Do for You

Whatever your shaving habits may be, no matter how tender your skin or tough and wiry your beard, the Gillette will give you a clean velvet shave.

It will give you a light shave or close shave (closer than a barber dare give you), with no roughness, no irritation.

It is not necessary that you know how to shave yourself. You do not need to be "tool-wise" or handy. There is no stropping, no honing.

You quickly get the knack of the Gillette and you will learn little individual shave-simplifying tricks every day you use it.

The wonder of the Gillette is its adaptability—the way it meets individual needs.

Every man's face is different. Your beard is individual in the way it grows and its shaving requirements.

The adjustment of the Gillette will suit your beard and your skin. The Gillette will save you time and money and it is safe.

Think of the comfort of it; the ability to shave in two or three minutes in the morning as regularly as you wash your face. The convenience and simplicity—no litter of strops and hones. No danger of bad cuts and scratches.

Don't Put It Off—Buy a Gillette To-day

Considering all the Gillette means in comfort and economy, it should be in the hands of every man in this city with a beard to shave.

Don't be without it another day.

Ask your dealer.

If you can't go now, go soon.

The very next time you see a Gillette in a store window go in and talk to the man about it.

Examine the razor—buy it—take it home.

Standard set, $5.00 everywhere.

Pocket editions, $5.00 to $6.00.

Travellers' and Tourists' sets, $6.00 to $50.00.

Crosby, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the retention of the county seat as one of the prime objects, the reorganization of the Crosby Commercial club has been effected. In the coming general election the permanent county seat of Divide county, located temporarily in Crosby, will be selected by a vote of the people, and the Crosby boosters propose to conduct a lively campaign with the object in view of having this city selected permanently. Ambrose is the principal opposing city for the honor.

The new officers are: President, Dr. Blake Lancester; vice presidents, George Jones and A. Ingvalson; secretary, George Cudhie; treasurer, J. C. Rousseau; directors, C. J. Clark and Frank Kooster.

EDDY ESTATE IN BAY STATE BUT $266,360.

Boston, Mass., March 27.—Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, left an estate in Massachusetts valued at $266,360 as shown by the inventory just filed in the probate court. The value of the real estate at Chestnut Hill, where Mrs. Eddy made her home, is given as $125,000. Her house on Commonwealth avenue, Boston, is appraised at $30,000, and she left $111,360 in personal property. The remainder of Mrs. Eddy's estate, valued at more than $2,000,000, over which litigation is pending in the courts, is located in New Hampshire.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

JARVINEN and the famous Kid Cutler are on the cards for one of the last matches of the season. This is the first appearance here of the young Finn who has attained a large amount of fame in his own country and who is generally regarded as the greatest wrestler that the nation of the North, a country immensely fond of the mat game, has ever turned out. In stacking up against the Chicago Nonpariel the aspirant for the title held at the present time by Karl Lehto is going up against one of the greatest of all the American wrestlers. Here we know of Jarvinen only through the record he has made while in this country. Since coming to America, something like two months ago, he has not lost a single contest, upon several occasions throwing three and four heavyweights in an evening. The other night in Ishpeming the young Finnish athlete capped his American record by throwing Ivan Romanoff, the immense Russian Cossack, in decisive manner.

The ambition to meet and defeat Karl Lehto, the tough and heavy youngster who made his home in this city during the greater part of last winter, is the primary cause of Jarvinen making the trip to America. In answer to the challenge of Jarvinen, Lehto has come forward and stated that he was willing to wrestle the newcomer at the catch-as-catch-can style.

Jarvinen is said to be a giant of fine proportions and to combine strength with speed of attack. Some of the countrymen of Jarvinen who are living in this city at the present time, who have seen the young man wrestle on the other side of the water, are authority for the statement that he is by far the best wrestler that his country has ever turned out.

Gus Friluud, the impressario who has handled some of the best of the Finnish athletes of various descriptions, told the writer last winter, before the arrival in this country of Jarvinen, that the young fellow was the greatest amateur wrestler that Europe had ever turned out, and that it was because he could find no amateur wrestlers on the other side of the ocean to give him a hard contest, that he had decided upon entering the professional class.

As a trial horse one would believe that Ivan Romanoff possessed qualifications sufficient to give the man defeating him a fairly good bill of athletic health. But in Cutler, Jarvinen is going against one of the most crafty and versatile men of the mat; a chap who knows about every angle of the catch-as-catch-can game, for Charley has learned it from the mat masters, and a wrestler who possesses speed and is probably as strong as either Ordemann or Westergaard.

TIM FLYNN is at the present time the most talked of pugilist in the world. The clever press man would just as soon have you knock his star or play, just so long as this knocking finds its way into the daily press. Flynn and Curley are getting both ways. There are the Flynn knockers and there are the Flynn boosters. Between the two the Irish-Italian is getting some of the best publicity that any fighter received prior to entering hard training for a battle for the world's championship.

Some of the wisest followers of the fight game are of the opinion that the spade is at the point where he can be classed with slothful shovel. You know there is a real difference between the spade and the shovel. The battle between Johnson and Flynn is set for some time in July. When the next big Independence day rolls around it will have been two years since Johnson has fought or done anything like serious training. The cinder is hovering around the 35-year mark, and the those who say Flynn has a chance, and it is known that no athlete gets very much better after he passes the age of 30.

Jack Curley has always been a gambler in sport and he has been one of the luckiest sport handlers this country has ever produced. He paid an immense sum of money to Hackenschmidt and then played the big Russian on a shoe string, and won out. See what Flynn has done since the Chicago sport promoter took him in hand. He beat Al Kaufman, when there was not a full quiver of fighting in the country who gave him the outside chance, and then he followed with the victory over Morris, the human mountain.

When it comes to cleverness and those other attributes of greatness this Flynn man is not in the same class that Johnson was. Those who lost their green and yellow currency on Jeffries, one hot and broiling afternoon under the Nevada sun, were plunging on the Jeff that they used to know, unaware of the fact that there was but a shell of the former wonderful fighter, may hesitate before stringing on Johnson.

The Black has sure gone some since he defeated the Los Angeles boilermaker. There is always reason to doubt the stories you hear about a man in the public eye, but some of the stories coming to this column have been borne by friends of personal acquaintance, and they have had the opportunity to verify the reports current regarding the general behavior of one of the greatest fighters of all time.

Most champions have constitutions made of iron and steel fibres. That is one of the reasons why they are champions. The hardest punchers in the world could hardly rock the head of Jeffries, yet dissipation made him a pitiable object to the vast throng who watched him go down in defeat at the hands of the black. Late hours and wine, and they do say that Lil' Arthu does like it, don't help the bold athlete any, and the Johnson that faces Flynn may be a far different man from the wonderful boxer who taunted Jeffries at Reno.

Flynn is a wonder for taking punishment. He has also developed some hitting power, and if, as some of the wise ones argue, Johnson is going back and will never be the great fighter that he has been in the past, there may be something more of a fight than one would judge from the surface conditions.

YOU ASK, "Does it pay to be famous?" Maybe you have been reading one of those sterling virtue essays that are to be found in the fourth and fifth readers, and will hold to the opine that fame is not always to the lily white. Steve Brodie never did amount to much until after he dropped off the Brooklyn bridge, but after the resounding splash in the East river, Steve was able to draw down scramble stuff in copious and continuous quantities.

Little Jose Rivera, one of the lads Pal Brown names in his general denunciation of the world, has just celebrated his 20th birthday. Two years ago he was a ragged urchin in the Spanish quarter of Los Angeles. Now he is known all over the world—at least where they smoke strong black cigars and talk of pugilism. He owns a bed that cost in the neighborhood of $1,000 and several automobiles. He has so many diamonds that it is said they sweep diamond dust from the house, and a bank roll that might cause one of those deep sea green shades of envy to sweep over the noble countenance of some young and struggling millionaire.

There are few restaurants where they will make fame for the porterhouses and fried foods that are disguised under various names—but stop, look and listen! Sometimes famo plays the comeon for the captive kale, and in that case, as in the one of Rivers and Wolgast and P. T. Barnum and Doc Cook, one would feel in the mood of defiance and might stand right up in school and dispute with the fifth reader and kind teacher, declaring with the stern art of emphasis that fame paid a high rate of interest and an annual dividend.

ONE of the chief points of interest of the early spring training season is the question whether the expensive area of Marty O'Toole is going to be of salary service the present season. One reads one day of the very bad condition of the arm of the young man with fiery delivery as the saliva pill, while the next evening you pick up your paper and read that the arm that brought money into the strong box of the St. Paul club is in the very best of shape. O'Toole is a fine, manly young fellow, and it is to be hoped that he makes good in the big league. It will be an awful blow to Barney Dreyfus if he sinks all that money into a non-paying investment. If some one has to be stung it might as well be Charley Murphy.

Just point to the sign and say, "That's it."

MILLER OFFERED A LARGE PURSE

A letter received from Walter Miller today conveys the information that the little wrestler has received an offer to wrestle Yokel in Salt Lake City. According to Miller, the promoters there have offered the little St. Paul man $2,500 for his end to come West and wrestle the man Miller secured a decision over in the recent meeting at St. Paul.

"It was the hardest match I ever had, Bruce," writes Miller. "I had the better of the contest until he threw me through the ropes and I landed on my head. When I got back in the ring I did not know whether I was wrestling or playing a piano. I stalled until my head cleared and my strength began to come back, and then went in and outwrestled him until the end of the contest.

"Yokel is one of the strongest little men in the world, and the match was one of the hardest that I ever wrestled. I was glad to be called the victor, for it was one of the fiercest struggles that I have ever been through.

"Kansas City has made me an offer to come there and meet Gehring in a finish match, and I have wired them that it will be all right with me. I have a great many offers in sight, and will be kept busy from now until the end of the season."

Miller says he would be willing to wrestle Otto Suter a finish match in this city, or any other good man that the public might want to see him in action with.

WINS ONLY BY A NARROW MARGIN

Canadian Woman's Playing Is Feature of Pinehurst Golf Tournament.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 27.—Brisk play characterized the first match play round in the United States north and south golf championship for women yesterday, four pairs over-running the home green.

Dorothy Campbell, the Canadian champion, who played Miss Myra B. Helmer of Midlothian, had the gallery and won only by the narrow margin of two up and one to play.

Some what of a sensation was caused by defeat of Miss Mary Fownes of Oakmont, sister of the 1910 national champion, and winner of the United in 1909, by Miss Kate Van Ostrand of the Jefferson County Country club, 3 up and 2 to play.

Other survivors in the round are: Miss Sarah Fownes of Oakmont, who meets Miss Campbell today; Mrs. Raymond Farr of Georgetown, S. C., who plays Miss Van Ostrand; Mrs. W. C. Fownes, Jr., wife of the 1910 national champion, who meets Miss M. C. King of New Canaan, and Mrs. J. Raymond Price of Oakmont, who is bracketed with Mrs. C. S. Waterhouse of New York.

MANY ENTRIES FOR TOURNAMENT

Y. M. C. A. Wrestling Show Promises Rare Sport for Mat Fans.

From the number and quality of the entries received for the wrestling tournament to be held this evening at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, there is every indication that it will be the most successful meet ever held in the city. Interest in wrestling is greater in Duluth at the present time than it has ever been before, and with the very best amateurs in the city and some of the best of the grapplers from outside Duluth listed to appear in the various bouts, the show should bring out some clever wrestling.

What makes the prospect for the various contests more interesting is the fact that the various athletic clubs of the city are going to be represented. Central high school will have some entries and the Y. M. C. A. will be represented by some of the crack grapplers who have been working out at the association gymnasium all winter. Louis Arduoin, the Central high school star, and little Louis Zorbas, the Greek wonder, are two of the prospective stars of the tournament. Zorbas is the little chap who made so sensational a showing at the last show of the Greater Duluth Athletic club, and Arduoin has thrown all of the husky athletes up at the big pile of masonry on the hilltop.

Some unknown athletes have entered the tournament and there may be some surprises sprung. Athletic Director Wegener says that there is a fine lot of youngsters lined up for the tournament and that some fine wrestling should result.

Following is a partial list of the entries in the various classes:

Featherweight—O. Hegstrom, Y. M. C. A.; Charles Saloum, unattached; Abie Edelson, Central high.

Special class—H. A. Franchere, Y. M. C. A.; Clifford Broad, Y. M. C. A.; N. Johnson, boys' department; H. Pind, boys' department; A. W. Foryziak, Jefferson, A. A.

Lightweight — Jens Solem, unattached; Louis Zorbas, Y. M. C. A.; E. J. Wilkinson, unattached; Edward Bogt, Y. M. C. A.; John Oakes, Jefferson; Andrew Okonen, Finnish Socialist club.

Welterweight—George Johnson, Y. M. C. A.; Peter Pelkow, Y. M. C. A.; Z. Lundquist, Superior; Aro Heleen, Finnish Socialist club.

Only one entry has been received so far in the middleweight class—William Stevens of the Adams Athletic club.

Heavyweight—Lois Arduion, Central high school; Carl Pearson, unattached; Axel Nyberg, Y. M. C. A.; William Kivi, Finnish Socialist club.

Will Be Nice to Umpire.

Lexington, Ky., March 27.—Bluegrass baseball league directors met here yesterday and decided to hold an "umpire day" this year, on which players and spectators are to treat the umpire with the utmost consideration. This action was officially sanctioned by the National Baseball association at its meeting in San Antonio last year, after the author of the idea, President William Neal of the Bluegrass league had explained its provisions.

JACK KNIGHT HAS BECOME A NATIONAL

JACK KNIGHT.

TWO GREAT ATHLETES READY FOR OLYMPIC

New York, March 27.—When the A. A. U. began to look around for point winners to send to Sweden next summer the so-called experts saidthat Sheppard and Sheridan, the leading scorers in London in 1908, were no longer available.

"They have gone back," chirped these experts, "and the A. A. U. will have to dig up something new."

This was about a year ago. Two months ago Sheridan and Sheppard started training and have made such excellent progress that the committee cannot pass them when the team is selected.

There is every indication now that this pair will score as many points as they did in London in 1908.

Heeding the advice of friends, Sheridan went into active training about six weeks ago. At that time he weighed nearly 230 pounds. His best weight is 200 pounds. Mountain climbing, hard gymnastic work and plenty of handball have reduced his weight to 210 pounds. He expects to hit the 200 notch within ten days.

After two weeks spent in the gym Sheridan hiked out to Billy Brown's farm at Pine Hills, Garrison-on-the-Hudson, fully prepared to do anything the well known instructor mapped out. The first day Sheridan tramped the mountain tops for ten miles and jogged along the roads for a couple more. The harder he worked the better he liked it.

The following day Brown made him play two games of handball. After a nice rubdown he had to climb the mountains for fifteen miles, and toward sundown ran a mile or so.

The walking and running stunts were increased daily, and last Monday he covered twenty-five miles. He also hurled the weights, putting the discus near his own world's record mark.

Sheridan's main object is to compete in all-around competition with Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian school athlete. Jim Sullivan wants Sheridan and Thorpe for the two styles of all-around contest in Sweden, and figures that if Martin is in old-time form, with Thorpe already in form, there won't be anything left for the Swedes, Germans and Frenchmen.

"Tell the boys not to worry about Martin," declared the mighty Sheridan, yesterday. "I am working like a beaver to show the Olympic committee that I'm good for another whack at the foreigners. It's dollars to doughnuts I'll be able to hurl the discus and be just right for the decathlon program."

Sheppard is just as confident. He is doing plenty of outdoor work, running every other day for the purpose of strengthening his wind. In two and a half months' time he expects to be in good enough condition to take up the shorter distances, and be fully prepared to race the world's best anywhere from a quarter to a mile.

"Peerless Mel" has his own ideas about training.

"A fellow who runs with corks in his hands makes a mistake," he began. "I never used them in my life. The use of them tends to sap your strength while you're going.

"Another important thing that has helped me along in the game is this: I never allowed any one to rub me down before a race, only after I have finished. In other words, I want to make this point clear. No one should get rubbed down before he takes his mark.

"I always get on the field ten or fifteen minutes before my event is scheduled, and prance around limbering up my legs and muscles. Before I take my mark, I usually feel like a 2-year-old

"Any one who thinks I can't come back and repeat does not know what he is talking about. Right now I feel as good as, and even better, than I did in 1908 when I competed in London. I have mapped out a hard course of preliminary work, and when the time comes for the tryout I will be right on the job."

FINNISH WRESTLER IN DULUTH FOR CONTEST

Alex Jarvinen, the famous Finnish wrestler, accompanied by Gus Frilund, his manager, reached Duluth this morning from Chicago. The young Finn looks the typical athlete, standing over six feet in height and having an immense breadth of shoulders and a chest that gives one the impression that he possesses wonderful strength.

The big foreigner does not speak the English language and Manager Frilund did the interpreting.

"Jarvinen is the greatest wrestler that Finland has ever developed," said Frilund, "and in addition he was the greatest amateur wrestler that the old world ever produced. Since he was a boy Jarvinen has been an enthusiastic athlete and before he reached the age of 18 was one of the great ski riders in Finland. When he was 18 he went to Heisingfors and joined two of the leading athletic clubs and soon became the leading amateur wrestler of the Heisingfors district.

"In 1910 Jarvinen won the championship of that district. Last year he won the championship of his native country as an amateur and later on won the title of Russian champion in a series of matches at St. Petersburg. Soon after this he was awarded the amateur championship of the world, winning the title in a tournament held in Berlin, Germany, where 160 wrestlers were entered in the lists.

"Jarvinen has been working out in Chicago with some of the best of the Americans and before that worked in Brown's gymnasium in New York for three weeks. He has not been defeated since coming to the United States and has made an excellent showing in and has made an excellent showing in all of his matches. I have had something to do with all of the Finnish wrestlers, or the best of them, and I think Jarvinen by far the best of them all. But we are willing to let the public and his countrymen judge of this. Right now Jarvinen can beat most of the men in the world at Graeco-Roman style, and we are of the opinion that he will beat a great many of the very best at catch-as-catch-can style."

Cutler's defeat of Henry Ordemann in Chicago indicates that the Nonpariel has returned to the best wrestling form of his career. Cutler was a trifle heavy when he wrestled in Duluth early in the winter. The win from the big Norsk in straight falls is the best indication that Charley is in prime condition and ready for the roughest and fastest kind of mat going.

Walter Nesgoda, the young Pole whom Martin Johnson is touting as the coming welterweight champion of the world, and Walter Diehm will meet in the preliminary, while little Louis Zorbas, the great Greek grappler, will be seen in action against Larto, said to be the best wrestler around here in the lightweight division.

According to the telegram received from Cutler, he will be in on tomorrow's early morning train.

MANY STATES DESIRE A SANE BOXING BILL

New York, March 27.—The success which has marked the control of the boxing game in this state under the direction of the so-called boxing commission is attracting attention in various parts of the country where there is a desire to foster the ring sport. Letters asking for information regarding the duties and authority of the body are being received almost daily and it appears likely that attempts will be made in the near future to pass regulations similar to the Frawley law in several other states.

In commenting on the interest shown in the effort to put boxing on a plane similar to other public sports and entertainments, Commissioner James S. O'Neil of the New York state athletic commission said recently:

"It is apparent that the idea of state regulation of boxing is spreading. We are receiving communications from legislators and other persons interested in the sport in all parts of the country. They desire particularly to know how we handle boxing in this state; what our powers and rules are and what degree of success has marked our attempts to control the boxers, promoters and spectators.

"We have had inquiries from Louisiana, Connecticut, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California, all asking about the same questions, and it has become a part of Secretary Harvey's regular duties to forward our printed lists of rules, copies of the Frawley law and other details and information at our disposal. From the tone of some of these letters I am certain that efforts will be made shortly to introduce similar legislation in some of the states from which these queries come.

"Personally I believe that boxing can be conducted along the same lines as any other popular amusement. Where the state regulates the sport on sane and conservative lines there is no more danger, either physical or moral, than in other sports and pastimes in which paid competitors meet for the amusement of spectators. The New York state athletic commission has been in existence since Sept. 1, 1911, and during the period of six and a half months there has not been an accident to either boxers or spectators.

"During the period mentioned more than 5,000 bouts, including the preliminary and finals, have been held in the various boxing clubs under the supervision of the state commissioner. The gross gate receipts amount to more than $450,000. Regulation of boxing was an untried experiment when we took hold. I think the problem of controlling the sport is working satisfactorily. With the cooperation of those interested in the sport I am sure that another one year will find boxing in New York state on a plane which will meet with the approval of every citizen who enjoys a clever exhibition of the art of 'le boxe,' as the French term the sport."

Evidently the same idea prevails in England, for Lord Lonsdale, one of England's most distinguished adherents of the sport, advocates a resumption of the Oxford-Cambridge intervarsity boxing matches. Furthermore he believes that a "full blue," which is equivalent to the varsity letter in American college athletics, should be awarded the winners in such tournaments. In a letter written to the college publication "Varsity," he states:

"The question that has often been raised—that of boxing having a 'full blue'—is one that I have always advocated, for, after all, the more that can be done in the interests of bona fide and legitimate boxing the better, and it certainly is a most excellent thing for all young men. It not only teaches them to have a quick eye, but it is also excellent exercise, and further than that, it teaches angry men to keep their tempers and to use science, which is impossible if they lose it.

"It also is really one of the highest arts of quickness and movement between hand, eye and brain, and the mere effect of the practice, especially when it becomes competitions, for young men knowing their powers and keeping their tempers in all cases of demonstrations and excitement when really properly trained and taught boxers is as scientific as almost any art, and for this reason I have always advocated boxing should have a 'full blue.'

"I sincerely hope that after the discussions this end will be attained, and no one would be more pleased in the interests of the sport than I."

CUTLER WINNER OVER ORDEMANN

Chicago, March 27.—Charlie Cutler yesterday claimed the American wrestling championship as the result of his defeat of Henry Ordemann of Minneapolis in their finish match Tuesday night.

Cutler won in straight falls, the first in 51 minutes with a scissors on the head and bar-arm, and the second in 19 minutes with a body scissors and wrist lock.

Cutler was the stronger and more aggressive throughout.

ROLLER SKATERS IN TOURNEY AT MILWAUKEE.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 27.—Prominent roller skaters from various parts of the country are in Milwaukee today to take part in the world's amateur championship races which start at the North avenue river view rink tonight.

The entries include Van Duyne of Newark, N. J.; Taylor from Richmond, Va.; Wilkie of Boston; Colston brothers from Washington, D. C., and Carl Carlson of Chicago. The races will be completed Saturday night.

Runner After Races.

Sarah Martin, an amateur runner of Eveleth, issues a challenge to any of the runners of this part of the state and says he will offer substantial backing that he can defeat any of the middle distance ground coverers in Duluth. Providing that he does not get any man to run against in Duluth, Martin is willing to race any man in the state.

ST. PAUL MAN WINS FIGHT

Mike Gibbons Beats Jack Denning in a Ten-Round Bout.

New York, March 27.—Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul welterweight, had the better of all ten rounds of his fight with Jack Denning at the Fairmount Athletic club here last night.

This is the second meeting of the men, the New Yorker winning the popular decision in the previous bout. Gibbons redeemed himself cleverly and claimed that he was in poor shape at the first meeting. The men weighed in at 3 p. m. at 145 pounds, but at the ringside Gibbons weighed 150 and Denning 153.

From the outset Gibbons never left the result in doubt. Left-hand jabs and a hard left hook in the opening round started the blood from Denning's nose and mouth, and he bled throughout the fight.

In the second and third rounds Gibbons was after his man continuously, shooting lefts to the face, and at close quarters landing short hard rights to the body. Denning fought back gamely, but Gibbons blocked cleverly.

In the fourth Denning mixed freely, but Gibbons staggered him. Toward the end of the round Gibbons landed a right hook on the head and a left hook on the jaw, sending him down for the count of eight. Denning got up groggy, but the bell saved him from further punishment.

Gibbons had the better of the fifth and sixth rounds, although Denning got in some lefts on the face and two right hooks, which closed Gibbons' left eye.

In the seventh they were mixing furiously. Although Denning landed three lefts to the face, Gibbons was jabbing him all over the ring at the bell.

The last three rounds were a repetition of the seventh. Gibbons made several unsuccessful attempts to land a knockout.

PASSAGES BEING BOOKED FOR GAMES.

New York, March 27.—Members of the American Olympic executive committee met yesterday at the office of James E. Sullivan and solved a few of the many problems confronting them in the preliminary work to the Stockholm invasion in June. Those in attendance were Prof. William Sloane, Gustavus T. Kirby, James E. Sullivan, A. H. Curtis, Evert Jansen Wendell, Bartow S. Weeks and Matthew P. Halpin.

It was agreed that on and after April 10 the general public will have an opportunity to procure transportation on the steamship Finland for the forty-six days' trip, the minimum price for the voyage being $400, which will include admission to the Stadium every day the games are held. It was pointed out that those taking the trip under the sponsorship of the committee would be resolved from all worries in connection with hotel accommodations and the like.

Application from contributors to the Olympic fund, members of the Olympic committee and their families, and the friends of athletics will be given preference if their applications are made on or before April 10.

A communication was received from the Arundel Boat club of Baltimore, Md., asking about the possibilities of the rowing four from that organization being permitted to make the trip. The officials of the club were informed that their racing representatives could be accommodated on the Finland if the club paid their traveling expenses, as the committee did not have the funds to warrant taking the oarsmen.

As Graeco-Roman will be the style of wrestling at the world's championship games it was decided to hold tryouts at this rarely tried type of the sport among amateurs about the middle of May in Chicago, which is said to have some very clever exponents of the game at the several weights.

In order to determine the capabilities of the swimmers of San Francisco and Los Angeles the committee decided to hold tryouts for the men of those cities, and if the results warrant the selection of any of the swimmers no further trials will be expected of them and they will be given every consideration.

The tug-of-war team of the Los Angeles A. C. which is said to be a wonderful aggregation of strong men, will very likely be taken along to further American interests at this strenuous game. They will receive a tryout at the earliest possible moment as they are so serious in their contentions that they are unbeatable that they have expressed the willingness to come to New York, if necessary, for the trials.

Reports from the West attest that even at this early date the United States team almost have the shot-putting events won, as Ralph Rose recently did 50 feet with his right hand and 45 with his left for a total of 95 feet, far ahead of the world's record, while New York has another champion nearly as good in Pat McDonald.

From what can be learned no walkers will be in the makeup of the coming team. The probable reason for this is the fact that none of the best men who have competed at this game has shown the ability to travel 10,000 metres—6 miles, 376 yards—at anything like the pace which will be required to get into the point winning division with such men as Goulding of Canada, and Norman of South Africa, and other walkers of such ability.

One member of the committee said it would practically involve the wagering of what an athlete's expenses would cost against the whim of a judge who would be empowered to disqualify such a competitor without a previous caution having been given, or the contestant knowing what his trouble was, if he had one. He further averred that the unfairness of gait of most of the men here was traceable to the inefficiency of the judges who could not or would not tell a man cautioned wherein he was traveling unfairly.

MILLER ON FIRST.

Clarke Decides to Use Happy John on Initial Sack.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 27.—Manager Fred Clarke today decided on his lineup for April 11, when the National league season opens. Clarke has decided to play Johnny Miller on first base. The team will comprise Miller, first base; McCarthy, second base; Byrne, third base; Wagner, shortstop; Carey, left fielder; Donlin, center fielder; Wilson, right fielder.

At the conclusion of yesterday's practice session at Whittington park, Clarke lined up his regulars in the manner already named. They were given a set of signals and told that it was up to them to perfect them and hit upon a fast, harsh article of ball.

The Philadelphia Nationals left this afternoon for Indianapolis even though President Fogel received a telegram stating that the games for tomorrow and Sunday were off. Wild Bill Donovan also left for Monroe, La., where he will report to Manager Jennings.

ON THE IRON RANGES

WILL KNOCK BLIND-PIGS

Virginia Council Passes an Ordinance Preventing Illegal Liquor Sales.

Copied After Mountain Iron Ordinance Which Judge Hughes Has Upheld.

Virginia, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The meeting of the city council last night ordinarily would have been the final meeting of the outgoing council, but on account of unfinished business an adjournment was taken to Friday evening for the purpose of then hearing a full report from Burns & McDonald, hired to appraise the property of the Virginia Electric Power & Water company, which the city proposes to take over. The council went on record as being desirous of acquiring the electric light and water plant by negotiations, if possible, but appraisal and condemnation if essential.

An ordinance was given its first reading providing that property owners must keep walks passing their premises clear of snow and ice. The ordinance also regulates the placing of coal holes, hatchways and stairs in sidewalks. These are barred entirely on Chestnut street and may be placed only by permission on other streets. A penalty for violation is a fine of from $5 to $50 and imprisonment for sixty days.

Pass Blind-Pig Ordinance.

An ordinance pertaining to the sale of intoxicating liquors was finally passed. It provides that liquor may not be sold by anyone in quantities of five gallons or over unless the purchaser has a license to sell in quantities of five gallons or less. This is known as the blind-pig ordinance, since it is intended to prevent brewing companies selling beer to keepers of boarding houses at mining locations. The Virginia ordinance is modeled after the Mountain Iron ordinance, which Judge Hughes in the district court has sustained under an appeal after a conviction under it.

The onemer, under this ordinance, may be fined from $50 to $100. Virginia already had an ordinance covering the less than five-gallon quantity.

The question of annexing a 1,280-acre tract, known as East Virginia, was considered in an open meeting. The petitions which have been circulated asking that this tract be annexed were presented. These had already been filed with the county auditor. The council accepted the petitions and by resolution passed the whole matter on to the county board. The next step will be for the board to order an election in the city and in the tract sought to be annexed, to give the voters an opportunity to accept or reject the proposition. If East Virginia is annexed, it will mean $200,000 per year additional revenue for the city, as the property has a taxation valuation exceeding $10,000,000. It is owned or leased by the Oliver Iron Mining company and by independents. The petitions show that the population of East Virginia is 1,021.

The council denied the request of a vendor who wished to locate a wagon for the sale of popcorn and peanuts on a street corner. The aldermen voted themselves $50 for the year now ending as remuneration for doing committee work.

EVELETH CHURCH EASTER FESTIVAL

Annual Affair of Swedish Lutheran Church to Be Given April 6.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Swedish Lutheran church will hold their annual Easter festival on the evening of April 6.

The program will include an address by a prominent Swedish speaker, a banquet and a program of music and readings. The young people of the same church will hold their regular monthly social session on Wednesday, April 3. This also will include a supper and program.

BLAMES BLIND-PIGS FOR LOTS OF CRIMES.

Virginia, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Charles Oakman of the Mountain Iron village council, who, although in the liquor business, has done much to suppress the blind-pigs and is looked upon as the father of the Mountain Iron ordinance aimed at selling liquor to boarding houses in quantities of more than five gallons, was here last night to urge the city council to pass a similar ordinance and in discussing the blind-pig evil, said:

"It is easier for an officer to catch a beer wagon going into a location than to catch a boarding house boss or his wife selling. Nine-tenths of the crimes that have been committed in these blind-pigs are avoidable. Men who want to drink should be required to go to obtain it to the licensed saloon, where there is police protection and regulation. After a man has done a day's work he is more likely to go to bed than to travel any distance to obtain liquor, but if he can get it in the house where he lives he will obtain it and make trouble.

"Our state law is not severe enough in the punishment of the blind-pigger. The maximum fine is only $100. It is mostly women who sell the beer in the boarding houses. I have known men to borrow their neighbors' children, to take into court representing them to be their own, in order to create sympathy, in the hope of influencing the judge to be lenient with them. Every man to whom a saloon license is granted should be a property owner and an American citizen. A man ought to be able to be a saloon keeper and be as reputable as the grocer or the clothier or the man in any retail line. My village—Mountain Iron—has now adopted an ordinance which provides that no brewery or wholesale liquor house may have a retail license. The man who obtains the license must own and conduct the place himself. The freeholder has something at stake and he must protect his own interests by conducting an orderly place."

STUNTZ TO SPEND MUCH ON HIGHWAYS

Heavy Road Expenditures of Last Year to Be Surpassed By Township.

Hibbing, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—From the campaign of activity at present outlined for the coming summer season the township of Stuntz will undoubtedly set a record for St. Louis county and the state in road building and improvements.

Last year $100,000 was spent on road work here. That sum will be considerably surpassed this year, if plans at present being made are carried out. The roads from Kelly Lake to Keewatin, from Hibbing to Chisholm, on the town line south to the Little Swan country, the Daly road to Iron Junction and other sections are to be completely graveled; new roads two miles each in length are to be built from Swandale south, the Maple Hill road is to be extended and highways are to be built to the Grace and Kittsville locations. It is probable that the township will hire an engineer to have special charge of the roadwork. It will also have a fire warden, an appropriation to cover the expense of his salary having been set aside at the last meeting.

DEER RIVER WILL KEEP OPEN HOUSE

Farmers Will Be Royally Entertained When State Institute Is Held.

Deer River, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmers of the rapidly growing section contiguous to this village will be royally entertained here at the time the state institute is held April 15 and 16. A special train will bring farmers from Bigfork, Wirt and Spring Lake, free of charge. The students of the domestic science department of the high school will furnish dinner both days. The stores will conduct special sales during the meeting as an inducement to farmers to come here and trade.

The following program has been arranged:

"Specialization in Poultry Culture," N. E. Chapman, poultry specialist of the University of Minnesota.

"Seeds and Seed Buying," Dr. A. C. McGee, County Road, Minn.

"The Value of Crop Rotation," C. E. Brown, specialist in charge of the state demonstration farm.

Monday evening will be devoted to an address by George B. Alton, state high school inspector.

"Improving Farm Crops," will be discussed by C. E. Brown, while "Sheep," will be the topic of a local speaker.

"Incubating and Brooding Chicks," will be treated by N. E. Chapman.

"The Creamery Proposition," Supt. A. J. McGuire, northeast experiment farm.

"Developing a Potato Market," C. E. Brown.

"Poultry Accounting," C. E. Chapman.

"New Opportunities," Prof. H. B. Jewell, agricultural instructor, Deer River.

"Clover: Importance and Curing," C. E. Brown.

"Clearing New Land," Supt. A. J. McGuire.

"The School and Its Purpose," Supt. G. E. Keenan.

HONOR ST. PATRICK.

Eveleth Crescent Literary Society Renders Appropriate Program.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the regular monthly meeting of the Crescent Literary society of the high school held last night the following St. Patrick's day program was rendered: Piano solo, "Back to Erin," Kathryn Burke; recitation, "Birthday of St. Patrick," Leonard Farnand; recitation, "Her Specialty," Margaret Donovan; orchestra, selected; recitation, "Pat's Excelsior," Earle Corbin; vocal solo, "Kathleen Mavourneen," Jane Mulligan; orchestra selection.

PEQUOT WOMAN CALLED.

Sister of Two Harbors Man Dies at Mankato.

Mankato, Minn., March 27.—Funeral services were held at Centenary M. E. church here yesterday at 1 p. m., Rev. Jr. Jamcison officiating, for Mrs. Guilbert Day of Pequot, Minn., who died Sunday evening in a local hospital.

Mrs. Day was born in Mankato April 15, 1873, and was reared to womanhood here. In the year 1892 she was married to Mr. Day and of late years has resided in Pequot. Deceased is survived by her husband and two sons, Clifford and Rogers; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Enfield of this city, and brothers and sister, Larry Enfield of Two Harbors, Minn.; Ed R. James, William and Harry, and Miss Maggie Enfield, all of this city. The remains were laid at rest in Minneopa cemetery. Mrs. Day's last request was that her body be laid alongside that of her brother in the family lot in this cemetery.

OLD ITASCA COUNTY FARMER IS ACCUSED

Indicted By Grand Jury on Charge of Mistreating His Granddaughter.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grand jury in district court which opened here yesterday, last night returned indictments against Frank Caldwell for incest and for having carnal knowledge of a female child under 18 years of age. Caldwell is a farmer, about 65 years old, living in the Popple country in the central part of Itasca county. He is alleged to have mistreated his grand-daughter, Elizabeth Caldwell, on Dec. 24, 1910. It is alleged that the revolting condition prevailed as far back as six years ago when the girl was only about 12.

Girl Went to Virginia.

The Caldwell girl went away from home last fall, going to Virginia with a man named Bartlett. The Caldwells attempted to have the girl brought back home and Bartlett arrested for procuring a woman for immoral purposes, with the result that an affidavit was secured from the girl setting forth the conditions under which she had been living and stating that she went away with Bartlett to keep from the bad influences of her grandfather.

Caldwell was arraigned this morning and his age and pleadings that his bail be placed at a low figure made a pitiable spectacle. Judge Wright fixed his bail at $1,000 which he secured by giving a trust deed to his farm to local men to assure his appearance.

The case of Mike Stanich vs. the Pearson Mining company, a personal injury case, was taken up this morning by the court and jury.

TWO VIRGINIA BOYS SOUGHT

Leave Town With Two Others on Hand-Car—Last Seen at Buhl and Chisholm.

Virginia, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The police of all the range cities and several others have been advised to arrest on sight two Virginia boys who have been missing since Sunday. They are William Kennedy, son of John Kennedy, superintendent of the light and water plant, and Herold Smith, son of Warren Smith.

Sunday afternoon, with two companions, the boys appropriated a hand car from the Great Northern road and went west. A few miles down the line the two who are missing took the car and proceeded leaving their companions on the track. They were seen going through Buhl and Chisholm on the hand car at high speed, and after that all trace of them was lost. No reason is known by the parents of the boys why they should leave home.

The Kennedy boy, who is an adopted boy, once before ran away and was gone nearly a year. He is 16 years old and the Smith boy is 15. Yesterday two boys were arrested at Grand Rapids and they were supposed to be the missing ones, but it was found they were not.

CALLIGAN CONSIDERING.

Stuntz Township Clerk May Run for Register of Deeds.

Hibbing, Minn., March 27. — (Special to The Herald.) — Charles Calligan, who has served several terms as the clerk of Stuntz township, will probably be a candidate for the Republican nomination for register of deeds of St. Louis county. He has not yet formally announced his candidacy, but admits he is considering the matter.

Calligan's friends claim for him that he would have strong support in all the range towns where he has a wide acquaintance and would also have considerable support in Duluth.

DE FOREST WARD GUEST.

Past Grand Chancellor Entertained By Biwabik K. of P. Lodge.

Biwabik, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—De Forest Ward, past grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of Minnesota, and now in charge of the insurance department of that order, was entertained by Biwabik Lodge No. 14 Tuesday evening at the local lodge room. Mr. Ward favored the local lodge with an interesting and instructive talk upon the progress of the order and of the insurance department. A light luncheon was served, after which the members indulged in bridge whist.

Kittsville to Vote Again.

Hibbing, Minn., March 27. — (Special to The Herald.) — Residents of the Kittsville location will vote on the proposition of incorporating as a village in May. The election was to have been held in April, but as the question cannot twice be voted on within a year and that the last election was held in April, 1911, when the proposition was defeated by a small vote, it was necessary to postpone it until May. Incorporation is desired by Kittsville residents so that they have their own fire protection system, sidewalks, etc. It will probably carry by a safe majority at the coming election.

DESIRE STUB TRAIN.

Hibbing Wants Connection at Wolf With Virginia Flyer.

Hibbing, Minn., March 27. — (Special to The Herald.) — A stub train to connect with the Missabe Virginia Flyer at Wolf Junction will be asked by the railroad committee of the Commercial club of the officials of the Missabe. The report that the train now reaching here at 7 o'clock p. m. would run through to Virginia from Wolf Junction and that a stub train would be put on to take its place between this city and Wolf Junction, is reported without foundation. It is said to be assured that when the Canadian Northern gets its line completed to Duluth the Missabe will continue its present train to Virginia, leaving Duluth in the evening as at present.

TO PROBE RANGE CASES.

Alleged Trachoma on Iron Range to Be Looked Into.

St. Paul, Minn., March 27.—It is expected that the state board of health will probe the cases of trachoma said to exist on the Mesaba iron range at the same time it probes the disease on the White Earth reservation. Dr. H. M. Bracken is at present in Washington conferring with the Indian commissioner on the White Earth matter and nothing will be done until he returns.

O. C. Pierson, assistant secretary of the board, states that, while it has been understood for some time that there has been trachoma among the foreigners on the range, the board never has received official information regarding the disease and has never been asked to investigate it.

DIVIDE SCHOOL MONEY.

State Appropriation Apportioned in Itasca County.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 27—Special to The Herald.)—The sum of $8,520, of which $6,280 came from the state March appropriation and the balance from penalty interest fund, which was apportioned Itasca county, has been divided among the district on a basis of $2 per head for each of the 3,140 pupils as follows:

District No. 1, 1,421 pupils, $3,-555.77; District No. 2, 808 pupils, $2,-192.47; District No. 5, 31 pupils, $84.11; District No. 6, 378 pupils, $1,-025.68; District No. 9, 441 pupils, $1,-196.62; District No. 10, 28 pupils, $75.97; District No. 11, 33 pupils, $89.54.

EVELETH ELKS WILL INITIATE CLASS OF TEN.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth lodge of Elks will initiate a class of ten Friday night. The candidates include citizens of Biwabik, Gilbert and Aurora, and these fawns will be accompanied by a number of Elks who will see that the antlers are properly fitted. A banquet and social session will follow the initiatory ceremony, and each candidate is invited to bring a friend to enjoy the program.

YOUNG WIFE BURIED.

Eveleth Woman Who Came From Austria Less Than Year Ago.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Frances Drozovich, wife of Joseph Drozovich, who died Sunday of tuberculosis, was held today from the Holy Family Catholic church. The body was taken to Virginia for interment, followed by a large concourse of relatives and friends. The woman came from Austria less than a year ago and was married upon her arrival here. At that time she appeared to be perfectly healthy. A child born last week lived only a few hours.

TOWER YOUNG LADY HOSTESS AT PARTY.

Tower, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Lenore Murphy entertained Saturday afternoon at her home in celebration of her birthday anniversary. Her guests presented her with a birthstone. The afternoon was spent with games and music and refreshments were served. Among those in the party were: Misses Irene and Marie Colberg, Alberta and Minto Kitto, Lillian and Marion Pfeiffer, Helen and Jeane Gallin, Jennine and Ragnild Nickolson, Bella and Mable Thomas, Elsa, Alta and Inez Howe, Lillian Murry, Esther Larson, Irene Haley, Esther Osteberg, Esther Olson, Jennie Talle, Mary Hans, Nettie Peterson, Clara Elkrem, Ethel Hallock, Hazel Martin and Evelyn Peterson.

THREE AFTER JUDGESHIP.

More Candidates Are Getting Into Ely Political Game.

Ely, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—With election only a week away, candidates continue to announce themselves daily. William Vuoti has announced his candidacy for municipal judge, making in the field: Thomas Jury, one of the oldest residents and who has served for three years; Anton Kotchevar, and now William Vuoti. For special municipal court judge, Joseph Mantel filed last week, and this week Henry Chinn was placed in the running by his friends. Mr. Jury and Mr. Chinn are among the oldest residents. Mr. Jury having been here for twenty-three years and Mr. Chinn for twenty-two years, and one running for judge and the other for special judge.

Ely people are pleased that Dr. G. T. Ayres has been reappointed deputy coroner for this city by Coroner McComb.

Miss Ethel Prout was called to Eveleth today by the serious illness of Mrs. B. Prout of that city.

BODY TAKEN TO SOO.

Robert Montgomery Dies at Biwabik of Consumption.

Biwabik, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert Montgomery, aged 33, died here of pulmonary tuberculosis at the home of his sister, Mrs. O. H. Pickett, Tuesday.

Mr. Montgomery's mother was at his bedside when he passed away. He had been in bed most of the winter.

Mr. Montgomery was employed as a mechanical helper at the Duluth & Iron Range roundhouse up to the time he was taken sick.

The body will be taken to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., today for interment, at his former home, his parents residing there at the present time.

Eveleth Woman Bereaved.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. W. E. Harwood left yesterday for Joliet, Ill., in response to a telegram announcing the death of her mother, Mrs. A. A. Hyde, who had frequently visited here. Mrs. Hyde died of heart failure resulting from the death of two sons-in-law in a few weeks.

Visiting Nurse for Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., March 27. — (Special to The Herald.) — Hibbing is to have a visiting nurse working under the direction of the local board of health. The work will be done for the present by Miss Capron, nurse at the city detention hospital. She is now in Duluth securing information as to how the work of visiting nurses is conducted there.

SPOONER FIREBUG GETS LONG TERM

Joseph Le Fave, Convicted of First Degree Arson, Given Ten Years.

Bemidji, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following his conviction here of arson in the first degree, Joseph Le Fave, arrested at Spooner in January and accused of employing Oscar Baker to burn his building for the insurance money, on Tuesday afternoon of this week was sentenced by Judge C. W. Stanton to Stillwater to an indeterminate term of not less than ten or more than thirty years.

Another One Sentenced.

John Klevi, guilty of grand larceny in the first degree was sent to Stillwater for a term of not less than one or more than ten years. The theft was committed at Williams and Isaac Makl, a younger companion, also was found guilty after the jury had been out all night but a recommendation for mercy caused the judge to send Makl to the reformatory. Arthur Jacobson also indicted on the same charge and tried first was acquitted.

GERALDS LOSES POINT.

Bemidji Man Is Ruled Against Upon Technical Point.

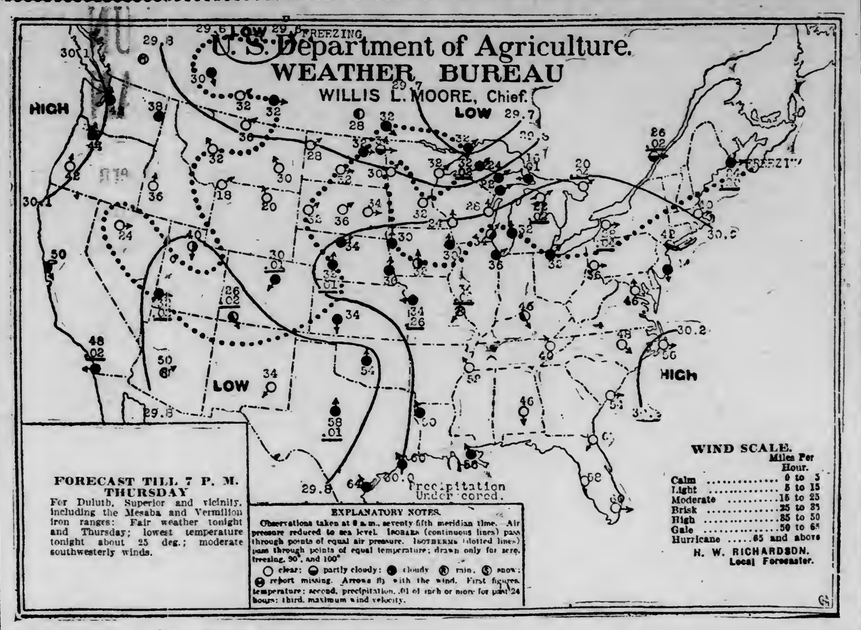
Bemidji, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Efforts of Edwin Geralds to avoid trial on charges of having sold liquor after hours and to a woman by alleging that the indictments on which he was held failed, Judge C. W. Stanton has denied the motion of attorney George W. Spear of Grand Rapids for the dismissal of the indictment. Mr. Spear contended that Matt Phibbs, a member of the grand jury had been improperly excused.

William Sly is now on trial, charged with having robbed a man with whom he was sharing a room in a Bemidji hotel. Following this case, Iver Iverson will be tried on a statutory charge, so will Fred Cook and the criminal calendar will be ended with the cases against the three recently indicted saloonkeepers.

Stephen Auto Club.

Stephen, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The auto owners here have organized an auto club with the following officers. F. A. Green, president; Dan McMillan, vice president; O. F. Johnson, secretary; C. R. Gillispie, treasurer.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



FAIR

One cannot expect straw hat weather in March, so that the brand being furnished by the sage on the hill this week is eminently satisfactory. One would venture a guess that the ice isn't disappearing from the lake very rapidly, nor is it wise to shed heavy overcoats yet, but signs of spring are in the air and the contrast from the conditions that prevailed for months is delightful. Fair weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

Cold weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:57 and it will set at 6:30 this evening, giving twelve hours and thirty-three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Moderate temperatures are the rule in nearly all districts. Not much change in this respect is anticipated as regards the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours. Light snow or rain fell over Eastern Canada, New England states, Missouri, Kansas, Texas, Colorado, Arizona, Utah and Southern California during Tuesday or last night in connection with the barometric depressions centered near Hudson bay and over New Mexico."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 27.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; warmer tonight in east and south portions.

Wisconsin—Unsettled with probably light rain tonight or Thursday; not much change in temperature.

Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

Iowa—Unsettled with probably rain tonight or Thursday.

South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Thursday, except unsettled in south portion.

Shippers' forecast—Protect thirty-six-hour shipments of perishables against minimum temperatures 20 to 25 degs. above zero in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

HAD COUNTY BUFFALOED

Allens Were Terror of Their Neighborhood, Says Wheeling Man.

Boasted That None of Them Would Serve Jail Term.

"The trouble is those Allens have most of the mountain district of Virginia buffaloed," declared Stuart J. Rosser, a traveling insurance man of Wheeling, W. Va., who is registered at the Holland.

"Most small towns have their bullies, and the Allens extended their bullying to the entire mountain district. It started with old man Allen, who was the bully of the district, and like measles, the habit was caught by the rest of the family until the Allens became the terrors of the country.

"Once a bully is licked and his prestige crumbled, it is one of the delights of all the cowards in town to take a punch at him. There was gun play and lots of it behind the bluff of the Allens, and they would not in the least hesitate to shoot a man, or several of them; but just the same the Allens were wise enough to realize that once some officers of the law apprehended them, their reputation would be more or less injured, and they would stand more in the danger of their pursuers.

"Down in Virginia they relate lots of stories of the Allens. One of the innocent amusements of the Allens was to shoot at revenue officers, with no intention of hitting them, and then to disarm them and play such rude practical jokes as the exigencies of the situation might suggest. William Tell left a footnote to history's pages by shooting apples from the head of his son, but I have heard of the Allens shooting pipes and cigars from the mouths of various persons when they were in the humor for a little harmless gun play. I don't know how true these were.

"The old man is the most confirmed bully of the family. Like all bullies that are running wild with a gun, the old man is known as a dangerous character. They say that his wife always had his number and that he used to leave the house on the run when the argument got hot, but a man is never a hero to his valet, nor can he generally successfully conceal his weaknesses from his wife.

'The Allens' Boast.

"After the old man started the deeds of defiance the boys took to the habit in the spirit of emulation. It was the boast of the Allens that no one of the family would ever go to jail. This boast was often repeated and it was this resolve that led to the shooting up of the court. They have always held that once one of the members of the family was in jail the reputation would just naturally peter out.

"I guess the Allens used to do about what they pleased in the mountains. Strangers have related stories of being held up at the point of one of their bristling guns, questioned and cross-questioned, occasionally relieved of some particular detail of wearing apparel that struck the vagrant fancy of one of the members of the family, and then impressed with the general toughness of the gang. In this way the reputation of the Allens as defiant and lawless men increased. They are all wealthy, as wealth goes down there, and they try to make friends of all whom they do not intimidate.

"You people up in this country have little idea of the conditions in the mountain fastness of Virginia, therefore the picture is rather out of color. In their own way these men ruled something like the James and Younger gangs in the days when trains were robbed so freely. 'Moonshining' is dangerous and generally desperate men are engaged in it, for it some times means death.

"I heard of one instance where Old Man Allen was caught red-handed with a load of 'moonshine' whiskey and bluffed the federal officer and called the turn.

"The revenue officer stopped the old man and showed his warrant to search the wagon, which contained the whisky.

"The old man read the warrant carefully. He then pulled a six-shooter from his belt and twirled it carelessly around his finger. 'That warrant, stranger,' he said, 'permits you to go into the wagon, but I don't see as how it says anything about your coming out.'

"The revenue officer left without making use of the warrant. It got so bad that men wouldn't run for office because they knew they might be called upon to enforce the law against the Allens, and that meant almost certain death to them. If they clean up this gang, people in that section of the state will breathe freely for the first time in years."

NEW MEXICAN SENATORS PICKED

Fall and Catron Are Chosen to Represent the New State.

Santa Fe, N. Mex., March 27.—The eighth senatorial ballot today resulted in the election of A. B. Fall, Republican, as United States senator. T. B. Catron, Republican, lacked one vote, that of Speaker Baca. Almost immediately Mr. Catron also was elected United States senator, enough members changing their votes to elect him.

MINNESOTA RATE CASE UP MONDAY

Attorney General Smith Goes to Washington to Argue Question.

St. Paul, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith left last night for Washington to be on hand for the arguments in the Minnesota rate cases next Monday. Attorney T. D. O'Brien left last Sunday and Attorney E. T. Young goes tomorrow.

The hearing was postponed once because all chairs on the bench were not filled. The appointment of a successor to Justice Harlan cleared the way, and the battle will soon be on.

RAILROADS

OPPORTUNITY IN CANADA

Canadian Northern General Passenger Agent Boosts for the Dominion.

R. Creelman of Winnipeg, Man., general passenger agent of the Canadian Northern Railroad company, who was in the city today, states that spring travel to Western Canada is as heavy this year as ever.

The general agent says that the Canadian Northern office, which will be located in the Spalding hotel building, in the room now occupied by the Superior street cafe, will probably be open about June 1.

The room is to be turned over to the railroad company about May 1, but many changes are to be made. The room will be altered to suit the needs of a thoroughly modern railroad office, and this, it is expected, will take about a month.

While travel to all parts of Western Canada is heavy, Mr. Creelman thinks that the Peace river country is going to be especially popular with settlers as soon as the new line of the railroad now being built is completed. This part of the country is hard to reach at this time, but the volume of inquiry shows that many are thinking of taking land there as soon as it is more readily accessible. The new line will be completed in about a year. A rush is then expected to the territory.

The line is now built as far as Athabaska Landing, a point directly north of Edmonton. Those going into the Peace river country make the rest of the trip in boats when the river is clear of ice.

Mr. Creelman states that there is a great deal of good land to be taken up in Western Canada. Contrary to the general opinion, he says, land is cheap, and it isn't necessary to go a long way in from the lines of the railroads.

Thousands have gone into the western part of Canada in the last few years," says Mr. Creelman, "but you must remember that the territory is very large and that when you drop a bunch of settlers here and there it doesn't fill up the territory very fast. There is lots of land and many opportunities for the people in Western Canada."

WORKING LARGER FORCE.

Nearly 100 Extra Men in St. Cloud Shops.

St. Cloud, Minn., March 27.—Beginning Monday nearly 100 extra men were put on at the local car shops, and the hours were lengthened to ten hours. This will add $5,000 a month to the payroll. The back orders that were being held up on account of lack of suitable force and the expected spring rush are held responsible for the increase.

RESTAURANT MAN OF PARK RAPIDS BANKRUPT.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 27.—Edwin C. Langguth, a restaurant and bakery proprietor of Park Rapids, has filed a bankruptcy petition in the United States court in this city, placing his assets at $6,479.62, of which $1,960 is exempt, and $3,000 in insurance policies and his liabilities at $3,219.40.

Mats K. Matson of Cormorant, Becker county, also filed a petition at the same time, placing his assets at $2,012, of which $212 is exempt, and his liabilities at $4,504.

MARINE

LAKE ROUTE IS THEIR ONLY HOPE

Railroads Unable to Cope With Freight Situation in Canada.

Railroads connecting Winnipeg with Eastern Canada are still in a very badly congested state according to H. W. Neeland of Fort William, Ont., who has been in Duluth at the Spalding hotel.

The congestion, he says, is felt all the way from Winnipeg to Montreal. The elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur are full of grain and there are about 2,000 cars of grain in the yards. These cars, the railway companies have not yet been able to move. The Canadian Pacific has placed an embargo on freight from the Canadian Northern destined for the East. The Canadian Northern has not yet completed the construction of the road connecting its Western with its Eastern lines. If this connecting road were finished, it would do much to relieve the situation. Mr. Neeland says the congested condition will without doubt continue until the opening of navigation, and the indications are that that will be very late this year.

MILITIAMEN GIVEN PILOTS' LICENSES.

Lieut. E. G. Smith and Lieut. A. O. Rabideau of the United States naval militia, Minnesota reserve, have been granted masters' and pilots' licenses to operate any naval militia boat on the Great Lakes. The licenses were issued this week by United States Inspectors Monahan and Chalk of the steamboat inspection service.

Both Lieut. Smith and Lieut. Rabideau have been in the naval militia service for several years. This winter they completed the course in navigation at the winter nautical school conducted by Capt. Albert Swenson of the United States Hydrographic office.

TWO MINERS GET DAMAGES

One Recovers $3,000 and Other $1,500 for Injuries Sustained.

The Bangor Mining company must pay $3,000 to Mike Schmidt and $1,500 to John Pullman, for injuries claimed to have been received by the two men while employed last fall in one of the company's mines on the range.

A jury, which was trying the two cases jointly, returned verdicts against the defendant company for these amounts late yesterday afternoon.

The miners were injured when a cage or elevator used in the shaft of the mine dropped about seventy-five feet. They were in the cage. Each sued for $30,150.

The case was tried before Judge Dibell of the district court. Theodore Hollister appeared as attorney for the plaintiffs and Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell represented the mining company.

DETECTIVE THE TARGET

Defense in Torrence Case Claims Officer Threatened the Prisoner.

Mrs. Torrence Goes on Stand to Testify in Own Defense.

That Detective Norman Terry of the police department was actuated by motives of personal spite in his connection with the Torrence larceny case Attorney Andrew Nelson will attempt to prove through Mrs. Eleanor Torrence, the accused woman, and her witnesses who are on the witness stand in the district court this afternoon.

The state rested its case this morning, Assistant District Attorney Warren E. Greene, finishing with the testimony of Donald Young, a buyer for Panton & White company, who passed opinions on the value of the goods alleged to have been stolen by Mrs. Torrence from her roomers.

As has been intimated, the defense of the Torrence case will be testimony to show that "spite work" prompted Mrs. Lila W. Breckenridge, Mrs. Clara M. Harris and Detective Terry of the police department to "trump up" the charges against Mrs. Torrence and that one of them "planted' the stolen property in the Torrence apartments, where it was found by the detectives.

Attorney Nelson outlined the defense to the jury before he called his first witness, Mrs. Torrence, to the witness stand. He said that he expected to prove that Detective Terry had a "grudge against Mrs. Torrence and that he had told her that he would 'get her' and that he would 'send her over the road.'"

Attorney Nelson also stated to the jury that he expected to show by the witnesses for the defendant that Mrs. Torrence knew nothing about any of the so-called stolen property, that Mrs. Breckenridge had a grievance against Mrs. Torrence because she had been asked to leave the Torrence home on account of misconduct, that Mrs. Breckenridge had been given to the use of intoxicants and that the whole affair was more or less an outgrowth of the trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Torrence and Mrs. Breckenridge.

As to Mrs. Harris.

As to Mrs. Harris, Attorney Nelson stated that the defendant's witnesses would testify that Mrs. Harris was behind in her rent, that she was "hard up" for money, that Mrs. Torrence had "dunned" her for the rent and that Mrs. Harris had a motive for spite work. He declared that testimony would be introduced to show that Mrs. Brenckenridge and Mrs. Harris were financially embarrassed at the time and had made overtures to Mrs. Torrence to drop the case if she would pay Mrs. Breckenridge $75 and Mrs. Harris $25. "We will attempt to show," he said, "that it was a hold-up game on the part of both of them."

Mrs. Torrence was the first witness put on the stand today by the defense. She stated that she had been married about three years to Mr. Torrence and that during that period, she and her husband had resided continuously at 1113 East Second street, their present home.

Mrs. Harris, one of her accusers, came there on Aug. 28, stayed until Dec. 2, 1911, she testified. Mrs. Breckenridge, the other complaining witness for the state, came to her place on Nov. 20 and stayed but one week.

Mrs. Torrence denied knowledge of ever having Mrs. Harris' ring in her possession at any time, said that she never knew Mrs. Harris ever had a ring and that the ring which Mrs. Harris testified as having seen on Mrs. Torrence's hand was her (Mrs. Torrence's) own. The first that she saw of the ring claimed to be the property of Mrs. Harris was when the detectives found it in a vase while searching the Torrence home.

Mrs. Torrence told a different story of the Breckenridge "escapade" referred to in yesterday's testimony. She claims that on the Sunday night in question, Nov. 26, that Mrs. Breckenridge came to her apartments at the Torrence home at about 3:30 o'clock in the morning, that she made noises in the hallway which awakened her, that she called her husband's attention to the matter and that after some whisperings, Mrs. Breckenridge came up the stairs to her room. The light in the Torrence bedroom was turned on and through the door left ajar, both Mr. Torrence and herself saw Mrs. Breckenridge.

The next morning, Mrs. Breckenridge asked for a "bromo seltzer," the witness declared. It was at this time that Mrs. Torrence claims to have told Mrs. Breckenridge to leave the house as soon as she could conveniently pack up her things. Mrs. Breckenridge left the following day. During Tuesday morning, while she was down-town, the witness declared, Mrs. Breckenridge was left alone in the Torrence home.

This afternoon, among the witnesses to be called by the defense are Mrs. W. P. Waste, and Mrs. H. J. Gibbs, sisters of Mrs. Torrence, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McKeon, Mrs. Messler and others. The case cannot be finished before tomorrow afternoon

GILLIAS—Angus Gillias, aged 67 years, died this morning at St. Luke's hospital. He had lived with his son, J. A. Gillias, on Park Point. The arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

FITZGERALD—The funeral of James J. Fitzgerald, 30 years of age, who died Monday night at St. Mary's hospital of pneumonia, will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, Second avenue west and Fourth street. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery. "Jimmie," as he was familiarly known to hundreds in Duluth, was sick but a short time, having been taken to the hospital only last Friday. His wide circle of friends and acquaintances were sadly shocked to hear of his unexpected death. He is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters. His wife died about a year ago.

SKUHRA—The body of Mrs. Anna Skuhra, who died Monday at her home, 728 East Fourth street, was sent to her former home at Washburn, Wis., this morning for interment. Death was due to complications resulting from old age. Her daughter died several weeks ago and it is believed that the shock hastened her end. She had lived in Duluth a number of years and was well known here.

BOTSFORD—Mrs. L. M. Botsford, aged 76 years, died at 8 o'clock this morning at her home, 631 East Fifth street, after a long illness. She had lived in Duluth eighteen years. The funeral arrangements have not been made. Mrs. Botsford is survived by two children, A. E. Botsford of Duluth and Mrs. Belle Kinnean of Seattle, Wash.

The two mission fathers conducted a mission last November at St. Clement's church in the West end.

Park Board Meeting.

The park board will probably elect officers for the coming year at the meeting to be held at the city hall next Monday afternoon. At that time it is expected that Mayor McCuen will announce a successor to John Jensvold, Jr., whose term on the board expires this year. The question of putting the playgrounds in shape for the warm weather will likely be taken up, together with other spring plans.

Case Goes to Jury.

The personal injury suit brought by Selina De Merce against the Soo railroad, in which $7,500 is asked for the death of the plaintiff's husband, Timothy De Merce, formerly employed by the Soo as a switchman, went to the jury in district court at noon today. De Merce, it is claimed, met an accidental death while in the employ of the railroad company in August, 1910. The case was tried before Judge Dibell.

Coat Is Burned.

The fire department had a run to the Kelley-How-Thomson company's warehouse this morning. One of the employes entered smoking a pipe, which he placed in his coat pocket and hung the coat on the wall. The coat caught fire, but no other damage was done.

Storekeeper Arrested.

John Silver, proprietor of a small store on West First street, was arrested this afternoon on a charge of petty larceny. It is claimed that George McGuerrin left some tools in his store for safekeeping and that Silver sold them. He denied the charge and will be tried tomorrow afternoon.

LIMITS CORPORATE POWERS IN SUITS

Steenerson Introduces Bill Aimed at Federal Court Jurisdiction.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, March 27.—Representative Steenerson today introduced a bill which seeks to prevent the federal courts from taking jurisdiction in cases where the sum involved is less than $10,000, instead of $3,000, as at present, and which will deny defendant corporations the right to remove suits brought against them from the county in which process is served or where the cause of the action arose.

Mr. Steenerson's measure is aimed primarily at railroad, lumber and other corporations composed principally of Minnesota men, but incorporated under the laws of Wisconsin or other states, which permits them to force damage suits against them into federal courts hundreds of miles away from the scene of the cause of the action.

TWO POLK COUNTY MEN ARE SUICIDES

Crookston and Lengby Men End Lives By Cutting Their Throats.

Crookston, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Coroner Stenshoel had two urgent calls yesterday. One came from Lenby during the afternoon, where it was reported Selmer Hedstrom had killed himself three miles distant by cutting his throat. His body was found in a pool of blood in his shanty.

Despondency due to ill health is believed to have led Andrew Holger, a machinist employed by the Crookston Manufacturing company to cut his throat in a boxcar here some time yesterday. He left his home in the morning for work and never returned. Blood beneath the car attracted the attention of the section men and they discovered the suicide. Holger leaves a wife and three children.

FEARS TRACHOMA AMONG WHITES

Dr. Bracken Wants Federal Expert to Study State Conditions.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, March 27.—Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the Minnesota state board of health, concluded his visit to Washington today. As a result he will recommend to the board that it ask for the detail of an expert on trachoma from the federal public health bureau to visit Minnesota and make a thorough investigation on trachoma outside the Indian reservations.

"The prevalence of trachoma among children in the Indian schools is a menace to the white children outside," said Dr. Bracken. "The adult Indians are citizens and their children are attending the public schools in larger numbers each year, and there is danger of trachoma infecting the white pupils. I believe we can get valuable advice from an expert of the public health service, and am almost certain one will be detailed to plan the work of the state board of health."

Dr. Bracken indorsed Representative Miller's bill for the erection of a $100,000 sanitarium at some point convenient to all the Indians in Minnesota. "The later proposition is commendable as it contemplates caring for the aged and infirm Indians," said Dr. Bracken. "Those old people have been neglected by the other Indians and must be taken care of by some authority."

NOTICE

In answer to some certain advertisements appearing in the Duluth News Tribune signed by a FLORIST who is located in the well known Flower Store formerly conducted by W. W. Seekins, we have to make the following statement to inform the general public what all this fuss is about.

We are not seeking to quarrel with any of our competitors even if they do take exceptions to our methods of advertising, but do take issue on having an outsider come to Duluth and conduct a flower store under the name of one of our well known merchants just to hold and get business, thereby deceiving the public as to actual conditions.

Most people are acquainted with the methods these merchants employ to put the legitimate home merchant out of business in the shortest time possible, but we don't propose to be counted out in a hurry, as we have lived here for the past thirty years and can stand this climate for some time to come.

Now that this party seems willing to sign himself "Sneccessor to SEEKINS, the FLORIST," we are willing to let the News Tribune advertising man write all the dope about us that this worthy SUCCESSOR is willing to pay for on installments. Respectfully,
DULUTH FLORAL CO.

REFUSES TO PAY CLAIM

Fraternal Order Alleges That Habitual Drunkenness Caused Death.

The Knights of Maccabees of the World, a fraternal and insurance order, will fight the payment of a $1,000 policy claimed on the death of Andre Blanchet on the grounds that Blanchet was a habitual drunkard.

An answer was filed today by Harris Richardson and Harold C. Kerr of St. Paul, attorneys for the insurance order who are defending the case brought in district court by Delma Blanchet, the widow. Her attorneys are E. C. Carmen and Baldwin & Baldwin.

In its answer, the defendant sets forth that it is more of a fraternal than insurance order and that it is operated for the benefit of members rather than for profit. One of the provisions of the policies issued by it is that no habitual user of intoxicants, nor a man engaged in the saloon business, can be insured.

Blanchet took out his policy Dec. 26, 1898. He paid premiums to the amount of $115.20. He died on Jan. 16, 1911 and payment of the policy to the widow, named as beneficiary, was demanded and refused.

The insurance order claims that Blanchet swore falsely to his application for insurance by stating that he was not an habitual user of liquor. It is also claimed by the defendant that acute alcoholism was the cause of death.

The case will come to trial at the present term of court.

FUTURE DEPENDS ON AGRICULTURE

A. T. Hepworth Sees Great Development in Store for Duluth.

A. T. Hepworth, formerly of Duluth, and now of Winnipeg, is a firm believer in the future of Duluth. Mr. Hepworth is visiting in the city today.

"While the development of Duluth has been substantial, it is not commensurate with its strategic position and great wealth tributary to it," he said today. "There have been reasons beyond the power of local enterprise to remedy, but natural advantages cannot indefinitely be ignored, and the entry of new railroads should eliminate discriminations.

"Industrial progression in the city, and a productive farming community in St. Louis county will send Duluth forward with tremendous impetus; either one or the other it must have. Too much importance cannot be placed upon the development of the farm lands adjoining, and from what I hear the city has one of the most powerful commercial organizations in its history, and it is alive to every desirable issue."

Mr. Hepworth is on his way home from his winter home in Daytona, Fla. Mrs. Hepworth is still in the South.

"We are having a great boom in Winnipeg at present," he said. "I was very sorry to see reciprocity defeated and hope it will yet come. It is absurd to have an imaginary line dividing a country which is all one commercially and geographically."

HOUSE PASSES HOMESTEAD BILL

Reduces Time of Residence and Allows More Absence From Claims.

Washington, March 27.—The house today pased a bill reducing from five to three years the period of residence required on homestead lands before patents are issued. It also permits entrymen and their families during the period to be absent from their homesteads five months in each year. The legislation has been before congress for several years.

The bill which already has passed the senate was amended in minor particulars in the house and was sent to conference.

The house conferees are Representatives Ferris of Oklahoma, Taylor of Colorado and Mondell of Wyoming.

OBITUARY

James Crown is dead at River Falls, Wis., aged 94 years 6 months. Mr. Crown came from New York, where he was born, and settled near New Richmond. He named the town of Star Prairie, Wis.

John Arbuckle, the well-known coffee man, died March 27 at his home in Brooklyn. He was 74 years old. Death was due to a general collapse incident to old age. The body will be taken to Pittsburg for burial. Mr. Arbuckle first became a national figure as a coffee merchant. Later he took up the sugar business as a rival of the American Sugar Refining company. Of late years he had devoted much time and money to raising sunken vessels by compressed air. He was a native of Allegheny, Pa., and a director of several banks and corporations. He leaves an estate of many millions.

William Ludwell Shephard, Confederate veteran and widely known as an illustrator and designer of sculpture, is dead at Richmond, Va. His most notable works were the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, the Gen. A. P. Hill statue and Howitzer memorial, all in Richmond.

INTERPRETS THE PASS LAW

Stevenson Says Railroad Privileges Do Not Bar One From Office.

Holds Some Circumstances Permit Use of Passes By Officials.

St. Paul, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Relief from strained situations is granted railroad men in many Northern Minnesota towns through an opinion given out today by Assistant Attorney General Stevenson. In a communication to the state railroad and warehouse commission, Mr. Stevenson says that it is not unlawful and not a violation of the state's anti-pass law for an alderman, member of a school board or any public officer who earns his living by railroad work, to ride on a pass while in the performance of his railroad work.

Complaint has been made that railroad men practically were disfranchised from holding public office because they had free transportation on the railroad for which they worked. The law prohibits any public officer from riding on free transportation.

According to Mr. Stevenson's opinion, a railroad man, in the regular performance of his duty with the road, does not disbar himself from public office simply by riding on free transportation in the regular course of his work.

Makes a Distinction.

"It would be unlawful for him to use a pass in the performance of any duty outside of his daily work," Mr. Stevenson said, "and hold office. If an engineer was ordered to Duluth to bring a train to St. Paul, he would be free to go to Duluth on a pass and not thereby make himself ineligible to office. But if he had a regular 'run' out of St. Paul each day, he could not live in Minneapolis and make the trip between St. Paul and Minneapolis on a pass, because in that case it would be in the nature of a special privilege."

Complaints have been made in such towns as Brainerd, Virginia and Moorhead, where there are large numbers of railroad men, they were disfranchised from office by the state anti-pass law. According to Mr. Stevenson, they are not barred from holding public office and riding on a pass if they confine their free trips purely to railroad business.

SPRING STYLES ON EXHIBITION

Miller-Albenberg Store Has Prettiest of Season's Models.

With the daintiest of decorations and patterns in evening gowns and cloaks just a little in advance of the prevailing fashions, the Miller-Albenberg company's beautiful store has been crowded with women all week—style week in Duluth.

The store during the week has been a Mecca for women who love pretty things, and was there ever a woman who didn't?

The daintiest of fabrics, fashioned into creations, the lines of which are a delight to the eye, have the women of the city exclaiming with pleasure over the selection offered at the Miller-Albenberg store.

Evening gowns in exclusive patterns and cut showing just a prediction of what the future styles will be, are being featured by the company.

The newest ideas in hats, both New York and Paris, are being shown in the millinery corner, one of the finest departments of the kind in the city. In spring coats the concern has something to suit every taste, and almost every pocketbook. In the finely appointed room set aside for misses' garments may be found dresses, cloaks and other articles of wearing apparel to please the younger people.

Never did the store look more beautiful than at the spring opening this year. The decorations were in perfect taste and the new styles were prettier than ever before.

Hundreds of Duluth women have called during the week. It was a treat for them to try on the pretty new things and gaze at the brilliancy of the opening which was the most auspicious in the history of the concern.

WILL DISCUSS PENAL SYSTEMS

Program for Meeting Friday Evening at Library Is Announced.

An open meeting will be held Friday evening, March 29, at the Public Library at 8 o'clock sharp, to form a society for the betterment of the penal system of Duluth, and to assist discharged prisoners.

It is hoped that a large number will be present.

The program for the evening includes topics of great interest, as follows:

"The Penal Farm Idea"..... G. G. Hartley.
"The Need of Prisoners' Aid"..... Chief Troyer.
"The Need With Relation to Child Labor"..... Miss Jean Poirier.
"How a Penal Farm Should be Managed"..... Judge Windom.
"The Earlier Scope of the Society".. Judge Cant.
"The Prisoner's Family"..... Mr. Dinwiddie.

WANTS $5,000 FOR INJURY TO REPUTATION.

A lawsuit growing out of the receiver proceedings instituted against the Ely Mercantile company as a result of which the affairs of the company were wound up in November, 1910, was started before Judge Dibell and a jury in district court this morning by Matt Spreitzer, former president of the concern, who is suing the old board of directors for $5,000, claiming that his business reputation and character has been damaged.

Just prior to the appointment of the receiver the company, at the instance of the majority of the directors, brought an action in district court against Spreitzer, who was then president, to have the affairs of the concern closed up and Spreitzer removed from the company's business. Before Spreitzer interposed an answer the receiver was appointed.

The action which is now on trial is one in which Spreitzer alleges that the former action was maliciously instituted against him for the purpose of branding him as being incompetent in the handling of business affairs and a judgment of $5,000 is asked against John Osterman, Nick Popovich, Joseph Rauh, John Sajatovick, Tony Erchul, Frank Pengal, Charles Merhar and Joseph Vertnik.

Judge S. F. White is attorney for Spreitzer and B. M. Goldberg is defending.

WHEAT PRICE CREEPING UP

Slowly Diminishing Receipts From the Country Bull the Markets.

Little Doing in Duluth Flaxseed—Prices Are Held Very Strong.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 27.—This was rather a bullish day for wheat on all the leading American markets, including Duluth. The receipts from the country show signs of gradually diminishing, and this, together with the reports of damage to winter wheat, and the recent reports of scanty supplies of wheat in the hands of American farmers, is slowly forcing the price of wheat up. Duluth May wheat today closed at an advance of ½c. Cash wheat was ½c over the May price, as usual. Oats were ¼c up and barley 2@3c up. Durum and rye were unchanged. March and May flaxseed was ½c up and July was ¾c up.

Wheat was inclined to be bullish on the markets of North America this morning. Primary wheat receipts of the United States were reported at the same figures as a year ago, but they were somewhat less than they were a week ago. Reports about the winter wheat crop of the United States were rather bullish, and cables from foreign countries were almost uniformly strong. Wheat closed unchanged on the market of Buenos Ayres last night, but this morning it opened unchanged to ½c higher. Liverpool wheat was bulled today by firmer Argentine and Australian offers, and closed ¼@⅝d higher. Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.07⅞ asked, closed yesterday at $1.07½ asked, and at noon today was selling for $1.07⅝@1.07¾ asked. Minneapolis was down a little, Chicago up a little and Winnipeg the same as at the close of yesterday.

Flaxseed Slightly Higher.

There was very little trading in flaxseed on the Duluth market today, offers being few and small and the demand dull. Nevertheless, the market was boosted a little. It is so narrow that it is easily changed. Winnipeg flax was ⅛c up at $1.90¾ at noon today and Duluth May was ½c up while July was ¾c up. Little attention was paid to Buenos Ayres flaxseed. On that market the April option closed last night at $1.75⅝, or ⅝c lower and this morning it opened 2½c down from that. The flaxseed of Buenos Ayres, at its present price, would make great inroads on the ordinary Canadian selling territory in the Eastern part of the United States, if its quality were anything to compare with that of Canadian flaxseed. What has been received at New York thus far this season is reported to be very poor seed.

MARKET GOSSIP

Oil meal at Minneapolis, per ton, $26; per half ton, $18.50; per 500 lbs. $9.75.

A. G. Huhn and W. M. Smith of Minneapolis and A. T. Hepworth of Winnipeg were visitors on the Duluth Board of Trade today.

Temperatures through the Canadian Northwest today ranged from 28 above to 40 above and over the Northwest from 28 above to 36 above.

Exports of flaxseed from Argentina are becoming much more liberal than they have been. This year's Argentine flax crop was very late, as the thrashing was much delayed by heavy rains, but the Argentine seed is becoming quite a factor on the markets of the world, nevertheless. The seed of Buenos Ayres is being imported in steadily increasing quantities at New York for Eastern American consumers. It is not at all surprising that Duluth flaxseed cannot compete with the Buenos Ayres seed in the East, in view of the price at which flaxseed has been selling on the Argentine market. There it has been ruling at about $1.75 per bu, and when 15 cents, the cost of transportation, and 18c, the net duty, after making due allowance for the rebate for the export of flaxseed cake, are added, it may be readily seen that Argentine flaxseed can be delivered at New York for about $2.06 a bu. No 1 Manitoba flaxseed at Port Arthur and Fort William has been bringing about $1.85 per bu. The cost of transportation to New York is about 15c per bu, all-rail, and the net duty is 18c, making it necessary to get about $2.18 per bu for this flax to make sales at New York pay. It is apparent that this flax can scarcely compete with the Buenos Ayres at New York or elsewhere in that vicinity. Canadian flaxseed in the United States must depend for its sales on consumers farther west. Duluth flaxseed is a still weaker competitor than the Canadian product. That has been ruling at $2.10 cash on the home market, and it costs 18c a bu to get it to New York by rail. Therefore it could not be sold at New York on a paying basis for less than $2.28. It cannot compete with the Buenos Ayres seed at or near New York, nor with the Canadian seed anywhere. The market is extremely narrow and therefore crushers buy the Duluth seed just to keep up the price as a good basis on which to sell oil made from Canadian seed.

The exports of La Plata seed to the United States for the week ending March 14 were almost as large as they were for the whole period from Jan. 1 to March 7. For the week ending March 14 the exports were 225,000 bu out of a total shipment of 511,000 bu. from Jan. 1 to March 7. The exports from Jan. 1 to March 14, 1911, were 2,697,000 bu.

The Mexican import duty on corn has been suspended by decree of the treasury department of Mexico until Jan. 30, 1912.

Shearson Hammill's Kansas City correspondent wires: "Since the snow has thinned out enough to see the ground, it is discovered that wheat in many places is not showing up as good as expected. Indications are that we shall get many poor reports shortly from Kansas."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Speculators Incline Toward Bullish Side on Low Grain Stocks.

Chicago, March 27. — Decreasing stocks at Minneapolis and Liverpool helped make wheat speculators today incline to the bull side of the market. Notwithstanding more favorable weather, receipts Northwest showed a falling off. The lessening of the amount of wheat in store at Minneapolis was a contrast with last year, the total at that time exhibiting a gain instead of a drop. Cables gave the bears no comfort as the main features were an advance in Argentine offers and the firmness of holders in Australia. There was some foreign buying here. Opening prices were a shade off to ⅛@¼c up. May started at $1.03⅝ to $1.03¾, a rise of 1-16c to ⅛@⅛c, touched $1.03⅛@1.03⅜, and climbed to $1.04@1.04⅛.

South Dakota reports of spring wheat seeding having begun in the Jim River valley caused a backset. The close, however, was firm at $1.03¾@1.03⅝ for May, ⅛c over last night.

Corn developed strength on account of Texas reports of the worst weather in years. It was said many fields would have to be replanted. May opened ⅛c to ⅛@¼c higher at 72½@73c to 73c reacted to 72⅝c, and rallied to 73⅛c.

Predictions of rains and snow further north hardened prices still more. The close was strong with May ⅝c net higher at 73⅜@73½c.

Sympathy with other grain carried oats up a little, despite fair commission selling. May started ¼c dearer at 54¼c and held near to that level.

An advance in the price of hogs led to a bulge in the market for packing house product. There was a good deal of profit-taking, though, on the swell. Initial transactions varied from 2½c to 12½c higher, with July delivery $17.25 for pork, $10.00 for lard and $9.75 to $9.77½ for ribs.

Cash grain: Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.03½@1.04½; No. 3 red, $1.02@1.03¾; No. 2 hard, $1.02@1.06; No. 3 hard, $1.02@1.05; No. 1 northern, $1.12@1.14; No. 2 northern, $1.10@1.12. EARLY GAINS WIPED OUT

Stocks Have Good Advances But React in the Last Hour.

Practically All Gains Are Effaced and the Close Is Heavy.

New York, March 27.—The specialties and minor railway issues were prominent in the opening dealings on the stock exchange today. These issues scored fractional gains, while such market leaders as United States Steel and Amalgamated Copper were unchanged. Reading rose ½ and the Gould stocks, including Denver & Rio Grande preferred, gained substantial fractions.

Selling pressure soon slackened and there wa sa quick rally running over a point in United States Steel, American Smelting and Amalgamated Copper. Union Pacific and Reading were lifted more than a point above yesterday's closing, and the whole list again took on an appearance of great strength. Advances of from 1 to 2½ were established in a great many of the less active properties, including the gas and electric issues, Great Northern ore certificates, United States Rubber and Pacific Mail.

The result of primaries in New York and other states together with the acquittal of the Western packers were seized upon by Wall Street as hopeful auguries and contributed to a further advance. Reading was most prominent in the movement. According to general belief this stock is being accumulated by the interests responsible for recent movements in Lehigh Valley, Rock Island and American Can.

Union Pacific also went to its best quotation in some weeks on rumors that the showing of the Harriman lines for February would be most creditable.

Profit-taking brought about the customary recessions and reduced dealings in the second hour but the undertone continued moderately strong with the exception of United States Steel which lost all its rise on the announcement of its bond issue. Bonds were firm.

Further irregularity was shown during the noon hour, when dealings were relatively light and the market seemed to be awaiting the effect of the United States Steel bond issue. United States Steel went down to 67⅞. The announcement was something of a surprise to the street, although not unexpected to banking quarters. Interborough Metropolitan preferred sold a point under yesterday's closing price and General Electric 3 points above.

When a good portion of the list had fallen to a parity with yesterday's closing or below, the market began to receive support, and there was a subsequent brisk rally, in which the Harriman issues led. Southern Pacific rose to 113⅜, but Union Pacific, Reading and United States Steel met stock after they had recovered half a point or so. Copper stocks maintained a good tone, especially American Smelting.

The market closed heavy. Reaction was general in the last hour and practically all early gains were more than effaced. Among the leaders United States Steel, American Smelting and Amalgamated Copper were especially weak, with greater declines in some of the specialties There were fractional recoveries in the final dealings.

Cotton Market.

New York, March 27.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 2@4 points in response to somewhat disappointing cables and the failure of the weather map to show the predicted rains in the Western belt. There seemeed to be considerable realizing or liquidation by yesterday's buyers but following the Eastern belt forecast for rains tonight or tomorrow the market steadied within a point or two of the initial figures and later became firmer on rumors of a more favorable turn in the English labor situation and covering shorts. Prices during the middle of the morning were about 3 points net higher.

Futures closed very steady; March, 10.45; April, 10.45; May, 10.55; June, 10.60; July, 10.66; August 10.65; September, 10.65; October, 10.72; November, 10.74; December, 10.73; January, 10.74; February, 10.73.

Spot closed quiet, 25 points higher; middling gulf, 10.85; middling gulf, 11.10; sales, 1,400 bales.

ORDER TO EXAMINE FINAL ACCOUNT.—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis, ss.—
In Probate Court,
In the Matter of the Estate of Juliet H. Whitcomb, Decedent.
THE PETITION of Frederick P. Whitcomb, as representative of the above named decedent, together with his final account of the administration of said estate, having been filed in this court, representing, among other things that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that said final account of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representative and the sureties on his bond.
IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard, and said final account examined, adjusted, and if correct, allowed by the Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, on Monday, the 8th day of April, 1912, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.
ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald, according to law.
Dated at Duluth, March 11, 1912.
By the Court,
S. W. GILPIN,
Judge of Probate.
(Seal, Probate Court, St. Louis County, Minn.)

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.
Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by O. K. Weinman and Ella L. Weinman, his wife, mortgagors, to Howard Investment Company, a corporation, mortgagee, dated August 2nd, 1909, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on August 17th, 1909, at ten o'clock A. M., in Book 223 of Mortgages, on page 16.
Said default consists in the non-payment of Forty-five and no-100 Dollars ($45.00), the semi-annual installment of interest due February 1st, 1912, by reason whereof, the mortgagee has elected to exercise the option given by the terms of said mortgage to declare and does hereby declare the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage with all accrued interest thereon, to be now due and payable, There is claimed to be due and is actually due on said mortgage debt at the date of this notice the sum of Fifteen Hundred Fifty and no-100 ($1550.00) Dollars, principal and interest, and no action at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof.
NOW THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the property therein described, situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, viz:
Lot numbered fourteen (14), in Block numbered eighty-three (83), Endion Division of Duluth, according to the accepted plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of St. Louis, which said premises with the hereditaments and appurtenances will be sold by the Sheriff of St. Louis County, at the office of the Sheriff in the Court House in the City of Duluth, in said county and state, on Saturday, the 6th day of April, 1912, at ten o'clock A. M., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest and Fifty Dollars ($50.00) attorney's fees, stipulated for by and in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption within one year from date of sale as provided by law.
Dated at Duluth, Minnesota, February 20th, 1912.
HOWARD INVESTMENT COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
E. P. TOWNE,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Nos. 500-503 Torrey Building, Duluth, Minnesota.

ORDER LIMITING TIME TO FILE CLAIMS, AND FOR HEARING THEREON.—
In Probate Court.
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.
In the Matter of the Estate of David T. Carlson, Decedent.
Letters of administration having been granted to Charles Mork.
IT IS ORDERED, That the time within which all creditors of the above named decedent may present claims against his estate in this court, be, and the same hereby is, limited to three months from and after the date hereof, and that Monday the 24th day of June, 1912, at ten o'clock A. M., in the Probate Court Rooms at the Court House at Duluth in said County, be, and the same hereby is, fixed and appointed as the time and place for hearing upon the examination, adjustment and allowance of such claims as shall be presented within the time aforesaid.
Let notice hereof be given by the publication of this order in The Duluth Herald as provided by law.
Dated, Duluth, Minn., March 18, 1912.

ANTHRACITE MINE OWNERS NOT TRYING TO AVERT A WALKOUT

Strike in Those Workings Is Declared to Be Certain on April 1.

Bituminous Coal Crisis Hangs on Sub-Committee Meeting in Cleveland.

Failure to Fix Wage Scale Means $500,000 Men Will Quit Work.

New York, March 28.—It was learned here today from an authoritative source that the anthracite coal operators are making no move to prevent a suspension of work in the anthracite fields, and that they regard such a suspension at midnight on March 31 as inevitable.

"No suggestion of compromise has come to us from any authoritative source," one of the operators said today. "There is nothing to the report that the operators are prepared to grant the men a 5 per cent increase in wages."

Cleveland, Ohio, March 28.—The sub-committee this afternoon announced it was unable to agree and it would so report to the full conference. The members said arguments had brought about a continuation of the deadlock, as operators and miners repeated their positions of a week ago.

Crisis at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 28.—Hope of averting a widespread coal strike in the United States, beginning next Monday, centered today in a sub-committee which had been appointed by bituminous operators and miners to agree if possible on a compromise wage scale.

All other means of agreeing had failed and it was said that unless a compromise soon was affected, 350,000 miners in the bituminous fields would quit Sunday midnight and the suspension would be, in effect, a strike.

PART OF SIOUX CITY FLOODED

Floyd River Rises Suddenly and Drives People From Homes.

Sioux City, Iowa, March 28.—The Floyd river, a small stream which runs through the lowlands in the eastern part of the city, rose suddenly this morning and flooded the botttom district north and south of the East Seventh street bridge. The residents were forced to leave their homes.

SMASH WINDOWS IN LOWELL, MASS.

First Destruction of Mill Property in Strike Takes Place.

Lowell, Mass., March 28.—The first destruction of mill property since the beginning of the strike of textile workers and the resulting shutdown of half a dozen cotton mills took place today during a parade of several hundred strikers.

Windows were broken in the factory of the Bigelow Carpet company and in the United States Bobbin & Shuttle Co.'s plant. No one was hurt. One man was arrested on a charge of malicious destruction of property.

With the declaration by labor leaders last night that the strike against the Lawrence Manufacturing company, a hosiery plant, was off, and the announcement by the United States Bunting company that an additional increase in wages of 5 per cent, making a total of 10 per cent, had been granted, the strikers concentrated their efforts this morning against the plant of the Bigelow Manufacturing company. They were unsuccessful.

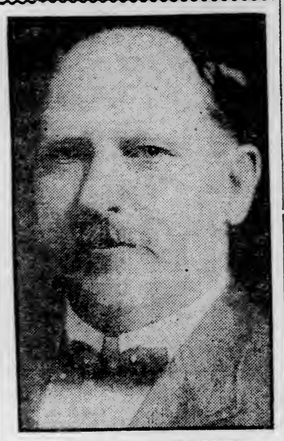
MANY ARRESTS AT ROCK ISLAND

Rock Island, Ill., March 28.—After a quiet night, citizens of Rock Island today discussed with Mayor Schriver and Sheriff Bruner the possibility of further riot troubles and the question of how long the soldiers of the Sixth regiment will be needed to preserve order.

Many business men favored immediate withdrawal of the militia, but city and county officials would not listen to this proposal. Others said they believed it would be necessary to hold the militia until after the primary election April 9.

Although soldiers and deputy sheriffs made scores of arrests in the railroad yards and along the river front last night, there was no disturbance worthy of comment. All of those arrested were taken to the county jail and will be held for investigation for several days.

LOSES CONTEST AT POLLS IN ARKANSAS



GEORGE W. DONAGHEY,
Governor of Arkansas.

Little Rock, Ark., March 28.—Returns from yesterday's Democratic primaries received from the majority of the districts throughout Arkansas, indicate conclusively that Congressman Joe T. Robinson has defeated Governor George W. Donaghey, who was a candidate for re-election.

United States Senator Jeff Davis apparently leads his rival, S. Brundige, by a majority of at least 30,000.

Technicality Under Which Lorimer May Stay in the Senate.

Bryan's Peculiar Attitude Towards the Direct Primary System.

Washington, March 28.—The right of Senator Lorimer to his seat in the senate was upheld today by the special committee, which decided that the senate vote sustaining Mr. Lorimer in the last congress barred any further proceedings against him. The vote was 5 to 3.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Once again the Lorimer case is to hold the boards in Washington. The committee by a vote of 5 to 3 has decided to report that the senate has no right to try him again. Three members of the committee are definitely against Lorimer—Senators Kern, Kenyon and Lea—and they voted against this contention. Senator Jones was regarded as inclined their way, but voted with the other four members—Senators Gamble, Dillingham, Johnston and Fletcher, who are with Lorimer.

If the report was to hinge wholly on the testimony presented it would be a report hostile to Lorimer. The nature of the evidence and the temper of the country would compel such a report. But some of the Bourbon senators, like Fletcher and Johnston, or the Republican reactionaries, like

BOTH LODGED IN ST. PAUL JAIL

Ritter and Conway Brought Back From Baltimore on Swindling Charge.

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles A. Ritter and George Conway, who are alleged to have swindled St. Paul and Minneapolis jobbing houses out of nearly $25,000, were brought back here today from Baltimore, and were lodged in the county jail to await arraignment on indictments charging grand larceny in the second degree. The prisoners made the trip in charge of Sheriff John Wagener and Chief Deputy John Baer.

With Ritter came his wife, whom he married last September, Mrs. Ritter has sent for members of her family to come to St. Paul from Appleton, Wis., her home, to help her husband.

The officers brought with them from Baltimore $1,000 worth of confiscated merchandise in two trunks and four grips and have shipped by freight about 10,000 pounds of general merchandise said to have been obtained from Northwestern jobbers.

The men probably will be arraigned tomorrow.

Ohio River Falling.

Cincinnati, Ohio., March 28.—After remaining stationary at 54.3 feet practically all day yesterday, the Ohio river began falling here today.

ASKS MEN TO GO TO WORK

Premier Asquith Issues Appeal to the Miners of Great Britain.

End of Trouble That Has Wrought Misery in Island, Is in Sight.

London, March 28. — Premier Asquith this morning issued an appeal to the miners of Great Britain to accept the minimum wage bill which, he said, would effect largely what they had fought for. The premier made this appeal in a speech to the liberal members of the house of commons.

The premier said he recognized that the agitation, as far as the great bulk of the men were concerned, was a disinterested movement. Now that their grievances had been removed by the establishment of the principle of a minimum wage, with machinery which could be trusted to fix reasonable rates, he strongly appealed in the name of the whole community for the resumption of normal industrial conditions.

End Is in Sight.

The end of the coal strike which has so sorely affected many millions of the population of the United Kingdom during the last four weeks is believed to be at hand.

No doubt appears to exist in the minds of many people that the majority of the million miners who left their work on March 1 are anxious to return to the pits, and when the occasion offers will vote in favor of proposal to resume. Most of them, it is believed, would even return to the pits immediately, but in each district there is a section which opposes any action until the vote which has been called for on the question of re-

SAYS ENGINEERS WILL VOTE STRIKE

Grand Chief Stone Blames Public for Failure to Grant More Wages.

New York, March 28.—Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, predicted here today that when the result of the strike vote on the wage question is made public here on April 10, it will be found that fewer than 2,500 of the 25,000 engineers in the Brotherhood oppose a strike.

"It is significant," said Mr. Stone, "that in none of our conferences with the Eastern railroad representatives have they once declared that our demands are unjust. They do not say we do not need the increase; they say merely that they can't afford to grant it because they are not allowed increased freight rates.

"The interstate commerce commission stands in the way of any rise, and as the commission represents the public, it is really the public that is the stumbling block. That is why I repeat that the public needs an object lesson to convince them that the roads are entitled to more pay for the freight they carry. Freight rates are bound to go up."

DIX PUTS QUESTION OF SECOND PRIMARY UP TO LEGISLATURE

Sends Roosevelt Chairman's Telegram With Special Message to Solons.

Order to Show Why Tuesday's Vote Should Stand Issued By Court.

Albany, N. Y., Marche 28.—Governor Dix sent a special message to the legislature today enclosing the telegram from Charles H. Duell, chairman of the Roosevelt committee of New York City, suggesting that another primary be held there because of the delay in delivering ballots at the polls, and an opinion from Attorney General Carmody that legislation may be necessary to this end. The governor makes no recommendations on the subject.

That Governor Dix has no power to order another primary election in New York City is the substance of the opinion given to the governor by the attorney general.

William Barnes, Jr., chairman of the Republican state committee, contends that there is no legal standing to the suggestion that another primary be held.

Court Issues Order.

MICHIGAN BANK TELLER ARRESTED

Is Accused of Embezzling $5,000 From Grand Rapids Institution.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 28.—J. Edward Johnson, teller of the Michigan Trust company of this city, was arrested late last night while working over his books in the banks, charged with embezzling $5,000 from the institution.

"FINNISH GIANT" IS HANCOCK CANDIDATE.

Hancock, Mich., March 28.—Louie Molainen who measures 7 feet 0 inches in his socks, was nominated today for justice of the peace in Hancock township. He claims the distinction of being the biggest magisterial candidate in the country. Some years ago he left the vocation of traveling with shows as a "Finnish Giant," and turned to the farm. He will have no opposition.

ROBERT DOWSE ENDS HIS LIFE, SHOOTING HIMSELF IN HEART

DIES BY HIS OWN HAND

ROBERT P. DOWSE.

Returns From Office Complaining of Not Feeling Well.

Retires to Room and Fires Revolver at His Breast.

Death Instantaneous—Act Was Due to Financial Worry.

Robert P. Dowse committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart about 10:30 o'clock this morning.

The act was committed in Mr. Dowse's bedroom in his residence at 2027 East First street, and death was instantaneous.

The only other people in the house at the time were Mrs. Dowse and the maid, both of whom were in the kitchen, and Mr. Dowse was dead when they later chanced to enter his room.

The cause of his act is believed to have been despondency brought on by business worries.

Mr. Dowse left his home at the usual hour this morning, reaching his real estate and insurance office in the Providence building about 8:30 o'clock. He left the office shortly after 9 o'clock, and his bookkeeper, Edward M. Schau, stated that he called up the office a few minutes later to discuss some business matters. Shortly after

WOMEN WORK AS ELECTION OFFICERS

San Francisco, Cal., March 28.—Women exercised their newly won franchise for the first time in the city's history today in the civic center bond issue election. About sixty women sat as election officers. Their zeal in their new duties proved a pleasant surprise to the registrar. One of them upon being sworn in told him that she knew the four-page pamphlet of instructions by heart.

The election concerns the issue of $8,800,000 bonds to erect a city hall and other public buildings.

TAKE TARIFF OFF CURIOS

MacVeagh Makes Recommendations to Change Customs Laws.

Would Relieve Tourists and Visiting Foreigners of Burdens.

Washington, March 28.—Secretary MacVeagh has recommended to congress important changes in the custom laws to liberalize them in the interest of returning tourists and foreign visitors in this country.

The secretary urges that Americans returning from abroad be authorized to bring in free of duty not only personal effects to the value of $100, as the law now provides, but also articles for household use, souvenirs, presents and curios. He did not mention a maximum figure to cover these free importations, leaving that question to congress.

For the benefit of foreign visitors the secretary recommended that all non-residents, detained in the United States longer than trey had anticipated be permitted to send for and receive from their homes, free of duty, any personal effects which they had intentionally left behind. The law now provides that only such articles as were unavoidable or inadverently left at home can come free.

KANSAS POSSE HUNTS MADMAN

Salina, Kan., March 28.—Sheriff Burke, heading a posse of a dozen men, started today in pursuit of an armed man believed to be insane, who yesterday and last night spread terror among the farmers of Greenwood county.

Late last night the man forced entrance to the home of John Peterson, a farmer near Gypsum City, and compelled the farmer's wife to prepare him a lunch. Seizing a shotgun and filling his pockets with cartridges, he exclaimed:

"I'll need these. I have killed my brother and my brother-in-law."

He then departed, threatening to kill any person who pursued him. He is believed to be hiding in the marshes in the southern part of the county.

INGRAM WANTS TO GO TO CONGRESS, HE SAYS.

Menomonie, Wis., March 28.—The announcement of the candidacy of Charles A. Ingram of Durand, speaker of the Wisconsin assembly, for the Republican nomination for congress from the Tenth district is made today. Speaker Ingram will oppose Secretary of State James A. Frear, of Hudson and Assemblyman Julius C. Gilbertson of Eau Claire, the fight being a three-cornered Progressive affair.

UPHOLSTERY MEN GET HIGHER PAY

Threatened Strike at Philadelphia Mills Is Averted By Concession.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 28.—A strike among the textile workers in the Kensington mill district of this city has been avoided by the action of the Upholstery Weavers' union in accepting a compromise offered by the mill owners. The men asked for an increase in wages from 24 to 26 cents an hour, a reduction in working hours from fifty-seven to fifty-four a week, and other concessions. The employers conceded the wage demand but would not reduce the hours below fifty-five a week.

CLYDE SPERRY IS DECLARED GUILTY

After Deliberating Thirty-Four Hours Jury Convicts Young Man.

Fargo, N. D., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thirty-four hours after having been given the case the jury brought in a verdict of guilty against Clyde Sperry, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Kenneth McKenzie at Aneta, Nelson county, in October, two years ago. The jury stood eleven to one almost from the first ballot and the delay was caused by a difference of opinion as to alleged confession made by Sperry to the sheriff, the state's attorney and the father of the victim. The court was twice asked for further instructions along this line.

Kenneth McKenzie was 13 and was delivering meat for his father in Aneta after dark, carrying a lantern. The boy was found with his clothing on fire and his burns resulted fatally a day or two afterwards.

In his ante mortem statement the victim stated that two men speaking a foreign language assaulted him, poured oil from a lantern over his clothing and set fire to him. Clyde Sperry and Charles Summerfield were arrested. The latter was acquitted and the jury in the former trial of Sperry, in Nelson county, disagreed. Sperry and McKenzie lived in adjoining homes and were schoolmates.

Sperry claimed that he was at a show at the time of the tragedy and made unsuccessful efforts to prove an alibi.

ICE FIELDS EXTENSIVE

Little Change in Conditions Reported During the Week.

Ice Still Covers the Western End of Lake Superior.

Reports from the regular and display stations of the weather bureau and the meteorological service of Canada indicate that there has been but little change in the ice conditions in the several lakes.

In Superior the field over the western end extends from Duluth to about Two Harbors materially. In St. Mary's river the ice ranges from 25 to 32 inches in thickness. Over Green Bay there has been no change except at the "Door" and in the passage where the ice has moved out. There is more open water reported over the west shore of Michigan although the field continues extensive over the southwestern portion. Considerable open water is reported along the eastern shore to the Manitou islands. From North Manitou island to the Straits the field appears to be solid.

There have been no material changes in the ice at the Straits. In Huron there is more open water reported from Middle island south to Tawas Point. The field is not moving over the southern portion. The St. Clair river is open to below St. Clair, and the Detroit river is practically open to the mouth. The fields are moving some over the central portion of Erie and more open water is reported on the north shore. In Ontario the extensive fields continue over the eastern portion.

In comparison with the same period last year there is more ice in all of the lakes.

Details follow of the condition in Lake Superir:

Duluth—Thickness of harbor ice 36 inches; the lake ice still continues a solid field beyond range of sight.

Washburn—Harbor ice ranges from 30 to 36 inches in thickness; snow melting on top.

Ashland—Harbor ice averages 33 inches in thickness; no material change during the week.

Port Arthur—Harbor ice 34 inches in thickness; the ice field extends beyond vision; no open water in sight.

Ontonagon—No open water visible in the lake.

Portage L. S. S.: Inside the breakwater the ice is 30 inches in thickness no open water in sight.

Eagle Harbor—Ice in harbor 22 inches in thickness and solid; heavily windrowed ice extends beyond vision.

Portage Entry—River ice ranges from 6 to 10 inches in thickness; no change in the bay ice.

Baraga—The ice in the bay ranges from 20 to 30 inches in thickness.

Marquette—Harbor ice 21.6 inches in thickness; no change during the week.

Munising—Harbor ice averages 22 inches in thickness; snow beginning to melt on ice.

Grand Marais, Mich.—Harbor ice solid and 29 inches; the field ice in the lake extends beyond sight, with narrow lanes of open water two miles off shore.

Whitefish Point—Bay ice averages 28 inches in thickness; no open water in sight.

Sault Ste. Marie—Thickness of ice in river 25 inches; there has been no change during the week. Tests made of the thickness of ice from Sweets Point to Pickands Mather coal dock shows from 28 to 31 inches; thickness of ice at Lime Island 32 inches.

PRESIDENT OF TUGMEN RETURNS FROM EAST.

That the traveling men of the country are strongly in favor of the renomination of President Taft was a statement made today by Martin Cole, president of the Tugmen's association, who has just returned from a business trip to Cleveland and other Eastern points. He said nearly all the commercial travelers with whom he talked on the subject of national politics were of the opinion that the president would get the delegates of nearly all the Eastern states.

Mr. Cole said his association has succeeded in perfecting an agreement with the sand and gravel dealers operating on Lake Erie for a 5 per cent increase in the wages of the men. He will leave Saturday for Cleveland with a view to continuing negotiations looking to the betterment of the conditions of men employed on the Great Lakes.

Mr. Cole said the steamboat companies of Pennsylvania were anticipating a coal strike in that state and were piling up large quantities of coal along the wharves.

He remarked that it was still very cold in the East and the lake men thought the opening of navigation would be the latest for many years.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

The influx of the "jackies" from the woods is beginning to be felt at the police station and noticed in the grists in the morning.

With their packs over their backs, stubby growths of beard on their faces, full of nervour energy and with their pockets bulging with several months' wages, some of them can scarcely wait for the trains to stop before they pile for the nearest saloon.

Once "started," a lot of them cannot stop until they have accumulated a jag which knows no ending until the last penny is spent. Not infrequently they do not have the satisfaction of spending their hard-earned cash themselves, but fall into the hands of some "shark hunter," who "rolls" him while in a drunken stupor or makes it a point to land him with knockout drops, after which it is only a matter of minutes before he is separated from his "wad."

But not all of them follow that program. There are scores and scores of men who go into the woods every winter who do not spend their money for booze. Some of these are men with families, who go out every winter and turn over practically every dollar towards supporting their wives and children. Others put their money in the bank, and it is not long before they are out with some construction crew on railroad work or employed on the boats which ply the Great Lakes. The first place they head for is a hotel, where they get a room, take a bath and are "trimmed up" in the barber shop, but it is not the kind of a "trimming" that some of the others get who cannot keep away from the grog shops. They either don clothes which they have stored away in the fall or outfit themselves in one of the numerous clothing stores. On the street they look and act like other ordinary citizens in the every day walks of life.

Many of these men, whether they go broke because of drink, or otherwise, have little trouble in being "staked" to the price of another job and a place to eat and sleep before being shipped out. By following some of them it is easy to learn the reason. When they come down in the spring they make it a point to "square up" with anyone to whom they may be owing money. It is rather surprising to learn how many men are "staked" in this manner, and those who make the loans state that it is the exception rather than the rule that they are not repaid.

This morning a scaler who had been in the woods all winter was booked on a charge of drunkenness. He was one of the men who get dressed up and then get drunk, for he was wearing good clothes and had a "heavy load." It was one of those "destructive packages," but it was gathered in by the police before it had done any vast amount of damage. Walking into a Bowery clothing store the possessor of the "package" made his way to the rear of the store and jerking a large mirror from the wall, deliberately smashed it on the floor. When he was brought to the police station he was too drunk to give his name and the regular search failed to reveal any money in his pockets. He will probably be sober enough to be taken to court this afternoon, at which time he will likely volunteer to settle for the mirror.

This is the first case of that kind reported this spring, but the police do not expect it to be the last. The officers are also commencing to look for reports from men who have been "rolled" and turned out into the street without a cent.

Isaac Isaacson swore that he would never take another drink when he was arraigned in police court this morning and on taking the pledge he was given his freedom. His wife appeared to testify against him, stating that whenever he got drunk he made it a practice to drive her out of the house and to abuse her and the children.

Christina Walstead, 28 years of age, pleaded guilty to vagrancy when she was brought up with the grist this morning. The police reported that she had been doing nothing for some time. She promised to go to work and sentence was suspended.

Henry Reau paid a fine of $15 and costs in police court yesterday afternoon on pleading guilty to having cut down two trees on the park way on London road near Fourteenth avenue east. He is a house mover and explained that the man whose house he was moving had told him that it was all right to remove the trees.

* * *

"Please put me in jail," said John Maki when he walked into headquarters last evening. He was considerably the worse for liquor and his request was complied with. This morning he admitted that he had been drunk, but declared that jail no longer looked good to him. He said that he had a job and wanted to go to work. Sentence was suspeneded.

Rosie O'Grady, a cook, said she had not taken a drink during all the years she was in Fargo because North Dakota is a prohibition state. She was up today for having become voluntarily intoxicated. She pleaded guilty but was released when she explained that she had a place to go to, work. "Never again for me," she said.

EXPECT TO GET ALLENS

Detectives Say They Have the Mountaineers Cornered.

Fifty-Four Men Are Crawling to Supposed Refuge of Outlaws.

Hillsville, Va., March 28.—"We will get them today," was the promise again this morning of the detectives on the trail of what is left of the Allen gang. Fifty-four men, making their way on foot through thickets or over rough trails, began closing in on the spot high up in the Blue Ridge in which Sidna and Friel Allen and Weseley Edwards are supposed to have found their last hiding place.

Across the North Carolina line, at Mount Airy, Sheriff Haynes of Surry county has a posse of fifty awaiting word to join the Virginia searchers. What use, if any, shall be made of this force will be decided by today's developments.

Judge Staples held court a few minutes this morning to enter a special order, adjourning until April 23, the special term of the Carroll county court. At that time dates for the trial of Victor Allen, Sidna Edwards and Byrd Marion will be set.

Judge Staples will sit at Roanoke Saturday to hear arguments on the motion for a change of venue in the case of Floyd Allen. This decision came after a lengthy conference with counsel for both sides. The date as well as the place for Floyd Allen's trial will be set Saturday. It is probable his trial will be held in Roanoke, April 15.

DISCUSS DEMANDS OF COTTON MILL HANDS.

New Bedford, Mass., March 28.—The possibility of a strike of thousands of the 30,000 cotton mill operators of this city was faced by the New Bedford Manufacturers' association, which met today to consider again the demands of the mill workers for an advance of 10 per cent in wages. The workers who have refused t accept an increase of 5 per cent by the manufacturers, are said to remain firm in their demand for 10 per cent.

PROJECT HAS BEEN OVER RATED

Local Man Says Key West Road Is Not So Wonderful.

J. H. Darling, United States engineer for the Head of the Lakes district and Mrs. Darling returned today from a trip through the South and East, the principal and longest stops having been made at Tampa, Fla., and Washington, D. C.

Mr. Darling was much interested in the Florida and Key West railroad. The local man states that this project was not such a large undertaking or such a wonderful engineering project as has been imagined.

Mr. and Mrs. Darling have been gone for nearly two months. The trip was taken purely for recreation.

On the way home Mr. Darling stopped at Racine, Wis., for the purpose of inspecting the new government patrol boat which is being built there for use in the Duluth-Superior harbor.

The boat will be called the "Nemadji." She will be ready by the time navigation opens. The Nemadji is sixty feet long, with a twelve-foot beam and a draught of four feet. She will have a 100-horse-power motor and will make fourteen miles an hour.

ARIZONA HOUSE PASSES RECALL AMENDMENT BILL.

Baptist Delegates Chosen.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Delegates to the annual gathering of the Northern Baptist conference were elected by the North Dakota Convention board here yesterday: Rev. C. E. Hemans of Grand Forks, Rev. Ole Olson of Fargo, and Rev. E. E. Barnhardt of Minot.

BEGIN WORK FOR THE CITY

Dr. E. W. Fahey and John Wilson Assume Duties in City Hall.

Health Commissioner Tackles Big Job of Cleaning the City.

Dr. E. W. Fahey and John Wilson took up their duties as health commissioner and city engineer, respectively, this morning.

Both were at their offices this morning and made preliminary surveys of the work on hand and commenced to familiarize themselves with the various matters which they will handle for the coming two years.

City Engineer Wilson, who drew the plans and specifications for the Woodland sanitary trunk sewer, went to look over the ground again this morning. The board of public works has awarded the contract for the construction of the big sewer and it is expected that the work on it will be started by Contractor Steele without loss of time.

Health Commissioner Fahey takes over the office at a time when the citizens are turning their minds towards the annual spring cleaning. The thaw will soon be completed and it will not be long before the officials of the department will be getting active in this direction. As usual, the city has hundreds of yards which need considerable attention. It has been customary later in the season to put a number of extra inspectors to work to cover all parts of the city to insure the cleaning up of all premises which are not in proper shape. Many citizens do this voluntarily but there are others who wait until they are forced to act before they get busy.

BEGIN ARGUMENT IN PARSONS CASE

Government Calls Only One Witness for Rebuttal Testimony.

New York, March 28. — John F. Parsons, octogenarian and former chief counsel for the American Sugar Refining company, resumed the witness stand today for cross-examination by District Attorney Wise at the resumption of the government's case against him and other directors of the company, charged with violating the criminal clause of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The defense rested its case with the testimony of Mr. Parsons. The district attorney called but a single witness, Samuel Untermeyer, in rebuttal, and counsel for the defense began its summing up.

With self-possession and vigor which excited the wonder of spectators crowded in the court room, Mr. Parsons testified in defense to the government's charges.

Delaney Nicoll, counsel for the defendants, through Mr. Parsons sought to show that the "trust" had made every effort to get Segal to repay the million and a quarter loan which he had obtained from it through Gustave E. Kissel, and which the government alleges the "trust" refused to accept and thereby throttled the Pensylvania sugar enterprise.

Mr. Parsons asserted that he had positively warned Kissel "that under no circumstances must he refuse repayment of the loan."

The witness said that at that time he was making a particular study of the Sherman anti-trust law, as he was acting as counsel in the Knight case, when the government sued the sugar "trust" for acquiring four refineries in Philadelphia and lost its case.

ELWELL LAW CASE APPEALED

Road Statute Is Carried to the State Supreme Court.

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Elwell road law of 1911, which was upheld in a decision filed yesterday by Judge Olin B. Lewis of the Ramsey county district court, sustaining the demurrer of the state officers who were made defendants in the injunction suit brought by Pennington county property owners to test its constitutionality, has been appealed to the supreme court of Minnesota.

Has Returned to Duluth.

Negaunee, Mich., March 28.—Will McCarthy, the diamond drill man, who has been operating on a leased property in Negaunee township, has packed up his equipment and left Negaunee for Duluth, his headquarters, after spending the past year in this vicinity.

THINK THIS OVER
This Offer Should Gain the Confidence of the Most Skeptical.

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to us in any way whatever, if you accept our offer. That's a mighty broad statement, but we mean every word of it. Could anything be more fair to you?

A most scientific, common-sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. Their active principle is a recent scientific discovery that is odorless, colorless, and tasteless; very pronounced, gentle, and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. This ingredient does not cause diarrhoea, nausea, flatulence, griping, or other inconvenience. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

If you suffer from chronic or habitual constipation, or the associate or dependent chronic ailments, we urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Remember, you can get them in Duluth only at our store. 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. E. M. (Continued from page 1.)

of Tuesday in the Fourteenth assembly district of Brooklyn should not be set aside and a new election ordered.

It is alleged that the election was irregular and void because ballots were not delivered within the time provided by the new primary law and in some cases not at all, so that many voters were unable to cast their ballots.

Leaders of the two factions of the party cannot agree as to who is responsible for the failure to deliver official ballots at many of the polling places. Chairman Duell insists that the Republican county organization was responsible, while Mr. Koenig declares that the board of elections and the official printers had complete charge of the printing and distribution of the ballots.

A Home Recipe for Wrinkled, Saggy Skin

(From Beauty and Health)

The famous saxolite lotion recommended by beauty specialists for removing wrinkles and for reducing distended pores, can be made at home. Ask your druggist for saxolite in powdered form, 1 oz., and ½ pint witch hazel. Dissolve the powder in the witch hazel, and bathe the face, neck and hands in the solution. Results are remarkable, and instantaneous. The skin tightens, and this naturally reduces the wrinkles, as well as creases or folds about the neck, cheeks or hands. The tissue beneath the skin also becomes firmer and more solid.

One feels much refreshed and exhilarated after using this truly wonderful preparation. Its continued use for only a short time makes one look five or ten years younger.

Denies Threat to Bolt.

St. Louis, Mo., March 28.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt arrived here this morning and during the day was to be the guest of the Million Population club. Tonight he will speak in the First Regiment armory under the auspices of the Missouri Roosevelt club.

Reports that Col. Roosevelt had intimated that he would bolt from his party in case he fails of nomination brought forth a denial from the colonel today.

"Any statement like that is untrue," he said. "Any time I have anything to say on that subject I will say it myself, and anything purporting to come from me unless I say it myself is a fake."

Col. Roosevelt's program was that after breakfast and an automobile ride, he was to have luncheon at the city club, speak at the Merchants' Exchange and the Coliseum in the afternoon. His addresses in the day were not expected to be of a political nature.

After the Armory speech tonight it is expected he will go to East St. Louis, Ill., for a short address.

Teddy Expects to Gain.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 28.—Managers of the Roosevelt movement expected to add six and the Taft leaders four to their scores in the race for Indiana delegates to the national Republican convention today.

Five district conventions are to be held this afternoon and it appeared the Roosevelt men would have a majority in the sixth, eighth and ninth, and that Taft delegates would be chosen in the second and tenth.

Of the sixteen members of Indiana's delegation already elected fourteen have been instructed for Taft and two for Roosevelt.

KNIFE USED BY MASHER

John Johnson Stabbed By Man Who Was Annoying Young Woman.

Girl's Protector Is Wounded and Assailant Has Disappeared.

John Johnson of West Second street was stabbed three times in the side by Joe Muller at Fourth avenue west and Superior street about 11 o'clock last night because of alleged interference of Johnson with himself and Hilda Larson, a domestic employed in the Johnson home.

It is claimed that Muller's attentions were distasteful to the girl and that she was trying to avoid him when she saw him on Fifth avenue west last evening. Johnson is said to have been in the vicinity and to have seen Muller start to follow her, whereupon he set out to follow both of them.

According to the story Johnson told a policeman, the girl boarded a Lakeside car going east, and was followed by Muller. When she saw him on the car it is stated that she rang the bell and stepped off at Fourth avenue. In the meantime Johnson had reached the corner. He alleges that Muller attacked him with a knife so quickly and unexpectedly that he had no opportunity to defend himself.

Following the assault, Muller disappeared and Johnson gave his side of the case to the policeman who had been attracted to the scene. He refused to go to a hospital and went to his home, where his wounds were dressed by a physician. His condition is said not to be serious. Muller is being sought by the police.

ASKS MEN TO GO TO WORK

sumption of work or continuance of the strike has been cast and counted.

It is these who are causing the trouble which necessitated the dispatch yesterday of troops to Chirk, in Wales, where work has been proceeding for some days in the Brynkinalle collieries, and to Cannock, in the Midlands, where efforts were made last night to prevent the men working.

Some Mines Operating.

Other owners are opening their mines today and men who wish to start work will receive full protection from the government.

In the great military camp at Aldershot 10,000 soldiers are held in readiness to move at any moment to any point in the country and at other military posts similar arrangements have been made.

More urgent even than the necessity of protecting the mines is the very heavy duty facing the country of relieving the terrible destitution caused everywhere by the strike. Millions are living in a state of virtual semi-starvation in various parts of the country.

The settlement can come none too soon, for of the 2,000,000 men besides the miners who have been thrown out of employment at least a half do not belong to any trade organization and therefore receive no out of work benefit.

In Southern Wales the distress is becoming more terrible each day. In thousands of homes there would be no fuel and no food but for the efforts of the relief committees which have been formed. The women and children, however, wait in patience hoping for a settlement which shall be favorable to their men.

Prices Keep Going Up.

Prices everywhere still are rising, and it is almost impossible even for those men who are receiving out of work benefits to purchase the necessities of life.

The worst famine spot in the whole country exists in the potteries district, which comprises the towns of Stoke-upon-Trent, Hanley, Longton, Burslem, Tunstell and New Castle-under-Lyme. One of the doctors engaged in the work of relief yesterday came across three persons there dying of starvation.

On the river Tyne, whose surface is usually covered with vessels coming in or going out no fewer than 132 steamers are laid up and in addition to the miners there are 40,000 men unemployed.

The condition of things has brought about a serious split in the ranks of the labor party and has strained the relations between the miners and the other trade unionists. It was only in 1909 that the miners joined the labor party, they having always maintained their own representatives in parliament and there is now a likelihood that they will again separate.

Several Socialist members of the house of commons announced today they will speak in various parts of the country during the week-end in favor of the government's minimum wage bill.

PNEUMONIA CLAIMS TWO LITTLE ONES

Cloquet Child of 18 Months and Another 1 Year Old Are Dead.

Cloquet, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Canfield, died at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from pneumonia. The boy was considered seriously ill only about twenty-four hours and the death was a shock to neighbors and friends of the family. The boy was about 18 months old. One other child, a little girl, is left.

Robert Doussault, the 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Doussault, died Tuesday morning from pneumonia after a very brief illness. The funeral took place Wednesday from the Catholic church, Father Lemire officiating. This is the third death this week from pneumonia.

Hallock, Minn., March 28. — (Special to The Herald.) — Dr. Gus Demars, aged 76, was struck by the 4 o'clock train here yesterday afternoon while crossing the track and rendered unconscious, his head being badly bruised. He is in a very critical condition and on account of his age it is feared he cannot survive.

George T. Slade Sick.

St. Paul, Minn., March 28. — Vice President George T. Slade of the Northern Pacific has been confined to his home on Summit avenue for two days, suffering from a severe cold. He intended to complete a three weeks' investigation of the system with President Howard Elliott, but was compelled to turn back at Paradise, Mont.

HOSPITAL MUST PAY

Woman Injured in Laundry Is Given Verdict Against St. Luke's.

Will Recover $4,000—Hospital Not Exempt as Charity Institution.

St. Luke's hospital must pay Mary E. McInerny $4,000 for the loss of her hand.

Mrs. McInerny was employed in the laundry at the hospital and her hand was caught in a mangle. She brought suit against the hospital for $15,000, claiming that no safeguards had been provided for workers in the laundry. The jury in Judge Cant's room brought in a verdict of $4,000 this morning. The defense was that the hospital was a charitable institution and was not liable, but Judge Cant overruled this contention yesterday afternoon, and the case went to the jury on its merits.

As for the 175,000 miners in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania, it was announced by national union officials today that a strike there next Monday was unavoidable.

Involve 500,000 Men.

Jointly, the wage disputes involve a threatened strike of almost 500,000 miners, and the shutting down of almost every unionized coal mine in the country.

With only three days intervening before the time set for the shutdown in case no agreement is reached, the bituminous conference sub-committee went to work today after announcing that no tentative plan of agreement had been drawn up, and so far as both sides could say there was no immediate prospect of agreeing.

The conference represents the wage dispute only in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, where 200,000 miners are employed, but it fixes the basis of wage agreements for other states. A previous reference to a sub-committee had resulted in failure to agree.

Anthracite Shutdown Certain.

"A strike in the anthracite fields may be said already to have been ordered," said John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America. "That much of the situation is settled. The strike there will take effect automatically and it requires no further referendum vote of the union or action by the policy committee. The anthracite men understand thoroughly no wage scale exists upon which they can continue to work after Sunday night, and they accordingly must quit."

Although both anthracite and bituminous miners have demanded increases in pay ranging from 10 to 20 per cent and for radical changes in working conditions, the union officials have attempted to adjust the differences separately.

In anticipation of a general strike, union officials today began to figure how many men still would remain at work. It was announced that practically all the anthracite mines would be closed, but that in the case of the bituminous mines there would be exceptions. The union contracts in Wyoming, Montana, Washington and Colorado do not expire on April 1, and the men therefore would remain at work there.

The contracts in the Southwestern fields, embracing Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri, require sixty days' notice before the men may suspend. The non-union mines of the country which would not necessarily be involved employ about 300,000 men.

Leave Schuylkill Collieries.

Shamokin, Pa., March 28.—Miners started taking tools from the collieries in the Schuylkill section today in anticipation of a suspension of work on Saturday. Some foreigners are departing for Europe, where they will remain until the expected labor troubles in the coal fields are over.

The United Mine Workers are awaiting the return of John Fahy, president of District No. 9, and his colleagues from Cleveland, to direct their movements in the expected suspension.

Chicago Prices Advanced.

Chicago, March 28.—An advance of from 50 cents to $1.50 on the ton has been added to the price of coal at retail in Chicago during the past three weeks.

Dealers, who say the situation is the worst since 1902, assert that there is no prospect of immediate relief. There appears to be plenty of soft coal in storage, but much of it is kept off the market through fear of a coal strike.

New York Rush Over.

New York, March 28. — On the eve of a suspension of work in the anthracite coal region because of the inability of the operators and the miners to come to an agreement on the wage scale and certain working conditions, wholesale coal dealers and shippers said today the coal panic among consumers had practically subsided. The eager buyers of coal have laid in their supplies and the demand for anthracite in this market has fallen off.

Coal is coming to market in large quantities and is now quite easily obtained. The early strike talk caused an unusual demand but the wholesalers say that this has been satisfied.

10 o'clock he arrived at his home and told Mrs. Dowse that he was not feeling well and intended to go to his room and lie down for a while. He asked Mrs. Dowse to make a cup of coffee for him, and she went to the kitchen to prepare the drink. A few minutes later she heard the sound of a shot, and on reaching the room found Mr. Dowse lying dead on the bed with a revolver in his hand. He had shot himself through the heart and death was instantaneous.

Robert Dowse was born in New York city on Sept. 28, 1864. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dowse. When only 5 years of age his parents came to Duluth, and he had resided in this city continuously since that time, with the exception of a few years when he lived in St. Paul. His father is still living, being a resident of Portland, Or.

Mrs. Dowse was Miss Cornelia Chapin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Chapin, early residents of Duluth. They had two children, both of whom are living. A daughter, Dorothy, is 18 years of age, and a son, Robert, is 9. Miss Dorothy has been attending school in Farmington, Mass., and at present is visiting her aunt in New York. The son, Robert, was at school when his father ended his life.

He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. F. F. Huntress, who lives in Portland.

For several years Mr. Dowse was engaged in business with his father-in-law, A. B. Chapin, acting as general manager of the St. Louis Lumber company. When the lumber company finished its operations and closed down its mill, Mr. Dowse entered business for himself, and set up a real estate and insurance agency. He placed the Congdon park addition to Duluth on the market.

The cause of his act is believed to have been despondency over business worry. In the present dull condition of the real estate market he evidently found himself unable to carry the business burdens he had assumed. Carl A. Luster, a very intimate friend of Mr. Dowse's, stated this morning that he could ascribe no other reason for the act. "He was undoubtedly despondent over his business affairs," said Mr. Luster.

Mr. Schau, his office assistant, stated that he could see nothing out of the ordinary in Mr. Dowse's manner this morning. Mr. Schau had not heard of the suicide until informed by The Herald reporter, and could not credit the report.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

LA FOLLETTE IS COMING

Wisconsin Senator Will Speak in Duluth Next Month.

Will Make Campaign in Minnesota From April 21 to 25.

Senator Robert M. La Follette will speak in Duluth on some date between April 21 and 25.

Members of the Duluth La Follette club who have been in conference with George S. Loftus, president of the Minnesota Progressive league, were informed that the Wisconsin senator will make a campaign in Minnesota between April 21 and 25. Senator La Follette asked that the itinerary be arranged so that he may speak in Duluth.

The exact date of the Duluth speech has not been determined, but notice of the date is expected to come from Walter L. Houser, manager of the La Follette campaign, within a few days. Mr. Loftus said that arrangements made be made so that Senator La Follette will close his Minnesota campaign in this city.

The members of the La Follette club are jubilant over the prospective visit of the Wisconsin senator. They are hopeful of success in St. Louis county and La Follette's visit will give impetus to their campaign. Senator La Follette has many admirers in Duluth and they will be glad of the opportunity to hear him.

The date for the speech by Congressman Irvine L. Lenroot of Superior has not been arranged, but he will speak here on behalf of Senator La Follette some time during the campaign.

MUST BREED BETTER COWS.

Advice of Prof. Humphrey to Wisconsin Livestock Breeders.

Livingston, Wis., March 28.—To realize the profit from their labors that they should, Badger state dairymen, according to Prof. George C. Humphrey, must breed better cows and then supply their herds with such feeds and give them such care as will induce economical milk production. Prof. Humphrey spoke thus to an audience of dairymen and farmers who visited the special demonstration train of the Wisconsin Lovestock Breeders' association here yesterday.

Even in Wisconsin, the leading dairy state in the Union, he said, the average cow produces about 175 pounds of butter per year, barely paying for the feed she consumes. Although there are many cows owned by Wisconsin dairymen which produce at the rate of 350 pounds of butter per year, and returning neat profits to their owners, the proportion of such animals is not nearly as great as it should be, he said.

DRINK HABIT CURED

IN THREE DAYS

No longer is the drinking man tolerated in business. As soon as it becomes noised about that a man is drinking, investigation starts—the confidence of business acquaintances disappears. That is the beginning of the end. No man can succeed without the confidence of those with whom he proposes to do business. The Neal treatment offers perfect relief in three days—does away with all craving and desire for liquor, restores the nervous system, clears and strengthens the brain.

NO HYPODERMIC INJECTIONS

With the Neal treatment there are no hypodermic injections, no poisonous drugs, no bad after effects—it is SAFE, HARMLESS, POSITIVE. In three days the drinker is a man RENEWED, with no more craving or desire for liquor than the day he took the first drink.

The Neal Institute treats all patients under a plain contract to cure in three days—to cure satisfactorily—or the fee paid will be refunded at the end of the third day.

Call, write, 'phone, or wire for free booklet giving full information, also for a copy of our contract. Everything confidential; bank reference cheerfully furnished.

ROTARY CLUBS' CONVENTION HERE

National Gathering Will Be Held in Duluth During Summer.

E. J. Filiatrault, president of the Duluth Rotary club, received word yesterday that the national convention of the Rotary Clubs of America will be held in Duluth the latter part of July or the first week of August. It was announced several weeks ago in The Herald that the convention would meet in Duluth this summer, but the dates were not known then, nor are they definitely settled yet.

The gathering will bring about 1,000 delegates from sixty-four of the leading municipalities of the United States to Duluth, as well as representatives from Canada and several European countries. Topics of general interest to all cities will be discussed at the three days' session.

One of the purposes of the Rotary club is to bring about closer relations between the business and professional men of the city and in turn with other cities. Meetings are held every week and anyone who does not attend at least every fourth meeting is dropped from the membership rolls.

DEFIES BULLETS TO SAVE MATE

Alleged Bullion Thief Fails and Swims to Safety in Spits of Shots.

San Bernardina, Cal, March 28.—H. (Slim) Langley, one of the desert teamsters charged with having attempted to steal $20,000 in bullion from the Central Lodge Mining company, ended a week's persuit yesterday by swimming to the Arizona side of the Colorado river under the fire of a sheriff's posse. While in the middle of the stream, with bullets striking all about him, Langley tried to aid his companion, Bert Lane, but the latter became exhausted and was drowned.

Alternately swimming under water and on the surface, Langley landed on the Arizona shore and disappeared.

Special services will be held at the Temple Emanuel, Second street and Seventh avenue east, Monday evening at 5:30 o'clock. A sermon will be preached by Rabbi Lefkowitz and a special musical program will be rendered by the Temple choir.

Pesach, the annual Feast of Passover or of Unleavened Bread, will be celebrated in the Jewish homes and synagogues for one week, beginning on Monday, April 1, at sundown. This is the oldest feast of the Jewish calendar. It goes back into history nearly 3,300 years. It commemorates the emancipation of Israel from Egyptian bondage and the entrance into the dignity and destiny of national life. It thus marks the birth of the Hebrew people.

The main characteristic of its celebration has always been domestic. In the homes the families and invitea friends gather on the first and second evenings to recount in song and story and, amid appropriate symbolism the deliverance of Israel. The main symbols of this Seder service are the roasted lamb bone, reminding them of the lamb each Israelite slaughtered as a sacrifice of the covenant; the mazzah or unleavened bread to be eaten during the whole week, recalling the hasty preparations for the exodus from Egypt, and the bitter herbs, suggesting vividly the bitter life of their forefathers in Egypt. There are two other symbols of the table decorations, namely, the four cups of wine allowed to each one as reminders of the four-fold phrase of the first Declaration of Independence and the cup of wine meant for the prophet Elijah.

The Feast of the Passover has not lost its thrilling significance to the modern Jew. To those still pining in slavery in Russia and Roumania, it sings the song of ultimate redemption, while to those living under the blessed flag of freedom it teaches the ceaseless lesson of gratitude together with an appreciation of the higher civic duties and responsibilities of constitutional liberty.

VICTOR RECORDS FOR APRIL OUT

New records for April for the Victor phonograph are ready at the dealers. Among the finest offerings is a record of the Sextet from "Lucia" by Tetrazzini, Caruso, Amato, Jouret, Jacoby and Bada, which is of special interest. A rendition by this ever popular number by such a talented group of artists has rarely been given, and lovers of good music should welcome this record.

Caruso sings solos in three different languages—a charming ballad, "Love is Mine," in English; a lovely air in French from Massenet's "Manon," and an amusing Neapolitan song given with marked jollity and abandon. Marcel Journet, the great French basso, renders the famous Benediction scene from "Huguenots" and an impressive number from Donizetti's "Favorita."

Pasquale Amato sings extremely well the merry, but difficult, "Alfio's Song" from Cavalleria Rusticana, and with Journet and the Metropolitan opera chorus, gives a striking rendition of the Sword scene from the second act of "Faust."

Instrumental numbers, band numbers, light opera numbers and solos by the many popular singers of the day are also on this new list, any one of which would please.

OPENING AT LEISER STORE

Display of Spring Styles Arouses Much Favorable Comment.

The display in window and shop of the Leiser company's store on Superior street this week has been one of the special features of the showings for style week.

Their windows have held models dressed in gowns, frocks and suits of ultra fashionable cut, which have attracted the favorable comment of hundreds of women.

In their windows now are two evening gowns of the most exquisite taste. One of sapphire blue marquisette made over white crepe de meteor with gold fringe trimmings and another of primrose marquisette over the same clingy popular material, trimmed with gold fringes and braid, were both particularly noted. A black bengaline wrap lined with a primrose shade of the same goods and made with the new Cardinal Farley huge cape collar was an example of a new fashion.

There are waists of exquisite embroideries and laces made in late styles; suits in serges, bengalines, silks, whipcords, bedford cords and mixed goods cut on extreme and tailored lines; coats and wraps for street and dress wear and wonderfully pretty gowns in tub materials, linens, lingerie, serges and silks. An especially pretty gown, which was displayed, was of white chiffon over white crepe de meteor, made with a black border about the edge of the over skirt, and a long pink sash put on one side of the front. The bodice and overskirt were embroidered with silver.

Another of the Russian Cossack effects was of black crepe de chine with a bodice of shadow lace.

In every line the same high grade goods, fashioned on the latest lines and with nifty, attractive trimmings, were seen and everything had the added attraction of being valued at popular prices.

SUFFRAGETTES WORK IN CHICAGO STREETS.

Chicago, March 28.—Suffragists yesterday made the first of what they say will be daily invasions of the downtown quarter in taxicabs. Police stopped one of the taxicabs because the speakers had no license for holding a street meeting, but the second delegation was unmolested. Every time the machine stopped, one of the suffragists would make an address while the remainder distributed literature. One of the workers was 15 years old.

CLEAN BILL FOR SENATOR STEPHENSON

Senate Declares His Election Legal By Vote of 40 to 34.

Smelter Trust Probe Sought By Coloradoan—Other Washington Doings.

Washington, March 28.—Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin, octogenarian millionaire banker and lumberman, retains his seat. By a vote of 40 to 34, the senate declared his election valid and rejected the charge that $107,793 which the senator admitted spending in the Wisconsin primaries had been used corruptly.

Twenty-eight Republicans and twelve Democrats voted to hold Senator Stephenson's election valid. Eighteen Democrats and sixteen Republicans voted to declare it corruptly obtained. The ballots were cast as follows:

For Stephenson—Republicans, Bradley, Brandegee, Briggs, Burnham, Burton, Clark of Wyoming, Crane, Curtis, Dillingham, Du Pont, Gamble, Heyburn, Lippett, Lodge, Lorimer, McCumber, McLean, Nixon, Oliver, Page, Penrose, Perkins, Richardson, Root, Smoot, Sutherland, Warren and Wetmore; Democrats, Bankhead, Chilton, Fletcher, Foster, Johnston, Newlands, Overman, Pomerene, Rayner, Smith of Maryland, Watson and Thornton.

Against Stephenson—Republicans, Borah, Bourne, Bristow, Brown, Clapp, Crawford, Cummins, Dixon, Gronna, Jones, Kenyon, La Follette, Poindexter, Smith of Michigan, Townsend and Works; Democrats, Bryan, Chamberlain, Culberson, Gardner, Hitchcock, Johnson, Kern, Lea, Martine, Meyers, O'Gorman, Owen, Percy, Shiveley, Smith of Georgia, Smith of South Carolina, Stone and Williams.

The pairs were: Nelson with Bacon, Gallinger with Clark of Arkansas, Guggenheim with Davis, Cullom with Simmons; Paynter with Gore, and Bailey with Reed, the first named in each case being favorable to Stephenson and the last named against him.

The senators unrecorded and unpaired were Swanson of Virginia, Taylor of Tennessee, Tillman of South Carolina, and Mr. Stephenson, who, of course, refrained from voting. For Senator Taylor, Mr. Lea explained that he was too ill to be consulted.

Felt Vindication Due.

Senator Stephenson declared he felt a vindication was due to him.

"I never spent a dollar wrongfully in my life," said he. "In sixty-six years of active management of large institutions, I have employed several thousand men—three generations of them—and never had a strike. I never used a dollar for a fraud of any kind."

Senator Lorimer, whose vote for Senator Stephenson was greeted by an outburst of laughter in the senate galleries, is under similar charges.

The vote came at the end of a day's speech-making by Senators Pomerene and Sutherland for Mr. Stephenson and Senators Cummins, Lea, O'Gorman and Poindexter against him. Mr. Poindexter declared Senator Stephenson's alleged offense greater than that charged against Senator Lorimer. Senator Lea declared that Senator Stephenson's workers had violated the rules of ordinary decency and propriety and wept because there was nothing left to violate.

For Smelter Trust Probe.

An investigation of the "Smelter trust" by the house committee on mines and mining is proposed by Representative Martin of Colorado, in a resolution introduced in the house. Introducing his resolution, Mr. Martin bitterly attacked the Guggenheims, calling them one of the "richest families in the world." He declared the Guggenheim "checkbook" had written into Colorado political history "its foulest and blackest pages."

He characterized the failure of the department of justice to report the existence of a Smelter trust as "astounding," and said that in the West this satement was received "with incredulity." He declared the Smelter trust had left a "grave yard" of rival smelters throughout the state of Colorado.

To Study Land Banks.

The senate finance committee agreed to recommend favorably the Gronna resolution for the appointment of a commission to investigate the operations of co-operative land mortgage banks and co-operative rural credit unions of other countries. A limit of one year was placed on the life of the commission, which will be limited to three members.

To Repeal Reciprocity Act.

A favorable report on the bill to repeal the Canadian reciprocity law excepting section 2, relating to wood pulp and print paper, was authorized by the senate committee on finance. The law was rendered inoperative save as to the paper schedule by Canada's rejection of the reciprocity agreement which the law was to enforce.

To Hear Goethals.

Chairman Goethals of the Isthmian canal commission will explain his views on proposed Panama canal legislation before the senate and house committee on interstate and foreign commerce next Friday.

Urges Consular Bill.

Acting Secretary of State Huntington Wilson urged the house foreign affairs committee to report favorably his suggested consular bill, which he said would give the sanction and stability of law to the system under executive order. The rescinding of the present system by a new administration, he said, would be disastrous to American foreign commerce.

"We cannot advance foreign commerce," he declared, "with a catch-as-catch-can consular force, any more than a city could operate successfully a fire department or a police force with incompetent amateurs."

Moving Picture Men Talk.

Moving picture interests advocated before the house patents committee the compromise amendment to the law offered by Representative Townsend of New Jersey, Democrat, to impose not to exceed $100 fine on "innocent infringers" of copyrighted works in motion pictures and $5 a day and a fine on those who knowingly infringe. J. J. O'Donnel, counsel for New York moving picture interests, and Ligon Johnson, general counsel for the National Association of Theatrical Producing Managers, supported the amendment. The committee probably will act favorably on the bill.

STRAIN TOO GREAT

Hundreds of Duluth Readers Find Daily Toil a Burden.

The hustle and worry of business men,
The hard work and stooping of workmen,
The woman's household cares,
Are too great a strain on the kidneys.
Backache, headache, dizziness,
Kidney troubles, urinary troubles follow.

A Duluth citizen tells you how to cure them.

J. H. Tomlin, 112 W. Palmetto St., Duluth Heights, Duluth, Minn., says: "When I worked on the street railway in 1908, I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. At that time I said that I had suffered for two years from kidney complaint. I finally became so bad that I had to quit work for days. My back was painful and at night I was nervous. When I got up in the morning, I felt tired and worn out and I was made miserable by a kidney weakness. I have no doubt that the constant jar received while riding, caused my trouble. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me and I have not had much trouble from my back or kidneys since. I always have a box of Doan's Kidney Pills in the house."

MURDERED GIRL'S FUNERAL IS HELD

Crowds Attracted to Minneapolis Home and Cemetery By Obsequies.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 28.—Hundreds of people yesterday afternoon thronged the street and the yards near the home in which was held the funeral of Miss Alice Mathews, the 21-year-old mill worker who was assaulted and slain near her home last Sunday. Hundreds also crowded the cemetery where the interment took place. The funeral itself was private.

While scores of clews have been followed by the authorities, none has been productive of results. Late yesterday word was received by the police that an abandoned coat, overcoat and black slouch hat similar to those which Albert Savage declares the man who was with Miss Mathews Saturday night wore, were found in an outhouse six blocks from the Mathews home.

The police withing twenty-four hours also had received information of attempted attacks upon four women within the last week. The latest was yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Charles Lyons was attacked in her home, 26 Central avenue, by an unidentified man. She managed to make her escape.

One Clew Dissolved.

The one clew upon which the police have been basing their hopes of capturing the murderer was dissolved last night, when Albert Savage discovered that he was not on the car on which Miss Mathews started for home Saturday night, and the persons whom he saw were not Miss Mathews and the man suspected by the police of the crime. The mistake was discovered when Savage saw on the street here a man who he declared was the one with Miss Mathews. Upon investigation by the police, however, it was learned that Savage was on the 11:14 Cedar-Camden car, while Miss Mathews had started for home on the 11:06 car.

BUTTE MINERS VOTING.

Learning Wishes of Union as to Feasibility of Strike.

Butte, Mont., March 28.—The Butte union of the Western Federation of Miners is taking a referendum vote today to decide whether the miners will strike as a protest against the discharge of 350 men by the Anaconda Copper Mining company. It is claimed by the miners that the men were discharged because they are Socialists. A two-thirds vote was necessary to strike.

Vice President C. F. Kelly of the Anaconda company, has issued a statement that the company would not discriminate against any employe on the grounds of race, religion, color or politics, but would continue to exercise the right of hiring or discharging whom it pleased.

COMMITMENT ORDERS FOR TRADE MARK VIOLATORS.

Chicago March 28.—Formal orders of commitment have been ordered by Circuit Judge Scanlan against John V. Steger and four other officials for the Steger & Sons Piano Manufacturing company, who were sentenced from three to seven days in jail for contempt of court for violation of an injunction entered in a trade mark suit. The court allowed appeals to the supreme court and the five were given their freedom, pending the ruling of the upper court.

EIGHT INDICTMENTS AGAINST ALLEN CLAN.

Hillsville, Va., March 28.—The special grand jury empanelled to consider the courthouse assassinations returned eight new indictments against members of the Allen clan, charging murder and conspiracy to kill. Those indicted were Sidna, Floyd, Victor, Claude and Friel Allen, Byrd Marion, Sidna Edwards and Wesley Edwards. Of these Floyd Allen, Sidna Edwards, Victor Allen and Byrd Marion are in custody.

MAN SHOT BY BURGLAR IN HIS OWN HOME.

Minneapolis, Minn, March 29.—When George Willer, former member of the city police force, entered his home last night, he was shot with his own revolver, which a burglar had stolen. Willer will recover. The thief had collected articles of value in a suitcase, but fled without them after the shooting.

HOUSE-KEEPERS IN DULUTH PLEASED

Every cook in Duluth is delighted with the rich, nut-like flavor of "Minnesota" macaroni and spaghetti. Even people who never liked these foods, say they could eat "Minnesota" macaroni every day.

Good macaroni and spaghetti are easily digested and they are always appetizing because they can be prepared in so many different ways. They are fine for children—making their bodies strong and healthy, and they give grown people the power of endurance without overtaxing the stomach.

But if you want that rich, nut-like flavor be sure and get the delicious "Minnesota" brand macaroni or spaghetti—made from the finest Northern Durum wheat, with all the nourishing Gluten left in. It is easily digested and never gets soggy. All good Duluth grocers sell it.

COURT AT BRAINERD.

Trial of Actions Will Begin on May 28.

Brainerd, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The May term of the district court will commence May 28, the fourth Tuesday of the month. So far as known, the litigation on the calendar for the coming term is one embracing twenty civil cases continued from the last term of court. The grand jury will consider seven criminal cases, which include William Pearson of Pequot, accused of murdering George C. Douglas; two alleged game law violations; Winfred W. Rardin, accused of assault in the second degree, alleged to have been committed against Patrolman J. P. Barney; Gust Kreckel, accused of forging a check on James McMannis; Walter Elsner of Pequot, charged with incest. The Allen town cases, continued from the last term, will be taken up, and it is highly probable that the attorney general's office will be represented in the prosecution of these cases. The Ironton election contest will also probably be heard at this term.

DE FOREST ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF FRAUD.

SUFFERED NEARLY TWELVE YEARS PERUNA MY RELIEF.

Nasal Catarrh and Indigestion.

Mr. James P. Bracken, 442 W. 43rd St., New York City, N. Y., writes: "For nearly a dozen years catarrh has bothered me in one form or another. I was troubled with nasal catarrh that had affected my stomach, which troubled me most in the morning. My appetite was poor, and I did not seem to relish my food. Indigestion bothered me at times, also. I was advised to take Peruna, and I took it as prescribed for a month, when my cure was almost complete. Today there is not a trace of catarrh in my system, and I can say without hesitation that Peruna cured me."

Catarrh of Head and Stomach.

Mr. Frank Richter, 309 East Second St., Winona, Minn., writes: "As a remedy for catarrh I take pleasure in recommending Peruna for catarrh of the stomach.

"My catarrh was principally located in my head and stomach. I tried many remedies without success. I tried several doctors, but they were unable to cure me. I read of Peruna in the papers and five bottles cured me."

System in Bad Condition.

Mr. Michael Rooney, 26 Fifth St., Watervliet, N. Y., writes:

"If I had known of Peruna years ago I should have been saved much suffering. Under carelessness and exposure in my younger years my system got into a very bad condition before I was aware of it.

"My friends advised me to try Peruna, for which I am very thankful, as it has cured me in two months."

News and Views of Minnesota Politics

Iverson a Dark Horse.

The Eberhart people were hopeful that the interest in the presidential contest would divert attention from the governorship until after the delegate convention, but they are doomed to disappointment.

Edgar Weaver's entrance into the field has precipitated a new discussion, in which new candidates, new plots and new deals figure,—none of them favorable to Eberhart.

The probability of a deadlock in the convention and a dark horse candidate looms up like a cloud on the horizon. Gordon and Lee will very likely be the leading Progressive candidates in the convention. Weaver will have a certain number of delegates,—principally from the Second district. Most important is the fact that Weaver can get delegates that neither Gordon nor Lee could get. Weaver is from the governor's own county and he will put up a fight for delegates that would go to Eberhart if only outside candidates were in the field against him.

Even if only the four are in the field, the convention will be badly split. But the candidacy of L. C. Spooner of Morris is not unlikely. If Mr. Spooner gets into the race, he will contest for Seventh district delegates which might be expected to go to Sam Gordon under present conditions, but some of Spooner's strength will also come from Eberhart.

Sam Iverson stands in the background as a willing dark horse. He will not be so dark as the ordinary dark horse either. Mr. Iverson has long cherished an ambition to be governor. He has lined up some personal support throughout the state and will get that support for the governorship when he wants it. Mr. Iverson declares that he does not want to be the machine candidate in case the machine sidetracks Eberhart, but he is not modest about his desire to be the candidate for governor if conditions so shape themselves that he can step in and wrest the honor from the other candidates.

A report that Iverson is behind Weaver's candidacy is given credence in political circles. The report is that Iverson didn't see much chance of a deadlock with only Lee and Gordon in the field against Eberhart. If the governor failed to have a majority, a Lee-Gordon combination would be formed. Mr. Iverson figured, so the report goes, that Weaver would get a sufficient number of delegates to prevent Eberhart's having a majority and would get enough Progressive delegates in the lower part of the state to forestall a successful Gordon-Lee combination, thus insuring a deadlock while leaving Weaver's nomination unlikely. With the convention deadlocked, Mr. Iverson thinks he has a good chance of nomination, according to the story. For Mr. Weaver's part, he is to be appointed state auditor by Governor Iverson. Whether Mr. Iverson and his friends will line up second-choice pledges, or whether the auditor will content himself with things as they are is a question.

The outlook is not very encouraging to Governor Eberhart. Mr. Weaver is a strong candidate in the Second district. He is a fighter and has been in the political game long enough to have a wide circle of warm political friends. If the governor is forced to go into the convention without the support of the Blue Earth county delegates, he will be at a serious disadvantage. Mr. Weaver may not be nominated, but his candidacy is likely to be an effective block to Eberhart's renmoination.

No Extra Session.

Governor Eberhart will not call an extra session for the enactment of a presidential primary law. He made the announcement last evening in the following terms:

"The people of the state of Minnesota do not want a special session of the legislature. I am convinced of this and will not call one unless there should be a much greater demand expressed than I have heard yet. My answer to the petitioners, who sent their communication, will be sent tomorrow. I shall not call the legislators together at this time."

The governor's announcement reads strangely like other announcements refusing to call an extra session. The governor has ever been deaf to the demand for the enactment of popular measures. There was a demand for an extra session last summer and he could not hear. No more can he hear now.

Though the extra session will not be called, Irving A. Caswell is still hopeful of having his primary plan adopted by the state central committee. The committee will meet Tuesday and the La Follette and Roosevelt men will be on hand ready for a contest. The committee is dominated by Ed Smith, but the Progressives hope to have the primary adopted by sheer force of the demand for it from the Republicans of the state.

Opposed to Two-Thirds Rule.

Carlos R. Avery's paper, the Huchinson Leader, warmly commends Democratic state central committee for its condemnation of the unit rule. It suggests that the committee might have gone farther and recorded its opposition to the two-thirds rule of the Democratic national convention. The two-thirds rule is the most serious bar to Woodrow Wilson's nomination at Baltimore, the Leader says.

The Old Order Changeth.

The newspapers of Minnesota are not showing any enthusiasm over offers of plate matter from the headquarters of the different candidates for the presidency. Most of them refuse to run the press bureau matter of favored candidates, preferring to express their own opinions in their own way. The world do move and political campaigns change.

Change in Treasurer's Office.

Harold Frimodig of Duluth, who was appointed a clerk in the office of State Treasurer Walter J. Smith last fall, has resigned and George R. Olson, also of Duluth, has been appointed to succeed him. Besides having many friends in Duluth, Mr. Olson is a brother-in-law of Senator A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota.

La Follette Headquarters.

The Minnesota Progressive league will open headquarters in the West hotel, Minneapolis, in a few days. Benjamin Drake of Minneapolis, one of the original Minnesota Progressives, will very likely have charge of the headquarters, from which both state and county campaigns will be conducted.

GEORGE D. McCARTY.

LOOPHOLE FURNISHED

Gamble and Dillingham, would like mightily to find a way to brush aside facts and evidence and dismiss the case on a technicality. Justice Hanacy has furnished the technicality. Sweeping aside as merely irrelevant and immaterial matter all evidence about jackpots, bank deposits, $100 bills and the rest, he argues that his client is in the position of a man put on trial twice for the same offense. This, it is seriously said, will prevent the senate from even considering the report of the committee. Just why that argument was not properly urged before the United States conducted the long and exhaustive investigation which has cost the United States upwards of $100,000, and Mr. Lorimer even more, doesn't seem clear. Even now it is probably not a good argument in law, but it has given an excuse to certain members of the committee, who do not wish to offend the forces back of Lorimer, to vote in his favor without indorsing his record. It will be worth while noting who will be the senators who will vote for him or, this purely technical ground.

Direct Primaries in Illinois.

Washington Republicans hail with acclaim the call of the Illinois legislature for the purpose of calling direct primaries. The Roosevelt faction hails it as a triumph; the Taft people declare with confidence that it gives them a new opportunity to show the weakness of Roosevelt with the people, as manifested in South Dakota. Of course the Taft people are very careful to avoid reference to the fact that the president ran a bad third in North Dakota, but they lay emphasis on the fact that it was Roosevelt's own state in which he should normally be the winner. Indeed these two weeks are likely to teach some lessons to the people who believe that direct primaries will always declare for the most spectacular candidate. Mr. Bryan has already prepared for reverses in Nebraska by announcing his purpose to bolt if the primary should declare for Harmon. This, however, is not a new position for Mr. Bryan to take for he bolted when the state convention declared for Dahlman for governor.

At the same time it is indicative of the degree of confidence which the most earnest advocates of direct primaries are willing to put in the result. There are to be direct primary elections in Ohio next month to choose delegates to the Baltimore convention. Mr. Bryan is going into the state to fight against the indorsement of Governor Harmon—speaking from many of the same platforms from which in 1908 Mr. Harmon—not then governor—said repeatedly: "The election of the national ticket is vastly more important than that of the state ticket. If you do not feel like voting both I beg of you to vote for Mr. Bryan."

If the direct primaries in Ohio give a verdict in opposition to Mr. Bryan's argument he will refuse to accept it—as he declares he will in Nebraska.

What Ultimate Decision?

In North Dakota where the direct primaries resulted in a decided verdict against Mr. Roosevelt, his followers are pointing out, what is true on the surface, that they were more so against President Taft, and their expression therefore worthless. If this is going to be the attitude of those who urge and participate in direct primaries what is to be the ultimate decision as to the merits of the system?

In several of the Southern states where success at the Democratic primaries is equivalent to success in the election the system of a majority nomination is enforced. That is to say, if there be three or more candidates in the primary and none gets a majority of all votes cast, the two leaders must fight it all over again.

This is obviously impossible in primaries held for the election of delegates to a national convention. If it were tried the convention would be ended before the states having that rule could select their delegates. Nevertheless it is the only logical outcome of the position in which Mr. Bryan has put the Democrats of Nebraska.

In a word he declares that unless a majority vote declares for a candidate the declaration is worthless as being made by a minority. If a majority should declare for Governor Harmon the declaration is equally worthless, for Mr. Bryan will decline to serve if elected as a delegate.

If this is the attitude of one of the chief advocates of direct primaries, what are mere observers to say?

LORIMER'S FRIENDS EXPRESS CONFIDENCE.

Washington, March 28.—The senate Lorimer committee today resumed consideration of the case of the junior senator from Illinois, with the expectation that a report might be voted upon before adjournment. A test vote in the committee yesterday seemed to indicate the committee stood 5 to 3 in favor of Senator Lorimer. Under these circumstances it is certain that majority and minority reports ultimately will be made.

The vindication of Senator Stephenson late yesterday has given confidence to Lorimer supporters.

Friends of Senator Lorimer appeared confident that he would retain his seat. The effort will be made to have the senate pass first of all upon the purely legal phases of the case, the plea having been made that the senate has no right to try the senator a second time on substantially the same charges. The "res adjudicata" plea, raised by Senator Lorimer, is said to have caused a number of anti-Lorimer senators to waver in their views.

The anti-Lorimer senators are insistent on bringing the case before the senate without delay. The members of the committee who favor Lorimer profess the same desire. It is a matter of the highest privilege under the senate rules, and probably will be brought up very soon after the committee reports.

SOLID COLORADO VOTE FOR TAFT

Roosevelt Cohorts Hopelessly Beaten in the State Convention.

Colorado Springs, Colo., March 28.—The state Republican convention here selected eight delegates-at-large to the Chicago National convention, instructed for President Taft; adopted resolutions indorsing the Taft administration, and chose United States Senator Guggenheim as national committeeman from Colorado. The Taft instructions and indorsement were adopted by a viva voce vote and Senator Guggenheim was chosen national committeeman over Phillip B. Stewart of Colorado Springs, by a vote of 657 to 241.

Never after the first test vote on temporary chairman, when Thomas H. Devine of Pueblo, the Taft candidate, was elected over Ben Griffith, the Roosevelt candidate, by 656 to 242, was there a doubt as to the adoption of the program agreed upon by Taft leaders.

The Roosevelt adherents, although outnumbered, carried their fight to the floor of the convention, but the minority report indorsing Roosevelt and recommending that two delegates-at-large be given to the Roosevelt forces, was rejected overwhelmingly.

The delegates-at-large follow:

United States Senator Guggenheim, T. H. Devine, Jefferson Farr, Crawford Hill, A. M. Stevenson, Irving Howbert, A. N. Parrish and J. F. McDonald.

Household Remedy

Taken in the Spring for Years.

Ralph Rust, Willis, Mich., writes: Hood's Sarsaparilla has been a household remedy in our home as long as I can remember. I have taken it in the spring for several years. It has no equal for cleansing the blood and expelling the humors that accumulate during the winter. Being a farmer and exposed to bad weather, my system is often affected, and I often take Hood's Sarsaparilla with good results.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is Peculiar to Itself. There is no "just as good."

TO INVITE LA FOLLETTE.

Valley City Chautauqua Will Ask Him to Come There.

Valley City, N. D., March 28—(Special to The Herald.)—The Valley City Chautauqua association will extend a unique invitation to Senator La Follette to visit the assembly this summer in July. A monster invitation will be extended signed by several thousand people of North Dakota. Governor John Burke has signified his willingness to be the first signer of the petition which will contain the name of many state officials and well known citizens of North Dakota.

The invitation sets forth the fact that Valley City put Senator La Follette back on the map as a presidential candidate after his breakdown at Philadelphia and affirms the devotion of the state to the right kind of reciprocity and urges upon the Senator that it is his duty to reciprocate by coming to North Dakota and help put the Valley City chautauqua on the map.

"Masher" Fined at Menominee.

Menominee, Mich., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Max Clark of Detroit, a traveling salesman for the American Tobacco company, was arrested on the charge of "mashing" by Chief English. After spending the night in jail he was fined $25 and costs.

Take Testimony in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—W. H. Hamm and W. H. Stuteman of the North Dakota railroad and warehouse commission were in St. Paul yesterday taking testimony in a case involving the power of the state commission to compel competing lines to arrange schedules at junction points so connections may be made without great loss of time.

ROOSEVELT CHARGES OPPONENTS WITH USE OF FRAUD AT POLLS

Makes Scathing Denunciation of Methods Used in Primaries.

Cites New York, Indiana and Colorado Incidents as Examples.

Quotes Taft's Declaration of Attitude on Popular Vote.

Chicago, March 28.—Col. Roosevelt's most stinging campaign speech so far delivered was made here last night. He lashed his opponents with sharp, biting sentences, and charged some of them with using fraud and trickery to defeat him.

Col. Roosevelt said it was a fighting speech. It was delivered before a throng which packed the Auditorium and cheered him enthusiastically. The primaries in New York furnished the text for his speech.

He cited a number of instances in which he said his opponents had resorted to improper practices to defeat him. He expressed the belief that in the great majority of the districts of the country the people were with him, and that the opposition was attempting to defeat him by methods which, he said, "I can only characterize as infamous."

Part of Col. Roosevelt's speech was devoted to "big business." He opposed "our present policy of chaos," and gave his own ideas of the methods which should be pursued to insure strict regulation of large corporations.

Cheered By Big Crowds.

Chicago gave the former president a lively welcome. Crowds gathered to cheer him at the station when he arrived and whenever he appeared during the nine hours of his stay here. Three meetings were held, but many persons who wished to hear Col. Roosevelt were unable to do so.

When the colonel entered the Auditorium the people rose to their feet with a cheer. For two minutes the cheering continued, and during his speech he was frequently interrupted by applause.

Col. Roosevelt turned aside from his prepared speech from time to time.

In one of these sallies he discussed the statements of his opponents that he hopes to be dictator.

As to Being King.

"There isn't much danger to the people," he said, "from a man who can do nothing unless he can persuade them that what he wants is right. I am going to make one remark I have often been tempted to make but never have before. Occasionally my gloomy foes have said that I wanted to be king. I wanted to answer that they did not know kings as I did. I like the kings I have met, but I don't want to be one, because the function of those kings, expressed in the terms of democracy, would be the position of vice president for life with the leadership of the 100 thrown in. I think there are other jobs that a full-sized man would prefer."

On concluding the set portion of his speech, the colonel said:

"So much, friends, for what I have to say about business. It is a very important subject, but there is a still more important subject which I wish to touch upon.

The Fundamental Issue.

"Now the fundamental issue in this fight is an issue of honesty, decency, fair play. Have the people the right to rule? Have the masses of the republican party, the rank and file, the plain people in whom Abraham Lincoln trusted, the right to express their will as to who the nominee for president shall be? Or are they to be bullied and defrauded of that right, and is the nomination to be entrusted to the representatives of the political and financial privilege, the representatives of the powers of pillage, the men who with the backing of big crooked business work through the lowest kind of political machinery and count on the silence or support of every newspaper that is owned or controlled by, or directly or indirectly responsive to, those great financial powers that work in the darkness?

"Now I am using strong language because only strong language will describe the facts as they actually are, I shall not give details. This is not a factional fight. It is a far more important event than an ordinary party fight. The issue is whether the American people are fit and able to govern themselves or whether they are to be governed by those machine politicians whose close alliance with the worst forms of big business has promoted nine-tenths of the corruption of American public life."

The Taft Doctrine.

Col. Roosevelt said that in many parts of the country the opposition was counting for success on methods "that I can only characterize as infamous." He asserted that President Taft had committed himself to the doctrine of the rule of the people by a "representative part of the people."

"In pursuit of this theory of government," he continued, 'the president's political fortunes are now committed to the political machines in the various states which are led and controlled by men like Mr. Tawney in Minnesota; Mr. Keeling in Indiana; Mr. Penrose in Pennsylvania; Mr. Ballinger in Washington; Messrs Barns and Koenig in New York; Mr. Gallinger in New Hampshire; Messrs Guggenheim and Evans in Colorado; Mr. Aldrich in Rhode Island; Mr. Cox in Ohio, and Mr. Lorimer in Illinois. These are the men, who, when his theory is translated into actual practice, actually appear as that 'representative part' of the people which is to govern all the rest of the people."

The colonel then turned to the primary election in New York to substantiate his charges. He referred to Samuel Koenig, chairman of the New York county Republican committee, as a "figurehead," and said he was "simply doing the bidding of the stronger men behind him, some of those stronger men appearing in the open and others being the big, sinister figures that are never seen in the light of day."

New York Law Wicked.

"Before the election took place," the speaker continued, "I denounced it as a criminal farce because under the wicked law which had been thrust upon New York by the machines of the two parties, Mr. Koenig had been given the right to name all the inspectors at the primary election in the county of New York, and had already used that right to throw out over 100 of the inspectors simply because it was known that they were supporting the Roosevelt ticket. Every inspector kept was an anti-Roosevelt man.

"Now, I ask you yourselves to think what such conduct means. If in any present contest here in Illinois one party announced that it would not permit any inspectors except its own to superintend the polling, you would accept it as a matter of course, as an announcement that the election was not to be a fair election. There is no other possible interpretation to be put upon such action. It is a mere matter of elemental decency, that if a contest is to be fair, the inspectors shall as a matter of course, represent both sides.

How It Was Done.

"I have received today from Judge Charles H. Duell, the chairman of our executive committee in New York city a citizen of the highest type, formerly a judge on the bench, always a man of the utmost fearlessness and the highest standard of integrity, a statement of the following facts:

"I may add that even before I left, yesterday afternoon, two or three men had come around to me protesting that they were not being given an opportunity to vote when they went to the polls; that they could not find any Roosevelt ticket; that there were no Roosevelt watchers; that they were mal-treated, and that no protection was given to them when they appealed to the police; and I had to call up the commissioner of police over the telephone and ask him to issue orders that the police should protect the voters in their right to poll.

Some of the Incidents.

"Judge Duell telegraphs me that in the Seventh assembly district, where William Halpin is leader, every one of the eighty election inspectors was removed and anti-Roosevelt men substituted. In ten election districts of the Twenty-sixth assembly district, the ballots did not arrive until 8 o'clock in the evening. The polling places had then been filled up with the Koenig-Taft men, who occupied the remaining time in voting and gave the Roosevelt men no chance to vote until the polls closed at 9 o'clock.

"In three election districts of the Twenty-fifth assembly district, the ballots did not arrive until four minutes of 9, and here again the Koenig-Taft men had taken possession of the polling places and they kept the Roosevelt men out until it was too late.

"In the Twenty-third assembly district, the names of the Roosevelt delegates were not printed on the ballots at all.

"In the Twenty-seventh assembly district, the entire Roosevelt ticket was left off the ballot. There was a similar omission in the Fifteenth assembly district.

No Ballots at All.

"On Staten Island, where Chauncey M. Depew was running for delegate on the Taft ticket, there were six election districts where ballots did not arrive at all, eleven districts where they arrived after 9 o'clock and seventeen where they arrived after 6 o'clock.

"In the Thirty-fifth district the Roosevelt ticket was misprinted so that the delegates appeared to be running for the national committee instead of the national convention.

"In many of the districts the ballots were so printed that two or three feet of blank space was left under the Roosevelt emblem and the voters did not understand that what was below was the Roosevelt ticket at all. The Independence league men never got any ballots at all in many of the districts throughout the city.

"In election district after election district, both in the county of New York and in the county of Kings, the numbers of which are given me, ballots did not arrive until 7 or 8 o'clock, almost 9 o'clock. Nine o'clock was the hour for closing, and when ballots arrived at either four minutes of 9, as happened in some cases, or at fifteen minutes of 9 or twenty-five minutes of 9, most of the ordinary, decent citizens, the men on whom I had to depend, had gone home. Against them were the professional politicians, and those, of course, stayed through the entire time and were in the polling booths voting, and did not leave the booths until after 9 o'clock, when the hour for closing had come.

Like the Days of Tweed.

"In short, the election machinery was used as unscrupulously as in the days of Tweed; names of Roosevelt men were left off the ballots; ballots were misprinted; were folded in such a way as to mystify voters, and in numerous instances were not delivered to polling places until four or five hours after the polls had opened, and in some cases not until twenty minutes or a quarter of an hour before closing. Our election inspectors were removed whenever it was thought they were not with the machine.

"As I have said, such a primary contest is not merely a farce, but a criminal farce; the men nominally elected as its result—men like Mr. Parsons, Mr. Griscom and the rest—cannot, if they wish to preserve their reputations as honorable men, consent to accept positions as delegates. The results in such a primary are in no shape or no way representative of the Republican party, and have no binding force on the Republican party.

Indiana and Colorado.

"What was done in New York is substantially what was done in Indiana and Colorado. Against all the money, all the patronage, all the effort of the Keeling machine in Indiana, with nothing but the plain people of the state to rely upon, we carried the state convention handsomely, and then by fraudulent action which ca.. only be called brutal in its utter defiance of decency, nearly 200 delegates were thrown out and the will of the people reversed. The men honestly elected of course declined to abide by the result and held a separate convention. They would have been derelict in their duty had they not done so, for the Keeling-Taft state delegation in Indiana does not represent the people at all, and its actions are in no shape or way representative of or binding on the rank and file of the Republican party in Indiana.

Outrageous Methods in Denver.

"The same thing was done in Colorado by the Guggenheim-Evans machine. Outside of Denver, in spite of every species of attempted trickery and foul play, we carried a majority of the delegates, but we were beaten by the most outrageous methods in Denver itself by the Guggenheim-Evans machine.

"If you wish to know just precisely what the Guggenheim-Evans people represent and what they are, I ask you to read Judge Ben Lindsey's book "The Beast and the Jungle." Hunt up the career of men like Phil Stewart, who made the fight for us, and men like Lindsey, who although not in the Republican party, has stood straight with us in this contest, and compare them with the records of Messrs. Guggenheim and Evans, and then judge for yourself, which side represents the cause of the plain people, which represents the cause of decency and honesty in business life.

"In Missouri we have overwhelmingly carried three districts, and yet in each district a bolting convention has been organized, a convention which cannot pretend to represent a tenth of the voters of the Republican party, but which is to be sent to Chicago national convention in the hope that the same tactics will be tried there that were successfully tried in New York and Denver and in Indianapolis.

Wants People's Decision.

"In all these places our opponents have shown that they wished to win by any means, no matter how foul, and that they would not abide by the decision of the people. We ask nothing excepting that the people themselves be permitted to say what they want. There never has been a clearer line-up in the history of this country than the present line-up.

"Now, men of Illinois, it is for you to see that your legislature really represents you through a genuine direct primary where you can register your preference for president, and make the legislature understand that they will kill the bill by dodging the vote.

"In his speech at Concord, N. H., President Taft, according to a stenographic report forwarded to me by Governor Bass, spoke as follows:

"'It is said that I distrust the people because I said that under impulsive action they may do wrong. I do. I think so. Don't you?

"This was said in commenting on my proposal concerning giving the people the right to judge for themselves what their interpretation of the Constitution in certain cases may be. But the president's words, of course, have a far wider application. When he, with whatever good intentions, keeps dwelling upon his distrust of popular action, his disbelief in action by the people themselves, it is natural that his lieutenants should feel that they have a free hand in trying to thwart the wishes of the people."

CHARITY FAMILY HALTED.

Forbidden to Enter Canada By Immigration Authorities.

Winnipeg, Man., March 28. — Milwaukee's "pet" charity family has been stopped at Emerson, Man., by order of the Canadian immigration authorities. Commissioner Bruce Walker claims it is illegal for charity-aided immigrants to enter Canada.

The family consists of a mother and ten children under 17 years of age. They are to join their father, Charles Samuel, who is "homesteading" near Edmonton. He was sent there by the Associated Charities of Milwaukee, and in the meantime the charitable societies have sustained the family.

Samuel sent word he was ready to receive his family, and clothed n new garments throughout, and with fifteen baskets of food, cooked by the hands of society belles, the family left Milwaukee.

GAY PARTY BROKEN UP

Sheriff Meining Prevents Quiet Little Mill at Owls' Hall.

Art Godfrey Taken Into Custody But His Opponent Escapes.

Sheriff Meining dropped in on the fistic festivities which had been arranged for the evening at Owls' hall last night.

His Excellency, Governor Eberhart, had so ordered and besides the law governing exhibitions of a fistic nature is quite clear and the officer's plain duty.

Nevertheless, disappointment reigned when the sheriff and a squad of deputies dropped in and interfered with the order of the evening's exercises as well as the debate of George Perkins and Art Godfrey, exponents of the mitt game.

Mr. Perkins and Mr. Godfrey had arranged a twenty-round argument, and were just shaking hands preliminary to setting off the fireworks when Mr. Meining stepped up, begged pardon for intruding, but insisted that Mr. Perkins and Mr. Godfrey join him.

Deputies Stevens, Bourdash, Magie, King and Schubitzky comprised the other members of the sheriff's party. A trip that evening had been arranged to the red brick building on the hill and Messrs. Perkins and Godfrey were asked to join.

Of course, there were protests, mild and otherwise. About 500 spectators were more or less disappointed and some of the talkative ones threw out hints about getting a new sheriff at the next election. It was at this point that Mr. Meining took the floor.

"This afternoon," said the sheriff, "I received a telegram from Governor Eberhart telling me to stop this fight. I have done my plain duty. I intend to enforce the laws of Minnesota as long as I am sheriff."

This threw some new light on the situation and a number in the crowd yelled: "You're all right, John, we know you. You got us with the goods and we're not going to welch now."

While Mr. Meining was talking to the crowd, however, Mr. Perkins quietly excused himself while a deputy was not looking and slipped away. It is understood that he caught a car for Superior, where he is now enjoying his freedom.

Art Godfrey was taken to the county jail. He is being held on a warrant charging him with being a principal in a prize fight and will be arraigned in municipal court this afternoon. Godfrey is 28 years old and hails from Minneapolis. Perkins, the other "pug," lives at Iron River, Wis.

The raid by the sheriff was made shortly after 11 o'clock. The "big attraction" of the evening was preceded by a six-round preliminary "scrap" between Kid Gardner and Jack Podinsky. The card had been arranged strictly "on the quiet," but the sheriff evidently heard of it.

Ashland Man's Close Call.

Ashland, Wis., March 28. — Charles Rubel is at a hospital suffering perhaps from a concussion of the brain, sustained at the mill of the Menasha Paper company when he was hit on the head by a log Tuesday night, yet the surgeons say he will live. His escape from instant death is considered miraculous.

INTENTIONS NO DEFENSE

Lewis Loses Point in His Trial for Fraud at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., March 28.—Judge Charles F. Amidon, presiding in the trial of E. G. Lewis, University City publisher, charged with using the mails to defraud, ruled that Lewis' possible good intent when he made promises to his subscribers that eventually resulted in their losing their investments, could not be utilized as a tenable defense.

The ruling was made on a motion by United States District Attorney Houts to strike from the record evidence given by F. V. Putnam, former treasurer of the Lewis enterprises, regarding conversations he had with Lewis when the latter conceived the debenture scheme which involved the re-financing of all the companies.

The ruling virtually forbids the defense to introduce testimony showing Lewis' intentions in the sale of bonds and stock in his various companies, and apparently precludes the possibility of the publisher being allowed to plead he did not know what he was doing.

CLIMAX EXPECTED IN BIG SMUGGLING CASE.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 28.—The climax of the case involving the alleged smuggling of jewelry across the Canadian border into the United States for the last ten years, which government special agents have been investigating, is expected to be reached in Minneapolis within the next few days.

George E. Foulkes, chief special agent, under whose direction the other agents have worked, spent a busy day here yesterday left at noon for Minneapolis after a conference with Charles S. Hord, a special agent who has been investigating at International Falls, Minn.

Agent Foulkes in Minneapolis is expected to confer with the man "Anderson," who is being held on suspicion of being the head of the alleged smuggling ring.

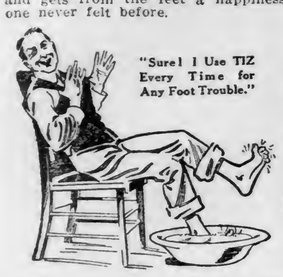
"Got My Sore Foot in It Right!—TIZ"

"A TIZ Bath, My Boy, a TIZ Bath! You Can't Beat It for Sore Feet, Corns and Bunions!"

Is this man a tender-foot? No. He is a joy-walker—one who uses TIZ and gets from the feet a happiness one never felt before.



"Sure! I Use TIZ Every Time for Any Foot Trouble."

When your feet are so tired they feel like stumps, when they ache so that they hurt way up to your heart, when you shamble your feet along and it seems as though all the misery you ever had has settled in your feet, look at the happy TIZ man in the picture.

You can be happy-footed just the same. If you have corns and bunions that everybody seems to step on, just think of this happy TIZ man. He had corns and bunions, too. This man used TIZ, and now he has no more tender, raw, chafed, blistered, swollen, tired, smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions.

As soon a you put your feet in a TIZ bath, you feel the happiness soaking in. It's like mountain ozone to lungs.

Nothing else but TIZ can give you this happy foot feeling. Don't accept any substitutes.

TIZ, 25 cents a box, sold everywhere, or sent direct, on receipt of price, by Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill. Recommended by all Drug Stores, department and general stores.

ROYALTY FIGHTS FAT

Court Favors Go to the "Divinely Slender"—Denver Is Contributing to the Good Work of Redeeming the Habitually Obese.

"When knighthood was in flower," it was the habit of royalty to be slender. Indeed, no king or baron could ever foretell what the morrow would bring forth—and the race went to the fleet—and the fleet were invariably slender.

Since those halcyon days of lean utility, conditions have changed, and the members of regal households have eaten much and moved about little. Nature has exacted her toll, and today Europeean nobility is noted for its numerous fleshy sons and daughters.

There is nothing startling in this, perhaps, for others who never possessed a title are also suffering from the same malady. But the interesting feature is found in the fact that European courts may again be noted for the slender ladies and knights, because an American girl figured it all out on her own account.

Miss Marjorie E. Hamilton of Denver, Colo., who became noted as the "Calendar Girl" while still in her teens, soon found the golden wand deserting her—and once she started to lose her slender grace of girlhood for the obese proportions of womanhood, she was no longer in demand as an artist's model.

Hundreds of thousands of women—and men, too—throughout America have learned how she again reclaimed herself, without drugs, diet or harmful exercise, or anything else strenuous in nature. And now her treatment has gone forward to Queen Alexandra of England and the Empress of Germany as well as to many other royal families.

"Fat is a calamity," says Miss Hamilton, "and like all dreadful maladies it must be treated. Possessing a royal title is not a sign of immunity from it. Indeed, it may be a short-cut to obesity. I hope to hear that their royal highnesses have again entered the blessed ranks of the slender—and I know that the possession of rank in their respective realms will not keep these court ladies from enjoying the freedom of suppleness that the men and women of my own country are enjoying."

At this point in the interview, Miss Hamilton drummed on the polished top of her magnificent desk in her sumptuous offices in the Central Bank building, and smiled.

"Of course, I scarcely expect to have royalty come out openly with a testimonial, and I can not say that I dare use it if that were the case—but my fat reducing treatments have gone forward, and just why I was induced to send them is another matter. It is a little way, I suppose, that certain persons high up in the world's favors have of granting their favors and satisfying their desires. I am quite contented as to the outcome."

SUNDAY SCHOOL BALL LEAGUE

The young men of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, will organize a baseball league among the Sunday schools of West Duluth. This decision was reached at a meeting of the young men held last evening in the church parlors. Ernest Anderson, captain of last year's baseball team, organized a new team following the meeting and practice is expected to start as soon as the weather will permit.

Whether other West Duluth churches will join the Sunday school league is not known, but it is the belief of those at the head of the plan that it will eventually meet with the favor of the residents of this end of the city.

Surprise Shower.

Miss Della Crosby of 117 South Sixtieth avenue west, a bride of next month, was tendered a surprise shower last evening by a number of her West Duluth friends at the home of Miss Nellie Anderson, 120 North Sixty-third avenue west. The rooms were tastily decorated in carnations and ferns and the evening was spent in music and games. Covers were laid for twenty-two guests. Miss Crosby will be married early next month to Harold Ostphal of Duluth, and a number of receptions are now being planned in her honor.

The street car which passes the door of the Wallingford mansion in the last act of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," George M. Cohan's comedy success to be seen at the Lyceum, April 5 and 6, is an exact model of the standard conveyance, down to the slightest detail, and was made for the production at the railway works at Trenton, N. J. When it whizzes across the stage, at the opening of the fourth act, with its interior illumination and headlight aglow, there is always much applause, not so much for the scenic effect, but because the Hoytsville-Battlesburg Traction Line, which has been organized by Wallingford as a means for "trimming the boobs," has turned out to be a reality.

Duluth has no more enthusiastic "boosters" than the members of the little company of Scottish Players, appearing this week at the Orpheum theater. To say that they are enthusiastic over the city is putting the case mildly.

"Duluth is just like a bit of Scotland," said Miss Janet Gardner, who has the role of Madge in the Graham Moffatt playlet, "The Concealed Bed." "The lake and the hills make us feel at home, and we have made more new acquaintances in Duluth in three or four days than we do ordinarily in two or three cities in as many weeks. We have found a surprising number of Scotch people here, and many who know our friends in Scotland. I found one old schoolmate here. The members of Clan Stewart gave us a delightful entertainment last evening, and I don't think I ever found more cordial people any place than in Duluth. This is only our second week in American vaudeville. They treated us most cordially in St. Paul, but Duluth seems like home to us already. If all Americans people are half as delightful as those we have met to date, we will never want to go home, I guess."

The visitors are energetic sightseers. America is a new experience to all of them but Miss Gardner, and they spend all their spare time sightseeing. Yesterday morning they visited the courthouse, met all the clerks and judges and watched the trial of a case. Last evening they attended the Clan Stewart dance, and they have seen more of Duluth in three or four days than the average resident of the city sees in a year.

"In my opinion," says Vincent McCarthy, of McCarthy & Major, who are entertaining Empress audiences this week, "one of the most shameful institutions in this country is the manner in which the run-down nobility of Europe is allowed to come into this country and carry off the daughters of this country's millionaires. My part in our little sketch, 'On Account of a Count,' deals with a French count who has crossed the Atlantic to replenish his coffers in this fashion and it sets me thinking about the way this is often done in real life. While playing in England a year or two ago, I made it a practice to look up instances of this kind and you would really be surprised if you could hear of the manner in which the shoddy nobility boast of their conquests on this side of the Atlantic. These sons of run-down nobility make no bones about saying that they are coming over to America to win an heiress and they do come over to this country: flaunt their shoddy titles before the eyes of the American heiresses; win one and go back to England to live in idleness for the rest of their worthless lives. I cannot see why any American girl is so easily taken in by these worthless puppets when there are always plenty of young Americans of backbone and principle, who while they have no title to offer, could at least give these girls a good man's name which is worth more than all the titles of these poor creatures combined. I only wish that the disillusioned heiresses in this country could have their eyes opened as easily as my partner in 'On Account of a Count,' as I feel sure if this was the case, the United States would be better off because of it."

"OPERATING AT A LOSS"

Northern and Great Northern Express Companies Appear in Bad Way.

Say They Pay Railroads Too Much—Railroads Say It Is Too Little.

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northern and Great Northern Express companies are in a dire plight, according to statements made to the railroad and warehouse commission by Attorney J. D. Armstrong, counsel for the Great Northern Railroad company, today. The express companies are losing money by paying the railroad 60 per cent of their receipts for carrying parcels, and the railroad company is not getting enough for such transportation. Mr. Armstrong asked a continuance of the hearing until April 3 and it was granted.

The Adams, American, United States, Northern and Great Northern express companies were represented by Attorneys before the commission today, in answer to a citation asking them to appear and show how their business differed, if at all, from that of the Wells-Fargo company. Evidence was taken some months ago in an inquiry as to whether the railroad and warehouse commission would be justified in ordering a decrease in express rates in Minnesota.

Other Companies Included.

The other companies operating in the state were included in the proceedings, but no investigation of their operations was made on the theory that express rates throughout the state are comparatively equal between all companies.

Today the Adams and American tentatively agreed to abide by the decision in the Wells-Fargo case, and enter a stipulation agreeing that their business showed the same relative proportion between earnings and expenses, between net earnings and value of property, and that they would put in the same schedule of rates the Wells-Fargo might be required to put in.

An attorney for the United States Express company also said that his company probably would take similar action, although he had not yet been directly authorized to make such agreement.

Difference in Payments.

Then came the attorney for the Northern and Great Northern companies, asking for time in which to make an additional showing to that made in the Wells-Fargo case. The Wells-Fargo pays the railroad companies 55 per cent for carrying its express packages. The Northern and Great Northern companies pay 60 per cent.

settlement of taxes on gross earnings from 1905 to 1910.

The present company operating the road bought it from the Itasca Lumber company and gave it rates on logs lower than those in the published tariffs. It appeared that this was rebating, but apparently the low rates were made as a means of paying for the road, and the full rates were charged to it on the books.

MINNESOTA RATE CASE WEDNESDAY

Other Suits Will Delay It Two Days in the Supreme Court.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, March 28.—Former Supreme Court Judge Thomas D. O'Brien of Minnesota is in Washington preparing for the arguments in the Minnesota rate cases before the United States supreme court, in which he and Former Attorney General Edward T. Young are associated as special counsel for the state. C. W. Bunn and Pierce Butler of St. Paul will appear for the railroads.

It is expected that the Minnesota cases will be reached about Wednesday of next week, as there are other assigned cases ahead of it, involving the railroad laws of several of the states, including Missouri, Oklahoma and West Virginia.

ILLINOIS SENATE FAVORS PRIMARY

Law With Emergency Clause Is Passed and Goes to House.

Springfield, Ill., March 28.—The presidential preference primary law which passed the senate, 37 to 1 at the midnight session this morning, carrying an emergency clause, was reported to the house today, ordered printed and referred to the house committee on primary elections.

A message from the governor, supplementing the call for the special session by adding one more subject, was ordered to lie upon the table until the attorney general's opinion as to the legality of making additions to the call is received. Because of the failure of an original act creating a drainage district in St. Clair and Madison counties to provide for the election of the successors to the original trustees, it now is desired to amend the law.

The subject matter is of no particular importance, yet the supplementing of the call from time to time will establish a new precedent of which many members are fearful.

The fight among the members of the Modern Woodmen of America against increased insurance rates, found its way into the special session when Representative Donahue of Bloomington introduced a bill which is designed to stay the raising of fraternal rates until 1915. The bill was referred to the house committee on fraternal insurance.

FEW REBELS AMONG THE DOMINICANS

Former Provisional President Said to Head the Movement.

Puerto Plata, Dominican Republic, March 28.—Except for a handful of revolutionists on the northwestern border, peace reigns throughout the country. The revolutionaries include the assassins of the late President Caceres and they frequently harass the government troops and afterwards retreat into Haiti. It is alleged that some of the rebels who have been captured have been found with weapons and cartridges belonging to the government forces. It is stated that the former provisional president, Horacio Vasquez, is at the head of the movement.

ENGLISH LABOR LEADER GETS OUT ON BAIL.

Salford, Eng., March 28.—Tom Mann, the labor leader, was today released on $2,000 bail after giving a written guarantee that pending his trial he would not repeat his incitement to the troops to mutiny. He is charged with "feloniously, maliciously and advisedly publishing certain printed matter, endeavoring to persuade persons serving in the forces of the king on land or sea from their duty and allegiance to his majesty, and inducing the said persons to commit traitorous and mutinous acts."

PEA PACKERS HURT BY BADGER LABOR LAW.

Madison, Wis., March 28.—The pea packing interests in Wisconsin will have to look to the 1913 legislature for redress from the present exactions of the women's labor law. The law limits the hours of labor for women and girls to ten in the daytime and eight at night, or fifty-five hours a week. The pea packers told the state industrial commission that unless longer hours were permitted during the rush season a large financial loss would be sustained. They were informed that only a change in the law by the legislature would afford the relief sought.

Valladolid, Spain, March 28.—A strike broke out today among the employes of the Northern railroad of Spain. Four thousand men employed on the line in this city and the surrounding districts left work. They demand an increase of 25 per cent in wages.

PROGRESS AT PANAMA

N. F. Hugo Says Great Strides Have Been Made in Canal Work.

South American Republics Lack Stability of the Anglo-Saxons.

After visiting Venezuela, Martinique, Jamaica and a number of the West Indian islands, as well as Panama, N. F. Hugo and his family have returned to Duluth. The trip lasted most of the winter months.

"South America is a great country, all right, but the natives lack the stability that has made other nations great," said Mr. Hugo today. "A country possessing wonderful natural resources and the ideal climate, there is a question in my mind just how far the progress of South America will be marked in the future. The government lacks stability and the people lack that fixed purpose that has counted so much with the Anglo-Saxon people.

"More progress is being made at the Panama canal than the American people realize. The concrete work is practically complete and the Culebra cut is just about completed, the putting up of the locks and a few more details being required. The work is nothing less than a monument to the genius of organization. As a whole, the system pervading the vast enterprise is one of the most wonderful accomplishments that one can conceive of.

"We met Col. Gaillard there. He used to be stationed here in the government work. He is second in charge of the work. The work of construction is so far completed that they will be operating small boats through the canal next year."

STAGE COSTUMES BEING COPIED

Many of Them Will Be Seen on Streets This Summer.

Models of special interest to women which were displayed at the opening of the J. J. Friedman store this week during the style show, were several exquisite creations which are reproductions of gowns worn by well known actresses.

One handsome costume of heavily embroidered white chiffon draped over a foundation of pink satin was like a gown worn by Christy McDonald in "The Spring Maid." Black lace draped over the bodice and streamers of black velvet ribbons added the inevitable touch of black seen in most of the smart gowns this seaon. Rhinestone trimming added an extra touch to this gown.

Another gown, a copy of Alice Leyman's of the "Little Miss Fix-It" company, was an especially pretty affair of primrose chiffon over white satin made with pearl and crystal bead trimmings.

There were many fine gowns all as interesting and as stunning. The afternoon frocks, too, of taffeta, foulards, serges and exquisite waists of chiffon, voile and marquisteed as well as street waists, suits for street and dres and attractive coats were all displayed to advantage in the shop which was effectively trimmed with palms, hyacinths and Easter lilies.

The Stack & Co. shop, also, on Superior street presented a good showing of styles in all lines. In their windows dresses and waists and a fine showing of suit and dress materials caught the eye of the shopper and inside every department made a fine showing of new apparel.

Women should be able to be suited in their Easter wardrobes this season for never before have the city shops as a whole had a finer stock of up-to-date and dressy clothes.

WEED RETURNS FROM MEXICO

Geologist Says Sonora Has Been Disturbed But Little By Rebels.

Dr. W. H. Weed, the famous geologist and mining engineer, is a guest of the Spalding today. Dr. Weed has just returned from Cananea, Mex., where he examined the property of the Greene-Cananea company and also the property of the Calumet & Sonora. He reports both of the properties in good condition and says further that there has been very little disturbance from the fighting down in that part of Sonora, though other parts of the country have experienced some trouble at the hands of the revolutionists.

"Train service has not been seriously disturbed in that part of the country," said Mr. Weed. "The Southern Pacific has adhered to the policy of carrying both the rebels and the federal, and while bridges have been burned now and then, as a rule the service has been very regular.

"I am afraid that copper is going above the 16-cent mark. When I say afraid I mean at that price the consumption of the metal will be somewhat restricted."

Dr. Weed will go from here to Montana where he will make an examination of some of the properties that Duluth people are interested in.

YOUNG THOMAS INDICTED.

Expected to Plead Guilty to Killing Winters.

Mora, Minn., March 28.—Eugene Thomas, 17 years old, of Minneapolis, was indicted for murder in the first degree by the Kenabec grand jury yesterday. He will plead to the charge, it is expected.

Relatives of the boy are urging that he plead guilty and throw himself upon the mercy of the court. They believe his age would tend to influence the court to grant clemency, and the prospect of regaining his freedom would be better than if he were sent to an asylum, following a plea of insanity, his probable defense should he plead not guilty. His father, it is reported, is inclined to feel a plea of guilty would be the wiser course.

Winters was a bachelor homesteader. He was killed by a blow in the head from a blunt instrument. The authorities are at a loss to assign a motive for the crime. Young Thomas' uncle had agents seeking the boy, it is said, the day before the murder, because the youth had appeared demented.

Woman's Realm

A big rush for seats for the Mme. Schumann-Heink concert next Wednesday at the Lyceum theater kept the people in the box office of the theater busy this morning at the opening of the public sale of seats. All day yesterday inquiries were being made for seats, for the enormous popularity of the great contralto will probably draw one of the biggest audiences that has heard any of the musicale offerings of the season. It is generally conceded that Mme. Schumann-Heink can fill any auditorium where she is announced to appear, and there is no question but that the Lyceum will be packed for this offering. The nearness of Easter will draw many of the range people to the city for Easter shopping and the demand for seats from the range towns is greater than for any of the other events.

LIVING PICTURE.

Will Depict Life of Nation in Costume Poses.

An interesting program has been arranged by Mrs. H. J. Kolling and Mrs Anthony Puck to be given tomorrow evening at the Unitarian church after the supper which will be served there at 6:30 o'clock, by the women of the church.

A series of living pictures has been arranged. The first series will depict the life of the nation, showing the American Indian, the Pilgrim, the Colonist, Quaker and all types up to the present up-to-date farmer. The second half of the program will consist of representations of fancy pictures.

DINNER AND DANCE.

Members of Clan Stewart Entertain Scotch Visitors.

More than 300 members of Clan Stewart enjoyed a dinner, dance and entertainment at their hall in the Winthrop block last evening.

The Scottish Players appearing this week at the Orpheum theater were the guests of honor of the evening. They arrived at the hall about 10:30 o'clock and helped entertain the guests with some Scotch recitations, which were enthusiastically received.

The guests of honor found one or two old schoolmates among the Duluthians present, and the evening as a whole proved one of the most enjoyable the clan has had in months. Scotch songs were sung and dancing continued until after midnight.

Leap Year Party.

The Misses Gronseth entertained at a leap year party last evening. The early part of the evening was spent in playing leap year games, after which a lunch was served.

NOTICE

In answer to some certain advertisements appearing in the Duluth News Tribune signed by a FLORIST who is located in the well known Flower Store formerly conducted by W. W. Seeking, we have to make the following statement to inform the general public what all this fuss is about.

We are not seeking to quarrel with any of our competitors even if they do take exceptions to our methods of advertising, but do take issue on having an outsider come to Duluth and conduct a flower store under the name of one of our well known merchants just to hold and get business, thereby deceiving the public as to actual conditions.

Most people are acquainted with the methods these merchants employ to put the legitimate home merchant out of business in the shortest time possible, but we don't propose to be counted out in a hurry, as we have lived here for the past thirty years and can stand this climate for some time to come.

Now that this party seems willing to sign himself "Successor to SEEKINS, the FLORIST," we are perfectly willing to let him write all the dope he wants.

Respectfully,
DULUTH FLORAL CO.,

WOULD THROW STONES, NOT AT PLATE GLASS, BUT MALE FLIRTS

—Copyright by George Grantham Bain.

MISS CAROLINE REILLY.

Miss Caroline Reilly of the National Woman Suffrage association proposes to organize a class in stone-throwing for young women. Don't believe that Miss Reilly wants the young suffragettes of the United States to emulate their English sisters. She wants them to learn to throw stones not at plate glass windows but at male flirts. This is her answer to the proposition of Miss Laura Garrett of Philadelphia that there should be regular classes in flirting for young women. Miss Reilly plans also to have a class in hammer-swinging. Whether this will lead to such militant acts as have thrown Mrs. Pankhurst and her followers into jail remains to be seen. There is certainly danger of it.

THE EVENING STORY

The Lady Detective

By T. F. Fawkes.

"Wanted, an educated lady to train as a detective. Previous knowledge unnecessary. Apply——"

This advertisement caught my eye many years ago and tickled by sense of adventure. My aunt, with whom I was living, was furious at the idea of such possible degradation. However, I assured her that there was not the faintest chance of my being accepted, as I looked so disgracefully young.

I found a great building with a succession of saloons which hit me in the eye with their gilding and plush. At last I was received by the head of the firm, who stared at me for a long time through his gold-rimmed glasses and then murmured impatiently, "A mere child, a mere child." I shrivelled and looked round for a means of escape. I wished I could sink into the soft carpet and melt away.

Looking back on my experiences I cannot help reflecting that, if I had a daughter, I would rather put her to work as a domestic servant than follow in my footsteps. The occupation is far less interesting than it sounds, and often very much more dangerous than the public imagines.

My first case was to prove that a young nobleman would be wise to break off his secret engagement with a beautiful young actress. Thus it came to pass that I found myself staying at a well known seaside resort.

One morning I was watching the yachts lying at anchor in the bay and I happened to let my field glasses fall from my hands over the sea wall. A young fisherman who was working at repairs picked them up for me, and I was attracted by his honest face and clear blue eyes.

"Can you tell me the name of that yacht?" I asked.

"That is the Stella, miss. Belongs to my master. She used to be called the May Queen, but Capt. T., that's my master's name, had it altered about two years ago." My heart nearly stopped beating. Capt. T.! Could it possibly be the same Capt. T. of whom my employer had spoken while giving me my brief?

Soon after I was comfortably settled in a pretty little boat. A few tactful questions elicited sufficient information to convince me that his master was none other than the man my employer was after. I said a friend of mine was anxious to buy a yacht, and suggested that he should take me over the Stella. After some hesitation he consented, and I found myself on one of the prettiest little yachts I have ever seen. A sudden exclamation escaped my companion's lips.

"What is it?" I asked.

He gave an unhappy whistle and said: "There is Capt. T. There, on the landing stage. He has seen me take you over the yacht, and I'll bet he'll let fly some language." As we drew up to the landing stage I noticed a smartly dressed man apparently between 30 and 40 years of age, clean shaven, his face flushed with anger. To my surprise and disappointment, the moment he saw me getting out of the boat he turned on his heels and walked away, but I had made a mental photograph of him, when a couple of mornings later I saw him walking a few steps in front of me I came up and said: "Capt. T., I believe?"

"Yes," he replied, wheeling round and staring hard at me.

"I must apologize for trespassing on your yacht on Monday last, but—"

"He cut me short;" don't apologize. "You were welcome, heartily welcome to do so."

"Thank you," I said feebly, "I felt I must apologize," and with a slight bow, I turned to retrace my steps.

"Oh, don't go," he said. "Come and sit on this seat." I did so, and that was how I came to know the man, who, within three days, ruthlessly exposed the "turned down pages" in the life of a young and beautiful actress—exposed them to me, a three days' old acquaintance! This is how it came about.

I was talking with this man, against whom I had an instinctive feeling of repugnance. His manner was free and his speech affected, but I had determined not to return to my employer without the information he sought. I snubbed him when he made a vain endeavor to exact a promise from me to take tea with him at his rooms the following day, and I ridiculed his excuse that he would "be shooting all the earlier part of the day, and too beastly tired to go out in the evening."

Finding me adamant, he asked me to meet him an evening later at 8:30, with yet another excuse for the lateness of the hour; but, "if I would not come to tea, surely I would not deny him the pleasure of a walk with me, as he was leaving for town the next morning."

I consented. The appointed hour arrived. Here let me mention that I had, a day or two earlier, changed my name, at the same time changing my hotel. I had taken the two Christian names of the elder Miss W., and had changed my surname also. But to continue. I was sitting on a seat facing the sea waiting for him. He was half an hour late. A little group of fishermen of a rougher class than the one who rowed me out to the yacht were smoking and chatting not far from me, occasionally glancing my way, and I became aware that they were discussing me.

The next instant I heard Capt. T's. voice, loud and clear. "Well, Stellar, this is a way to treat a fellah," he called. And, coming up, he added: "Here have I been waiting for you this half hour, and swearing like a trooper." I explained that it was I who had waited, and we walked away while I noticed, with some trepidation, that he was steering for the loneliest part of the cliffs.

Eventually we found a seat; it was growing a little chilly, and the night was very dark. We sat talking, and I felt that I liked him less the more I conversed with him. He said I reminded him of a "little girl" he once knew. I was so much like her, but I was sweeter, and, "strangely enough," he added, "her name was the same as yours—".

"I don't suppose her second Christian name was like mine," I said.

"What is it?" he asked.

"Evelyn," I answered. The next instant I sprang back with a little cry of fear, partly feigned certainly, but I must own I was afraid, for my companion, with angry eyes and fists clenched, wheeled round on me in a most threatening attitude.

"Oh, what have I done?" I asked.

"You are pumping me," he hissed between his teeth, and there was a murderous look on his face.

"Indeed I am not," I replied. "Whatever do you mean; I don't understand."

He changed his tone then. "Evelyn was her other name," he cried.

"That is strange, but I cannot see why you should be so sorry." I answered with a sob. I was trembling violently, and my teeth were chattering. He came a little closer.

"Did I frighten you?" he asked.

"A little; you seemed so angry," I answered. I felt the cold, and told him so.

"Get inside my coat," he said.

The invitation was not accepted. We sat a little longer, and then retraced our steps, but not before I had learned from his own lips of the weeks he and Miss W. had spent cruising in the pretty yacht with only an old sailor as chaperon. I interviewed the old sailor before I came back to town, and a tip extracted much valuable information from him. I left, albeit I had promised to meet Capt. T. beneath the flag pole the following Monday. I don't suppose he is still waiting, but—I wonder.

BIG AVIATION CONTEST IN CHICAGO SEPT. 9.

New York, March 28.—The competition for the Coupe d'International in aviation will be held in Chicago Sept. 9, according to announcement by the Aero Club of America.

James A. Blair, Jr., and W. Redmond Cross of the Aero Club of America, on the committee in charge of the competition for this trophy, visited Chicago recently and inspected the flying fields. They report that the field selected for this year's race is better than any of the fields which the race has been flown on heretofore.

The aero club has received challenges from the national aero clubs of five different countries, as follows: France, three entries; Belgium, three entries; Holland, one entry; Switzerland, one entry, and England, two entries. There will thus be almost twice as many contestants as there have been heretofore.

OFFICE-HOLDING RECORD.

Fergus Falls Township Official Holds Office Forty-Two Years.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 28.—Ragnor Kalling, who is just retired from the clerkship of Fergus Falls township, has a record that is probably unequalled by any other man in Minnesota. He was township clerk for twenty-nine years, and before that was town treasurer for ten years, town assessor for two years and chairman of the board of township supervisors for one year, making a continuous record of forty-two years in office. Before that he had been judge of probate of the county, being the first man elected to that office after the county was established.

NOPEMING SANITARIUM IS NEARLY COMPLETED

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING.

CHILDREN'S BUILDING.

St. Louis county's fine new sanitarium near Midway will be turned over to the commissioners about Saturday of this week.

Nopeming sanitarium is the name recently chosen for the institution. Nopeming is a Chippewa Indian name and means "in the woods."

The main building cost nearly $60,000 and is a model administration building for the group that will one day be erected around it.

The children's building, for which Duluth women raised a fund of $10,000, will be completed about June 1.

It is expected that the main building will be ready for occupancy about May 1.

Both buildings are most modern throughout. The two buildings give the county an excellent start on what will soon be as complete an institution as there is in the country.

They are located on a beautifully wooded piece of land near Midway, but will be best reached by leaving the Canadian Northern train at the station which is now known as Nopeming. The company will build a depot at that point.

IT'S A FUNNY THING ABOUT STEAM — By C. L. SHERMAN

Girls

Read About These Three Girls. How Sick They Were and How Their Health Was Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Appleton, Wis.—"I take pleasure in writing you an account of my sickness. I told a friend of mine how I felt and she said I had female trouble and advised me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as she had taken it herself for the same trouble with wonderful results. I had been sickly for two years and overworked myself, and had such bad feelings every month that I could hardly walk for pain. I was very nervous and easily tired out and could not sleep nights. I had dizzy spells, and pimples came on my face. But I have taken your Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has restored my health. I think it is the best medicine in existence."—Miss CECILIA M. BAUER, 1161 Lawrence St., Appleton, Wis.

A SCHOOL TEACHER'S GRATITUDE:

Geneva, Iowa.—"I have been teaching school for some years and I have neglected my health because I was too busy with my work to attend to myself properly. I suffered greatly every month and was on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

"I wrote to you about my condition and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the Blood Purifier as you recommended. These remedies have done wonders for me and I can highly and widely recommend them to every suffering woman."—Miss MINNIE SHAVER, R. F. D. No. 1, Geneva, Iowa, c/o Sam Erickson.

A COLORADO GIRL'S CASE:

Montrose, Col.—"I was troubled very much with irregular periods. Sometimes two months would elapse. I suffered severe headache, was weak and nervous, could eat scarcely anything.

"I took both Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier and the result was wonderful. I feel like another person.

"I think your remedies are the best on earth and cannot express my thankfulness to you for what they have done to me. I help my neighbors when they are sick, and I shall always recommend your medicines."—Miss ELLA MCCANDLESS, Montrose, Col.

Is it not reasonable to suppose that a medicine that did so much for these girls will benefit any other girl who is suffering with the same troubles?

Does it not seem the only sensible thing to give such a medicine at least a trial? You may be sure that it can do you no harm, and there are lots of proof that it will do you much good.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health. Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MARCH 31.

REVIEW OF THE QUARTER.

FOREWORD.

We have covered a period of over thirty-two years in our twelve lessons of this quarter. In those years were the prophecies of the birth of two children, one as great as any who had been born up to that time, the other the incomparable One, the man Christ Jesus, the Lord from heaven; then the fulfillment of those promises; then the growth of their lives and the ministry they undertook. We have followed the Master through more than a year of His ministry, taking views of Him only here and there in His wonderful life.

PREPARATION.

1. PROMISE. Luke i, 5-23. It was the last promise just before the fulfillment of many other promises that had been repeated for many centuries. The forerunner, who had been foretold by Isaiah and other prophets, is foretold once more to his father. God makes His own choices and He chose Zacharlah and Elizabeth to be parents of His Son's forerunner. His choices are always wise, but not always like ours. God chooses fitting servants. In Zacharlah were trueness to duty, desire for the good of his people and expectation of divine help. The word came to him when he was at his holy work and praying for the redemption of Israel. Such were his qualifications. The failure of his faith at a critical moment was hardly to be wondered at and God was not angry with him. The punishment was needed, however, for his own good and as an example. It was a chastisement and exactly suited to the sin; it wrought his good.

2. FULFILLMENT. Luke i, 57-80. The birth of the forerunner was the birth of the greatest man in many a generation, for he would be great in the sight of the Lord, because of his character and because of the task he would perform. He was to get the world ready for the immediate coming of Jesus and then introduce Him; create an acute expectation, gather a constituency and put Him in possession of them. Such was his task. The interest centering in a birth in the Orient is always intense, as elsewhere, but in this case there were unusual elements known to the community—the extreme age of the parents, the long dumbness of the father, the sudden release of his tongue and the unusual name given to the child. Yet our interest finds a secondary center in the father, whose anxiety about the redemption of his people from their sins and foresight into the coming of the Savior, to be introduced by John, awaken our admiration.

3. SAVIOR. Luke ii., 1-20. At last Jesus Himself has come. The announcement of His coming had been repeated. The immediate arrangements were perfect. His mother was the chosen of the Lord. The first ones to get the news were shepherds. Was it because they were simple minded and would make wise use of the knowledge; or because they had the care of the temple flocks and could more easily see the significance of the event; or because they were of a humble station in life and God had a special tenderness toward such people? We need not speculate, but we can rejoice that the simple minded may know His will and do it. Here are some wholesome facts to be seen in the story—they acted on the information they received and gained more; they found the joy of those who know Him; they told the good news to others.

4. EXPECTATION. Luke ii, 22-39. The expectation of those who were looking for the Messiah was gratified. Here are the two instances of Simeon and Anna. All over the nation there were pious souls who saw the sins of the people with great sorrow and read the promises of a Redeemer with increasing longing. Over them the Spirit of God was brooding. It was as the child was presented in the temple for the usual ceremony that they saw Him. Simeon is said to have been led by the Spirit of God into the temple at that time in order that he might see that his prayers were answered. We must not forget that God was in charge of events. There was more than gratification at the coming of the Savior; there was a prophecy that He would do great things and be a discerner of the hearts of men. His career was to bring a sword through the heart of His mother. The aged Anna bore the same testimony to His mission to save.

5. WISE MEN. Matt. ii, 1-12. The first thing to be noted is that God was with other nations as well as the Jewish. His spirit was brooding over them and getting them ready for their Savior. The next thing is that He approached them through the medium of their own habits of thought. To the shepherds He sent angels; to the astrologers, a star. God directs them and He thwarts the purpose of Herod to get the young king out of his way. There were wise men in seeking to worship Him and wise men have been doing so ever since.

6. BOY. Luke ii, 40-52. Before we can understand Jesus in the temple we have to know that at 12 a Jewish boy was considered a son of the law, and was taken to the temple to worship. We must know how He was brought up in a Jewish home in the world's highway; how He knew God as no other person did, or ever could. At that time He was becoming aware of His unique relation to God and to the people and to the temple and to the sacrifices offered there. No wonder at His absorption in the teaching of the rabbis. The wonder is that He was content to return and live years longer in obedience to His parents. He was the only boy who ever grew through childhood in a normal way and had nothing to undo.

7. FORERUNNER. Luke iii, 1-20. John is at last at his work, after years spent in the wilderness of Judea, thinking, studying, communing with God. The figure is that of a messenger of a king who is to take a journey among his people and commands that they get their roads ready for him. He taught these three things—the kingdom of God was present in the person of the king in whom God's sway or kingdom was perfectly established and from whom it was to be passed on to men; they must repudiate their sins in order to be in that kingdom; they must show it by being baptized and by leading an amended life. The elements in John that attract us are his clear convictions, his courage in uttering them, his perfect adaptation of the truth to his different hearers, and his humility when comparing himself with the Messiah, who was about to come.

8. TEST. Mark i, 9-11, Matt. iv, 1-11. His baptism was a test of the man who had been growing in silence. Would He take His place as any other man and be baptized, for that act was a confession of sin? He accepts it as an act of obedience and in it He confesses the sins of the race with whom He identifies Himself. Then the Spirit who had trained Him came upon Him in new power and He was endued for His work. What will He do with that power? While His mind is absorbed with it He can think of nothing else; He must be alone and meditate. The nervous tension is too great for His appetite to be felt. Afterward came the reaction of hunger and depression in view of the suffering before Him. Then the devil tries to get Him to misuse that power, first, by ministering to Himself, thereby destroying the principle that He came not to be ministered to; next, by the use of sensation to dazzle the people and win them; then by seeking a good thing by wrong means, worshipping the devil in order to save men. He endured the test and was ready for work. No one can be freely trusted till he has been fully tested.

MINISTRY.

1. DISCIPLES. Mark i, 14-28. His first disciples were a matter of importance. They had been prepared for Him by John. They had followed Him at intervals and then had returned to their work as fishermen. He had spent nearly a year in quiet work in Judea. Now He takes up His more distinctive work in Galilee and wants to gather around Him the men who are to be apostles. In winning them He takes them where they are, at their daily tasks; He attaches their new work to the old by making them fishers of men, by entering into their home life and by making them associates in His work.

2. HEALING. Mark i, 29-45. He had two methods of work, teaching and working. His works were not all beyond the power of men, but usually were. We call such works miracles. He did miracles, because He was a greater miracle than anything He did. He did most of His works on the bodies of sick, crippled, deaf, dumb, blind. In this lesson we find several kinds of healing—of fever, diseases, demons, leprosy. Note His sympathy for all, His need of rest and prayer, His avoidance of unwholesome publicity and the increasing excitement that attended His work.

3. FORGIVENESS. Mark ii. 1-12. The healing of the paralytic brings to view not only the help given by four men to their unfortunate neighbor or kinsman in getting him to where Jesus could heal him, but shows how Jesus saw the connection between sickness and sin and what He was aiming at in all His healings—to bring the unfortunate and God together in peace. Every doctor and preacher ought to work from that point of view—taking care of body and soul together. The incident shows how Jesus was hated by those whose evil He had exposed and how He treated His enemies. There is a profound principle involved, to leave the proof of one's worth to one's work and to God.

4. JOY. Mark ii, 13-22. The lesson from His teaching about feasting and fasting are that one should be social in order to serve and not as a way of sinning; that one's efforts ought to be given where they are most needed and can accomplish the most; that the outer signs of sorrow, such as fasting, are appropriate only when there is real sorrow, not in times of joy. The joy of being with Him does not afford room for fasting. There are times to fast, when, as individuals, or as a people, there are sins to confess and forsake, or calamities in which we need divine help.

CANADIANS STAND FIRM

Express Opposition to Chicago's Plan to Increase Draft on Lakes.

Secretary Stimson Hears Good Faith of Scheme Called Into Question.

Washington, March 28.—A notable body of Canadian legal talent, with a fair sprinkling of large business interests, harbor commissions, boards of trade and mercantile marine organizations, spent two hours before Secretary Stimson yesterday in vigorous protest against the application of the sanitary district of Chicago for permission to more than double the amount of water now being withdrawn from Lake Michigan through the Chicago drainage canal.

Secretary Stimson was flanked by Gen. Bixby, chief of engineers, and Maj. Jadwin of the same corps, who have already gone on record as deprecating any increase in the flow of water through the canal, and with whom he at times consulted on technical points developed in the hearing.

Canadians Encouraged.

The Canadians found much to encourage them at the outset in the secretary's ready recognition of their status as protestants, a point on which they had apparently been in some doubt. Their arguments covered a wide range, but the basic one was an assertion, supported by figures, many of them from reports of the joint waterways commission, and such as that of the special American engineer board, headed by Gen. Bixby, last summer, to show that the drainage canal had already seriously damaged lake navigation, and that it was reasonably certain that to allow the application for the increased flow through the canal would greatly increase the damage to the lakes and St. Lawrence river ports.

One significant statement in the argument was that the Canadian members of the joint waterways commission, while objecting to a proposition to allow a flow of 14,000 feet per second through the canal, had tacitly admitted Chicago's right to take 10,000 fect, and exceeded their powers in recognizing the American right to take any water at all for any purpose except that of navigation.

Right to Appeal.

While expressing appreciation of the hearing by the secretary of war, several Canadians reserved the right to appeal to the international boundary commission under the terms of the last treaty in the event that the decision should be against their claim. The good faith of the sanitary district application was called in question, the inference being given in studiously polite, but unmistakable terms that the actual purpose was to secure more power for the great electric plant instead of improving the sanitation of the country drained by the canal.

The hearing was purely ex-parte, the representatives of Chicago, John C. Williams and L. E. Cooley, contenting themselves with listening to the arguments of the Canadians and arranging for the presentation of briefs hereafter. The only other American attorney present was E. G. Cahill of Chicago, but he threw his strength to the Canadian side by presenting large maps in colors showing the disastrous effects upon river channels and harbors expected from an allowance of the Chicago application.

Notable Men Present.

The Dominion Marine association, represented by Mr. King, in addition to a protest against the Chicago scheme, gave notice that Canada must be consulted in the construction of any remedial work, sure as the erection of retaining dams, etc., intended to regulate lake levels. He also filed a protest in behalf of the Kingston Board of Trade.

Other Canadians who appeared were: F. E. Spencer, harbor commissioner of Toronto; David Seath, secretary of the Montreal harbor commission; Mr. Reifert of the Montreal Board of Trade; Andrew A. Allen, president of the Allen Steamship company; F. E. Meredith of the Shipping Federation of Canada, and G. T. Blackstock, K. C., representing Niagara river interests.

YOUNG HICHBORN KILLS HIMSELF

Grows Despondent Over Wife's Elopement With Lawyer Wylie.

Washington, March 28.—Philip Hichborn, a young lawyer, and son of the late Admiral Hichborn, committed suicide last night by shooting himself in the head with a revolver. Despondency over the elopement last summer of his wife with Horace L. Wylie, a prominent Washington attorney, probably was the cause.

Wylie and Mrs. Hichborn were last heard of in France. Mrs. Hichborn was a daughter of the late Henry M. Hoyt, former solicitor-general of the United States.

Carload of Bibles.

Chicago, March 28.—A freight car containing 8,610 Bibles intended for hotels in Los Angeles, Cal., passed through Chicago today. The Bibles will be distributed by the Gideons, who two years ago started to place a Bible in every hotel room in the United States. Within the last year 33,000 Bibles have been placed in California hotels.

Houser Goes West.

Lincoln, Neb., March 28.—In response to a telegram received from Senator La Follette and from his campaign manager in California, Walter L. Houser, the La Follette campaign manager, has left for California to take part in the work there, which is said to be warming up. Col. John Hannan, private secretary to the Wisconsin senator, will take up Houser's work in Nebraska.

Danderine

Grows hair and we can prove it

Hair Becomes Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Beautiful Immediately After a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

A little Danderine now will immediately double the beauty of your hair—No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Try as you will after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it, if you will just try a little Danderine. Real surprise awaits you.

Three new Caruso records in three different languages

A charming ballad in English, a lovely operatic aria in French, and an amusing Neapolitan song. All sung as only the great tenor can sing them.

A new Lucia Sextette with Tetrazzini, Caruso, Amato, Journet, Jacoby, and Bada

Another "all-star cast" record of this magnificent ensemble. Especially interesting because it marks the first "appearance" of Tetrazzini and Caruso in the same record.

Hear these records at any Victor dealer's, and ask him for an April supplement which contains a complete list of new single- and double-faced records, with a detailed description of each.

EBERHART AND THE EXTRA SESSION.

Governor Eberhart has declared himself for a "properly safeguarded" presidential primary.

The only properly safeguarded presidential primary is one provided for and safeguarded by law against corruption and misrepresentation.

That can be had only by an extra session of the Minnesota legislature; yet Governor Eberhart refuses to call such extra session.

He says that the people of Minnesota do not want an extra session.

That is equivalent to saying that the people do not want to make their own selection of presidential candidates, but would rather let the bosses do it.

It is equivalent to saying that the people do not want to make their own selections of candidates for governor and other state officers, but would rather let Ed Smith and the other bosses do it.

It is equivalent to saying that the people are content to let the duty of increasing the railroad gross earnings tax go over for two years, and to lose the millions of dollars in increased taxes that never will be collected unless there is an extra session. And meanwhile this year's state tax, the tax paid by the farmer and laborer, the merchant and the banker, is the highest in forty years.

The governor's judgment of the situation is based on an estimate of the public intelligence and public spirit that is wantonly insulting to the state.

So, "unless there is a greater demand than I have heard expressed yet," says the governor, "I shall not call an extra session."

The governor has repeated this phrase, parrot-like, every time the extra session demand has arisen, and it has been coming up from time to time, and refusing to stay down, during most of the past year.

He must have spent many an evening with his head leaning trustfully against Ed Smith's knee, to learn his piece so well.

But what evidence of a demand for an extra session would the governor suggest?

Would he like to have the people rise as one man and storm the capitol—first, of course, making sure he is in it and not in Kalamazoo or Tallahassee?

Maybe Diaz knew something about governing Mexico, after all.

THE PEOPLE LOSE.

Ten years of litigation against the packers accused of forming a food trust resulted Tuesday in a verdict of not guilty, freeing the ten men whom the government sought to punish personally for the sins they were charged with committing through the corporations they managed.

"The result," says the Associated Press report, "was a surprise to those who had followed the case."

This isn't very encouraging to those who, whatever the result in court, are morally convinced that there are men exercising a power over the food supplies of the country and their prices that ought not to be tolerated for a minute.

It is discouraging because this was about the first important case in which an attempt had been made to fix the responsibility upon individuals, and to punish them instead of the corporations they manage. It seems comparatively easy to convict and punish a corporation, but so far this has done no good. The chief fruit of corporation punishment thus far has been higher prices and fatter profits for the stockholders.

By a curious coincidence, the acquittal of the packers was followed immediately by a sharp rise in the prices of the food products controlled by them. The inference that this is by way of punishing the American people for their presumption in calling to task the masters of the food market, however natural, is contradicted by the market reports, which ascribed the rise to "active covering by shorts." Whatever the cause, the fact of higher prices and a more burdensome cost of living bulks large.

The United States district attorney who prosecuted the packers was profoundly affected by the verdict, the report says, and "tears filled his eyes."

But what are the feelings of the multitudes whose food market is affected disastrously by this failure?

And now the rebels have won another victory, by Jimfnez!

THE SPLIT LEGISLATIVE SESSION.

The new idea in legislative sessions which California recently adopted is appealing to thoughtful lawmakers in other states.

The plan is to have a "split" session—a preliminary session purely for the receipts of measures, an intermission, and then a second session to enact legislation.

An amendment to the state Constitution providing for this change has been proposed in the Louisiana legislature, and many people with legislative experience are considering it in other states.

Briefly, the plan is to set aside the first thirty days or less of the legislative session to the introduction of bills. Only emergency measures are to be passed. When the bills are all in the legislature adjourns for thirty days, and its members go home to talk over with their constituents the measures pending before them. At the end of that time the legislature reconvenes, and no bills can be introduced from then to the final adjournment except emergency measures recommended by the governor.

Manifestly this would be an improvement on the present method. In Minnesota the legislature sits for about three months and a half every other year. Bills may be introduced at any time except during the last twenty days, when they must have the consent of the governor. The results are that the first six weeks of the session are consumed in dawdling while the members get their bills ready and introduce them, that several thousands of measures pour into the hopper, that there is a steadily increasing congestion, and that at the end of the session hundreds of measures are hurried through without even half decent consideration, and many good measures are crowded out in the rush.

Members of the legislature are elected in November. They will have plenty of time to determine the legislation they will introduce between election day and the meeting of the legislature nearly two months later. Thirty days is more than enough time for the introduction of all needed legislation. The thirty-day intermission could be taken out of the present session without being missed. There would be six weeks left for the consideration and passage of bills without lengthening the session. If necessary the first session, for the introduction of bills, could be shortened.

Thirty days taken out of the present session of three months and a half, if used for a trip home to talk over pending measures with the people of the home districts, would be time well spent; and if the legislature really worked the rest of the session there would be plenty of time for the full consideration of all pending measures.

In point of fact, there is nothing to prevent any session of the Minnesota legislature, by agreement between both houses, from adopting this plan.

However, it is best to have the provision for it put in the Constitution by amendment, so that the change will be permanent.

A Canadian is said to have lost the use of his voice for an hour when suddenly notified that he had fallen heir to $2,500,000. At that he probably had a dumb good time.

THE PUBLIC MARKET.

The Duluth Market Gardeners' association, the organization of which was reported in The Herald last evening, is another helpful institution which deserves public support.

And the public will be in a position to give it effective support, because one of the aims of the association will be to put the Armory market on a better basis. It will encourage market gardeners in and around Duluth to bring their products there for sale, and the one best way to encourage them is to assure them that they will find buyers there.

And since it is from the public that the buying must come, here is where the public gets its chance to help build Duluth.

It has long been recognized that a prime necessity in the making of Duluth is the encouragement of market gardening on near-by acres, so that this city will be able to feed itself cheaply and well from a near-by source of supplies instead of paying freight and express on long hauls, as it has done in the past. The Duluth Market Gardeners' association will be a valuable aid in this work, especially if the public co-operates by insisting on getting the products of its members.

Helpful work can be done by the consumers of Duluth if they will patronize the Armory market, and if they will use their influence with their grocers toward giving home-grown products a preference.

The reason the Armory market hasn't been the success that was hoped for it is that the public hasn't patronized it as it should. That is an omission which the public can remedy, and it will be doing good work for the upbuilding of Duluth if it does remedy it.

"Do it for Duluth!"

Spring? Sure! Three consecutive blocks yesterday showed one popcorn wagon, twelve boys shootin' migs and one scissors-grinder.

THE WHITEWASH BRUSH.

By a vote of 40 to 34 the senate has declared that Senator Stephenson's seat, which cost him $107,793, was honorably won.

The special senate committee appointed to investigate anew the charge that Senator Lorimer's seat was purchased for him, voted in his favor yesterday, five to three.

The majority of the committee seems to have found it convenient and desirable, all things considered, to overlook entirely the evidence produced in the second investigation. It takes the stand that as Lorimer was tried once and given a clean bill of moral health—euphemism for a coat of whitewash—he should not be placed in jeopardy again. Presumably not even if it were proved that every vote for Lorimer in the Illinois legislature was bought and paid for.

Prosperous times, these, for debauchery in the getting of senate seats.

The galleries laughed, the correspondents note, when Lorimer voted yesterday for Stephenson.

Doubtless they will have a chance to laugh again when Stephenson reciprocates by voting for Lorimer.

If only the senators were concerned in the integrity of the United States senate, it wouldn't be so bad. They have a right to tar themselves with the stick of political corruption if they care to, perhaps.

But the people have a much greater concern in the integrity of the senate than any senator, or than all of them put together. So this merry exchange of whitewashing courtesies will not—at least should not—be viewed by the people as a light and merry comedy, but as a very serious and blasting invasion of their lawmaking body by black powers of commercial greed and political chicanery.

Owing to the length and coldness of the winter, the price of ice is not to be lowered this summer. Anyway, we might as well consider that the reason. It's as logical as any, and has just as much weight.

RELIEF POSSIBLE BOTH WAYS.

The British parliament is considering a minimum wage law which will, it is hoped, better the lot of the workingman.

The American congress is considering a number of tariff bills which will, if made laws, increase the purchasing power of the workingman's wages by reducing the cost of living.

A reduction in the cost of living is as good as a corresponding increase in wages, for the true wage is determined not by the number of dollars or shillings or cents or pennies in the daily wage, but by its purchasing power.

So it is to be hoped that parliament will pass its minimum wage law and that congress and the president will make the proposed tariff reductions into law.

By the way, how does President Taft think the New York soapbox compares with that of North Dakota?

President Taft apparently looked on the proposition of the tariff board as a great coup. Now it looks more like a coop, where the chickens have come home to roost.

Adam Brown Littlepage of West Virginia, who in the last Congressional Directory lauded himself to the skies with thirty-one lines of superlative adjectives, has cut his autobiography in the current issue to a bare four lines plus one word, without an adjective in it. Thus we learn that modesty can be taught, even in congress.

FREE SUGAR

By SAVOYARD.

Shakespeare makes the great cardinal, who moulded mighty states' decrees, regretfully, mournfully, to say, when adversity came to him:

"Had I but served my God with half the zeal
I served my king, He would not in mine age
Have left me naked to mine enemies."

And so Louisiana—had she served the Democratic party with half the ardor she has promoted monopoly taxation, she would not be in dread of free sugar today. Of all our importations of "competitive" products, sugar is decidedly the best from which to raise revenue. The competition of it is enormous in our country—per capita as well as in total the largest in the world—and had Louisiana been content with the "incidental" protection of a tariff on sugar for revenue only there would be no more question of putting sugar on the free list than there is of putting whisky on the free list.

But on the tariff question Louisiana is as strongly Republican as Pittsburg, Pa., or Lawrence, Mass., and if it were respectable to be a Republican there, Louisiana, and not Vermont, would be the banner Republican state. Thus it came to pass that when Louisiana had to be a Democrat to preserve civilization, she got to be a Democrat, all right; but a Randallite, and so for nearly fifty years Louisiana has been a dependancy, and most of her statesmen vassals of the Republican party whenever the paramount issue in congress was the vital one of taxation.

The consumption of sugar is universal, and every civilized people tax it, even England, though one may be sure that country would carry it to the free list if the British isles grew one-fourth as much sugar as Louisiana, for then and in that event sugar would cease to be "non-competitive," and a customs tax on it would have the vicious, the odious, the wicked element of "protection"—the taxation of one subject for the benefit of another—an immorality and a godlessness "effete" England will not endure or tolerate.

Under our protective tariff on sugar the treasury gets over $50,000,000 revenue annually, and if it were a Democratic tariff the government would get $80,000,000, and the cost of sugar would be materially reduced to the consumer. And it could be made a pretty fair tariff, too—as just as it is possible when the article on which it is levied is competitive, that is, carrying the hateful element of protection, though "incidental" it be. The rich consume much more sugar than the poor. One class eats cake, the other bread. It takes more sugar to sweaten a cup of coffee in a fine house than in a cabin. Your poor man will take his whisky straight—or on grog—Christmas; the rich will guzzle a miserable and nauseating mixture called egg nog that is thick with sugar and sickening with spices. The poor boy takes a bag of parched corn to school to crunch on the sly; the rich boy has a pocket full of candy. In the cabin of the poor the blackberry cobbler is innocent of "sweeteninʼ" other than the natural saccharine of the wild berry; in the mansion of the rich all such puddings are opulent with sugar and sumptuous with butter. These musings on facts might be indulged indefinitely, but enough is said to show that a customs tax on sugar is much more equitable than the average tariff tax—far more so than the tax on wool.

In addition to the cane industry of Louisiana there has grown up in Michigan, in Colorado, in Nebraska, in Utah, in California, and elsewhere what they call the "beet sugar industry." They say it is prosperous. Doubtless it is. It would be strange if it were not, for it cost the American people $100,000,000 and upwards of a year to create and support the beggar brat, and I'll bet it is not worth in the market 5 per cent of the price the people paid for it. It is nowhere denied that the sugar consumed in American households annually costs the sum named more than it would cost if sugar were on the free list. So that it what America pays every year—$100,000,000—for the luxury of a "beet sugar industry," and that other industry of Louisiana, the "cane sugar industry." I submit that the thing is as improvident husbandry in economy as it is false equity in morals.

But it would have mattered little comparatively if our sugar-growing communities—cane and beet—had been moderate, if they had been content to put up with the incidental protection of a tariff on sugar strictly for revenue. Instead they must needs join with the sugar trust and engage in a scheme of universal extortion, for that is what our sugar tariff is and has been for half a century, except the short life of the McKinley tariff, which put the raw sugar on the free list and paid a bounty out of the treasury to the cane growers of the South and the beet growers of the West, which was an infamy even greater, if possible, than the present law, and it would not have survived a moment if the bill had not told a bare-faced lie in the title. Of course, the people rejected it as soon as they got a whack at it, and perhaps not even in our boundless assortment of economic knaves and lunatics can one be found vagabond enough and crazy enough to suggest a re-enactment of this absurd and villainous scheme.

Well, somebody has said "free sugar." And that is not all—it was said in congress. Nor is that all—it is coupled with an income tax, and besides that, it passed the house of representatives. It ultimately not three years hence—will be the law, for there are 100 families in our country who consume sugar to one family who who produces sugar. The engineer is hoist by his own petard. Greed has overleaped itself. Had Louisiana and the beet sugar folk joined with John G. Carlisle, Roger Q. Mills, and William L. Wilson for a tariff for revenue only on sugar—that is, a fixing of a rate that would have put most money into the treasury—instead of combining with Sam Randall and that set of half-beked and fried meat Democrats like Joe Bailey, Sam McEnery and the others, they would not be in the box they now find themselves.

They say the thing was done over the protest of Chairman Underwood. I shouldn't wonder, for of course free sugar means free wool. It is inevitable.

"As she slips, she slides along, trusty friend is hard to find."

Which is to say—all of us were born in North Carolina and never think of shutting the door after us in cold weather.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

SAYS DULUTH HAS AN AUDITORIUM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

My attention was called to an item in your March 16th issue of the Open Court, written by "Scott," saying that we are in need of a convention hall.

I wish to answer Scott that he has evidently overlooked the Auditorium, Third avenue east and First street, which was completed last May and was built for just such purpose.

The Auditorium can accommodate 2,000 or 2,500 people, has the best of ventilation and plenty of light. It is equipped with convenient and sanitary toilet rooms, ladies' rest room, as well as gentlemen's smoking room.

The location is an ideal one, as it is only about five minutes' walk from all the hotels and depots and within one block from all the street car lines.

For conventions, singing societies, lectures, concerts, etc., the acoustics are as good as any hall in the country. It has ample exits for all emergencies, and in fact all requirements necessary for a hall of this kind. Any convention which can be secured for Duluth can be housed with comfort at the Auditorium.

S. H. M.

Duluth, March 27.

SAYS "AMEN."

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish to add my "Amen" to your hope expressed last evening that the work contemplated for a better Duluth shall have permanent results, which will only be attained by doing constructive work with a view of providing means for meeting the social needs of the growing generation without the evil pauperizing effects attending the saloon. Also, industrial conditions must be improved and the growing generation be equipped for earning sufficient wage to support a family, when there would not be the slightest excuse for tolerating anything of the nature of a red light district. To improve industrial conditions and reduce the cost of living, I believe a potent factor would be the starting of summer schools in agricultural work (preferably with a good swimming hole in the vicinity) wherein city-bred children will be given the chance to learn how to handle horses and do a farmer's work and thus be given a chance to develop a taste for farming work or to see how they like it, similar to the opportunity given them in other trades in the high school. Yours truly,

J. M. G.

Duluth, March 26.

NOT AS BAD AS OTHERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In reply to the letter published in last night's Herald by "Lee Sharp," I would suggest that the writer look into the chorus of "Duluth," before forming such an opinion, as it is written for "Jolly Good Fellows." If he would read over such songs as "Oh You Beautiful Doll" "If You Talk in Your Sleep Don't Mention My Name," etc., I think he would find "Duluth" a great deal better and only what it was intended for, "A boost for our city."

AN INTERESTED READER.

Duluth, March 27.

SHIFTLESSNESS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I had looked to see a greater response than there has been to The Herald's demand that Superior street in the business section be cleaned and kept clean.

Surely there must be more people interested in this than have written to the paper!

Did you ever wonder why a friend of yours didn't get along, and then some day happen to pass his home and find it all tumbledown and shiftless? You understood, then, why he didn't get along. Your glance at his home surroundings told you just what kind of a man he was.

Well, I wish every citizen of Duluth would take a look at Superior street and at the avenues between Superior street and First street, and then remember that example.

The stranger who comes to our city and sees this winter's accumulation of filth and debris in the treets is going to get the same idea of Duluth that you got of your friend.

You may wonder why Duluth hasn't got along better than it has. He won't. He'll think he knows. Only I hope he will be wrong. Anyway, he will not be impressed by the enterprise and public spirit of a community that suffers such an appalling condition on its one business street, and that waits for summer rains to do its street cleaning for it.

Thanking you for the space.

HORROR-STRICKEN.

Duluth, March 27.

"BACK TO THE FARM."

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been very much interested in the articles in "The Open Court" called forth by the article on farming by Mr. Robertson. I have noticed that all the replies have come from that section of Minnesota where the price of the land is from $15 to $20 per acre; and then has to be cleared. The estimate generally given is about $15 per acre for the dynamite, and then the settler could do the clearing himself. I lived in that section for some time and think that I am giving a very low estimate when I say that the least time a man could clear an average acre of that land would be fifteen days. At $2 per day this would make the land ready for the plow cost $60 or $65 per acre. For if his time is worth $2 per day elsewhere it is worth that in clearing.

I believe I am as much of a "Back to the Farm" enthusiast as any who have written on this topic, including the contestants in the "What shall I do with my first $1,000?" And there are so many opportunities over here. Thousands of acres of unimproved land can be bought for $15 to $20, and no additional cost for clearing.

The amount generally suggested for the first year is ten acres. Say the cost per acre here or there is the same. Then the $150 for dynamite, and the $300 for clearing that land, would pay for the breaking, the seed, the disking and seeding, the cutting, the thrashing and hauling to market for forty acres put into flax.

Scarcely any land over here put in that way last year raised less than ten bushels to the acre; at $2 per bushel $800. And then this soil will raise as fine a quality of any kind of vegetables, and as much of them, as any soil, anywhere.

Now, I am not a land man; only a preacher, wishing to encourage anyone who has only limited capital with the knowledge that there is open to him a chance for independence in a few years by taking advantage of present opportunities.

DEFENDS HIS SONG.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am very sorry that the song entitled "Duluth" had been looked at from an evil standpoint, by some one who believes that he is doing some good for the city and yet is doing harm.

The song was written to meet the demand that's made for any popular song for amusement and jingle. There certainly must be something wrong with a person who can see harm in taking a trip to the aerial bridge or the pier, ball game, theater, etc. And if this song is considered as such, how about the good old world renowned song that is and was for sale in all the leading music stores in the United States, also Duluth, of course, entitled, "We Won't Go Home Until Morning." The writer sold over 4,000,000 copies of that song. How about all other songs on sale at every popular music and department store, such as "How Do You Do It Mabel on $29 a Week?" and "Everybody's Doin' It." They are also within the reach of the public.

I do not appeal to either the moral or immoral worker of this city, but to the public in general, and if there is nothing on Superior street being sold today any worse than my song, entitled "Duluth," then I ask that you please prohibit its sale. Respectfully yours,

I. S. MISTACHKIN,

(Writer of the "Duluth" Song.)

Duluth, March 27.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

Articles of Incorporation of the Duluth Terminal Improvement company have been filed. It will apply to the council for a right-of-way along the streets already petitioned for by the Red Lake Falls road. The incorporators are F. W. Paine, J. C. Hunter, Michael Norris, S. L. Selden, Herman Burg, F. W. Kugler and C. A. Stewart. The capital stock is $250,000.

Secretary Thompson of the chamber of commerce this morning received a letter from Chairman Blanchard of the river and harbor committee of the house, stating that the Duluth appropriation is $80,000, and that a substantial part of this sum will be applied to dredging in the St. Louis river above Grassy Point.

The Duluth high school will graduate a class of twenty-six this year. Contrary to the usual custom, six will read essays. The honors are as follows: Valedictorian, Zada Dow; salutatorian, Edgar Wells; class prophet, Victor Hugo. The class also comprises the following members: Edna Ash, Jo Barnes, Ella Barrows, Louise Bassett, Carolyn Blackmar, Hattie Carey, Ethel Dodge, Anna Farrell, Lottie Hall, Viney Hood, Grace Jefferson, Maude Brooke, Carlos Jones, Florence Lautenschlager, Emil Meinhardt, Phoebe Nichols, Gussie Oppel, Albert Quelette, Edward Prescott, Lyman Stocking, Ogden Tillotson, Will Upham and Lynda Woodbridge.

The plans prepared by McMillan & Radcliffe for the new Jefferson school have been accepted by the board of education. The building will be of brick and stone, in the style of the Italian renaissance, and will cost about $65,000.

Arthur Henry died in St. Mary's hospital in this city yesterday from being struck by a falling tree at Peyton, Kimball & Barber's lumber camp in Wisconsin. He came from Alpena, Mich.

Mrs. Helen Dellabough left this afternoon for Starbuck, Minn., to be absent about a month.

Judge J. G. Redding of Windom, Minn., is in the city with a view of investing, and may decide to locate here permanently.

The new officers of the Pilgrim club are: President, A. G. Strong; vice president, W. G. Hegardt; secretary and treasurer, W. S. Horr; executive committee, George T. Hughes and J. B. Vail.

The People's party politicians of St. Louis county met yesterday and indorsed the platform formulated recently at St. Louis. Mr. Hjelm acted as chairman of the meeting and A. F. Rudolph as secretary.

Edward Diegle has gone to Chicago to "size up" the position which has been offered him by a trunk railway.

Miss Mary Birdsell of Pontiac, Mich., is in Duluth visiting her brother.

MORE ECHOES OF HARMONY.

Clean House!

Plainview News: All believe as does Governor Eberhart that we should have a business administration. But how are we to get it? Continue to let the old gang dictate and manipulate things, or get busy and have a good cleanup?

Business at Home.

Wascca Herald: Governor Eberhart went to Chicago last week to tender his support to President Taft in the coming campaign. Unless appearances are very deceptive, our traveling governor will have enough to do to look after his own campaign, no matter how large Ed Smith's "barrel" may be.

The Governor's Own Work.

Northfield News: Ralph W. Wheelock declares that the Roosevelt organization is trying to put Governor Eberhart in the hole by requesting him to take definite action on the preferential primary. The governor is putting himself in the hole faster than any other agency by refusing to take a stand on the situation which is an evasion. The cry of his private secretary is ever the plaint of a political machine. When a chief executive refuses to whip his organization in line for the accomplishment of a preferential presidential primary, he really labels himself the tool of a machine which does not want an intelligent expression of the whole people on any proposition.

And to Whom?

Albert Lea Tribune: The Janesville Argus thinks that Governor Eberhart is entitled to another term on account of services rendered. Well, what services?

Possibly!

Little Falls Herald: If Caswell becomes national committeeman, it MIGHT affect the gubernatorial campaign.

Many Efforts Were Made.

Eveleth News: The presidential primary cannot be appropriated by T. R. for campaign thunder. All are in favor of it. But the state of Minnesota cannot bear the expense unless the governor calls an extra session of the legislature to amend the primary election law. And it isn't an easy matter to get Adolph to do such a thing as that.

The Standing Denial.

Walker Pilot: Governor Eberhart approved of a preferential vote for president just the same as he once did an extra session of the legislature. The governor should throw away that "do it now" motto which adorns his desk, and replace it with an "I never said it" sign.

A Vaudeville Number?

Northome Record: One Eberhart, who thinks he is governing the state of Minnesota, will be in attendance at the International Falls meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association, and it is said he is preparing another school-children speech extolling the virtues of a certain brand of beer made in Minneapolis. The "chief executive of your great state" will surely be an attractive number on the amusement card.

Advertising the Reward.

Chicago Tribune: The following astonishing advertisement, three columns in width, appeared in the Post of Houston, Tex., March 17:

To Republican Federal Officeholders in Texas:

The state chairman has notified you officially to send him money to defeat President Taft, under whom you hold a commission, and to file your allegiance to him within ten days. This is to notify you that the state chairman has now no influence in Washington and will not have if re-elected, after President Taft's triumphant re-election.

In some other Southern states where complaint was made and where conditions were similar to those in Texas the president had the Republicans of the state meet in conference and select a committee to make recommendations as to the patronage, and you can rest assured that loyal Taft Republicans cannot be slaughtered by the state chairman.

The recommendation of Taft Republicans will control the Texas situation in the matter of patronage and not the recommendations of those engaged in discrediting one of the best presidents the country has ever had, and who are by their disloyalty endangering Republican success nationally.

H. F. MacGREGOR,
Taft Texas Campaign Manager.

Houston, Texas, March 15, 1912.

Here is a flat pledge from the Taft manager in Texas that votes for Mr. Taft will be paid for in patronage in case of success. No such brazen return to the spoils system has been promised for years. This is the way the will of the party is to be expressed in one of the greatest of the states. Is it to go unchallenged?

Of course, the president cannot know of this offense, but it should be brought to his attention. Such methods are scandalous, and his candidacy ought not to be smirched by them. They emphasize the crying need for the direct preference primary.

Avoiding the Real Issues.

New York World: Mr. Roosevelt dare not attack Mr. Taft at his most vulnerable point. He dare not attack the president on the tariff question, where in the eyes of the country Mr. Taft is weakest.

Mr. Roosevelt is gagged by his own record on the tariff. The only man "whom the beneficiaries of special privilege really dread," as he proclaims himself, never stirred a finger during all the years he was in the White House to bring about the revision of the Dingley duties. The one time he meditated raising the subject of the tariff in a message to congress he was dissuaded by "Uncle Joe" Cannon, the stand-pat speaker of the Republican house.

The anti-Taft movement in the Republican party first took form during the special session of congress in 1909 in the opposition of the Western insurgents to the Payne-Aldrich bill. Mr. Roosevelt plans to annex it as his personal property for campaign purposes. But not one of the Progressive senators or representatives who voted against the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill in 1909 or for the revision of Schedule K or the Farmers' Free-List bill in 1911, which Mr. Taft vetoed, knows where Mr. Roosevelt stands on any of these measures. The public has never been able to find out. The only man "whom the beneficiaries of special privilege really dread" as a politician holds the tariff issue in dread. He is afraid to discuss the question that for three years has been debated in congress, in the press and by the people.

The Democratic Situation.

Mart Sullivan in Colliers: Among the masses of the Democrats, Woodrow Wilson has more than five votes to one for Harmon or Clark or Underwood, or any one of the other candidates. Wherever there are presidential primaries, or any other adequate means for the voters to give effect to their wishes, Wilson will get practically all the delegates. Even as it is, with more than half the country subject to machine methods of selecting delegates, Wilson will have three times as many delegates in the convention as Harmon or Clark or Underwood. The unfortunate thing for Wilson is that the Harmon-Clark-Underkood delegates will combine and act as a unit against him, and in the Democratic convention it takes two-thirds to win. This is in contrast with the rule in the Republican convention, where a majority wins. Wilson will have about as many delegates as all the other avowed candidates together. A most powerful factor will be the New York delegation of ninety, almost one-tenth the entire convention (1,072 delegates). This delegation, under the abominable New York system, will be chosen practically by one man, the leader of Tammany, and will undoubtedly be delivered to that one of the candidates who, for fear or favor, happens to be at the moment the choice of the big interests which dominate Tammany.

There Are Windy Days Now.

Chicago News: That new slit skirt will not become the fashion if the managers of the burlesque shows have anything to say about it. They cannot afford to meet such ruthless competition.

STICKS TO HER STORY

Mrs. Torrence "Stands Pat" Under Cross-Examination By County Attorney.

When Other Witnesses Differed With Her, They Testified Falsely.

Under a rigid cross-examination conducted by Warren E. Greene, prosecutor for the state, Mrs. Eleanor Torrence, on trial for larceny in the district court, "stood pat" on her former testimony, denying point blank the essential details of the state's witnesses which contradicted her own.

On both direct and cross-examination, Mrs. Torrence told versions of the affairs at the Torrence home between Nov. 10 and Nov. 30, which differed materially from the testimony of Detectives Terry and Bradley. Mrs. Breckenridge and Mrs. Harris.

"Then all these witnesses testified falsely and lied on the stand and you are the only one who is telling the truth?" asked Mr. Greene. Attorney Nelson interposed an objection, but Mrs. Torrence had already declared that wherein her testimony conflicted with that offered by the state's witnesses, she was in the right and the others were mistaken.

During her testimony on cross-examination, Mrs. Torrence declared that she had lost two diamond rings during the month of November. Mr. Greene asked her if she had those rings now. She said that she had—at home. When asked if she would produce the diamonds in the courtroom at the afternoon session, she replied that she would not unless her attorney, Mr. Nelson, so advised her. Judge Dancer denied the motion of Mr. Greene to compel Mrs. Torrence to bring the rings into court.

Mrs. Breckenridge, who has been represented as being involved at the present time in divorce proceedings brought by her against her husband, today said that she had never instituted suit against Breckenridge for divorce, although they had separated and were not living together at this time.

This afternoon when court was resumed, Mrs. Torrence was still on the stand for cross-examination. Indications are that the trial may not be finished before tomorrow afternoon and there is a possibility that the jury will not take the case before next week.

RAILROADS

OPPORTUNITY FOR SETTLERS

Soo Line Issues Attractive Folder Advertising Northern Minnesota.

"A competence From Forty Acres in Northern Minnesota," is the title of an attractive folder issued by the Soo Line and being distributed through its offices all over the country.

The booklet is typographically a work of art and it contains a wealth of information and statistics for the prospective settler. It is illustrated with farm scenes taken along the line of the Soo road. The soil, climate and market conditions of Northern Minnesota are lauded for the raising of staple vegetables, gardening and dairying and the low prices of land are held out as inducements to the man with small capital to get a start.

The back cover of the folder is given over to an advertisement of the immigration bureau of the Northern Minnesota Development association.

The folder is issued from the office of W. H. Killen, land commissioner of the Soo road. Mr. Killen is busily engaged in booming Northern Minnesota lands and is doing good work in aiding the agricultural development.

News of the death of Thomas Greene, chief engineer of the Soo Line, was received here yesterday afternoon. Mr. Greene succumbed to Bright's disease at his home in Minneapolis, shortly before noon yesterday.

GRAND JURY HAS INDICTED RHODY

Six Indictments Against Him, True Bills Against Women.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grand jury last night reported some more indictments. There are six against James Rhody, arrested in a raid recently for running a disorderly house and selling liquor without a license. The indictments charge: Running a house of ill-fame; running a disorderly house; selling liquor without a license; selling liquor on Sundays and after hours on week days. He was arraigned and will plead tomorrow. Meanwhile he is at liberty on the bail previously furnished.

Women Also Indicted.

Kittie Williams and six other women arrested in the raid at the Rhody place were also indicted for running a house of ill-fame. Some of them are out on bail and some are in jail. They will also plead tomorrow.

The damage case of Nick Stanish vs. the Pearson Mining company to recover damages for the loss of an eye in a mine at Nashwauk Sept. 27 last, is still on trial in the district court.

LOCATED ON WRONG FARM

Settler Wants $1,000 Damages From Real Estate Agents.

Says He Began Removing Timber Before Learning of His Mistake.

Frank F. Birman blames Henry F. Snyder and Isidore Snyder, real estate agents for locating him on his neighbor's land instead of his own, and in district court today before Judge Cant and a jury he is asking for $1,000 judgment against the Snyders to rectify the mistake.

Birman claims that the Snyders represented themselves to be the owners of 160 acres north of Cook. They told him, the complaint states, that the farm had improvements in the shape of a house, barn, shed and other outbuildings, that five acres had been cleared of timber and rocks and that two acres were under cultivation.

Laboring under the impression, he says, that he was buying a farm, Birman entered into a contract for the purchase of the north quarters of section 36, 62-19. He made a small cash payment down and gave a mortgage note for the balance, $328.60. Then he moved onto the farm.

On Dec. 29, 1910, shortly after he had occupied the farm, Birman claims that he made a contract with the Minnesota & Ontario Power company in which they agreed to cut the timber from the land. The company did go onto the land and removed some timber. On Feb. 22, Birman learned that he was on the wrong farm and that he was a trespasser on property owned by Lafayette Bliss.

The Snyders in their answer make a general denial of the charges of fraud and misrepresentation brought against them and make counter claim that Birman has since forfeited his right to the farm sold to him, as he has never paid the mortgage, although it is overdue.

NEW SAVINGS AND LOAN SOCIETY

Duluth Men Form Organization With Capital of $2,000,000.

A savings and loan association was yesterday organized by Duluth citizens with a capital stock of $2,000,000.

The object of the company is to assist its members and depositors in the accumulation of savings and the building of homes. The association will operate along the same lines as the Marshall-Wells Employes' Savings institution, which has paid 6 per cent on deposits during the past ten years. It is also on the same general plan as the Society for Savings of Cleveland, Ohio, which has deposits of nearly $50,000,000, assisting thousands of people to secure a larger rate of interest on their savings than is paid ordinarily, it being a purely mutual institution.

The incorporators are: Fred C. Harris, J .A. Watterworth, W. I. Wright, A. H. Burg, H. Fee, H. C. Brown, C. A. Knippenberg.

The officers are: J. A. Watterworth, president; A. H. Burg, vice president; W. I. Wright, second vice president; C. A. Knippenberg, secretary and treasurer.

TELLS MORE OF TENNESSEE IRON

Construction Engineer Continues Testimony Before Stanley Committee.

Washington, March 28.—Representative Young of Michigan, Republican, member of the house steel investigating committee, today interrogated Julian Kennedy, the construction engineer, who yesterday told the committee that industrial corporations should not own railroads.

Mr. Young asked particularly into the value of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company. Mr. Kennedy, reiterating his statement of yesterday that the Tennessee company was worth at least $100,000,000, declared that its principal value was in its ore and coal holdings.

Mr. Young asked if the Tennessee company before its purchase by the United States Steel corporation was a profitable concern. Mr. Kennedy said it was not conspicuously so.

Mr. Young referred to the testimony given the committee last summer by Leonard C. Hanna of Cleveland to the effect that the Steel corporation paid a good price for the Tennessee company. Mr. Hanna was one of the owners of the Tennessee company at the time of the sale.

"Mr. Hanna testified," said Mr. Young, "that he received more from the Steel corporation for his stock than he paid for it, and that he got a good price. Do you think his judgment as to the value of this property might be better than yours?"

"Perhaps," said Mr. Kennedy; "but if you asked him the same hypothetical question you asked me as to the total value of all the coal and ore holdings of the Tennessee company, I think his judgment might agree with mine."

BETTER CLASS OF MEXICANS WANT ANNEXATION.

John Fitzsimmons, 4331 Luverne street, who has just returned from a trip through Mexico and British Honduras in the interests of the Lagana Lumber company of London, Eng., declares that the better classes of the people of that country are unanimous in the desire that Mexico be annexed to the United States. He says the soldiers are principally from the lower classes, who are urging the fight and who have nothing to lose. He says there is little doing commercially in Mexico, the country being so much risturmed that few people having money care to invest it there.

Mr. Fitzsimmons says his company owns 609,000 acres of mahogany and Spanish cedar timber in Mexico and has large holdings in Oregon and British Columbia. The milling is done mostly in the eastern part of the country. The war has not interfered with the timber interests to any great extent, as most of the fighting has been in the South.

LEARNS FROM LOS ANGELES

W. A. McGonagle Says He Obtained Ideas on Civic Work.

Women of California Are Intelligently Using the Right to Vote.

W. A. McGonagle, president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad, who has just returned from a vacation trip to California, obtained some ideas on civic work, which he will incorporate in his report as chairman of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club. The club year ends next month and Mr. McGonagle's report will be submitted at the final meeting of the 1911-12 committee.

"Los Angeles is a great city," said Mr. McGonagle today. "They have the boosting spirit out there in the best form I have ever seen. They only boost Los Angeles in words, but they do so in deeds also, for home-manufactured articles find a ready market in the city and home industries are enthusiastically supported.

"Every Los Angeles man is a booster for his city wherever he may be. I failed to find anybody who was willing, much less anxious, to offer any adverse criticism. The city is going ahead fast and the progress is due to the great public spirit and the co-operation of forces.

"San Francisco also has public spirit and business energy that strike the visitor forcibly. Both cities are making great public improvements and are building for the future. The visitor can learn much from them."

Mr. McGonagle says that the practical operation of woman suffrage, which was recently instituted in California, surprised him.

"The women are making use of the suffrage and are voting intelligently," he said. "They are enthusiastic citizens and are throwing their support to every movement that has for its object good government and the elimination of corrupt conditions. They have clubs of their own in support of political issues, and they are showing a grasp of governmental affairs that is surprising to the male voters and is disconcerting to the old-time politician."

NEW COAL DOCK FOR ASHLAND

A dispatch from Ashland, Wis., states that the Pittsburg Coal company has purchased dock property and will build a $250,000 coal dock at that point.

C. J. Farrer, representing the Pittsburg company purchased the land from the Weyerhaeuser interests. The site was formerly occupied by the Barker & Stewart mill.

Work will begin on the new docks as soon as contracts have been let and material can be obtained. The docks will be modeled after those of the Carnegie Fuel company of Duluth, it is said.

SUPERIOR

Police Lieutenant Resigns.

Police Lieutenant D. W. Scoon yesterday noon presented his resignation as a member of the Superior police department, to Chief of Police Vincent McKinnon. No statement is given, but it is believed that the present mayoralty campaign has considerable influence in the matter. One of the candidates is said to have announced in a campaign speech that if elected, he would immediately ask for the resignation of Lieut. Scoon. Lieut. Scoon has been on the force for the past twelve years.

New Saloon Ruling.

A dispatch was received here this morning from Madison, Wis., announcing that in the future all the saloons of Wisconsin cities must be closed the entire twenty-four hours during election days. In the past the saloonkeepers were allowed to reopen after 9 o'clock in the evening.

Fined $100 in Chicago.

Michael Jacobs, Jr, of this city, who was arrested in Chicago Tuesday afternoon for falsely seeking a reward for the whereabouts of a missing man, was fined $100 in police court at Chicago, this morning. The young man's father, who is a saloonkeeper here, last last evening for Chicago and paid the court fine this morning. He will bring his son home this evening.

Eloper Answers Charges.

Joseph G. Jund, who was arrested yesterday morning in Menominee Mich., by Sheriff McKinnon on the charge of eloping with Mrs. Catherine Rehor of this city, was brought before the municipal court yesterday afternoon and his trial was fixed for April 4. Jund is alleged to have run away with Mrs. Rehor and the sheriff left for Menominee Tuesday evening at the request of Mr. Rehor, who brought the complaint before the local police.

Awarded First Honors.

John Heath was awarded first honors in the boys' preliminary declamatory contest held at the Nelson Dewey high school last evening. His subject was "Irish Aliens," and he will represent the school in the district contest to be held the middle of next month.

Few Tubercular Patients.

Eight tubercular patients, seven of them from Douglas county, are being cared for at the county sanitarium, which was opened here several weeks ago. The institution will comfortably care for twenty-five patients.

Mother Dies at Los Angeles.

Miss Amanda Seigne of 1406 Tower avenue received word yesterday of the death of her mother, Mrs. Marion Seigne, who had been living with her daughter at Los Angeles, Cal. Mrs. Seigne was 84 years old and died Monday afternoon. Mrs. Seigne leaves five daughters and two sons. They are: Mrs. F. O. Zilgitt and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson of Los Angeles, Mrs. Frank Fritchler of Fargo, Mrs. Charles E. Geatke of Ada, Minn., Miss Amanda Seigne of Superior, Frank Seigne of Warren, Minn., and Dr. H. A. Seigne of St. Vincent, Minn.

A Chinese Ball Team.

San Francisco, Cal., March 28.—The Chinese baseball team of Honolulu, all of them of unmixed Oriental blood, but claiming American citizenship by reason of Hawaiian birth, arrived here today on the liner Lurline for a six months' tour of this country. Shortly before leaving the islands the Chinese won two games from the team of the cruiser West Virginia.

WINS CASE, BUT LOSES IT

Mrs. Selina Demerce Gets a Worthless Verdict for $7,500.

Jury's Decision on Special Issue Renders Judgment Void.

The jury which tried the Demerce personal injury suit in district court against the Soo railroad, returned two contradictory verdicts.

It decided an issue in favor of the railroad company and also returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $7,500, the full amount sued for. But the verdict on the special issue stands, and the court in entering judgment will enter it for the railroad company.

The case is one in which Mrs. Selina Demerce, widow of Timothy Demerce, sued the Soo railroad for $7,500 for the death of her husband. It was claimed that Demerce, employed as a switchman in the Duluth yards, was killed while coupling cars. Demerce was run over and death was instantaneous. The accident occurred on the night of Aug. 12, 1911.

Judge Martin Hughes, in charging the jury on the request of the railroad attorney, put this question to the jurymen to decide: "Did the witness, McKinnon, at the time he testified he saw the light held by Demerce disappear and go out, as a matter of fact, stand in such a position in the rear of the train that he could not see such light held by Demerce?"

The jury answered the question in the affirmative and then returned a verdict for the full amount against the company. McKinnon was the principal witness for the plaintiff. Attorney H. B. Fryberger is attorney for the defendant company and S. A. Anderson of St. Paul is attorney for Mrs. Demerce.

WOULD NOT BELIEVE HER

Witnesses Attack Veracity of Esther Mercy in the Court.

Man Says He Would Not Take Girl's Word Under Oath.

Chicago, March 28.—A. Abrahams, a Suth side furniture dealer, was the first witness heard today in the case of Miss Esther Mercy against Marion Talbot, dean of women at the University of Chicago. Abraham was called in behalf of Miss Talbot.

The witness said he had known Miss Mercy four years.

"Do you know her reputations for truthfulness?" asked Attorney Walker.

"Yes."

"What is it?"

"Bad."

"Would you believe her under oath?"

"No."

On cross-examination Abrahams admitted having had business dealings with Miss Mercy and said he based his opinion as to her veracity on his business experience.

"Look Me in the Face!"

Miss Mercy caused some excitement by rising from her chair and shouting: "Look me in the face! Look me in the face," when C. E. Zimmerman, engaged in the mail order business, was called to the witness stand to testify that Zimmerman said he did not know the reputation of Miss Mercy for truthfulness and veracity, but that Warren Reynolds' reputation for truthfulness was bad.

"Would you believe him under oath?" asked Attorney Walker.

"No," replied the witness.

Judge Pomeroy excused the jury and cautioned Miss Mercy to refrain from making any further remarks to witnesses or others during the progress of the trial.

Miss Mary Green, principal of a public school where Miss Mercy formerly was employed as teacher, was next examined.

Poor Disciplinarian.

She declared Miss Mercy was a poor disciplinarian and unable to maintain order among the pupils. Several other character witnesses were examined.

William Tascott, a restaurant keeper, testified that Miss Mercy's reputation for truth was bad.

Miss Mary Waring, a public school teacher, testified similarly.

MUST BE LICENSED AS CHAUFFEURS

Testers, Demonstrators, Mechanicians, Etc., Included in the Law.

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to an opinion rendered by Assistant Attorney General Stevenson, any tester, demonstrator, mechanician or other employe of a motor car company who takes a motor car out on the public streets, must take out a chauffeur's license. Heretofore license from them has not been required.

The assistant attorney general held also that drivers of the fire or police patrols did not have to take out chauffeurs' licenses because the state law specifically exempts them.

FIFTY CASES ON VIRGINIA COURT TERM.

Fifty cases are noticed for trial at the April term of the district court which will convene at Virginia next Tuesday. The calendar is not a heavy one and there are only four more cases than were on the February term at Hibbing.

On the April calendar, there are twenty-one continued and twenty-nine new cases. In all there are twenty-nine civil cases for juries, eighteen of which are new and eleven continued.

Fifteen divorce actions, of which eight are new, and six court cases, three of which are new, are also noticed for trial at the next term at Virginia. Clerk of the Court J. P. Johnson today received the list of cases to be tried from the deputy clerk at Virginia.

HICKS KILLED BY SWORD THRUSTS

Another Victim of Chinese Bandits Wounded in Many Places.

Chung Kiang, China, March 28.—The death of Bert Hicks of Oshkosh, Wis., who was killed by pirates near Wu Shan, province of Sze Chuen, on March 23, was caused by two sword thrusts through the lungs. A. N. Sheldon of Ventura, Cal., received wounds all over the body, and it will be a month before he completely recovers. Philip Hoffman of Avon, Ohio, was wounded in the neck, but not severely.

Disbands War Department.

Hankow, China, March 28.—Gen. Li Yuen-Heng, vice president of the republic, has disbanded the war department at Wu Chang in order to facilitate the coalition.

Soldiers in Mutiny.

Shanghai, China, March 28.—A body of 500 soldiers belonging to the garrison Su Chow, about fifty miles to the northwest of this city, mutinied today. They left the barracks and raided some of the principal streets, looting most of the numerous pawnshops. They also set fire to a number of private residences.

LORDS PASS THE WAGE BILL, TOO

Royal Assent All That Is Needed to Make It the Law.

London, March 28.—The house of lords this afternoon passed the miners' minimum wage bill without amendment. It now has only to receive the royal assent.

SECRETARY OF STATE KNOX IN SAN DOMINGO.

Santo Domingo, Republic of San Domingo, March 28. Secretary of State Knox, who arrived here on board the United States cruiser Washington yesterday from Venezuela, this morning visited a number of the public buildings and historical ruins, afterwards making a motor trip to the Spanish forts. He will lunch at the United States legation, where a reception is to be held in his honor this afternoon followed by a concert.

WINTERS' YOUNG SLAYER IS GIVEN SENTENCE.

Mora, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eugene Thomas, the 17-year-old boy of Minneapolis who confessed to the murder of R. N. Winters in the latter's cabin near here a short time ago, today was given an indeterminate sentence at hard labor in the reformatory at St. Cloud.

Senator Taylor Under Knife.

Washington, March 28. — Senator Taylor of Tennessee underwent an operation for gallstones today and it was pronounced successful. Hopes now are entertained for a speedy recovery.

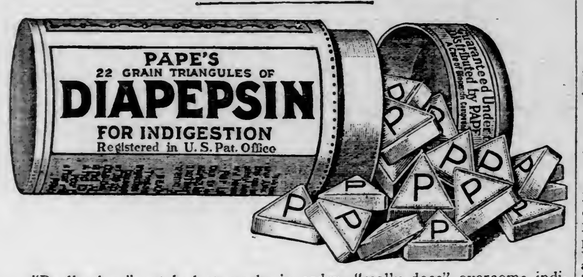
A FEW DIAPEPSIN WILL REGULATE A BAD STOMACH IN FIVE MINUTES

It is so needless to suffer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Heartburn or a sour, gassy, upset Stomach.



"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

"There's Two Ways!!"

There's two ways to exercise the bowels—Natural Ways. The "animal way" is running, climbing, jumping, just one cheap, sweet, little Cascarets every other night for a week or two, and thereafter once or twice a week, as needed.

Adopt this Civilized Way and you'll be free from Constipation, Biliousness, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Headache and Liver trouble.

Nourish the Bowel Nerves—they'll do the rest. Get the easy, pleasurable effect of a harmless physic and tonic. All druggists, 10c and 25c.

NEW TOWNSHIP WAS ONCE LAKE BOTTOM

Section of Marshall County That Has Been Reclaimed By Drainage.

Middle River, Minn., March 28.—The youngest township in Marshall county in Mud Lake, which has just been organized. Three years ago a large portion of this township was the bottom of a shallow lake known as Mud lake, but which has since the construction of the drainage ditches become fine agricultural land. Many settlers have located on this land since and are converting it into splendid farms. Good crops of grain were harvested last fall of portions of what had two years before been lake bottom.

The county commissioners of Marshall county have acted favorably upon the state road from Thief River Falls to Strathcona, Roseau and Pennington counties are much in favor of this road and it will no doubt go through.

ARE GIVING OPTIONS.

Farmers Around Roseau Tying Up With Contracts.

Roseau, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several parties in this and adjoining counties are seeing the farmers and getting them to list their land with them. Many farmers have given options on their farms for six or eight months. The price asked by the owners is immaterial as all the men getting the options want is to get the contract which their place on record at the courthouse, thus clouding the title of the farm and causing trouble and expense if the owners get a real chance to sell. This contract on record preventing him from closing the deal until he has settled with this land company and secured their release from contract. Quarters worth $2,500 have been listed as high as $5,000.

INSPECT BRAINERD DAM.

Weyerhaeusers and Others Look Over Their Interests.

Brainerd, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles A. Weyerhaeuser of Little Falls; Fred Weyerhaeuser, his nephew, of St. Paul; Attorney Oldenberg, representing the varied Weyerhaeuser interests; C. I. McNair of the Northwest Paper company and William McNair, his brother; Huntingdon Taylor, assistant general manager of the Northern Lumber company, all the last named from Cloquet, were here yesterday inspecting the dam in Northeast Brainerd, where various improvements are contemplated.

During the winter considerable stone and timber was hauled, in anticipation of work on the dam in the spring.

It is believed that the coffer dam will be repaired and the part of the dam which was damaged when the electric light plant of the city burned two years ago will be further strengthened. Two stone piers may be built. The Weyerhaeuser interests own much land in Crow Wing county, and considerable of Charles Weyerhaeuser's time was occupied attending to details regarding these holdings, the attorney accompanying Mr. Weyerhaeuser to the courthouse.

FATAL REVOLVER DUEL IN CHURCH

Oakland Former Mayor Kills Ex-Convict and May Die of His Wounds.

Oakland, Cal., March 28.—Adolph Goldman, recently released from San Quentin prison, is dead and Former Mayor of Oakland Roland W. Snow is desperately wounded as the result of a duel last night in the assembly rooms of the First Congregational church in this city.

Only the sexton, Charles F. Lewis, and Mrs. F. Cassidy were witnesses, the congregation expected for prayer meeting not having arrived.

The duel was the outcome of an enmity dating back to 1899. Goldman shot Snow after a quarrel and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

The witnesses say Snow was the first to enter the church last night, and was followed later by Goldman, who took a seat across the aisle from him.

The first intimation of trouble was when Goldman attacked Snow, slashing him with a razor. While Snow was endeavoring to defend himself Goldman drew a revolver and shot once.

Snow fell to his knees, and from that position fired, the bullet striking Goldman in the chest, felling him. Snow staggered to his feet and fired twice more, both bullets finding their mark.

Goldman fired from his recumbent position, the bullet striking Snow in the head, but the latter fired again, the bullet piercing Goldman's head, and killing him instantly.

Snow was taken to a hospital. Surgeons hold out little hope for his recovery.

CONVICTED ALIEN MAY BE DEPORTED.

Bemidji, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is likely that Isaac Maki, convicted in district court here of grand larceny in the first degree, may be deported to his native country, Finland. Maki, before being sentenced, through an interpreter said he was 19 years old and not a citizen of this country. A federal law provides that one convicted of crime cannot become a citizen, so Maki has forfeited his rights in that respect. He has not been in America three years, and being a minor, he is subject to deportation. The matter has been taken up with the immigration authorities.

STOMACH SOUR, HEADACHY, BILIOUS, BOWELS CONSTIPATED? CASCARETS

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

10 Cents. Never gripe or sicken.

WILL DISCUSS SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Babtist Brotherhood Will Hold Meeting and Dinner Friday Evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the Brotherhood of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will be held in the church parlors Friday evening. The meeting will open with a banquet at 6:30 o'clock and this will be followed by discussions on the subjects outlined in the course for the next few months.

The members of the Brotherhood are making a special study this year of economic conditions in the West end and other parts of the city. Last month the members discussed the financial effect of the saloon on the community and following the debate a committee was appointed to investigate the conditions in this end of the city. It is expected by those in charge of the next meeting that the committee will have a report ready. Rev. J. A. Giffin is in charge of the work and the monthly meetings.

The following questions will be reviewed and reported next week by the investigating committee:

"What is the cost of living?"

"Does organization in industry facilitate the co-operation of workers and capitalists?"

"Does the saloon financially affect the community?"

"Is the use of Sunday a factor in the health of workers?"

"Can the church co-operate with lodges, societies and public officials?"

At the meeting next Friday evening the members will also discuss the following questions:

"Does rate of wages necessitate supplemental earnings?"

"Are labor unions fair in their propaganda?"

"Is the saloon closely associated with the secret societies?"

"Compare Sunday pleasure-seekers with church attendants as to cause and number."

"What does the church do for the young people?"

"Are schools and religious societies allied with the church?"

For the meeting to be held Friday evening, May 3, the folowing questions will be discussed, as announced yesterday afternoon:

"Are workingmen safeguarded against disease and accident?"

"Is the Christian spirit controlling workingmen's organizations?"

"Do saloons foster gambling and immorality?"

"What relation exists between church meetings and scriptural teaching concerning the day of rest?"

"How are young people in church strengthened to resist outside corruption?"

"What relations obtain between churches?"

RACE PROBLEMS TO BE DISCUSSED

"Problems of Race," is the subject to be discussed by the members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, at the seventh meeting of the series to be held Saturday afternoon in the church parlors. Mrs. J. D. McPhail will lead the discussion. Mrs. Fish and Mrs. H. D. Ehle will serve a luncheon following the meeting.

At the last meeting the members of the auxiliary discussed the immigration question.

Following is a schedule of the meetings that will be held up to June 1:

April 3—Ladies' aid; hostesses, Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Schwartz.

April 17—Mission circle, subject, "Non-Christian Faiths in America," leader, Mrs. Hanson; hostess, Mrs. Stewart.

May 1—Ladies' aid; hostesses, Mrs. Gunther and Mrs. Ness.

May 15—Mission circle, subject, "The Church and the Social Question," leader, Mrs. Mentzer; hostess, Mrs. J. D. Campbell.

May 29—Mothers' meeting in the church; leader, Mrs. Churchill.

The officers of the auxiliary, who are in charge of all the organizations of the church and the various meetings held each months, are as follows: Mrs. George Jewell, president; Mrs. Fred Hanson, chairman of the ladies' aid society; Mrs. J. D. McPhail, chairman of the mission circle; Mrs. E. E. Churchill, chairman of the mothers' meetings; Mrs. Emma Hutchinson, recording secretary; Mrs. W. A. Berridge, corresponding secretary; and Mesdames Angus Campbell and A. Mentzer, treasurers.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

Good Attendance of Men and Boys at West End Meetings.

Revival services for the West end were continued last evening at the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. Rev. M. S. Rice of the First M. E. church, who is assisting Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the church, during the evangelistic campaign, preached on "The Forgiveness of Sins." Special music was rendered during the evening.

One of the features of the present series of revival meetings which will close this evening for the present week and will start again next Tuesday evening and continue for the rest of the week is that as many men and boys as women have been present. These meetings are all following the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign of last week.

This evening Rev. Mr. Silloway will preach on "The Joys of Surrendered Life." Following the meeting the Sunday school teachers and officers will meet in the pastor's study and form plans for the decision day in the Sunday schools, to be held within a few weeks.

Similar revival meetings are now being planned in three other West end churches. The men's clubs of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, and the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will meet this evening and discuss the work of the experts in the recent Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign. Next Monday evening the Men's club of the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will also hold a meeting in the church to form plans for a revival meeting.

SVITHIOD LODGE TO HAVE GYMNASIUM.

Fridhen lodge No. 43, Independent Order of Svithiod, will organize its new gymnasium department the latter part of next week. The members recently voted to make the addition to the lodge and after several weeks of preparatory work, the committee in charge announced yesterday that the new gymnasium will open next week at the Great Western hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. Every form of gymnastic work will be featured in the new department of the order. Officers to take charge of the gymnasium will be elected at a meeting of the order to be held next week and the plans for the year will then be announced. A small annual fee is to be charged outside members, who are anxious to use the gymnasium in the evenings.

The local lodge of Svithiod is one of the strongest Swedish organizations in the country. The officers of the lodge are as follows: Gust Landin, vice grand master; Carl Carlson, secretary; Oscar Berglund, chief; Joel Sjodin, treasurer; Fred Swanson, captain; J. Norberg, O. M.; Carl Erickson, A. R.; and Axel Bjorklum, M.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WILL GIVE ENTERTAINMENT.

The Sunday school classes of the Grace M. E. chruch, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will give an entertainment in the church parlors tomorrow evening. The children have been practicing for the past six weeks under the direction of Mrs. R. R. Forward and Miss Minnie Allen. The program for the evening will include a number of historic tableaux, a short sketch, songs and recitations.

Annual Election.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church held its annual election of officers yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Ledingham, 1927 West Third street. Following the business session, Mrs. Ledingham served refreshments. The new officers are: Mrs. James McInnis, president; Mrs. Robert Grillon, vice president; Mrs. Mary Coventry, second vice president; Mrs. A. M. Worthington, secretary, and Mrs. John Ledingham, treasurer. Mrs. Esther Butchart was elected chairman of the industrial committee.

Birthday Surprise.

J. A. Johnson of 316 Fortieth avenue west was pleasantly surprised at his home last evening in honor of the anniversary of his birthday. The evening was spent in music and games after which refreshments were served to the following guests: Messrs. and Mesdames J. A. Johnson, Lundberg, Hedberg; Mesdames J. Paulson, V. Johnson; Misses Elsa Johnson, Tekla Lindgren, Dorothy Johnson, Bessie Johnson, Minnie Johnson and the Messrs. Leonard Anderson, Ray Frankforter, Alfred Leslie, Vernard Leslie and Harold Simonds.

Nelson Funeral.

The funeral of Peter G. Nelson, 67 years old, who was found dead in bed Monday morning at the home of Charles Bergholm, 1820 East Water street, where he boarded, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms, 2118 West First street. Rev. W. E. Harmann of St Peter's Episcopal church will officiate and interment will be in the Park Hill cemetery.

Infant Dies.

Kermit, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Erickson, 6 North Thirty-ninth avenue west, died this morning after a short illness. The funeral was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the residence and interment was in the Oneota cemetery.

Will Plan Revival.

Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will preach on "Inspiration and Deeds" at the regular weekly prayer meeting this evening. The subject will refer especially to the Men and Religion Forward Movement of the past week and plans will be formed for a series of revival meetings to be held at the Central Baptist church within the next few weeks.

West End Briefs.

The choir of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, held its weekly meeting in the church parlors last evening.

The Parthenoe Society of the Swedish Mission church was entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. C. G. Anderson, 2007 West Third street.

The choir and the male chorus of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, will hold a joint meeting in the church parlors at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Mrs. George J. Peterson of 2306 West Second street returned yesterday from Brainerd, Minn., where she spent the past two weeks visiting relatives.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson of Orr, Minn., left for her home yesterday after spending the past week visiting relatives in the West end.

A. A. Banning of La Crosse, Wis., was a business visitor in the West end yesterday afternoon.

The St Luke's Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, was entertained in the guild rooms of the church this afternoon by the Young People's guild.

The Foreign Missionary Society of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, conducted a prayer meeting in the church last evening.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church was entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. E. Hansen, 2021 West Fourth street.

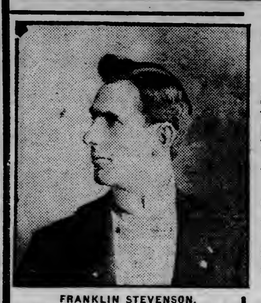
THE BUSY, PROSPEROUS, WEST END



FRANKLIN STEVENSON.

It is hardly necessary to add Mr. Stevenson's name to the above portrait as he is known to thousands in all parts of the city, but rather than make a guessing contest out of it we will add his name.

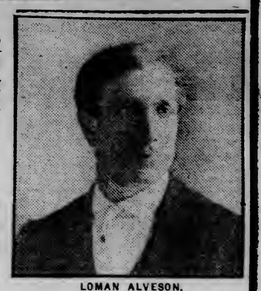
Mr. Stevenson is the proprietor of the Home Laundry at 17 Twentieth avenue west and is a pioneer laundryman, who knows the business from A to Z. There is not a man who does not appreciate a good clean looking collar or shirt and there is no reason why Duluthians can't have them if their work is done at the Home Laundry. They give you one hundred cents worth of good washing for a dollar and it is returned to you without a thick layer of starch that conceals the cracks or ragged edges on collars to irritate the neck. Mr. Stevenson employs only competent and skilled help and although a very busy man he finds time to help along everything for the advancement of the West End.

THE CENTER of Duluth's population lies between 16th and 40th avenues West; in that part of the city known as the WEST END.

¶Here, in their thousands, are found the homes of the well-to-do workers; and the greatest of Duluth's fine factories and mighty mills.

¶Herefrom, the manufactured product of forest, harvest field, and mine is shipped to the uttermost corners of the earth.

¶Here also, are found many of Duluth's ablest and most prosperous business men; from whose untiring efforts in the past, the WEST END has drawn much of her present prosperity; and to whom she looks even more for the future prosperity that is to be hers.



LOMAN ALVESON.

Loman Alveson, of Alveson Bros., proprietors of the Duluth Tent & Awning Co., at 1608 West Superior street. They are the largest manufacturers of Tents, Awnings, Pack Sacks, Horse and Wagon Covers at the Head of the Lakes and their business is rapidly growing far beyond their expectations. One reason for this is that they are out of the high rent district, but give the same quality and efficient workmanship for less money than you would pay in other parts of the city. Just now their factory is working nights to fill spring and summer orders. Loman Alveson personally superintends every little detail of the work and sees that every piece of work turned out is durable and lasting. They make awnings that resist the sun, wind and rain and hang them without disfiguring the house or store with nails, hooks or screws. You will always find the Alveson Bros. on the committee when it comes to doing something for a Greater West End.

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

SOME ring historian has come out with fight figures to prove that Packey McFarland has lost the art of punching. Perhaps he has, Steve. So have a great many of the other boys earning a very large yearly stipend from their work in the ring. That is one of the best arguments in favor of allowing limited round boxing in every state of the union, if the state officials will do their end of it and see to it that the crooks and grafters are kept out of the game. Most of the limited boxing contests that are permitted now-a-days in Philadelphia, Pittsburg, New York, Memphis and some of the other cities like Los Angeles, for instance, are for the most part scientific exhibitions of the are of boxing. The most successful fighters of today as a rule, though there are exceptions, are the boys like Welsh and McFarland, the ultra clever boxers, who have learned almost to the last degree of perfection the art of avoiding punishment.

Fights of various kinds are being held today all over the Northwest. The reformers don't know anything about these, therefore there is no yell let loose. Most of these fights are accompanied by the sale of liquor and are contests between youths without training or physical fitness for any kind of a contest, let alone a boxing match. Would it not be better to put the game on a plane of common sense, where a physician was retained by the state to examine all prospective fighters, and where all the bouts were more or less directly under the control of a state boxing commission?

This column has stated upon more than one occasion that the most successful fighter of today were the boys of the Freddy Welsh and Packey McFarland type. These chaps are clean living young fellows, who have respect for decency and good citizenship. Johnny Kilbane is one of the finest little fellows in the world, and this fact has been greatly appreciated in the city where he lives, Cleveland. Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul ring star, is another example of the new school of fighters, for Michael is one of those clean and quiet chaps, unassuming and thorough gentleman and a model husband.

Get a state boxing commission and reputable licensed clubs and limit the contest to ten rounds, making the promoters responsible for the condition of the men, and despite the senseless protests of the men who can't understand the fact that red-blooied men want real sport, you will find that there will be less objection to boxing contests and less cause for objection than there is at the present time with the sneak fight and its attendant evils.

FRANK CHANCE, the wise old owl, has forbidden his pitchers to smoke the pernicious pill, the cigarette. The Peerless Leader has also issued the ukase which makes it necessary for the delicate pitcher to get out on the road and do some running to strengthen the muscles of their legs and toughen the tissues of their lungs. Maybe the P. L. has been studying the question of the unearned increment. These modern flingers hate work with that general repulsion of feeling that comes to son of Ham in passing a luscious water melon patch that is safeguarded by a double decked barbed wire fence. Some of the halting hurlers are all out of breath after they have hurried a trifle to beat a throw to first. Some of the more aristocratic of the mound dwellers refuse to run out close chances. If some of the boys who complain about sore arms and not feeling well were made to do more work and get into condition at the start of the season, maybe, Archie, there would be less of this one-game-a-week resolve.

FINNS over the Northwest are certainly interested in the outcome of the Jarvinen-Cutler match. Special arrangements have been made with one of the local telegraph offices to bulletin the result of the contest to the Copper Country, where a dispatch says a large number of Jarvinen's countrymen will await the result of the contest of this evening. Jarvinen was sure royally received by his many countrymen of Duluth. The Finnish people have been reading about the young Finn in their own papers for the past two years, or since he started to make such a name for himself, and he was received here with open arms. Yesterday Jarvinen and his manager visited the two Finnish newspapers and was accorded an informal reception. Most of the afternoon the young giant held a sort of reception and was kept busy meeting his countrymen of this city.

AFTER the go of Tuesday even some of the rubes of Noo York will probably admit that Mike Gibbons is some fighter. In certain parts of France there are peoplo who know not of the existence of the world outside of that particular province. These poor and unskilled workers of the soil have nothing on some of the cits of New York when it comes to the territory idea. These New Yorkers, at least some of them, consider Harlem at the end of matters important and hold with tenacious resolve to the antediluvian idea that nothing of importance can happen outside of the island of Manhattan, or that no man of ability can be ushered into this vale of tears without the health department of New York passing on the birth certificate.

That is one of the reasons why the fighter from the outside has the gol darnest time, Cy, to get by with any kind of a decision in the greatest city in the land. Gibbons has shown the Noo Yorkers some of the greatest fighting that has been performed since the halcyon days of General Tommy Ryan. He fought a good draw with Denning and then the papers of Gotham were out crying that Denning had the better of the go. After the meeting of the other evening there will be less noise.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙ ⊙

THERE have been lots of fighters since the birth of pugilism, but when all is said and done there was only one original John Lawrence Sullivan. He has had his imitators, as all great men must, but there has been nothing like the old boy in the history of fighting in this or any other country. Just the other day Dr. McNulty and the writer were going over some old dope in possession of the genial Ned. We came across the paper telling of the time the prince of Wales, later King Edward VII of England, asked Sullivan to spar before him. In the old clipping was also given the never-to-be-forgotten reply of John L.

"Sure, the prince has the same right as any one else to see me spar," quoth the Boston boy; "let him pay his money at the door like the rest of the people."

Of course the manager of the big fellow went up into the air and after arguments and persuasion Sullivan was finally made to promise that he would box before the prince of Wales. But at that he would not enter the hall until Arthur Brisbane, then a London newspaper correspondent for one of the big New York papers and now the highest paid newspaperman in the world, was permitted to go in with Sullivan and witness the go.

The English were for barring Brisbane and could not think of permitting an American newspaperman to come into the same room where the prince was to look at a sparring contest. Sullivan balked and told the English noblemen who tried to argue with him that Brisbane would go along through the door or there would be no sparring contest. Yes, Brisbane went.

Gruff, outspoken, and fearing the opinion of no living man, old John was always honest to himself and with the public. He is an old man with white hair today, and he has ceased to be a champion these many fleeting years—and yet today he is held in high esteem by men who follow the queer turns of ring affairs, for these men, rough, hardened and often pessimistic, know beyond doubt that John L. Sullivan was an honest man beyond all else and that the stain of dishonor was never laid at his door.

ST. PAUL MANAGER HAS CONFIDENCE IN DAUSS

M. J. KELLEY.

Genial Mike Kelley believes he has a star in George Dauss, the former Duluth hurler, whom Michael is grooming at the present time for a steady berth with the Apostles. Kelley has his team at Little Rock, Ark., and from the wire reports received from the land of vapor baths the Saints are going to be stronger the present season than was the case in 1911. Mike has a host of friends in this city and is one of the most gentlemanly and one of the most popular men in baseball.

WRESTLING MEET A BIG SUCCESS

Amateur Tourney at Y. M. C. A. Brings Out Some Star Bouts.

By far the best amateur wrestling ever exhibited in this city resulted from the preliminaries held last evening at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The pick of the amateur talent of the city competed for mat honors, all of the bouts furnishing lovers of the mat game with some of the finest and cleanest exhibitions of the sport that have been put on this winter.

Louis Ardouin, the high school crack, met Robert Lochtick in the heavyweight division, the latter winning the bout by the toe-hold route. The high school youngster was the more scientific of the two, but his opponent was far stronger and possessed more beef, wearing the hill top boy down and then applying the Trilby twister.

Noberg and Kivi, heavyweights, wrestled thirty minutes, the limit of time set for the bouts, the match being called a draw. This was one of the best struggles of the evening and brought out a lot of enthusiasm.

Earl Goetz, another high school representative, and "Bill" Stevens, the former high school star football player and also one of the Adams club gridiron stars, met in the middleweight tangle, and a crack bout resulted. Stevens won after twenty-four minutes of fierce and scientific wrestling, first one man going behind and taking the offensive, only to give way to his opponent. "Bill" won with a body scissors.

George Johnson won from Heleen in the welterweight class in a trifle over four minutes, and Lundquist and Petkow went to a draw in this same division.

Louis Zorbas, the little Greek wonder, won from Okkonen in the lightweight class, the Greek winning in eight minutes. Preceding this bout Zorbas defeated Solem in four minutes. The wrestling of the little chap was one of the features of the evening.

The summary:

Heavyweights: Lochtick wins from Ardouin in 12 minutes; Nyberg and Kivi draw.

Welterweights: Johnson wins from Heleen in 4½ minutes; Petkow and Lundquist draw.

Middleweights: Stevens wins from Goetz in 24 minutes.

Lightweights: McCurdy wins from Pond in 2 minutes; Zorbas wins from Solem in 4 minutes; Okkonen wins from Wilkinson in 1 minute; Zorbas wins from Okkonen in 8 minutes.

Special class: Peterson wins from Snyder in 1 minute; Hegstrom wins from Johnson in 6 minutes; Franchere wins from Forziak in 4 minutes.

Referees—Ames and Trepanier. Timekeeper—Wegner. Announcer—Olson.

Those bouts wrestled in draws will be wrestled off this evening.

Senators Beat College Boys.

Washington, March 28.—The Washington American league club in its first game on the home grounds yesterday defeated Georgetown university, 6 to 1.

Ball Player Transferred.

St. Louis, Mo., March 28.—Clyde Wares, an infielder recruit, was turned over to the Montgomery, Ala., team yesterday by the local American league management, together with First Baseman Dan Zig. President Hedges received the right to the pick of the Montgomery team at the close of the year in return for the services of the men.

CHICAGO MAN IS THE WINNER

Milwaukee, Wis., March 28.—Howarth Beaumont of Chicago captured the honors of the first installment of a five-night event to decide the world's one-mile amateur championship roller skating race in Milwaukee last night. Beaumont won his heat and landed first in the semi-final. Following are the events:

First heat—Howarth Beaumont, Chicago, first; Emil Elchstedt, Milwaukee, second. Time, 3:15 1-5.

Second heat—H. W. Colston, Washington, D. C., first, Harry Walsh, Milwaukee, second. Time 3:10 2-5.

Third heat—William Denning, Chicago, first, Michael Kunda, Milwaukee, second. Time, 2:59 1-5.

Semi-final—Howarth Beaumont, won: Michael Kunda, second. Time, 3:04 3-5.

FUTURE FARMERS WIN RIFLE SHOOT

Washington, March 28.—Massachusetts agricultural college, Amherst, Mass., for the second consecutive year, has won the inter-collegiate rifle shooting championship of the United States, having defeated all teams in the Eastern league and the state university of Iowa, winner of the Western league championship. The score of the championship match was 973 to 971.

The special prize for the college not having military department was won by Princeton university. Officials of the National Rifle Association of America, under the auspices of which the inter-collegiate matches have been held, declare rifle shooting rapidly is becoming one of the recognized sports in the colleges throughout the country, filling the interim between the close of the football and the opening of the baseball seasons.

FAMOUS CHICAGO WRESTLING STAR

KID CUTLER.

GLENN WARNER PICKS INDIANS FOR OLYMPIC

Carlisle, Pa., March 28.—Five Indians for the American Olympic team!

It is the hope of Glenn Warner, coach of the Carlisle Indian school, to have the selection committee pick that number of members of his athletic squad to go to Stockholm.

He can't figure how three of them—Jim Thorpe, all-round champion; Louis Tewanima, one of the greatest long-distance runners in the world, and Arquette, who is fast following into Louis' shoes, can be kept at home.

Pair of Phenoms.

In a letter to Secretary James E. Sullivan, Warner makes the statement that he is more than confident that the men whom he was in training will show such good form that the eastern stars will have to go some to beat them in their favorite events.

"I have been plugging hard to get the best men under my care for the team," reads part of Warner's letter. "I have an idea that Arquette will show up better as soon as outdoor work is permissible. Tewanima and Arquette ought to make the foreigners scamper in the 10,000-meter run in Sweden.

"Thorpe is absolutely the best all-round man we have today. I will enter him in the decathlon, which embraces a varied assortment of competition. He's the peer of them all.

"I don't care to let anyone know as yet who my two new phenoms are. One of them is a quarter-miler of exceptial ability. The other will be entered in the 400 and 500-meter races.

To show that he is really sincere in the belief that Arquette and Tewanima are almost sure to make the trip. Warner has entered them in the Boston Marathon, the official Olympic try-out for an event of this kind.

Warner will send a team of sprinters to the post in the four-mile relay race at Philadelphia, in addition to the usual contribution to the one-mile team race.

Tewanima will attempt to repeat his victory of last year in the Evening Mail's Marathon. After the Boston run he will rest for a couple of weeks before he answers the call of the starter on Fordham road.

Thorpe Is Star.

Arquette, who finished well up among the leaders, is also expected to start.

It is becoming more evident every day that the credit given James Thorpe, another Carlisle Indian student last year, as being the greatest all-around athlete in the world, was not misplaced. Thorpe is showing better form as he grows older.

Recently at Pittsburg, notwithstanding the fact that he was scratch man, Thorpe easily captured the dash, hurdles, high jump and shot-put. Expressions from spectators there showed deep appreciation of the Oklahoma aboriginal's remarkable faculty for negotiating a success in so many athletic lines.

CHARLEY CUTLER IN BEST OF CONDITION

Charles Kid Cutler, the famous Chicago Nonpariel and the former Bemidji and Superior boy who has risen high in the ranks of the world's greatest wrestlers, arrived here this morning from Chicago, looking fit and hardy for the big bout at the Auditorium, this evening.

The big chap is in better shape than he was when he met Pilakoff here earlier in the winter. The Kid says he is in the best shape of his career and he sure does look the part. He must have been in shape to trim the big Norsk, Henry Ordemann, and his general appearance bears out this supposition.

"I am in fine condition," said Cutler, "and I believe I am wrestling better today than ever before. I am just at the age when a wrestler begins to learn the fine points of the game. Gotch didn't get good until he was older than I am at the present time, and I have just enough confidence in myself to believe that next year is going to be the best that I have ever had.

"The dubs are being eliminated from the wrestling game. Next year we are liable to see the competition narrow down to the wrestlers who are known to be the real goods and such new men that we may develop in this country. It would be interesting to bring Gama, the famous East Indian to this country, for there is absolutely no doubt but that this marvellous matman is one of the greatest wrestlers in the world.

"It was unfortunate that Mahmout was called home by the death of his brother. As far as wrestling goes I have a vast deal of admiration for the Bulgarian. He is one of the greatest wrestlers that the game has developed, and is much better than the public has any conception of. His defeat of the giant Jess Pedersen demonstrated beyond doubt his remarkable strength and skill.

"My bad knee is better now than it has ever been before, as the result of protracted surgical treatment, and with the recovery from the old injury I believe that I am in line for a whack at the old championship thing."

With Cutler and Jarvinen in the city all of the details have been completed for the big contest. Two local stars have been secured for the preliminaries in little Louis Zorbas and Martin Johnson's young Pole, who bears all of the ear marks of being one of the most promising youngsters that has been developed around here for some time.

McFARLAND GIVES UP PUNCH FOR SPEED

New York, March 28.—Careful study of Packey McFarland's ring record would seem to indicate that the wonderful Chicago boxer is either losing his punch or is slightly lacking in stamina. His remarkable cleverness still remains incomparable and for ten rounds or so he displays bewildering speed. But his record shows that since 1906, when he stopped fourteen opponents with sleep-producing wallops, he has knocked out but eight men in forty-eight bouts. Four were put away in 1907, none in 1908 and 1909, two in 1910, one in 1911 and one this year. All told, McFarland in eighty-one battles since he made his bow as a professional in 1904, has scored thirty-six knockouts, together with referees' decisions in twenty-one bouts, popular verdict in nineteen contests, and five draws. Yet during this strenuous career McFarland has never sustained a defeat of any kind, a remarkable achievement. Incidentally, he has earned a reputation for honesty and sportsmanship which has made him one of the most popular boxers in the world.

McFarland's inability to stop Tommy Murphy in California, also Kid Burns and One-Round Hogan, here, has convinced many impartial and well posted ring critics that he has sacrificed hard-hitting to perfect boxing skill. At the same time it has become apparent that McFarland cannot fight at close quarters and keep it up. He has a habit of darting in with four or five quick punches, either in the face or body, then dancing away to take a short breathing spell. He is not a steady rusher, neither is he a slugger, but always displays a preference for long range boxing, at the same time taking good care to protect himself from chance blows.

When McFarland began fighting, in 1904, he knocked out six men in as many battles. The following year he stopped eight and beat four on points. In fifteen contests during 1906 Packey put fourteen men to sleep and got one decision. That campaign practically ended his career as a knockout artist, but at the same time he began to loom up a superb boxer and ring general. He stopped four second-raters in 1907 and outpointed such men as Kid Goodman, Maurice Sayers, Charley Neary, Benny Yunger and Kid Herman. In 1908 McFarland got a decision over Freddie Welsh in ten rounds and also boxed a twenty-five-round draw with the latter, at the same time failing to score knockouts in battles with Bert Keyes, Tommy Loughrey, Jimmy Britt, Phil Brock, Leach Cross and Tommy Murphy.

The following year Dick Hyland, Leach Cross, Dave Deshler, Harry Trendall, Ray Bronson and Cyclone Thompson stayed various limits with Packey, who outclassed all of them in points of skill. During a visit to England in 1910, McFarland put Dick Lee and Jack Goldswaln, second raters, to sleep, and boxed a twenty-round draw with Freddie Welsh, after which he came back and outpointed Dick Hyland in ten rounds. Since then McFarland has scored but two knockouts in nearly twenty fights. He stopped Jack Goodman in five rounds last year, and a few weeks ago he landed a sleep wallop on Tommy Devlin in the West. But knockouts did not materialize in battles with Johnny McCarthy, Young Erne, Jack Britton, Bert Keyes, Frank Mandole, Owen Moran, Billy Ryan, Paul Kohler, Morris Bloom, Tommy Murphy, Tommy Kilbane, Phil Knight, Al Dewey, Tommy Ginty, Kid Burns, One Round Hogan and several others.

President Gibson of the Fairmont Athletic club, who is a stickler for honest sport, ridicules the charge that McFarland was under a pull in the bout with Hogan. "McFarland tried his level best," said Gibson, "just as he did with Burns. He gave a magnificent exhibition of boxing and satisfied everybody except persons who were either misinformed or had axes to grind. I know McFarland better than anybody and I have absolute faith in his integrity. In my opinion, he can beat any man in the world on points at 135 pounds, scaling at 3 o'clock. The fact that he has never lost a battle is sufficient proof that he is on the level. But Packey is not a slugger."

HIGH SCHOOL QUINT DEFEATS THE CATHEDRAL.

The Central high school basket ball team last night won from the Cathedral quint by the score of 42 to 14. The hilltop boys showed all-round superiority over their rivals, displaying more knowledge of the game and more accuracy at basket shooting.

Match Postponed.

Rock Island, Ill., March 28.—The Brown-Pappas wrestling match to have been held in Rock Island tonight has been postponed on account of the riots. All theaters and places of amusement are closed.

SPORTING NOTES

Mike Donlin is the liveliest player in the Pittsburg squad. Donlin is out to show the Smoky City fans that he is a good acquisition to the club.

Fred Clarke still insists that he is through playing ball. "I will manage the team from the bench this season," he says.

Jake Stahl is keeping his boys practicing bunts. The boys are showing great ability, too. If they keep up their work, the Red Sox should be in the high scoring class this season.

Fears of American league fans that Hughie Jennings would not appear on the coaching line this season with his famous "Ee-yah" and grass spearing stunts were set at rest when Jennings stated: "When the American league season opens I will be on the coaching line for the Tigers, just as spry as ever. Any reports to the contrary are false."

Johnny Kling of the Boston Doves is a bit worried over the injury that keeps Al Bridwell out of the game. Kling is making no predictions about the 1912 race, but says he will show the Hub fans results that will surprise and please them.

According to reports from Jackson, Harry Steinfeldt, the former Cincinnatian, now signed to play with the Cardinals, is showing all kinds of speed. The scribes say there is a good chance of Harry's making good.

Hans Wagner, the "flying Dutchman," will direct the movements of the Buccaneers on the field this summer and endeavor to share with Fred Clarke the glory of winning the National league championship.

Girls! Girls! Listen! Marty O'Toole, the $25,500 beauty of the Pirates, is looking for a wife. "I'm single and I want you to emphasize that fact," said Marty to a war correspondent, his face beaming with a good-natured smile. "I want the young ladies to know that I am in the market for a good wife."

O'BRIEN HAS A BIG SQUAD

Irish Orator Reaches Duluth With Plans for Starting Season.

White Sox Leader Does Not Know Plans of Club Owners.

Darby O'Brien, manager of the Duluth baseball team blew into town this morning, coming in from Cleveland, where he has a band of some forty odd awaiting to know what we are going to do in the baseball way up here at the head of majestic Lake Superior.

As far as Darby is concerned he is ready to answer the bell immediately. He has his players signed and is awaiting to know what is going to happen here. His mail every day contains queries from ball players, and to these the Orator, resourceful of tongue that he is, is unable to give answer.

The I. O. is of the opinion that something is going to develop in the baseball situation here within a few days. Darby says that something will have to happen if he is going to continue to hold his players. Just what is going to happen, no one seems to know. The Irish Orator is hopeful that Duluth is going to have baseball this season, and comes through with the remark that it would be a shame if a city of this size would be without league baseball.

According to Darby, he has some likely looking youngsters in his squad, and if we are going to have a team here he believes he has the players to land Mister Gonfalon in the backyard.

With the situation as uncertain as it is at the present time, Darby is not in position to outline any plans, for plans are very liable to be misdirected. If we are going to have a team in some league, O'Brien believes he has the players to deliver and says that this city will be assured of some fast baseball.

With the presence here of O'Brien it is believed that some action will be taken one way or the other the present week.

VINCENT SAYS HE WAS MISQUOTED

Minneapolis, Minn., March 28.—That he did not say that "every man, woman and child in Minnesota believes that a university should be allowed to hire men to represent it in athletic competition," is the statement made here last night by President George Vincent of the University of Minnesota. Dr. W. E. Stone, president of Purdue university is said to have been attributed this statement to Dr. Vincent in a banquet address in Chicago last night.

"I am sure that President Stone has been mis-quoted," said President Vincent last night. "I certainly made no such statement. What I did say was that the people of Minnesota were not in favor of the English amateur system of athletics, but believe in the scholastic standard of eligibility."

"Ducky" Holmes Gets a Job.

Nebraska City, Neb., March 25.—William "Ducky" Holmes, former owner of the Lincoln and Sioux City Western league ball club, has been engaged to act as manager of the local ball club next season. The city will have a club in the new league to be organized in Southeastern Nebraska. The members of this league will meet at Falls City some time this week to draft a constitution and elect officers.

JEFFERSONS TO HOLD SMOKER AND ELECTION.

The Jefferson Athletic club will hold a smoker and informal lunch at the club rooms tomorrow evening when the election of a baseball manager for the baseball team will be held. The East end organization has a number of promising candidates awaiting the arrival of warmer weather and the club should have one of the strongest teams in the city. Plans have already been made for the team, and with the election of a manager final details will be completed for placing the candidates in the field.

Forbes Beats Frenche.

Burlington, Wis., March 28.—Harry Forbes, former bantamweight champion, defeated Young Frenche of Racine in a ten-round bout here. Forbes knocked his opponent down twice in the ninth round.

Del Howard Sold.

Chicago, March 28.—Del Howard, the former Chicago Nationals' first baseman, has been sold by Louisville to the St. Paul team of the American association, according to a report received here last night. Howard was a manager of the Louisville team last year, and voluntarily resigned at the close of the season.

TOO HANDY WITH PEN

Husband of Salvation Army Woman Arrested on Forgery Charge.

Said to Have Passed Two Checks in Grand Forks Getting $200.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Using Salvation Army blank checks, William Todie is said to have passed two forged checks in this city, realizing about $200. He is now behind the bars and probably will enter a plea of guilty today to a charge of forgery, thereby facing from one to five years in prison.

Todie, whose wife is a Salvation Army soldier, had become mixed up in financial difficulties, and looked upon the plan of forgery as one that would work him out of the trouble.

The operator was decidedly ignorant as to the operation of banks in cases of that nature. After passing two checks, he went to his home in this city, and was there when the officers arrived to place him under arrest.

TAFT RECEIVED ONLY 82 VOTES

As Presidential Candidate in Grand Forks County, North Dakota.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert M. La Follette had an actual majority in Grand Forks county of 908 over Theodore Roosevelt, while Taft received 82 votes in the entire county, according to the canvass of votes by the county board yesterday. The vote follows:

Republican—Presidential: La Follette, 1,958; Roosevelt, 1,016; Taft, 82.

Democratic—Presidential: Burke, 524.

BLACKDUCK WILL WELCOME FARMERS

Tillers of Soil to Be Entertained By Business Men Saturday.

Blackduck, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Farmers' Co-operative Association of Blackduck, which was organized a month ago, and which has a membership of more than 100 will be entertained by the business men of Blackduck, next Saturday, when a free dinner will be served to all the farmers attending the meeting to be held in the city hall.

J. E. Dade, postmaster, is the secretary of the farmers' club and in his efforts to better the conditions of the farmers he is being ably assisted by the other officers of the association, with the business men of Blackduck backing up the movement.

Those Who Will Speak.

At Saturday's all-day meeting of the club, speeches will be delivered by the following persons: H. J. Hughes, editor of Farm, Stock and Home of Minneapolis; J. Jedlika of McIntosh, Wesley E. Peik, superintendent of Blackduck schools, and Mr. Dade. W. H. Gemmell, general manager of the Minnesota & International railway, and L. B. Arnold of Duluth, land commissioner for the Duluth & Iron Range railroad and prominent in the work of the immigration commission of the Northern Minnesota Development association, are also expected to be present and make talks of interest to the farmers.

MINISTER SEEKS $5,000 DAMAGES

Rev. Mr. Lutz of Ashland Suing Another Preacher for Alleged Libel.

Eau Claire, Wis., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. August Lutz of Ashland, who figured in several sensational happenings in that city over the possession of a church, is plaintiff in a $5,000 libel suit he is pressing in circuit court here against Rev. H. J. Droegkamp.

The suit is based upon a letter which the defendant wrote concerning the plaintiff. The defendant was called to the stand as the first witness for the plaintiff and admitted writing the letter.

It states that Mr. Lutz got into trouble with his congregation at Ashland and was suspended, but refused to quit.

However, a successor was appointed in his place, and after some trouble the new pastor assumed the pastorate.

Believed Reports True.

The letter written by Mr. Droegkamp was written in reply to a query made to Mr. Droegkamp as to whether all the newspaper stories about Mr. Lutz were true.

The letter states that they were; that the plaintiff called at the home of the new minister at Ashland and presented a loaded revolver in his face and then assaulted the other; that he had violated an injunctional order issued by the court at Ashland; and, also, that Mr. Lutz's attorney had stated that Mr. Lutz was either insane or was an exceedingly wicked man.

The defendant does not deny writing the letter and will make his defense justification. He says he will prove that the statements in the letter are true.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

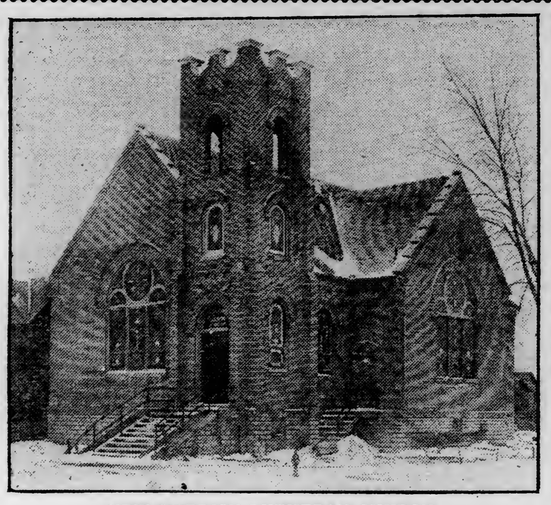
NEW MENOMINEE CHURCH DEDICATED TO WORSHIP



NEW SWEDISH LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Menominee, Mich., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The dedication of the Swedish Lutheran church was one of the most beautiful and impressive religious services celebrated in Menominee in years. The church was dedicated by Rev. C. A. Lund of Escanaba, president of the Superior conference. The induction of the pastor the Rev. O. F. Linder followed, the installation sermon being preached by Rev S. L. Wilson of Ironwood. The services, which were conducted in the English and Swedish languages were largely attended.

The church was organized in 1885 with only a handful of members.

The new building is of brick and cost about $10,000. The seating capacity is about 300. The church membership at the present time is 140 communicant members.

The church contains a notable work of art, a picture by August Klagstadt of Marinette, more than life size, representing Christ in the Garden of Gethsemane.

CASH REGISTER YIELDS 90 CENTS

Crookston Burglars Smash Money Holder Failing to Get All Contents.

Crookston, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A peculiar robbery, in which thieves smashed a cash register all to pieces, took 90 cents and overlooked $8.50, is puzzling the police. The burglars had a key which opened the front door of Hughes & Scully's grocery store. Taking the cash register, an ax, hammer and crowbar from the store, they lugged the outfit to the rear of the adjoining store, smashed the register and secured 90 cents, the balance having been jostled to a crevice at the rear of the register and was overlooked.

There is no clew, but the police believe it to be the work of boys or novices at the business.

TEMPORARILY INSANE,

Theory of Polk County Coroner of Hedstrom's Suicide.

Crookston, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Coroner Stenshoel has returned from Lengby, where he investigated the death of Elmer Hedstrom, whose body was found in his home, three miles from that place.

He concluded that Hedstrom committed suicide by stabbing himself in the heart. The suicide made four wounds in his side before striking his heart. Hedstrom was an old resident of that section, a bachelor and wealthy, and temporary insanity is believed to have been the trouble. An inquest will be held Saturday.

CHAPTER MEETING IS HELD AT CROOKSTON.

Crookston, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crookston yesterday was the mecca for members of the Masonic chapters for this district for a school of instruction under the direction of Alder Braley, custodian for this district. There were delegations from the chapters at Warroad, Bemidji, Detroit and other points, and a large delegation from Thief River Falls, where a chapter is soon to be organized. A banquet was served last evening by Pierson Chapter No. 41 of Crookston, at which covers were laid for 200 and the gathering was one of the largest held by any of the Masonic bodies the past year.

CROOKSTON COUNCIL WILL TRY IT AGAIN.

Crookston, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the city council last evening it was decided not to appeal from the decision of Judge Grindeland, who held the tax levy for all the paving which was to have been laid this year invalid owing to a vital omission in not having passed a resolution after the public hearing and the filing of the city engineer's report, ordering the paving in, prior to having levied the assessment. The council will have to start the proceedings all over again from the filing of the engineer's report, and it is improbable that any paving will be done this year.

Many Want Seed Grain.

Mandan, N. D., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—There were 287 applications for seed grain considered and acted upon favorably by the board of commissioners of Morton county. In all, about 15,000 bushels of wheat will be sold under the county aid plan, while 5,000 bushels of oats will be distributed in the same manner.

Tagus, N. D., Bank Change.

Tagus, N. D., March 82.—The Citizens' state bank of this city has changed hands, being purchased by Charles E. Paulson of Albert Lee, Minn. Garner & Beach were the former principal stock owners. The new bank owner is interested extensively in banks in Southern Minnesota, and at several other points in North Dakota as well.

CARRINGTON MERCHANTS SERVE FARMERS DINNERS.

Carrington, N. D., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Donning white aprons as waiters, Carrington merchants served dinner to over 600 farmers and their wives at the annual institute dinner, an occasion when the merchants of the city were hosts to the visiting farmers attending the institute.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Ishpeming—Foster Jeffery, an underground employe at the Oliver Iron Mining company's Section 16 mine, sustained a fracture of his collar bone and some scalp wounds Tuesday afternoon, when his drilling machine fell on him. He was taken to the Ishpeming hospital.

Lakefield—F. W. Greenfield of Lakefield, shipped seven tons of first-class cabbage to outside markets the other day. Mr. Greenfield raised more than ten tons of cabbages on one acre of ground last year in Luce county.

Gladstone—The Citizens' party of Gladstone has nominated George Perry for mayor and J. D. McDonald for treasurer without opposition. Charles H. Scott was not opposed for justice, and A. W. Wolfe was put up for justice to fill the three-year vacancy.

Ishpeming—Richard Bray, one of Marquette county's oldest residents, died March 26, at the home of his son-in-law, John Willis, at the North Lake location. Mr. Bray was 78 years of age and he is survived by four daughters, Mrs. John Willis and Mrs. Joseph Harper, residing at North Lake; Mrs. Nicholas Pelmear, living at Goldfield, Nev., and Mrs. John Bray, who resides in Leadville, Colo.

Munising—Munising is now looking forward to another warm election. W. R Burns and ex-Sheriff Thornton have been nominated for supervisors on opposing tickets, and it is expected that the campaign will be fully as spirited as the one leading up to the recent village election. Mr. Burns was a supporter of the successful Sullivan ticket in that election.

Marquette—A Marquette railroad man who is familiar with the ore shipping industry on the Great Lakes expresses the belief that navigation will not open before June.

Hancock—Chief Boatswain's Mate F. Botterman of the battleship Kansas arrived in Hancock on Sunday to relieve Shipkeeper Charles Oehl, who has been stationed here for the past two years. Boatswain Oehl will leave within a few days for the East.

Houghton—All the old officers of Portage township were nominated Monday evening at the annual township caucus at the Amphidrome. The new candidates in every instance were defeated by a heavy margin, the balloters evidently being satisfied with the old regime.

Calumet—The Y. M. C. A., is making arrangements to hold a bowling tournament on its alleys to last two weeks. The dates have not been definitely set, but it is expected the tourney will be from April 15 to 30.

Hancock—The gift of $1,000 to the building fund for the new church of the First Congregation of Israel, mention of which was recently made was made by Mrs. Jacob Gartner, as a tribute to the memory of her dead husband, who was one of the strongest supporters of the movement to erect a house of worship.

St. Ignace—Chauncey Claus died Tuesday. He was 73 years of age, and had suffered from an asthmatic trouble for some time past resulting in his death at 6 o'clock this morning. His wife died on Feb. 15 in Houghton.

Calumet—The funeral of Gust Paulson took place Tuesday afternoon. He passed away Saturday at the age of 43. He was ill only a few hours, uramic convulsions being the cause. The deceased carried on business as a saloon keeper on Fifth street.

Hancock—Gregory Hofer, aged 75 years, a pioneer resident of Hancock died Tuesday at his home on Water street, of paralysis, after an illness of two weeks. Mr. Hofer was one of the best known of the older residents of Hancock, having lived here for fifty-two years, coming here from Switzerland. He is survived by his wife, a brother in Switzerland, three daughters and one son.

Marquette—H C. Davis for eleven years connected with the Marquette National bank, first as assistant cashier and for about eight years in charge of its insurance department, has tendered his resignation and will leave soon for Detroit to engage in the insurance field for himself. He will be succeeded by Otto J. Welsh, for the past two years bookkeeper for Hoach & Seeber at Houghton.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—W. B Clubine, a brother-in-law of Edwin Hines, the Chicago lumberman, who has charge of the interests of the Hines Lumber company at Iron River, is establishing a model farm in the Northern Wisconsin woods. To aid him in clearing up his land he received a carload of goats from Chicago, and they will be turned loose on the land as they have proved their value on new farms where there is much brush to subdue.

Fond du Lac—Charles L. Hill of Rosendale, a member of the state board of agriculture, and one of the most famous breeders of Guernsey cattle in theUnited States, reached New York on Tuesday on board the Minnetonka with a shipment of seventy Guernseys, bought on the islands of Guernsey and Alderney for his Rosendale farm.

Waukesha—Mrs. Mary Breu, widow of the late Henry Breu, town of Brookfield, died Monday morning at her home in Elm Grove, aged 83 years. She was born in Switzerland and came to America with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wellauer, in 1848.

Milwaukee—Struck by a westbound passenger train, near the Allis station of the St. Paul railroad, Charles Corbett, 524 First avenue, a brakeman, was almost instantly killed at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Wausau—John Hoffman, 19, shot his stepmother, Mrs. Andrew Hoffman, at their home here Tuesday night. Three shots were fired, two taking effect, one bullet entering just below the right shoulder blade and the other in the right leg. The physician thinks she will recover. The boy disappeared and has not yet been arrested. He is reported to be not just right mentally.

Madison—The C. Reiss Coal company with 900 employes and with plants at Sheboygan, Manitowoc, Green Bay, Ashland and Superior has come under the workmen's compensation act.

Neenah—Louis Herziger, Jr., has received notice of his appointment of collaborator in the government service with the department of agriculture for Eastern Wisconsin. He operates a big truck and fruit farm here which is irrigated, and the government has made his farm an experimental station and will require him to submit frequent data on the operation and success of his irrigated farm, the only one in the state.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Bismarck, N. D. — Commissioner J. P. Jackson sprung a decided surprise upon the board of city commissioners at its regular meeting Monday evening when he handed in his resignation as commissioner of streets. This was not a withdrawal from membership on the board, but simply from the street department.

Grand Forks, N. D. — That the railroad yards of the Great Northern railroad may be moved in a short time and the company will build a new depot in this city within a short time, has been inferred by members of the city council, from the remarks of Supt. McLaughlin at the meeting Monday.

Walcott, N. D.—At the annual meeting of the Walcott Commercial club the proposition to incorporate Walcott as a village was taken up and discussed. A committee was appointed to get the sentiment of the citizens of the village, and to do so have decided to call a mass meeting.

Cando, N. D. — Another novel method has been adopted by the Lake Regions Development association of North Dakota to stir up the interest of the boosters for the section. At a big meeting called for Saturday evening it is proposed to outline the plan of action to be adopted in bringing about the success of the development movement, and the general co-operation of Towner county residents will be asked.

Grand Forks, N. D. — The charter for the North Dakota chapter of the Delta Sigma Rho honorary fraternity has been received at the university, and within a short time a meeting of the members will be called. This fraternity grants membership only to the men who have represented their university in intercollegiate debates or in intercollegiate oratorical events.

Minot, N. D. — The funeral of the late Officer Michael Hartigan, who died suddenly Friday night, was held from St. Leo's Catholic church Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock when Father Raith celebrated high mass. The interment was made at St. Leo's cemetery on South hill.

Dell Rapids, N. D. — Secretary E. C. Bent of the South Dakota board of pharmacy has announced that the next regular meeting of that body for the examination of candidates for registration and general business will be held in Brookings, April 24.

Valley City, N. D. — Edwin Mayland, superintendent of the Better Farming association for this state, has secured four farms in this county for the application of more scientific methods of farming. These tracts are forty acres each and are located in the vicinity of the village of Dazey, in the northern part of the county.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Luverne—A verdict was rendered here Tuesday in district court when the jury awarded Mrs. Maud Carver, administratrix, vs. Luverne Brick & Tile company $3,000 damages for accidental killing of her son, Kenneth Carver, in an elevator shaft at the company plant last June. The boy's head was caught between the elevator floor and wall and the body drawn to the upper floor. The amount asked by plaintiff was $7,500.

St. Cloud—Characterizing the Bryan birthday banquet as one of the most enjoyable affairs of its kind that he had ever attended, James R. Bennett has returned from Lincoln, Neb., where he assisted in the ceremonies that marked another milestone in the life of William J. Bryan.

Stillwater — Michael Rawleigh of Oakdale, one of the young, progressive farmers of Washington county, has filed for the nomination of representative to the legislature on the Republican ticket.

Moorhead — The Moorhead-Fargo Lutheran Ministerial association has been organized. Rev. J. O. Cavallin was elected president and Rev. A. Ulvestad secretary. In addition to these two, the following are members of the association: J. A. Aasgaard, Reverends C. Davik, W. S. Ulrich, C. D. Bostrom, J. M. O. Ness, D. G. Jacobson, John Peterson and E. E. Gynild.

International Falls—David O'Brien of Duluth is in the city in the interest of the Iron Mountain Mining company, a Duluth corporation which is developing a property on the Cuyuna range near Crosby and in the center of the district where the most valuable deposits of ore have been located.

Spooner—Arthur Gratton of Spooner was accidentally shot in the foot Saturday evening because he did not know that a revolver he held in his hand was loaded. He was taken to the Spooner hospital and it was found necessary to remove two small bones in the foot.

Bemidji—Jonathan Morris, who was arrested in Bemidji recently on complaint of his 17-year-old daughter, has been bound over to the grand jury of Hubbard county.

Aitkin—Contractor N. J. Holden has been given the contract for building a large potato warehouse on the Northern Pacific tracks for J. M. Tucker, the local potato shipper and merchant. The building will be a modern potato storehouse with concrete basement, 30 by 50 and 12 feet in height above the foundation.

Crookston—J. F. Anaker pleaded guilty Monday to keeping his saloon open after 11 o'clock Saturday evening and paid a fine of $25 and costs. This is the second prosecution of the kind.

Brainerd—The fish car Glenwood returned Monday from Duluth, where 175 cans of trout were left for distribution. This is the sixth trip the car has made this season. It was attached to the afternoon passenger train and taken back to Glenwood.

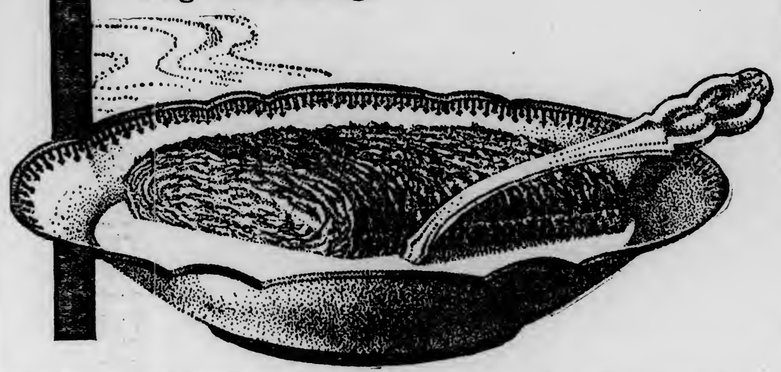
Little Falls—Miss Jennie Stillwell, who has been stenographer in the Northwestern Milling company office for the past two years, has resigned and will leave Sunday to accept a position as stenographer in the state game and fish commissioner's office at the state capitol.

The One Perfect Food

The whole wheat grain is the one perfect, complete food given to man. This is affirmed by dietetic experience. It contains all the chemical elements that are found in the human body and in about the same proportion. As it is a complete, perfect food, why mix it with other grains? Nothing could be purer, more wholesome or more nutritious than

Shredded Wheat Biscuit

It is the whole wheat, nothing added, nothing taken away—no yeast, no baking powder, no grease and no chemicals of any kind—just pure whole wheat made digestible by steam-cooking, shredding and baking.



For breakfast heat the Biscuit in the oven a few moments to restore crispness; then pour hot milk over it and salt or sweeten to suit the taste. It is delicious for any meal with stewed prunes, baked apples, sliced pineapple, berries or other fruits. At your grocer's.

GILBERT FANS GETTING BUSY

Baseball Association Chooses Officers to Organize Ball Team.

Gilbert, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Gilbert Baseball association held a meeting for the purpose of organizing and making arrangements for the coming season. Thomas P. Clifford was elected business manager and Gene Masterson treasurer. A committee consisting of the two officers and Messrs. Stevens and Chatfield were elected to make arrangements to bring about a reorganization of the Eastern Mesaba league. The committee will take the matter up with other towns and also arrange for a meeting to decide on a schedule.

It is expected to attend a meeting of the Commercial club and point out the necessity for procuring suitable grounds. A committee of this club consisting of Messrs. Dowling, Dr. Barreit and Ed. Kircher has been appointed to take up the matter of securing an adequate ball ground. Gilbert has good baseball material and ought to turn out a first-class team.

SHENANGO MINER MEETS TRAGIC END

John Mattson Run Over By Train in Pit; His Body Dismembered.

Chisholm, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Mattson, employed at the Shenango mine, was run over and ground to pieces Tuesday evening. The dismembered body was not found until an hour after the accident, and the trainmen of the last train out of the pit did not see him or know of the accident.

Some of the laborers going to work in the stripping operations found the torn body about 9 o'clock and reported the accident. The limbs were severed from the body and the head was ground into a pulp.

It is thought that Mattson, in leaving the pit, boarded one of the cars to catch a ride, and as it was dark, missed his footing and fell under the wheels. Mattson has been employed at the mines a number of years, but has no known relatives in this country aside from a nephew at Nashwauk. He was about 59 years of age. Disposition of the body is awaiting instructions from the Nashwauk relative.

DEER RIVER'S NEW LODGE INSTITUTED

R. E. Denfeld of Duluth and Other Masons Conduct Impressive Work.

Deer River, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A notable event in Deer River was the institution of Chippewa lodge, A. F. & A. M., Tuesday night when the new charter of the lodge was put into effect and the membership of about thirty constituted into a lodge.

The ceremony of instituting the lodge was conducted by R. E. Denfeld of Duluth, senior warden of the grand lodge. The other officers were: E. D. Boyce of Cass Lake, deputy grand master; C. C. Carpenter, Grand Rapids, treasurer; F. E. Reusswig, Grand Rapids, secretary; Lester Bartlett, Cass Lake, S. W.; W. A. Rossman, J. W.; T. H. Shoaff, S. D.; John Miller, Deer River, J. D.; E. A. Kremer, Grand Rapids, S. S.; W. F. Becker, Grand Rapids, tyler.

Delegations from Cass Lake, Grand Rapids, Coleraine and Duluth were present. They were given "the Key of the town" and they spent the afternoon viewing the points of interest in Deer River. At 5:30 a bounteous supper was served by the Deer River members to the visitors at the Hotel Everton. At 7:30 the ceremonies commenced, lasting until about 11 o'clock, when the Deer River Masons, with their ladies, and the visitors repaired to the M. E. church, where the ladies of that church served a splendid banquet. Talks were made at banquet by R. E. Denfeld of Duluth, E. D. Boyce of Cass Lake, J. A. Vandyke of Coleraine, R. M. Funck of Cass Lake, W. A. Rossman of Grand Rapids.

After the banquet the members of the order repaired to the lodge hall and spent some time in working in the third degree, after which adjournment was taken.

New Lodge Officers.

Following are the officers of the new lodge: W. M., George E. Keenan; S. W., W. J. Shreve; J. W., C. R. Carter; S. D., George Herreid; J. D., D. B. Jewell.

Following is a list of the out-of-town Masons who were present: R. E. Denfeld, Duluth; E. A. Freeman, W. A. Rossman, E. A. Kremer, George F. Kremer, George M. Blasing, T. H. Shoaff, W. F. Becker, Dr. C. C. Carpenter, William McVeigh, Dr. G. F. Schmidt, F. E. Reusswig, J. P. Shaughnessey, L. W. Huntley, C. E. Aiken, C. M. Erskine, H. E. Graffam, H. D. Powers, Kleth Astell, Grand Rapids; J. A. Vandyke, Coleraine; George Godfrey and J. M. Tascher, Ball Club; Lester Bartlett, R. M. Funck, E. D. Boyce, E. T. Fitch, E. J. Fulton, Cass Lake.

POWER COMPANY MAKES NEW OFFER

Great Northern Power Company Shows Two Harbors How It Can Save.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council next Monday night will have laid before it another offer from the Great Northern Power company by which, it is claimed, the city will be able to save $1,000 per year on light and power. The company also points out in its offer how the city will be benefited by having manufacturing concerns attracted here by having plenty of power.

The company asks for a ten-year contract and agrees to stand the expense necessary to equipping the city plant with the machinery needed to make the change from steam to electricity. Other guarantees to keep the plant running under every contingency are also made.

MADERIA MINE IS TO BEGIN SHIPPING

Rich Independent Property of Hibbing District to Be Worked.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the recent cut in the price of iron ore will have little effect on the independent owners in this district is indicated by the announcement that the Maderia mine will be a shipper during the coming season.

The Maderia is one of the richest of the independent properties in the Hibbing district. It was inspected a short time ago and it is announced on good authority that it will be on the list of shippers from this section during the coming summer.

Contains Much Ore.

The ore measures at this property are estimated to contain about 350,000 tons and only a small portion of this has been removed. The royalty on the product of the mine is 75 cents a ton, but the ore is of such a high grade that it commands a premium on the market. The mine will give employment to a large force of men and work will be begun there within the next two weeks. It was not active last year and it will be necessary to build new railroad tracks to it as last year its tracks were caved by the operations at the Pool.

BIG EVANGELICAL EVELETH MEETING

Union Mass Meeting Next Sunday Night to Discuss Church Matters.

Eveleth, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A mass meeting of all evangelical churches in Eveleth will be held at the Methodist church, Sunday evening, under the auspices of the local committee of twenty of the Men and Religion Forward Movement.

The banquet given by the same committee a fortnight ago was productive of much earnest thought on the part of those present and the committee's purpose is to keep the spirit alive by frequent union gatherings. The following committee of five from the Eveleth churches attended the religious meetings in Duluth last week, and will make a report and give their impressions of the work being done there: John Hooper, R. M. Dungan, F. R. Ellsworth, A. O. Sisson and Charles H. Rutty.

ANNUAL INSPECTION

Of Eveleth Militiamen Will Be Held Friday Evening.

Eveleth, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual federal inspection and state muster of Company F, Minnesota National Guard of Eveleth, will take place at the armory Friday evening beginning at 8 o'clock.

Maj. Johnson of the Sixteenth United States infantry, will be the inspecting officer. Capt. Cornwell desires the attendance of business men and others, that they may become informed of the efficiency of his company. Following inspection the captain will present seven badges just received from Adjut.-Gen. Wood, to members of the company, as follows: Expert marksmen badges to Sergeant Alvin M. Weiss and Artificer John Carlson; marksmen badges to Corporal Frank H. Raumer and Privates Paul Archibald, William H. Barrett, Arthur Jackson and Verne E. Jackson.

AURORA SCHOOL ELECTION.

Question of District Becoming Independent One to Be Submitted.

Aurora, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—An election to decide the question of making School District No. 13 an independent school district will be held here from the hours of 3 to 8 p. m. on Friday, April 5, notices to that effect having been posted several days ago.

At present the district is a common district, governed by a director, a clerk and a treasurer. If the district is made independent the school board will be made to consist of six members, instead of three.

VILLAGE PLUMS ARE HANDED OUT

Many Members of Chisholm's Official Family Are Appointed Again.

Chisholm, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The newly elected city council met yesterday afternoon and made appointments to the various positions.

F. L. Austin, deputy recorder was reappointed. Chief Thomas O'Connor and Al McAlpine, his assistant, together with the present members of the department were reappointed; Dr. W. R. Schmidt was appointed city physician and W. J. Smart, assistant; Filip Harrington was reappointed as street commissioner and Mike Talus forenan of the street department. The appointment of city attorney was laid over together with that of police chief and members of the police force until the April 10 meeting. Mayor Austin also passed the committee assignments of the city council members over uftil that date also.

An opinion has been rendered by the attorney general to the effect that the water, light and power commission has no authority in villages to order the construction of new buildings or for the calling or awarding of bids for the construction of same; their duties being confined solely to the repair and additions to buildings already constructed.

Jail Construction Held Up.

The building of the Glen jail and polling places will be held up as a consequence. An opinion from the state legal department has been asked whether the village council has the authority to engage an engineer by the month. Local attorneys are of the opinion that the village has no such an authority under the statutes and that all engineering work must be done by contract or piece work and no fixed salary paid. The appointment of the city engineer was passed over until the April meeting awaiting the opinion from the attorney general.

A resolution was passed requesting the proposed electric railway to have the overhead wire for the trolley extend from the building passing down Lake street thereby doing away with the poles which in the opinion of the council will obstruct the streets.

ELY IS PLANNING MUCH IMPROVEMENT

Many Cement Walks Will Be Laid in City This Season.

Ely, Minn., March 28. — (Special to The Herald.) — Plans are under way to replace the wooden walks in the business section by cement walks. It is planned to lay cement walks, beginning at the intersection of Camp street and Central avenue, up Central avenue to Sheridan street, east on Sheridan street to Second avenue, north on Second avenue to Camp street, west on Camp street to Central avenue. All the intervening streets and avenues within these limits will be also relaid with the cement sidewalks.

There is a rumor that these limits will be extended so as to include most of the business section, and part of the residence district. With the relighting of the business district, the removal of all wires from the streets to the alleys, the improvements mentioned, the usual industry at the mines, and with the further work at some mines at present developing, it looks as though Ely would be a busy place this summer.

DeForest Ward of Fairmont, formally grand chancellor of the Minnesota Knights of Pythias, was here last night and attended the meeting of the Ely lodge. The third rank was exemplified. The local lodge has been having a very prosperous season, about twenty having joined since November.

The High School Literary society will hold their regular monthly meeting at the high school Friday afternoon of this week. An interesting program is arranged for the meeting.

Ernest Lavender was injured at the Pioneer mine yesterday. While operating his machine his knee gave way, throwing the machine upon him. His injuries are not serious.

Start Building Hibbing Church.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preparations are being made at the corner of Fourth and Mahoning streets for the construction of the new Episcopal church. Services in the stone chapel will be abandoned as soon as stripping operations begin at the Buffalo-Susquehanna pit and work on the new church and rectory will be gotten under way as soon as possible.

FAIR

If somebody would clear the cross-walks so as to make conditions under foot more comfortable, everybody would be supremely happy. Today is a beautiful spring day and Duluthians can afford to forgive the weather man the many hours of discomfort he caused them during the winter. Continued fair and slightly colder weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

Cold weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:55 and it will set at 6:31 this evening, giving twelve hours and thirty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Temperatures as a rule are moderate for the season and there has been comparatively little change during the last forty-eight hours. In Northern Saskatchewan, however, the weather has begun to turn somewhat colder. This condition will probably reach Minnesota during tonight. During the last twenty-four hours snow has fallen over Manitoba and rain over Northern Michigan, New York, the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Southern California. Oklahoma City reports a rainfall amounting to 2.12 inches."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 28.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Upper Michigan—Rain or snow tonight and Friday; colder Friday.

Wisconsin—Generally fair in western portion; probably rain in east portion tonight or Friday; not much change in temperature.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; colder tonight.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Friday, except rain in southern portion tonight.

North Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; colder in east portion tonight.

South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

Montana—Generally fair in east portion; probably rain in western portion tonight or Friday.

Shippers' forecast: Protect 36-hour shipments of perishables against minimum temperatures of 20 deg. to 30 deg. above zero in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

PLAN SCHOOL EXHIBIT.

Itasca County Educators Back Movement for State Fair Display.

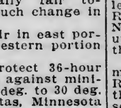
Grand Rapids, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The schools of Itasca county will make a good exhibit at the state fair this year as the result of a meeting of educators held here Tuesday, at which an association was formed to gather and encourage a good display with the following officers: Supt. A. Freeman, Grand Rapids, president; Supt. Keenan, Deer River, vice president; Supt. Vandyke, Coleraine, secretary; C. H. Dickinson, Grand Rapids, treasurer. A. M. Sisler was named by the president as the fifth member of the executive board.

It is planned to begin active work at once on the exhibit, which will comprise specimens of the different departments of school work along many lines, maps of the county, showing school districts and schoolhouses, and a map of the roads which traverse Itasca county.

President Bohannon of the Duluth schools was unable to attend through illness. Other speakers on the program were: Supt. Vandyke of Coleraine, who spoke on "Moral and Health Welfare in Our Schools;" D. B. Jewell of Deer River took up "Industrial Problems," and Commissioner King of Deer River and Supt. A. J. McGuire of the Northeast Experiment farm, also took up interesting questions relating to the rural schools.

In the evening those attending the meeting were the guests of the Grand Rapids school officials at a banquet in the domestic art room of the high school. Covers were laid for thirty, Supt. Freeman of the Grand Rapids schools acting as toastmaster.

Baby's Voice



Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is usually a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. ITASCA COUNTY FORGING AHEAD

Wawina Township, New Settlement, Is Rapidly Coming to Front.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—From all parts of Itasca county come reports of great agricultural progress and advancement and of extensive new settlement. From Wawina, a town in the eastern portion of the county, comes the report that that town is in the list of towns favored with rapid settlement and optimism for the future. Many new settlers have come in to that section, and agricultural prospects look good. The settlers have purchased a thrasher with which to take care of their grain crops, and a saw mill has been secured with which lumber for building may be sawed.

Wawina is soon to have a store. A Mr. Johnson is erecting a new building for that purpose, and the store will soon be opened. Mr. Johnson will also secure a postoffice and he will install a telephone in his store.

Farming Township.

Wawina township will be a farming township. Many of the settlers have improved their farms in a manner which would be creditable to farms in the older settled portions of the county. Fodder corn twelve feet high was one of the products of that section last year. Rye and other small grains also did well. Wawina, through some of its good boosters, is planning on sending an exhibit to the Itasca county fair next fall, and many of the individual settlers are also figuring on exhibiting at the fair.

The crying need of the town is more and better roads. The town board is working in harmony with the county board and the state highway commission to secure roads, so that in a few years there will be roads from the farm of every settler to the railroad. There is opposition to building roads along the railroad, as the settlers claim that the need is for roads leading to the railroad station at Wawina from the farms in the interior. It is thought that when there is enough freight and express from the farms of the neighborhood that the railway company will make the place a regular station and pay the same attention to it as is paid to regular stations.

FROST SEVEN FEET DEEP.

Evidences of Winter's Severity Found in Open Pit Mines.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Blasters working at the Buffalo-Susquehanna pit loosening up the ground preparatory to the steam shovels starting stripping operations, report that frost has penetrated the banks to a depth of seven feet and in some sections further. Quite a force of men is now working at the pit. The steam shovels of the Winston-Dear company will be started just as soon as the conditions are right.

A number of families have moved into Hibbing from outside points recently and steam shovel men and other mining operatives are returning in anticipation of the opening of the spring work in the mines. A large number of laborers have also reached the city during the last week and a number have been put at work at the Buffalo-Susquehanna and other properties.

PLAN PROGRESSIVE CLUB.

Neither Roosevelt Nor La Follette to Be Favored By Members.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local Republicans supporters of both Roosevelt and La Follette, may unite for the organization of a Progressive Republican club, the organization to be maintained until after the next November election. Both the local Roosevelt and La Follette men have reached the conclusion that little is to be accomplished by the organization of a Roosevelt or a La Follette club in Hibbing and will unite their efforts in a single organization.

It is proposed to start the new organization out with a public meeting at the Power theater Monday night of next week, when a speaker from outside the city will be asked to address the Republicans interested on Progressive Republican principles. A Taft club will also be organized in Hibbing within a short time. It will number some of the most prominent and influential men in Hibbing and vicinity.

FATHER AND SON HAD BAD SKIN TROUBLES

Father's Eczema on Hands and Wrists. Not Able to Work for Six Months. Son's Trouble on Face and Neck. 'Cuticura' Cured Them.

Davenport, Wash. — "Two years ago when I was in Great Falls, Montana, I got eczema. At first there were only a few little red pimples on my hands but after a week my hands and wrists were covered with them, and after two weeks they developed into little sores. They would itch and burn so badly that I could hardly stand it and I hardly dared to go to sleep at night for fear of scratching. I tried arnica salve, ———, carbolic salve, and a number of others, but they all did not do me any good, and at last I made up my mind that there was no cure for me. I was not able to work for six months. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. After using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for a week I saw that they were doing me good. In three months I was completely cured, and there is no sign of the eczema returning. My son was cured of skin disease through Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Andrew Hanson, Sept. 28, 1911.

His son, Mr. Carl Hanson (also of Davenport), writes: "I got skin disease and it was all over my face and neck. Sometimes it seemed just as if I would go crazy from the itching and at night I could not sleep. At last a friend told me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them a few days I saw I was going to get better. Cuticura Soap and Ointment completely cured me of my skin trouble." (Signed) Carl Hanson, Aug. 29, '11.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

TO PROTECT ANIMALS.

Hibbing Children Being Organized Into Bands of Mercy.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Dahlen of Duluth, assistant to County Humane Officer McKercher, is organizing the children of the Hibbing schools and the schools of the nearby mining locations into bands of mercy for the protection of dumb animals.

At the Kittsville and Pool locations yesterday she met with a fine reception. She is working in the Hibbing schools today and will go to Eveleth next week. The work has been gotten under way at the schools in Alice, Brooklyn and Chisholm during the past week.

WAH BING GETS BAIL.

Hibbing Chinaman Able to Leave Duluth Jail.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wah Bing, the Hibbing Chinese, arrested last Friday by Immigration Inspector Daly on a charge of being illegally in the United States, and since confined at the county jail at Duluth has been released on bail, his bonds being furnished by Peter McHardy, a member of the Hibbing village council.

Unless Wah Bing can give a satisfactory account of himself he faces deportation as an undesirable alien. He alleges that he was born in California. His hearing will come on before the federal authorities in Duluth Friday and several Hibbing Chinamen will be witnesses in his defense.

FIRE PREVENTION MEET BEING HELD AT VIRGINIA.

Virginia, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Conservation of timber and fire prevention, with particular attention to the disposition of brush, are being discussed at a meeting here today attended by officers and rangers of the state forestry service and lumber men. The meeting is being held in the council chamber of the city hall. Among those attending the meeting are Chief Forester William T. Cox of St. Paul; Dillon P. Tierney, assistant forester; Rangers R. E. Chappelle of Ely, Percy Vibert of Cloquet, Hugo Nelson of Grand Rapids, Gust Peterson of International Falls and Fred Bessette of Orr.

E. H. YARICK NOW SOLE OWNER OF AURORA NEWS.

Aurora, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A deal was consummated Tuesday whereby E. H. Yarick of Aurora purchased the interest of E. A. Koen of Biwabik in the Aurora News. Yarick and Koen have owned the paper for the past two years and have been doing business as the Aurora News company. The partnership has been dissolved, Koen retiring from the business and Yarick taking control.

HELPED BY CHURCH.

Virginia, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last night the members of the United Norwegian Lutheran church presented Oscar Carlson and his wife with a purse of $50, Mr. Carlson having been unable to work on account of illness.

Another event of the gathering was the presentation to the church of an elegant new piano by the young people's society. The church, of which Rev. Julius I. Fadum has been the pastor for several years, has within recent time also obtained a new church organ.

Eveleth to Play Gibert.

Eveleth, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school basket ball team boys, will meet the Gilbert team at the Fayal school gymnasium in Eveleth Friday evening. In the last game between the same teams Eveleth won by the score of 20 to 10.

Holding Probate Court.

Virginia, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Gilpin is here from Duluth today holding probate court in the courthouse, considering several matters of that nature.

SIMPLE MIXTURE USED IN DULUTH

Many in Duluth are now using the simple buckthorn bark and glycerine mixture known as Adler-i-ka, the new German Appendicitis remedy. A SINGLE DOSE relieves constipation, sour stomach or gas on the stomach almost INSTANTLY. This simple mixture antiseptic izes the digestive organs and draws off the impurities and people are surprised how QUICKLY it helps. W. A. Abbett, druggist.

Pimples? No They've All Gone!

No More Humiliation; the Wonderful Stuart's Calcium Wafers "Get Right After" Those Pimples, Boils and Skin Eruptions.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

No need for anyone to go about any longer with a face covered with pimples, blotches, eruptions, blackheads, and liver-spots. These are all due to impurities in the blood. Cleanse the blood thoroughly and the blemishes will disappear.

That's what Stuart's Calcium Wafers are intended to accomplish and do accomplish. Their principal ingredient is Calcium Sulphide, the quickest and most thorough blood cleanser known.

These wonderful little wafers get right into the blood, and destroy eruptive substances present in it. In some cases a few days is sufficient to make a marked improvement. And when the blood is pure the whole system is a hundred per cent better.

Don't fret any longer about those blackheads, pimples, boils, tetter, eczema, spots or skin eruptions; they all go and "go quick" if you use Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

You can have a trial package of Stuart's Calcium Wafers, simply by sending your name and address to F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich. Then, when you have proved their value, you can get the regular-size package for 50 cents at any drug store.

PRIMARIES AGAIN LARGE

Wheat Receipts From the Country Again Bear the Prices.

Little Doing on the Flaxseed Market—Prices High at Close.

Duluth, March 28.—Wheat took a drop today on the North American markets, the main reason being the large primary receipts of the United States. Those who are holding a great deal of May are getting very nervous as the time draws near for delivery and many are very anxious to sell out before that time. Duluth May wheat today closed ⅝c to ¾c lower. Cash wheat closed ½@⅝c higher than May. Durum closed at a gain of 1¼c. Rye closed 1c up and oats ¼c up. Barley closed unchanged. Duluth flaxseed, though beared earlier in the session by bearish reports from foreign markets, was given a boost by the brokers shortly before the close, and all the options closed ½c up.

The morning was bearish on the wheat markets of this continent. The main factor that produced this condition was the report of large primary receipts. These receipts from the American farming districts were a little larger than those of a week ago and very much larger than those of a year ago. Moreover, the news from Liverpool was bearish.

Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.07⅞ bid, opened today at $1.07⅞ asked, and at noon today was selling at $1.07¼-1.07⅜. At noon today May Minneapolis and Chicago both showed declines in wheat, while Winnipeg wheat was unchanged.

Wheat on the Buenos Ayres market last night closed unchanged to ⅜c lower, but this morning it opened ½c higher to ¼c lower. The Liverpool market was beared by the report that there would be large Argentine shipments and that the shipments of the world would be much larger and there was a great deal of profit-taking. Liverpool wheat closed ¼d off. Most of the other European markets, however, showed higher closing prices.

Flax Market Listless.

The flaxseed market of Duluth was very dull indeed during the morning. Its fluctuations responded languidly to the changes on the foreign markets. There was little flax offered. There were but three cars of flaxseed on the track for inspection. Winnipeg May flax at noon today was 1c down at $1.89. Buenos Ayres April flax last night closed at $1.72⅝, being 2⅝c lower, and this morning showed a further decline of ¾c. This bullish news tended to some extent to pull down the prices at both Winnipeg and Duluth. Duluth May at noon today was ⅛c off and July was a full cent off.

trip down through Northern Texas, in the Panhandle. There the snow was still on the ground. To have snow in Texas in March is something extraordinary. The winter was cold and the spring was late, but the wheat was well protected by the snow and there is every reason to expect that the yield will be large. The same favorable conditions have existed in Oklahoma and Western Missouri. In Eastern Missouri there has been some winter killing of wheat."

The Chicago Paint, Oil and Drug Review says: "The demand for delivery of oil on old contracts continues good, and crushers report the paint people are calling for deliveries much more freely than for some time past. this situation looks encouraging; on the other hand, there is no disposition on the part of crushers to offer oil for deliveries beyond April 30. There have been a few inquiries for May-September deliveries, but crushers are not quoting on such options. The result is that no busines is being transacted. It is rumored that in a short time the summer options will be considered by crushers, but a review of them indicates the opinion that a firm to an upward market is going to rule. It has been impossible to obtain any opinion in this section this week contrary to this."

MARKET GOSSIP

H. W. Neeland of Fort William, Ont., who has been in Duluth, said today that the congestion of cars is still very bad all the way from Winnipeg to Montreal. The elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur are filled to their capacity, and there are about 2,000 filled cars in the yards of these places.

George M. Le Count wired Finley-Barrell of Chicago from Dallas, Tex., as follows: "In Southwestern Missouri wheat is growing up but there are spots in some fields that are not green and from the train appear to be winter-killed. All the wheat I saw in Texas is in perfect condition. It is one or two inches tall and the fields are soaking wet. The crop will come along fine."

The present strength of wheat makes the flour trade very dull. If flour were 15c a barrel lower, there would be a great deal of active buying, but wheat would have to go down about 3c below the closing figure of yesterday to bring the price of flour down 15c a barrel. Flour buyers hold back when the price of wheat goes up, for they always expect a reaction that will bring down the price of flour, to a figure at which it will be profitable to make large purchases.

There is good reason to expect a magnificent winter wheat crop from Kansas, Oklahoma, Northern Texas, Western Missouri and Southern Nebraska, in the opinion of C. W. Lonsdale, grain broker of the Kansas City Board of Trade, who was a guest on the Duluth Board of Trade today. Mr. Lonsdale has been visiting in Duluth at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Ball.

"We cannot tell you how our winter wheat looks at present," said Mr. Lonsdale today, "for we have not seen it. The spring has been very late. The ground is still covered with snow, or, at all events, it was when I left home a few days ago. It is remarkable for the snow to last so long down in Kansas. Last fall, there was plenty of rain and all seemed favorable for an excellent corp. Our farmers put in a larger acreage of winter wheat than ever was known before, amounting to about 6,500,000 acres in the state of Kansas. It has been covered with snow all winter. We feel confident that the plant will look fine when the snow has melted off. The normal wheat crop of Kansas is about 75,000,000 bu. We shall be greatly disappointed if we do not go away beyond that this year.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Bear Sentiment in Wheat Pit Grows on Crop Estimates.

Chicago, March 28.—Expert opinion that the winter crop as a whole has vitality ample for favorable shaping under genial weather tended to increase bear sentiment today in the wheat crowd. Furthermore, cables were weak on account of expected liberal shipments from Argentina and because of a more promising outlook for settlement of the coal mine strike in Great Britain. A falling off in flour sales at Minneapolis simultaneous with a gain in wheat receipts there counted also against the bulls. The opening was ⅛@¼c to ⅜c lower. May started at $1.03½ to $1.03⅝, a decline of ⅛@¼c to ⅛@⅜c, but reacted to $1.03¾.

Afterward an advance occurred as a result of the bulge in corn, but the effect did not last. The close was steady with May ¼@⅜c net lower at $1.03½.

There was active buying of corn on the part of leading houses. Abnormally high prices for hay and other feed gave the chief impetus. May opened a shade off to a like amount up at 73⅜c to 73½c and rose to 73⅝c.

Eagerness of Southern buyers led to a further advance. St. Louis reported hay up to $28 a ton. The close was steady at 73¾c for May, ¼@⅜c above last night.

Oats ascended with corn. Selling was only of a scattered sort. May started within a shade either way from last night, at 54½c to 54¾c, and climbed to 54⅝c.

Free realizing of profits depressed the market for packing house products. Outside demand, however, continued and brought about a recovery. Initial transactions varied from 10c lower to 2½c advance, with July options $7.30 for pork; $10.00 for lard, and $9.75 for ribs.

Cash grain—No. 2 red, $1.03¼@1.04¼; No. 3 red, $1.00@1.03¾; No. 2 hard $1.03½@1.06; No. 3 hard, $1.02@1.05; No. 1 northern, $1.11@1.14; No. 2 northern, $1.09@1.12; No. 3 northern, $1.08@1.12; No. 2 spring, $1.02@1.10; No. 3 spring, $1.04@1.10; No. 4 spring, 90c@$1.08; velvet chaff, 90c@1.08; durum, 90c@$1.07.

Heaviness in Coalers Reflects Growing Uncertainty Over Trade Conditions.

New York, March 28. — Buying of stocks was resumed with considerable activity at the opening of today's market. One point gains were recorded by the Harrimans' St. Paul, Union Pacific and Great Northern Ore certificates. Various other issues gained from ½ to ¾. The initial transactions in United States Steel, Union Pacific and Reading were on a moderately large scale.

Recent leaders such as Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting went to lowest prices of the week in the early dealings but their declines were offset by the strength of Southern Pacific and Union Pacific, the former making a new record for the movement. The tone of the list was irregular and trading fell abruptly before the end of the first hour. Heaviness in the coalers was accepted as a reflection of the increasing uncertainty over trade conditions. Westinghouse Electric failed to respond to dividend resumption, declining 1¾.

The operations of the early session became increasingly dull. United States Steel continued to show bear pressure as a result of the corporation's bond issue, but the Harrimans retained most of their early rise. The undertone indicated more uncertainty and caution on the part of the professional element. On the "curb" a rise in Standard Oil of Kentucky to 900, an overnight advance of 350 points was a sensational feature.

Bonds were steady.

Predictions respecting Harriman earnings for February were borne out so far as they had to do with Union Pacific which showed a net increase of $415,000 but in the case of Southern Pacific the net gain was only $26,000, much of the gross increase having gone to operations. Both stocks fell back and prices yielded further elsewhere on a steady diminution of dealings.

The market closed steady. Recoverles of a point or better from the low were recorded in the last hour by Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Reading, United State Steel, Amalgamated Copper, American Smelting and Erie. In the final dealings the list strengthened generally.

AN ORDINANCE TO LICENSE AND REGULATE PUBLIC DANCE HALLS AND PUBLIC SKATING RINKS AND TO PROHIBIT IMMODEST DANCING AND OTHER DISORDERLY CONDUCT THEREIN.

The Common Council of the City of Duluth do ordain as follows:

Section 1. No public dance hall or public skating rink shall be conducted or operated within the limits of the City of Duluth unless same shall be licensed pursuant to the terms of this ordinance.

Sec. 2. The term "dance hall" when used in this ordinance shall be taken to mean any room, place or space in the City of Duluth in which dancing is carried on and to which admission can be had by the public by payment directly or indirectly of a fee, or by payment of a charge for any service auxiliary to dancing or by purchase or rental of any article, or by the purchase, possession or presentation of a ticket or token; but the word "dancing" shall not be held to apply to exhibitions or performances in which the persons paying for admission do not participate.

Sec. 3. The term "public skating rink," when used in this ordinance, shall be taken to mean any room, place or space in the City of Duluth in which skating is carried on and to which admission can be had by the public by the payment either directly or indirectly of a fee, or by payment of a charge for any service auxiliary to skating or by purchase or possession or presentation of a ticket or token; but the term "skating" shall not be held to apply to exhibitions or performances in which the persons paying for admission do not participate.

Sec. 4. Any person desiring a license to conduct a public dance hall or public skating rink shall file with the city clerk a written application addressed to the Common Council of the said city, stating the place and purpose for which it is desired and the date from which it is to run, and agreeing that if said license is granted, said person will conduct an orderly place and will permit no rude, boisterous, unseemly or indecent conduct therein, and will faithfully comply with all the terms of this ordinance. At the next meeting of said Common Council after such application is filed, said city clerk shall present said application to said council; and said council may in its discretion direct the city clerk to issue a license to the applicant pursuant to the terms of said application, which said license shall be for one year from date, and shall particularly describe the room or place for which it is issued.

Provided, That no license shall be directed to be issued or shall be issued to any person of known bad character, nor to the keeper of any house of prostitution or place frequented by prostitutes or other disorderly persons, nor to the keeper of any gambling house or place where gambling in any form is permitted nor to any person not of good character, nor to any person who has within one year next preceding the filing of his application been convicted of a violation of this ordinance, nor for any place which has direct communication with any room in which intoxicating liquors are sold or given away, nor for any place from which access to any room where intoxicating liquors are sold or given away, can be had either directly or indirectly without passing through or upon a public street, nor for any place any street entrance or outside entrance of which is less than fifty (50) feet from any street entrance or outside entrance of any place in which intoxicating liquors are sold or given away.

Provided further, That no license shall be directed to be issued for any place until the building inspector of the City of Duluth shall certify that said place complies with all the terms of the so-called "Building Ordinance" of the city and the health commissioner shall certify that said place fulfills the requirements of the city ordinances and regulations as to ventilation, toilet conveniences and other pertinent regulations relating to the public health.

Provided further, That before such license is issued, the applicant therefor shall have paid into the city treasury of the City of Duluth the sum of fifty dollars, except that in cases where the entire net proceeds of conducting said dance hall or skating rink are devoted wholly to charitable or philanthropic or literary purposes, no payment of any license fee shall be required.

Sec. 5. Any license granted pursuant to the terms hereof may by the Common Council be transferred to another person or place, upon application by the licensee and the proposed transferee, provided that no license shall be transferred to any person or place to whom or for which license at the time of the transfer might not be regularly issued under the terms hereof, and provided further, that the application for the transfer signed by the proposed transferee shall contain the same agreements as required for an original applicant by Section 4 of this ordinance.

Sec. 6. No person, firm or corporation shall sell or give away any intoxicating liquors or suffer or permit same to be sold or given away in any licensed public dance hall or skating rink; nor shall any person, firm or corporation sell or give away, or permit to be sold or given away, in any licensed public dance hall or skating rink, any ticket, token, check, pass or other thing, which shall entitle the holder or owner thereof either directly or indirectly to receive any intoxicating liquors from any person, firm or corporation.

Sec. 7. No person shall in any public dance hall or skating rink or in any anteroom, corridor, cloak-room, hallway or dressing room thereof or in any room connecting therewith, drink any intoxicating liquor; nor shall any licensee hereunder suffer or permit any person to drink any intoxicating liquor in the public dance hall or skating rink of which he is licensee or in any anteroom, corridor, cloak-room, hallway or dressing room thereof or in any room connecting therewith over which said licensee has control.

Sec. 8. No person or persons shall dance, nor shall any licensee hereunder permit or suffer any person or persons to dance, in any public dance hall any indecent or immodest dance or any dance which is characterized by immodest swaying or moving of the pelvic portion of the body; and those dances commonly known as the "slow rag," "lovers' two-step," "bunny hug," "turkey trot," "Texas Tommy," "walk back," and all variations of same, and all dances which are danced in the dark, are hereby declared to be indecent and immodest dances within the meaning of this section. No licensee of any public dance hall shall permit any person under the age of twenty-one years to be or remain therein; nor shall he permit any persons to dance there in, or any persons except employees to be, or remain therein, between twelve o'clock midnight and six o'clock in the morning.

Sec. 9. No person or persons shall in any public dance hall or public skating rink act, nor shall any licensee hereunder permit any person or persons in the place of which he is licensee to act, in a rude, boisterous, obscene or indecent manner.

Sec. 10. The Common Council of the City of Duluth may at any time revoke any license granted hereunder, but the licensee shall be entitled to be heard and shall be given at least one week's notice. If any licensee hereunder is a second time convicted of a violation of this ordinance, his license shall by reason of said conviction be and become revoked, and such revocation shall become effective immediately upon said conviction.

Sec. 11. It shall be the duty of the mayor and chief of police of the City of Duluth to cause all licensed public dance halls and public skating rinks to be properly supervised by such police officers and police matrons as may be necessary to see that the terms of this ordinance are faithfully enforced. And the funds paid into the city treasury for license fees under this ordinance shall be applied for such purposes.

Sec. 12. Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the terms or provisions of this ordinance shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine not exceeding One Hundred Dollars ($100), or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding eighty-five (85) days.

Sec. 13. All ordinances and parts of ordinances conflicting with this ordinance or any part thereof are hereby repealed.

Sec. 14. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed March 25, 1912.
Approved March 27, 1912.

CITY NOTICES.

PROPOSAL FOR PURCHASE OF CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Duluth will receive sealed proposals at the council chamber in the city hall in said city at 7:30 o'clock in the evening on April 8, 1912, for the purchase of gold bearing coupon certificates of indebtedness against the Permanent Improvement Revolving Fund of the City of Duluth in denomination of $1,000.00, $500.00, $100.00 and $50.00 (excepting that where not inconsistent with the bids made they shall be in denominations of $1,000.00.)

Bids must be made for the taking of all such certificates of indebtedness which may be issued by the city of Duluth during the current year and the amount of which has been established by the Common Council as not less than $125,000.00 and not more than $200,000.00. Such certificates of indebtedness are issued pursuant to the amendment of the city charter adopted February 6, 1912, providing for the extending of assessments for local improvement in certain cases over a period not to exceed five years and providing for the issuance of such certificates of indebtedness for the Permanent Improvement Revolving Fund to enable the city to pay for such improvements in advance of the collection of the assessments. Such certificates will be dated at such times as may be decided upon by the Common Council between April 1st and December 31, 1912, it having estimated that most of them will be dated between April 1st and September 1st, 1912. Such certificates will become due approximately one-third on October 1, 1913, approximately one-third on Oct. 1, 1914, approximately one-third on October 1, 1915. Such certificates, unless otherwise bid for will bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of April and October in each year according to interest coupons attached to each of said certificates, both principal and interest to be made payable in gold coin of the United States at the office of the City Clerk of the City of Duluth. If the bidder prefers, he may bid on the net interest basis on which he will pay par for the certificates instead of bidding on 5 per cent certificates. Said certificates to be paid for within ten days after notice that same are ready for delivery. The sale of said certificates will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder at a sum not less than par value thereof and interest accrued to date of delivery. All bids for said certificates shall be without condition or qualification.

Each bidder is required to file with the city clerk prior to 2 o'clock p. m. of said day, a certified check on or a certificate of deposit of a national bank, payable to the order of the city of Duluth, without condition for $1,000.00, or a good and sufficient bond in the said sum to be approved by the Common Council of said city and conditioned that the party making said bid will, if awarded the sale, take the certificates and pay for them according to the terms of said bid and the ordinance; and that in the case of failure so to do, the city of Duluth shall have the right to sue upon said bond and to recover the full face thereof, which shall be and in said bond shall be stated as being the sum agreed upon as liquidated damages in case of a breach thereof.

Said certificates and checks shall at 2 o'clock P. M. of said day be submitted by the city clerk to the city attorney for his opinion as to whether they conform to the conditions of the ordinance, and the bid of any person whose check or bond the city attorney shall deem to not be in legal form, according to the terms of the ordinance shall not be received unless such bidder shall have such check or bond corrected to meet the requirements of the city attorney or deposit a new bond or check duly approved by said attorney before 7:30 o'clock P. M. of said day.

In all cases of bids received and not accepted, the check or certificate received therewith shall thereupon be returned. In case said certificates are awarded to any bidder and the said bidder refuses to accept and pay for said certificates, or any part thereof, within (10) days after notice, oral or written, that same are ready for delivery, the said amount of the certificate of deposit or check so furnished to the city shall be retained by the city of Duluth, as its own, as and for liquidated damages for breach of the contract on the part of said bidder. In case any bidder furnishing such certificate of deposit or check shall take the said bonds, said sum shall be credited to him on account of the payment thereof. Each bidder must give his address, street and number.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved to the city of Duluth.

Dated Duluth, Minn., March 19, 1912.

H. W. CHEADLE,
City Clerk.

JOHN WHELAN IS ARRESTED

Is Suspected of Being Murderer of Minneapolis Girl.

Has Been in Duluth Since January—Bears Some Wounds.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arrested by deputy sheriffs, John Whelan, aged about 35, is in the Hennepin county jail, suspected by the authorities of being the murderer of Miss Alice Mathews, the 21-year-old mill worker who was assaulted and slain early Sunday.

Sheriff Otto Langum declared that Whelan would be held until every statement he made concerning his movements Saturday night and early Sunday could be verified.

To account for bloody clothing which the officers say they found in his room, and for a wound on his neck, Whelan told the authorities that he had been held up early Sunday morning by two or three men, who, he said, stabbed him.

Whelan came to Minneapolis about fifteen years ago from Quebec, it is said, and went to Duluth in January to work, returning to this city last Friday.

If the warm weather of today continues, it will not be long before the ice will begin to disappear at this end of Lake Superior.

Marine men state that if the weather is warm the ice will go as quickly as though it was but half it's thickness. "It is not on the winter, but on the spring weather that the opening date depends," said one man this morning.

"If the present weather continues, we will undoubtedly have a normal opening."

FIRST TOUCH OF REAL SPRING

Duluth doffed its coat today, opened the office windows wide and sniffed the spring air.

It was the first day of real spring weather. The mercury registered 52 degs. in the shade at the weather bureau at 2 o'clock, but it was several degrees warmer than that in the central part of the city, and in the sunlight it felt like a June day.

The warm sun made great inroads into the snow and ice, and another two or three days of such weather will completely dry the roads and lawns in the city.
